Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Sarah Belle Richards is plaintiff and Henry Eugene Trout, Frances Trout, Philo J. Lockwood, John G. Mott and Fanny Casebeer are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of twelve hundred fifty-eight dollars and ninety-seven cents ($1,258 97), with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, on Saturday, February 17, 1900,

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the court house of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years of the following described real estate, to-wit;

Lots numbered one hundred sixty-nine (169) and two hundred sixteen (216) in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb county, state of Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana.
Rose & Rose, Atty's for Plaintiff.
Auburn, Indiana, January 24, 1900.

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

Rotary Motion and Ball Bearings.

Porter Depew, Agent.

LION COFFEE

Used in Millions of Homes!
Accept no substitute!
Insist on LION COFFEE, in 1 lb. pkgs.

Best Coffee for the Money!
Try LION COFFEE and you will never use any other. It is absolutely pure Coffee and nothing but Coffee.

These articles mailed FREE in exchange for lion heads cut from front of 1 lb. LION COFFEE pkgs.

Silk Umbrella (either Lady's or Gents).
Sent by express (charges prepaid), for 170 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.
A very fine umbrella, made of union silk-taffeta; 26-inch frame with seven ribs; steel rod and silver Congo handle. Would cost $2.00 at the store.

Fancy Gold Ring. For 18 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Genuine Ruby Setting Gold Ring. For 28 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

These rings are genuine rolled-gold plate, having the exact appearance and qualities of solid gold, and guaranteed by the makers to last two years with ordinary usage. New patterns and very popular.

To Determine the Size.
Cut a strip of thick paper so that the ends will exactly meet when drawn tightly around second joint of the finger. Lay one end on this diagram at the 0, and order the number the other end indicates.

STRENGTH, PURITY AND FLAVOR

Dress-Pin Set.
Mailed free for 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Three pins in the set (larger than shown), composed of fine rolled-gold, with handsome ruby-colored settings. Suitable for waist-pins, cuff-pins, neck-pins or as a child's set.

"Knickerbocker" Watch.
Given for 175 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Neat appearing and an excellent time-keeper. Solid nickel-silver case, with ornamental back. Nickel movements, escapement fully jeweled. The famous "Knickerbocker" watch.

Pair of Lace Handkerchiefs.
Two extra fine cambric handkerchiefs, with beautiful imported lace medallion insertions in the corners. Half-inch hem, machine hemstitched; stylish and durable. A pair of these handkerchiefs given for 18 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2c. stamp.

Art Picture, "Easter Greeting"
Given for 8 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp.
A highly artistic picture, that will grace the finest drawing-room. The background of royal dark-blue furnishes an appropriate contrast to the little girl and her white Easter lilies. Size, 14x28 inches.
For 10 lion heads and 2 cents we will send it tinted ready for hanging.

Sash-Belt and Buckle.
Mention your waist-measure when sending.
Mailed free for 15 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp. Latest style of imported black Swiss grosgrain ribbon belting; stylish imitation oxidised silver buckle; neat, strong and fashionable.

Ladies' Watch Chain.
A double strand of best silk cord, united at intervals with colored beads; neat and substantial. For 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Children's Picture Book.
Given for 10 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Sixteen large pages of Mother Goose illustrated and with nicely lithographed cover. We have different books, so you can get an assortment.

Flower Picture.
For 6 lion heads and a 2c. stamp. American Beauty Roses and Lilies-of-the-Valley. Size, 11x14 inches. Bright and artistic coloring.

Silver Napkin-Ring.
For 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Neat and substantial. Made of durable metal, heavily silver-plated. Two different patterns.

Gent's Watch.
Mailed free for 90 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. The celebrated "Ingersoll" watch; stem-wound and stem-set; durable nickel-plated case; each watch accompanied by guarantee of the maker. A reliable time-keeper.

Ladies' Pocket-Book.
Large size and latest shape. Black seal-grain leather, with five separate divisions, including a tuck-pocket with flap to hold visiting cards secure.
Given for 25 lion heads from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2c. stamp.

Century Cook-Book.
268 pages of valuable cooking receipts, also treatise on the labor of the kitchen, dining-room, laundry, sick-room, and remedies for the more common diseases.
Given for 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

"The Dancing Lesson."
The green grass and trees, the little brown kitten and the girl's snow-white dress form a pleasing combination of colors. Size, 15x21 inches. Mailed free for 8 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Coin-Purse.
For 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Color, dark brown. Made of fine kid leather; chamois lining; nickeled frame, with strong snap-fastening.

Table Cover.
Durable, dark-colored material that will stand washing. 32 inches square, including fancy fringed border. Mailed free for 25 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

Boys' Pocket-Knife.
The "Easy-Opener"; strong, sharp blade; red-wood handle.
For 12 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

Ladies' Pen-Knife.
For 15 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2c. stamp. Large size; good material; handles nicely decorated and assorted colors.

THE ABOVE ARE ONLY A FEW OF THE LION COFFEE PREMIUMS. Another list will shortly appear in this paper! Don't miss it! The grandest list of premiums ever offered!

You always know LION COFFEE by the wrapper. It is a sealed package, with the lion's head in front. It is absolutely pure if the package is unbroken. LION COFFEE is roasted the day it leaves the factory.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
When writing for premiums send your letter in the same envelope or package with the lion heads. If more than 15 lion heads are sent, you can save postage by trimming down the margin. Ask your grocer for large illustrated premium list. Address all letters to the

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Friday's Daily.

—John Weihmiller of Richland paid into 1900 yesterday.

—Mrs. Sarah A. Jones of Waterloo has been granted a widow's pension.

—Eli Davis, a member of Company L, in the 157th regiment during the Spanish war, has applied for a pension.

—S. M. High of Jackson was here today to attend the meeting of the directors of the county insurance company.

—We have it upon good authority that the old reliable weather prognosticator Mr. G. Hog, was out today and saw his shadow.

—Dr. Buchtel reports Mrs. Adam Prosser fully recovered from the effects of the operation recently had, and that she has been greatly benefited.

—Harry Reece fell into a vat of boiling water at the basket factory in Butler Wednesday morning. He was terribly scalded and may not recover.

—Mrs. James Griswold entertained the ladies' aid society of the Baptist church at dinner today and it goes without saying that it was a fine spread.

—Two loaded coal cars were pushed off the elevated track at the Lake Shore coal shutes in Butler yesterday and dropped a distance of twenty feet. The wreck train was called from Elkhart to clear the track.

—W. B. Burford secured all the printing and stationery contracts for Lagrange county except the election tickets and bar dockets which were awarded to the Standard and the Democrat. The contracts for all the work aggregate less than $450.

—Chalk and cheese!—Taste about as much alike as cheap imitations and the original Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers. Fox's New Shape have a full, wheaty flavor while the others are chalky, flavorless and lifeless. When you want crackers that are crackers you'll look for Fox's imprint on them.

—The COURIER has a large, fine ear for music, and we took great pleasure last evening in listening to several pieces played by a party in Kendallville. It was recognized as a mouth organ and was distinct and sweet as if the performer was just across the street instead of being sixteen miles away. It was through the Home telephone and over their new copper line.

Saturday's Daily.

—Dr. Swarts was called to Cedar Creek yesterday to attend Chas. Haag who is seriously ill.

—Granges will be organized at Sedan and Fairfield Center in the near future by R. M. Lockhart.

—F. M. Kosht, formerly of Auburn but now a resident of Elkhart, was in town today on business.

—She—"Do you believe man sprung from the ape?" "No. But I believe women spring from the mouse."—New York Press.

—Dr. Stamets informs us that his father, the venerable Jacob Stamets, is quite low and that his recovery is extremely doubtful.

Daniel Prize of Wabash, while working in the woods near that city, had his right eye literally scooped out by a branch of a tree. The sight of the other eye is endangered.

Miss Anise Leas has purchased the Gogger building, now occupied by the Trentman stores. She will probably occupy at least part of the ground floor with her millinery establishment.

—Easter comes this year April 15 and Lent comes Febrary 28. The date for Easter is unusually late this year, and in fact is within one week of the latest possible date for the feast.

—The state board of health has passed a smallpox appeal to the people of Indiana urging all to obey the health laws strictly. The board states that there are from 1,500 to 2,000 cases of smallpox in Indiana now.

A meeting of the stock holders and creditors of the Butler canning company was held there today and it is reported that a settlement will be made at 66⅔ cents on the dollar. Stock will be solicited for a new company.

—The thirty fourth national encampment of the G. A. R. will be held at Chicago, August 27 to September 1, and the twenty-first national encampment of the department of Indiana, will be held at Indianapolis May 16 and 17.

—There are no "just as good" Stick to Fox's New Shape "Forex" Butter Crackers. No matter how many grocers sing the song of "Something else just as good." Be your own authority. See, taste, compare and determine for yourself.

A Remarkable Discovery.

A remarkable discovery is one of the chronic proclamations of advertisers. No such claim is made, for Lichty's Cough Cure is an established remedy with known merit, made on scientific principles by experienced chemists. It stops coughing at once; will not cure consumption, but gives temporary relief and absolutely cures all other affections of the throat and the lungs. For croup, whooping cough and colds, Lichty's Cough Cure is invaluable. 25 and 50 cent bottles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Attorney General Taylor, in an opinion held that in case of the death of any county officer who is under the fee and salary law of 1891, as modified by the law of 1895, and who has not collected all the fees due to him, the right to collect such fees goes to the legal representative of the county officer. The case in point concerns the death of E. E. Kelly, ex-Sheriff of Floyd county, whose widow seeks to collect fees due him.

Could not fix 'em All.

Bald heads, hard work, love, warts on the nose, bicycle faces, war craze, swell head, delirium tremens, unhappy marriages, insanity and punctured tires have never been cured by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to our knowledge but for sure and pleasant remedy for indigestion, constipation, sick headache and all stomach troubles, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the surest, safest and most pleasant remedy. It is sold in trial size, 50c and $1 bottles by H. B. McCord, Druggist.

A parent not far from Waterloo, says the Dawn, brought a charge against the teacher of one of his children; she had called the boy an African hog, so he said. An investigation by the school authorities revealed the fact that she had told the boy he acted like an African Boer.

To Stop a Cold.

After exposure when you feel a cold coming on, take a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails to stop a cold if taken in time. Take nothing else. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

A federal judge of Chicago, has pronounced the Illinois anti-trust law unconstitutional, and the Ohio supreme court has decided the anti-trust law is valid. When doctors of the law disagree, who shall decide?

An Editor's Recommendation.

Mr. W. J. Hutchison, editor Gazette, Pleasantville, Mo., writes:—"I have used Krause's Headache Capsules with satisfactory results. I bought a box which cost me 25c and one capsule cured me of a dreadful sick headache. My wife and myself have also used the other medicines prepared by the Norman Lichty Mfg. Co., and we recommend them to the public to be just as represented. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Sixty six mining companies at Johannesburg, South Africa, have suspended operations, on account of the war, and as a result many families are destitute.

'Tis Not True.

We do not sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for all diseases; it is only good for Constipation; Indigestion, Sick headache and Stomach Troubles and we guarantee it to cure. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

Some one asserts that a cat's eye's are larger at midnight than at any other time. We are positive its no cat is.—Chicago News.

Frequent Coughing.

Inflames the lungs. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the coughing and heals the lungs. The ordinary cough medicines which are simply expectorants, will not do this, as they keep the lungs irritated in throwing off the phlegm.

Many of the most responsible positions at the Kimberly diamond mines, the greatest in the world, are held by Americans.

Frost Bites and Chilblains.

Quickly cured by Bann r Salve, the most healing remedy in the world. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—Call at this office when in need of job printing.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX — Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, February 15, 1900. — Number 7.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Specialty.

Physicians and SURGEONS
D. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M. D
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND.
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McCLELLAN, ESTATE, CHARLES McCLELLAN, D. A. GARWOOD, ISAAC HAGUE. } C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed } Gas Administered
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

I. O. BUCHTEL HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works. Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

C. S. SMITH,
Auburn, Ind.
Attorney-at-Law
AND NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office over Bazar Store, formerly occupied by Judge Hartman.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to technical examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours Office apart from residence.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and Omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn

Junk Wanted
Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.
Best Cash Prices

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

INDIANA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Health—Rules of the Indiana State Board of Health, According to Chapter XVI, Acts of 1899, to Prevent Outbreaks and the Spread of Contagious, Infectious and Other Diseases, and For the Government of Subordinate Boards of Health and All Health Officers—Passed in Regular Session, October 18, 1899—Rules For the Government of County, City and Town Health Officers.

Rule 1. The communicable diseases dangerous to the public health, and which shall be immediately reported to the nearest health officer, are hereby declared to be yellow fever, smallpox, cholera, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, typhus fever, cerebro-spinal meningitis, typhoid fever, bubonic plague, leprosy and pulmonary tuberculosis. Pulmonary tuberculosis and typhoid fever shall not be quarantined, but shall be immediately reported.

Rule 2. It shall be unlawful for any school teacher or other school officer to admit to any public, private or parochial school, whether as a pupil or otherwise, any person affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health.

Rule 3. It shall be unlawful for any parent, guardian or other person having control of any child affected by any contagious or infectious disease dangerous to the public health, to permit said child to attend any public, private or parochial school, or be present in any public place.

Rule 4. It shall be unlawful for any school teacher or other school officer to admit to any public, private or parochial school, whether as a pupil or otherwise, any person who has come from, or who resides in any house or building affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, or who has recently been affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, unless such person shall first present a certificate signed by a reputable physician stating that all danger of communicating such disease is past, and said certificate has been approved and indorsed by the health officer in whose jurisdiction such person may reside.

Rule 5. County, city and town Boards of Health shall, at all times, exercise supervision over the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta of all school houses and all public buildings within their jurisdiction. No sewer or other drain through which it is contemplated to dispose of sewage shall be constructed by any public officer or person or corporation until the plans for such sewer shall have been submitted to and approved by the local Board of Health possessing jurisdiction of the territory in which such sewer or drain is proposed to be constructed. No school house or other public building shall be erected until the plans therefor shall have been submitted to, and the provisions for drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta shall have been approved by the local Board of Health within whose jurisdiction such school house or other public building in proposed to be erected. Upon notification by any person it shall be the duty of the local Board of Health to examine into the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta of any school house or other public building within its jurisdiction. If, in the judgment of such Board of Health, the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing or disposal of excreta of any such school house or public building shall be so defective as to be detrimental to public health, it shall be the duty of the local Board of Health immediately to notify the proper officer having charge and control of such school house or public building of the nature of the existing defect, and of what should be done to correct the same, and it shall thereupon be the duty of the person or persons having charge and control of said school house or public building forthwith to cause such changes in the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing or disposal of excreta as have been recommended by the local Board of Health to be made, and it shall be unlawful for such person or persons having authority over such school house or public building to permit the same to continue without making the change or changes recommended by the local Board of Health for a longer period than ten days from the time of the receipt by such person or persons of the order of the local Board of Health recommending such change or changes. An appeal may be taken in case of disagreement to the State Board of Health, and, pending such appeal, the order of the local board shall stand.

Rule 6. In case of sickness, it shall be the duty of every person who shall know or suspect that the person taken sick is affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, to give immediate notice to the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction such sick person may be found.

Rule 7. Every physician who shall know or suspect that any person whom he is called upon to visit, or about whom he is consulted, has any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice, together with the locality and description of the case, to the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction such sick person may be found.

Rule 8. It shall be unlawful for any person having control of any child or children, to permit any such child or children to go from any house or building infected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health (omitting pulmonary tuberculosis and typhoid fever) to attend any public, private or parochial school or Sunday school, or any church, theater, opera house, music hall or place of public entertainment, or any picnic or public gathering, or to travel in any street car or public vehicle, vessel, steamer, train, or to travel or be on any public highway, street, alley, public square or grounds, or in any park, without first procuring a permit from the county or local Health Officer, and they shall obey fully all official sanitary directions found in the health rules or which may be given by the Health Officer.

Rule 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to enter or leave any house or building infected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, to attend any church, public meeting or place of amusement, or to travel on any street car or public vehicle, vessel or steamer, or travel or appear on any public street or highway, without first procuring a permit from the Health Officer exercising jurisdiction, and obeying absolutely his directions as to all sanitary precautions which shall be observed.

Rule 10. It shall be unlawful for any person who is, or has been recently, affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health (omitting pulmonary tuberculosis), to travel or appear upon the public streets or highways, or to appear in any public place or gathering, or to travel in any public vehicle or vessel, until a certificate is made by the attending physician to the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction the case occurs, stating that all danger from infection or contagion by reason of such disease is passed, and such certificate is approved and indorsed by said Health Officer.

Rule 11. Whenever a Health Officer shall know or suspect or be informed of the existence of any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, and there be no physician in attendance, or should any physician while in attendance fail or refuse to immediately report such case to the Health Officer, it shall be the duty of said Health Officer, or deputy, to examine such case or cases of alleged communicable disease dangerous to the public health, and act as required by the rules governing such cases of communicable diseases.

Rule 12. In all cases where there has been an exposure or a suspected exposure to smallpox of any person or persons, it shall be the duty of the Health Officer under whose jurisdiction said person or persons may be temporarily or permanently residing, to quarantine for fourteen days such person or persons as may be exposed or suspected of having been exposed to smallpox, and to advise vaccination or re-vaccination of all who may have been thus exposed. It shall be the imperative duty of the Health Officer to enforce this rule, and in case of refusal or neglect by said Health Officer to comply with the requirements of this rule, or other rules, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the State Board of Health to assume charge, and either in person or by his deputy enforce the foregoing rules. All vaccinations shall be made with non-humanized virus, the only exception being that, during an epidemic of smallpox, should a sufficient quantity of bovine virus not be obtainable, humanized virus may be used when sanctioned by the Board of Health under whose jurisdiction said epidemic may occur.

Rule 13. Whenever a physician is called upon to attend a case of communicable disease dangerous to the public health, it shall be his duty to immediately report such case to the local Health Officer under whose jurisdiction such case may occur, and then it shall be the duty of such Health Officer to establish quarantine immediately by placarding the house and officially informing the householder, commanding the members thereof not to leave the premises except by permission under the sanitary directions of the Health Officer. The card used for placarding shall not be less than twelve inches square, with the name of the disease plainly printed thereon, and said card to be posted in a conspicuous location. The card or flag for cholera shall be black, with the name of the disease printed in white letters. The card or flag for smallpox shall be red, and have the name of the disease printed thereon. The card or flag for diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, typhus fever and cerebro-spinal meningitis shall be yellow, with the name of the disease printed thereon. No person shall remove or cause to be removed (except as already provided), any such card or flag, and the quarantine shall not be raised until a certificate is made by the attending physician satisfactory to the Health Officer in authority that the disease has subsided and all danger of contagion or infection by reason of such disease is passed, and that proper disinfection satisfactory to the Health Officer has been accomplished. Any person violating the quarantine or causing the removal (except as provided) or mutilation of said card or flag before a proper certificate has been placed in the hands of the Health Officer in authority, upon conviction, shall be subjected to the penalties provided in section 13 of an act approved February 7, 1899. In cities and towns, flags or cards shall be provided by city or town Boards of Health, and outside the corporate limits of cities or towns, by county Boards of Health. Every physician attending a case of smallpox, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, or other communicable disease dangerous to the public health, shall use every reasonable precaution to prevent communicating the disease to others.

Rule 14. It is hereby made the duty of any person having charge of the remains of one who has died of smallpox to cause the body to be interred within twelve hours after death, and it shall be the duty of any person having charge of the remains of those who died of cholera, typhus fever, yellow fever, smallpox or bubonic plague to cause said remains to be immediately wrapped in a sheet saturated with a solution of bichloride of mercury in the proportion of one ounce of the bichlodire of mercury to the gallon of water, and placed in a coffin, which shall be securely closed, and the coffin not to be again opened.

Rule 15. In all cases of death from cholera, bubonic plague, leprosy, typhus fever, yellow fever, smallpox, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever and cerebro-spinal meningitis, the funeral shall be strictly private. No public or church funerals shall be held, or any person permitted to enter the house containing the remains, excepting the undertaker and his assistants, unless by permission of the Health Officer.

Rule 16. The room in which there has been a case of contagious disease dangerous to the public health shall be immediately disinfected following the recovery of the sick or the removal of the remains, as follows, to-wit:

All surfaces should be thoroughly washed with a solution of corrosive sublimate of the strength of one part in one thousand parts of water. The walls and ceiling, if plastered, should be brushed over with this solution, after which they should be whitewashed with a lime wash. Especial care must be taken to wash away all dust from window ledges and other places where it may have settled, and to thoroughly cleanse crevices and out-of-the-way places. After this application of the disinfecting solution and an interval of twenty-four hours or longer for free ventilation, the floors and woodwork should be well scrubbed with soap and hot water, and this should be followed by a second more prolonged exposure to fresh air admitted through open doors and windows. School books or books from a circulating library shall not be taken into or removed from any house during the prevalence of any contagious disease dangerous to the public health, and if such books have been in such houses during the prevalence of said diseases, they must be destroyed by such owner or library authorities or be properly disinfected before being returned to schools or put in circulation.

Formaldehyde disinfection may be substituted for the above method of disinfection as follows:

Clothing (as here described or as below under sick room).—Into a trunk or box having a cover, place the garments one at a time, sprinkling each one with one or two tablespoonfuls of 40 per cent. formaldehyde, mixed with an equal amount of water. Allow the trunk or box to remain closed for five hours, then open and hang the garments in the open air. If the formaldehyde odor persists, sprinkle the garments lightly with diluted aqua ammonia.

Bed Clothes and Bed Furnishings.—Sheets, pillow cases and blankets should be boiled in water for at least thirty minutes. Comforts may be treated as described for clothing, or submitted to the action of formaldehyde gas in the sick room. Straw ticks, husk and cotton mattresses should be burned, as they are too inexpensive to trouble with. Hair mattresses and feather beds should first be subjected in the sick room to the action of formaldehyde gas and afterward sent to be steamed and renovated. Pillows should be treated as described for mattresses and feather beds. All bed clothes, except bed linen, may also be treated in the sick room as described below.

Sick Room.—Make as air-tight as possible, open closet doors, drawers and all closed receptacles; scatter their contents about the room; suspend clothing and bed clothes upon lines stretched across the room, or spread out on chairs or other objects; books must be opened and the leaves spread—in short, the room and its contents so disposed as to secure free access of gas to all parts as freely as possible. Now for each 1,000 cubic feet of space take eight ounces of 40 per cent. formaldehyde, mix with one pint of water and with a small sprinkling pot having a very fine sprinkler—a child's toy sprinkling pot is satisfactory—sprinkle the disinfectant over carpet, clothes, mattresses, stuffed furniture and sides of the room. Before sprinkling place a damp towel over mouth and nose. Close the room and allow it to remain so for not less than five hours, but ten if possible, then open, remove all articles to the open air and clean the room thoroughly.

MARRIAGE, BIRTH AND DEATH REPORTS.

Rule 17. City and town Health Officers shall record in a record book all births and deaths and contagious or infectious diseases named in Rule 1, and they shall, before the 15th of each month for the month preceding, send to the county Health Officer the original returns of births and contagious disease, but the original certificates and records of death received shall, after record in the local books, be sent direct to the State Board of Health by the fifth of each month for the month preceding. It shall be the duty of the county Health Officer to make a record of returns of births, contagious diseases and marriages, in a record book. All record books shall be of the form and character prescribed by the State Board of Health.

Rule 18. All physicians, accouchеurs and midwives in this State are hereby required to report to the Secretary of the Board of Health of the town, city or county in which they may occur (within fifteen days thereafter), all births which may occur in their practice. Whenever a physician's supply of the necessary blanks on which to make returns is nearly exhausted he shall at once make a requisition for the same on the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction he may reside, and said Health Officer is hereby required to immediately supply the demand.

Rule 19. It is ordered that each county Health Officer in this State shall, on or before the 20th day of the month following the close of each quarter, make his quarterly returns of all marriages, births and diseases dangerous to the public health to the Secretary of the State Board of Health, on blanks prescribed and furnished by the State Board of Health.

Rule 20. Whenever any birth occurs with no physician, accoucheur or midwife in attendance, then such birth shall be reported to the town, city or county Health Officer by the householder or other person under whose observation such birth may occur. All such reports to be made within fifteen days.

Rule 21. All persons authorized in this State to solemnize marriages are ordered to make a report of all marriages solemnized by them to the Clerk of the Circuit Court by whom the marriage license was issued, in blanks furnished by such Clerk, within seven days after the marriage is solemnized.

Rule 22. In case any person feels aggrieved at any act of a Health Officer, appeal may be made to the State Board in session or its executive officer, but pending such appeal the act of such Health Officer shall remain in force.

Rule 23. All city and town Health Officers shall make, at least once in each year, a sanitary survey of their respective jurisdictions, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence of conditions detrimental to the public health, including in such survey stagnant ponds, imperfect drainage, sewerage, pigsties, cesspools and water closets, and all unsanitary conditions, and the construction, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta of all public buildings, prisons, hospitals and eleemosynary institutions, and shall make written report of their surveys with recommendations, if any, to their respective Boards, and county officers shall send a copy of their reports to the State Board.

Rule 24. It shall be the duty of all health authorities, officers of State institutions, police officers, sheriffs, constables and all officers and employes of the State, or any county, city or town thereof, to assist in enforcing the foregoing orders, rules and regulations.

RAILWAYS AND STEAMBOATS, AND ALL COMMON CARRIERS.

Rule 25. No common carrier or any person shall bring into the State of Indiana any sick or suspected of being sick with Asiatic cholera, smallpox, yellow fever, typhus fever, diphtheria, membranous croup and scarlet fever, bubonic plague, leprosy, or any other communicable disease dangerous to the public health.

Rule 26. When any railway car, steamboat, vessel or conveyance coming from a place or locality declared by the State Board of Health having jurisdiction as being infected with cholera, smallpox, typhus fever, bubonic plague, leprosy or yellow fever, or having on board any person or persons affected with any of the above-named diseases enters any port or place in the State of Indiana, such railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance and the crew, officers, passengers, baggage, merchandise and freight shall be subject to such inspection and disinfection as may be ordered by the State Board of Health.

Rule 27. If any person is found on any railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance, who is sick, or reasonably supposed to be sick, with cholera, smallpox, typhus fever, bubonic plague, leprosy or yellow fever, he or she shall be immediately removed by the health authorities within whose jurisdiction such person is found and isolated and properly cared for until the termination of the disease, and the necessary expense of such isolation and care (if the person so removed is unable to pay the same) shall be a valid claim against and be refunded by the owners, agents or assigns of the railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance from which such person or persons were removed.

Rule 28. In case of smallpox all persons reasonably suspected of having been exposed thereto shall be removed from such railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance and be isolated for fourteen (14) days from the last exposure. In case of typhus fever, all persons reasonably suspected of having been exposed thereto shall be removed and isolated for twenty-one (21) days from the last exposure. In case of cholera, bubonic plague or yellow fever, all persons reasonably suspected of having been exposed thereto shall be removed and isolated for five (5) days from last exposure. The clothing of persons so removed and all baggage, luggage, freight or merchandise found on any railway, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance, on which there is any person sick with cholera, smallpox, typhus fever, bubonic plague or yellow fever, and reasonably suspected of having been infected, shall be at once disinfected or destroyed, and such railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance shall also be disinfected as required by the Board of Health having jurisdiction.

Rule 29. When deemed necessary by the State Board of Health to prevent the spread of cholera and after ten (10) days' notice, each and every railway car, steamboat, vessel in or coming into the State of Indiana, and used for the transportation of passengers, shall be provided with means satisfactory to said Board of Health for disinfecting the excreta of passengers and crews.

Rule 30. It shall be the duty of the conductor of any railway train and the master of any steamboat or vessel to immediately notify by telegram the Secretary of the State Board of Health, at Indianapolis, of any case or suspected case of cholera, smallpox, yellow fever, diphtheria, bubonic plague or typhus fever occurring on board such train, boat or vessel within the limits of the State of Indiana.

Rule 31. It shall be the duty of the Board of Health of any town, city or county to at once furnish the State Board of Health with a true copy of any quarantine orders or regulations adopted by said Board of Health as against any foreign State or any municipality or township within the State of Indiana.

Rule 32. Any person or persons failing or refusing to comply with either or any of the foregoing rules shall be subject to the penalties provided in section 14 of an act establishing a State Board of Health, approved February 7, 1899.

By order State Board Health.

T. HENRY DAVIS, M. D., President, Richmond, Ind.
E. D. LAUGHLIN, M. D., Vice-Pres., Orleans, Ind.
J. H. FORREST, M. D., Marion, Ind.
H. JAMESON, M. D., Indianapolis, Ind.
J. N. HURTY, M. D., Phar. D., Sec'y., Indianapolis, Ind.

We Are Pleased to Announce The Arrival of

New Spring Dress Goods, Silks, Shirts, Hats and Neckwear

THE SPRING DRESS GOOD
are very handsome—plain weaves and large plaids taking the lead. We are showing an exquisite line of colorings in both, and at prices no higher than you would have had to pay for the same quality last season. We wish to call your attention to a line of TAFFETA SILKS we were fortunate to secure at the old price. These silks we bought to sell for 75c per yard, exactly the price asked for them at wholesale to-day. They are 19 inches wide and we are showing 15 of the very latest shades. We invite you to call and look them over.

OUR NEW SPIRING HATS
Our line of New Spring Hats is now complete. Prominent colors, BLACK, BROWN, MODE, TAN and PEARL. Shaped a trifle smaller than last season. Stiff hats will be exceptionally good for early wear. We have anything you may wish.

SPRING SHIRTS
are beginning to arrive. We have obtained a fine lot of new patterns to be worn with white collars, and also with collars to match, which we have marked to sell at 50c. Another lot and something entirely new, is Shirts for Boys, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 years old. Made up laundried bosoms to be worn white collars just like Papa's. We have them in three colors to sell for 75c.

THE NEW NECKWEAR is simply fine. We have the largest and handsomest line we've ever shown. Size them up in our window. See Us Often.

We Are Saving You Money
Schaab & Bro.

A Correction.

We, the undersigned neighbors of Mr. George Pierson, living north of Waterloo, deny that there is truth in the statement or article published by the Auburn Courier, the Dawn and the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, in regard to the treatment of his wife, neighbors, friends and doctors during the illness of his wife, and we do this without consulting Mr. Pierson, and in justice we think the above namd papers should publish this and retract what has been said by them

Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman.
Mr. and Mrs. George Newcomer,
Arna Newcomer,
Mr. and Mrs. George Bryan,
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Miser,
Mrs. Hannah Chapman,
Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wolf,
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snyder,
Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Lewis,
Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ginrich,
Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Fickle,
Mr. and Mrs. Amos Soule,
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hodges,
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ridge,
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ridge,
Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Soule.

THE REMONSTRANCE CASE.

Business Opened With Unusual Activity Last Thursday Morning.

At 9:30 a. m. the commissioners court was called to order in the court room. The full board was present, Allen Shultz, Isaac Gunsenhouser and Emanuel R. Shoemaker. The attorneys who represented the remonstrants were Judge Roby, J. E. Pomeroy and John W. Baxter. For A. Zerwes and E. Hendrickson, the applicants for license, were D. D. Moody and P. V. Hoffman. A good sized audience, representing sentiment for and against the granting of license, was waiting for court to open. And later several ladies came in. The first step was to object to the two proofs of publication of the notices for license. Judge Roby said there was nothing to indicate that they had ever been sworn to. They had simply been signed by the firm name of H. E. & T. C. Little. Still, he admitted he was not inclined to be critical about it. There was some discussion between him and Mr. Moody.

Judge Roby then read the law in these cases, especially in regard to the sobriety of the applicant. Then he read as to remonstrances which must be filed three days before the meeting of the board. When the board finds the proper number of names appears on the remonstrance, and this list of names is all right, then the board has no more to do. They cannot grant the license.

Hoffman made a motion that he thought they ought to end this case and read an affidavit by A. Zirwes, asking the remonstrance to be dismissed. By the affidavit, twelve or more were on twice, several more said they had never signed, forty or more were not legal voters, and many more were uncertain. For these and other reasons he asked to have the remonstrance dismissed. Mr. Hoffman argued his views at length. He spoke of the old Maine liquor law, the Baxter law and the Nicholson law. Under the Baxter law, the applicant for license had to get a majority of voters asking the board to give him license.

Mr. Hoffman spoke about an hour and a quarter. Then Judge Roby presented the other side. He called attention to the remonstrance signed by over 500 persons. He argued that he had a right to appear for Frank E. Eckhart and the others. "If I appear for a party, as his attorney, and it is shown I have no right to so appear, then I can be punished in legal damages in court."

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Court was called by the sheriff at 1:15. John W. Baxter opened the argument by speaking of the objections to having the attorneys sign the remonstrance. If they "show cause" for refusing a license, they do not need a majority of signers. But if they do not "show cause," then a majority of voters can prevent a license without assigning unfitness on the part of the applicant.

When he concluded, Mr. Moody spoke. He spoke of the rights of the voters of any part of the commonwealth, as to giving authority to any one to act for them. This is not a question of fact as to whether a majority of people have decided against these applicants. Then he went into the legal aspects of the case. A petition or remonstrance like this, takes all power from the board or courts. There has been a great step forward in the temperance cause, compared with what it was twenty-five years ago. Now, the humblest citizen can remonstrate against the issuance of a license to anyone, they believe unfit. But this right ends at midnight of the day, when the time for a remonstrance expires. But he thought the success of such a movement as this amounts to full prohibition, which he does not believe the law contemplates.

Mr. Baxter added a few remarks to the effect that though a delegated power cannot be delegated, but in this case, the power has been delegated but once, by the signers giving these three men a power of attorney. The delegation of power, he says, ends there. But no authority is hereby delegated to the board, as the board has its own powers given to itself by plain law. He spoke of the numerous notices for license published in the Garrett Clipper, one being for the same room as one of those we are now objecting to, that the application of Mr. Zirwes whose clerk is now applying for a license to be settled at the March term, to sell in the same room, in case this remonstrance succeeds. Also, the fact that a license notice for Newville is published in the same paper Mr. Hoffman also added a few brief remarks.

FRIDAY MORNING.

At the opening of the commissioners court this morning, Mr. Shultz stated that the motion to throw out the general remonstrance was sustained. This decision ends the remonstrance for this case. But it may be revived as there are several cases in the supreme court that cover this point.

The next step was to prove the good character of Mr. Zirwes, one of the applicants for license. For this purpose his attorneys called witnesses

Judge Roby in his remarks gave the general condemnation of the liquor traffic and spoke of the baneful effect that are often seen. He said he was here, not to object to individuals, but to the business. No signer of the remonstrance desire to injure Zirwes, but object to the business he is in. Let us, the majority of the voters, have our way for but two years, and if it proves a failure, you can then have back the old system, that for fifty years has been such a cause of distress and crime. He wanted Mr. Zirwes to give his reasons for going into court that time and swearing he had violated the law, when he had not violated it. He wished to know whether a man who could do this was fit to run a saloon.

Afterwards Zirwes was examined and cross-examined at full length. He explained that he had been indicted at the time named in the records, there being three counts. He said Prosecutor Davis told him that if he would plead guilty to the third count, he would let him off. This he said he did and was then fined. He explained that Al. Treesh and Gene Trout had played penny ante for amusement, and he had not known about it. In regard to renting his rear room to the man Brown from Garrett, that was the week of the first carnival, in '97. Brown was an acquaintance who kept a saloon in Garrett. Did not know what Brown wanted of the room or what he did there; paid no attention to him. Brown paid three or four dollars, and said he wanted a place to store his things.

J. H. Weaver testified as to the size of the pictures hanging in Zirwes' window. The discussion of screens and pictures was to show that the obstructed the view required by law.

After testimony had closed, the arguments began. The first were by Mr. Hoffman and then by Mr. Roby. After supper, the board and the attorneys went to Zirwes' saloon to inspect the screens, and after that the other attorneys, Moody and Baxter, made their arguments. All the attorneys seemed heart and soul in the cause they espoused. Judge Roby's speech has been especially complimented. The board adjourned till this morning, Saturday, at nine o'clock.

While this was under consideration this forenoon, E. Hendrickson withdrew his petition for license. We have heard several reasons for this, one being a desire to aid Zirwes, and another that he had been seen intoxicated not long ago. But we have no knowledge as to the truth of either.

Then the board resumed ordinary business.

At noon they adjourned without making a decision.

Increas in Prices.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, has compiled some figures showing how prices have advanced, thus increasing the cost of living. He used the figures the other day at Indianapolis before the scale committee. They show the following increase, some of which may be a trifle overstated but most of which will bear scrutiny and comparison:

Nails, 433 percent; tobacco, 16 percent; rubbers and overshoes, 35 percent; men's hats, 25 percent; slates, pencils and like material, 50 percent; beef, 75 percent; mutton, 75 percent; pork, 10 percent; bacon, 20 percent; ham, 20 percent; prints, 55 percent; ginghams 18 percent; beer 12½ percent; pickles, 33 percent, salt, 100 percent; brooms, 166 percent; broom corn, 465 percent; gasoline, 100 percent; quinine, 110 percent; camphor 85 percent; glycerine, 55 percent; canned corn, 40 percent; canned peaches, 75 percent; canned peas, 30 percent; coffee, 10 percent; tea 33 percent; soap, 20 percent; milk, 16 percent; raisins, 170 percent; peanuts, 100 percent; crockery, 20 percent; glassware 15 percent; iron beds, 50 percent; mattresses, 20 percent. His figures showed that in 18 months flour, corn, sugar, cheese, butter, dried prunes, dried apples, rice and window glass have advanced on an average of 100 percent.

A Good Selection.

Geo. Henderson was in town Tuesday visiting his mother. We see by an exchange that George will go Kokomo to live where he has secured a splendid position. That paper says that at a meeting of the Howard county Bar Association held last night at the law office of Blacklidge, Shirley and Wolf, George M. Henderson of Auburn, DeKalb county, was selected reporter of the superior court. There were other candidates for the place, but Mr. Henderson came so well recommended that he was chosen almost unanimously. He is a young man of considerable experience in the work, having been reporter for the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh judicial circuits, besides considerable other experience. He is also a young man of very pleasing address. The members of the bar association feel that they have made a good selection.—St Joe News.

You Can't Dodge Them

Did you ever try to dodge the rain-drops? Did not succeed very well, did you? It's just as useless to try to escape from the germs of consumption. You can't do it. They are about us on every hand and we are constantly taking them into our lungs.

Then why don't we all have this disease? Simply because these germs cannot gain a foothold in a strong throat and lungs. It's when these are weak that the germs master.

The body must be well supplied with fat. The danger comes when the blood is poor and the body is thin. If your cough does not yield, and your throat and lungs feel raw and sore, you should not delay another day. Take of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites at once. It will heal the inflamed membranes and greatly strengthen them as well. The digestion becomes stronger, the appetite better and the weight increases. The whole body becomes well fortified and the germs of consumption cannot gain a foothold.

Scott's Emulsion

It's this nourishing, sustaining and strengthening power of SCOTT'S EMULSION that has made it of such value in all wasting and exhausting diseases.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

ARE AN ODD PEOPLE.

TZIGANES OF HUNGARY HAVE NO COUNTERPARTS.

Retain the Habits of Barbarians in Spite of Remonstrances—Raiment More Scant than Strict Decency Dictates—Their Reclamation Abandoned.

Among the many races which make up the population of that heterogeneous geographical expression termed the Austro-Hungarian empire certainly the most interesting are those curious people called Tziganes in Hungary, bohemians in France and gypsies in England and the United States. Hungary is the home of the Tziganes, in so far as they have any home. In all other European countries they were persecuted for centuries as being emissaries of the evil one and enemies of Christianity, but Hungary took pity on them and treated the wanderers like lost children. There are now about 150,000 of these Tziganes in Hungary.

One of the favorite abodes of these strange people is near the frontier of Croatia. It is there that the typical Tziganes may best be seen. Their "camps" are always set up at some distance from the nearest town or village; often in close proximity to some forest. The Tzigane huts—for they are nothing more—consist of a single room, unless the owner is extremely well to do, and are generally devoid of furniture. The Tziganes eat and sleep on the bare boards. At all times of the day there is a smoldering fire in the hut, over which hangs a sandstone pot, for the Tzigane has no fixed hour for his meals, but eats whenever he feels hungry. The ordinary bill of fare consists of potatoes, stews, milk and lard. On festive occasions such titbits are indulged in as hedgehogs, foxes and squirrels. Cats are considered by the Tziganes a princely diet and they train dogs to hunt hedgehogs and foxes.

Tzigane women, as a rule, go about half naked, the young girls wearing nothing but a small apron, excepting when they go to the neighboring town. The men wear but little clothing, and until the time of their marriage (between 12 and 15 years of age) they also go about almost naked. After marriage, however, they attire themselves in the gaudy Hungarian national costume, of which they are very proud. Cast-off garments of some Magyar nobleman they particularly prize, and when they are able to obtain a bright red coat their satisfaction is complete. The Tziganes have a horror of work or restraint of any kind. Even those who have a fixed residence like to roam about when they feel so inclined. So strong is this wandering instinct with them that they have no word in their language to signify "remain." Most of the trades they adopt are suitable for a nomadic life. They are either horse dealers, blacksmiths, sheep shearers or, and above all, beggars. It is quite impossible to take a country drive through some provinces of Hungary without coming across a band of Tziganes, some one of whom will surely follow a carriage for half an hour or more until he has received a coin. The Tziganes have given themselves the nickname of "poor men" and the habit of begging is so thoroughly rooted in them that even well-to-do members of their race, whom one occasionally meets in Buda-Pesth, driving pure-blooded horses and wearing costly jewels, cannot resist the temptation of asking for money.

Many unsuccessful attempts have been made to restrain the vagabond propensities of the Tziganes. Emperor Joseph II. once tried to compel them to have a fixed residence, and alloted them land, distributed agricultural implements among them and ordered them to cultivate their acres. But instead of taking up their residence in the comfortable homes they had been presented with the Tziganes turned the houses into stables for their horses and cows and set up tents near by for their own use. To prevent the corn given them for seed from sprouting they boiled it. But the Emperor was not discouraged. He abolished the Tzigane language, as he had already done away with the Magyar language; did away with the very name of Tzigane, and finally took their children from them to be educated by German and Hungarian farmers, who were to bring them up according to a strict code of discipline. But the little Tziganes grew up with all the instincts of their race, and at the first opportunity escaped and rejoined their parents.

A few years ago a Tzigane who had been adopted as a child in an Austrian family entered the army and rose to the rank of captain. One day, without any warning, he disappeared, and six months later he was found among a band of wandering Tziganes. Liszt, the great pianist, once tried to tame a young Tzigane. He took the boy to Paris, gave him teachers and tried to bring him up in a conventional manner, but the effort was useless and the young bohemian had to be sent back to his native land. There are a few exceptions which prove the rule, for in Transylvania some peasants are Tziganes and enjoy a well-deserved reputation for thrift and intelligence. Others in Transylvania have become wood carvers, masons and dentists.—Home Journal.

TO FIGHT AGAINST THE BOER.

Lord Strathcona Will Equip a Force of Canadian Rough Riders.

The offer of Lord Strathcona, Canadian high commissioner in London, to equip at his own expense a corps of 400 mounted volunteers, for service with the English in their war against the Boers, has attracted considerable attention. This splendid offer has been accepted by the Dominion government and picked men will be recruited from the northwest and Manitoba. The estimated cost of the force even for a short campaign will be over $500,000 and if the war lasts unusually long the figures may reach $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. This act crowns many princely donations made by Lord Strathcona to various philanthropic and educational enterprises in the Dominion.

Sir Donald Smith, Lord Strathcona, was born in Scotland 78 years ago. He emigrated to Canada at an early age and reached this side of the Atlantic with but little money in his pocket. He was of an adventurous disposition, however, and plunged into the life of a pioneer in the undeveloped Canadian West. He grew up with the country and amassed a fortune. He has long been one of the wealthiest men in Canada and is President of the greatest concern in the Dominion, the Montreal Bank. He is also President of that great corporation, the Hudson Bay Company. As a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway and one of the largest stockholders of that railroad, he has been an important factor in developing the West. Sir Donald has been for nearly forty years connected with Canadian politics and has been during the greater part of that time one of the most prominent figures in Canadian national life, both as a shrewd, practical politician and a great financial power. As a patriotic Canadian and distinguished philanthropist Sir Donald stands without a peer in the Dominion.

LORD STRATHCONA.

ELEVATORS IN THE CAPITOL.

Persons to Whom Is Due the Credit of Their Introduction.

"I came here," said the veteran ex-member of Congress, "when elevators were unknown. Not long afterward they made their appearance in several of the large cities. They were considered an expensive luxury, and nobody dreamed of placing them in the capitol. Singular as it may seem, the first man to propose and advocate their introduction was a member from Texas. He was the heaviest man in the House, and represented the San Antonio district. His name was Gustave Schleiger, and he was born in Germany. At the time of his introduction of a resolution providing for an elevator in the south wing Watchdog Holman was chairman of the committee on appropriations. He fought the resolution, tooth and nail, on the score of economy. He regarded it as the acme of extravagance. Schleiger, however, was persistent. He fought Holman to a standstill, and was finally beaten by the strategy so characteristic of the Hoosier statesman. Even the city members voted against the resolution. The big German, however, had attracted the attention of the whole country. This pleased his constituents, and he was re-elected. He came back to the Forty-fifth Congress and continued the agitation for an elevator. He died near the close of the third session, much regretted.

"In the Forty-sixth Congress Robert Klotz of Mauch Chunk, a Pennsylvania Dutchman, championed Schleiger's hobby. He was so persistent in advocating it that one of his colleagues said to him one day: 'You want to be hoisted to your seat, do you? Well, the people will hoist you next fall. You will get all the hoisting you want then.' The prediction failed. Mr. Klotz was returned to Congress, after he had succeeded in securing an appropriation for an elevator. It was made in the Forty-sixth Congress in the sundry civil bill. Holman was no longer chairman of the committee on appropriations. His successor was the Hon. John De Witt Clinton Atkins of Tennessee. The fact remains, however, that the introduction of the elevators in the capitol was due to the efforts of two statesmen of German extraction."—Washington correspondent Philadelphia Record.

Prison Babies.

Very few people outside official circles know what a large number of babies are born every year in the infirmaries of prisons and penitentiaries, the little people always causing quite a flutter of attentiveness and excitement among female Warders and prisoners alike.

Of course there is a vast difference in prisoners, and sometimes the person least attentive to the prison baby is the mother herself; but, on the other hand, the general body of the women prisoners make the most pathetic efforts, by means of all manner of trifling scraps and odds and ends, to fabricate articles of wear and ornament for the out-of-place little stranger.

Quite three-fourths of the women volunteer to tend it, and it is often the case that the most refractory and difficult of the prisoners soften and greatly alter by being allowed to do little things for it; indeed, it acts throughout like a veritable ray of sunshine among the whole of the poor prisoners, who generally manage to get themselves into great good humor by suggesting as volubly as the prison rules will permit fantastic names for the child. Within a certain period of their birth these children are taken away from the mother and are tended elsewhere with the utmost care and humanity.

Only Reward Asked.

One of our officers in the Philippines is very much disliked by his men. One evening as he was returning home he slipped into some deep water. A private in his regiment, however, happened to see him, and after some trouble succeeded in pulling him out. The officer was very profuse in his thanks, and asked his rescuer the best way he could repay him.

"The best you can reward me," said the soldier, "is to say nothing about it."

"Why, my dear fellow," said the astonished officer, "why do you wish me to say nothing about it?"

"Because, if the other fellows knew I'd pulled you out they'd chuck me in!"

Good Oarsmen.

Seven Japanese fishermen left Santa Monica, Cal., to open, flat-bottomed skiffs and rowed 150 miles in five days without a mishap.

A bachelor says a wife is undoubtedly a good thing to have around the house—to blame things on when they go wrong

SUPPOSE WE SMILE.

HUMOROUS PARAGRAPHS FROM THE COMIC PAPERS.

Pleasant Incidents Occurring the World Over—Sayings that Are Cheerful to Old or Young—Funny Selections that Everybody Will Enjoy.

Hixon—You are the only man I ever heard of who started out to build a house for $4,000 and actually succeeded in finishing it within the limit. How did you manage it?

Dixon—Oh, that was an easy matter. I had my architect draw up plans for a $2,000 house. See?

How He Won Her.

She—Is it true that all men run after beauty?

He—I think not. If they did you would have a crowd around you all the time.

Woes of Wedlock.

"We might just as well come to an understanding right now," said the angry husband. "It's hard for you to hear the truth, especially from me, but——"

"Indeed it is," interrupted the patient wife. "I hear it so seldom."

Wasted Opportunities.

Slowboy—Then you regard me only in the light of a friend.

Miss Swift—Well, it isn't my fault if you don't know enough to turn the light down.

Such Is Fame.

Mrs. Parvenu (at the reception)—You are an artist, I believe?

Literary lion—Well, not exactly, madam. I am what you might properly term a word painter.

Mrs. Parvenu—Oh, now I understand. You paint signs for a living.

Feminine Strategy.

Mrs. Jones—Mrs. Brown seems quite cold toward her husband of late.

Mrs. Smith—Yes, I've noticed it. I wonder why it is.

Mrs. Jones—I don't know, unless it's a hint that she expects a new sealskin sacque before the week's out.

Family History.

Little Willie—Say, pa, did you ever have another wife besides ma?

Pa—No, Willie. But why do you ask?

Little Willie—The family record in the Bible says you married Anno Domini 1877.

No Punishment.

"If I was your wife, I'd give you a dose of poison."

"Begor, av ye wuz, I'd take it!"

Knew He Was a Good Catch.

She—And now, Elfred, dear, you would better go and ask papa.

He—No, darling, it isn't necessary. He and I fixed that all up beforehand. It's business before pleasure, you know.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

She Meant Business.

Maude—Did Jack kiss you when you accepted him?

Clara—Certainly. I wouldn't consider any but sealed proposals.—Chicago News.

CHALLENGED.

Judge—You're privileged to challenge any member of the jury now being impanelled.

Defendant—Well, thin, yer honor, O'll foight that small mon in the corner wid one eye.

A Friendly Tip.

Hicks—Huh! I don't see anything very hard about learning to skate.

Wicks—Suppose you try it once. You may not see it, but you'll probably feel it.

Diplomacy.

She—Must you really go so soon?

He—My dear girl, I've been 'gone' ever since I met you.

Death-Dealing Instruments.

Soapless Sam—I see dey's been anudder drowned in a bath tub, Petey.

Perambulating Pete—Yep; say, dem t'ings is as dangerous as trolleys.—Philadelphia North American.

According to Rudyard.

Larry—Be gosh, it's a wonder th' British proivates don't git mixed.

Denny—Phoy shud they?

Larry—For th' raison thot ivery mon is named "Tommy Atkins."

"Back among the old folks once again."

A Long-Felt Want.

Borem (an amateur photographer)—I understand they have discovered a method of photographing sound.

Miss Cutting (yawning)—Well, I'm glad to know it. Perhaps some people will now be able to take a hint when they hear it.

The Professional Shake.

Mrs. Stubb—John, I do believe that friend you brought up to dinner is a gambler.

Mr. Stubb—Why so, Maria?

Mrs. Stubb—Because he shook the pepper cruet like it had been a dice-box.

In Favor.

Pearl—I almost love Harry.

Ruby—But he is such a slow fellow.

Pearl—That's just it. He actually took fifteen minutes to put on my skates last night.

A Real Sinecure.

Tired Tompkins—There's one job I wouldn't mind havin', Horace.

Hungry Horace (in amazement)—What's that?

"Lineman fer er wireless telegraph comp'ny."—Life.

A Long, Long Time.

Bingo—Let's see; when did your sister visit us last?

Mrs. Bingo—How do you expect me to remember so far back as that? She was here the last time you took me to the theater—Detroit Free Press.

Irish Advice.

"Never be critical upon the ladies," was the maxim of an old Irish peer, remarkable for his homage to the sex. "The only way that a true gentleman ever will attempt to look at the faults of a pretty woman is to shut his eyes."—Collier's Weekly.

The Usual Way.

Watchmaker—All that ails your watch is that the hands are caught. The big one seems to be holding the little one.

Miss Gay (demurely)—Isn't that the right way?—Jewelers' Weekly.

Professional Requirements.

Watts—Don't you think a lawyer requires a better education than a physician?

Potts—To be sure. It takes a good deal more skill to separate a man from his money than from his life.—Indianapolis Press.

Where Sense Comes In.

"Laura is foolishly in love with that man."

"Is he so handsome?"

"No; but she says he can poke a fire with more discernment than any man she ever saw in her life."—Indianapolis Journal.

Quite a Different Thing.

Mr. Doe—I am surprised that you put up with your son's extravagance.

Mr. Roxe—Oh, I don't. I merely put up for it.—New York Journal.

Diplomacy.

Miss Wunder—Why do you always ask Miss Singer to play her own accompaniment?

Miss Gabby—Why, she always plays loud enough to drown her voice.—Baltimore American.

To Advertise.

Friend—Who bought your "First Row" picture?

Artist—A hair-restorer concern.

A Pertinent Inquiry.

He (at the piano)—Do you know "I dreamt I dwelt in marble halls?"

She—No; what did you have for supper?

Old Hudson Bay Receipts.

Among some curious records of the Hudson Bay Company are receipts which read as follows: "Received per Lapwing, Jane Goody, as per invoice, in good condition." "Received per Osprey, Matilda Timbins. Returned per Lapwing, as not being in accordance with description contained in invoice." These belong to pioneer times, when white men who settled in new parts of the country were either obliged to remain bachelors, marry squaws or send east for wives, trusting to the judgment of the company to select them and send them out.

Shingles Made from Stumps.

A new industry has sprung up in the cut-over pine lands near Sandstone, Minn. A Michigan shingle manufacturer has located east of town with machinery suitable to transform the thousands of large stumps into shingles. These stumps now stand from two to four feet above ground and are as sound as the day the tree was cut.—Minneapolis Times.

WOMAN'S HOME

A FEMININE FAILING.

"WORRY wears out more people than work does, and fretting causes more unhappiness in families than either sickness or poverty," says the Woman's Home Companion. "Indeed, the secret of happiness may almost be said to be making the best of everything, and good humor under all circumstances the most useful virtue which man, and more especially woman, can possess. There are good women who to-day would peril life and limb for husband and children, yet who daily render their dear ones uncomfortable by going forth to meet trouble half way, and by grieving over that which is past and irremediable. If a thing can be helped by any effort of yours go to work promptly and help it; if not, waste no time in vain repining. When your husband has made a mistake in business and times are hard do not wail over the mistake. Gather up the fragments and stand by to help him. If you can do nothing else you can at least pretend that you do not mind; can show him that you believe in him still, and prophesy that better times are coming. Nothing so chills a man's courage as the damp spray of a wife's tears. Did you ever try to run your sewing machine without oil? Don't you know how the surfaces grind upon each other, and how hard the work is? Well, just as one hour of that scraping will injure the machinery more than a whole day's use would if properly oiled, just so one day's worry will dig more wrinkles in your face and sprinkle more gray in your hair than will months of patient, trusting labor. Worrying is an essentially feminine failing, and there are women who do it in spite of themselves. If you chance to be such a one, fret all to yourself in the privacy of your chamber, provided you have any privacy. But under any circumstances do not empty your basin of cold water—or worse, your bottle of tears—over the sitting-room fire."

Caring for Plants.

A woman carrying the remnant of a withered palm entered a florist's establishment the other morning and wanted her money back. She exclaimed in no uncertain language that she had been cheated, and the florist, in order to get rid of her, was forced to give her another plant. "She probably won't have better luck with that one," he remarked after she had gone out, "because she doesn't know how to take care of plants. In fact, few women do. A draught is just as fatal to a young house plant as it is to a child. It should have plenty of sunshine, and on a clear bright day it might be placed in the open air. But it should never stand in front of an open window in a current of air. Nor should it be kept in a room after the gas is lighted. Gas will invariably make a potted plant sickly. At night it should be kept in the dark. Unless a woman wants to give her plants a great deal of her time and attention it is useless for her to think of attempting to raise them."

Mark for a Pillow.

The most beautiful fancy pilows for cozy corners and boudoirs are made this year of the heaviest satin, with borders of lace ruffles. Plaited chiffon is sometimes combined with the lace in these borders. The upper side of the pillow is handsomely embroidered in raised design, while the reversible design has simply a letter traced in heavy silk. Either the initial letter of the owner's surname or Christian name may be used.

MARK FOR A PILLOW.

Keep Looking Prosperous.

A woman who has taste, no matter how long she must wear her gowns, always looks well. Your clothes must represent you—not in foolish, unnecessary extravagances, but in substantial things. The best is always the most economical, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. A false idea of economy has led many persons to ruin. Stinting is not economy. To overexert yourself when you are tired in order to save a few cents or to make a very worn garment serve a little longer is not economy; and though often done in its name it is the grossest extravagance. One of the first essentials toward economy is to save strength, physical as well as mental, and another equally important is to keep looking prosperous.

The Girl Who Is Welcome.

The welcome guest is the girl who, knowing the hour for breakfast, appears at the table at the proper time, does not keep others waiting, and does not get in the way of being down half an hour before the hostess appears. The welcome guest is the girl who, if there are not many servants in the house, has sufficient energy to take care of her own room, while she is visiting, and, if there are people whose duty it is, she makes that duty as light as possible for them by putting away her own belongings, and so necessitating no extra work; she is the one who knows how to be pleasant to every member of the family, and who has yet enough tact to retire from a room when some special family affair is under discussion; she is the one who does not find children disagreeable or the various pets of the household things to be dreaded; she is the one who, when her hostess is busy, can entertain herself with a book, a bit of sewing or the writing of a letter; she is the one who, when her friends come to see her, does not disarrange the household in which she is staying that she may entertain them; she is the one who, having broken the bread and eaten the salt of her friend, has set before her lips the seal of silence, so that when she goes from the house she repeats nothing but the agreeable things she has seen. This is the welcome guest, the one to whom we say "Good-by" with regret, and to whom we call out "Welcome!" with the lips and from the heart.—Ledger Monthly.

Automobile Ride at 108.

Mrs. Sarah D. Terry died recently in Philadelphia, at the age of 108. She did not marry until she was 60, but left several children and grandchildren. She was the daughter of an Irish farmer, and often said her father never could decide which he hated most British or snakes.

MRS. S. D. TERRY.

The ladies of the chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution of which Mrs. Terry was a member took her driving frequently. On her 108th birthday she took a ride in that up-to-date vehicle—the automobile. The old lady, who has seen every stage of traveling, by post, steam and horse car, was delighted by the electrical cab ride, which she called the crowning novelty of her life.

Keeping Friends.

"Let us lay hold of friendships. To have a friend, however, means not always happiness, but discipline. Seek how we may, we shall never find a friend without faults, imperfections and ways that vex, grieve, annoy us. One must forgive much, forget much, forbear much. It costs to be a friend, or to have a friend. There is nothing else in life, except motherhood, that costs so much. There is no true friendship without self-abnegation, self-sacrifice." Some become impatient and often discard the truest friendships.

Having carefully chosen a few friends, we should never let them go out of our lives if we can by any possibility retain them. Friendship is too rare and sacred a treasure to be lightly thrown away. To have a friend is to have one of the sweetest gifts that life can bring. To be a friend is to have a solemn and tender education of soul from day to day.

There are a great many ways of losing friends. But when we have once taken them into our lives, we should cherish them as rarest jewels. If slights are given, let them be overlooked. If misunderstandings arise, let them be quickly set aright. Some lose them through inattention, failing to maintain those little amenities, courtesies and kindnesses which cost so little, yet are hooks of steel to grapple and hold our friends. Some drop old friends for new ones; some take offense easily at imagined slights or neglects, and ruthlessly cut the most sacred ties.

Famous Woman a Nun.

The famous woman who created most of the Offenbach heroines, is now in a convent at Toulouse about to take the veil and hesitating only over the final preparations for this important step. She is not certain that the life is entirely suited to her, and is at present only a boarder among the nuns with whom she will in all probability associate permanently. It is said that she now hesitates only between a purely religious order and one given to active charity.

Hortense Schneider

A Good Fattener.

Olive oil forms a most useful article of diet for delicate people. The invalid who cannot touch cod liver oil should be encouraged to use freely mayonnaise dressing and in eating salad to pour over it a liberal supply of oil. In cases where the taste for this is not natural it can generally soon be acquired. For some cases of debility and weak digestion small doses of salad oil will do wonders. People have sometimes been able to give up the almost daily use of drugs by taking instead a dessertspoonful of salad oil on going to bed.

Items of Interest to Women.

The first police matron in Texas has been appointed at San Antonio.

In Montana women who pay taxes vote on all questions submitted to taxpayers.

Kentucky was the first State to give school suffrage to widows, granting it in 1838.

The Woman's West Side Republican Club of New York has undertaken to see that the Raines liquor law is enforced on Sunday.

"The Ants" is the name of a society of Protestant young women in France. They number 20,000 and their object is work among the poorer classes.

A series of measurements made at Wellesley by a Yale scientist shows that Western young women have larger heads and greater lung capacity than their Eastern sisters.

Prof. J. M. Munyon, of Philadelphia, will build a home for dependent girls on thirty acres of choice ground near Fairmount Park. The buildings alone will cost $2,000,000.

Miss Elizabeth Carnes, teacher of physical culture in the public schools of Detroit, has begun a crusade against garments worn by women which injure the health.

For fancy dress gayeties in England young women are adopting as novelties, in honor of soldiers at the front, what are known as "Khaki" and "Union Jack" costumes, which are said to be picturesque if not graceful.

Ohson Sakural, director of the Meigi Girls' Seminary at Tokio, who is in America studying women's schools, says it is only a question of time when the Japanese women will be as progressive as those of this country.

FRANKLIN W. FISK.

Head of the Chicago Theological Seminary Resigns.

President Franklin W. Fisk, of the Chicago Theological Seminary, has handed in his resignation as professor and head of the faculty. "I shall soon have reached my eightieth year," says President Fisk, "and the fortieth year of my work in the seminary. I am giving up active work simply on account of advancing age."

Prof. Fisk was the first man to accept a chair in the Chicago Theological Seminary. He went to the school for ministers when it was only a name, without a building, without money, and with a roll of about twenty-five students. It is now the largest Congregational theological seminary in the United States. It has come to be known as the "Yale of the West" in matters of theology. For forty years young ministerial students of that church from Ohio to the Rocky Mountains have come under the influence of Prof. Fisk.

REV. FRANKLIN W. FISK, D. D., LL. D.

He was born in Vermont and comes of a fine old New England family. His mother belonged to the Proctors of Vermont and New Hampshire. He was a fellow student at Yale in the '40s with Timothy Dwight, who last year resigned the Presidency of that historic institution. He has received two degrees from Yale University, and one, that of LL. D., from Beloit College. Dr. Fisk in his prime was a most eloquent preacher. He had a powerful voice, a fine presence, and all the dignity of the old clerical school.

PROGRESS IN THE SOUTH.

Twenty Years Have Shown a Remarkable Growth Down in Dixie.

The industrial progress of the South during the past twenty years is shown in the Manufacturers' Record, from which it appears that the low price of cotton has had the effect of stimulating the output of other farm products. In the past ten years the production of wheat has increased 54 per cent. in the South, and the number of hogs raised there has during that period nearly doubled. Seventy-two varieties of field crops are now grown where there formerly was nothing but cotton, and sixty-five varieties of vegetables, fruits and melons are raised in the South for markets in the North. While five years ago the cotton mills in the South consumed but 720,000 bales of cotton, their consumption amounts now to nearly 1,500,000 bales in the 550 mills, with 4,952,092 spindles and 104,446 looms. The number of mills has increased 206, that of spindles and looms 640 per cent.

The finest blankets made in the country are now manufactured in North Carolina, where 104 woolen mills are in operation. The finest grade of wool can be grown in the South almost as cheaply as cotton. Two decades ago the South produced annually but 6,000,000 tons of bituminous coal; that product has now passed the 40,000,000 mark, and of the 47,000 square miles of coal fields in the South only about 1,000 are under development. While two decades ago less than 500,000 tons of iron were produced, that production has now grown to 2,500,000 tons of a very superior article. And the iron industry in the South is as yet in its infancy. There are enormous iron ore deposits in different parts of that section of the country which have thus far not been touched at all. This is but a short summary of the progress made in the South during the past twenty years, but it suffices to indicate the possibilities of that part of the country and what is in store for it in the future, since it is no longer limited to cotton.—Denver Post.

Turkey Dressing.

Corn in Europe.

An American corn kitchen will be maintained at the Paris exposition at a cost to the United States of $10,000. The money will be well invested, for, outside of America, the merits of maize are still but little understood. Last year this country exported $144,000,000 worth of flour, and only $2,000,000 worth of corn meal.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Feminine Conception.

Lawyer—Write that wholesale firm in New York which sent us a claim against the jeweler that he's attached by his wife's sister.

Stenographer—Excuse me, sir, but but shouldn't the preposition be to instead of by?—Jewelers' Weekly.

The man who takes the cake thinks it is no more than his just desert.

Some people pass their good resolutions on the first reading.

I am Past 80 and Not a Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a great many years, and although I am past eighty years of age, yet I have not a gray hair in my head." — Geo. Yellott, Towson, Md., Aug. 3, 1899.

Have You Lost It?

We mean all that rich, dark color your hair used to have. But there is no need of mourning over it, for you can find it again.

Ayer's Hair Vigor always restores color to gray hair. We know exactly what we are saying when we use that word "always."

It makes the hair grow heavy and long, too; takes out every bit of dandruff, and stops falling of the hair. Keep it on your dressing table and use it every day. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Write the Doctor

If you do not obtain all the benefits you desire from the use of the Vigor, write the Doctor about it. He will tell you just the right thing to do, and will send you his book on the Hair and Scalp if you request it. Address,
DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

DO YOU COUGH
DON'T DELAY
TAKE KEMP'S
BALSAM
THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and $1 cents.

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS
AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

Libby's
Peerless
Wafer Sliced
Dried Beef

Try It.

Our Peerless Wafer Sliced Dried Beef is one of our thirty varieties of perfectly packed canned foods and comes to you as fresh, dainty and deliciously flavored as the moment it was sliced. Put up in convenient sized key opening cans. Ask your grocer. If not in stock, he will order it at your request.

Drop a postal for new edition free "How to make good things to eat." Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

Salzer's Rape gives Rich, green food, at 85c. a ton.

Spelta—What is it? Catalog tells.

BUY NORTHERN GROWN SEEDS
FARM SEEDS
Salzer's Seeds are Warranted to Produce.
Mahlon Lether, E. Troy, Pa., astonished the world by growing 250 bushels Big Four Oats; J. Breider, Minkoott, Wis., 175 bus. barley; and H. Lovejoy, Red Wing, Minn., by growing 226 bush. Salzer's seeds per acre. If you doubt, write them. We wish to gain 200,000 new customers, hence will send on trial
10 DOLLARS WORTH FOR 10c.
10 pkgs of rare farm seeds, Salt Bush, the 3-eared Corn—Spelta, producing 60 bush. food and 4 tons hay per acre—above oats and barley. Bromus Inermis—the greatest grass on earth; Salzer says so. Rare, Spring Wheat, &c., including our mammoth Plant, Fruit and Seed Catalog, telling all about Salzer's Great Million Dollar Potato, all mailed for 10c. postage; positively worth $10 to get a start. Seed Potatoes $1.50 a bbl. and up.
85 pkgs earliest vegetable seeds, $1.00.
Please send this adv. with 10c. to Salzer. Catalog alone, 5c. C.N.1—
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LACROSSE WIS.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

CARTER'S INK
is made to give satisfaction—and it does. Have you used it?

JELL-O, THE NEW DESSERT,
pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

PENSIONS Get Your Pension DOUBLE QUICK!
Write Sent. O'FARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

BEST THOUGHTS LOST.

Mark Twain's Sister-in-Law Talks Entertainingly of Him.

The widow of Orion Clemens, the brother of Mark Twain—Samuel Clemens—is visiting Mrs. Xantippe Saunders of 223 West Walnut street, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. Mrs. Clemens is always in close touch with the movements and doings of the great humorist-philosopher and speaks delightfully of the home side of his life.

"The people," she said, "do not really know Brother Sam. They know him as the author who prefers a laugh to a tear. But we value him infinitely higher for his home life. Self never seems to enter into his mind. The wants of others are always uppermost. On one occasion I heard him say:

"'My best thoughts always come to me when I am in bed.'

"'Why don't you then write them down?'

"'What? Disturb Livie (his wife)? No, indeed. She is worth all thoughts and more besides.'

"This will give you some faint inkling of his real value.

"Even in the midst of his great financial troubles and when his health aroused our fears, he was the same. He only thought of how to shed sunshine on those about him. The recent death of his daughter, to whom he was peculiarly devoted, was a great blow to him, but he sought through it all to ease the burden of others' grief.

"He has never disposed of his Hartford home," she said, "and will doubtless live there again when he and his family return. His wife and two daughters, his only living children, are now with him in London, as his wife has been his constant companion in all of the present tour around the world."

WHAT A FORMER AMERICAN SAYS

Doubled Their Cultivated Lands and More than Doubled Their Stock.

The following letter written by Mr. John Cummings of Wetaskiwin, Alberta, Canada, formerly of Washington, to a friend in the United States is only one of a hundred similar cases, and what was done by Mr. Cummings can more easily be done to-day by any good, sober and industrious farmer who chooses to make his home in the Dominion.

Dear Sir—You want to know how I got along since I came into Northern Alberta. I am happy to inform you that I am not ashamed to tell.

We located five miles northeast of Wetaskiwin; left Farmington, Washington, on the 29th of May, driving all the way.

We had time to build our log house the first fall and to make us comfortable for the family and stock. We then built four stables, 18x20 inside, so that we could put everything inside them when the cold got down to the fifties, and worked hard getting up the stable, and got through dubbing on the 1st of December, but to our surprise we had no use for the stables, only for the milch cow and two span of horses. The balance of the horses lived on the prairie all winter and took care of themselves. The doors of two stables were left open for them to go into in a cold time, but they would not do it, but stayed out on the prairie the coldest night we had and looked as spry as crickets.

I can go ten rods back of my house and count ten residents. I know all of their circumstances. Every one of them have doubled their cultivated land and doubled their animals, and a great deal more. All of us are comparatively out of debt and an unusually big crop to thresh and prospects of a fair price, and I expect we are as well contented lot of people as there are from Florida to the Klondike.

My son bought two pounds of twine to the acre, and when we started to bind some barley, we found that instead of taking two pounds to the acre, it was taking nearly five pounds. Then you ought to have seen him hitch up a team and make for town for 100 lbs. more. I cannot say how it will thresh. All I can say is that it is well headed, and takes an enormous amount of twine.

The Safest Way Out.

She—Are you still engaged to Maude?

He—No.

She—I congratulate you! You're well rid of her. How did you break it off?

He—By marrying her.—Collier's Weekly.

If you hold a Central Passenger Association Mileage Ticket use it on trains of the Nickel Plate Road, on and after Feb. 10th.

He who is always going to the law will get the law in the habit of coming to him.

"A Thread Every Day Makes a Skein in a Year."

One small disease germ carried by the blood through the system will convert a healthy human body to a condition of invalidism. Do not wait until you are bedridden. Keep your blood pure and life-giving all the time. Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes this as nothing else can.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.
Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.
The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free.
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

ELY'S CREAM BALM
Cures CATARRH.
It is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate. It is not drying, does not produce sneezing.
Druggists, 50 cts. or by mail.
ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N.Y.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP
Cures a Cough or Cold at once. Conquers Croup without fail. Is the best for Bronchitis, Grippe, Hoarseness, Whooping-Cough, and for the cure of Consumption. Mothers praise it. Doctors prescribe it. Small doses; quick, sure results.
SAFE SURE
FOR ALL LUNG TROUBLE

LAMBS' THROAT CANDY, one of the best confections for vocalists, public speakers, etc. Send 10 cents to the Lamb Mfg. Co., Ottawa, Canada, for sample box.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Increase in Oil Product—Killing of Frank Carr Causes Sister's Insanity—Young Woman Shoots Herself—Former Poor Miner Gets Rich in Alaska.

The month of January was a record breaker in the Indiana oil field. The total number of completed wells during the month is 281 and the production 4,000 barrels. Fifty-one dry wells were put down. The increase in completed wells, fifteen; the increase in the output is 365 barrels, and the decrease in dry holes was five. The average in December was 20.7 barrels and the January average was 20 barrels. There are now 249 wells drilling and 461 rigs up—a total of 410 rigs. The increase in wells drilling was 35 and in new rigs 33, a net increase of 68 wells. There are several well-shooters in the Indiana field, and their occupation is more dangerous than employment around a powder mill. The average shot consists of eighty to 240 quarts of nitroglycerin, and from the time the shooter starts with his load of 750 quarts of the explosive in his wagon till he has completed his job no life insurance company will take a risk at any premium.

Crazy Over Brother's Death.

When the republished report of Gen. Otis, containing a list of the killed in battle in the Philippines Jan. 18, reached Columbus, the name of Frank Carr, who enlisted from that place, appeared in the list. When John W. Carr, father of the dead soldier, learned the truth he went immediately to his home, and, rushing excitedly into the house, said to his daughter: "Frank is killed." The daughter was but 18 years of age, and, being of a nervous temperament, she swooned on hearing the sad news and for five days she lay unconscious. When she finally regained consciousness her entire past life was a blank. She could recall nothing and her friends and neighbors were strangers to her. She knows nothing of the death of her brother and seems dazed. Her condition is greatly puzzling her physicians.

Young Woman Kills Herself.

In Peru Mrs. Elmer Ferkel, a handsome woman, aged 21 years, while at the breakfast table picked up a revolver and after playing with it a moment placed it to her breast and pulled the trigger. The ball passed directly through her heart, killing her instantly. She went there a short time ago from Andrews with her husband, but he left soon afterward for Chicago, where he is employed by the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company. It is supposed that unhappy domestic relations caused the suicide. Mrs. Ferkel tried to take poison some time ago, but was prevented.

Brings Wealth from Alaska.

George Britton has returned from Alaska, where he spent the past two years, bringing with him nearly $60,000 in gold. He says that he has a claim he has refused $300,000 for. When he left Brazil he was a poor coal miner.

Within Our Borders.

Greenfield wants all night electric light schedule.

Crawfordsville Masons will build a temple next spring.

Goshen clerks have won in their fight for early closing.

Loriston M. Fairbanks, father of Senator Fairbanks, is dead at Pasadena, Cal.

Columbus merchants are going to do away with the trading-check system.

Charles Homes, tin plate worker, was scalded to death by the bursting of a steam pipe at Elwood.

Frank McDaniel, aged 50 years, dropped dead on the street in Martinsville of heart trouble. He was a well-known farmer.

A sensation was created at Shelbyville when the grand jury returned fourteen indictments in connection with the shortage in the county treasury.

Money received for the old pesthouse at Terre Haute, which was supposed to be held over to build a new one, is missing, and the board of health is up a tree for a smallpox hospital.

Judge Mattison, Evansville, acquitted Dr. Louis, charged with practicing medicine without a license. The judge held that as he cured by laying on his hands, he is not legally a physician.

George W. Clapper, aged 82 years, died at Martinville as a result of breaking his hip by falling several days ago. He had been a resident there more than fifty years and was a leading citizen.

The street car lines of the Brazil Rapid Transit Company running from Brazil to Hammond have been sold to the Terre Haute Street Railway Company for $50,000. The latter is building a line from Terre Haute to Brazil to connect with the lines purchased.

Columbus claims to have more bird dogs to the square inch than any town in the State.

The Miami Traction Company is projecting an electric railroad from Muncie to Richmond.

Prof. Lawrence of the State normal school, Emporia, Kan., has been appointed to the chair of mathematics at Hanover College, Madison, succeeding Prof. Morse, who retires on account of age.

B. F. Williamson, 72, farmer near Montpelier, who fell on to a redhot stove during an attack of heart trouble Friday, was not aroused by either the fall or burns, and his face lay on the stove for several minutes and cooked.

The other night a Lebanon woman sat up until 2 a. m. for her husband to come home. At last, weary and worn out with waiting, she went to her bedroom to retire and found her missing husband there fast asleep. Instead of going to town he had gone to bed. They were on speaking terms.

Residence of Joseph Sy[illegible], Green township, was wrecked by a gas explosion. Two children and the mother may be fatally hurt. Cause unknown.

Eleven hundred tons of straw, belonging to the American Straw Board Company, Noblesville, went up in smoke. Loss $6,000. Origin unknown. Mills may close until another season.

Clifford, the 12-year-old son of Charles Newhall, residing near Parker, was instantly killed by a ball from a flobert rifle. It was an accidental discharge, the ball penetrating the brain over the left eye.

Indiana heirs are claiming $1,000 that was left in a bank at Council Bluffs, Iowa, by William Parks, who was murdered in Wyoming several years ago.

Merle Stoddard, 9, was warming at a grate, when her dress caught fire. Miss Josephine Whittinghill, the teacher, smothered the flames with her cloak, saving the child, but badly burning herself.

An Exploded Theory.

Biggs—It's all nonsense about there being honor among thieves.

Boggs—Yes?

Biggs—I'm sure of it. I just read an account of a plumber being held up by footpads.—New York Journal.

HE WAS A DEADHEAD.

Good Reason Why the Boy in the Box Traveled Free.

The way certain railway servants handle the bags and portmanteaus of travelers is sometimes shocking to the most indifferent spectator, and has earned for them the familiar name of "luggage smashers."

A few years ago one of these men tumbled a long, peculiar looking box from the porter's truck into a luggage compartment, and stood it on end, in the usual rough fashion, when a stifled voice cried:

"Oh, don't!"

"Don't what?" said the astonished porter, staring at the box.

"Don't stand me on my head! Turn me over quick!" said the voice.

The excited porter hurriedly placed the box in a horizontal position.

Then a voice, more stifled than before, called out:

"That won't do! You've put me on my face! Oh! Oh!"

The man hastened to turn the box over, and was rewarded by a grunt of satisfaction from the voice. Then turning to the owner—a quiet-looking little man standing by—he exclaimed, wiping the perspiration from his forehead:

"Look here! You must pay the fare for this boy in the box!"

"Oh, no," said the owner. "I have carried him thousands of miles on railways, and have never paid his fare yet."

"No matter," said the porter, "you can't smuggle nobody over this line, and if you don't take a ticket I'll set him out on the platform and leave him standing on his head till you do."

"Why, he's a dead-head! He has been passed many a time," remonstrated the traveler.

"We don't pass no live folks in boxes!" said the smasher, and he was about to tumble the box out, when the guard came along and, recognizing the traveler, inquired:

"Why, what is the matter, Professor B——?"

It was, in fact, Professor B——, the ventriloquist, and the occupant of the box was no other than his automaton "boy" Bobby, that figured in his performances, and always traveled with his owner in this way.

The Mystery of Dust at Sea.

It is a puzzling fact that the decks of sailing vessels show dust at night, even if washed in the morning, and no work is done during the day. This is like indigestion and dyspepsia, which creep on one unawares. The only way to cure them is by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also prevents malaria, fever and ague.

Gounod's Lost Opera.

Few people are aware that Gounod once, in a moment of anger, tore up the manuscript of an opera he had composed, and, though he afterward repented of his action, he was quite unable to recall its melodies. Gounod's opera "Faust" was nearly lost to the world by the religious scruples of the great composer. About the time he wrote it he determined henceforth only to write sacred music, but, happily for posterity, he thought better of his resolution.

Libby, McNeill & Libby

Housekeepers frequently feel the need of luncheon meats which are either ready to serve or can be prepared for the table at a moment's notice. Such a need is abundantly supplied in the superior meats put up by the old reliable house of Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago, one of whose specialties is advertised in another column of this paper, and their booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat," is offered free on application.

Used as a Church 1,500 Years.

The oldest building in the world that has been uninterruptedly used for church purposes in St. Martin's Cathedral at Canterbury, England. The building was originally erected for a church, and has been regularly used as a place for religious gatherings for more than 1,500 years.

Medical Book Free.

"Know Thyself," a book for men only, regular price 50 cents, will be sent free (sealed and postpaid) to any male reader of this paper, mentioning this advertisement, inclosing 6c for postage. Address the Peabody Medical Institute, 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., the oldest and best institution of its kind in New England. Write to-day for free book.

Of Course.

Mack O'Rell—There is some place where they manufacture artificial eggs. What name would you give an establishment of that kind?

Luke Warme—Why, an egg plant, of course.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

He Didn't Specify.

"I thought you said you could skate," said the expert scornfully.

"Well," replied the man who was vainly trying to get up. "I didn't say whether I skated on my feet or on the back of my neck, did I?"—Chicago Post.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Upon an average 10,000 pineapples are imported into London every week throughout the year.

Virginia Farms for Sale Cheap.

I have some Rare Bargains that will suit most any one. Send for list and descriptions. Address A. T. Stewart, Carson, Virginia.

Air Cushion Rubber Stamps—the Best—the Cheapest. Send your orders to Lock Box 219, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets are good on the Nickel Plate Road between Buffalo and Chicago or intermediate stations on or after Feb. 10th.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

The First Telescopic Comet.

"On the evening of Oct. 1, 1847, the Mitchells were entertaining a party of invited guests," writes Amelia H. Botsford, of "The Mother of the Stars," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "But Maria Mitchell was not to be deterred by 'company' from following her custom of sweeping the heavens with the telescope every clear night. She slipped away and ran up to the observatory. Soon afterward she returned and told her father that she thought she had seen a comet. He hurried up to the observatory to look himself, and declared that it was indeed a comet. This discovery entitled Miss Mitchell to the gold medal that had been offered some years before by the King of Denmark to the first discoverer of a telescopic comet, and it was struck off and forwarded to her."

Success in the Dairy.

To secure the best results in the care of milk and butter, attention must be given details. The milking must be properly done, and all vessels used must be kept scrupulously clean by washing night and morning in hot water with Ivory soap, then rinsed in cold water and set out to sun and air.

ELIZA R. PARKER.

The Greatest Banquet of the World.

The greatest banquet in history took place Aug. 18, 1889, when the 40,000 mayors of France sat at a table in the Palais de l'Industrie in Paris. There were three relays of about 13,000 guests each. To prepare the feast required seventy-five chief cooks, 13,000 waiters, scullions, cellarmen and helpers; 80,000 plates, 52,000 glasses, knives, forks and spoons in proportion; 40,000 rolls and fish, meat and fowl by the ton. The banquet was part of the centenary celebration of the events of 1789.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Their Annual Neatness.

The bachelor—Hm. Christmas is the only time you hang up your stockings, isn't it?

The child—Yes, sir. Every other night we just throw them down in a corner or any old place.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Suburban Sports.

"How much pleasanter to shovel snow than to run the lawn mower!"

"Yes; it is too cold for our wives to sit on the porch and boss us."

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is not a liquid or a snuff. It quickly relieves Cold in the Head, Headache, etc., and really cures Catarrh. 50c.

Washington was only 23 when made commander-in-chief of the forces of Virginia.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Native wit may be foreign to the occasion.

VITALITY low, debilitated or exhausted cured by Dr. Kline's Invigorating Tonic. FREE $1 Trial Bottle containing 2 weeks' treatment. Dr. Kline's Institute, 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia. Founded 1871.

A joke which is too broad will probably fall flat.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets will be accepted for passage on trains of the Nickel Plate Road on and after Feb. 10th.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c and 25c.

Social Arrears.

"You haven't been to see me since I came back."

"No; I'm not supposed to know you have been away until you come and tell me good-by."

The Million Dollar Potato.

Most talked-of potato on earth; the next is Sunlight; which is fit to eat in 35 days. Send this notice and 5c to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., for their great catalog. C N U

Boston's Second Church.

The old "Second Church" in Boston celebrated its two hundred and fiftieth anniversary recently.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets.

The Nickel Plate Road has become a member of the Mileage Ticket Bureau of the Central Passenger Association, and all mileage tickets properly issued by any line a member of that bureau, are valid for use on that road on and after Feb. 10th, in the same manner as on other roads, members of that bureau.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Nervous Women

are ailing women. When a woman has some female trouble she is certain to be nervous and wretched.

With many women the monthly suffering is so great that they are for days positively insane, and the most diligent efforts of ordinary treatment are unavailing.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

comes promptly to the relief of these women. The letters from women cured by it proves this. This paper is constantly printing them.

The advice of Mrs. Pinkham should also be secured by every nervous woman. This costs nothing. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

FOR 14 CENTS
We wish to gain this year 20,000 new customers, and hence offer
1 Pkg. City Garden Beet, 10c
1 Pkg. Earliest Emerald Cucumber 10c
1 " La Crosse Market Lettuce, 15c
1 " Strawberry Melon, 15c
1 " 10 Day Radish, 10c
1 " Early Ripe Cabbage, 10c
1 " Early Dinner Onion, 10c
1 " Brilliant Flower Seeds, 10c
Worth $1.00, for 14 cents. $1.00
Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c. stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without them. Price on Salzer's 1900—largest earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.—
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

AFTER THE BANQUET

Man Feels Well, but It's Different in the Morning.

And Yet It's So Easy to Avoid the Dark-Brown Taste, for Science Comes to the Rescue—A Magic Microbe-Killing Tablet.

Good fellowship does it.

You eat too much and wash the good things down with too much drink.

The good time ends in a muddled condition, and the stomach is worse muddled than the head.

Think of mixing up the various lots of food you eat at a dinner, from soup to nuts, in one receptacle, and adding half a dozen different kinds of drinks, alcoholic and otherwise. Stir the mixture up well and imagine what a sickening mess it would make.

Yet that is what you do in your stomach, and your digestive apparatus can't handle it. So the horrible stuff takes a night's lodging in your over-burdened interior and sours there.

All this fermentation of undigested food with its evil consequences can be easily avoided. All that is necessary is to take a tablet of Cascarets Candy Cathartic before going to bed, and you'll feel all right in the morning.

You don't need to forego the pleasures of jolly companionship if you will take this advice.

It's what Cascarets do, not what we say they'll do, that proves their merit. All druggists, 10c, 25c, or 50c, or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address, Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can.; or New York.

This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

THE MILLION DOLLAR POTATO
Most talked of potato on earth! Our Catalog tells—so also about Salzer's Earliest Six Weeks' Potato. Largest farm and vegetable seed growers in U.S. Potatoes, $1.50 and up a bbl. Send this notice and 5c. stamp for Big Catalog. C.N.
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE WIS.

MILLIONS OF WOMEN USE CUTICURA SOAP exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes, for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated or toilet soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, VIZ., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

COMPLETE EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT FOR EVERY HUMOR $1.25, consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston. "All about Skin, Scalp, and Hair," free.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY...FEBRUARY 15, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratcic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

New Candidate for Congress.

Judge Samuel M. Hench announces this morning that he will be a candidate for congress from the Twelfth district before the democratic nominating convention.

Judge Hench needs no introduction to the people of the district, for he has long been identified as a leader of democratic throught, true to the principles of the party, an effective speaker and always a loyal worker.

His public career has been an honorable one. There is nothing in his life not to his credit, and it embraces military and civic service.

Judge Hench was appointed prosecuting attorney by Governor Hendricks in 1874, and he served in that capacity until 1881.

In 1882 the people of Allen county elected him judge of the criminal court, and after serving a full term he was elected him judge of the superior court, serving to the end of his term.

Elected to the legislature in 1891. Judge Hench took a leading position and was the author, among other bills, of the co-liability bill, still on the statute books.

Judge Hench served in the union armory in the rebellion, as a member of the 126th Pennsylvania volunteers, being seriously injured at the battle of Fredricksberg.

Judge Hench is in thorough sympathy with the veterans, he is a man of commanding presence, and his candidacy is sure to attract favorable attention.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, Feb. 12.

Very Poor Business.

A shameful thing happened at Anderson, at the meeting of republican clubs. Booker L. Washington, the most eminent colored man of the country since the death of Fred Douglass, was refused accommodations at one of the hotels. We thought this relic of barbarism had long since died out. Mr. Washington is a highly educated president of a college of his race, an eloquent orator with statesmanlike views and in every way, the peer of the best men who attended the meeting or were residents of the town. It is hoped this is the last time such a thing will occur. Of course there are colored men and we might add, white men, also who are not fit to associate with. But men of culture, character and refinement, like Mr. Washington, are entitled to respect.

Township Caucuses.

The democrats of Union township held their caucus for the selection of precinct committeemen Saturday afternoon in the office of County Chairman Walter. The following gentlemen were chosen as precinct committeemen: No. 1, Arnold Blodgett; No. 2, J. F. Lahnum; No. 3, Miles Baxter; No. 4, O. P. Myers; No 5, Samuel Brandon.

In Troy township Jacob Swinehart was the choice of the caucus for committeeman.

The democrats of the northwest and southeast precincts of Concord held their meeting at St. Joe and elected George Bleeks and Mahlon Baker, respectively, as committeemen.

John Williams was selected as committeeman for Butler township.

As to Congressman.

Judge S. M. Hench of Fort Wayne announces himself as a candidate for congress on the democratic ticket Every man has a right to run for congress if he sees fit, and Judge Hench is a man who has an abundance of friends. But judging from all we have heard from the people at large, we feel sure, the first choice of democratic voters is Mr. Robinson. People are of course, often divided on these questions, and there may be a warm, but friendly struggle for the nomination. But whoever gets it should have the solid support of all. Don't let us start out in this campaign with any sore spots or divisions. We shall need all the votes.

An Available Man.

B C. Moon of Kokomo has decided to be a candidate for the democratic nomination for Judge of the Supreme Court from the Fourth district. Mr. Moon is an excellent judge of law, a good citizen, and a democrat, which requisites make him an available man for the place.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Editor's Awful Plight.

F. M. Higgins, Editor Seneca, (Ill,) News, was afflicted four years with Piles that no doctor or remedy helped until he tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes two boxes wholly cured him. It's the surest Pile cure on earth and the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by McCORD the DRUGGIST.

Saw Lawton Killed.

Edson Warner, a cousin to Irvin Neher of this city, is a soldier in the Philippines and has written a letter to to friends at home from which we take the following extract: Last Monday night, the 15th, we started under a heavy march for Sande Netta. It was about twenty-five miles the way we had to go. It commenced raining about noon that day and continued till night, which made it very hard marching. Some of the boys did not get there, but I was able to get through all right. We arrived there about 4:00 a. m. and then lay down and rested till 6:00, then we started down the mountain. We crawled right up to the river bank before they saw us. There was just the river between us. When they saw us they sent a shower of bullets over us, but they had their guns at 300 yards and their bullets all went over us. They sent three volleys at us before we returned fire, and then we commenced shooting at them. We fought hard for two and one-half hours, they did not do us much harm. Then we started to make a charge, but had to turn back on account of the river being too deep. When we started back you ought to have heard the bullets play. But we did not go far until we fell into a patch of rice and gave them several volleys during the next half hour. Then was where the brave man, Gen. Lawton, was killed. He was a very brave man, knowing no fear. He was walking along behind the boys who were lying down and shooting. About two minutes before his death he came to the squad I was in and said, "Boys, how do you like this? You are doing fine work." I turned around to see where he was and saw two officers catch him falling. All he said was, "Well, I am shot." And they asked him where, and he said "In the lungs." That was his last, but the fight went on just the same. It got too hot for them and they flew. The cavalry saw them going and they start after them. They run them as far as they could go up the mountain on horseback.

From Puget Sound.

EDITOR COURIER:—It was a few days ago I had an invitation to attend an Indian college of the old-time kind. It was a medical college in which a number of young men of the Siwash tribe were contending for a diploma to practice medicine among the syphilis inflicted wretches of ther fast disappearing race. The college consisted of a rail pen twelve feet square. In the center of the pen chained to a strong stake was a miserable looking cur dog, each foot securely fastened to the earth. The candidates for honors now took their places inside the pen and the old medicine man kept up a monotonous chant, and at the same time he beat on a sort of a drum. He looked very sorrowful and began to moan until he seemed in great agony, when he suddenly raised his hands high above his head. This was the signal for the students to begin, and quickly they rushed around the dog making dashes at him with their teeth endeavoring to tear a mouthful of flesh from the helpless dog. He who would first succeed in tearing a mouthful of flesh from the living creature would be considered graduated. It was a horrible sight; so vile and disgusting that I grew sick and turned to quit the college but was told I must stay to a finish. After many unsuccessful lunges at the bait, there ensued a wild scramble in which the students fought, pushed and bit until one among them arose with a bleeding morsel of hair, hide and flesh between his teeth, and the college was at an end. The dog was killed and stewed to celebrate the occasion, and the lucky student was now recristened medicine man (doctor.) There was already a patient waiting for the new doctor and and a dreadful case it was. The sick man was old and covered with loathsome sores, putrid in the extreme. He was said to be afflicted with the white devils, (which is the Indian name for syphilis.) He was taken by the new doctor and three other braves to a point far out on the tide flats where the soft mud is about 18 inches deep, and here posts were driven in the mud to which the sick man was tied to await the incoming tide. Three large mauls were brought in and a vigorous beating of the mud began and as the tide came nearer and nearer the beating became more vigorous. The mud was fairly churned up around the sick man's head. Slowly the tide came creeping in until it circled around the prostrate form of him who was afflicted with the white devils. Then amid a tremenduous hammering of the water and mud, thongs that held the sick man down was cut and he was pronounced well by the attending physician. But he died in a few days thereafter, and is now on his way to the happy hunting ground of his forefathers. Such, my friends are the superstitions of a race now nearing its end. Fifty years ago there were 35,000 of this tribe on Puget Sound and today 700 is all that are left us now, but the white devils are to blame.

Yours truly,

JOSEPH A. SHADE.

Hiteshaw-Ice.

Yesterday, at the residence of the bride's mother on the south side, occurred the wedding of Mr. Eugene Hiteshaw and Miss Pearl Ice, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. M. Markley of Columbia City, pastor of the Church of God. The young people are well respected and start out in life with the best wishes of their many friends. The young couple expect to set up housekeeping in the city as Mr. Hiteshaw has a good job at the Greenler factory. We wish them success on life's voyage.

CLUB NOTES.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Emanuel on Saturday and enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable session. "Tennessee" was the subject for the day. Mrs. Nusbaum was an able leader and was assisted by Mrs. McCord, who sent her work. Many valuable things were learned about this interesting state, and all present took part in the discussion that followed. "Why should women be total abstainers?" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. Willis. This seemed to be a very timely subject, and a spirited discussion followed which was one-sided, however. Three or four good reasons were given in which all coincided. The current news followed, after which the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. E. Rose next Saturday.

Fee and Salsry Changes.

The fee and salary law changes will come up for consideration in a short time. It is expected that the tentative plan agreed upon will be on a basis of a salary to be 10 cents per capita for the first 10,000 of the population in the county and 5 cents per capita for all over that number. In addition to this, $30 will be paid on each $1,000,000 of taxable property in the county. This basis will furnish the salary which will be drawn quarterly.

In addition to this, those officers who collect fees will be paid 10 per cent of all fees collected. It is believed that this plan will give a salary which will be adequate and which will increase as the county increases in population and wealth and will further be an inducement for officers to collect fees due the county.

The commission has found that one of the lame points of the present system is that it usually takes an officer about two years to get his office on a paying basis, as each officer is forced to collect fees that belong to his predecessors, while the fees due him are not sufficient to meet his salary. This plan has not been finally agreed upon, but estimates will be made at the coming meeting, as to the amount officers of each county will receive, and if found satisfactory on the present basis, further meetings will not be held until after the system can be applied to the census to be taken.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

To Govern the Philippines.

President McKinley has received from the Philippine commission the first half of its report. It is signed by Jacob G. Schurman, president; George Dewey, Charles Denby and Dean C. Worcester, commissioners.

The commissoners believe the islands need the protection of the United States. They reccommend a complete territorial government with a governor. Home rule is favored in local affairs. The suffrage should be restricted by educational or property qualifications or perhaps even both.

The commission is not of the opinion that a protectorate is desirable.

Civil service is favored and the commission recommends that no attempt now be made to assimilate the customs duties of the Philippines to those of the United States.

The commission recommends that this scheme of government be put into operation where practicable, as soon as possible. We should not wait, the report says, for the entire suppression of the insurrection.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until March 18, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following Iron Bridges:

One 85-ft. span on stone abutments.
One 40-ft. span steel legs.
Two 35-ft. spans on steel legs.
Three 22-ft. spans on steel legs.

The survey profile and specifications for superstructure are on file in the Auditors's office.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond, in compliance with an act of the General Assembly, and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor

Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14, 1900.

HERE is a medical lecture in a nutshell. The Kidneys drain water and impurities from the blood. The Liver makes bile and helps to drive off other waste. If these organs work badly the body becomes a cesspool and disease sets in. You must get them into healthy action or die.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

is an old and unsurpassed remedy for Backache, Debility, Sleeplessness, Lost Appetite, Foul Tongue, Palpitations and all other symptoms of disease in those organs. It cures as well as prevents every serious trouble in Kidney, Liver or Bladder. At druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

THE DR. J. H. McLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

For sale by F. E. Davenport.

PURE FOODS.

Rules of The Indiana State Board of Health, According to Chapter CXXI, Acts of 1899, Establishing Minimum Standards and Defining Specific Adulterations of Foods and Drugs, Passed Oct. 12, 1899.

MILK.

RULE 1. Pure cow's milk shall have the following minimum compositions: Fat, 3 per cent.; solids, not fat, 9 per cent.

RULE 2. Water existing in cow's milk in excess of 88 per cent. shall be an adulteration. Any coloring matter added, for any purpose whatsoever, shall be an adulteration. Any chemical antiseptic whatever, added for any purpose whatsoever, shall be an adulteration.

RULE 3. Milk sold or offered for human consumption taken from a cow that has calved within four (4) days, or from a cow that will come in or calve inside of twenty-one (21), days, is polluted, and shall be considered adulterated.

RULE 4. Milk sold or offered for human consumption that is taken from a cow fed with damaged food, or any food which will impart a disagreeable flavor, is impure, and shall be considered as adulterated.

RULE 5. Milk sold or offered for human consumption that is taken from a sick or diseased cow, or any cow that is given polluted water to drink, or which is kept under conditions contrary to the rules of the State Board of Health governing dairies, is impure, and shall be considered as adulterated.

BUTTER.

RULE 6. The word "butter" shall mean the substance usually known as butter, made exclusively from milk or cream, with or without salt or coloring matter, and shall contain not less than 80 per cent of pure milk fats.

RULE 7. If any of the following named substances are found in butter, they shall be considered as adulterants: Water in excess of 15 per cent; salt in excess of 6 per cent; salicylic acid, borax, boric acid, saltpeter, formaldehyde, glucose, sodium carbonate or bicarbonate, or any other added chemical, or any other fat than butter fat, any other coloring matter than is natural to butter, except annatto, saffron, safflower, turmeric and harmless coal tar colors.

MARGARINE.

RULE 8. The word "margarine" shall mean all substances, whether compounds or otherwise, prepared in imitation of butter, and whether mixed with butter or not.

RULE 9. If any of the following named substances are found in margarine, they shall be considered adulterants: Water in excess of 15 per cent; salt in excess of 6 per cent; glucose, paraffine, salicylic acid, borax, boric acid, saltpeter, formaldehyde, sodium carbonate or bicarbonate, or any chemical preservative. Any coloring matter or mixture of coloring matters other than annatto, saffron, safflower and turmeric and other harmless vegetable colors, and the harmless coal tar colors, shall be considered adulterants.

CHEESE.

RULE 10. Cheese not made wholly from milk or cream, salt and harmless coloring matter shall be considered adulterated.

RULE 11. Cheese containing less than 10 per cent of milk fats shall be considered adulterated unless plainly labeled "skim milk cheese" in letters not less than one inch long, the label to be plainly exposed.

RULE 12 Cheese containing any other fats than milk fats shall be considered adulterated unless plainly labeled "Filled Cheese."

RULE 13. Cheese containing any coloring other than annnatto, saffron, safflower, turmeric or harmless coal tar colors, shall be considered as adulterated.

RULE 14. Cheese containing any chemical antiseptic other than common salt shall be considered adulterated, unless plainly labeled with the name of the antiseptic it contains.

RULE 15. Any article of food, as catsup, mince meat, canned meats or fish, canned vegetables, canned soups, canned fruits, molasses, or syrups, which are found to be preserved by or to contain salicylic acid, benzoic acid, boracic acid, formaldehyde or any of their compounds or any of their antiseptics, shall be considered adulterated unless the article of food so preserved is plainly labeled with the name of the preservative or antiseptic added. The label announcing any article of food, of the class in this rule named, as preserved with any antiseptic shall be printed in plain type, either upon the original or a separate label, and it shall be firmly and securely attached on the exterior of the package, and in plain sight. This rule shall be in force and take effect October 1, 1900.

RULE 16. Coffee.—Any article offered for sale as coffee, which contains any substitute for the coffee bean in any proportion, shall be considered as adulterated unless the quantity and kind of such substitute is given as part of the label.

RULE 17. Candy.—Any candy containing terra alba, barytes, talc, or other mineral substance, or poisonous colors or flavors, or any ingredient deleterious to health, shall be considered as adulterated.

RULE 18. Cider.—Cider is the unfermented juice of the apple. Any substitute for apple juice or any antiseptic added constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated cider shall not be offered for sale unless each package is labeled and the name of the adulterant is made a part of the label.

RULE 19. Flour.—Flour is defined as the fine and bolted meal of the wheat grain. Any flour that is mixed with the product of any grain except wheat, or is mixed with any mineral substance, shall be considered as adulterated, unless each package is labeled and the kind and the amount of the admixture is made part of the label.

RULE 20. Buckwheat and Rye Flour.—Buckwheat and rye flour must be derived wholly from grains designated in the name, and any admixture of other flours or materials constitutes an adulteration, unless each package is labeled and the kind and amount of such admixture is made part of the label.

RULE 21. Fruit jellies, fruit butters, preserves, canned fruit, fruit conserves, confections, fruit juices and syrups, etc., must consist of the fruit specified in the label, preserved only with cane sugar (sucrose), and must not contain artificial flavors, coloring matters or antiseptics. If such articles contain any substitute for the fruit, or any inferior material to make up bulk or weight, any glucose or other substitute for sugar, any artificial flavor, color or antiseptic, or any substance not naturally occurring in such fruits, except spices or other wholesome natural flavoring materials, they shall be considered adulterated, and shall not be offered for sale unless the presence of all such substances is clearly indicated by the the label. This rule shall be in force and take effect October 1, 1900.

RULE 22. Honey.—Honey is the nectar of flowers and other saccharine exudations of plants gathered by bees. Honey made by feeding bees glucose, sugar, invert sugar, or other saccharine substance, is declared not to be pure honey, and, therefore, is adulterated. Adding sugar, invert sugar or glucose to honey, constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated honey shall not be sold unless the quantity and name of the adulterant is made part of the label.

RULE 23. Lard.—Lard is the fat of swine, the fat being melted and separated from the flesh. Adding beef fat or stearine, cotton seed oil, paraffine or other substitute for swine fat constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated lard shall not be sold unless labeled and the quantity and name of the adulterant is made part of the label.

RULE 24. Molasses and Syrups.—All molasses and syrups are assumed to be made from the juice of cane or other sugar producing plant, or the sap of the maple tree, and any syrup or molasses containing starch sugar, glucose or corn syrup shall be considered adulterated, and any substance sold or offered for sale as "maple sugar or syrup" that shall contain any brown sugar, granulated sugar or loaf sugar or colored or flavored with decoction of hickory bark, corncobs or any other similar substances, shall be considered adulterated, unless the label plainly indicates the substances used.

RULE 25. Olive oil is the expressed oil of the olive. The substitution of other oils or fats for olive oil, either in part or whole, constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated oil shall not be offered for sale unless labeled with the amount and kind of the adulterant.

RULE 26. Spices, mustard, pepper, etc., must not contain any foreign substances or coloring matter, introduced to dilute or cheapen the article, and any such admixture constitutes an adulteration, and shall not be sold unless its kind and amount are indicated on the label.

RULE 27. Tea.—Tea consists of the dried leaves of the true tea plant, without addition of artificial coloring matter, or filler, or extraction of any essential properties, and any article offered as tea which does not conform to this definition is considered adulterated, and shall not be offered for sale unless its true composition is given as part of the label.

RULE 28. Vinegar.—Standard vinegar is a vinegar made from the juice of the apple, containing not less than two per cent. of apple solids and four per cent. acetic acid. All vinegars labeled "apple," "cider," "fruit," or "orchard" vinegars are assumed under the law to be standard vinegars. Vinegars not made of the juice of the apple must be labeled truly of what they are made, as "malt vinegar," "distilled vinegar" or "wine vinegar." Otherwise they are to be considered adulterated. If artificial coloring matter is used, this must be stated on each and every label. Vinegars to which other acids than acetic acid have been added are adulterated. Vinegars containing less than 4 per cent absolute acetic acid may be sold, provided the percentage of acetic acid is made part of the label.

RULE 29. Baking Powders.—It shall be unlawful for any unwholesome or deleterious baking powder to be sold or offered for sale within the State of Indiana.

RULE 30. Wines, Brandies, Whiskeys.—The standards and methods of examination of the United States Pharmacopoeia governing wines, brandies and whiskeys shall be the standards and methods of examination of wines, brandies and whiskeys in the State of Indiana.

RULE 31. Food Inspectors, when securing samples of food or drugs for analysis, shall, if the quantity procured be sufficient in amount, divide said sample into three equal parts, making each one with date of collection, name and residence of vendor, name and residence of Inspector, and shall number the several portions 1, 2, 3. No. 1 shall be left with the vendor, No. 2 retained by the inspector, and No. 3 reserved for or sent to the chemist to make analysis. All these samples or portions shall be so sealed as to show upon sight any breaking of said seal.

RULE 32. Whosoever violates any of the provisions of these rules shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, as is provided in section 2, Chapter CXXI, of an act approved February 28, 1899.

A Remarkable Discovery.

A remarkable discovery is one of the chronic proclamations of advertisers. No such claim is made, for Lichty's Cough Cure is an established remedy with known merit, made on scientific principles by experienced chemists. It stops coughing at once; will not cure consumption, but gives temparory relief and absoutely cures all other affections of the throat and the lungs. For croup, whooping cough and colds, Lichty's Cough Cure is invaluable. 25 and 50 cent bottles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Fast Trains.

Via Chicago & North Western R'y—Chicago to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, Des Moines, Sioux City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. The best of everything. No change of cars. Call on any Ticket Agent for information. or address W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue. Chicago, Ill.

Could not fix 'em All.

Bald heads, hard work, love, warts on the nose, bicycle faces, war craze, swell head, delirium tremens, unhappy marriages, insanity and punctured tires have never been cured by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to our knowledge, but for a sure and pleasant remedy for indigestion, constipation, sick headache and all stomach troubles, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the surest, safest and most pleasant remedy. It is sold in trial size, 50c and $1 bottles by H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—A farmer near Fort Wayne received an envelope containing three dimes and the following note: "Please accept 30 cents as pay for musk melons I swiped at your place. It is not much but I didn't want to have it on my conscience."

An Editor's Recommendation.

Mr. W. J. Hutchison, editor Gazette, Pleasantville, Mo, writes:—"I have used Krause's Headache Capules with satisfactory results. I bought a box which cost me 25c and one capsule cured me of a dreadful sick headache. My wife and myself have also used the other medicines prepared by the Norman Lichty Mfg. Co., and we recommend them to the public to be just as represented. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—A ship of ours has been taking soundings for an ocean cable to run from San Francisco to Manila. Between the Ladrones, the deepest place is 5,200 fathoms, which is 260 fathoms deeper than ever found before anywhere.

Modern Science.

Has demonstrated that the old fashioned way of curing colds, la grippe sneezing, etc., is a thing of the past For ten years Krause's Cold Cure has has been recognized as a specific for these troubles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The natives of Guam have been ordered to stop celebrating so many "saint days." They are naturally a shiftless people, and they wanted as many holidays as possible, as they got on a big drunk and carousal.

Frequent Coughing.

Inflames the lungs. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the coughing and heals the lungs. The ordinary cough medicines which are simply expectorants, will not do this, as they keep the lungs irritated in throwing off the phlegm.

—Guam, the island we got in the Ladrones, had its first American proclamation Nov. 30. It was Gov. Leary's thanksgiving proclamation and is in Spanish.

'Tis Not True.

We do not sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for all diseases; it is only good for Constipation; Indigestion, Sick headache and Stomach Troubles and we guarantee it to cure. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—The dairymen doing business in Fort Wayne are about to organize a trust with a capital of $25,000.

Frost Bites and Chilblains.

Quickly cured by Banner Salve, the most healing remedy in the world. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—Base ball promises to be a popular sport next summer.

LIVERITA

THE UP-TO-DATE LITTLE LIVER PILL

CURES Biliousness, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick-Headache and Liver Complaint.

SUGAR COATED.

40 PILLS LIVERITA 10 CENTS

100 PILLS 25 CTS.

Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Liverita Medical Co., Chicago

Davenport, The Druggist.

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings, 2 story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettville, ¾ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning Will sell part cash, balance time or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots, cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ½ its value, $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary; low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 54 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam, all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36. This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80-acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ½ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard 45 acres cleared, clear ed, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price. Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, bal cleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time, must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30 acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard, well, cistern, good fences, soil black sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am	Daily
No. 8	8:34 am	Daily
No. 4	4:58 pm	Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	2:05 pm	ex Su
No. 96	11:35 am	ex Su
No. 98	8:30 pm	ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am	Daily
No. 9	5:38 am	Daily
No. 3	7:48 pm	Daily
No. 71 (local freight)	9:15 am	ex Su
No. 95	5:48 pm	ex Su
No. 97	7:52 am	ex Su

Nos. 8 and 9 do not stop at Auburn, but No. 9 stops at the Junction.

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind

W. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen'l Manager.

C. S. Crane Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98

Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:52 p m
No. 5 Daily	4:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:17 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Sunday	12:25 p m
No. 47	1:58 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	6:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:35 p m
No 14 Daily	11:17 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m

Trains Nos. 16 and 17 are the only ones that stop at Wawaseo.

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager

D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.

O. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind

THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 19 1899.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 40 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 08	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 28	5 22	7 10
Auburn	12 30	5 25	7 20
Waterloo	12 41	5 36	9 15
Summit	12 51	5 46	9 35
Steubenville	12 54	5 49
Pleasant Lake	1 08	6 00	9 06
Angola	1 18	6 06	9 35
Jackson	2 25	6 25	3 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt.	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 45 am	7 05 am
Angola	11 00	2 10 pm	9 18
Pleasant Lake	11 55	2 20	9 56
Steubenville	.....	2 29	9 51
Summit	11 59	2 39	9 53
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	9 48
Auburn	1 20	3 08	9 58
Auburn Junction	1 25	3 03	10 02
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 13
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	10 50

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address R. T. DeLAPP Agent Auburn

—The best cigar in town, the Blue Ribbon at Trentman's cigar store. 6tf

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY...FEBRUARY 15, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

New Candidate for Congress.

Judge Samuel M. Hench announces this morning that he will be a candidate for congress from the Twelfth district before the democratic nominating convention.

Judge Hench needs no introduction to the people of the district, for he has long been identified as a leader of democratic throught, true to the principles of the party, an effective speaker and always a loyal worker.

His public career has been an honorable one. There is nothing in his life not to his credit, and it embraces military and civic service.

Judge Hench was appointed prosecuting attorney by Governor Hendricks in 1874, and he served in that capacity until 1881.

In 1882 the people of Allen county elected him judge of the criminal court, and after serving a full term he was elected him judge of the superior court, serving to the end of his term.

Elected to the legislature in 1891. Judge Hench took a leading position and was the author, among other bills, of the co-liability bill, still on the statute books.

Judge Hench served in the union armory in the rebellion, as a member of the 126th Pennsylvania volunteers, being seriously injured at the battle of Fredricksberg.

Judge Hench is in thorough sympathy with the veterans, he is a man of commanding presence, and his candidacy is sure to attract favorable attention.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, Feb. 12.

Very Poor Business.

A shameful thing happened at Anderson, at the meeting of republican clubs. Booker L. Washington, the most eminent colored man of the country since the death of Fred Douglass, was refused accommodations at one of the hotels. We thought this relic of barbarism had long since died out. Mr. Washington is a highly educated president of a college of his race, an eloquent orator with statesmanlike views and in every way, the peer of the best men who attended the meeting or were residents of the town. It is hoped this is the last time such a thing will occur. Of course there are colored men and we might add, white men, also who are not fit to associate with. But men of culture, character and refinement, like Mr. Washington, are entitled to respect.

Township Caucuses.

The democrats of Union township held their caucus for the selection of precinct committeemen Saturday afternoon in the office of County Chairman Walter. The following gentlemen were chosen as precinct committeemen: No. 1, Arnold Blodgett; No. 2, J. F. Lahnum; No. 3, Miles Baxter; No. 4. O. P. Myers; No. 5, Samuel Brandon.

In Troy township Jacob Swinehart was the choice of the caucus for committeeman.

The democrats of the northwest and southeast precincts of Concord held their meeting at St. Joe and elected George Bleeks and Mahlon Baker, respectively, as committeemen.

John Williams was selected as committeeman for Butler township.

As to Congressman.

Judge S. M. Hench of Fort Wayne announces himself as a candidate for congress on the democratic ticket Every man has a right to run for congress if he sees fit, and Judge Hench is a man who has an abundance of friends. But judging from all we have heard from the people at large, we feel sure, the first choice of democratic voters is Mr. Robinson. People are of course, often divided on these questions, and there may be a warm, but friendly struggle for the nomination. But whoever gets it should have the solid support of all. Don't let us start out in this campaign with any sore spots or divisions. We shall need all the votes.

An Available Man.

B C. Moon of Kokomo has decided to be a candidate for the democratic nomination for Judge of the Supreme Court from the Fourth district. Mr. Moon is an excellent judge of law, a good citizen, and a democrat, which requisites make him an available man for the place.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Editor's Awful Plight.

F. M. Higgins, Editor Seneca, (Ill,) News, was afflicted four years with Piles that no doctor or remedy helped until he tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes two boxes wholly cured him. It's the surest Pile cure on earth and the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by McCORD the DRUGGIST.

Saw Lawton Killed.

Edson Warner, a cousin to Irvin Neher of this city, is a soldier in the Philippines and has written a letter to to friends at home from which we take the following extract: Last Monday night, the 15th, we started under a heavy march for Sande Netta. It was about twenty-five miles the way we had to go. It commenced raining about noon that day and continued till night, which made it very hard marching. Some of the boys did not get there, but I was able to get through all right. We arrived there about 4:00 a. m. and then lay down and rested till 6:00, then we started down the mountain. We crawled right up to the river bank before they saw us. There was just the river between us. When they saw us they sent a shower of bullets over us, but they had their guns at 300 yards and their bullets all went over us. They sent three volleys at us before we returned fire, and then we commenced shooting at them. We fought hard for two and one-half hours, they did not do us much harm. Then we started to make a charge, but had to turn back on account of the river being too deep. When we started back you ought to have heard the bullets play. But we did not go far until we fell into a patch of rice and gave them several volleys during the next half hour. Then was where the brave man, Gen. Lawton, was killed. He was a very brave man, knowing no fear. He was walking along behind the boys who were lying down and shooting. About two minutes before his death he came to the squad I was in and said, "Boys, how do you like this? You are doing fine work." I turned around to see where he was and saw two officers catch him falling. All he said was, "Well, I am shot." And they asked him where, and he said "In the lungs." That was his last, but the fight went on just the same. It got too hot for them and they flew. The cavalry saw them going and they start after them. They run them as far as they could go up the mountain on horseback.

From Puget Sound.

EDITOR COURIER:—It was a few days ago I had an invitation to attend an Indian college of the old-time kind. It was a medical college in which a number of young men of the Siwash tribe were contending for a diploma to practice medicine among the syphilis inflicted wretches of ther fast disappearing race. The college consisted of a rail pen twelve feet square. In the center of the pen chained to a strong stake was a miserable looking cur dog, each foot securely fastened to the earth. The candidates for honors now took their places inside the pen and the old medicine man kept up a monotonous chant, and at the same time he beat on a sort of a drum. He looked very sorrowful and began to moan until he seemed in great agony, when he suddenly raised his hands high above his head. This was the signal for the students to begin, and quickly they rushed around the dog making dashes at him with their teeth endeavoring to tear a mouthful of flesh from the helpless dog. He who would first succeed in tearing a mouthful of flesh from the living creature would be considered graduated. It was a horrible sight; so vile and disgusting that I grew sick and turned to quit the college but was told I must stay to a finish. After many unsuccessful lunges at the bait, there ensued a wild scramble in which the students fought, pushed and bit until one among them arose with a bleeding morsel of hair, hide and flesh between his teeth, and the college was at an end. The dog was killed and stewed to celebrate the occasion, and the lucky student was now recristened medicine man (doctor.) There was already a patient waiting for the new doctor and and a dreadful case it was. The sick man was old and covered with loathsome sores, putrid in the extreme. He was said to be afflicted with the white devils, (which is the Indian name for syphilis.) He was taken by the new doctor and three other braves to a point far out on the tide flats where the soft mud is about 18 inches deep, and here posts were driven in the mud to which the sick man was tied to await the incoming tide. Three large mauls were brought in and a vigorous beating of the mud began and as the tide came nearer and nearer the beating became more vigorous. The mud was fairly churned up around the sick man's head. Slowly the tide came creeping in until it circled around the prostrate form of him who was afflicted with the white devils. Then amid a tremendous hammering of the water and mud, thongs that held the sick man down was cut and he was pronounced well by the attending physician. But he died in a few days thereafter, and is now on his way to the happy hunting ground of his forefathers. Such, my friends are the superstitions of a race now nearing its end. Fifty years ago there were 35,000 of this tribe on Puget Sound and today 700 is all that are left us now, but the white devils are to blame.

Yours truly,

JOSEPH A. SHADE.

Hiteshaw-Ice.

Yesterday, at the residence of the bride's mother on the south side, occurred the wedding of Mr. Eugene Hiteshaw and Miss Pearl Ice, both of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. M. Markley of Columbia City, pastor of the Church of God. The young people are well respected and start out in life with the best wishes of their many friends. The young couple expect to set up housekeeping in the city as Mr. Hiteshaw has a good job at the Grecular factory. We wish them success on life's voyage.

CLUB NOTES.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Emanuel on Saturday and enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable session. "Tennessee" was the subject for the day. Mrs Nusbaum was an able leader and was assisted by Mrs. McCord, who sent her work. Many valuable things were learned about this interesting state, and all present took part in the discussion that followed. "Why should women be total abstainers?" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. Willis. This seemed to be a very timely subject, and a spirited discussion followed which was one-sided, however. Three or four good reasons were given in which all coincided. The current news followed, after which the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. E. Rose next Saturday.

Fee and Salsry Changes.

The fee and salary law changes will come up for consideration in a short time. It is expected that the tentative plan agreed upon will be on a basis of a salary to be 10 cents per capita for the first 10,000 of the population in the county and 5 cents per capita for all over that number. In addition to this, $30 will be paid on each $1,000,000 of taxable property in the county. This basis will furnish the salary which will be drawn quarterly.

In addition to this, those officers who collect fees will be paid 10 per cent of all fees collected. It is believed that this plan will give a salary which will be adequate and which will increase as the county increases in population and wealth and will further be an inducement for officers to collect fees due the county.

The commission has found that one of the lame points of the present system is that it usually takes an officer about two years to get his office on a paying basis, as each officer is forced to collect fees that belong to his predecessors, while the fees due him are not sufficient to meet his salary. This plan has not been finally agreed upon, but estimates will be made at the coming meeting, as to the amount officers of each county will receive, and if found satisfactory on the present basis, further meetings will not be held until after the system can be applied to the census to be taken.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

To Govern the Philippines.

President McKinley has received from the Philippine commission the first half of its report. It is signed by Jacob G. Schurman, president; George Dewey, Charles Denby and Dean C. Worcester, commissioners.

The commissoners believe the islands need the protection of the United States. They reccommend a complete territorial government with a governor. Home rule is favored in local affairs. The suffrage should be restricted by educational or property qualifications or perhaps even both.

The commission is not of the opinion that a protectorate is desirable.

Civil service is favored and the commission recommends that no attempt now be made to assimilate the customs duties of the Philippines to those of the United States.

The commission recommends that this scheme of government be put into operation where practicable, as soon as possible. We should not wait, the report says, for the entire suppression of the insurrection.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until March 18, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following Iron Bridges:

One 85-ft. span on stone abutments.
One 40-ft. span steel legs.
Two 35-ft. spans on steel legs.
Three 22-ft. spans on steel legs.

The survey profile and specifications for superstructure are on file in the Auditors's office.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond, in compliance with an act of the General Assembly, and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor

Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14, 1900.

HERE is a medical lecture in a nutshell. The Kidneys drain water and impurities from the blood. The Liver makes bile and helps to drive off other waste. If these organs work badly the body becomes a cesspool and disease sets in. You must get them into healthy action or die.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

is an old and unsurpassed remedy for Backache, Debility, Sleeplessness, Lost Appetite, Foul Tongue, Palpitations and all other symptoms of disease in those organs. It cures as well as prevents every serious trouble in Kidney, Liver or Bladder. At druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

THE DR. J. H. McLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

For sale by F. E. Davenport.

PURE FOODS.

Rules of The Indiana State Board of Health, According to Chapter CXXI, Acts of 1899, Establishing Minimum Standards and Defining Specific Adulterations of Foods and Drugs. Passed Oct. 12, 1899.

MILK.

RULE 1. Pure cow's milk shall have the following minimum compositions: Fat, 3 per cent.; solids, not fat, 9 per cent.

RULE 2. Water existing in cow's milk in excess of 88 per cent. shall be an adulteration. Any coloring matter added, for any purpose whatsoever, shall be an adulteration. Any chemical antiseptic whatever, added for any purpose whatsoever, shall be an adulteration.

RULE 3. Milk sold or offered for human consumption taken from a cow that has calved within four (4) days, or from a cow that will come in or calve inside of twenty-one (21), days, is polluted, and shall be considered adulterated.

RULE 4. Milk sold or offered for human consumption that is taken from a cow fed with damaged food, or any food which will impart a disagreeable flavor, is impure, and shall be considered as adulterated.

RULE 5. Milk sold or offered for human consumption that is taken from a sick or diseased cow, or any cow that is given polluted water to drink, or which is kept under conditions contrary to the rules of the State Board of Health governing dairies, is impure, and shall be considered as adulterated.

BUTTER.

RULE 6. The word "butter" shall mean the substance usually known as butter, made exclusively from milk or cream, with or without salt or coloring matter, and shall contain not less than 80 per cent of pure milk fats.

RULE 7. If any of the following named substances are found in butter, they shall be considered as adulterants: Water in excess of 15 per cent; salt in excess of 6 per cent; salicylic acid, borax, boric acid, saltpeter, formaldehyde, glucose, sodium carbonate or bicarbonate, or any other added chemical, or any other fat than butter fat, any other coloring matter than is natural to butter, except annatto, saffron, safflower, turmeric and harmless coal tar colors.

MARGARINE.

RULE 8. The word "margarine" shall mean all substances, whether compounds or otherwise, prepared in imitation of butter, and whether mixed with butter or not.

RULE 9. If any of the following named substances are found in margarine, they shall be considered adulterants: Water in excess of 15 per cent; salt in excess of 6 per cent; glucose, paraffine, salicylic acid, borax, boric acid, saltpeter, formaldehyde, sodium carbonate or bicarbonate, or any chemical preservative. Any coloring matter or mixture of coloring matters other than annatto, saffron, safflower and turmeric and other harmless vegetable colors, and the harmless coal tar colors, shall be considered adulterants.

CHEESE.

RULE 10. Cheese not made wholly from milk or cream, salt and harmless coloring matter shall be considered adulterated.

RULE 11. Cheese containing less than 10 per cent of milk fats shall be considered adulterated unless plainly labeled "skim milk cheese" in letters not less than one inch long, the label to be plainly exposed.

RULE 12 Cheese containing any other fats than milk fats shall be considered adulterated unless plainly labeled "Filled Cheese."

RULE 13. Cheese containing any coloring other than annnatto, saffron, safflower, turmeric or harmless coal tar colors, shall be considered as adulterated.

RULE 14. Cheese containing any chemical antiseptic other than common salt shall be considered adulterated, unless plainly labeled with the name of the antiseptic it contains.

RULE 15. Any article of food, as catsup, mince meat, canned meats or fish, canned vegetables, canned soups, canned fruits, molasses, or syrups, which are found to be preserved by or to contain salicylic acid, benzoic acid, boracic acid, formaldehyde or any of their compounds or any of their antiseptics, shall be considered adulterated unless the article of food so preserved is plainly labeled with the name of the preservative or antiseptic added. The label announcing any article of food, of the class in this rule named, as preserved with any antiseptic shall be printed in plain type, either upon the original or a separate label, and it shall be firmly and securely attached on the exterior of the package, and in plain sight. This rule shall be in force and take effect Oocober 1, 1900.

RULE 16. Coffee.—Any article offered for sale as coffee, which contains any substitute for the coffee bean in any proportion, shall be considered as adulterated unless the quantity and kind of such substitute is given as part of the label.

RULE 17. Candy.—Any candy containing terra alba, barytes, talc, or other mineral substance, or poisonous colors or flavors, or any ingredient deletorious to health, shall be considered as adulterated.

RULE 18. Cider.—Cider is the unfermented juice of the apple. Any substitute for apple juice or any antiseptic added constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated cider shall not be offered for sale unless each package is labeled and the name of the adulterant is made a part of the label.

RULE 19. Flour.—Flour is defined as the fine and bolted meal of the wheat grain. Any flour that is mixed with the product of any grain except wheat, or is mixed with any mineral substance, shall be considered as adulterated, unless each package is labeled and the kind and the amount of the admixture is made part of the label.

RULE 20. Buckwheat and Rye Flour.—Buckwheat and rye flour must be derived wholly from grains designated in the name, and any admixture of other flours or materials constitutes an adulteration, unless each package is labeled and the kind and amount of such admixture is made part of the label.

RULE 21. Fruit jellies, fruit butters, preserves, canned fruit, fruit conserves, confections, fruit juices and syrups, etc., must consist of the fruit specified in the label, preserved only with cane sugar (sucrose), and must not contain artificial flavors, coloring matters or antiseptics. If such articles contain any substitute for the fruit, or any inferior material to make up bulk or weight, any glucose or other substitute for sugar, any artificial flavor, color or antiseptic, or any substance not naturally occurring in such fruits, except spices or other wholesome natural flavoring materials, they shall be considered adulterated, and shall not be offered for sale unless the presence of all such substances is clearly indicated by the the label. This rule shall be in force and take effect October 1, 1900.

RULE 22. Honey.—Honey is the nectar of flowers and other saccharine exudations of plants gathered by bees. Honey made by feeding bees glucose, sugar, invert sugar, or other saccharine substance, is declared not to be pure honey, and, therefore, is adulterated. Adding sugar, invert sugar or glucose to honey, constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated honey shall not be sold unless the quantity and name of the adulterant is made part of the label.

RULE 23. Lard.—Lard is the fat of swine, the fat being melted and separated from the flesh. Adding beef fat or stearine, cotton seed oil, paraffine or other substitute for swine fat constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated lard shall not be sold unless labeled and the quantity and name of the adulterant is made part of the label.

RULE 24. Molasses and Syrups.—All molasses and syrups are assumed to be made from the juice of cane or other sugar producing plant, or the sap of the maple tree, and any syrup or molasses containing starch sugar, glucose or corn syrup shall be considered adulterated, and any substance sold or offered for sale as "maple sugar or syrup" that shall contain any brown sugar, granulated sugar or loaf sugar or colored or flavored with decoction of hickory bark, corncobs or any other similar substances. shall be considered adulterated, unless the label plainly indicates the substances used.

RULE 25. Olive oil is the expressed oil of the olive. The substitution of other oils or fats for olive oil, either in part or whole, constitutes an adulteration, and such adulterated oil shall not be offered for sale unless labeled with the amount and kind of the adulterant.

RULE 26. Spices, mustard, pepper, etc., must not contain any foreign substances or coloring matter, introduced to dilute or cheapen the article, and any such admixture constitutes an adulteration, and shall not be sold unless its kind and amount are indicated on the label.

RULE 27. Tea.—Tea consists of the dried leaves of the true tea plant, without addition of artificial coloring matter, or filler, or extraction of any essential properties, and any article offered as tea which does not conform to this definition is considered adulterated, and shall not be offered for sale unless its true composition is given as part of the label.

RULE 28. Vinegar.—Standard vinegar is a vinegar made from the juice of the apple, containing not less than two per cent. of apple solids and four per cent. acetic acid. All vinegars labeled "apple," "cider," "fruit," or "orchard" vinegars are assumed under the law to be standard vinegars. Vinegars not made of the juice of the apple must be labeled truly of what they are made, as "malt vinegar," "distilled vinegar" or "wine vinegar." Otherwise they are to be considered adulterated. If artificial coloring matter is used, this must be stated on each and every label. Vinegars to which other acids than acetic acid have been added are adulterated. Vinegars containing less than 4 per cent. absolute acetic acid may be sold, provided the percentage of acetic acid is made part of the label.

RULE 29. Baking Powders.—It shall be unlawful for any unwholesome or deleterious baking powder to be sold or offered for sale within the State of Indiana.

RULE 30. Wines, Brandies, Whiskeys.—The standards and methods of examination of the United States Pharmacopoeia governing wines, brandies and whiskeys shall be the standards and methods of examination of wines, brandies and whiskeys in the State of Indiana.

RULE 31. Food Inspectors, when securing samples of food or drugs for analysis, shall, if the quantity procured be sufficient in amount, divide said sample into three equal parts, making each one with date of collection, name and residence of vendor, name and residence of Inspector, and shall number the several portions 1, 2, 3. No. 1 shall be left with the vendor, No. 2 retained by the inspector, and No. 3 reserved for or sent to the chemist to make analysis. All these samples or portions shall be so sealed as to show upon sight any breaking of said seal.

RULE 32. Whosoever violates any of the provisions of these rules shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, as is provided in section 2, Chapter CXXI, of an act approved February 28, 1899.

A Remarkable Discovery.

A remarkable discovery is one of the chronic proclamations of advertisers. No such claim is made, for Lichty's Cough Cure is an established remedy with known merit, made on scientific principles by experienced chemists. It stops coughing at once; will not cure consumption, but gives temparory relief and absoutely cures all other affections of the throat and the lungs. For croup, whooping cough and colds, Lichty's Cough Cure is invaluable. 25 and 50 cent bottles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Fast Trains.

Via Chicago & North Western R'y—Chicago to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, Des Moines, Sioux City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. The best of everything. No change of cars. Call on any Ticket Agent for information. or address W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue. Chicago, Ill.

Could not fix 'em All.

Bald heads, hard work, love, warts on the nose, bicycle faces, war craze, swell head, delirium tremens, unhappy marriages. insanity and punctured tires have never been cured by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to our knowledge, but for a sure and pleasant remedy for indigestion. constipation, sick headache and all stomach troubles, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the surest, safest and most pleasant remedy. It is sold in trial size, 50c and $1 bottles by H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—A farmer near Fort Wayne received an envelope containing three dimes and the following note: "Please accept 30 cents as pay for musk melons I swiped at your place. It is not much but I didn't want to have it on my conscience."

An Editor's Recommendation.

Mr. W. J. Hutchison, editor Gazette, Pleasantville, Mo., writes:—"I have used Krause's Headache Capules with satisfactory results. I bought a box which cost me 25c and one capsule cured me of a dreadful sick headache. My wife and myself have also used the other medicines prepared by the Norman Lichty Mfg. Co., and we recommend them to the public to be just as represented. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—A ship of ours has been taking soundings for an ocean cable to run from San Francisco to Manila. Between the Ladrones, the deepest place is 5,200 fathoms, which is 260 fathoms deeper than ever found before anywhere.

Modern Science.

Has demonstrated that the old fashioned way of curing colds, la grippe sneezing, etc., is a thing of the past For ten years Krause's Cold Cure has has been recognized as a specific for these troubles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The natives of Guam have been ordered to stop celebrating so many "saint days." They are naturally a shiftless people, and they wanted as many holidays as possible, as they got on a big drunk and carousal.

Frequent Coughing.

Inflames the lungs. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the coughing and heals the lungs. The ordinary cough medicines which are simply expectorants, will not do this, as they keep the lungs irritated in throwing off the phlegm.

—Guam, the island we got in the Ladrones, had its first American proclamation Nov. 30. It was Gov. Leary's thanksgiving proclamation and is in Spanish.

'Tis Not True.

We do not sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for all diseases; it is only good for Constipation; Indigestion, Sick headache and Stomach Troubles and we guarantee it to cure. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—The dairymen doing business in Fort Wayne are about to organize a trust with a capital of $25,000.

Frost Bites and Chilblains.

Quickly cured by Banner Salve, the most healing remedy in the world. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—Base ball promises to be a popular sport next summer.

LIVERITA

THE UP-TO-DATE LITTLE LIVER PILL

CURES Biliousness, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick-Headache and Liver Complaint.

SUGAR COATED.

40 PILLS LIVERITA 10 CENTS

100 PILLS 25 CTS.

Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Laverita Medical Co., Chicago

Davenport, The Druggist.

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings, 2 story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettville, ¾ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning Will sell part cash, balance time or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots, cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ½ its value, $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary; low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 64 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam, all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36. This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80-acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ¼ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard 45 acres cleared, cleared, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price. Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, balcleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time, must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30 acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard, well, cistern, good fences, soil black sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 8	8:34 am—Daily
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	2:05 pm—ex Su
No. 96	11:35 am—ex Su
No. 98	8:30 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9	5:38 am—Daily
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71 (local freight)	9:15 am—ex Su
No. 95	5:48 pm—ex Su
No. 97	7:52 am—ex Su

Nos. 8 and 9 do not stop at Auburn, but No. 9 stops at the Junction.

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZERT, Agent, Auburn, Ind

A. W. Ingalls, V. Pres. and Gen'l Manager.

C. F. Crane Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98

Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:52 p m
No. 5 Daily	4:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:17 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Sunday	12:26 p m
No. 41	1:55 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	3:06 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:35 p m
No 14 Daily	11:17 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m

Trains Nos. 16 and 17 are the only ones that top at Wawasee.

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager

D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.

G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind

THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 19 1899.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 40 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 08	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 26	5 21	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 25	7 33
Waterloo	12 41	5 36	8 15
Summit	12 51	5 46	8 35
Steubenville	12 54	5 49
Pleasant Lake	1 02	5 58	9 38
Angola	1 12	6 06	9 35
Jackson	1 25	6 20	9 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt.	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson lv	5 45 am	11 45 am	7 05 am
Angola	11 00	2 10 pm	8 10
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 25	8 36
Steubenville		2 36	8 31
Summit	11 50	2 39	8 33
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	9 45
Auburn	1 20	3 03	9 58
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 02
New Era	1 50	3 18	10 13
Fort Wayne	2 50	3 50	10 50

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DELAPP Agent Auburn.

—The best cigar in town, the Blue Ribbon at Trentman's cigar store. 8tf

New Jewelry! SEE New Jewelry!

OUR NEW LINE OF JEWELRY!

ALL THE NEW THINGS
FRESH FROM NEW YORK.

The New Swell Chains for Ladies, an Elegant New Line of Broaches, Friendship Hearts to bufn, newest Hat Pins, Gents Chains, etc. You should see this line in order to appreciate it.

D. A. Hodge,

JEWELER.

WEICHT & CUTLER,

Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country. Auburn, Ind.

Western 'Phone 106 South of Jail

EVERYBODY KNOWS,

or SHOULD know,

how essential phosphates are to the human body

as Brain, Bone and Nerve Builders.

This Baking Powder is made of Phosphates

AND IS . . .

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Consult your Physician, then ask your Grocer for it.

ALL GROCERS SELL IT!!

We also manufacture a more expensive Baking Powder, "JUNO Cream of Tartar," which is the Purest and Best Cream of Tartar Powder ever put on the market.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Company,

CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given that I, Jacob Recktenwald, administrator of the estate of Joseph Recktenwald, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on

Friday, March 16, 1900,

at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court house door in Auburn, Indiana, the following described real estate, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to wit:

The west half of the west half of the southwest quarter of section eleven (11), township thirty-three (33) north, range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana. Said land to be sold free of all liens.

TERMS OF SALE.

One third cash, one-third in twelve months, and one-third in eighteen months from date of sale; deferred payments to be evidenced by interest-bearing notes waiving relief and secured by mortgage on the premises sold.

JACOB RECKTENWALD,
Administrator.

D. M. Link, Attorney.

REDUCED RATES.

To the Hot Springs of Arkansas via Wabash Railroad.

Reduced round trip rates are now in effect to the Nation's great resort, the Hot Springs of Arkansas, owned, controlled and endorsed by the United States government for the cure of a score of human ills. Beautiful winter climate, 200 hotels and boarding houses of all grades. Ask your ticket agent for particulars or write C. S. Crane, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. For illustrated books of information, address Bureau of Information, Hot Springs, Ark.

BUTLER.

Rev. McCloe continues his revival meetings with increasing success. He has a crowded house, good order and up to date, has added more than sixty members to his church. Rev. Thomas of the Christian church, assisted by Rev. Taylor of Benton Harbor, Mich., is also conducting a revival with some success.

The canning factory company is about to reorganize, and will perhaps be on better footing than ever before. The old debts have been compromised at 66⅔ per cent.

A small child of John Zimmerman was buried last Sunday.

The marriage of Alva Good and Minnie Wagner at the residence of her father, John Wagner, was attended by about sixty invited guests, the occasion being a very enjoyable one.

The M. E. Sunday school under the management of Mrs. Ollie Rudd is gaining in numbers and interest. Rev. Frech preached a very interesting sermon on "A Chance World," last Sunday night.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you use Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headache. They make pure blood and strong nerve and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by H. B. McCord the druggist.

Monday's Daily.

—Catholic fair in the Armory, February 21, 22, 23 and 24.

—John W. Tarney, Newville, has now paid way into 1900. He sleeps sound of course.

—John A. Mosier of Waterloo has been granted an increase of pension from $12 to $17.

—When you go to buy bluing, insist upon having Russ' Bleaching Blue and not some of the many imitations. 8

—Go to Sheffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct 26w-tf

—J. D. Lahnum writes us from Chicago, where he is now located and has a good position. We hope to hear his doing well.

—Canadian railroads are urging American roads to adopt the 24-hour clocks. It would be a good thing for everybody.

—J. S. Hornberger of Pennsylvania spent a few days of the past week with John Hornberger and family and James Sherwood and family.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hart of Hicksville were guests of G. W. Greist and wife over Sunday. All were entertained at dinner yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Cory Shugers.

—Our Catholic friends will hold a fair, beginning Wednesday, February 21, the proceeds to be devoted to improvements on the church property. They should have liberal patronage.

—WANTED:—One hundred live female skunks. If you have any for sale, we will pay more than fur prices. Address DeKalb Fur Co., Auburn, Box 182, and will call at once and get them. w2t

—Fred. Fell is employed by Lin Thomas in his bakery and confectionery store at Cassopolis, Mich., and wants the news from the old home, so he will get the Daily COURIER. We hope it will reach him regularly.

—Remember the Catholic Fair that is held here, Feb. 22. There will be a supper and also a fine literary program. Proceeds go to help make needed repairs on the church and we hope to see them liberally patronized.

—A young man named Doolittle died in Chicago and was brought to this place Sunday for interment. He was a nephew of Charles Lindorfer of Garrett and grandson of the late Henry Lindorfer of Jackson township, and was and was about 20 years old.

—Sprott & Knapp have money to loan on farm or town property for five years at 6 percent annual interest, with privilege of partial payments. Come in and we will tell you all about it. Do you want an abstract showing title to your land or lot? We have them. tf

—The annual sale of lands and lots for delinquent taxes was held in the hall of the court house today and there was a good number of bidders. Quite a number of the descriptions had been removed from the list since it was first published, the taxes having been paid.

—The following marriage licenses have been issued since our last report: Levi F. Hoover and Phoebe B. Scott; Ezriah Hursh and Sadie Hosler; Eugene Hiteshaw and Pearl A. Ice; Roscoe C. Geeting and Mary Gingery; Simon F. Manion and Lizzie Hartford.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn, Ind. 4tf

—M. L. Jackman a former resident of Franklin township, died at his home in Ashley Saturday, Feb. 10, aged about 52 years. The funeral will occur at the Ashley M. E. church tomorrow at 10 o'clock; interment at Waterloo. The deceased was a relative of the Baxters of this city.

—It is reported that Philadelphia capitalists have agreed to furnish the money to build the electric road from Goshen to Angola and if $50,000 in subsidies can be raised along the line work on the road will begin at an early day. Lagrange has raised about $14,000 of this amount.

—Simon F. Manion and Miss Lizzie Hartford, both of Garrett, were married at the home of Sheriff and Mrs. Hathaway at 6 o'clock Saturday evening in the presence of a few relatives of the bride. Esquire Walter performed the ceremony in his usual felicitous manner and a nice supper was served.

—A well-known Auburn citizen was standing in front of the Swineford House yesterday when he noticed Jack Ralston's dog playing with a piece of paper that looked like "long green." Upon investigation it proved to be a $1 bill, but where the dog got hold of it is a question that has not yet been solved. Several bystanders smoked on the strength of the find.

—Conductor Stevens was killed in the B. & O. yards at Garrett about noon today. He was getting ready to take his train out and while standing on one of the tracks was run over by several cars that were being pushed by a switch engine. Stevens' body was terribly mangled and death was instantaneous. He was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and will be buried under the auspices of that body.

—Speaking of his recent visit here with Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Imhoff, Editor Baker of the Columbia City Commercial says: "The Columbia City friends of Mr. and Mrs. Imhoff will be pleased to learn that they are prospering nicely. They have an elegant home and Mr. Imhoff is doing quite successful in his business. We shall ever remember with pleasure the courtesies shown us upon the occasion of our brief visit with them."

Tuesday's Daily.

—Watch for further announcements of the Catholic fair.

—D. J. Baker of St. Joe made a business visit to Auburn last evening.

—Goshen citizens are up in arms against one of those individuals known as "Jack the Peeper."

—J. A. Campbell, the well known Butler insurance man, was in Auburn yesterday on business.

—Patronize the Catholic fair. The money will be used in needed improvements to their church.

—Arrangements have been made to run a special train from Fort Wayne Thursday evening of the Catholic fair.

—Ask your grocer for Russ' Bleaching Blue, do not be deceived by fraudulent imitations, see that the name Russ appears on all packages. 8

—The Lake Shore had a wreck at Waterloo Sunday night in which two engines were badly damaged. None of the trainmen were injured.

—Dr. McIlrath's second illustrated lecture will be given at the opera house Thursday evening, under the auspices of the high school.

—At the democratic caucus in Newville township, held Saturday afternoon, H. T. Smith was chosen committeeman to serve for the next two years.

—Frank Henderson was chosen committeeman by the democrats of the south precinct of Jackson township at their caucus Saturday afternoon.

—To all points in competition where the fare is $2 or more we have free bus and free baggage to the Junction. tf SPROTT & KNAPP, Agency B. & O. Ry.

—Hon. S. M. Hench of Fort Wayne was in the city today calling on his friends. The Judge is a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress.

—Dr. Yarian has located in Garrett in the practice of medicine, and will be pleased to see as many of his former patients as well as new ones, at his new location.

—The Indiana department of the Grand Army of the Republic has 16,615 members in good standing. In the past six months there was a net loss of 642 members.

—Aaron Hartman of Richland who has been in poor health for some time is no better. His malady seems to affect his mind and his friends look on his condition as quite serious.

—The democrats of Fairfield township held their caucus last Saturday for the selection of committeemen. Homer Martin was chosen in the west and David Shook in the east precinct.

—It is claimed that there can be no election of township trustee before April, 1902. The case seems complicated but this appears to be the general conclusion from the decision of the supreme court.

—Sunday night the conductor on the east-bound freight on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad saw the body of a man lying between the track at Ripley siding, five miles west of Avilla. He was dead when found, his head and both feet being crushed. He was young and fairly well dressed and in his pockets was found $6.50 in cash. A letter found in his clothing indicated that he was from Cleveland.

Necessary Improvements.

For several months it has been known by the Catholic congregation of Auburn that their little church must undergo repairs. To do this will take considerable money. They are preparing to give a grand fair to raise a part of these funds. The fair will be held in the Armory, beginning Wednesday evening February 21, and closing Saturday evening, February 24. The Armory will be tastily decorated for the occasion. Many useful articles will be displayed and offered for sale. Refreshments of various kinds can be had and amusements will be furnished to keep you busy. Fine musical programs will be carried out each evening, adding to the pleasure of the occasion. You are cordially invited to come early and often.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard-st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's drugstore, every bottle guaranteed.

To Make Life Happy.

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned Steger Piano you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the celebrated Steger Piano. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully guaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West. Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for a full descriptive catalogue, which will be mailed free upon application. STEGER & Co., (Established 1879.) Chicago, Ill.

Wednesday's Daily.

—An Alexandria man advertised for a wife that will help him get a political office.

—Mrs. Ehlers retured last evening from her extended trip in the south. She has been away since before Christmas.

—Mrs. Sarah Mockler, 27, Muncie, ran a needle into one of her toes, two months ago, and died from blood poisoning, Friday.

—The meeting to select a democratic county chairman was held here today, but the Weekly goes to press to early to give the result.

—Several ladies and gentlemen from Auburn attende a private dance at Garret Monday evening, and all say they spent a most enjoyable evening.

—We add two new names to the Weekly list today, Jacob and Robert Swinehart of Troy township, both of whom have paid way over into '01.

—A woman in Laporte county has just recovered from a long trance, in which she claims she was really dead and saw the realities of the future life.

—WANTED—Men with rig to sell our Poultry Mixture. Straight salary, $15 weekly and expenses. Address, with stamp: Eureka Mfg. Co., East St. Louis, Ill. tf

—Washington, Indiana has made a record. The other day a girl eloped with an old man, but her father overtook her and persuaded her not to marry him.

—Morris Widney is now one of our 1900 roll of honor men, having put his Weekly COURIER up to that date. That is the approved way to do, and he has thanks.

—W. D. Miller is one of our 1900 men now. Wes has made a success of his business which is making tile, and so helping to reclaim the swamp land of the country.

—Warren O., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Williman, died at the home of his parents at Auburn Junction, Saturday. The remains were interred at Coburntown yesterday.

—W. D. Miller has been chosen committeeman for the north precinct of Jackson township by the democrats. He has filled the position with credit during the past two years.

—H. M. Henning, the paper salesman, says he has sold bills in the last year, amounting to over $18,000, and has lost by bad debts not over $50. This certainly shows careful handling.

—The children of the late Jacob Stamets wish to thank all who gave assistance and sympathy during their late berevement, and also to chior, whose fine music was so acceptable at the funeral.

—The democratic chairman of the counties comprising the Twelfth district have been asked to meet with chairman Kaough at Fort Wayne next Monday to fix the date for the congressional convention.

—The new American base ball association was organized in Chicago yesterday and there will be an eight-club circuit. Adrian C. Anson, the veteran first baseman so long with the Chicago league team, was elected president.

—At the election of officers for the Lincoln League of Indiana at Anderson yesterday Senator Gilbert of Angola was elected president by acclamation. M. E. Griswold of this city was chosen vice president for the Twelfth district. The next meeting will be held at Indianapolis.

—The independent telephone companies won a big victory in the United States district court at Pittsburg a few days ago when their right to use the Carty patent on a "bridge" phone for long distance lines was sustained. The Bell company made the fight against the independent companies.

—A. E. Nowlin, Lawrenceburg, interal revenue collector for the Indiana district, has notified his deputy collectors that the names of liquor dealers must not be given out for publication. Mr. Nowlin said that many local prosecutions would result and the government get into complications.

J. F. Koehlinger, the popular agent for the Prudential life insurance company, has taken the agency for the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company of Detroit, for DeKalb county. He will be under the supervision of C. J. Hodge, general agent for the Northern Indiana. Mr. Koehlinger will make a specialty of selling the new provident policy issued by the Michigan Mutual, which is certainly a winner and far superior to anything heretofore known in that line of life insurance.

CEDAR.

John E. Lung bought a car load of corn and potatoes which were loaded here this week. John is a hustler.

Mrs. George Lung was on the sick list the first of the week.

David Gump and wife Sundayed with friends near Corunna last Sunday.

Cal Holman will work for F. A. Hixson again next summer.

L. S. Ober returned last week from an extended visit with friends in Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Arthur Ober has hired a hand from Pennsylvania for the coming summer.

Several of the democrats held a caucus at Butler Center last Saturday. Jno. Williams was chosen committeeman to succeed N. A. Lung, who has sold his farm near here, and expects to move away.

ST. JOE.

Dan Hamm has been visiting his best girl for the past few days.

Clarence Woodcox, wife, and baby visited with friends in town over Sunday.

Professor Nichols who is teaching in Butler township, was at home over Sunday.

Raymond Rhoades is very sick at his home near Spencerville.

Milas Rhoades who was thrown from his horse and severely injured, is reported much better.

A. B. Filley, J. C. Hull, Maurice Curie, Ona Woodcox and Sol. Barney attended the I. O. O. F. lodge at Butler last Wednesday night.

Joseph Harrod has sold his residence in St. Joe to Ben Hamilton; consideration $300.

A series of meetings by the pastor is being held at the U. B. church near Newville.

Uncle Steve Baker has been moved to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Silas Reasoner near Newville. At last reports he was somewhat better.

The Christian church at Coburntown will celebrate the sixty-third anniversary of the founding of the society February 17, 1900.

At the caucus Saturday, G. W. Bleeks was selected for committeeman for the north, and Mahon Baker for the southeast precincts.

A letter from Afton, Indian Territory brings the good news that Ward Woodcox, son of G. W. Woodcon, is at that place and is in good health. Since his last letter of a little over two years, he says that he has been all over Cuba and Porto Rico in the employ as Uncle Sam as teamster.

We are not so sure now that we are to have that big brick building at the corner of Main and Fourth streets. Some little hitch in the land deal may postpone the building; we hope not. Again we are told the overall and shirt factory is likely to be abandoned. Well—well—well.

The B. & O. people have completed another survey to get around the Hicksville hill. This time the line runs south of Hicksville and comes in across lands owned by J. S. Hadsell, Wilmot Coburn, Alonzo Allen, Nelson Scholes and Ben Hamilton, making a junction with the main line a short distance east of the river.

We hear it reported that Capt. Lahnum had another set-to with one of St. Joe's sportive gents the fore part of last week. Will the captain be so kind as to publish the name?

We hear that one of our barbers got himself into a nice little pickle a short time ago, because he was wearing a cap that some one else used to cover his head with. Better not tell whose head gear you have on until you are sure of what company you are in.

The handle factory is progressing finely and a few days of good weather will see it in running order.

REWARD.

We, the undersigned druggists, offer a reward of 50 cents to any person who purchases of us, two 25 cent boxes of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters Tablets, if it fails to cure constipation, biliousness, sick-headache, jaundice, loss of appetite, sour stomach, dyspepsia, liver complaint, or any of the diseases for which it is recommended. Price 25 cents for either tablets or liquid. We will also refund the money if it fails to give satisfaction.—E. M. Fischler, F. E. Davenport and H. B. McCord. 2

SEDAN.

Will Casselman and family have returned to Sedan where they will remain. They are at present staying at his father's, but will occupy their own home soon. Mrs. Casselman has been sick for some time but is improving rapidly.

E. J. Dellenbach visited friends in Fairfield township Sunday. He reports a ten-pound girl at the home of Wm. Stomm's. We congratulate.

The protracted meeting held at this place by Rev. Gaff, closed last Wednesday evening. So far there have been forty-one accessions to the church and others are expected to unite. All the members of the church, we believe, have had their spiritual strength renewed. God's word has been magnified, the church has been renewed and the entire community has been benefited and made to know that there is a reality in the religion of Christ. Prayer meeting every Sunday evening.

On last Wednesday evening at the close of the meeting, Rev. Gaff stated that on the following Thursday there would be a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hines as Brooks and his good wife were going to Kentucky to make their home there in the near future, and an invitation was extended to all their friends to be there with well filled baskets. And although the day was rainy and the roads very bad, there were in all seventy-eight friends and neighbors that braved the storm and mud in order to be present. Space forbids that we give the names of all present, but suffice it to say that every one present felt well paid for being there, and such baskets full of good things to eat; the tables fairly groaned with the load, and everybody being in good humor, of course, we soon lightened this burden. John Buss was there with his phonograph and entertained all those present. Mr. and Mrs Hines were the recipients of a fine set of silver knives and forks, also a silver sugar bowl and butter knife to remember their old Hoosier neighbors. After a full day of social chat and amusement the guests departed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hines a pleasant and safe journey to their Kentucky home.

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang

Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

Dr. Humphreys'

Specifics act directly upon the disease, without exciting disorder in other parts of the system. They Cure the Sick.

NO.	CURES.	PRICES.
1	—Fevers, Congestions, Inflammations.	.25
2	—Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic...	.25
3	—Teething, Colic, Crying, Wakefulness	.25
4	—Diarrhea, of Children or Adults.....	.25
7	—Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis.....	.25
8	—Neuralgia, Toothache, Faceache.....	.25
9	—Headache, Sick Headache, Vertigo..	.25
10	—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weak Stomach.	.25
11	—Suppressed or Painful Periods....	.25
12	—Whites, Too Profuse Periods.....	.25
13	—Croup, Laryngitis, Hoarseness.....	.25
14	—Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions..	.25
15	—Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains.....	.25
16	—Malaria, Chills, Fever and Ague.....	.25
19	—Catarrh, Influenza, Cold in the Head	.25
20	—Whooping-Cough.....	.25
27	—Kidney Diseases.....	.25
28	—Nervous Debility.....	1.00
30	—Urinary Weakness, Wetting Bed...	.25
77	—Grip, Hay Fever.....	.25

Dr. Humphreys' Manual of all Diseases at your Druggists or Mailed Free.
Sold by druggists, or sent on receipt of price.
Humphreys' Med. Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York.

GRIPPE

Grippe and influenza invariably leave the system with a bad cough. For such Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup is highly recommended. This wonderful remedy gives relief at once, conquers the worst cough overnight and soon effects a thorough cure.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

Cures Grippe and Influenza.

Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until

March 8, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m.,

for the construction of stone abutments for the superstructure of a steel bridge over Fish Creek in Troy township.

Plans and specifications are on file in the Auditor's office at Auburn.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond in compliance with an act of General Assembly and in effect after February 27, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the board of Commissioners of DeKalb county.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.

Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14, 1900.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts., guaranteed, at H. B. McCord's Drugstore.

Can Stand It.

She apes the man all that she can;
She has her club and a' that;
Her shoes are on the mannish plan,
Her hat is plain and a' that;
She's mannish in her every way,
She is a fright and a' that;
But, thank the Lord, we yet can say,
A man's a man for a' that!

Whew!

Now blizzardly blizzing the blizzard doth bliz,
And grewesomely grumbleth the ground hog so glum,
While the cold snap snaps snappingly everything's his,
And frigidly freezes fruit tight as a drum.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. FEBRUARY. 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M 14th. L. Q. 22d.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sandwiched with Minor Affairs.

Killed by an Officer.

O. M. Cook, Marshal of Pendleton, Madison County, Ind., shot and killed Joseph Richardson of Fortville. Richardson has served time in Indiana and at Champaign, Ill. He was paroled from the latter institution and was permitted to leave Illinois and come back home. Since then he has been causing officers much trouble, and threatened to kill any man who attempted his arrest. When Cook arrested Richardson, the latter drew a revolver and began shooting at the officer, whereupon the latter shot Richardson dead.

Buller Holds His Own.

A cable dispatch received in London, from Spearman's Camp, says:

"Buller holds his position. Relief is certain."

The public is inclined to await further advices from the Tugela River before doing their cheering, for they have been disappointed so often. A concerted advance has evidently begun against the Boers at all points. This plan is ascribed to Lord Roberts's genius.

Col. Thompson Dead.

Col. Richard W. Thompson, ex-Secretary of the Navy, died at his residence in Terre Haute, Ind. He had been unconscious for more than twenty-four hours, only occasionally awakening from the lethargy and failing to recognize any one, or if he did he failed to indicate it. The end was remarkably peaceful. No indications of a struggle or any suffering was apparent. He was 91 years of age.

Shot Wife and Daughter.

At Black Hawk, Colo., W. M. Allen, a carpenter, shot and killed his daughter, Lula, aged 16 years; then shot his wife twice, and finally shot himself in the breast. The cause assigned for the shooting is dissatisfaction expressed by Mrs. Allen because she was compelled to live in Black Hawk. The family formerly lived in Rock Island, Ill., and Kansas City, Mo.

Terrible Loss of Life.

Escanaba (Mich.) special: Chicago and Northwestern passenger train No. 21, known as the Felch Mountain accommodation, which runs between this city and Metropolitan, was wrecked in a rear-end collision at Ford River switch, near here. Nine persons were killed, three are reported missing, five seriously and four slightly injured.

Murdered by Indians.

Victoria (B. C.) special: E. T. Pope, a mail messenger from Laketown, brings news of the murder of seven members of a half-breed family named McTavish, by the Indians, who blamed them with bringing scurvy by witchcraft. A constable and two men went to arrest them and have not returned. It is feared that they have been killed.

Fatal Wreck.

Two freight trains collided through the misunderstanding of orders on the New York Central railroad near Peale Tunnel, Pa. The dead are Oliver Bennett and Mark Macfarland, the engineers; and A. McAbenne, a fireman. Three of the brakemen were injured. It is feared that other trainmen are under the wreck.

Taft Appointed.

Washington (D. C.) special: The President has appointed Circuit Judge Taft of Cincinnati, Chairman of the Philippine Commission. He will sail for San Francisco some time after March 15. Judge Taft's place in the Sixth Judicial Circuit will be filled by Judge Severance of Michigan.

Water Tank Collapses.

An immense water tank on top of the American Strawboard Company's building at Piqua, Ohio, fell crashing through the room and carrying the floor into the cellar. Benjamin F. Keihl, an employe, was crushed to death under the debris. The building was badly damaged.

Trainmen Injured.

Two switch engines collided on the Wisconsin Central road in Franklin park, Chicago, injuring four trainmen, two of them probably fatally. It was reported that one of the engines was drawing a passenger train, but this proved to be untrue.

A Serious Rebellion.

The Hong Kong correspondent of the London Daily Mail says that a serious rebellion has broken out in Swatau, in the province of Kwang Tung. The viceroy has sent troops and a gunboat to suppress the insurrection.

For a Revenue Cutter.

A bill for constructing a revenue cutter for the St. Mary's River, Michigan, was favorably reported in the Senate.

The Iowa a Flagship.

San Diego (Cal.) special: Admiral Kautz has transferred his flag from the Philadelphia to the Iowa, the transfer being attended with the usual salutes and ceremonies. The Philadelphia has sailed for San Francisco.

Mr. Bard Is Senator.

The California Senate and Assembly met in joint session Thursday to ratify the election of Thomas R. Bard to the United States Senate to succeed Stephen M. White. After the usual preliminary, Mr. Bard was declared elected.

Rockefeller Quits Oil Trust.

John D. Rockefeller is no longer an official of the Ohio corporation of the Standard Oil Company, neither is his brother, Frank Rockefeller. There is a persistent story afloat that the Rockefellers have also withdrawn as officials from the entire Standard Oil Company.

Mine Wage Scale Signed.

Under the wage scale signed by the United Mine Workers of America and the Interstate Operators' Association in Indianapolis, the men employed in the soft coal mines of the principal coal producing States will get a general advance of 21.21 per cent.

PREPARING CUBA FOR FREEDOM.

General Wood Educating the People for Self-Government.

Though gratified at the excellent conduct of the residents of Cuba since American occupation began, the Washington authorities are still unable to name the date when American sovereignty shall end and the inhabitants of the island shall commence the administration of their own affairs. Under instructions given by the President and the Secretary of War before his departure, Gen. Wood is doing everything in his power to educate the people of the island in self-government, not only by example, but by placing them in positions of responsibility. It is believed that after the Spanish subjects of the island have registered their intention of continuing their allegiance to Spain or of becoming citizens of Cuba, the people will be ready for the elections which will commit the municipal governments of the island to the officers elected by the people. These elections of course will be conducted under American supervision. The operations of the municipalities will be carefully watched by the administration in order to determine if the people are ready for a larger responsibility, and if it should be shown that such is the case, then a representative convention will be called to draft a constitution and to establish a general system of independent government. The year allowed by the treaty of Paris for the Spanish population of the island to elect whether they will be Cuban or Spanish citizens will expire April 11 next.

BLOWS NOSE; EYE POPS OUT.

James H. Finnigan of Cleveland Has a Novel Experience.

James H. Finnigan, superintendent of the shipping department of Sterling, Welch & Co. at Cleveland, has just had a most remarkable experience. Finnigan was assisting in entertaining company at his home on Melvin street. He took his handkerchief from his pocket and blew his nose. Those present were horrified to see Finnigan's left eye pop from its socket and hang by the ligaments down his cheek. One young woman fainted. Finnigan pushed the eye back into the socket, and in doing so carried the eyelid in with it. He was blind for the time being, and the pain was intense. A physician was called, but he refused to handle the case. Dr. D. B. Smith was then summoned. Finnigan was removed to the Cleveland general hospital, where Dr. Smith took the eye out again and replaced it properly. The case among oculists is said to be one of the strangest on record.

KISSES CARRY THE SMALLPOX.

Three Young Women Stricken After a Church Sociable Game.

Charles Frank, of Carpenter, Iowa, attended a church sociable, just across the State line in Minnesota, a few days ago. During the sociable, in a kissing game, he bestowed kisses on three young women of the church. Shortly afterward he was taken down with small-pox. So were all the young women. Eight cases resulted in all and one death has occurred. The State Board of Health ordered a quarantine.

Fire Ravages Little Rock.

A loss of $150,000 was caused at Little Rock, Ark., by a fire that destroyed the stores of the Dickinson Arms Company, Arkansas Paper and Book Company, Mrs. Allen's millinery establishment, J. V. Zimmerman's jewelry store, Sam Blum's liquor store, E. Stern's cigar and tobacco store and N. Williamson's barber shop.

Stops Train to Save Lives.

As a Baltimore and Ohio freight was passing a dwelling near Paw Paw, W. Va., Engineer Gibbon Kite saw the house on fire and blazing furiously. He checked the train, and with the other train hands ran and burst open the door. Geo. Shenk and his family of five were found in the house, sound asleep and all but cut off from escape. All were saved.

St. Louis in Flames.

Fire gutted four business blocks in the north end of the retail business section of St. Louis. The contents of the eighteen large retail establishments were destroyed and fully fifteen other stores were more or less seriously damaged by fire or water. It is conservatively estimated that at least $2,000,000 worth of property was destroyed.

Ran Out of Provisions.

Fifty starving men were rescued from the Cleveland waterworks crib, four miles out in Lake Erie, but not until one tug went to the bottom of the river. The men were engaged on the construction of the new waterworks tunnel, which is intended to supply the city of Cleveland with water in the future and ran out of provisions.

Simply Feeling China's Pulse.

Emperor Kuang-Hsu of China, who since Jan. 25 has been generally believed to be dead, undoubtedly is alive and still is nominally reigning. There seems to be no doubt, however, that by the edict naming as his successor Pu-Chun, son of Prince Tuan, the empress was merely feeling the pulse of the nation.

Three Chinamen Deported.

Three of the Chinamen held at Fargo, N. D., for violating the exclusion act were sent back to the flowery kingdom, while one other was admitted as a citizen. The four all claimed membership in the Wah Hing Company, Chicago.

Seven Lives Lost.

The following telegram was received in Washington from United States Consul Griffith at Brownsville, Texas: "Schooner McInnis, from Galveston for Brazos and Santiago, wrecked on the Mexican coast. Seven lives lost."

Assassin Gets Two Victims.

A double murder was committed on the farm of Mr. Bush, one mile below Grosse Lete station, La. A colored man named Levy Jones and one of his sons while at supper were shot by some unknown person and died shortly afterward.

McGovern the Champion.

Terry McGovern settled all the aspirations of Eddie Santry to become featherweight champion of the world by knocking him out in the fifth round at Tattersall's, Chicago. There was not a vestige of doubt as to McGovern's superiority.

Wreck on the Hocking Valley.

The night express from Columbus, on the Hocking Valley Road, ran into the rear of a freight train at Carey, Ohio. Two brakemen and a fireman are reported missing. It is said no passenger was seriously hurt.

Fire Loss Over $400,000.

At Youngstown, Ohio, fire broke out in the McElroy furniture store and extended to J. M. Euwer & Sons' dry goods store and to the adjoining block occupied by G. M. McKelvey & Co. The loss will aggregate between $400,000 and $500,000.

Chicago Man Is Murdered.

At Hot Springs, Ark., Gus Norton of Chicago was shot and killed in the buffet of the Arkansaw Club by a young man of the name of Richards. Nothing can be learned of the cause of the affray.

Revolver Used at Piano Works.

The piano and organ factories of Chicago are open after an idleness of fifteen weeks. Only one serious disturbance accompanied the general reopening of these factories. This was at the organ plant of Newman Bros. & Co. N. E. Nelson was stopped as he went to the factory and a fight followed. Some one struck him on the head, and then Nelson drew a revolver and fired one shot. He declared he wounded a man.

DULL WINTER AT DAWSON.

Weather Mild Until Dec. 20, Since When It Has Been Much Colder.

Advices from Dawson state that up to the end of the year business in the Yukon capital had been discouragingly dull, although work on the claims was progressing well. Up to Dec. 29 the weather had been so mild that but little gravel had been got out, although after that date this impediment of temperature was removed. The thermometer dropped to 40 degrees below zero and ranged as low as 57. There is now a good showing on the dumps. The Dawson banks estimate that $21,000,000 will be taken out this season. From 2,000 to 3,000 Dawsonites are arranging to leave on the first boats down the river in the spring for the Nome field. The Dawson fire destroyed only eight buildings, occupying half a block. As the buildings were all flimsily constructed and lined with cotton, it is considered surprising that the fire was confined to so few buildings. Dawson has a well-equipped fire department with a force of thirty paid men. The fire engines are housed on the ice of the river, where the water can most readily be obtained.

FLEES FROM THE COUNTY JAIL.

Desperate Prisoner at Peru, Ind., Seizes an Opportunity to Escape.

Ray Jones, the man who abducted pretty Nellie Berger from her home north of Peru, Ind., several months ago, and who, with the girl, was found by Sheriff Gast of Rochester, Ind., escaped from jail at Peru. The escape came about in the officers endeavoring to force a crazy person into one of the cells adjoining that of Jones, and in some manner leaving the barred gate leading to his cell open. Jones is a dangerous character. Miss Berger is now lying at death's door.

ELOPING SON DISINHERITED.

Guy C. McDonald Left Upon His Own Resources of $10 a Week.

As a result of his secret marriage to Miss Pearl Flower Guy C. McDonald has been disinherited by his father, M. C. McDonald, a Chicago politician. The father declares that the son is now his own master and must support his wife on the $10 a week that he is earning as an employe of a sign-painting company. The elopement is the culmination of a friendship that began when the two were mere children. The bride is 18 years old and her husband 19.

Train Robber Captured.

"Pat" Crowe, who is known to the police of Missouri as the most desperate leader of train robbers since the days of Jesse James, was arrested in Chicago, charged with being the principal in the robbery of the overland fast mail train on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway at tower "W," forty-six miles west of Chicago, on the night of Oct. 13, 1899.

Donkobors in Need.

A movement has begun in California to send relief to the Donkhobor colonies in Manitoba, which are suffering for food. The Donkhobors are represented as thrifty people, greatly attached to their religious belief, which resembles that of the Quakers. They will not bear arms and were driven out of Russia by the compulsory military service.

Cramp Strike Is Off.

The strike of the Cramp shipyard employes at Philadelphia was declared off at a secret meeting. The terms on which the strike is abandoned have not been made public.

$60,000 Fire Loss.

At Harrisonville, Mo., fire that started in C. C. Grandberry's grocery store destroyed one of the city's principal business blocks, causing a loss estimated at $60,000.

Queen's Government Agrees.

The British Government has agreed to amendment of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty to permit the construction of the Nicaragua canal without asking compensation.

Surveying on Panama Route.

A party from the American surveying commission, which is headed by Rear Admiral Walker, has commenced surveys of a Panama canal route.

Ex-Postmaster General Dies.

Ex-Postmaster General David M. Key, a distinguished Southerner, died at his home in Chattanooga, Tenn., aged 76 years.

Roby Stables Burn.

Fire destroyed the racing stables at Roby, Ind., three valuable horses belonging to the Thomas Costello stables being killed.

Children Burn to Death.

Four children, the eldest 5 years old, were burned to death at Lewisboro, N. Y. The children had been left alone in one of the rooms before an open fire.

Goebel Is Dead.

William E. Goebel died at Frankfort, Ky., in consequence of the gunshot wound received a few days previous.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 65c to 66c; corn, No. 2, 30c to 32c; oats, No. 2, 23c to 24c; rye, No. 2, 53c to 55c; butter, choice creamery, 24c to 25c; eggs, fresh, 14c to 15c; potatoes, choice, 40c to 50c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 69c to 71c; corn, No. 2 white, 32c to 33c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 27c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 30c to 32c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 52c to 53c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 26c; rye, No. 2, 60c to 62c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.75; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 28c to 29c; rye, 57c to 59c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 23c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 56c to 58c; clover seed, $4.85 to $4.95.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 65c to 67c; corn, No. 2, 31c to 33c; oats, No. 2 white, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 1, 56c to 57c; barley, No. 2, 45c to 47c; pork, mess, $10.75 to $11.25.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $7.50.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 76c to 78c; corn, No. 2, 40c to 41c; oats, No. 2 white, 30c to 32c; butter, creamery, 19c to 24c; eggs, western, 16c to 18c.

SWEPT BY A TORNADO

TERRIBLE WINDSTORM AT COLLINSVILLE, ILL.

Many People Injured—Several Buildings Blown Down and Other Property Ruined—Much Havoc in St. Louis, Especially in Burned District.

A fierce storm sweeping eastward from the British Northwest burst over the little town of Collinsville, Ill., Thursday and almost wiped it out of existence. The storm also did much damage in St. Louis. In Collinsville houses, barns, trees and people were caught in the tornado's fury, and the whole country in the vicinity of the village was laid waste. Nine persons were injured, some of them fatally. Fine residences and miners' hovels were crushed to splinters. Telegraph poles and wires were leveled, and tangled wreckage was strewn over the earth for miles around.

The cyclone struck the hamlet in the darkness just before 3 o'clock. Miners who lived on the outskirts of the settlement first felt its wrath and were awakened by a terrible sound and by their roofs crashing in over their heads. To add to the terror of the situation fire started in the debris of some of the houses and threatened for a time to add a holocaust to the disaster. Eleven persons, at least, were seriously injured, two of them being blown several hundred feet.

Collinsville is twelve miles from St. Louis on the Vandalia Railroad. The wind struck at a point a mile south of the village and demolished the cottage of Frank Kobart. From there it rushed north, wrecked the frame houses of the miners who live on the outskirts of the village and left the occupants burned and bleeding in the debris. Three large residences which stood on a hill above the town were reduced to splinters. The immense smokestack on the Hight Club Coal Company's building was toppled over like a tenpin, and the walls were shattered. The Vandalia tracks for a quarter of a mile were blocked with wreckage.

After the Kobart house was blown down a group of three dwellings was felled by the wind. They were occupied by John Marquette and Paul Marquette and Philip Crossan and their families. Although the small dwellings were demolished, all the occupants escaped injury except John Marquette. His injuries from falling timbers are not severe, but he is badly burned, for debris caught fire from an overturned lamp and the flames reached him before the neighbors could rescue him. Kobart and his son and daughter lay in the ruins of their house for hours before they were rescued.

Beyond the Vandalia tracks stood a group of large frame houses, occupied by the Lawrence, Odderhole and Fix families. The storm leveled them. Mr. Odderhole and Mr. Lawrence received serious injuries, and members of the Fix family were wounded. Harry Fix and his sister, Sophie, were asleep in the same room on the second floor. The house seemed to separate, and brother and sister were let down with their beds to the ground floor. There they were found upon their couches, which had not been broken by the fall. Harry not injured in the least, but Sophie was crushed under a falling timber.

In St. Louis the storm was felt in great fury. The wind blew at a velocity of sixty miles an hour. The barometer fell to the lowest point ever reached in that city. A hard thunderstorm accompanied the wind, adding terror to the scene. One woman was killed and several persons were hurt. Scores of buildings were unroofed, and great damage to property was occasioned.

The greatest damage was to property in the burned district, between Franklin avenue, Morgan street, Third and Sixth streets. Here $20,000 worth of property was destroyed. At 827 North Third street the four-story building occupied by the George Benton Commission Company and the Sage & Richmond Commission Company, and filled with produce, was blown down. It was next door to one of the buildings destroyed in Sunday's fire, and its walls had been weakened. Nobody was injured here. At the ruins of the Penny & Gentles department store, Broadway and Franklin avenue, a cupola left standing at the west end of the north wall and a huge brick chimney topped by a tall sheetiron smokestack were carried down by the force of the wind. Policeman William Ferte, who was standing near by at the time, had a narrow escape from death. Signs and trees were blown down all over the city.

DRAINAGE CANAL TROUBLE.

Chicago River Getting in a Bad Way, and Something Must Be Done.

Chicago business men met the other day and said the current in the river, now two miles an hour, and to be three if the full volume of lake water is to pass through it, has made navigation unsafe, and the fall of water, consequent upon the removal of the canal dam, will make it impossible unless there is dredging on a large scale. The channel cannot be deepened without lowering their roofs or abolishing the street railway tunnels. At Bridgeport, where the water was fourteen feet before the canal was opened, is said to be only six feet now. Meanwhile the flow of water must be reduced or the Chicago River Improvement Association and the vessel owners will appeal to the War Department to shut off the canal.

GOVERNMENT DEPOSITS END.

Banks Notified in Regard to Internal-Revenue Receipts.

Washington advices received in New York Friday stated that the banks that were recently created additional depositories for Government money had been notified to turn internal revenue receipts into the subtreasuries in their territory. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Vanderlip authorized the statement that the deposits of internal revenue receipts in the additional depositories will now cease.

VICTORY FOR THE BOERS.

Buller's Third Advance to the Relief of Ladysmith Is Checked.

For the third time Gen. Buller has advanced in an attempt to relieve Ladysmith. He crossed the Tugela river and, after a three days' fight has been checked. He claims, however, to have concluded a strategic advance of certain value.

Early Monday morning a balloon ascended at Potgieter's drift, ostentatiously within sight of the Boer position at Spion kop. Simultaneously British troops under Col. Wynne lined the river banks from Potgieter's to Swarts kop, while three batteries of field artillery advanced into the open.

Following directions from the balloon, the artillery opened a heavy shrapnel fire on the enemy's position. This fire soon began telling. The Boer guns on Spion kop replied. Then the Lancashire brigade deployed in open order, apparently intending another assault. The Boer fire grew hotter every moment. Soon it got too accurate for comfort, dropping shrapnel among the British gunners and making the infantry seek every possible point of shelter.

BULLET-PROOF SHIELDS.

This unequal artillery duel kept up for a while, when word was received from Buller ordering a retreat. Little difficulty was encountered in effecting retirement. The Boers, as on previous occasions, failed to follow up their apparent advantage.

There had been no secret that this attack was merely a feint, and officers and men were equally gratified to learn that their share in the day's program had been a complete success. Meantime the real attack had been quietly pushed ahead, from a point north of Doorn kop under cover of naval guns massed on Swarts kop and Doorn kop. The engineers constructed a pontoon bridge directly facing the rising upland known as Krantz kloof, on the north side of the river. Amid the general din of artillery operations on the left the engineers completely escaped the enemy's notice.

Then the word was given for the infantry to advance at lively gait, and men in khaki swarmed from every quarter in the direction of the pontoon bridge, crossing without attracting the Boer fire, which was still busily engaged with Wynn's brigade on the left.

Vaal Krantz, which is the summit of Krantz kloof, was quickly stormed by the British infantry, supported by seven batteries of artillery. With a wild rush the men scampered up the hill, bayonets fixed, every nerve braced for the expected rifle fire, which the Boers have hitherto reserved till well within short range.

The Durham light infantry assailed the lower ridges, while Hildyard's brigade made for the loftier heights. Every attack was a complete success. The Boers mistaking the feint for the real attack were caught napping for the first time in this campaign.

Gen. Buller cables: "Our further advance is at the moment prevented, as the Boers enfilade us from their positions on Spion kop and Doorm kloof. Our casualties, although estimated at 250, are trifling, considering the great importance of the movement just concluded."

Almost simultaneously with Buller's advance in Natal, Gen. MacDonald in the western field of war began movement to the west of Methuen's position, with the object of relieving the pressure on the latter's front. In the center of the British position at Sterkstroom and Colesburg, the British began to move forward and, with their strong re-enforcements, are threatening the Boers' positions on the Orange river. This plan of advance against the Boers from all points at once is credited to the genius of Gen. Lord Roberts, who will personally direct the operation from the center in northern Cape Colony.

SALUTING THE WOUNDED.

It has long been a tradition of the British army to salute the first of the dead and wounded carried from the field of battle. A scene witnessed on the Modder river is here depicted.—Illustrated London News.

TO SWING AROUND THE CIRCLE.

Admiral Dewey's Projected Trip South and West.

Admiral Dewey's apparent purpose to take a swing around the Southern and Western circles in the early spring is attracting much attention. The admiral recently accepted engagements to visit certain towns in Georgia, and the announcement is made that the admiral has accepted the invitation of the Fellowcrafts Club of Detroit to visit that city. The trip will probably be extended through Michigan and to Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis. The admiral has another trip arranged for Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville and other points.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Eighth Army division will be kept in England for emergencies.

In a letter, Sir Alfred Milner describes the Transvaal as "a huge arsenal."

Complaint is made that many of the rifles of British troops are defective.

It has been decided to keep the Channel Squadron in home waters for a time.

According to advices received in Berlin, the Cape Dutch are joining the Boers.

William Waldorf Astor has subscribed $1,250 to equip a mounted sharpshooters' corps.

In the Senate on Friday an effort by Senator Pettigrew to discuss the Philippine question was of no avail, as he was met by a point of order which took him from the floor. He had gotten only so far as to charge that the great journals of the country would not publish the facts concerning the Philippine war. Subsequently he offered another resolution on which he will speak next week. Senator Allen concluded his speech in arraignment of Secretary Gage because of his transactions with the National City Bank of New York. He had previously introduced a resolution providing for an investigation by the Senate of the Treasury Department, but objection to its consideration sent it over until next week. Adjourned until Monday. In the House the day was devoted to the Indian appropriation bill. When the appropriation for Indian schools was reached an effort was inaugurated by Mr. Fitzgerald of New York to permit the Secretary of the Interior to contract with schools for the education of Indian children where the Government lacks facilities. No appropriation is made for contract schools in this bill. It is claimed that present Indian school facilities are inadequate.

No session of the Senate was held on Saturday. The House passed the Indian appropriation bill. It was slightly amended in unimportant particulars. An attempt to revive the policy of making contracts with religious schools for the education of Indian children, which has been gradually abandoned by the governmen during the last five years, failed on the ruling of the chair that the amendment offered was out of order. The latter part of the session was devoted to eulogies upon the life and public services of the late Representative Ermentrout of Pennsylvania.

In the Senate on Monday Mr. Foraker, chairman of the committee on Pacific Islands and Porto Rico, reported a bill providing a form of government for Porto Rico. Senator Caffery in a discussion of the Philippine question broke new ground in developing his position as an anti-expansionist. In response to a question as to what in the present circumstances he would do with the Filipinos, he said: "Turn them loose as soon as we can get rid of them. That would be better for them and infinitely better for us." Mr. Caffery's argument was mainly a discussion of the constitutional questions. He maintained that the constitution extends absolutely over the Filipinos, and that they were entitled to all the rights and privileges of citizens of the United States guaranteed by the constitution. The House refused by a vote of 66 to 87 to pass a bill looking to the appointment of an expert commission to examine into the questions of the pollution of the water supply of cities. The Chicago members considered that it was aimed especially at the Chicago drainage canal. Speeches were made by two Democratic members of the foreign affairs committee, Mr. Dinsmore of Arkansas and Champ Clark of Missouri, opposing the retention of the Philippines. Mr. Sibley of Pennsylvania, who was elected as a Democrat, but who made a speech the previous week defending expansion, was goaded into the announcement that the Democrats could consider his seat constructively on the Republican side.

On Tuesday the Senate received from Mr. Aldrich amendment to pending financial bill providing that its passage shall not stand in the way of united action for international bimetallism at any future time. Also an amendment from Mr. Jones of Arkansas providing for an emergency treasury note fund of $50,000,000, which may be issued to any citizen at 10 per cent. discount in exchange for United States bonds. Heard Senator Caffery in opposition to retention of the Philippines and Senator Butler in opposition to North Carolina's suffrage amendment. Adopted conference report on the urgent deficiency bill. The House adopted the conference report on the urgency deficiency bill and resumed debate on diplomatic and consular bill, Messrs. Gibson of Tennessee, Morris of Minnesota and William Alden Smith of Michigan speaking for expansion, and Williams of Mississippi, Neville of Nebraska and Cockran of Missouri against it, while H. C. Smith of Michigan championed the cause of the Boers. Mr. Williams held that the absorption of the Philippines by the United States would be ruinous to the American producers of cotton, rice, tobacco, hemp and sugar.

The feature of Wednesday in the Senate was a tilt between Messrs. Depew and Pettigrew over a letter from President Schurman of the Philippine commission, read by the New Yorker, flatly denying a statement made by the South Dakota Senator during debate some time ago that he (Schurman) "had tried to bribe the insurgents and failed." Senators Bate, Turner and Allen spoke against the financial bill and Mr. Vest offered an amendment providing that the Secretary of the Treasury shall have prepared $200,000,000 of treasury notes, to be known as "bond treasury notes," which shall be full legal tender for all debts and which shall be loaned by the Secretary of the Treasury to anybody who may deposit United States bonds for them, the note to bear the same interest as the bonds deposited. The House passed diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, carrying $3,743,908, substantially as it came from committee. Indulged in desultory discussion of Philippine question and war in South Africa, principal feature being speech by Mr. Shafroth in favor of mediation in South Africa under provisions of The Hague treaty.

Brief News Items.

Boers say the British are using armor-piercing shells.

Henry J. Fitzgerald's trunk factory, Chicago, burned. Loss $75,000.

Bandits in a private steamer robbed the priests at Nam-noi, China, of $5,000 worth of valuables.

Bequests made to priests for saying masses for the repose of the soul are liable to a legacy tax.

The War and Interior Departments will combine to keep order among the Indians in western Colorado.

Thierwechter's grain elevator, Oak Harbor, Ohio, burned. Loss $15,000.

Mrs. Jane Dietz, an aged cripple, who lived alone, was burned to death in her apartments in New York.

War has been declared on the rats in Japan. They are said to be the main factor in spreading plague germs.

John Peters, notorious hotel thief, was arrested in Pittsburg. He had $2,000 worth of jewelry and 200 keys.

John McGee, West Alexandria, W. Va., killed Constable McCammon because he refused to release a prisoner.

T. F. Frederick, prominent brick manufacturer, New York, drove his horse over a steep bluff and was killed.

PEACE PACT IS MADE.

KENTUCKY POLITICAL LEADERS REACH AN AGREEMENT.

Acting Governor Taylor Abdicates in Favor of Beckham on Condition that a New Election Statute Be Enacted—Republicans Make Concession.

The peace conference held at the Galt House in Louisville Monday night between seven representatives of the Republican party and seven representatives of the Democratic party resulted in the unanimous signing of an agreement embodying seven specific propositions for the settlement of the party differences which have brought about two State governments in Kentucky. This agreement is in substance as follows:

1. That if the General Assembly in joint session shall adopt a resolution ratifying their recent action adopting the contest reports seating Goebel and Beckham the contestees, W. S. Taylor and John Marshall shall submit without further protest.

2. That all parties shall unite in an effort to bring about such a modification of the election law as will provide for non-partisan election boards and insure free and fair elections.

3. That the conditions shall remain in status quo until Monday, the General Assembly meeting and adjourning from day to day until that time.

4. That nothing shall be done to hinder or prevent a joint session of the General Assembly for taking action on the ratification resolution.

5. That the State Contest Board shall meet and adjourn from day to day until Tuesday without taking any action on the contests for minor State offices. This postponement is suggested in order that the action of the General Assembly on the ratification resolution may be taken first.

6. That the State troops shall be removed from the State capital at once, though with all necessary precaution for the public safety. This matter is to be under the direction of Gen. Dan Lindsay, of Frankfort.

7. That the Republican officials and officers of the State guard shall have immunity from charges of treason, usurpation, court martial or any other such offenses.

GOV. J. C. W. BECKHAM.
Who Succeeds Goebel as Executive of the Blue Grass State.

The agreement was signed by the following:

Republicans—John Marshall, Judge John W. Barr, Gen. Dan Lindsay, T. L. Edelen, Dr. T. H. Banter, David W. Fairleigh and T. C. Ballard.

Democrats—J. C. S. Blackburn, J. C. W. Beckham, Sam J. Shackelford, Urey Woodson, James B. McCreary, Phil Thompson and Robert J. Breckenridge.

The news of the agreement was received with great relief in Frankfort. The strain of the previous ten days had been great and any lessening of tension was most welcome to the members of both parties. Gov. Taylor refused to discuss the agreement until it had been brought to him. He said it was neither right nor courteous for him to do so. He, however, made the assertion that if the Goebel law were repealed and an election law given to the people of Kentucky which would insure a fair and honest count of the votes as cast, he would allow no personal ambition of his own to stand in the way of a peaceable adjustment of the troubles.

COURTHOUSE AT LONDON, KY.

SETTLE BIG CANAL QUESTION.

Agreement Between Great Britain and America Reached.

Another step in the construction of the Nicaraguan canal was taken Monday, when Lord Pauncefote and Secretary Hay signed a treaty revoking that portion of the Clayton-Bulwer convention which prohibits the Government of the United States from constructing a waterway across the isthmus. The agreement provides in substance as follows: The United States is granted the right to build and control exclusively the waterway joining the Atlantic and Pacific, and the provision of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty providing for joint control is annulled. Neutrality of the canal is pledged by both of the signatory parties, both in times of peace and war. The great maritime nations will be asked to pledge themselves to the preservance of the canal's neutrality.

The present agreement was reached practically a year ago, when it seemed certain that the private corporations that had concessions for the canal would be compelled to relinquish the enterprise and leave the work to be done by the Government. It was not, however, formulated until a few days ago, since the pending bills were reported from the Senate and House committees. Great Britain yields its claims under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, provided the United States will guarantee the neutrality and the protection of traffic upon the canal.

Here are a few interesting facts about the Nicaraguan canal concerning which the British-American treaty was signed at the State Department. The figures are gathered from various official reports and from private sources of information:

Total cost of canal (estimated)	$125,000,000
Money already spent by Maritime Canal Company	$5,136,428
Total distance from ocean to ocean	169.4 miles
Length of proposed ditch	27 miles
Length of natural waterway	142 miles
Proposed width of canal	300 feet
Proposed depth of canal	30 feet
Quantity of earth to be excavated and dredged	152,781,270 cubic yds
Excavation proper	29,907,906 cubic yds
Highest elevation of canal from level of sea	110 feet
Distance saved for ships going from coast to coast	8,000 miles
Time saved (at war ship Oregon's rate of sailing)	42 days
Increase in ocean traffic since 1881	16,000,000 tons
Distance from New York	2,000 miles
Distance from San Francisco	2,700 miles
Distance from Philippine Islands	9,000 miles
Distance from Honolulu	4,210 miles
Time required for construction	six years

KEEPING HOUSE.

With their little foreheads puckered
And their little minds perplexed,
Never knowing what new duty
May crop up to claim them next,
All too eager—for the burdens
Life must surely bring—to wait,
Woman's work and woman's worry
Little tots anticipate.

Would-be mothers cradle dollies
In their loving little arms;
Little hearts are all a-tremble,
Simulating Love's alarms;
There are sick beds, doctors gather,
Lengthened faces tell of grief—
How girls love to borrow trouble
Passes any boy's belief.

Baby-brows are corrugated,
Would-be housewives fume and fret;
All the woes of every household
In each mock menage are met;
Naughty children, saucy servants,
Bills to pay, and long-drawn sighs
O'er dyspepsia caused by eating
Underdone o'er-rich mud pies.

Be she big or be she little,
Child yet or to ripe years grown,
Pain is pleasure to a woman—
So 'twould seem—as all must own;
Born to trouble while a toddler
Meekly to her fate she bows;
Lacking trouble, she must make it—
So she plays at "keeping house."
—Boston Globe.

TOLD IN TYPE.

WHILE riding across the Keystone State recently in one of the portable palaces common to our great railways, I met an old acquaintance—George Starbuck, now a prominent Philadelphia business man, who had at one time been a newspaper publisher, and the undefined bond that unites disciples of the craft had made us quite warm friends. After the greeting and queries attendant upon several months separation were over, under the reminiscent influence of a "Perfecto," Starbuck related the following experience:

"About 10 years ago I was editor of the only newspaper in a small town called Ciphon. The village was the county seat, and as a natural result, much of the 'county printing' found its way to my office. One morning in the early summer I was seated in my sanctum sorely perplexed. My small working force had all it could possibly attend to in getting out the paper, when to top it off the Sheriff placed in my hands an unusually large batch of 'sheriff's sales,' which had to appear in the next issue of the Sentinel, as my paper was named. As I sat there endeavoring to think of a way out of the dilemma, my gloomy meditations were interrupted by the entrance of a visitor, and the moment I glanced up I knew my troubles were at an end, it being easy for my experienced eye to mark him at once a 'typographical tourist,' or as practical people would say, a 'tramp' printer. He was a tall man of perhaps 50 years of age, dark hair, slightly tinged with gray, intelligent eyes, and, strangest of all, clean and sober. He proved an excellent compositor, and with his assistance the Sheriff's sales duly appeared, to the consternation of the unlucky delinquents, but substantially to the betterment of my finances.

A LOOK OF HORROR FROZEN ON ITS GHASTLY FACE.

"Two weeks later, during which time my new man, who gave his name as Hugh Manley, had become well nigh invaluable to me, the whole State was shocked by the terrible murder of Ciphon's most prominent citizen, the Hon. Alfred Cartwright. The murder, as near as could be judged, occurred about 11 o'clock Monday night. The body was found seated before the fireplace in the library, with a look of unutterable horror frozen on its ghastly face. The furnishings of the room were undisturbed, and all appearances gave evidence that no struggle had taken place. Death must have been instantaneous, as the body was found seated in an upright position; the large dirk with which the deed was committed still protruded from the wound. A window opening onto the porch, found unfastened, was probably the means of egress employed by the assassin. The deepest mystery as to the perpetrator and motive shrouded the crime. Cartwright was unmarried, and with the exception of an aged couple who acted as servants, lived alone. He had been a man prominent in local politics, and although little was known of his life previous to his coming to Ciphon, he was extremely popular, and had already represented the county one term in the State Legislature.

"We hurriedly published an extra edition of the Sentinel containing a story of the crime in all its ghastly details. Detectives were worked night and day following up imaginary clews, and for the lack of better material, trying to fasten the crime on the worthy man and woman who had served the murdered man faithfully during his residence in Ciphon, and were apparently in every way above suspicion. Before the day for the regular weekly issue of the Sentinel I was called out of town, and previous to my departure instructed Manley to devote his energies to getting out a complete story of the murder mystery. As I finished he remarked, with a smile, that he would make every effort to unearth 'the cowardly perpetrator of the dastardly deed.'

"I returned to Ciphon the night before 'press day,' and proceeded at once to the Sentinel office. On entering I noticed a light in the composing room and looked in. Manley was at work setting type, and made a striking picture as he stood there, his nimble fingers keeping pace with flying thoughts, the flickering gas jet contrasting his not unhandsome face in bold relief against the prevailing darkness of the room. There was no 'copy' on the case in front of him, but I hardly gave this incident a thought, as he was much given to 'setting up' his articles from memory. Finishing the work at my desk, I was about to depart, when Manley came into the room and handed me a 'proof sheet,' with the request that I should read it, in order that it might be ready for correction in the morning. Here is what I read:

Starbuck produced from a pocketbook a somewhat worn newspaper clipping and handed it to me. The article was headed, "The Mystery Solved," and read as follows:

"The people of Ciphon will undoubtedly be surprised on reading to-day's Sentinel to learn that the 'Hon.' Alfred Cartwright's murderer has confessed; moreover, that it was he and no other who put this article into type. However, before you universally condemn the guilty wretch it is well all should read a chapter in Alfred Cartwright's life, of which the inhabitants of Ciphon are evidently in ignorance. Six years ago, in a city far from this village, there was a happy home—made bright by the sunshine of prosperity and contentment. A middle-aged man was happy in the smiles of a lovely young wife, and no cloud marred the serenity of an ideal existence. But the tempter came to this Eden as he did in the long ago. Clothed in friendship's garb he entered this peaceful household. The old, old tale was repeated. The young wife listened to honeyed compliments and base entreaties—and fell. In a few months she lay dead—killed by her own hand. The grief-crazed husband fled from the ruins of all he held dear, and after years of ceaseless wanderings returned with the calm determination to avenge that young, blasted life. The man was Hugh Manley, the tramp; the serpent, the 'Hon.' Alfred Cartwright. I killed him. Entering the window, I stole upon him. He heard me and looked up. Not a moment's repentance did I grant him. No! I sent him before his Maker with his soul as black as a raven's wing. This is the end; Hugh Manley has 'told in type' the solution of a mystery that has puzzled you all."

"Very dramatic and—sad," I remarked, as I handed back the clipping. "What became of Manley?"

"They found him the next day at his lodging house," continued Mr. Starbuck, "and placed him in the county jail, but he never came to trial. Many visitors were allowed to see him, and one morning, about a week before court convened, they found him dead in his cell. He had taken poison, no doubt smuggled to him by some friend or acquaintance. It did not surprise me, although I never believed any jury would have hanged the man—but his life was blasted. He wanted to die."

Mr. Starbuck settled back in his seat and lighted a fresh cigar, and as I glanced at him the conviction suddenly seized me that I knew where Manley got the poison.—Pennsylvania Grit.

TRIAL BY FARCE

In Dreyfus Case Found a Parallel in "Alice in Wonderland."

There is a delicious bit of court nonsense in "Alice in Wonderland" that bears a striking similarity to the serious but almost as peculiar trial of Dreyfus. A recent writer has made the clever parallel:

"There's more evidence to come yet, please your majesty," said the White Rabbit, jumping up in a great hurry. "This paper has just been picked up."

"What is it?" said the Queen.

"I haven't opened it yet," said the White Rabbit, "but it seems to be a letter written by the prisoner to—to somebody."

"Who is it directed to?" said one of the jurymen.

"It isn't directed at all," said the White Rabbit. "In fact, there's nothing written on the outside." He unfolded the paper as he spoke, and added: "It isn't a letter, after all; it's a set of verses."

"Are they in the prisoner's handwriting?" asked another of the jurymen.

"No, they're not," said the White Rabbit, "and that's the queerest thing about it."

(The jury all looked puzzled.)

"He must have imitated somebody else's hand," said the King.

(The jury all brightened up again.)

"Please, your majesty," said the Knave, "I didn't write it, and they can't prove I did; there's no name signed at the end."

"If you didn't sign it," said the King, "that only makes the matter worse. You must have meant some mischief, or else you'd have signed your name like an honest man."

"Let the jury consider their verdict," the King said, for about the twentieth time that day.

"No, no," said the Queen; "sentence first—verdict afterward."

A Social Diplomat

"Can you trace the resemblance of a baby to anything under the sun but another baby?"

"Oh, yes, indeed," replied the social diplomat.

"To what?"

"To whichever parent asks me about it."

All the masters of diplomacy are not in public life.—Detroit Journal.

An Autopsy.

Little Mike (who has struck a hard spot in his reading)—Feyther, phwot is an autopsy?

McLubberty (promptly)—An autopsy, is ut? Sure, thot's phwin a dead man requisits the docthors to cut him up, so thot he can foind out phwot is dhe matther wid him.—Harper's Bazar.

Varied Possibilities in Peru.

Peru possesses such a diversity of elevations and climatic peculiarities as to be able to produce almost any product known to man.

Champagne.

It is asserted that the wine cellars of France contain champagne enough to supply the world's demand for three years—nearly 150,000,000 bottles.

PONY EXPRESS LINE.

COL. ALEXANDER MAJORS ORIGINATED THE SERVICE.

He Began to Transport Freight Across the Plains in '48, and Did a Remarkable Business—Employed Five Thousand Men and Forty Thousand Oxen.

The man to whom was due more than any other the advance of civilization across the plains of the great West and who became world-famous as the originator of an overland freight line and pony express was Col. Alexander Majors, who died in Chicago not long ago. At the time of his death Col. Majors was 86 years old. Seventy years of his life he had spent on the plains and into this time had been crowded events which are history.

COL. MAJORS.

It was in 1848 that Col. Majors began his freighting on the old Santa Fe trail, running a line of wagons between Independence, Mo., and Santa Fe, N. M. Majors' Overland Freight soon became famous all over the world. He was not the first man to carry freight over the trail, but he was the first man to develop overland freighting as an industry and to insure in any degree the safety of his goods. His beginning was made auspiciously on the edge of the gold fever, and soon he, and the partners he afterward associated with him, had established lines to Mexico, California, Colorado and Utah, and in one year the profits of the firm of Majors, Russell & Waddell amounted to $500,000. Nearly all of the freight carried over the Rocky Mountains by contract at that time was carried in Majors' wagons, and the Government contracts were all intrusted to him.

When Col. Majors began operations the Eastern terminus of the freighting trails was Independence, Mo. He started in business with a little outfit of six wagons and forty oxen, for it took six oxen to draw one of the wagons. His first trip was made to Santa Fe, and the run of 800 miles and back was made in ninety-two days. This was unprecedented at the time, and the fact that Majors brought his oxen in as fat and sleek as when they started out gave him a reputation among the traders. Up to that time it had been conceded that no man could manage a yoke of oxen without swearing. A teamster was hired more on his reputation for swearing and shooting than for driving. Col. Majors was a religious man and for a long time conscientious scruples stood in the way of his going into the freighting business. He would not employ men who swore, and he would not haul freight on Sundays.

As traffic increased it fell gradually into the hands of Majors' overland freight, and he took in two partners and changed the name to Majors, Russell & Waddell. They soon increased their teaming outfit to 40,000 oxen and 4,000 wagons, dividing them into "outfits," or "trains," moving out of Independence, Mo., on a certain date, and scheduled to reach Santa Fe or Salt Lake or Denver, as the case might be, on a certain date. The organization of a freight train for crossing the plains consisted of twenty-five wagons carrying from three to three and one-half tons each, the merchandise being protected by sheets of ducking. Each wagon was drawn by twelve oxen, and the train was provided with thirty or forty extra animals, in case some of those drawing the wagons went lame. The whole train consisted of from 320 to 350 cattle, a half dozen mules, for herding and riding. The force of men consisted of a wagonmaster, his assistants, the teamsters, a man to look after the extra cattle, and three or four reserves.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER.

Oxen almost altogether were used in freighting, because they were more reliable for long trips, and because they foraged for their own food, and, with proper care, could travel 2,000 miles between April and November, and still be sleek and salable.

The business done by the freight line established by the Colonel was enormous. In one year he carried 16,000,000 pounds of Government supplies to United States troops in Utah. Forty thousand oxen, a thousand mules, and over 5,000 men, under his supervision, once carried freight and mail from the Missouri River across the Rocky Mountains.

The Pony Express.

Col. Majors' greatest enterprise, from a spectacular point of view, was the establishing of the "pony express." In the days of the California gold fever this was to the coast what the flying mail trains are to the people to-day. From the terminus of the eastern telegraph lines there was a stretch of 2,000 miles to the coast. Majors had already established an overland stage line, operated by the firm of Majors, Russell & Waddell. But up to 1859 mail from the Atlantic seaboard was carried by steamer to the Isthmus of Panama and then by steamer again up the western coast, and at the least the trip required twenty-two days. Senator Gwin, of California, believed that the establishment of an overland express would lead to increased immigration, and finally lead to the building of railroad and telegraph lines, which it did. He persuaded Col. Majors and his partners to start the pony express, and Col. Majors at that time became the virtual head of the overland freight, overland stage line, and pony express. Up to that period the fastest time ever made by news from the Missouri River to San Francisco was twenty-one days. The pony express curtailed this to ten days, taking dispatches from the wire at St. Joseph, Mo., and carrying them the rest of the way on horseback. The route was divided into 190 stations, and 500 horses and 280 men were required for the work. Eighty of these men acted as riders. The riders were all old plainsmen and scouts, brave and daring, and the story of the pony express is one of thrilling adventure. Two hundred and fifty miles a day was made by the express, and none of the riders carried an extra ounce of weight. The horses were wiry mustangs used to the trail, full of endurance, and as sure-footed as mountain goats.

The work done by the pony express was the marvel of the day and the feats of horsemanship then accomplished are still talked of. However, it never paid running expenses and was eventually sold.

For some years past Col. Majors had been living a quiet life, his time being occupied in the writing of a book of his experiences. In many respects he was a wonderful man and history will claim him as a most remarkable figure.

Ready with the Retort.

The following story is attributed to Marshall P. Wilder: Some evenings ago a man was seated in the corridor of one of the large hotels smoking a fragrant Havana cigar. On the lounge next to him were seated a woman and her daughter, the latter being immediately next to the smoker. The draft in the corridor blew the smoke from the cigar across the younger woman's face, to which, although it annoyed her extremely, the smoker remained seemingly either oblivious or else wholly indifferent. Finally, after several quite audible remarks to her mother apropos of the rudeness of men in general in smoking in the presence of women, which passed rapidly into a somewhat hectic comment on this smoker in particular, the frayed string of her temper broke, and, turning savagely to the tormentor, she said: "If you were my husband, do you know I'd poison you?" Her neighbor, removing his cigar from his lips, promptly responded: "And do you know, madame, were you my wife, I'd take that poison?"—New York Tribune.

FREIGHTING ACROSS THE PLAINS IN 1848.

The Sage of Hawville.

"Improvements," quoth the sage of Hawville, "air mighty good things, yit there's some I've run acrost 'at goes ag'in my grain. There's my gal. When she lived down on the farm here she was willin' to go by the name of Sary. Then she went to the district school an' afore long give us to understan' that her name was Sarah. Then I sent her to the city boardin' school an' she hadn't been there a month afore she writ home an' give us distinctly to understan' that her name was Sara. The next letter I writ I told her that it took some people a all-fired long time to find out their name, an' that I hoped she'd finally settle on some partickler one, so's I 'ud know what one to use when I mentioned her in my will. She ain't changed it sense, but we're expectin' another change on the next mail. Improvements air good things in some respects, but as I said afore, they is sartinly some that goes ag'in my grain."—Indianapolis Sun.

Her Literal Explanation.

A few days ago a boy was missing from schoolroom in one of the uptown public school buildings. The teacher looked around and failed to see the familiar face.

"Does any pupil know why Tommy McGregor isn't in school to-day?" she inquired.

There was no answer.

The teacher repeated the query.

Then a little girl slowly lifted her hand.

"Please, ma'am," she said, "I know."

"And why does he stay away, Mary?"

"Please, ma'am, it's because he's got 'measles inside.'"

Mary had read the contagious disease card that was tacked on the front of the house.—Baltimore Herald.

Anent the Spider.

Tommy—Isn't the spider patient, sitting there all day?

Papa—How could he catch flies if he were not?

Tommy—Why, with fly-paper, I should think.—Judge.

Central America Pyramid Builders.

Barring the Egyptians, the ancient Mayas of Yucatan seem to have been the greatest pyramid builders the world ever saw.

Many people have wretched taste; the world is full of people who like Sousa's marches.

WIND ALWAYS BLOWS

TERRIBLE AND UNCANNY CAVITY ON A TEXAS RANCH.

There the Wind Sucks and Whirls with Fatal Insistence in All Kinds of Weather—Cattle, Horses and Trees Engulfed in the Mysterious Hole.

In the Peach Creek neighborhood is a place known as the Hole in the Ground, which is the only place in Texas, as far as known, where the wind blows up and down, a regular gale. The hole is on the cattle ranch belonging to Claus Baumgartner, and close to the creek between high, wooded bluffs. Peach creek is really a bayou, its waters level with the sea and running only during freshets caused by excessive rains. High south or north winds are the only ones to ruffle its usually placid surface.

But it does not matter how placid the waters of Peach creek may be, how straight and unbending the trees on the bluffs may stand or how lazily the clouds drift through the air, there is always a gale at the Hole in the Ground. It blows and roars and whistles and shrieks as only a raging hurricane can do in its mad career. The hole is a costly affair to the man who owns it. The low ground on which it is situated is the only place where his cattle can get water at the creek.

It would be all right if a fence could be maintained around the hole, but that cannot be done. Every time the wind veers to the east everything above ground between the bluffs is sucked into it, snapping the stoutest fence posts like pipe stems, and snatching coils of barbed wire as if they were flimsy gossamers. At such times horses, cattle and sheep that happen to be on the flat are doomed. Strong horses, caught in the eddy of the mysterious wind, are as helpless as flies in a gale. They plunge and leap and struggle for a minute, then they are pressed down, whirled around a few times and go down never to be seen again.

The hole itself is about 300 feet across the top, with slanting sides. No one has ever dared to go close enough to be able to look down into it and see what the bottom is like. The sounds of the wind vary from a hoarse roar to a keen whistling noise. The prevailing winds, except an east wind, do not seem to affect it in any way, for in calm and storm, rain and shine, night and day, winter and summer, it puffs and sucks and whirls and eddies to suit itself.

Twice in the memory of man Peach creek has overflowed its banks high enough to run into the hole. The last time was during the general overflow last summer. The water then rose to a depth of four feet on the flat where the hole is situated. For a minute or so the water would pour down with a gurgling noise, then the earth around seemed to hump itself for a moment and the next there would be an explosive sound, when it would come up again in a solid column 100 feet high. When this column broke the waves rushed against the adjacent bluffs and were whipped into foam. This was repeated every minute or two until the water in the creek went back again within its banks. After the water had receded and the hole had resumed its usual labor of sucking and puffing wind once more, the ground around was literally covered with the bones of dead animals on which it had gorged itself for many years before.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

STATUE OF KRUGER.

One that Has Been Designed for Church Square in Pretoria.

A correspondent recently returned from South Africa furnishes the London Morning Leader with this print of the photograph—hitherto unpublished—of the projected Kruger statue, famous for two reasons: first, because the artist is daring enough to perpetuate the tall hat; and second, because the top of the hat is hollow, and "is to be kept filled with water, so that little birds may have drink." This is the thoughtful idea of Mrs. Kruger. Work on the statue, by the way, is just now suspended.

THE KRUGER STATUE.

How He Got Ahead.

"It's strange," sighed the trolley conductor, "how when two boys start out with equal chances, one of them is bound to forge ahead while the other lags behind. There was Jim; Jim and I were fast friends as youths, but look at me now. Equal as our chances were Jim is ahead——"

"What is he doing?" asked the passenger who had paid his fare.

"He's the motor man up front. Did I get your nickel?" Bang! Clatter! "Edmund place!" Bang! Clatter! Ting-a-ling. "Yes, sir, it's strange."—Detroit Free Press.

Etiquette Bars Omnibus Riding.

Professional etiquette prevents French judges and judicial officers from riding in omnibuses.

If it weren't for the fool a wise man would never know how dangerous it is to blow into an empty gun.

FAITHFUL SHEEP-HERDING DOGS

Instances of Their Wonderful Intelligence Are Numerous.

"The most celebrated breed of sheep-herd dogs ever known in the West," said Jud Bristol, the old-time sheepman of Fort Collins, Col., "were those bred from a pair of New Zealand dogs brought to Colorado in 1875. I had several of their pups on my ranges and could fill a volume with instances of their rare intelligence and faithfulness.

"I remember one pup in particular. He was only six months old when he was sent out one day to work on the range. At night, when the herd was brought up to the corrals, we saw at once that a part of the herd was missing. There were 1,000 head in the bunch when they went out in the morning, but when we put them through the chute we found that 200 were missing. The pup was also missing. Well, all hands turned out for the search. We hunted all that night and all of the next day and did not find the lost sheep until along toward night. But they were all herded in a little draw, about five miles from home, and there was the faithful dog standing guard. The wolves were very plentiful in those days and the dog had actually kidden the sheep from the animals in the draw. The poor fellow was nearly famished, as he had been for thirty-six hours without food or water. From that day he became a hero, but was so badly affected by hunger, exposure and thirst, subsequent overfeeding and petting that he died not long afterward.

"This same pup's mother was an especially fine animal. One night the herder brought in his flocks and hurried to his cabin to cook himself some supper, for he was more than usually hungry. But he missed the dog, which usually followed him to the cabin of an evening to have her supper. The herder thought it rather strange, but made no search for the dog that night. But next morning he found the gate open and the faithful dog standing guard over the flocks. This herder, in his haste the night before, had forgotten to close the gate, and the dog, more faithful than her master, had remained at her post all night, though suffering from hunger and thirst.

"On another occasion this same dog was left to watch a flock of sheep near the herder's cabin while the herder got his supper. After he had eaten his supper he went out to where the sheep were and told the dog to put the sheep in the corral. This she refused to do, and, although she had had no supper, she started off over the prairie as fast as she could go. The herder put the sheep in the corral and went to bed. About midnight he was awakened by the barking of a dog down by the corrals. He got up, dressed himself, and found the dog with a band of about fifty sheep, which had strayed off during the previous day without the herder's knowledge, but the poor dog knew it, and also knew that they ought to be corraled, and she did it."—Denver Post.

The Man Who Works.

"The man that is so far advanced that he likes the work he is doing," said Mr. Stoggleton, "has reason to feel hopeful of himself. I suppose that the very great majority of us go through the work we have in hand the easiest way we can and get through it, skipping the hard places when possible, and thinking we'll be glad when it's finished; but the next job will be just the same; there will be just about so many hard places in it, and then we'll be wishing just the same that we could get through that job.

"The fact appears to be that we are always trying to shirk the present job. We mean well, in a feeble sort of way, and the next thing we tackle we are going to do right up to the handle; but when we strike that, when that becomes the present work, don't we try to shirk that, too? We do, indeed. And that's what we do all through life; daily putting off our best endeavors till to-morrow. Kind of a miserable thing to do, isn't it?

"But occasionally you meet a man who puts in his best licks every day, and rejoices in the labor; he doesn't care a continental what the next day is going to bring to him, he can handle it whatever it is; just now he's engaged with to-day's labor; and he does that up thoroughly and completely and searches out the last nook and cranny; he isn't trying to see what he can pass by, but what he can root out; and he goes home satisfied with his work, and he's the one man in a thousand that leads all the rest and his pay corresponds with his labors."—New York Sun.

One of Maud Booth's Converts.

A volume might be written on the wonderful work done by Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth among the convicts in the New York State prisons. Once Mrs. Booth and her aids had won the confidence of a prisoner who was feared by all his companions. One day in speaking of his past he told them that he was absolutely innocent of the charge for which he was suffering imprisonment, and he thanked Mrs. Booth for some reading matter she had brought him.

"I have got witnesses to prove my innocence, even if they are in prison now," he asserted.

"Why don't you try to secure a new trial?"

"Well, you see," he replied, after a little pause, "I was acquitted of a number of charges where I was guilty, and so when I was convicted of something I never did I said to myself, 'It's just about even balance,' and I took my medicine without any kicking."—Collier's Weekly.

The Oldest Church.

The oldest building in the world that has been uninterruptedly used for church purposes is St. Martin's Cathedral, at Canterbury, England. The building was originally erected for a church, and has been regularly used as a place for religious gatherings for more than 1,500 years.

Wood Tar Prepared as of Old.

It is curious to notice that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century, B. C. A bank is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

AN ECCENTRIC MILLIONAIRE.

Banker Daniel H. Moffat and Some of His Peculiar Gifts.

Daniel H. Moffat, the millionaire mineowner and banker of Denver, Col., who last year attracted considerable attention by taking Thomas Guy, head waiter at a fashionable New York hotel, on a protracted European trip, has again shown his unique eccentricity by giving away fortunes to two of his employes.

D. H. MOFFAT.

Geo. Ross Lewin, cashier of Mr. Moffat's Denver bank, the First National, and Thomas Kelly, assistant cashier, are the lucky men. Mr. Lewin's gift was a check for $100,000 and Mr. Kelly's was one for $75,000. The only message with the checks was: "Accept as tokens of Mr. Moffat's regards." It's needless to say that Messrs. Lewin and Kelly appreciate their employer's appreciation.

Mr. Moffat gave away another fortune some years ago, but under much different circumstances. An excited man broke into his office at the bank one day and, brandishing a big bottle filled with liquid, demanded that Mr. Moffat give him all the money he had handy.

"I've explosive enough here to blow this place to atoms if I drop it," the visitor cried, "and it drops unless I get the money!"

He got it, nearly $20,000. The visitor got away safely, leaving the bottle. It had nothing in it more dangerous than castor oil.

AN OLD, OLD CHURCH.

Built by the Russians in Alaska in 1800, and Still Standing.

The old Russian church at Juneau, Alaska, built in 1800, is still standing, four-square to all the winds that blow. The larger and more modern building, part of whose gable and weather-boarded end juts up close to the church in the background of the picture, is an up-to-date brewery, lately erected to supply amber fluid to quench the thirst of the people as they grow in civilized tastes.

This church has long served its purpose as a house of worship and an ecclesiastical school. In it many Indians have been taught the rites of the Greek church and the art of reading ecclesiastical characters.

OLD CHURCH AT JUNEAU.

The history of the missions of the Greek church in Alaska is an interesting one. Archimandrite Joasaph, an elder of the order of Augustin friars, accompanied by eleven monks, were the pioneer missionaries sent by imperial decree of Empress Catharine, in 1793. In 1796 Fr. Joasaph was consecrated as bishop, and the same year the first church was erected at Kadiak island. In 1799 this bishop and all the monks but one were shipwrecked and lost. The surviving monk remained alone in the colonies eleven years before another was sent to his assistance.

The man, however, who left the greatest religious impress upon that country was Innocentius Veniaminoff. He began his labors there in 1823 and in 1840 he was made bishop. The earliest mission established at Sitka was about the year 1800. An ecclesiastical school was opened at Sitka in 1841. It was then but a small place, built chiefly of log huts.

The First Iron Plow.

It would be difficult to say who made the first iron plow; but in Scotland a contemporary says the inventor was a humble Scotch blacksmith named William Allan. His modesty was so great that after he had made his first plow, and it did satisfactory work on his own farm, he declined to make a second for neighboring gentlemen on the plea that he was not as good a blacksmith as the gentlemen ought to have, and recommended a neighbor of his, named Gray. The latter became rich at the business, while Allan remained as poor as ever.—Scottish American.

No Gentleman Would Take It.

A member of one of the great political clubs of London recently lost his umbrella and put up a notice in the hall requesting "the nobleman" who had taken it to return it when he had done with it. The committee, in due course, desired to be informed why he had ascribed its possession to a peer. The member blandly referred them to the rule which said that the club was composed of "noblemen and gentlemen," and added that no gentleman would have taken his umbrella.

Exercise for the Lungs.

Strengthening the lungs, especially the apexes, may be done by blowing through a small pipestem or tube that will allow the breath to pass out slowly. First fill the lungs with good air, then blow with steady force vigorously but not violently. A few times daily will be sufficient.

A Will and a Way.

"George," she cooed, "why can't we get married next Sunday?"

"Well," hesitatingly replied the recalcitrant but manly youth at her side, "we could, I s'pose; but it may rain Sunday."

"George, if it rains Sunday couldn't we get married Saturday?"—Judge.

Only Male Jaws at That.

The muscles of the human jaw exert a force of 534 pounds, and those of mastiffs, wolves, etc., far more.

Action and reaction are not equal in the stock market.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

Positions Secured!

We aid those who want GOVERNMENT POSITIONS. 85,000 places under Civil Service Rules. 8,000 yearly appointments. Prepares by mail for all Government examinations. Fees cash or installments. A thorough and scientific course in all departments. Requires spare time only. Salaries twice as much as private firms for the same kind of work. The hours of labor are short, duties light, positions for life. Take our course of study and we guarantee that you will pass the Civil Service Examinations. Write, inclosing stamp, for our catalogue describing course to—BUREAU OF CIVIL SERVICE INSTRUCTION, Washington, D. C.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.
WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PATENTS DESIGNS TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS OBTAINED

ADVICE AS TO PATENTABILITY Notice in "Inventive Age" Book "How to obtain Patents" FREE

Charges moderate. No fee till patent is secured. Letters strictly confidential. Address, E. G. SIGGERS, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Safe. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse dangerous substitutions and imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists.
CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO.
2100 Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue a certified copy of a decree to me directed from the clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Sarah Belle Richards is plaintiff and Henry Eugene Trout, Frances Trout, Philo J. Lockwood, John G. Mott and Fanny Casebeer are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of twelve hundred fifty-eight dollars and ninety-seven cents ($1258.97), with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, on Saturday, February 17, 1900,

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the court house of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years of the following described real estate, to-wit;

Lots numbered one hundred sixty-nine (169) and two hundred sixteen (216) in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb county, state of Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose to public sale the fee simple of said real estate or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JOHN H. HATHAWAY,
Sheriff of DeKalb County, Indiana.
Rose & Rose, Atty's for Plaintiff.
Auburn, Indiana, January 24, 1900.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

Rotary Motion and Ball Bearings.

Porter Depew, Agent.

Wednesday's Daily.

—S. Beninger was a caller at this office today.

—C. B. Jackman, the midget Angola attorney, was a guest at the Hollister last night.

—Eli Warstler made a substantial payment on subscription today for the Weekly COURIER.

—We were pleased to enroll Amos Fitch on our list of subscribers today. He is a brother of our townsman Dr. D. N. Fitch.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—Cal. Husselman was one of the principal speakers at the Madison county farmers' institute, held at Anderson Monday and Tuesday.

—A suit over a strip of land near Goshen, worth less than $25, cost the defendant $60, and the plaintiff, who secured a decision in his favor, $160.

—Spencer Koontz of Knox, a member of the 157th Indiana regiment, died of smallpox in the Philippines where he was serving in one of the volunteer regiments.

—There are sixty applications for parole on file at the Jeffersonville reformatory and twenty-three of the inmates will be released as soon as they can be assured of employment.

—T. C. Elson, who has been here a couple of months, has returned to his home at Berrien Springs, Mich. He found many old friends to visit besides the relatives including his daughter, Mrs. Simp Johnson.

Populists, free silver republicans and democrats of Boone county have fused on a county ticket. The populists get the assessor, one commissioner and two members of the county council, the republicans the surveyor, and the democrats the rest.

—Since our last report the following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Long: Ira Wilson Grogg and Bertha Yarde; Jonathan Coy Hart and Delilah Agnes Myers; John Scott and Iva VanCuren; Alpha L. Krider and Nettie B. Jones; Charles E. Good and Minnie E. Wagner.

—The Indiana agricultural station has brought out a condensed animal food that was tested in Cuba last summer by cavalry. The new food is cornstalk powder, mixed with blood or cheap molasses, pressed hydraulically into cakes of convenient size. Samples have been sent to South Africa.

—Advices state that suits for heavy damages will be brought against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad by the widows of the engineer and firemen who lost their lives in the freight wreck at McCool, Porter county. The suits will be brought in DeKalb and Porter counties, this state.—Goshen Democrat.

Thursday's Daily.

—Corunna people are working for a telephone exchange.

—Avilla has a new bank of which H. W. Leach is the principal owner.

—Simon Rohm is now "next" to John C. Somers, having paid his weekly into March 1902.

—Marshal Rose of Waterloo has bought a farm in Nebraska and will go there in the spring.

—The Democrats of Allen county will hold their convention for the nomination of county officers March 24.

—The next meeting of the state teachers' association will be held at Logansport, the latter part of March. A large attendance is expected.

—Editor Briner's new paper at Orland has been named the Zenith. That is rather an unusual title, but we hope brother Briner's new venture will reach the zenith of success.

—The Ohio and Indiana traction company, projecting an electric line from Hicksville, O., Marion, Ind., by way of Fort Wayne and Huntington, was granted a franchise through Huntington county, Tuesday.

—Pearl Geeting, formerly of Company I of the 157th Indiana regiment, writes to friends in Waterloo that he has just left the hospital at Manila where he was five weeks under treatment for a wound received in a battle.

—Baked argument:—When you buy crackers don't take the dealer's word for too much. Taste them and let the flavor argue their merits. When you do this there isn't any doubt but that you will select Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers.

—Worthy E. Keller has brought divorce proceeding against Alda G. Keller. The parties were married December 23, 1896, and separated January 24, 1898. It is alleged that the defendant deserted the plaintiff at Auburn, DeKalb county.—Goshen Democrat.

—The log chain case between Grant Ball and John Smith of Steuben county was decided in Ball's favor by Justice Thomas at Hamilton, and Smith then took an appeal to the circuit court. Smith, it will be remembered, was recently acquitted in court here on a charge of stealing harness.

—After March 1, the school books condemned by the state school book committee will not be exchanged for old ones at the terms now in force. At the beginning of the year some new text books were adopted, and that the pupils might not be put to extra expense, they were exchanged for old ones for a small additional charge.

—John W. Baker, editor of the Columbia City Commercial was in town today. He is a candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant-governor and is interviewing his party and personal friends. Mr. Baker is a worthy man and should be given a better position than even this, by the party for whose success he has labored for so long.

Friday's Daily.

—Waterloo and Grant townships have the smallest proportionate representation on this year's delinquent tax list.

—Commissioner Shoemaker drove down from Waterloo this morning, and feels satisfied that he had no further to go.

—B. F. Myers of Bankers, Mich., and David Kryder of the Junction were callers yesterday and both paid up their accounts into 1900.

—Mrs. Geo. Shaffer died yesterday at her home at Waterloo and will be buried there tomorrow. They lived some time in East Auburn, where Mr. Imhoff now lives.

—Wylie hall, one of the buildings of the state university at Bloomington was destroyed yesterday by fire. The loss is about $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

—O. H. Widney will erect a fine two story brick building at St. Joe in the spring. The lower floor will be used for business rooms and the second floor for an opera house.

—Supt. Coe says the worst day he has had so far and the worst roads, he had in his trip yesterday in the big storm, and in the flat country south from Jackson Center. We've been there in just such a time.

—Editor John W. Baker of Columbia City Commercial, was the guest of S. P. Imhoff and family while in town yesterday. They were old friends and neighbors, Mr. Imhoff having lived several years at Columbia City.

—Gen. W. A. Olmstead, who served through the civil war, was ordained to the priesthood at Notre Dame yesterday. This is believed to be the first instance in this country where a general of the army has been admitted to holy orders.

—A good motto, crack and try:—Next time you go to the grocer's for crackers remember this and put it into practice. If you are a good judge, Fox's "Forex" New Shape Butter Crackers will please you the best, no matter how many brands you try.

—B. & O. surveyors have run some lines to the south of the main line as well as to the north. One of their last surveys leaves the main line just east of town and passes near the fair ground, then crosses the state line near the Fort Wayne road and thence near Coles corners to the south of St. Joe, etc. —Hicksville News.

—Melt like mist:—They melt like mist in the mouth and tickle the taste with a toothsome touch. You ask what? Just sample Fox's New Design "Forex" Butter Crackers and you'll get the answer through the sense of taste. If all the food experts and "Cracker" bakers in the world should combine their efforts they couldn't produce a more delightful and wholesome cracker.

Saturday's Daily.

—'Squire Elias Fisher of Altona got onto our 1900 list today and has thanks for same.

—J. M. Norford was over from Butler this morning. He is just recovering from a long illness.

—It is reported that Harry Stone of Albion will be made a member of the executive branch of the democratic state central committee.

—W. H. McQuiston and wife are here, he having severed his connection with the Cool buggy factory at Paxton, Ill. We do not know whether they will remain in Auburn or not.

—A letter from Dr. James Squires at Churubusco, says they are all well. He and some friends talk of organizing a hunting party to go to the hill country of the Pacific coast next year.

—A letter from W. E. Reincohl the telegraph operator leaves him at Granger, Ind., where he has a position with the Chicago and Grand Trunk railway. So we will forward his COURIER to him.

—J. E. Rose received a letter last evening from Minneapolis, saying that W. S. Best was lying at the point of death and rapidly sinking. It appears he has been in poor health for some time.

—Jacob Link was here today and again squared up for the Weekly he is sending to his son Joseph in Michigan He keeps track of his boys. George is now with the Nickeys at Princeton, Indiana.

—'Squire Treesh officiated at a wedding this morning, the contracting parties being Ezra Hursh of Garrett and Miss Sadie Hosler of Corunna. The ceremony took place at the 'Squire's office on Jackson street.

—Mrs. Matt Zirwes has a letter from Will Clark at Manila. He says he is getting tired of garrison duty out there and will be glad when his time is out. He sent home a wicked looking knife that the Filipinos use, and with this one native had killed another.

—The state board of health receive some peculiar causes of death in reports sent in by the county boards of health. One report says a man died of "information of the brane." Another met his death by "being run over by a large log and has not been well since." Another died from "jineral kongiston," and one poor fellow gave up the ghost because "he could not breathe good all day before he died." One "had heart failure for twenty days," and another was carried off by "general failure of system."

—There was a very pleasant reunion of the Link family at the home of our old friend Jacob Link yesterday, in honor of the 92nd birthday of his mother, Mrs. Susan Link. Five generations of the family were represented, including the guests from Illinois whose arrival was mentioned in yesterday's COURIER. Those present enjoyed a fine dinner and spent several hours in a social visit with the aged guest of honor who retains her faculties in a remarkable degree for one of her age.

OBITUARY.

Jacob Stamets was born near Greensburgh, in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, July 4, 1831. He was baptized in the Methodist church by Rev. Machlin in 1832, near the place of his birth, a few years after which he with his parents, brothers and sisters moved west to Wayne county, Ohio, where in his youth he received his education and grew to manhood; then locating in Mowsburg, Ashland county, Ohio, he devoted a few years to mercantile business. He married Maria Ann Smith October 29, 1857; then joined with his wife in the Evangelical Lutheran church November 8, 1857, by Rev. Hankey.

He devoted a few years to his former occupation until October 5, 1863, when he, wife and family of three children, moved to Auburn, Indiana, and purchased the farm where he has lived the greater portion of his remaining years to the date of his death, February 4, 1900. He has lived a life in the firm adherence to the christian faith and ever strived to attend his church even while rapidly declining in health.

His benevolence in church was grand to express his character of incessant church support and uplifting, and ever striving beyond his means to do so Himself and wife, the deceased Jacob Walborn and father with a few others are the foundation on which the Lutheran church of Auburn has been built. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, two daughters and three sons, one infant child having gone to decorate his peaceful home. His death came at the age of 68 years and 7 months.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Billiousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles at O. P Barber's, Corunna.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

To the Feeble Minded.

Yesterday, J. E. Pomeroy went before the Board of Commissioners and asked for an order to send W. W. Chaney of Spencerville to the Home for the Feeble Minded, at Fort Wayne. The boy is a son of E. N. Chaney and is about fourteen years old. It appears by the statement that the lad was all right till he had a severe sickness at about the age of nine, since which time he has not been quite right. He goes to school and learns fairly well, however, but it is thought best for his own good and that of his family, that he be put in the Home. His father says he will keep him in clothes while there. The Board granted the request.

More DeKalb Folks.

We have a copy of the Citizens Call, Christmas Souvenir edition published at Phillipsburg, Montana, the home of Josiah Shull and his sister Mrs. W. L. Allison. It is a bright little pamphlet, full of information and especially illustrated to show the interest they take in their schools. It appears that at one point, their school funds gave out and there is a large list of people who donated various sums to help through that school year. Among the most liberal contributions are those of Josiah Shull and W. L. Allison. Josiah has a good picture in the book and the list shows he is county attorney and president of the town school board.

Another DeKalb Boy.

We have a letter from George Cox, now an attorney at Muncie, stating that his partner, Clarence Dearth, has received the republican nomination for prosecutor of Delaware county. As the county is strongly republican his election is sure. The fact that Mr. Dearth got this nomination from a strong competitor, who was already the prosecutor, and also that they are in the habit of giving the prosecutor a second term, shows Mr. Dearth a man of ability and popularity. The firm of Dearth & Cox, is going to succeed

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches in diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & Co

To Stop a Cold.

After exposure or when you feel a cold coming on, take a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails to stop a cold if taken in time. Take nothing else. H. B. McCORD, Druggist.

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XV.

There was one point in the remonstrance trial yesterday, that called up a little reflection. It was when Mr. Zirwes told on the witness stand, about renting his rear room to a man named Brown from Garrett. He said he had known Brown as a saloon keeper over there, but did not know what he wanted of the room here. Brown came over the carnival week and rented the room for that week only, and paid $3 or $4 for the use of it. He claimed to Zirwes that he wanted to use that room to put his things in. He said he paid no attention to what the man was doing. Right here is where Mr. Zirwes is lame. If he were as well posted as he should be, he would have realized at once that no man would stay five miles from his home and pay rent for a room to keep his things in unless there was an unusual condition of things back of the transaction. We have had quite a bit of experience with "innocent parties" like that years ago, when we were as easy a mark as Mr. Zirwes claims he is. We were for several years secretary of the Waterloo fair, then the leading fair in this congressional district. At its annual meetings, people from all over the country were attracted to it on account of the advantage they believed, rightfully or wrongfully, that it afforded for gathering in money in a more or less illegitimate way. All these men had to come to the secretary for their license and in the license was a blank form to insert what their business was. And it took us quite a while to find out all about it. Men with an innocent look, and a tale of childlike simplicity would drop in and take out a $5 permit to run a peanut stand or for popcorn, or for candy, or give $10 for a cigar license and so on including such exhilarating affairs as pounding machines, cane racks and sweet cider. All these things looked like legitimate business for a fair. And many of them were exactly what they represented themselves to be. But some were not, and looking back at it, it does look as if we were "easy" not to have found out all about it sooner.

As the fair grew and became known, its patrons of this stamp increased in number and came from a wider territory. Gradually trouble sprang up. It took largely the form of picking pockets. The best citizens in the county were among the losers, and when this had been growing three or four years nearly fifty pocket books were taken in one fair of five days. The office of the secretary became a sort of museum for empty purses that had been rifled and thrown away. We had hired many men at different fairs to go through the crowd all day and see if we could not stop it. But not a purse was saved. The officers became desperate and next year the secretary corresponded with the then leading detective force in the country, the Pinkertons of Chicago. A good man was engaged to come that year and be on hand Wednesday, the first day there would be a crowd or any danger of thieving.

At about 9 a. m. that day, a short, bright, but ordinary looking man stepped briskly into the secretary's office and asked to see that gentleman. Mutual explanations followed. It was the detective, a man named Coe. We acknowledged we were utterly in the dark, and he could take what course he pleased to rid us of our trouble. He said he could tell better after going up and looking over the grounds, where a good sized crowd had by that time gathered. In about half an hour he returned, and proceeded to put Mr. Secretary through a vigorous examination. He asked what we thought of letting two big, strong men have a license to sell popcorn. We had not thought of that. In fact we thought we had sold the right to one man. But the detective said that man now had a partner, and one could stay at the stand while the other wandered among the crowds and when hard pressed could return to the stand and appear to be selling goods. He told us of a number of such cases, and then added that he knew several of the sharpers, three at least being well known in Chicago. Already he had warned some of them and they had agreed to leave. Others had agreed to drop thieving and stick to the sale of the goods under their license, while one man had an appointment to go over to town with Mr. Coe and take the noon train west. This was done, and after that day there was no trouble. There was not a pocket picked at that fair. And the secretary had learned a lesson not easily forgotten. It is always safe to watch a stranger who wants to buy a trifling right or secure a vacant room on occasions when a large crowd of strangers will be in town.

—"I strongly recommend Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup; it cured me of a throat and lung trouble of many years' standing."—Mrs. J. Bremer, Rifle, Colo. Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, la grippe, pneumonia, whooping-cough, croup and consumption.

—D. R. Martin of Rochester, Ind., has been sexton of the cemetery there for 44 years. In that time he has interred 1,325 people.

—Fatal delays are caused by experimenting with cough and cold cures. Foley's Honey and Tar will prevent a cold from resulting in Pneumonia. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—94 percent of the people you meet have indigestion. Tell them to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at McCord's —Chicago spends $20,000 a night for theaters and concerts, and during the opera season $10,000 more.

THE FIRST BABY.

Its Coming is Looked Forward to With Both Joy and Fear and its Safe Arrival is Hailed With Pride and Delight by All.

The arrival of the first baby in the household is the happiest and most important event of married life. The young wife who is to become a mother delights to think of the happiness in store for her when the little one shall nestle upon her breast and latterly she shall hear it lisp the sweet and holy name, "mother." But her happy anticipation quickly vanishes when she realizes the terrible pain and suffering through which she must pass while bringing the little one into the world. An indescribable fear of the danger attendant upon the ordeal soon dissipates her joyfulness.

Thousands of women have learned by experience that there is absolutely no necessity for the sufferings which attend child-birth; they know that by the use of "Mother's Friend"—a scientific liniment—for a few weeks before the trying hour, expectant mothers can so prepare themselves for the final hour that the pain and suffering of the dreaded event are entirely obviated and it is safely passed through with comparatively little discomfort.

All women are interested, and especially expectant mothers who for the first time have to undergo this trial, in such a remedy; for they know the pain and suffering, to say nothing of the danger, which is in store for them. "Mother's Friend" is woman's greatest blessing, for it takes her safely through the severest ordeal of her life. Every woman should be glad to read the little book "Before Baby is Born," which contains information of great value to all. It will be sent free to any one who sends their address to The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Liberty, Ind., Jan. 10, '98.
Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.
GENTLEMEN:—For about 10 years I was affected with Constipation, Indigestion and Stomach and Bowel trouble. I tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and soon found relief. After using one fifty-cent bottle I am now well and can eat anything that comes on the table without suffering pain and distress in my stomach, and I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone that has any bowell or stomach trouble. If you are afflicted try it and you will be convinced. Very truly yours, C. K. SLONNEGER. For sale by H. B. McCord.

—A Decatur man named Lucky was caught for $1,000 at Archbold, Ohio, the other day by the old foot-race trick. Lucky ought to change his name.

W. L. Yancy, Paducah, Ky., writes "I had a severe case of kidney disease and three of the best physicians in southern Kentucky treated me without success. I was induced to try Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave me immediate relief and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy.

—An exchange remarks that if the price of nails continues to advance "nailing campaign lies" will be an expensive business this year.

—"I can highly recommend Begg's Hair Renewer as a pleasing restorative application for the hair and a sure cure for all scalp diseases." Mrs. J. Wheetle, Omaha, Neb. A thoroughly reliable preparation; endorsed by thousands. It will not disappoint. For sale at H. B. McCord's.

—A haunted house story in Elkhart county was exploded when it was discovered that some boys had connected a rubber hose with a gramaphone.

—Rev. James B. Tims, of Alickchi, Checotah Nation, I. T. says of Begg's Blood Purifier, the great blood remedy and system regenerator: "Both myself and wife were entirely cured of bad case of scrofula by it." A guaranteed remedy, of sterling merit. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The funeral of the late Major John A. Logan was held at Youngstown, O., yesterday, and was attended by thousands of people. The ceremonies were of a military nature

—Prof. M. H Kasper, Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill, writes:—I had been suffering for some time with severe pains in my lungs, and coughed almost constantly. One bottle Begg' Cherry Syrup entirely cured me." It is guaranteed to cure, has never failed.—H. B. McCORD.

—A good many people along the Air Line division of the Lake Shore road take advantage of the low rates to attend the theater in Toledo.

—Krause's Cold Cure is all the name implies—an absolute cure for cold in the head, cold in the chest—in fact, cold in any part of the body. Not necessary to go to bed, or neglect your work while taking the medicine. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—There are three or four vacancies in the delegation from the Northern Indiana Editorial association to the meeting of the national association at New Orleans.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 2, 1898.
Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm has no equal as a seller and one that gives entire satisfaction to our Johnson's Pharmacy.
Sold by DAVENPORT the DRUGGIST.

—An enormous number of pension claims and bills have been filed with the senate committee on pensions at Washington. But few of them will be passed.

—"I have always used Foley's Honey and Tar cough medicine, and think it the best in the world," says Chas. Bender, a newsdealer of Erie, Pa. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—Congressman Landis of the Ninth district declines the republican nomination for governor.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, February 22, 1900. | Number 8.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Heary, V.-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprciality.

Physicians and SURGEONS
D. J. Swarts, M. D
Vesta W. Swarts, M D
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19
Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND.
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McCLELLAN, ESTATE
CHARLES McCLELLAN
D. A. GARWOOD,
ISAAC HAGUE.
C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed | Gas Administered.
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to hronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

C. S. SMITH,
Auburn, Ind.
Attorney-at-Law
AND NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office over Bazar Store, formerly occupied by Judge Hartman.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examination and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists.
MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn

Junk Wanted
Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays
Best Cash Prices
for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

INDIANA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Health—Rules of the Indiana State Board of Health, According to Chapter XVI, Acts of 1899, to Prevent Outbreaks and the Spread of Contagious, Infectious and Other Diseases, and For the Government of Subordinate Boards of Health and All Health Officers—Passed in Regular Session, October 13, 1899—Rules For the Government of County, City and Town Health Officers.

Rule 1. The communicable diseases dangerous to the public health, and which shall be immediately reported to the nearest health officer, are hereby declared to be yellow fever, smallpox, cholera, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, typhus fever, cerebro-spinal meningitis, typhoid fever, bubonic plague, leprosy and pulmonary tuberculosis. Pulmonary tuberculosis and typhoid fever shall not be quarantined, but shall be immediately reported.

Rule 2. It shall be unlawful for any school teacher or other school officer to admit to any public, private or parochial school, whether as a pupil or otherwise, any person affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health.

Rule 3. It shall be unlawful for any parent, guardian or other person having control of any child affected by any contagious or infectious disease dangerous to the public health, to permit said child to attend any public, private or parochial school, or be present in any public place.

Rule 4. It shall be unlawful for any school teacher or other school officer to admit to any public, private or parochial school, whether as a pupil or otherwise, any person who has come from, or who resides in any house or building affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, or who has recently been affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, unless such person shall first present a certificate signed by a reputable physician stating that all danger of communicating such disease is past, and said certificate has been approved and indorsed by the health officer in whose jurisdiction such person may reside.

Rule 5. County, city and town Boards of Health shall, at all times, exercise supervision over the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta of all school houses and all public buildings within their jurisdiction. No sewer or other drain through which it is contemplated to dispose of sewage shall be constructed by any public officer or person or corporation until the plans for such sewer shall have been submitted to and approved by the local Board of Health possessing jurisdiction of the territory in which such sewer or drain is proposed to be constructed. No school house or other public building shall be erected until the plans therefor shall have been submitted to, and the provisions for drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta shall have been approved by the local Board of Health within whose jurisdiction such school house or other public building is proposed to be erected. Upon notification by any person it shall be the duty of the local Board of Health to examine into the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta of any school house or other public building within its jurisdiction. If, in the judgment of such Board of Health, the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing or disposal of excreta of any such school house or public building shall be so defective as to be detrimental to public health, it shall be the duty of the local Board of Health immediately to notify the proper officer having charge and control of such school house or public building of the nature of the existing defect, and of what should be done to correct the same, and it shall thereupon be the duty of the person or persons having charge and control of said school house or public building forthwith to cause such changes in the location, drainage, water supply, heating, ventilation, plumbing or disposal of excreta as have been recommended by the local Board of Health to be made, and it shall be unlawful for such person or persons having authority over such school house or public building to permit the same to continue without making the change or changes recommended by the local Board of Health for a longer period than ten days from the time of the receipt by such person or persons of the order of the local Board of Health recommending such change or changes. An appeal may be taken in case of disagreement to the State Board of Health, and, pending such appeal, the order of the local board shall stand.

Rule 6. In case of sickness, it shall be the duty of every person who shall know or suspect that the person taken sick is affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, to give immediate notice to the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction such sick person may be found.

Rule 7. Every physician who shall know or suspect that any person whom he is called upon to visit, or about whom he is consulted, has any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice, together with the locality and description of the case, to the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction such sick person may be found.

Rule 8. It shall be unlawful for any person having control of any child or children, to permit any such child or children to go from any house or building infected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health (omitting pulmonary tuberculosis and typhoid fever) to attend any public, private or parochial school or Sunday school, or any church, theater, opera house, music hall or place of public entertainment, or any picnic or public gathering, or to travel in any street car or public vehicle, vessel, steamer, train, or to travel or be on any public highway, street, alley, public square or grounds, or in any park, without first procuring a permit from the county or local Health Officer, and they shall obey fully all official sanitary directions found in the health rules or which may be given by the Health Officer.

Rule 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to enter or leave any house or building infected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, to attend any church, public meeting or place of amusement, or to travel on any street car or public vehicle, vessel or steamer, or travel or appear on any public street or highway, without first procuring a permit from the Health Officer exercising jurisdiction, and obeying absolutely his directions as to all sanitary precautions which shall be observed.

Rule 10. It shall be unlawful for any person who is, or has been recently, affected with any communicable disease dangerous to the public health (omitting pulmonary tuberculosis), to travel or appear upon the public streets or highways, or to appear in any public place or gathering, or to travel in any public vehicle or vessel, until a certificate is made by the attending physician to the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction the case occurs, stating that all danger from infection or contagion by reason of such disease is passed, and such certificate is approved and indorsed by said Health Officer.

Rule 11. Whenever a Health Officer shall know or suspect or be informed of the existence of any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, and there be no physician in attendance, or should any physician while in attendance fail or refuse to immediately report such case to the Health Officer, it shall be the duty of said Health Officer, or deputy, to examine such case or cases of alleged communicable disease dangerous to the public health, and act as required by the rules governing such cases of communicable diseases.

Rule 12. In all cases where there has been an exposure or a suspected exposure to smallpox of any person or persons, it shall be the duty of the Health Officer under whose jurisdiction said person or persons may be temporarily or permanently residing, to quarantine for fourteen days such person or persons as may be exposed or suspected of having been exposed to smallpox, and to advise vaccination or re-vaccination of all who may have been thus exposed. It shall be the imperative duty of the Health Officer to enforce this rule, and in [illegible] neglect by said Health Officer to comply with the requirements of this rule, or other rules, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the State Board of Health to assume charge, and either in person or by his deputy enforce the foregoing rules. All vaccinations shall be made with non-humanized virus, the only exception being that, during an epidemic of smallpox, should a sufficient quantity of bovine virus not be obtainable, humanized virus may be used when sanctioned by the Board of Health under whose jurisdiction said epidemic may occur.

Rule 13. Whenever a physician is called upon to attend a case of communicable disease dangerous to the public health, it shall be his duty to immediately report such case to the local Health Officer under whose jurisdiction such case may occur, and then it shall be the duty of such Health Officer to establish quarantine immediately by placarding the house and officially informing the householder, commanding the members thereof not to leave the premises except by permission under the sanitary directions of the Health Officer. The card used for placarding shall not be less than twelve inches square, with the name of the disease plainly printed thereon, and said card to be posted in a conspicuous location. The card or flag for cholera shall be black, with the name of the disease printed in white letters. The card or flag for smallpox shall be red, and have the name of the disease printed thereon. The card or flag for diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, typhus fever and cerebro-spinal meningitis shall be yellow, with the name of the disease printed thereon. No person shall remove or cause to be removed (except as already provided) any such card or flag, and the quarantine shall not be raised until a certificate is made by the attending physician satisfactory to the Health Officer in authority that the disease has subsided and all danger of contagion or infection by reason of such disease is passed, and that proper disinfection satisfactory to the Health Officer has been accomplished. Any person violating the quarantine or causing the removal (except as provided) or mutilation of said card or flag before a proper certificate has been placed in the hands of the Health Officer in authority, upon conviction, shall be subjected to the penalties provided in section 13 of an act approved February 7, 1899. In cities and towns, flags or cards shall be provided by city or town Boards of Health, and outside the corporate limits of cities or towns, by county Boards of Health. Every physician attending a case of smallpox, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, or other communicable disease dangerous to the public health, shall use every reasonable precaution to prevent communicating the disease to others.

Rule 14. It is hereby made the duty of any person having charge of the remains of one who has died of smallpox to cause the body to be interred within twelve hours after death, and it shall be the duty of any person having charge of the remains of those who died of cholera, typhus fever, yellow fever, smallpox or bubonic plague to cause said remains to be immediately wrapped in a sheet saturated with a solution of bichloride of mercury in the proportion of one ounce of the bichlodire of mercury to the gallon of water, and placed in a coffin, which shall be securely closed, and the coffin not to be again opened.

Rule 15. In all cases of death from cholera, bubonic plague, leprosy, typhus fever, yellow fever, smallpox, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever and cerebro-spinal meningitis, the funeral shall be strictly private. No public or church funerals shall be held, or any person permitted to enter the house containing the remains, excepting the undertaker and his assistants, unless by permission of the Health Officer.

Rule 16. The room in which there has been a case of contagious disease dangerous to the public health shall be immediately disinfected following the recovery of the sick or the removal of the remains, as follows, to-wit:

All surfaces should be thoroughly washed with a solution of corrosive sublimate of the strength of one part in one thousand parts of water. The walls and ceiling, if plastered, should be brushed over with this solution, after which they should be whitewashed with a lime wash. Especial care must be taken to wash away all dust from window ledges and other places where it may have settled, and to thoroughly cleanse crevices and out-of-the-way places. After this application of the disinfecting solution and an interval of twenty-four hours or longer for free ventilation, the floors and woodwork should be well scrubbed with soap and hot water, and this should be followed by a second more prolonged exposure to fresh air admitted through open doors and windows. School books or books from a circulating library shall not be taken into or removed from any house during the prevalence of any contagious disease dangerous to the public health, and if such books have been in such houses during the prevalence of said diseases, they must be destroyed by such owners or library authorities or be properly disinfected before being returned to schools or put in circulation.

Formaldehyde disinfection may be substituted for the above method of disinfection as follows:

Clothing (as here described or as below under sick room).—Into a trunk or box having a cover, place the garments one at a time, sprinkling each one with one or two tablespoonfuls of 40 per cent. formaldehyde, mixed with an equal amount of water. Allow the trunk or box to remain closed for five hours, then open and hang the garments in the open air. If the formaldehyde odor persists, sprinkle the garments lightly with diluted aqua ammonia.

Bed Clothes and Bed Furnishings.—Sheets, pillow cases and blankets should be boiled in water for at least thirty minutes. Comforts may be treated as described for clothing, or submitted to the action of formaldehyde gas in the sick room. Straw ticks, husk and cotton mattresses should be burned, as they are too inexpensive to trouble with. Hair mattresses and feather beds should first be subjected in the sick room to the action of formaldehyde gas and afterward sent to be steamed and renovated. Pillows should be treated as described for mattresses and feather beds. All bed clothes, except bed linen, may also be treated in the sick room as described below.

Sick Room.—Make as air-tight as possible, open closet doors, drawers and all closed receptacles; scatter their contents about the room; suspend clothing and bed clothes upon lines stretched across the room, or spread out on chairs or other objects; books must be opened and the leaves spread—in short, the room and its contents so disposed as to secure free access of gas to all parts as freely as possible. Now for each 1,000 cubic feet of space take eight ounces of 40 per cent. formaldehyde, mix with one pint of water and with a small sprinkling pot having a very fine sprinkler—a child's toy sprinkling pot is satisfactory—sprinkle the disinfectant over carpet, clothes, mattresses, stuffed furniture and sides of the room. Before sprinkling place a damp towel over mouth and nose. Close the room and allow it to remain so for not less than five hours, but ten if possible, then open, remove all articles to the open air and clean the room thoroughly.

MARRIAGE, BIRTH AND DEATH REPORTS.

Rule 17. City and town Health Officers shall record in a record book all births and deaths and contagious or infectious diseases named in Rule 1, and they shall, before the 15th of each month for the month preceding, send to the county Health Officer the original returns of births and contagious disease, but the original certificates and records of death received shall, after record in the local books, be sent direct to the State Board of Health by the fifth of each month for the month preceding. It shall be the duty of the county Health Officer to make a record of returns of births, contagious diseases and marriages, in a record book. All record books shall be of the form and character prescribed by the State Board of Health.

Rule 18. All physicians, accoucheurs and midwives in this State are hereby required to report to the Secretary of the Board of Health of the town, city or county in which they may occur (within fifteen days thereafter), all births which may occur in their practice. Whenever a physician's supply of the necessary blanks on which to make returns is nearly exhausted he shall at once make a requisition for the same on the Health Officer within whose jurisdiction he may reside, and said Health Officer is hereby required to immediately supply the demand.

Rule 19. It is ordered that each county Health Officer in this State shall, on or before the 20th day of the month following the close of each quarter, make his quarterly returns of all marriages, births and diseases dangerous to the public health to the Secretary of the State Board of Health, on blanks prescribed and furnished by the State Board of Health.

Rule 20. Whenever any birth occurs with no physician, accoucheur or midwife in attendance, then such birth shall be reported to the town, city or county Health Officer by the householder or other person under whose observation such birth may occur. All such reports to be made within fifteen days.

Rule 21. All persons authorized in this State to solemnize marriages are ordered to make a report of all marriages solemnized by them to the Clerk of the Circuit Court by whom the marriage license was issued, in blanks furnished by such Clerk, within seven days after the marriage is solemnized.

Rule 22. In case any person feels aggrieved at any act of a Health Officer, appeal may be made to the State Board in session or its executive officer, but pending such appeal the act of such Health Officer shall remain in force.

Rule 23. All city and town Health Officers shall make, at least once in each year, a sanitary survey of their respective jurisdictions, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence of conditions detrimental to the public health, including in such survey stagnant ponds, imperfect drainage, sewerage, pigsties, cesspools and water closets, and all unsanitary conditions, and the construction, heating, ventilation, plumbing and disposal of excreta of all public buildings, prisons, hospitals and eleemosynary institutions, and shall make written report of their survey with recommendations, if any, to their respective Boards, and county officers shall send a copy of their reports to the State Board.

Rule 24. It shall be the duty of all health authorities, officers of State institutions, police officers, sheriffs, constables and all officers and employes of the State, or any county, city or town thereof, to assist in enforcing the foregoing orders, rules and regulations.

RAILWAYS AND STEAMBOATS, AND ALL COMMON CARRIERS.

Rule 25. No common carrier or any person shall bring into the State of Indiana any sick or suspected of being sick with Asiatic cholera, smallpox, yellow fever, typhus fever, diphtheria, membranous croup and scarlet fever, bubonic plague, leprosy, or any other communicable disease dangerous to the public health.

Rule 26. When any railway car, steamboat, vessel or conveyance coming from a place or locality declared by the State Board of Health having jurisdiction as being infected with cholera, smallpox, typhus fever, bubonic plague, leprosy or yellow fever, or having on board any person or persons affected with any of the above-named diseases enters any port or place in the State of Indiana, such railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance and the crew, officers, passengers, baggage, merchandise and freight shall be subject to such inspection and disinfection as may be ordered by the State Board of Health.

Rule 27. If any person is found on any railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance, who is sick, or reasonably supposed to be sick, with cholera, smallpox, typhus fever, bubonic plague, leprosy or yellow fever, he or she shall be immediately removed by the health authorities within whose jurisdiction such person is found and isolated and properly cared for until the termination of the disease, and the necessary expense of such isolation and care (if the person so removed is unable to pay the same) shall be a valid claim against and be refunded by the owners, agents or assigns of the railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance from which such person or persons were removed.

Rule 28. In case of smallpox all persons reasonably suspected of having been exposed thereto shall be removed from such railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance and be isolated for fourteen (14) days from the last exposure. In case of typhus fever, all persons reasonably suspected of having been exposed thereto shall be removed and isolated for twenty-one (21) days from the last exposure. In case of cholera, bubonic plague or yellow fever, all persons reasonably suspected of having been exposed thereto shall be removed and isolated for five (5) days from last exposure. The clothing of persons so removed and all baggage, luggage, freight or merchandise found on any railway, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance, on which there is any person sick with cholera, smallpox, typhus fever, bubonic plague or yellow fever, and reasonably suspected of having been infected, shall be at once disinfected or destroyed, and such railway car, steamboat, vessel or other conveyance shall also be disinfected as required by the Board of Health having jurisdiction.

Rule 29. When deemed necessary by the State Board of Health to prevent the spread of cholera and after ten (10) days' notice, each and every railway car, steamboat, vessel in or coming into the State of Indiana, and used for the transportation of passengers, shall be provided with means satisfactory to said Board of Health for disinfecting the excreta of passengers and crews.

Rule 30. It shall be the duty of the conductor of any railway train and the master of any steamboat or vessel to immediately notify by telegram the Secretary of the State Board of Health, at Indianapolis, of any case or suspected case of cholera, smallpox, yellow fever, diphtheria, bubonic plague or typhus fever occurring on board such train, boat or vessel within the limits of the State of Indiana.

Rule 31. It shall be the duty of the Board of Health of any town, city or county to at once furnish the State Board of Health with a true copy of any quarantine orders or regulations adopted by said Board of Health as against any foreign State or any municipality or township within the State of Indiana.

Rule 32. Any person or persons failing or refusing to comply with either or any of the foregoing rules shall be subject to the penalties provided in section 14 of an act establishing a State Board of Health, approved February 7, 1899.

By order State Board Health.

T. HENRY DAVIS, M. D., President, Richmond, Ind.
E. D. LAUGHLIN, M. D., Vice-Pres., Orleans, Ind.
J. H. FORREST, M. D., Marion, Ind.
H. JAMESON, M. D., Indianapolis, Ind.
J. N. HURTY, M. D., Phar. D., Sec'y., Indianapolis, Ind.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup.,' It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expector ation, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. many years by all druggists in the world. Sample bottles at O. P. RABER'S, Corunna.

—During the year 1899, 102 men were paroled from the Northern prison. There were 92[illegible] applications for [illegible] of whom 18 were rejected and 5 continued for further investigation.

"Little Drops of Water,
Little Grains of Sand,
Make the Mighty Ocean
And the Pleasant Land."

How often have these words been spoken without a thought as to their meaning? How few people realize the real value of the moral attached to them? By far the larger part of Success in life depends upon our ability to "watch" the little things.

Success in business is no exception to the rule. We exercise the same care in selecting an article to sell for 10c as we do in selecting one to sell for $10.00. We show the same appreciation of a 10c sale as we do of a larger one.

We are as careful in our recommendation of a 5c calico as we are in a high class of dress patterns. You can depend upon what we tell you. Couple these facts with our well-known reputation for closeness in price, and doesn't it look reasonable to you that we are justly entitled to our greatly increasing trade? This week we are showing many new spring Dress Goods, Ladies' Silk Waists, Suits and Capes. New Clothing, Hats, Neckwear and Carpets, which we are very anxious to have you see.

We Are Saving You Money

SCHAAB & BRO.

From the Philippines.

Thomas Elliott has received quite an interesting letter from his old comrade Alex MacDonald, who is now with the American army in the Philippines. We are permitted to publish the letter which was dated at Manila January 6. He says:

Well, Tom I am "up against the real thing now." I am still about fifteen miles from the firing line, not close enough to get hurt; but guard comes so often, and there is no fooling during guard duty. I have only been getting two nights in since we struck this place. The place is under martial law, and no one is allowed on the streets after 8:30 p. m. Call to quarters is sounded at 8:15 and taps at 8:30, so you know I do not keep late hours when I am not on guard. Woe be unto the man who breaks the curfew law.

I have a friend, with whom I served six months in the First artillery, who was captured some time ago by the Filipinos. He was a prisoner about two months when the town in which he was kept surrendered to the Americans. I saw him today for the first time since he went on the firing line, and he says $5,000 would not induce him to undergo the same experience again. I received your letter yesterday while on guard. Say, old boy, if you still smoke cigarettes you could get your money's worth here—2,400 of them for 50 cents. Cigars such as sell for five cents in the states can be bought for $1 per hundred. Everybody here (excepting myself and some others) smokes cigarettes—men, women and children alike. One dollar of United States money is worth two of the money in common use here (Mexican.) One can ride on the street car, which is drawn by horses, pay an American nickel and get change enough to buy a package of twenty-five cigarettes. Some wine sells for three cents per glass, and there is a native drink called beeno one can get enough of for twenty-five cents to put three or four white men out of business. Now I do not know these things from experience; I am only telling you what I have learned from observation.

If you hear anyone say that there are many pretty girls in Manila you can put it down as all wrong, or else I am no judge. I have seen but two or three that looked at all sweet, and they were Americans' daughters or wives of some of the officers.

I have no idea when it will be our turn to go "nigger hunting" on the firing line. I am not over-anxious myself, because I know from what I have seen that it is no boys' play. If I should happen to go the way of many good soldiers you may see my name in the Army and Navy Journal, which makes note of deceased enlisted men and of officers dead or alive. If the above never happens you will hear from me again some time.—ALEX MACDONALD, Corporal Battery A, Sixth Artillery.

The Mortuary Record.

Miss Collora Johnson of near St. Joe died at the home of her brother, U. S. Johnson, on East Ninth street, about midnight last night. She came here a week ago to visit her brother and the next morning was taken sick with a cold which resulted in congestion of the lungs. The deceased was a bright, lovable girl and aged about 18 years. The interment will take place Thursday at the St. Joe cemetery, conducted by Weicht & Cutler, and the funeral services will be held at Fairview church Sunday at 10:30. Miss Johnson leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her untimely death.

Mrs. Harriet Shoemaker, whose illness has been mentioned in the COURIER died at her home in this city at 8:10 this morning. A post-mortem examination was made this forenoon and we learn that the cause of death was cancer of the liver, from which Mrs. Shoemaker had long been a sufferer. The funeral will be held Friday.

Bad Accident at Garrett.

The COURIER received a telephone message from Louis J. Gengler at Garrett this morning stating that Dr. Browand of that place had been badly burned in a fire at the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Thomas. It seems that the doctor was starting a fire in the kitchen stove when Mrs. Thomas attempted to accelerate matters by using kerosene. She got hold of the gasoline can instead, and an explosion resulted, the burning fluid being thrown upon Dr. Browand. He ran into the yard and rolled himself over in the snow, but was so terribly burned before the flames could be extinguished that the flesh and skin dropped off his body in several places. Part of the house was destroyed before the fire department could be called.

County Meeting.

The democratic committeemen met at the office of 'Squire Walter, at 2. p. m. with a large attendance. C. C. Walter was re-elected county chairman; J. M. Millman of Concord, vice chairman; John C. Lochner, secretary; E. P. Fitzgerald of Garrett, treasurer. The proceedings were harmonious. At the close, Judge Henchenbrunner addressed the meeting.

Doubly Surprised.

Last evening the A. O. U. W. lodge met as usual in their lodge room and had gone through the "order of business" as far as the "good of the order," when the entertainment committee was called upon, and instead of responding with a literary treat, retired to the anteroom and proceeded to supply the waiting crowd with popcorn, peanuts and candy. We had only begun to regale ourselves on the luxuries, when in marched twenty or thirty of the Degree of Honor ladies, and they too were supplied with refreshments. After these were partaken of, the good sisters announced that they had another surprise awaiting us, and invited us to step over in the Red Men's hall. The keen observer in passing through the anteroom (though instructed to look neither right or left) could not help but notice a repast spread out "fit for a king." Entering the hall we were seated at tables where each found a beautiful (?) valentine. The ladies then proceeded to serve us hungry mortals with the delicious repast aforementioned, to which it is needless to say all did ample justice. The sterner sex then proceeded to serve the ladies with "the leavins," and the amount being small did not take them long to put it out of sight. All then repaired to the A. O. U. W. hall, and C. E. Emanuel being chosen toast master, opened up in a neat little speech full of wit and humor, and then called on Brother Beadle for remarks. This gentleman having put himself outside of three suppers was "too full for utterance," but managed to stammer out a few words. Brother R. C. Baxter was next called upon and responded in his pleasant, inimitable manner, which brought a round of applause. Little Sidney Farmer was next introduced, and it is needless to say, held her audience spellbound with her eloquent rendition of "The Rum Traffic." She being long and loudly encored, responded with "The Destiny of Woman," which was also vigorously applauded. The ladies also were called on for speeches, and their remarks attested the fact that they too could "talk in meetin." So ended a jolly evening.—E. D. B.

Reversed the Decision.

The supreme court yesterday reversed the decision rendered in the DeKalb circuit court in the case of Hiram ("Skip") Barnhart. He went to prison under an indeterminate sentence of two to fourteen years for stealing meat the particulars of which are familiar to our people. Barnhart, with Booth and Johns, was arrested, the latter two pleading guilty. The grounds for the reversal of the case have not been learned, but we understand Attorney General Taylor's brief speech was favorable to Barnhart.

—Great Britain is fortunate in not being compelled to pay ferry charges for the numerous rivers her soldiers are compelled to cross and re-cross.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

WASHINGTON

FIRST IN AMERICAN HEARTS.

IT is impossible at this day to add anything of a new character to the account of men and events of a hundred years and more ago, for the field of history, in so far as it relates to the American revolution and the men who were representative in its accomplishment, has been well explored and voluminously expounded by hundreds of men equal to the task. Nor is there a school child of 10 years in all this country, who has not written his essay on these same men and events, so that their history is in-burned in the minds of all Americans. Yet this is one of the hopeful signs of the disposition of a great people towards those who called its nation into existence. And of the leader of all those courageous men, the one who before all others carried to an astonishing and successful achievement the herculean labors of bringing victorious a handful of ragged and untrained soldiers through the darkness of a struggle with one of the most powerful countries on earth, certainly nothing now needs be said.

As a young man, Washington was probably no less flippant and worldly than hundreds of others in the colonies. His manners, which have been thought extraordinary in their courtliness, were probably not the slightest bit more so than those of the majority of his acquaintances. He was not free from the faults of men of his time. He was accustomed to methodical exactness from his experience on his mother's plantation and to her he no doubt owed many of the traits which afterwards stood him in such good stead. From his school teachers, William Hobby, who was also the church sexton, and Thomas Williams, he learned to read and to write as well as to understand the art of computation. The latter of the two also gave him the rudiments of surveying which served as much as any other one thing to develop him into the general of the American forces. For it was on account of his knowledge of this science that he spent three of his years of early manhood in the wilds of the forests, running lines, determining levels, fixing boundaries. His wages at this time were sufficient to enable him to purchase large pieces of that trackless wilderness bordering on streams, which were afterwards of great value, thus developing his insight and shrewdness as a business man. But the lesons that he learned from that rugged nature in the solitary hours, were priceless, and the constitution that was hardened by his life in the woods enabled him in after years to endure untold strains of exposure and suffering, to rescue Braddock after that general's defeat by the French, to conceive the crossing of the Delaware on that bleak and cheerless December night, to undergo Valley Forge and to emerge from them all, the modest, self-contained, reserved gentleman. It was because of his knowledge of the ways of the forest that he was sent on that seemingly needless errand to warn the French off English territory in the winter of 1753-54, on which he quitted himself well and learned his first lessons in practical warfare. The next year he was chosen to go with Braddock on his ill-fated expedition against the French. Here it was that Washington learned for the first time, that Americans were of just as good stuff as Englishmen, that they could fight just as bravely as the seasoned veterans of the mother country. For it was through the efforts of the "bush-whacking" Virginians that Braddock's force escaped entire destruction. The colonists knew better than did Braddock that the evolutions of the parade ground were of no avail in the sort of warfare in which they were at that time engaged. The physical strain undergone by Washington at this time was extraordinary. From the ninth to the sixteenth of that July, he had little sleep, walking and riding, sometimes all night long through the forest, and succeeding in bringing up some support for Braddock's retreating army. He was then 25 years old. In the course of that one expedition he had seen enough to give him an unconquerable faith in the valor and abilities of his fellow colonists. This faith, it may have been, that so upheld him through the dark hours of defeat and intrigue, when his army well nigh perished from lack of food and clothing.

Washington had no idea, even when the colonies were being greatly roused over the injustice of their treatment by England, that the end would be war. He did not desire war. And it was only when there was no other way to decide the momentous question of principle that he set his heart on hostilities. The courage of the man in accepting the position of commander-in-chief which was offered to him by the assembly was sublime. The mother country could send hundreds of thousands of trained soldiers against the colonists; her ships ruled the seas. On the other hand, the colonists were a few thousands, undisciplined in any warfare except that against the Indians; their resources were comparatively insignificant. It seems as if there could have been but one outcome. But Washington modestly undertook the task, refusing first any money remuneration for the services he might render. And then his sagacity as a commander began to display itself. Quietly did he collect stores and ammunition and prepare for the struggle. The retreats which he managed in the following years were almost as inspiring as the victories he planned. His must be a waiting game to a great extent, and how well he played it history tells. He compelled England to recognize the trouble as more than a mere insurrection and secured thus the rights of civilized warfare.

How great the odds were against Gen. Washington can never be rightly estimated. Time and again was his army on the point of dissolving away. There were many true hearts in the Congress; but there were many, also, who still leaned a little towards England, fearing that the new order of things would never be successful. There was only a half-hearted support for the commander-in-chief. Jealousy inspired officers to scheme against him. Money was often scarce and sometimes not to be had. His men were sometimes without food, barefooted, and half clothed. Through all these trying years Gen. Washington had to rely mainly on himself. His volume of correspondence was enormous. Thousands of letters did he write, urging Congress, the governors, the influential men of the colonies to take this or that step, to raise men or money, to help on the work. He was the revolution. Almost always he had perfect control of his temper, which was by no means mild, and over his passions and his positive, aggressive spirit. But sometimes the overwhelming injustice of his treatment by Congress must have been a sore temptation to him. And when he watched the intrepid Hamilton dash on to victory in the redoubts at Yorktown he must have felt the weight of the heavy burden he was bearing rise from his great heart so that it beat the faster, for he knew that should Cornwallis surrender the war would probably result victoriously for the American arms.

The same quiet, firm, far-seeing character led him through the years of his life after he had laid down his sword. When he stepped out of the position of commander-in-chief of the victorious army, asking no reward, and quietly returned to the privacy of his own home, he foreshadowed the character of the nation he had so largely helped to make. It should be a nation of itself, not dependent on England or any other country under the globe for its customs or its policy. It was to embody principles hitherto unheard of in the annals of history. It was even in the distant future to take upon itself the yoke of a burdened and oppressed people, to free them from their oppression and to give them back their country with no thought of price or advantage. And yet this was a man.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

NEWS TRAVELED SLOWLY.

Washington Was in the Tomb Two Days Before New York Knew It.

Had George Washington lived and died at the close of the present century instead of the last his death would have been known at all four corners of the globe inside two or three hours, whereas it was not known that he had passed away for several days afterward. Even in Philadelphia, the old capital of the United States, where the Sixth Congress had just assembled, it was not known that Washington was dead until Dec. 16—two days afterward.

News traveled slowly in those days; cable, telegraph, telephone and postal facilities were an unknown quantity, and it took days and weeks to transmit information then, where seconds and minutes figure now in this rapid age of invention and improvement.

The Alexandria Times was the first newspaper to announce Washington's death, printing on Monday, Dec. 16, a single paragraph obituary, thus: "It is our painful duty first to announce to our country and to the world the death of Gen. George Washington. This mournful event occurred last Saturday evening about 11 o'clock. On the previous night he was attacked with a violent inflammatory affliction in his throat, which in less than twenty-four hours put a period to his life."

The New York papers did not get the news of Washington's death until Dec. 19, and it was four days later when the Boston papers published their first information. President Adams issued a proclamation advising all citizens to wear crape on the left arm for thirty days and setting apart Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, as a day when special services in honor of Washington should be held.

New York paid its tribute to the departed President on Dec. 31. No carts, carriages or horseback riders were allowed in the streets through which the funeral procession passed on the way to St. Paul's Church, where Gov. Morris delivered the funeral oration and Bishop Samuel Provost conducted the religious services.

Washington's Last Words.

Although some statements have been made by early biographers of Washington to the effect that he was bled to death by his attending physician, Dr. Craik, there was never any foundation for the accusations.

Washington was only ill two days, having exposed himself to the inclemency of the weather on Thursday, Dec. 12. He became violently ill on the following day and expired between 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday night, his death being directly due to a cold in his throat and lungs. The room in which Washington died in his Mount Vernon home is one of the most interesting portions of the colonial residence of the first President.

Washington's last words spoken to Dr. Craik were: "I am just going. Have me decently buried and do not let my body be put into the vault in less than three days after I am dead."

WASHINGTON'S LAST YEARS.

Ideally Happy Were the Great Statesman and His Wife.

At the time of his retirement to Mount Vernon, after the expiration of his term as President, "the tall figure of Washington was only slightly bent, and he was still supposed to weigh upward of two hundred pounds," writes William Perrine of "The Last Years of Washington's Life," in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Excepting his gray hair and his false teeth, and some trouble in hearing, there was little of the usual appearance of age in his muscular person, his gait and his strong, pock-marked face. He was affable and merry with his best friends, but while he had the true hospitality of a Southern gentleman in inviting every visitor from a distance to his table or to a bed over night, his politeness was generally formal. Yet if he particularly enjoyed the conversation of a guest he would pay him the compliment of listening to him until after 9 o'clock, or even of lighting him with the candle to a bedroom for the night. Mrs. Washington at this time was a healthy, pleasant and unostentatious little woman, still showing traces of good looks and with seldom any other thought than of playing respectably her role of mistress of the house of a country gentleman, of caring for the negroes, or of amusing herself with her knitting. She had great pride in her receipt for making 'cherry bounce,' and on a midsummer day she cut out thirty-two pairs of breeches for the men working on the farm. She had said that she and the general felt like children just released from school when he left the presidency, and she told of her satisfaction in settling down again to the 'duties of an old-fashioned Virginia housekeeper, steady as a clock, busy as a bee, and cheerful as a cricket.'"

WASHINGTON'S HEADQUARTERS

New Jersey House Made Famous by the Father of His Country.

Four miles from Princeton, N. J., stands one of the historic houses of the country. It is the Berrian farm house, made famous by the fact that it was occupied by Washington as his headquarters during a part of the revolution. He lived there during the time that Congress held its sessions at Princeton and here Mrs. Washington entertained the notables of the land. The house has recently been overhauled by patriotic women. It contains many mementos of the patriot and is visited annually by hundreds of persons.

WASHINGTON'S HEADQUARTERS, ROCKY HILL, N. J.

Washington in French Eyes.

Eugene Robert, in the Revue Chretienne, the leading French religious monthly, has an excellent article on the life and character of the great American who is not nearly as well known in France as is Franklin, but whose life contains many lessons for the French. The tales he tells of Washington during the war and of the simple nature that refused a higher office than that of the President must seem astounding to his readers. M. Robert says that two grand sentiments were the soul of Washington's life, an ardent love for the fatherland, to which he sacrificed all, and his invariable fidelity to duty, in which he was uninfluenced by considerations of friendship or by the fear of enemies. The secret of his character is found in faith, for he had faith in his cause, his people, their future, and in God. That gave him a confidence that brought him victory in peace as well as in war.

POLITICS OF THE DAY

WHITHER ARE WE DRIFTING?

"That we are on the shoals of adversity is made plain by the New Orleans Times-Democrat. It punctures the bubble of prosperity and gives a resume of the causes which are bringing the nation to certain ruin.

"The present industrial status in the United States is a striking illustration of the aphorism that 'things are not what they seem;' for, as a matter of fact, the magnates of the trusts are taking advantage of the prosperity that followed in the wake of the higher prices of grain in the Leiter year to rivet the fetters of producer and consumer alike. In truth, the entire organism of our economic and political life is undergoing a metamorphosis which will not be apparent to the general eye, until the cycle of events shall have once more made the masses of a critical temper. The average man has neither inclination nor leisure for philosophical investigation. From emptiness of stomach, as a rule, comes the fullness of heart, out of which the mouth speaketh.

"In every direction one sees certain tendencies at work. In the first place, the control of capital is passing into fewer and fewer hands. Giant corporations seek to establish monopolies in various lines of trade. With each sunset the individual is of lighter weight in the balances of life, the will of the multimillionaire being thrown into the opposite scale, after the historic fashion of the sword of Brennus. Doctrines of absolutism are boldly preached which would not have been endured, a decade ago. It is contended, indeed, that the average American stands in direst want of a guardian, and that the trusts respond to the need, as the scabbard protects the blade from the rust. Russell Sage maintains the thesis, in its baldest form, but the monopoly's real weapons of precision are forged in the silence of academic retreats."

Democratic Success.

The Washington Times thus disturbs the brilliant dreams of imperialism indulged in by the Republican ostrich, which hides its head in the bushes and thinks it conceals its whole ungainly body:

"Mr. William J. Bryan will take his seat in the White House on March 4, 1901, standing on a platform which will mean laws rehabilitating silver in its legal tender power at the ratio of sixteen to one, the destruction of trusts, and a total collapse of the expansion movement.

"The evidence in support of these statements is contained in the following truths which we beg to present for President McKinley's most distinguished consideration:

"(1) The vast majority of the American people, Democrats and Republicans alike, believe in national expansion, but not in imperialism.

"(2) The American people believe in putting an end to all monopolies and trusts in restraint of trade.

"(3) The American people demand that the triple alliance which now exists, with every prospect of its rapid enlargement, between the national banks, the trusts, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall be dissolved.

"(4) The American people, including Democrats in the South not more than Republicans in the New England, Middle, and Western States, resent the thought of any attempt on the part of the Federal Government to interfere with the rights of the citizens of the various States absolutely to control their local affairs."

Concealing the Evidence.

Secretary Gage informs the Senate that if a reply to the famous Hepburn letter was ever made no trace of it can be found on the files of the department, and it is his belief that no written or verbal answer ever was made. This is no doubt the case, and yet Mr. Gage made a very substantial indirect reply when he proceeded thereafter to load down the City Bank with treasury-deposit favors. After being reminded by Mr. Hepburn that the names in the directory of the City Bank would show what claims to treasury consideration the bank had upon the administration party, Mr. Gage would have done better to drop the bank from his list of special depositories and fiscal agents of the government once and for all. His failure to do so only serves to create a public suspicion that there must have been a good deal of basis to the claims referred to by Hepburn.—Springfield Republican.

Rather Embarrassing.

In the midst of Republican prosperity it is rather embarrassing for them to contemplate a strike of 40,000 miners, who have for months been begging the coal operators of Pennsylvania to grant them living wages. The coal operators are too busy making profits for the trust interests and have refused to even confer with the miners. The men have a national organization and have about concluded that if it is a question of starving anyhow they may as well go on a strike and see how that extreme measure will appeal to those who are reaping the profits from their labor.—Sioux Falls Press.

Hanna Demands Pay from Banks.

I must impress upon you the exceeding importance of the immediate furnishing of money. The Democrats are already at work. We are employing men to counteract their influence. Only by the utmost assiduity can the truly prosperous condition of the United States be made continually apparent.

Now is the time for the merchants and manufacturers and bankers of the country to get their armor on.—Mark Hanna to Philadelphia convention committee, Jan. 13, 1900.

Would Do Anything.

The Republicans would vote against the Ten Comamndments and the Lord's prayer if they were presented by a Democrat or if they were made an issue by Democrats. At a meeting of the society known as the Sons of the Revolution held at Cincinnati the Republicans happened to have a majority of the members present, and when that indefatigable Democrat, Col. W. A. Taylor, presented a resolution reaffirming that part of the Declaration of Independence which declares that all men are created free and equal and possess certain inalienable rights, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, etc., the Republicans present actually voted down the resolution by laying it on the table.—Champaign (Ohio) Democrat.

Nicaragua Canal.

Democrats in Congress should oppose the Republican scheme to make the Nicaragua canal a means of weakening instead of strengthening the power of this country. By binding the United States not to fortify the canal it becomes a menace and not a protection.

The New York Journal puts the case concisely and strongly when it says: "A Nicaragua canal open to our warships and closed to those of our enemies would double our naval strength. A Nicaragua canal that would let the fleets of Europe through to attack either coast of the United States at their pleasure would double the strength of our enemies."

As a matter of fact, the Republicans wish to surender all the strategic benefits of the canal to the powers of Europe and especially to England. If Nicaragua is willing to give this country the right to construct the canal and at the same time to fortify it, no European nation has any right to interfere.

It is enough for this country to grant foreign powers the use of the canal in times of peace. It is criminal folly to spend millions of dollars to put this nation in the power of great foreign navies in times of war. The canal should be free to the ships of other nations for all commercial purposes, but it should be fortified and held inviolate for the use of our own navy in times of war.

Total Depravity.

While the administration is mumbling vague threats of the terrible things it will do to American citizens if they don't stop daring to think; and the newspaper lackeys howl that the people who protest against war are the only ones to blame for it—these troubled gentlemen are forgetting the chief offender. They want to get after the Declaration of Independence, and "proceed against" it, and exclude it from the mails, and let us know what a seditious, copper-head, traitorous document it is. And then the constitution, which is about as wicked. For these two old-fashioned papers have done more to "encourage the Filipinos" than all the anti-imperial speeches of to-day—just as they inspired Mexico, Central America, Peru, Chile and all the other mainland colonies to revolt from Spain; just as they to-day inspire the people who protest against a war of conquest. These wicked manifestos of human rights should be suppressed! They make trouble, at home and abroad—for those who violate them. Let us wipe them out and tie to Commerce and Chances for American Capital!—Wilmington (Del.) Justice.

Turn on the Light.

There seems to be no relenting in the purpose of the Republican majority in the House and Senate to protect Secretary Gage from that full and searching inquiry which his suspicious connection with the Standard Oil bank demands. Every possible method of delay or of hushing it up has been resorted to, until the people of the whole country must be convinced that there is behind the correspondence which the secretary has already made public something of a nature that would be ruinous to the administration if exposed.

Looking at the matter from a purely political standpoint, Democrats might properly be satisfied with the situation. Nothing is more dangerous to a political party than a reputation for secrecy and concealment. But partisanship aside, it is necessary that the nation should know exactly to what extent Mr. John D. Rockefeller and his associates in that monster corporation do control the treasury, and it is to be hoped that the Democrats in both House and Senate will abate nothing of their efforts to force full publicity.

Apologizing for Trusts.

It is amusing to see the administration organs apologizing for the trusts with one breath and kicking against the extortionate price—at an advance of from 40 to 60 per cent.—charged for print paper by the paper trust. A trust is a good thing so long as it confines its squeezing attentions to some other fellow.—Los Angeles Herald.

Party of Law and Order.

The Democratic party is the party of law, order, patriotism and genuine morality, as its conduct in 1876, when the Republicans stole the Presidency, and in plenty of other emergencies has shown. The Republican party also believes in law, order, patriotism and morality, as virtues which others should cultivate.—Albany Argus.

Makes a Hot Issue.

The anarchy and assassination which prevail in our suffering sister commonwealth are the evidences of what Republican rule is in the South. We don't believe our States will need any other issue during the coming Presidential election.—Knoxville, Tenn., Sentinel.

Government by Force.

Government by force and by assassination is being tried in this country earlier than had been expected by even those of us who contend that government by force in the Philippines will result in government by force in this country.—Joplin (Mo.) Globe.

It Means Something.

Instructions that come directly from the people are the most to be desired. When the people meet in mass conventions and send instructed delegates to a convention it means something.—Olney (Ill.) Times.

LET US ALL LAUGH.

JOKES FROM THE PENS OF VARIOUS HUMORISTS.

Pleasant Incidents Occurring the World Over—Sayings that Are Cheerful to Old or Young—Funny Selections that You Will Enjoy.

"You claim you were insane when you proposed to Miss Autumnleaf," said the lawyer to his client, who posed as the defendant in a breach-of-promise suit. "Can you prove it?"

"No proof will be required," replied the victim of circumstances.

"Why not?" asked the limb of the law.

"Because," answered the other, "the minute the jury gets a glimpse of the plaintiff's face the case will be dismissed."

Love's Young Dream.

She (on their wedding tour)—What is the whistle blowing for, dearest?

He—I don't know, darling; but it must be for either a station or a tunnel.

She—Oh, I do hope it's a tunnel.

Editorial Comment.

"Poor old Jones, the grocer, died early this morning," said the village editor's better half.

"Huh!" exclaimed the local opinion molder, "he's been dead for years."

"Been dead for years!" echoed the astonished wife. "Why, what do you mean?"

"Just what I said," replied the v. e. "Any man in business who doesn't advertise is a dead one."

Not Particular.

Brown—I hear Jones is looking around for new quarters.

Smith—Oh, I guess he isn't particular about their newness. He borrowed an old one from me this morning.—New York World.

Out of the Ordinary.

Bilkins—Do you remember that freckle-faced, snub-nosed Ellen Brown that used to go to school with us?

Bivens—I never thought she was freckle-faced or snub-nosed. I always thought she was pretty. What became of her?

Bilkins—I married her. Glad to know that you took my view of her. It's a pleasure to get ahead of these joke writers once in a while.—Omaha World-Herald.

Wedded to Realism.

"See here," said the stage manager, "your manuscript calls for a different servant girl in each act. That means three salaries where one would be sufficient. Why not have one servant girl?"

"My dear fellow," replied the playwright, "you forget that I am a realist. Two weeks are supposed to elapse between each act."—Philadelphia Press.

Dis man ain' much fo' drinkin', but it looks powful like he'd hab to git along to-night wif nothin' but a cocktail.

Very Remarkable.

Quinn—That's a strange case.

DeFonte—What?

Quinn—Why, Jones has a cold in his head and he can't think about anything but ice.

A Safe Inference.

Nodd—We haven't much of a dinner to-night, but you're welcome.

Todd—How do you know what you are going to have?

Nodd—Well, we had roast beef yesterday.—Puck.

BETTER IN THE END.

Carrye—They say she has given up advocating "woman's rights."
Cholly—Yes. She goes in for "women's lefts."
Carrye—What are they?
Cholly—Widowers.

Joys of Matrimony.

Wife—I met an old acquaintance to-day, Mr. Meeker. You remember he was your rival for my hand.

Husband—Yes; I hate that man.

Wife—You shouldn't hate him just because he used to love me.

Husband—Oh, that isn't the reason. I hate him because he didn't marry you.

Cautious.

"Do you think a prize fighter has a right to call himself a gentleman?"

"Er—there isn't one within hearing, is there?"—Indianapolis Press.

How It Happened.

"So she ran away with him?"

"I think she did. From what I have seen of him I don't think he had gumption enough to run away with her."—Chicago Post.

A Lesson in Arithmetic.

Eliphalet—Uncle Ephrim, if yo' kin meck fow shirts outen three yahds, how many shirts kin yo' git from one yahd?

Uncle Ephrim—Well, honey, hit depends on whose yahd yo's in.

A Weather Prophet.

Silas Whiffle—The indications is that this is agoin' to be a hard winter.

Drummer—Are the muskrats putting in a supply of coal?

Silas Whiffle—I don't know as tew that; but our county jail is fillin' up with tramps.—Puck.

A Training School.

Meeks—Stone always speaks well of everybody.

Weeks—Merely a force of habit.

Meeks—How so?

Weeks—He's a marble cutter, and his specialty is cutting epitaphs on gravestones.

Cause for Worry.

"I'm always worried when Henry begins saving string."

"Why?"

"It makes me think he has been doing something extravagant in business."

The Responsibility.

Mr. Grumps—The Ladies' Journal says a woman should make herself as attractive to her husband after marriage as she did before.

Mrs. Grumps—Huh! My father always gave me plenty of money to make myself attractive with. You don't.—New York Weekly.

Corrected by Buttons.

When the Chicago politician adjourned to his room in the Boston hotel he immediately touched the electric button.

"Boy," said he to the youth in uniform, "bring me a pitcher of ice water. Hustle!"

"The word is foreign to us, sir. We have none."

"No ice water?"

"No, sir."

"Well, what in thunder is that pitcher for?"

"Iced water, sir. Would you try some of it?"

A Damon and Pythias Affair.

"Talk about true friendship," said the man who is just getting over the grip; "there's Smith. I've known him for over thirty years, and he's the only person of my acquaintance who never suggested an unfailing remedy."—Philadelphia Record.

They Don't Agree.

It would be a good deal easier to love our neighbor if his hobby were not chickens and ours were not flower beds.—Puck.

Love's Slaughter.

"He's dead in love with her."

"Well, do you wonder? She looks killing."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

He Didn't Know Then.

"Now, what on earth did she mean by telling him she dearly loved rainy days? Surely she didn't want him to think her sentimental?"

"Oh, no! She knew well enough that sentiment is out of date. She wanted him to get the idea that her hair curled naturally."

Promise Cheerfully Given.

Hamphat Tragicus—I give my farewell performance to-night. Will you come?

Long-suffering friend—Gladly.

Uncomfortably Expressive.

Muggins—Topnotes sings with a great deal of expression.

Buggins—I should say so. I once heard him sing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and it positively made me sick.—Philadelphia Record.

The Eyes.

In consequence of having abused our sight by over-application, or reading or writing by gas or candle light when our eyes are weary, many of us have to adopt eyeglasses at a comparatively early age. What should be done at the first sign of failing sight is to consult an oculist at once. Eyes that are weak and become bloodshot under very little strain should never be taxed severely by black and white work, whether it be in the form of needle-work, pen and ink, books or musical sight reading. Whenever the eyes feel tired, refresh them at once by closing them for a few moments and letting them rest. As green is the most restful color to the eye, let your lamp shade be green. The finest tonic for the eyes is cold water. Cold tea also makes an excellent bath for weak eyes.

The most delightful feature of a sleigh ride on a cold night is the arrival at your destination.

Some of the political complexions are not even skin deep.

I Had a Bad Cough

"I had a bad cough for six weeks and could not find any relief whatever. I read what a wonderful remedy Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was for coughs and I bought a bottle. Before I had taken a quarter of it my cough had entirely left me."—L. Hawa, Newington, Ont., May 3, 1899.

Quickly Cures Colds

Neglected colds always lead to something serious. They run into chronic bronchitis which pulls down your general health and deprives you of sleep; or they end in genuine consumption with all its uncertain results.

Don't wait, but take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral just as soon as you begin to cough. A few doses will cure you then. But it cures old colds, too, only it takes a little more time. We refer to such diseases as bronchitis, asthma, whooping-cough, consumption, and hard winter coughs.

If you've just taken cold a 25 cent bottle is all you'll need. For harder cases a 50 cent bottle is better. For chronic troubles, and to keep on hand, the $1.00 bottle is most economical.

The Moral.

Sunday School Teacher—When the bad children called the old man "baldhead" the bears came out of the woods and ate them up! What does that teach us?

Scholar—To always climb a tree before calling names!—Puck.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sel it. 15c and 25c.

Supply and Demand.

"She pays her butler $5,000 a year."

"Yes, there are so few butlers who are really competent and yet look less important than her husband."—Detroit Journal.

Rich To-Day, Poor Yesterday.

Choice building lots given away free of cost for the land to advertise new American Colony on southern coast of Cuba. Plantations for sale on your own terms. $200 to $5,000 cleared yearly per acre. Send for free beautifully illustrated book all about Cuba. City and Suburban Investment Co., 253 Broadway, New York.

Not His Fault.

Mother—Willie, why didn't you come to me sooner? I've called you four times.

Willie—I only heard you twict.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

No erratic genius has yet come forward with "The Dreams of a Bulldozer."

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Some men should be harbored and others kept at bay.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets will be accepted for passage on trains of the Nickel Plate Road on and after Feb. 10th.

A Million Women have been relieved of female troubles by Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.

The letters of a few are printed regularly in this paper.

If any one doubts the efficiency and sacredly confidential character of Mrs. Pinkham's methods, write for a book she has recently published which contains letters from the mayor of Lynn, the postmaster, and others of her city who have made careful investigation, and who verify all of Mrs. Pinkham's statements and claims.

The Pinkham claims are sweeping. Investigate them.

THIRTY YEARS OF CURES

A MINER'S LUCK.

He Came Pretty Near to Making a Big Strike.

"It is mostly all luck in the mining business," said H. A. Frederick, a Klondiker from Seattle, "and that gold is where you find it is a surer proposition than any specification of a mining expert. Let me give you a couple of instances. In the winter of '97 I was working near Gold Hill in the El Dorado district and one Sunday I was at the cabin of Dr. Carper of my town, who was treating a lame shoulder I had. After the professional part of the call was over, the doctor and I, who are old friends, were talking of mining, he being in it himself more than doctoring, and I told him we ought to go over on the opposite hill, next to a claim worked by a man named Lancaster, and stake off a couple of claims. But he would not have it my way at all, and insisted that if there was any gold there, somebody would have claimed the territory which did not have a stake on it except Lancaster's. I listened to him and we didn't stake a claim, but in June following the doctor paid $10,000 for four claims, each 100 feet square, on the same site, and out of thirty-two square feet of one of them he took $22,000, and he is still working them. That same year, at Christmas he was feeling pretty good, and the day before Christmas he told his brother and a couple of men who were working for him that he wanted to give them a Christmas present, and they could go into the mine and get a panful of dirt for whatever it might be worth. The three took him up, and went hunting for the richest dirt they could find. One of them didn't want to act the hog, he said, but he overcame his scruples and got into the richest ground, as the others did, and when they had panned their selections, one man got $32, one got $113, and the brother hit it for $164. Think of that for a panful, when a man can get rich at it if it pays him a dollar a pan regularly. The pay streak in this mine is seven feet thick and in places the gold actually glitters in the gravel."

"But I am getting ahead of my story. On the following Sunday I was with the doctor again, and I called his attention to another unoccupied hillside where he could stake claims, and again the doctor turned me down. He insisted that I was throwing away my right in the district to stake a claim in that locality, and for a second time I listened to him. On the same spot that season a luckier man took $50,000 out of his claim and afterward sold it for $60,000. The claim, I finally got did not lose me any money, but I didn't get any big winnings, as I might have got if my luck and my nerve had been with me."—Washington Star.

GIVES AWAY HIS INCOME.

A Reading Physician Whose Profits Go to Church and Charity.

Dr. Isaac Detweiler, of Reading, Pa., is probably the only physician in the world who gives every dollar derived from his practice of medicine to the church and charity. For over ten years he has been doing this, although it was not generally known. Dr. Detweiler celebrated his seventieth birthday anniversary this week.

DR. DETWEILER.

Dr. Detweiler has lived in Reading thirty-six years. When starting out in life he made a vow that as he prospered in his profession or business he would give a certain percentage to the cause of religion and charity. He has done so. More than ten years ago he made another vow that whatever income he might derive thereafter from his practive of medicine would be given in these good causes. The amount of money he has given since then aggregates tens of thousands. Although today not considering himself an active practitioner, his receipts from his profession last year amounted to probably $140 a month, all of which was or will be donated to religious and charitable purposes.

During the Spanish-American war he contributed $225 for the purchase of Bibles and testaments for the soldiers, and he paid for much other religious literature that was sent to them.

A Child's Vocabulary.

"The language which the child of six employs is apt to be the basis of his speech throughout life," is the theory advanced by an observant physician writing in the Woman's Home Companion. "We cannot separate from words the ideas for which they stand; thus what might at first appear to be merely an educational matter is also a serious moral problem. The writer retains a tolerably clear recollection of his own boyhood, and he has enjoyed the intimate acquaintance of many young children. From this experience he would express the opinion that a very small minority of children at the age of eight can be considered 'innocent,' and that a very considerable minority of boys of five can swear fluently, and use a shockingly copious stock of objectionable words. By making a hermit of a child we can postpone for a few years the inevitable contact with the coarser manifestations of human nature, but he will then very likely be ashamed, by his very lack of proficiency in evil, into greater assiduity in acquiring the fruit of the tree of knowledge. We have built up a special code of ethics for children with a vocabulary to match."

An Elastic Currency.

"What we need is an elastic currency," said Mr. Geezer, who was elucidating the money question to his wife.

"Then, why doesn't the government print banknotes on thin sheets of rubber?" demanded Mrs. Geezer, with the air of one who has solved a mighty problem.—Harper's Bazar.

Church Cats.

There exists in Naples a race of cats which live in churches. They are kept and fed by the authorities on purpose to eat the mice which infest all old buildings there. The animals may often be seen walking about among the congregation, or sitting gravely before the altar during the time of mass.

Willie—Now that sister is going to marry Mr. Jenks why is it called an "engagement,' pa? Mr. Underthum—Probably because the real battle comes later, my son.—Philadelphia Press.

LEGEND OF SABLE ISLAND.

Woman in White—Bleeding Forefinger—And Ring Sold in Halifax.

"One of the grimmest legends of Sable Island dates from the wreck of the Amelia; and there is enough evidence of truth connected with it to show what bloody deeds were added on that occasion to the terrors of shipwreck. Captain Torrens, who commanded the gunboat which was dispatched to Sable Island after the wreck of the Amelia, was one of the survivors of the second disaster. A passenger on the lost transport was Lady Copeland, on her way to join her husband. The captain of the gunboat had been told that she wore on her forefinger a ring of peculiar artifice.

The story has it that Capt. Torrens, wandering over the island one night in search of possible survivors, was attracted by the piteous whining of his dog in front of a small, open shelter, known to have existed at that time, but long since toppled to pieces. Approaching the shelter, he was startled to see the figure of a woman all in white and holding toward him the bleeding stump of a forefinger. While he was gazing at the apparition, it rose, silently glided past him and dove into the sea. But time and again thereafter the white woman with bleeding forefinger was seen wandering over the sandhills.

It is probably only part of the weird legend that Capt. Torrens, feeling sure that a shocking crime had been committed, tracked the guilty pirate until he discovered his family on the coast of Labrador, and learned that the ring had been sold in Halifax. It is a fact, however, that, many years after the disaster, Lady Copeland's ring was discovered in a jewelry store in Halifax and was returned to her family. From that hour her ghost has ceased to haunt the island.—Ainslee's.

Keeping Cut Flowers in Condition.

A lady who has spent a good deal of time in Japan says that she has often kept cut flowers for an abnormally long period by burning their stems with a piece of wood—not with a match, be it observed, or the sulphur would be injurious to the flower. The Japanese say that the charring process causes the water to penetrate the stem and to sustain the flower. Whatever the reason, it is satisfactory to learn that by charring the stems of chrysanthemums we may keep them in good condition for a month or six weeks.

Still on the Run.

"What do you think of the Americans?" inquired the correspondent.

"Well," yawned the Filipino, "you will find the general run——"

"Hold on! Did I ask you anything about Aguinaldo?"

Barnacles on Ocean Cables.

The recent investigations for cable laying in the Pacific Ocean have revealed the fact, that if not upon rock bottom, they become encrusted with seaweeds, heavy enough to break them. This is like dyspepsia, which grows until it breaks down the health. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure it, as well as indigestion, liver and kidney troubles.

Cause for Complaint.

Nanny—You look sick. Been eating many cans?

Billy—I ate a vest that was hanging on a fence, and it seems there was a roll in the vest pocket. The roll was too green to be fresh.

"Look Before You Leap."

If a dealer attempts to sell you a substitute when you ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla, his only object is to make more profit on the substitute, which is always inferior and unsatisfactory. Therefore be sure to get Hood's.

Scrofula—"For years I had scrofula sores on my back. I took many medicines without avail and thought I could not be cured. Then I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it entirely cured me. My health is now perfect. I am a trained nurse, and recommend Hood's for all blood diseases." J. D. Torrey, 46 W. Main Street, Fredonia, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Prices 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Specifications Called For.

"Yes, that is Dr. Blogg's."

"Allopath, homeopath, horse or divinity?"—Indianapolis Journal.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. Druggists sell the 50c. size; Trial size by mail, 10 cents. Test it and you are sure to continue the treatment.

Announcement.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

Some people are never missed until they are dismissed.

Rape, Speltz, Bromus.

Most remarkable trio. Will make a farmer rich despite himself if he plants a plenty. Salzer's catalog tells. Send 10c and this notice for samples of above and big catalog. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. C N U

Home Seekers's Excursion

Via the Nickel Plate Road to points in West, Northwest and Southwest, on March 6th, 1900. One fare plus $2.00 for round trip. Tickets available on above date good returning within 21 days. See agents.

NICE OLD QUAKER LADY

Cured of Catarrh By Peruna After 20 Years' Suffering.

MRS. POLLY EVANS, A LIFELONG FRIEND OF PERUNA.

"My wife (Polly J. Evans) says she feels entirely cured of systemic catarrh of twenty years' standing. She took nearly six bottles of thy excellent medicine, Peruna, as directed, and we feel very thankful to thee for thy kindness and advice. She did not expect to be so well as she is now. Twelve years ago it cured her of la grippe. I want to tell thee there has been a great deal of Peruna used here last winter. Peruna does not need praising. It tells for itself. We can and do recommend it to anyone that is afflicted with catarrh."

As ever thy friend, John Evans, South Wabash, Ind.

When catarrh has reached the chronic stage, of course it has gone beyond the reach of all local remedies. Nothing but a systemic remedy can reach it. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised to meet such cases. Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system. It does its work quietly but surely. It cleanses the mucous membranes of the whole body. It produces regular functions. Peruna restores perfect health in a natural way. No one should neglect to procure one of Dr. Hartman's free books on catarrh, sent free to any address by the Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Uncertain.

"Bill, I'd like to be a mind-reader jest now."

"What's up?"

"See that high-hat swell in de crowd? Well, he keeps on puttin' his hand over his heart. Has he got heart trouble or is dere a wallet on de inside pocket?"

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

One man is probably just as good as another, but he usually considers himself a little better.

In a great many cases of Asthma, Piso's Cure for Consumption will give relief that is almost equal to a cure. 25 cents.

Don't swallow your food before you chew it; it's unhealthy.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets.

The Nickel Plate Road has become a member of the Mileage Ticket Bureau of the Central Passenger Association, and all mileage tickets properly issued by any line a member of that bureau, are valid for use on that road on and after Feb. 10th, in the same manner as on other roads, members of that bureau.

Air Cushion Rubber Stamps—the Best—the Cheapest. Send your orders to Lock Box 219, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets are good on the Nickel Plate Road between Buffalo and Chicago or intermediate stations on or after Feb. 10th.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

CONSTIPATION CURED.

A Never Failing Remedy for Every Sufferer.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the New Specific—It's What They Do, Not What It's Said They Do, That Proves Their Merit.

It's easy to talk.

Any one can buy space in a newspaper.

Many do, and lie about their medicines. What's the use of telling a lie and getting caught at it?

Some people advertise on the principle there's a sucker born every minute.

We don't.

We don't want to do business with suckers.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic are all we claim, and sold on their merits. Failure to cure constipation means your money back. Isn't that fair?

The people appreciate our way of doing business to judge by the enormous sales of Cascarets, the ideal laxative.

Cascarets cure. That's the truth, backed by an absolute guarantee. They are agreeable to the taste, convenient in form, antiseptic and a fine intestinal tonic. They make the liver lively, prevent sour stomach, purify the blood, brace the brain and make things right as they should be.

Go buy and try Cascarets to-day. It's what they do, not what we say they'll do, that will convince you. All druggists, 10c, 25c, or 50c, or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address, Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can.; or New York.

This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

JELL-O, THE NEW DESSERT,

pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup The best remedy for Consumption. Cures Coughs, Colds, Grippe, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Asthma, Whooping-cough, Croup. Small doses; quick, sure results. Dr. Bull's Pills cure Constipation. Trial, 20 for 25c.

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

Salzer's Rape gives Rich, green feed, at 25c. a lb. Spelts—What is it? Catalog tells.

BUY NORTHERN GROWN SEEDS — FARM SEEDS — Salzer's Seeds are Warranted to Produce.

Mahlon Luther, E. Troy, Pa., astonished the world by growing 250 bushels Big Four Oats; J. Breisley, Mishkott, Wis., 175 bus. barley; and H. Lovejoy, Red Wing, Minn., by growing 230 bush. Salzer's seeds per acre. If you doubt, write them. We wish to gain 250,000 new customers, hence will send on trial

10 DOLLARS WORTH FOR 10c.

10 pkgs of rare farm seeds, Salt Bush, the 2-eared Corn—Spelts, producing 60 bush. food and 4 tons hay per acre—Brome and barley—Bromus Inermis—the greatest grass on earth; Salzer rape or Rape, Spring Wheat, &c., including our mammoth Plant, Fruit and Seed Catalog, telling all about Salzer's Great Million Dollar Potato, all mailed for 10c. postage; positively worth $10 to get a start.

Sod Potatoes $1.50 a bbl. and up.

35 pkgs earliest vegets. for 60c. Catalog alone, 5c.

Please send this adv. with 10c. to Salzer. JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LACROSSE, WIS. C.N.U.—

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.

The genuine have W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free. W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

WE USE FAST COLOR EYELETS

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 200,000 new customers, and hence offer

1 Pkg.	City Garden Beet,	10c
1 Pkg.	Early Emerald Cucumber	10c
1 "	La Crosse Market Lettuce,	15c
1 "	Sugar Drop Melon,	10c
1 "	13 Day Radish,	10c
1 "	Early Ripe Cabbage,	10c
1 "	Early Dinner Onion,	10c
5 "	Brilliant Flower Seeds,	15c
Worth $1.00,	for 14 cents.	$1.00

Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c. stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without. 1900 Prize Oats Salzer's 1900—earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.U.—JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

LAMBS' TEROAT CANDY, one of the best confections for vocalists, public speakers, etc. Send 10 cents to the Lamb Mfg. Co., Ottawa, Canada, for sample box.

Medical Book Free.

"Know Thyself," a book for men only, regular price 50 cents, will be sent free (sealed and postpaid) to any male reader of this paper, mentioning this advertisement, inclosing 6c for postage. Address the Peabody Medical Institute, 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., the oldest and best institution of its kind in New England. Write to-day for free book.

A few men seem to be under the impression that they can get ahead of Father Time by leasing their property for ninety-nine years.

Coughing Leads to Consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

Among the Egyptians embalming ceased about 700 A. D.

Eagle Linen Letter Paper and Envelopes are the proper thing. Tell your printer to use this brand on your next order.

If you hold a Central Passenger Association Mileage Ticket use it on trains of the Nickel Plate Road, on and after Feb. 10th.

1900

There is every good reason why

St. Jacobs Oil

should cure

RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA LUMBAGO SCIATICA

for the rest of the century. One penny amount reason is—it does cure.

SURELY AND PROMPTLY

Sleep for Skin-Tortured Babies

In a Warm Bath with Cuticura SOAP

And a single anointing with CUTICURA, purest of emollients and greatest of skin cures. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent, and economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp humors with loss of hair, of infants and children, and is sure to succeed when all other remedies fail.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap

Exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated or toilet soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet soap and BEST baby soap in the world.

Cuticura The Set, $1.25 Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. POTTER D. AND C. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A. "All about the Skin, Scalp, and Hair," free

PELTZ—WHAT IS IT?

It's positively the greatest cereal and straw feed on earth. Salzer says so. Yields 80 bus. richer grain than corn and 4 tons straw hay, better than timothy.

Big Four Oats—Every yield 250 bus. and yet, Mr. Farmer, we can beat that! It's the best oats on earth. Salzer says so!

8-Eared Earliest Corn will revolutionize corn growing. Salzer says so.

Bromus Inermis—Greatest grass on earth. 4 to 6 tons hay per acre. Will flourish everywhere. Salzer says so.

Rape—Greatest feed on earth for sheep, hogs and cattle. Will fatten sheep at 50 a lb. Costs but 30c. a ton to grow. Salzer says so!

Vegetables—Largest growers. Onion seed only 80c. a lb.

25 Pkgs. Earliest Vegetables, postpaid, $1.00.

THE MILLION DOLLAR POTATO

Greatest potato wonder on earth; enormously prolific; also Beautiful, the earliest potato on earth. Ripe in 85 days.

For 10c. Stamps and this Notice we send 10 pkgs. Grain, Grass and Forage Farm Seeds worth $10 to get a start, and great seed Catalog, telling you all about above Rare Seeds also over 50 kinds clovers and grasses. Tomato, Sperry, Millet, Velvet and Cow beans, tools, etc. C.N.

80 BUS. PER ACRE — 4 TON OF HAY — JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LACROSSE, WIS.

Well begun is half done. Sow well if you would reap well. Sow GREGORY'S SEEDS and reap the best results the earth can give. 1900 Catalogue free. J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Marblehead, Mass.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

CARTER'S INK Buy it of your storekeeper.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY...FEBRUARY 22, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratcic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

New Plums.

And you don't need to spray them. We refer to the new offices to be given out in our new possessions as they are organized into governments. The governor of Puerto Rico will have $10,000 a year, which is $2,000 more than our vice-president gets. He will also have the free use of the fine government palace the Spaniards built at San Juan, the capital of the island. The office is for four years. Five $4,000 positions in Puerto Rico will be those of Secretary, Attorney-General, Auditor, Commissioner of the Interior, and Commissioner of Education, each appointed by the President for four years. And about the same arrangements will be in force for the Sandwich Islands, and a large number for the Philippines. In the latter there will be a chief governor who will occupy the palace at Manila, and all the principal islands will be provided with governors, treasurers, secretaries, judges, etc. Besides these general officers, there will be a multitude of minor places, such as revenue officers at all ports. All the islands will have judges, who will get about $4,000 to $5,000 a year. Some of these offices, and most of the less important will be given to intelligent and educated natives. But our own politicians get the best plums.

The Samoan Islands.

Yesterday President McKinley signed the procamation making the formal announcement that we have acquired and taken possession of one of the Samoan or Navagator's Islands. It is the third in size there being thirteen in all. The largest, Sawaii, contains 700 square miles, and England gets that. The second in size, Upolu, contains 550 square miles, and goes to Germany. This is the most important of all, as it contains the chief city, Apia and the German interests. The third in size, Tutuila, is the one we get. It contains only 45 square miles, it is in places, five miles wide, its length being seventeen miles. We took it because it contains the harbor we bought many years ago, the best harbor in the group, Pango Pango. We want it sor a coaling station.

A Soldier in the Philippines.

ILOILO, December 30, 1899.

MY DEAR PARENTS AND FRIENDS AT HOME:—It has been a long time since I have had a chance to write to you, for we have just completed a seven weeks' campaign. We started from here Nov. 7, to get on the left of Santa Barba.

Everything went well until the 12th, when we met with a heavy fire from the enemy on the hill at our front. We at once deployed skirmishers and drove them from their entrenchments without the loss of a man. At this time we were out of rations and had to go back to the town of Leon. After staying in that town two days, we again started for Santa Barba, but before we had gone very far, we located the enemy, strongly entrenched before San Blas. The 19th took the left flank, the 26th, the center, and the 18th the right flank.

The Filipinos fought hard; they can't shoot, and when we made the charge, it was more than they could stand, and although they were higher than we were and had every advantage, they went running in every direction. Our losses were two killed and ten wounded.

It was about the same at Santa Barba, but we met with a heavier loss—ten killed and thirty-five wounded, but we are proud to say we went into that part of the country where the Spaniards never dared to go."

We had many other engagements after that, too numerous to mention, but in those cases the insurgents would fire a few shots and then retreat until Passia was reached. There we would run into an ambush and open a rapid fire to get them out of the brush. Sometimes the bullets flew pretty thick but we lost only two men. One was a major.

The Filipinos are the finest trench builders known, but on account of poor shooting they can't hold them. Put American troops in Filipino trenches and no army could dislodge them.

There will not be much more fighting on this island; the most hard fighting is at an end.

While out in the field I was fortunate enough to receive in the small amount of mail that reached us a copy of the Standard, which all the boys, as well as myself, read with great pleasure; as the news was all new to us.

As my candle is getting very low, I must close with love to all and a happy New Year. I remain your son and brother.—FRED L. NILES, Co. E, 19th Infantry.

—Freight business on the main lines of the Lake Shore road is heavier than it has been in many years. Sixty-four trains passed over the Air Line division last Saturday.

The Macrum Matter.

Consul Macrum has returned to his home at East Liverpool, O. He was our consul at Pretoria, the capitol of the Transvaal, and when war broke out, he was given the work of the British consul, as well as his own. This is the custom. The British consul had to leave, and in such cases, his duties are given to the consul of a friendly nation who can remain in safety. It will be remembered that when our consuls had to leave posts in Cuba, Puerto Rico and Spanish cities, the British consuls took their work, and the British minister at Madrid acted for our retiring minister there. At Washington, the French minister took the work of the Spanish minister, and over the country the French consuls took the work of the Spanish consuls.

But Macrum at Pretoria soon threw up his job and started for home, no one knew why, and another man was sent to fill his place. All along the long journey he gave no reasons, nor did he when he got to Washington, but waited a week or so till he had fully settled with the state department. And after that, he let it be known that he abandoned his post because the British censor at Cape Town opened his mail, read his letters from his government and kept some of them about a month.

This story, if true, is a matter of the gravest importance, for such a proceeding with the accredited diplomatic agent of a friendly nation is a gross insult, one of the worst that could be offered. Macrum not only represented a nation friendly to Great Britain, but at the time he was himself representing the British, and this gave him a double claim to respect and honorable treatment. He claims to believe that our government was acting a double part, being in a secret bargain with the British. But this is hardly reasonable. Instead of coming home, Macrum should at once have complained to our government. If such a message was not allowed to go through British channels he should have come out to some place where he could send it, and then write to see what our government would do about it. It appears that Macrum is hardly fit for the position he held. But if his story is true, our own Secretary of State is unfit for the high office to which the president has called him. The whole affair is a strange one and is to be investigated.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

Ausgeskipped.

We yesterday referred to the case of Keim and Veley, the saloon men at Waterloo, who were fined for disturbance when "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was played there. Yesterday they executed a bill of sale of the fixtures of the office, apparently to get money to pay their fines and costs. Then they dropped out of sight suddenly. An investigation showed they had skipped out. A grapevine from friends there, say no reward will be offered for their return. The town is getting along nicely without them.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Slow Pay.

Spain has just voted money to pay an old debt that has been due since 1804. It is the pay earned by some Swiss soldiers they had hired in the war between Spain and Napoleon Bonaparte. What if American soldiers had to wait that long for their pay, and get no pension besides?

HERE is a medical lecture in a nutshell. The Kidneys drain water and impurities from the blood. The Liver makes bile and helps to drive off other waste. If these organs work badly the body becomes a cesspool and disease sets in. You must get them into healthy action or die.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

is an old and unsurpassed remedy for Backache, Debility, Sleeplessness, Lost Appetite, Foul Tongue, Palpitations and all other symptoms of disease in those organs. It cures as well as prevents every serious trouble in Kidney, Liver or Bladder. At druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

THE DR. J. H. MCLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

For sale by F. E. Davenport.

Letter From Earl Towne.

W. E. Towne, an Auburn boy who served with the 157th Indiana regiment and is now with the Fourth United States artillery in the Philippines, writes Capt. Lahnum under date of December 27, and from his letter we are permitted to take the following extracts.

DEAR CAPTAIN:—Your welcome letter was received five days ago and found me well. Your letter was delayed in reaching me for the reason that we have been making advances on the north line with Lawton. We were on the advance over two months and went 200 miles up into the mountains. We had a fine time down in Florida compared to what we have here; many days we have had only two meals. We would get up at 4 o'clock, harness and move out by daylight, and then go on until dark and stop and camp for the night. Some days we would not see a scrap, and others we would get into a fight every five or six miles, when there would be a hot time for a little while.

We have been fortunate here so far, having had but two men killed and one wounded. We came off the firing line December 17, but were so worn out that we could hardly get out when called. I am now answering about a half-dozen letters, as we expect to go out on the south line any time and then I don't know when I will get time to write. I could not begin to tell you all about the Filipinos, but will try to do so when I get home. The natives here are a little lighter in color than the American negroes, and are a sneaking race. They are friendly to your face, but in ten minutes afterward are sticking a knife in your back. They come to the city as friends to bring in fruits, and then will go back through the lines and fight until they run out of money or grub. They dress very queerly over here and the children do not wear any clothes until they are about twelve years old. But it is much better here in the city. There is plenty of fruit here but bananas cost us a cent apiece, more than in the states. While the Filipinos work for us around the quarters they will steal anything they get their hands on and hide it; then after the day's work is done they will take the stuff out and sell it. Like Chinamen, they live mostly on rice and sugar cane.

During the march to the north line a soldier from the Thirty-fifth infantry went into a native hut and asked for a drink of water. They put poison into the water, and in a half hour we had a funeral. I saw the young man after he was dead. I enclose you an order for the money due me on clothing account. Please pay it to my father. Will try to write again soon. With kind regards to all I am,

Yours truly,

WM. EARL TOWNE.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Harriet C. Shoemaker was born August 11, 1853, and died at her home on South VanBuren street, last Wednesday, February 14, 1900, at the age of 46 years, 6 months and 3 days. On the 25th of December, 1873, she was united in marriage to Henry Shoemaker. To them were born four children, three daughters and one son, all of whom are still living. They moved to Auburn about 17 years ago, where they have since lived. Two years ago last August Mr. Shoemaker died, leaving his wife to carry on the affairs of the home life, which she did with credit to herself. Mrs. Shoemaker was a hard working woman, but never complained about her lot in life. She was a tender and loving mother, and a faithful wife. In her former life she was a member of the Evangelical church in Waterloo, Ind., but since living in Auburn was a member of no church. During her last illness, which was one of intense suffering, she renewed her love for her Master and confessed Christ, and said, "I am ready and willing to go." Just before death came she gave a final admonition to her children whom she loved so much, saying to each, "be good and live right." Mrs. Shoemaker leaves to mourn her death four children, two grandchildren, five sisters, and two brothers besides many other friends. The funeral service was conducted from the Lutheran church Friday at 2 p. m. Interment took place in Woodlawn cemetery, J. D. Brosy officiating.

Scows that Pass in the Night.

Jacques leaned over the gunwale of the flat boat as she floated lazily down the Detroit river. He smoked his pipe.

Pierre hung over the rail of the scow that was upward bound. He also was enveloped in a hazy smoke.

In the moonlight the two boatmen recognized each other.

"Hello, Pierre. How you geet along?"

"Oh, I been geet along. How you geet along?"

"How you seek fatair geet along, Jacques?"

"My fatair? Oh, she geet along. She been died last week."

Farm for Sale.

Eighty acres of good land for sale. This farm is in Paulding county, Ohio, and only one mile from a good market and on a good stone road leading to county seat. Will sell this land cheap. It is the best of black soil and all about cleared. There is no better land to be had than this land. Will give purchaser reason for selling. Address L. Cunningham, Defiance, O., care Cunningham House.

LION COFFEE

Used in Millions of Homes!

Accept no substitute!

Insist on LION COFFEE, in 1 lb. pkgs.

Best Coffee for the Money!

Try LION COFFEE and you will never use any other. It is absolutely pure Coffee and nothing but Coffee.

These articles mailed FREE in exchange for lion heads cut from front of 1 lb. LION COFFEE pkgs.

STRENGTH, PURITY AND FLAVOR

Gold Collar Button.

Mailed free for 5 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp. Made of rolled gold and with mother-of-pearl back; suitable alike for ladies and gentlemen. This shape is handy and popular.

ACTUAL SIZE

Daisy Neck-Pin.

Genuine Hard-Enamel and Gold.

For 18 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. The illustration is only two-thirds actual size. Color a delicate pink, with jewel setting and gold trimmings. Best enamel finish, stylish and durable.

"The Lion's Bride."

Mailed free for 12 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp. An unusually fine picture, from the brush of the noted German artist, Gabriel Max. It is founded on Chamisso's poem, "The Lion's Bride." The story is interesting, and we send with each picture a handsome folder, containing copy of the poem and telling all about it. Size, 15x26 inches.

"Dorothy and Her Friends."

A bright, cheery picture.

For 8 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

A bright, cheery picture, representing a little girl playing with her chickens and her rabbits. The predominating colors are rich reds and greens. Size, 16x25 inches.

For 10 lion heads and 2-cent stamp we will mail it tinted, ready for hanging.

Mantel Clock.

By express, prepaid, for 110 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

Frame beautifully finished with gilt. Stands 15 inches high. A beauty and good time-keeper.

Alarm Clock.

Sent by express, prepaid, for 80 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. When ordering either clock, please name your nearest Express Office, if there is no express office located in your town.

Stylish Belt-Buckle.

Handsomely gold-plated, with Roman finish, and set with ruby colored jewel in the center. This will be welcomed for "dressed-up" occasions by the ladies who like to wear different colored sashes. The gold-finish goes well with any of them. Given for 20 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Ladies' Apron.

Made of good quality lawn, with alternate revering and tucks; broad hem at bottom, and is neatly gathered at waist; a very superior and stylish article. Size, 36 x 40 inches.

Given for 20 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Fruit Picture.

Size, 16x24 inches. Given for 8 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

50-Foot Clothes Line.

Given for 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Made of closely braided cotton threads, strong, and will give the best of satisfaction.

Box of Colored Crayons.

For 10 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

Fine wax crayons, fifteen different colors, accompanied with outline pictures for coloring. Each crayon is wrapped with strong paper, to prevent breaking.

Child's Drawing Book.

A collection of nice outline pictures bound into book form with sheets of tissue paper between the leaves. On these tissue pages the children can trace the pictures beneath, thus affording enjoyment, as well as instruction to the hand and eye. These drawing books and the box of crayons go very well together. There are six different kinds, and each drawing book requires 6 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Naval Box Kite.

See it Fly!

The celebrated box kite now so popular. Thirty inches long and comes safely folded, but can quickly be spread to fly. Every American boy wants one, and older persons also are interested Mailed free for 40 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp.

Ladies' Scissors.

Length, five inches, suitable for cutting, trimming and general household use. Given for 12 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

Razor.

Given for 35 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. A first-class razor, made of best English steel, and extra hollow ground.

Rubber Dressing Comb.

For 10 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Length, 7 inches, full size and weight. Made of genuine India rubber, finely finished. Appropriate for a ladies' dressing-case or for use in the household.

Game "India."

Similar to "Parchesi," which has been played in eastern countries since before the dawn of history. The illustration shows plan of the game, with usual counters, dice and dice-cups accompanying it. A game which people never tire of playing. Given for 30 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Every time you buy a pound package of LION COFFEE you have bought something else, too. Don't overlook it! You have bought a certain portion of some article to be selected by you from our new Premium Lists!

THE ABOVE ARE ONLY A FEW OF THE LION COFFEE PREMIUMS. Another list will shortly appear in this paper! Don't miss it! The grandest list of premiums ever offered!

You always know LION COFFEE by the wrapper. It is a sealed package, with the lion's head in front. It is absolutely pure if the package is unbroken. LION COFFEE is roasted the day it leaves the factory.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

When writing for premiums send your letter in the same envelope or package with the lion heads. If more than 13 lion heads are sent, you can save postage by trimming down the margin. Ask your grocer for large illustrated premium list. Address all letters to the

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

BUTLER.

Lizzie Champion continues her visit in Steuben county.

—R. C. Campbell has sold his depot street residence to John Shafer. Consideration $800.

Dr. E. V. Campbell was called to Garrett last week to hold an inquest on the remains of a conductor who was killed there.

The complete reorganization of the canning factory company is postponed until March 19 next. But little doubt remains of their complete success.

The protracted efforts at the U. B. and Christian churches have closed. The success of the former has been substantial and of the latter very fair.

A dunkard preacher from Kansas City has been filling the Lutheran pulpit this week. He is a fine speaker and a very able exponent of their faith.

Miss Maudie Moughler, daughter of J. N. Moughler, who has been spending the winter with her aunt, Ellen Hollinger, has gone to Mishawaka, where she will make her future home with her father.

The writer made a friendly call last week on one of DeKalb county's former successful school teachers, Samuel Flint, of Newville township. He found him the same friendly, agreeable, good fellow as of old, when he wielded his full share of influence among the teachers who taught for the love of teaching and accomplished wonders in the brief space of three months. Mr. Flint is in very poor health, but still is bright and hopeful.

A very sudden death took place at Artic last Friday evening. Joseph Bell, a merchant and post master closed his labors in his store about 9 o'clock, went to his home close by, complained of not feeling well, retired and in a few minutes was dead. His funeral took place from the Lutheran church (Wittenburg) last Sunday, Rev. Neibel of Butler officiating. His remains were intered in Edgerton. He leaves a wife and one child. Mr. Bell was a kind, obliging, industrious, honest man, comparatively young and will be sorely missed by his neighbors and friends.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

ST. JOE.

W. H. Callender was at Hicksville Monday and Tuesday.

Henry Maxwell's daughter, Minnie, is attending school at Butler.

The intermediate department at St. Joe school was closed Thursday and Friday.

Case & Culbertson received a car load of sash and doors last week.

Rev. Johnson of the M. P. church is holding a series of meetings at that church.

Rev. Fairfield of Angola preached one of his best discourses at the Christian church Sunday evening.

According to reports the Literary society at Coburntown is a grand success. Their exercises are always attended by a big and appreciative audience.

The gentleman from Paulding, Ohio, who purchased the farm one mile north of Concord, moved there the fore part of last week. J. W. May hauled the household goods from St. Joe.

Over forty copies of the Defiance Daily Crescent are in circulation here during the trial of the supposed murderers of Marshal Rath of Hicksville.

Frank Barney has sold about 2,000 bushels of wheat to the Defiance Milling Co., in the past ten days.

St. Joe News is lamenting again over our lack of side walk to the station, but in the same paper says that electric lights will be the next thing in order. Perhaps if the land between First street and the depot belonged to some poor widow woman the walk would be built—what do you say?

The Defiance Crescent says that on last Monday evening before retiring, Mrs. Otto Widney of Hicksville, entered her bed room to let the window down, and was frightened almost to death to find some brute of a man peeping into the bed room. The fellow made a hasty departure and by the time Mr. Widney got out of doors he had disappeared. There are threats of vengeance and whoever the party is, had better look a leetle out—or Otto might catch him.

The two funerals on Thursday were at the same time; the daughter of W. D. Johnston who died at Auburn, and the son of a Mr. Bradfield of St. Joe. Both interments teing in Riverside cemetery.

—"I can highly recommebd Begg's Hair Renewer as a pleasing restorative application for the hair and a sure cure for all scalp diseases." Mrs. J. Whertle, Omaha, Neb. A thoroughly reliable preparation; endorsed by thousands. It will not disappoint. For sale at H. B. McCord's.

—The B. & O. will increase its rolling stock by the addition of 5,000 new steel cars and 4,500 wooden cars. There has been a remarkable increase in the freight business on this road in the past few months.

—Rev. James B. Tims, of Alickchi, Checotah Nation, I. T. says of Begg,s Blood Purifier, the great blood remedy and system regenerator: "Both myself and wife were entirely cured of bad case of scrofula by it." A guaranteed remedy, of sterling merit. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Franklin Landers, once a democratic candidate for governor of Indiana, has just sold six car loads of two-year-old mules for use in South African mines. If they prove the proper thing many more will be used.

—Prof. M. H. Kasper, Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill., writes:—I had been suffering for some time with severe pains in my lungs, and coughed almost constantly. One bottle Beggs' Cherry Syrup entirely cured me." It is guaranteed to cure, has never failed.—H. B. McCORD.

—The remains of Walter Cretcher a young soldier who died in Puerto Rico, were buried at Pierceton Tuesday. There was a large attendance at the funeral.

—"I strongly recommend Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup; it cured me of a throat and lung trouble of many years' standing."-Mrs. J. Bremen, Rifle, Colo. Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, la grippe, pneumonia, whooping-cough, croup and consumption, H.B. McCord.

—A Noble county farmer cut a tree the other day in which were found about thirty flying squirrels, sixteen of which were captured.

—"I have always used Foley's Honey and Tar cough medicine, and think it the best in the world," says Chas. Bender, a newsdealer of Erie, Pa. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—Steuben county has a citizen who has paid interest annually on $100 borrowed from the school fund in 1864. The principal is still unpaid.

—Krause's Cold Cure is all the name implies—an absolute cure for cold in the head, cold in the chest—in fact, cold in any part of the body. Not necessary to go to bed, or neglect your work while taking the medicine. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Wabash has an industrial school to which children from three to fourteen years are eligible. Nearly 200 pupils are enrolled.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 2, 1898.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm has no equal as a seller and one that gives entire satisfaction to our Johnson's Pharmacy.

Sold by DAVENPORT the DRUGGIST.

—It's a pity that "Rud" Kipling should have taken that long trip to South Africa when they could done just as well in Kentucky.

—Fatal delays are caused by experimenting with cough and cold cures. Foley's Honey and Tar will prevent a cold from resulting in Pneumonia. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—Philidelphia should put a check to her talk about her slowness in raising that convention fund. One for $100,000 would do.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

Red Cross Tansy Pills

FOR Suppressed Menstruation PAINFUL Menstruation And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES. Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless. Purely Vegetable. Never Fail.

The Ladies' Relief.

PRICE $1.00

Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we say. Vin de Cinchona Co. Des Moines, Iowa.

For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist.

New Jewelry! SEE New Jewelry!

OUR NEW LINE OF JEWELRY!

ALL THE NEW THINGS FRESH FROM NEW YORK.

The New Swell Chains for Ladies, an Elegant New Line of Broaches, Friendship Hearts to bufn, newest Hat Pins, Gents Chains, etc. You should see this line in order to appreciate it.

D. A. Hodge,
JEWELER.

WEICHT & CUTLER,
Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country. Auburn, Ind.
Western 'Phone 106 South of Jail

JUNO
The Peerless!
Elegant in Appearance,
Wholesome to the System
Are The Biscuits Made With

JUNO BAKING POWDER

The best Cream of Tartar Baking Powder made; not one trace of adulteration or injurious ingredient can be found in it. Recommended by all advocates of pure food laws. Remember the Juno, for it is the purest of the pure

JUNO THE PEERLESS!

We also make a cheaper Baking Powder, "CHUBB'S Cream of Phosphate," containing the phosphates which are lackin in wh te flour, and absolutely without alum or injurious ingredients.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Company
CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS

Chicago's Suburbs.

A few years ago, and Chicago's suburbs were Hyde Park, South Chicago, Windsor Park, Cottage Grove, Englewood, Lagrange, Riverside, Rogers Park, Evanston, Lake Forest, Glencoe, Kenilworth, Woodlawn, Hinsdale, Pullman, Hammond Stony Island Whiting and other well known names, and every year new ones are added. Now, they have, Buena Park, Edgewater, Winnetka, Park Ridge, Bowmanville, Jefferson, Cragin, Desplaines, Norwood Park, Lake View, Highland Park, Arlington Heights, Ravenswood, Niles, Ridgelawn, Mont Clare, Kelvyn Grove, Grayland, Garfield, Pennock, Humboldt, Calvary, Wilmette, Auburn Park, and a score or so of others.

—Greater New York estimates its growth during 1899 at 111,154 persons and the total population at 3,550,053.

SORE LUNGS

Sore lungs, pain in the chest and painful breathing, the fore-runners of pneumonia, are quickly relieved and cured by the old reliable Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup. It breaks up a cold in one night. Try it at once.

Dr. Bull's
COUGH SYRUP
Will quickly heal Sore Lungs.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

Monday's Daily.

—G. W. Osburn has now joined the class of 1901 on the COURIER roll of honor.

—S. A. Squires and Fred Becher chipped in on the COURIER finances Saturday.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Griswold took dinner yesteresy with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wise in the country.

—When you go to buy bluing, insist upon having Russ' Bleaching Blue and not some of the many imitations. 8

—Only one marriage license was issued last week, the lucky couple being Cleveland A. Dunn and Belle Buss.

—The democratic state central committee will meet at Indianapolis next Saturday to fix the time and place for the state convention.

—Dollie Husselman has returned from her visit at Lima, Ohio, with the family of Joseph McKay. Of course she had a pleasant visit.

—To all points in competition where the fare is $2 or more we have free bus and free baggage to the Junction. tf SPROTT & KNAPP, Agency B. & O. Ry.

—The news J. E. Rose has from W. S. Best, is that the crisis seems to have been passed and he appears to be improving He is at Los Angeles, where he had gone for his health.

—S. W. Guthrie and his little daughter Ostie, were callers Saturday. We are under obligations to Mr. Guthrie for frequent favors in the way of new names added to the COURIER list.

—C. C. Walter went to Fort Wayne today to attend the meeting of democratic county chairmen called by Chairman Kaough to select a time and place for the congressional convention.

—A. M. StClair lost a valuable Norman mare on Saturday. The trouble was congestion of the lungs. She was a young animal coming five, and weighed between 1700 and 1800, and was valued at $150. She was taken sick on Thursday.

—The Trout livery barn property east of the public square was sold at sheriff's sale Saturday. John G. Mott being purchaser. The property has been in litigation for some time, the principal creditor being Mrs. Sarah Richards.

—Sprott & Knapp have money to loan on farm or town property for five years at 6 percent annual interest, with privilege of partial payments. Come in and we will tell you all about it. Do you want an abstract showing title to your land or lot? We have them. tf —State Chairman Martin last Saturday announced the appointment of W. W. Hawkins of Sullivan as secretary of the democratic state central convention, Harry D. Stone of Albion and Herman Freygang of Angola were chosen members of the executive committee for the Twelfth district.

—Rev. Meese returned home today from Smithfield township where he had conducted revival services for several nights at Barker chapel for Rev. Dingel, who is engaged in a series of meetings at Waterloo. At the former place nearly seventy persons (ten last Saturday night) came out for the fight and over fifty have united with the church.

W. S. Best Dead.

J. E Rose received a telegram last evening from Los Angeles saying that W. S. Best had died Sunday, in that city. The latest word from there, before that, had represented him as slightly improved. It will be remembered by our people, that Mr. Best had been in poor health for many years, and recently he had gone to Los Angeles to spend the winter and hoping to benifit his health. But a short time ago, he was taken down, and word was sent to his son at Minneapolis to come on at once. Later came the word that he was better, but this was only temporary. His wife, Mrs. Rose's sister, had been with him all the time.

Union. Central

The following letter explains itself:

AUBURN, IND., Feb. 15, 1900.

HON. JNO. M. PATTISON, President.

DEAR SIR:—I have this day received through your local agent, E. L. Casebeer, $2,033.01 in settlement at maturity of my life rate endowment policy of $2,000, taken 26 years ago. I have made 26 payments of $49.56 each, and now, have not only drawn back what I paid in but $744 45 besides I have had 26 years of good, safe life insurance thrown in. I am well pleased with my investment.

D. D. METCALF.

The above is the kind of policy our competitors say never mature.

E. L. CASEBEER, Agent.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned have been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the state of Indiana, executors of the estate of Jacob Dermott deceased, late of said county.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

MARION DERMOTT
JOHN E. DERMOTT
Executors.

February 15, 1900.

CEDAR.

Arthur Ober was obliged to shoot one of his best horses on Saturday last on account of lock jaw.

Three cars were loaded with corn at this place last week.

Ezra Haag has so far recovered from his recent illness that he is able to walk around town again.

W. H. Gump is offering his farm near this place for sale.

J. M. Smith made a business trip to Auburn on Monday of this week.

H. L. Hauser is hauling logs for the addition to his house.

The Butler Center coon hunters came very near catching a coon last week, and Curt Kitchen and Wm. Chisholm say that if Ambrose Heitz and Joshua Miller had gotten clubs small enough so they could have handled them, the coon would have been a goner.

W. H. Gump, formerly of this place, spent last Sunday visiting friends at this place.

Mrs. Geo. Lung is convalescent at the present writing.

Billy Lung of Auburn, Ind., was sizeing up the skunk tracks in this part of the country the first of the week

Mr. Ida Stump-street was numbered with the sick the first of the week, but is now improving.

NERVITA PILLS Restore VITALITY LOST VIGOR AND MANHOOD
Cure Impotency, Night Emissions and wasting diseases, all effects of self-abuse, or excess and indiscretion. A nerve tonic and blood builder. Brings the pink glow to pale cheeks and restores the fire of youth. By mail 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50; with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Send for circular. Address,
NERVITA MEDICAL CO.
Clinton & Jackson Sts., CHICAGO, ILL.
Davenport, The Druggist.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Ethel, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Long, is sick with catarrhal fever.

—FOR SALE.—Three cheap work horses; or will trade for cow.—TILDEN PURDY, near Evergreen cemetery.

—Go to Shaffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct.23w-tf

—The Catholic ladies will serve supper in the Armory on Thursday evening from 5 to 7. Bill of fare will appear later.

—Saturday will be market day at the Catholic fair. For the accommodation of the business men supper will be served from 5 to 7.

—Ask your grocer for Russ' Bleaching Blue, do not be deceived by fraudulent imitations, see that the name Russ appears on all packages. 8

—Roy Whitbeck of Kendallville was caught under a falling pile of lumber at Elkhart, and so badly crushed that he died soon afterward.

—A nice lot of wedding cake contributed by our friend C. C. Buss, makes us wish he had a large number of daughters yet to be married.

—A Boston dentist, about the middle of December, hung out a sign: ":Have your teeth pulled out for a Christmas present." Rather a drawing card.

—Rev. W. L Meese went up to Waterloo today noon and will assist Rev. Mr. Dingel in holding a protracted meeting at the M. E. church there.

—The flow of an oil well in southern California was increased by the recent earthquake, but this method of attaining the result is not properly indorsed —The Catholic fair to be held in the Armory February 21 to 24, will be the event of the season. Bring your family and friends and help in a good cause.

—The next attraction at the opera house will be Jule Walters and his excellent company in "How Hopper was Tide-Tracked," next Tuesday evening, February 27.

—Mrs. Nancy Lipsett, wife of John Lipsett, died at her home in Corunna Sunday afternoon, aged 68 years. The funeral will be held at the U. B. church in Corunna tomorrow forenoon.

—WANTED:—One hundred live female skunks. If you have any for sale, we will pay more than fur prices. Address DeKalb Fur Co., Auburn, Box 182, and will call at once and get them. w2t —An English author wants the world to reckon time from the year in which Queen Victoria was born, 1837, which would make this the year "64," Victorian era, by beginning January 1 of that year. It is not likely to be adopted, however.

—An exchange makes the pertinent suggestion that "since the price of print paper is still going skyward, now now would be a good time for all publishers to cut off that class of delinquent subscribers who never miss a paper nor pay a cent.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn, Ind. 4tf

—At the meeting of the democratic county chairmen at Fort Wayne yesterday, it was decided to hold the congressional convention in that city on Tuesday, April 24. Auburn was also suggested as a place for holding the convention but the majority of those present favored Fort Wayne.

—A dispatch from Summit to the Fort Wayne Sentinel says: Annie, the five-year-old daughter of John Gaetz, living on a farm between this village and Waterloo, was this afternoon accidentially shot dead by her eight-year-old brother, who was playing with a revolver. The ball passed through her breast and caused death almost instantly.

—Ira Keim, a Waterloo saloon keeper, and John Vealy, his bartender, thought it would be funny to disturb the play of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" at that place several weeks ago. It was not so funny after all, as they were found guilty in the justice court there last night and will "dig up" $5 and costs each for their amusemennt. Served them right.

A Teacher's Right.

Judge James V. Kent, of the Clinton circuit court, made a dicision upon the right of a teacher to punish pupils, which is of interest in every part of the state.

The decision is to the effect that the teacher has the right to exact obedience to all lawful comands, and to punish all disobedience, with kindness, prudence and propriety. The teacher is not personally reliable for a mistake of judgment or of punishing too severely, unless it can be shown that it was done maliciously. The pupil is under the jurisdiction of the teacher from the time he leaves the parental roof until he reaches it again.

The decision is a comprehensive one and is altogether on the side of the maintenance of order and discipline in school.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered intensely for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg, but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in ten days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Burns, Boils, Pain or Piles it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Sold by McCORD the DRUGGIST.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Mrs. George Dunn is recovering from her recent severe illness.

—H. F. Carpenter, the Dan Boone cigar man, was in town today circulating among his friends.

—The Auburn Lumber Co. are receiving a consignment of four thousand hollow foundation blocks. 22

—The date of the prohibition state convention is to be changed because it conflicts with the republican gathering.

—West Virginia is shipping coal to Germany, to supply that country till the strike in the German coal mines is over.

—Mrs. D. A. Garwood was the guest of honor at the pedro party at the home of Mrs. S. D. Hanna in Ft. Wayne yesterday.

—The biggest load of boxes ever hauled in Auburn, was that taken from Garrett's store yesterday. Boxes are so high priced now that it pays to send them back.

—The Lake Shore road is absorbing the Lake Erie & Western and already several officers of the former have had their jurisdiction extended over the newly-acquired lines.

—Joseph Derheimer, who came with in a few hundred dollars of getting the sewer contract here, has been awarded a contract for 16,000 feet of sewer in Ft. Wayne which will cost nearly $150,000.

—There will be a public sale of household goods, etc., at the residence of F. J. Yesbera, on South Main street Auburn, on Saturday, March 3. Don't forget the date, and be sure to attend.

—If you want your cellars cool in summer and warm in winter, use the hollow foundation blocks. The Auburn Lumber Co. have one consignment of four thousand of these blocks.

—Billy Moore, driver of the town team, is limping around with a sore leg the result of a kick from one of the horses. It was only a playful act on the part of the festive animal, but our friend Billy does not see much fun in it.

—R. M. Lockhart writes us that township farmer's institutes have been arranged for as follows: Ashley, February 27; Fairfield Center, 28; Sedan, March 1. Every farmer on the county is cordially invited to attend these institutes.

—E. Zimmerman, F. T. and Sylvester Zimmerman went to Spencerville yesterday, to attend the funeral of his brother's wife, Mrs. A. L. Zimmerman. She had died at her home at Goshen and was brought here for burial in the cemetery at Spencerville.

—The ladies of the Garrett W. R. C. will give a social at their hall there tomorrow evening. It is a special Washington social, at which they will give away a "Washington Home," Mt. Vernon. All are invited to come out and enjoy the occasion with them.

—F. J. Yesbera is preparing to take up his residence in Toronto, Canada, where he will establish a branch factory for the Yesbera Mfg. Co., and will leave with his family for that place about the middle of March. While regretting their departure from Auburn we wish them all manner of success in their new home.

—Mr. Sherman Dickinson, of Auburn Indiana, is a guest at the M. E. parsonage. He is an uncle of Mrs. Wilcox. Mr. Dickinson is deaf and dumb, but notwithstanding that fact is a very entertaining guest. The little folks, especially, enjoy his motion language, and he can tell a story with more vividness than many who have the gift of speech.—Coopersville (Mich.) Observer.

—The law now requires the county auditor to keep a ledger in which each appropriation has a page and each expenditure will be charged to every account, so that a moment's notice will show how much of the fund has been expended and how much remains. There are 150 different pages necessary to keep an accurate account of the business, so that it is no snap to take charge of.

—A couple of well-known Garrett citizens amused people passing along Ensley avenue yesterday afternoon by their curious tricks. They drove over to have a buggy "fixed up" at Harry Richey's shop, and with the harness, robes, etc., tried to ride the horse back home. They had John Barleycorn with them and proved about as frisky as usual. Those who saw it say it was a fine exhibition.

—At the Spencerville cemetery yesterday, Mr. Zimmerman noticed a groupe of men at work, and on inquiring found they were taking up the remains of Hon. Reuben J. Dawson, for removal to Ft. Wayne. It seems that his son, the late Judge C. M. Dawson of Ft. Wayne, had made arrangements to have his father buried at his side, and his widow had come up and was superintending the work. The monument, a very large one, will also be moved.

A Pleasant Affair.

The Missionary society of the Lutheran church gave a tea at the home of Charles Pommert last evening. There were about 65 present and all had an enjoyable time. An interesting program was prepared by the committee consisting of songs, select reading and recitations. The recitations given by Sidney Farmer, Myrtle McClellan and Loraine Mader were fine and were called back by those present. After the program was rendered light refreshments were served which all enjoyed. The occasion was a pleasant and profitable one to all and may this effort be repeated. The Missionary society of the Lutheran church is wide awake and doing excellent work. They have the good wishes of those who were present and Mr. and Mrs. Pommert have thanks for opening their home.

Latest News of the Day.

The report comes from South Africa that Gen. Cronje and his Boer army have been surrounded by the British forces and captured. But this is not confirmed and may prove incorrect. But it is likely he is moving out of the way. It is possible, also that he may receive heavy re-enforcements and stand a hard battle.

It is believed that the British army pursuing Cronje is at least 30,000 strong, and has abundance of cavalry and light field artillery.

South of Ladysmith the army of Gen. Buller is gaining ground slowly, having taken several unimportant positions from the Boers.

The Russians are moving a strong force toward Herat, in such a way as to threaten the British interests in India. They take advantage of the present time when England is busy in South Africa. It may cause trouble of a serious nature.

In our own congress they are taking steps to investigate the truth of the statements made by Consul Macrum, as to the British censor at Cape Town opening his letters while he was at Pretoria.

Many republican members of congress do not agree with the President as to the tariff on goods that come into this country from Porto Rico and our other new possessions. The president wants all such goods to come in free of duty, as he believes they being a part of our territory should have the same rights that our other territories have. We would not think of charging a tariff duty on goods brought to Chicago from Alaska or from Oklahoma. He thinks we should treat Porto Rico the same. But the great body of his party friends in both houses think there should be a duty on Porto Rican products of about 25 per cent ad valorum. It is possible that McKinley may carry his point, as he has the democratic members with him, and if a few republicans will stand by him, he will be all right.

Now comes Germany with a new pain. Having had to give up the contention that American meat is unwholesome, they are complaining that American barley is not good for their stock. This gives it a look as if they wanted to have all the barley used up for beer. Something pains Germany all the time. We ought to ship them a few steamer loads of Ready Relief.

The national populist committee quarreled and divided in their meeting at Lincoln, Neb. Some wanted to fuse with the democrats and some refused.

The Lawton fund has now reached a point above $100,000.

He Was Surprised.

That is about the size of things when Will McDowell reached home at noon for his dinner. There were a dozen or two people present that he had not thought of. But his wife had thought it all out ahead of him, knowing that it was his forty-fifth birthday. He stared wildly a moment from one guest to the other and then surrendered.

They had a good time and a grand dinner of course, and all went off happy. The guests were: Eugene, James and Tim McDowell and their families; Mrs. McDowell, mother of the McDowell brothers and sisters; Mrs. Eunice McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mason, and Mrs. G. W. Campbell of Wabash, who is the mother of Mrs. Will McDowell. Altogether it was a nice party; they remembered the COURIER force generously and have a unanimous vote of thanks.

Prevented A Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. Geo. Long of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung trouble. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at McCORD'S Drug Store.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Home of Swamp-Root.

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in...

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang
Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

HUMPHREYS' VETERINARY SPECIFICS

A. A. CURES FEVERS, Long Fever, Milk Fever.
B. B. CURES SPRAINS, Lameness, Rheumatism.
C. C. CURES EPIZOOTIC, Distemper.
D. D. CURES WORMS, Bots, Grubs.
E. E. CURES COUGHS, Colds, Influenza.
F. F. CURES COLIC, Bellyache, Diarrhea.
G. G. Prevents MISCARRIAGE.
H. H. CURES KIDNEY & BLADDER DISORDERS.
I. I. CURES MANGE, Skin Diseases.
J. K. CURES BAD CONDITION, Staring Coat.

50c. each; Stable Case, Ten Specifics, Book, &c., $7. At druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York. VETERINARY MANUAL SENT FREE.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,
VITAL WEAKNESS
and Prostration from Over-work or other causes.
Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy.
$1 per vial, or 5 vials and large vial powder, for $5 Sold by Druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price.
HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., Cor. William & John Sts., New York

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings, 2-story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettville, ¾ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning. Will sell part cash, balance time or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots, cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ½ its value, $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary; low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 64 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam, all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36. This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80-acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ¼ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard. 45 acres cleared, cleared, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price. Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, bal cleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time, must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30-acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard, well, cistern, good fences, soil black sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. FEBRUARY. 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 8th. F. M 14th. L. Q. 22d.

NEWS IN BRIEF GUSTS

BLOWN IN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE EARTH.

An Important Record of the Week As Told by the Telegraph—Latest from Foreign Shores—Crimes, Casualties, Fires, Etc.

A Hold-Up Defeated.

A special from Benson, Ariz., says: The New Mexico and Arizona passenger train, which left Benson for Nogales, was held up by masked robbers at Fairbanks, twenty miles below Benson. Express Messenger Milton was shot several times. Milton had just delivered his packages for Fairbanks and was going back into his car when he was commanded to open his safe. Instead of complying with the request he grabbed his Winchester and made a brave fight. He succeeded in holding them at bay until help reached him and the robbers were driven off. The robbers did not secure any booty and left going in the direction of Old Mexico. Officers have left for the scene of the hold-up.

A Hot Fight.

Manila special: There was a hot fight between the insurgents and Americans at Albay. Three thousand bolomen attacked the American garrison at Daraga, near Albay. During the night reinforcements were sent from Albay. Meanwhile the main force of rebels withdrew and attacked Albay, setting fire to the houses. The garrison was compelled to retire to a convent, where they resisted the rebels. Meanwhile the troops at Daraga fought side by side with the Spaniards all night. The bolomen retired the next morning. Their casualties were seventy-one killed. Two Americans were killed and five wounded. The rebels were armed with Mausers.

Lives Were Imperiled.

Eight persons were injured, one fatally, in four fires that occurred in different parts of the residence districts of Chicago. In all thirty-five lives were imperiled by the fires and there were heroic deeds of rescue by the firemen. The most serious occurred at a boarding house at 2021 Indiana avenue, where C. F. Slade, a student at a veterinary college, was severely burned and carried out unconscious by the firemen. At the hospital it was said he could not recover. The total losses will amount to $50,000.

Picked Out the Wrong Car.

When they opened a refrigerator car at Swift's packing house at Kansas City, Mo., workmen found John Weier, a farm hand of Bloomington, Ill., nearly frozen to death. He had been in the car four days and four nights, having climbed in thinking to beat his way to Southern Kansas, where he has relatives. Soon after he got in a man came along, closed the door and locked it, and Weier found himself unable to get out. He was in pitiable shape when found, but will recover.

Gives the Navy Credit.

Admiral Watson cables from Cavite that Gen. Kobbe gives great credit to Commander Rogers of the gunboat Nashville, and the naval part of Kobbe's expedition to southern Luzon, for its unqualified success. Commander Rogers commends Moore, commanding the gunboat Helena; Gilpin, commanding the Mariveles; Reynolds, commanding the Oliver; Moore, Castleman and Cadet Evans. Ensign Edwin Moore is an Ohio boy. Evans is a son of Capt. Bob Evans.

Monument to Col. Thompson.

A movement is on foot in Terre Haute, Ind., to erect a monument to the memory of Col. Richard W. Thompson at Highland Lawn and to buy the great library he was sixty years in collecting and place it intact in a special alcove at the city library. Col. Thompson's library consists of a large and rare collection of volumes, some of which cannot be duplicated.

Tortured Himself with Fire.

Louis Kantz of Elkhart, Ind., became violently insane. He drove his attendants from the house with a chair and then put his foot in a coal stove, almost burning the flesh to the bone. He also threw live coals around the room with his hands.

Unknown Vessel Wrecked.

A dispatch from Falmouth, England, says: An unknown vessel was wrecked at Landsend. One man was seen in the rigging. His rescue is impeded by the gale.

No Relief for Gov. Taylor.

In the Circuit Court of the United States at Cincinnati, Judge W. H. Taft denied the motion for a preliminary injunction in both the cases from Kentucky.

Aged Man Killed.

Conrad H. Ash, a well-known citizen of Harrison County, was killed by the westbound express on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway at Salem, W. Va.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Feb. 23—"Through the Breakers."
Feb. 24—"Finnegan's 400."
March 3—"The Highwayman."

Three Wrecks Within an Hour.

Charlotte (N. C.) special: There were three wrecks within an hour on the Southern Railroad. The most serious one was about twenty miles from Asheville, where a train ran into a landslide. Allen Jefferies, fireman, and Peter Nichols, brakeman, were crushed to death.

Parcels Post at Last.

The Postmaster General of England announces the parcel post arrangement between England and the United States will soon be completed after a correspondence that has extended over fourteen years.

EASTERN.

The Wilson Line steamer Ingo has been towed into port at Boston after being disabled at sea two months.

Lieut. Col. W. H. H. Benyaard, U. S. A., who was in charge of river and harbor works at New York, is dead in that city.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles laid the corner stone of the University of Pennsylvania war memorial tower at Philadelphia, Pa.

The New York Presbytery has dropped the charges of heresy against Rev. Dr. Arthur C. McGiffert of Union Theological Seminary.

John Bell Hatcher, curator of paleontology in Princeton University, has resigned to accept the curatorship at Carnegie Museum, Pittsburg, Pa.

Roland B. Molineaux, tried in New York for the killing of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams by poison on Dec. 28, 1898, was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Building No. 7 in the Brooklyn navy yard, occupied by the electrical equipment department, was destroyed by fire. The loss is $100,000, equally divided between the building and machinery.

August Horrman, a millionaire and the president and principal stockholder of a brewing company at Stapleton, L. I., committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor while in a private asylum.

Gertie Homan, who became famous as a child actress in the part of Little Lord Fauntleroy, was married at her home in Brooklyn to Edwin Thanhauser, manager of the Academy of Music, Milwaukee.

Fire in the Gilam block on Main street, Worcester, Mass., occupied by the National Biscuit Company, completely gutted the building, doing $60,000 damage, of which the biscuit company sustains $50,000.

The steamer Gate City of the Ocean Steamship Company's Savannah line went ashore in a fog at Great South Beach, Long Island. The vessel is in good condition and will probably float when lightened of her cargo of cotton.

WESTERN.

William P. Sullivan Jr. has been appointed chief of police of San Francisco, vice I. W. Lees, resigned.

At Lima, Ohio, Charles Holly was fatally cut by Slate Simons. Holly was in a barber's chair, being shaved, when Simmons assaulted him with a razor.

At Youngstown, Ohio, the Andrews interests have sold their holdings in the Mahoning Ore Company mines of the Messaba range to Hanna & Co., of Cleveland.

Louis Demontcourt, of the lumber firm of Demontcourt & O'Hara, of Cairo, Ill., was shot and killed at one of the company's mills in Pemiscot County, Missouri.

James Sweeney (white) was lynched at Port Arthur, Texas. Sweeney was a cotton screw foreman and had killed Charles Crumbach, a laborer, by jamming a bayonet through his neck.

At St. Paul, Minn., the baled grass storehouse of the Minnesota Grass Twine Company burned. Insurance on buildings and machinery, $251,500; stock, $83,000; loss, 10 per cent.

Fire caused several thousand dollars' damage in the McLean Building on 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, the principal loss being to the McLean Printing Company, occupying two of the floors.

A bill has been introduced in the Texas Legislature on recommendation of Gov. Sayers, prohibiting the sale or purchase of gambling contracts for the future delivery of cotton or other agricultural products.

A leak in a gaspipe in the basement of the home of Martin Jordon in Chicago caused the death of Jordon, his wife Mary and their 5-months-old boy, Martin, Jr. The escaping fumes came from a rusted supply pipe.

An explosion in the mixing room of the Columbia firecracker works at Fostoria, Ohio, wrecked a large portion of the plant and burned eight men seriously, one of whom, Delano C. Eberhart, died. The plant will be rebuilt.

The Omaha Packing Company, of South Omaha, Neb., will shortly reopen its St. Joseph (Mo.) plant. New and commodious buildings are expected to be added to the St. Joe house for the slaughter of cattle and sheep.

Benjamin Royce, a well-to-do farmer near Dixie, Wash., was shot to death by his grandson, Frank Royce, who afterward cremated the body and committed suicide. The murdered man's aged wife narrowly escaped his fate.

The coremakers' strike, which began at a number of foundries in Cleveland several weeks ago, has terminated in a victory for the strikers. The men are to receive $2.50 a day as demanded. The strikers get practically all they asked.

The Republican State Committee of Missouri has decided to hold a convention in Kansas City on May 15 to nominate candidates for State offices, delegates at large to the national convention, and for the selection of a new State committee.

The Grand Jury at Tiffin, Ohio, reported and failed to return an indictment against Miss Orpha Sheets, the handsome young Green Springs woman charged with the murder of her sweetheart, Claude Tuttle, by administering poison.

At the inquest over the remains of Fireman Mebus, who lost his life in the fire at Broadway and Franklin avenue, St. Louis, and by which a property loss of $1,500,000 was caused, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of arson and homicide.

Sheriff Secord, of Clay County, Nebraska, went to Davenport to arrest "Red" Hawkins, charged with highway robbery. Hawkins started to draw his revolver, but the Sheriff was too quick for him and fired first. The first shot killed Hawkins instantly.

A man believed to be Abram Wachman of Marion, lately released from the penitentiary, died in the jail at Chillicothe, Ohio, from bullet wounds received while trying to escape arrest. He was detected trying to force an entrance to the safe in Higby's general store when shot.

The steamer Henry M. Stanley struck the Kentucky pier of the Southern Railway bridge at Cincinnati and sank in twenty-five feet of water, with its bow on the Kentucky shore. So far as known only the steward was drowned, though a number sprang into the water.

Los Angeles, Cal., it is said, is to have another trans-continental railroad. It will extend from Mojave east through Southern Nevada into Utah, and the builders will be the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Rio Grande and Western, and Union Pacific systems, acting together.

The Kansas Supreme Court in the case of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company against I. P. Campbell has handed down a decision holding the act of the Legislature requiring railroads to furnish free transportation to shippers of live stock to be unconstitutional.

Alone in a room at the Hotel Grace in Chicago William M. Knapp, assistant special agent of the Phoenix Insurance Company, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. It is thought that the act was due to temporary insanity caused by the deaths of friends and his father.

A tank containing 25,000 barrels of water was blown over at the plant of the National Glass Company in Findlay, O., and crashed through the roof of the decorating room, where 100 girls were working, deluging the place. Four persons were injured. The loss to the company is $1,000.

The combination of three large potteries was perfected at Akron, Ohio. It includes the Whitmore-Robinson Company, Markle & Son and the E. H. Merrill Company. Deeds transferring the plants to the Robinson-Merrill Company have been filed. The company is capitalized at $500,000.

Steffens, Searles & Hirsch, of Cleveland, announce that they have been commissioned to make plans for the tallest skyscraper of New York. They say the building will be twenty-four stories, or 264 feet high, and but fifty-five feet wide. The estimated cost is $600,000, and work is to be begun in July.

B. C. Bowman, banker, at Las Cruces, N. M., telephoned to El Paso, Texas, that his bank had been held up by two unknown men and robbed of $3,000. The robbers entered the bank, covering Cashier Freeman and the young woman bookkeeper with six shooters, and took all the cash in the safe.

SOUTHERN.

Maj. Gen. Henry W. Lawton has been buried in the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va.

Will Golson, colored, was hanged in the jailyard at Birmingham, Ala., for the murder of Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert Warneck.

The postoffice in Athens, Ga., was burglarized. Every letter in the office was opened. It is not known how much money was secured.

The three-masted schooner C. A. White was wrecked in a fog on the Virginia coast. A storm arose and forced the crew to abandon the schooner, which was driven high upon the beach.

At Cherry Station, Tenn., Jim Gordon, a negro farm hand, enraged because Mrs. George Rollins refused to give him some money, cut her throat with a butcher knife. Her screams were heard by her husband, who shot the negro twice and beat out his brains with the gun butt.

At Louisville, Ky., Rodgers & Krull, jewelers, were robbed of $3,000 worth of diamonds. Two men entered the store and while on engaged Mr. Rodgers in conversation the other secreted a tray of diamonds. The robbery was not discovered until an hour after the men left the store.

FOREIGN.

Serious rebellion has broken out at Swaton, China.

Deloche, historian and archaeologist, is dead in Paris.

There is a great strike of coal miners at Carmaux, France.

The governor general of Finland says Russia will soon control Sweden.

Another Carlist armory has been discovered at San Sebastian, Spain.

Bad water is causing an epidemic of typhoid in boys' schools in France.

Persia has promised to pay off the English loan and borrow only from Russia.

Socialists made a great demonstration at the funeral of the nihilist Lavof in Paris.

William Ewart Lockart, Royal Scottish Academician and famous portrait painter, is dead.

Six Czech soldiers in Austria have been condemned to prison for refusing to answer to roll call in German.

Governors of several districts in Russia have asked the Government to remove burdensome restrictions on Jews.

More than half of Europe is suffering for lack of bituminous coal and in London the price has reached $11 a ton.

Berlin considers that the non-fortification clause in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is very favorable to the other powers.

A letter from London, England, announces the marriage of Abbie Beeson Carrington, the well-known soprano of Fond du Lac, Wis., to Prof. Wilbert Lewys, director of the Virgil Clavier music schools of London and of Berlin.

IN GENERAL.

The United States steamer Nero has completed her survey for a cable across the Pacific.

Miss Emily Howard Crease was killed at Lytton, B. C. Miss Crease was a passenger on the east-bound express and had stepped off the train for a moment, when a west-bound train came along, passing over her.

At Fort de France, Martinique, a mob of about 1,200 miners prevented the harvesting of sugar cane. An infantry post of twenty-five men was attacked and fired on the assailants, killing nine men and wounding fourteen.

An American freshman at McGill University was knocked down and ducked in the dissecting bath for criticising the British troops in South Africa. The student had referred to the British officers as "asses" and the troops as "cowards."

Bradstreet's commercial review says: "The strength of staples, and particularly those of agricultural origin, is the leading feature this week as last. In general trade weather conditions have not favored a large distribution, but comparisons with a year ago are still quite favorable. Enlarged speculation is reflected in increased clearings and comparisons with last year are again encouraging, while gains over years previous to 1899 are very marked. Reports from the wool trade continue favorable to a high degree and firm or higher prices are regarded as a certainty for the future. Unfavorable weather has affected distribution in most sections this week, but mail orders have been of fair size and the spring trade outlook continues unimpaired. Wheat, including flour shipments for the week, aggregated 2,902,357 bushels, against 2,724,937 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 3,450,909 bushels, against 3,593,962 bushels last week."

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2 red, 66c to 67c; corn, No. 2, 31c to 32c; oats, No. 2, 23c to 24c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c; butter, choice creamery, 24c to 26c; eggs, fresh, 12c to 14c; potatoes, choice, 40c to 50c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.25; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 71c; corn, No. 2 white, 32c to 33c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 27c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 32c to 33c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 53c to 55c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 26c; rye, No. 2, 61c to 63c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, 57c to 59c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixel, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 23c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 60c; clover seed, $5.55 to $5.65.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 65c to 67c; corn, No. 2, 31c to 33c; oats, No. 2 white, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 1, 56c to 58c; barley, No. 2, 46c to 47c; pork mess, $11.00 to $11.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.00; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $7.25.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 77c to 79c; corn, No. 2, 41c to 42c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 32c; butter, creamery, 19c to 24c; eggs, western, 14c to 17c.

HIS MAIL WAS OPENED

FORMER CONSUL MACRUM CREATES A SENSATION.

Says British Censor Read American Official Mail—Cables Also Were Held Up—Other Reasons for Wanting to Leave His Post at Pretoria.

Charles E. Macrum of Ohio, the former consul of the United States at Pretoria, South African Republic, whose home coming during the war at his own request has been surrounded by so much mystery, has given out a long statement, in which he tells why he left Pretoria. Macrum's statement has caused a genuine sensation. Nothing that has occurred since the sinking of the battleship Maine has so stirred political and diplomatic circles in Washington. His assertion that official mail and cable dispatches passing between him and his Government were held up and opened by the British censors has aroused intense indignation. Mr. Macrum strongly hints at the existence of a secret alliance between the United States and Great Britain, and practically accuses Secretary Hay of the State Department of conniving at the suppression of the facts and keeping the American public in the dark as to the causes which forced Macrum to throw up his mission. In his statement Mr. Macrum said:

C. E. MACRUM.

"The situation in Pretoria was such that, first, as an official, I could not remain there while my Government at home was apparently in the dark as to the exact conditions in South Africa. Secondly, as a man and a citizen of the United States, I could not remain in Pretoria, sacrificing my own self-respect and that of the people of Pretoria while the Government at home continued to leave me in the position of a British consul and not an American consul.

"It was over four weeks from the time the war opened before I received a single mail dispatch from my Government or a personal letter. The mail for the Transvaal had all been stopped at Cape Town by order of the high commissioner.

"When this mail was finally forwarded to me after Col. Stowe, the consul general at Cape Town, had secured its release, I had the humiliation, as representative of the American Government, of sitting in my office in Pretoria and looking upon envelopes bearing the official seal of the American Government opened and officially sealed with a sticker, notifying me that the contents had been read by the censor at Durban. I looked up the international law, but failed to find anywhere that one military power can use its own discretion as to forwarding the official dispatches of a neutral Government to its representative in a besieged country.

"The mail service from Delagoa bay to Europe was continually interrupted by the action of British men-of-war at that port. The service was over two weeks longer than by the west coast and there were continual rumors that that port would be closed and communication with the outside world entirely cut off.

"The cable service for the Transvaal was absolutely cut off. I filed one cable in the interest of an American in Pretoria, which was refused absolutely by the censor in Durban.

"When I accepted my post as consul I knew nothing of any secret alliance between America and Great Britain and have seen nothing in the regulations which make the consul of the American republic subject to the whims and caprice of an English military censor."

FRICK BEGINS HIS SUIT.

Sensational Charges Are Made Against Against Carnegie.

Henry C. Frick and Andrew Carnegie, for years business associates and partners in the gigantic iron and steel concern at Pittsburg, are now opposed to each other in a court of law. Mr. Frick has begun suit against the Carnegie Steel Company, Andrew Carnegie, Henry Phipps, Jr., L. C. Phipps, Geo. Lauder, C. W. Schwab and others to recover $16,238,000, which he represents to be his interest in the big corporation.

H. C. FRICK.

Carnegie is said to have offered Frick $6,000,000 for the latter's holdings in the company, which are worth three times that sum when based on the offers that have been made the steel company by prospective purchasers. According to Frick's story a London syndicate wanted to purchase the plant for $250,000,000 in May, 1899, and paid Carnegie $1,170,000, which amount is still in the iron king's possession as a bonus for a ninety days' option on Carnegie's 58½ per cent interest in the concern. This interest Carnegie valued at $157,950,000. On this basis the plaintiff figures that his 6 per cent interest is worth the sum he has prayed for.

Carnegie, it is alleged, forced Frick out of the management of the steel company for personal reasons. According to the latter's story the immense profits of the company are largely the result of his efficient financiering. He asks that the court appoint a receiver for the steel works, that the debts be paid and the surplus distributed among the partners, large and small.

Frick says that if Carnegie is permitted to manage the business a loss will result.

TO FEED TOMMY ATKINS.

Single Army Corps Will Eat Up $1,100,000 in Six Months.

During his period of service a British soldier is entitled to three-quarters of a pound of fresh meat and one pound of bread daily; and, when on active service, the meat is increased to one pound, and a free ration of groceries and vegetables is also issued.

The average bullock, when slaughtered and cut up by the army butchers, will yield 700 pounds of meat; and 1,343 bullocks must die to provide the troops with one day's rations. Supposing that the operations in the field occupy six months, and the soldiers get fresh meat twice a week, then, in round numbers, 70,000 bullocks must be butchered.

This fresh meat must be eked out with no less than 10,400,000 pounds of salted or preserved victuals, and we get a grand total of 14,500,000 pounds, or 6,500 tons of bullock!

The army eats up 80,000 pounds of bread daily, and bread contains a quarter of its weight in flour. In twenty-six weeks it will require 3,640,000 pounds of flour, or 65,000 bushels.

Supposing the beef averaged 10 cents a pound all round—rather under than over the mark—there is an outlay of $650,000. Add to that $26,000 for the British army's daily bread and a further outlay of $414,000 for vegetables and groceries, calculated at the rate of 7 cents a day per man, and a single army corps will eat up $1,110,000 in six months.

NO FEDERAL INJUNCTIONS.

Judge Taft Refuses to Interfere in Behalf of Kentucky Republicans.

Judge Taft of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati refused the temporary injunction asked for in behalf of the Republican minor State officers of Kentucky, filed by ex-Gov. Bradley and others. Judge Taft held that the Federal Court had no jurisdiction. He did not go into the merits of the case outside of the strictest interpretation of the Federal laws and constitution. After reviewing the case further, he denied the injunction on the ground that a court of equity has no jurisdiction to entertain a bill for the removal of a public officer from his office.

When informed that Judge Taft at Cincinnati had refused jurisdiction, Gov. Taylor gave out the following signed statement:

"The decision of Judge Taft to-day, holding that his court has no jurisdiction in the case of the minor State officers, does not affect the merits of the case. He does not determine that the petitioners had no merits in their cases, but only that his court could not take jurisdiction and right the wrong. If he had held that he had jurisdiction it would have all been over, for the outrages were so glaring that the Republicans would have won, 'hands down.' The decision in said cases does not in the least affect my case."

Gov. Taylor issued an address to the people of Kentucky, reciting his position on the present conflict. He reviews at length the obstacles the Republican candidates met with in the election on Nov. 7, and charges that nearly 50,000 votes were stolen from him by the partisan, unfair, brutal actions and rulings of the election officers and the contest board. He says sufficient of the militia will be retained to preserve the peace. Gov. Taylor concludes with a detailed recital of his course in connection with the peace conference proceedings. In short, he says that though he would have been reluctant to sign away the rights of the people, he would have done so had he been given assurance that a fair election law would be substituted for the one which has brought so much distress to the people of Kentucky.

Gov. W. S. Taylor, in an attempt to anticipate similar action by the Democrats, filed a suit in the Circuit Court at Louisville, seeking an injunction to restrain J. C. W. Beckham from attempting to perform the duties of the office of Governor and Gen. John B. Castleman from attempting to discharge the duties of adjutant general.

ANTI-TRUST PROPOSALS.

Government Ownership and Free Trade the Leading Features.

The National Anti-Trust Conference at Chicago adopted a long address to the public, in which the people are urged to organize to deprive trusts of their power. It declares that the conference is not making war on business combinations to reduce cost and augment productive efficiency. It charges that oppressive trusts hamper the production of wealth. The Standard Oil, the Meat, the Anthracite Coal, the Sugar, the Paper and the Steel trusts are denounced by name. It charges that a Banking trust is threatened, which would dictate the volume of paper money and reduce all bankers to servants of itself. It declares that the tendency is toward a few great trusts which would become absolute masters of the American people. It declares that the only remedy is the abolition of legalized privileges of every kind, and especially those created by tariffs, by the granting of the money issuing function to private corporations and by private ownership of railroad and telegraph lines.

The address holds that no one can object to the abolition of tariffs which foster trusts. It declares that the trust magnates control the banks, and, with control of the volume of the circulating medium, they would absolutely dominate the commercial life of the nation. It holds that the telegraph is a natural adjunct of the postoffice, but in private hands it has worked vast evil. It declares that private ownership of railroads has furnished the basis of nearly every great commercial trust with which the people to-day are cursed. The coal trust is vitalized by railway privileges; the oil trust could not have acquired its power without them; the beef trusts and the grain elevator trust depend upon them; they make the steel trust flourish, and from express combinations down to newspaper agencies, from back rights at depots to freight discriminations a host of minor trusts suck in all the vitality they have as monopolies from railway privileges.

The conference adopted the following resolution introduced by Congressman Sulzer:

"Resolved, That the members of the Anti-Trust League shall give practical effect to their antagonism to trusts by refusing to purchase, so far as practicable, any goods made and controlled by a trust, and shall employ the weapon of ostracism against those who support with coercion and violence the monopolies which oppress the people."

TO EXTEND GREAT STRIKE.

All Men Working for Chicago Contractors to Be Called Out.

At a meeting of the business agents of the Chicago Building Trades Council a committee was appointed to make arrangements to declare strikes on all buildings in the United States and Canada where Chicago contractors taking part in the lockout are interested. The union officials claim that contractors have failed to get competent non-union workmen. The contractors have advertised for men throughout the United States.

Present indications are that the struggle will not open up in earnest for some time to come. Both sides are strengthening their forces in preparation for a long struggle. Both the Building Trades Council and the Building Contractors' Council have established pickets at all buildings in the process of construction. It is not probable that the trouble will end until either the contractors' organization or the union is disrupted. The contractors frankly admit that they are waging a war against trades unionism and declare that they will never talk settlement until the building trades unions in Chicago have become a thing of the past.

This and That.

Jas. Slaughter, 30, Danville, Va., goes to the pen seven years for forgery.

Man named Giles was killed by the explosion of nitro-glycerin near Lima, Ohio.

The ports of Rio Janeiro and Santos were officially declared free of the plague

The town of Hilo, Hawaii, terrified by plague, rebelled, and troops may be sent there.

Great Britain is endeavoring to induce the United States to join her in a parcels post establishment.

Lawyer Stockenstroom of Pretoria, now in command of a Boer commando, is heir to an English colonial baronetcy.

The new system of chilling moving freight cars by electricity generated from the axle while the car is in motion was proved successful in a run through the Southern States.

The Secretary of War has sent to Congress the report of a survey of a channel twenty-one feet deep from Kill von Kull to Raritan Bay, New York harbor, the estimated cost being $696,000.

The Senate spent Thursday in discussion of the financial bill. Mr. Allen concluded his speech, charging the Republican party with breaking faith with the people on bimetallism and systematically discrediting the work of the international bimetallic commission. Mr. Cockrell made a technical analysis of the House and Senate measures. He charged that the Senate substitute contained the initial movement toward the perpetuation of the national debt. In the House only minor business was transacted. The ways and means committee bill establishing tariff rates upon goods from Porto Rico into the United States and vice versa was reported and Chairman Payne gave notice that the bill would be called up the next Thursday.

As no Senator was prepared to proceed with a discussion of the finance measure the Senate transacted only routine business on Friday and adjourned early to enable members to attend the obsequies of Gen. Lawton. A bill was passed to erect a public building at Deadwood, S. D., to cost $200,000. After a brief session at which no business was transacted a recess was taken in the House until 8 p. m. The night session was devoted to private pension bills.

In the Senate on Saturday, when there were only a dozen Senators present, a Boer sympathy resolution introduced by Mr. Allen was passed before its purport was realized. A minute later the vote was reconsidered and the resolution went over. The financial debate was continued by Mr. Chandler, who opposed the gold standard and strongly urged the double standard. Mr. Chilton and Mr. Money also spoke. The House was not in session.

Speeches were made in the Senate on Monday on the financial bill by Messrs. Wolcott, Elkins and Butler. Mr. Allen's resolution introduced Saturday expressing sympathy with the Boers went over without losing its place. A large number of unimportant bills were passed. The House passed the bill to permit transit through the United States of goods in bond without the payment of duties; also private pension bills favorably acted upon at Friday night's session, and in District of Columbia legislation.

On Tuesday the Senate heard Mr. Allison in support of the financial bill, and Mr. Jones of Nevada in opposition thereto. Passed bill appropriating $150,000 to enlarge public building at Portland, Ore. The House passed bill increasing limit of cost of new Government printing office by $429,000 on account of rise in prices of building material.

The Senate on Wednesday by a vote of 45 to 25 rejected an amendment to the financial bill, offered by Mr. Chandler, authorizing the President to appoint commissioners to any future international bimetallic conference. Devoted the rest of the day to debate on the Aldrich amendment providing that the provisions of the bill are not intended to place any obstacles in the way of international bimetallism. The House debated the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, the arguments assuming a political tinge. The feature was a sharp colloquy between Messrs. Bartholdt, Benton and Pearce, all of Missouri, on the Nesbitt election law in that State.

Odds and Ends.

Dawson banks say the Klondike output the ensuing spring will be not less than $21,000,000.

A bullet landed in Gen. Botha's pocket while British were shelling Boers before Ladysmith.

Forty-three per cent of the fruit trees in Southern California are orange and 15 per cent lemon.

Cuba, Hawaii and Porto Rico will have American exhibits under "Old Glory" at the Paris exposition.

Stage scenery of the late Salvini was sold at Columbus, Ohio, for $1,795. It originally cost $30,000.

Count Von Buelow's speech in the Reichstag has aroused a fresh anti-British sentiment in Germany.

It was reported that the Admiralty Island natives killed and ate the crew of the trading schooner Nipamarra.

Medical inspectors excluded 452 pupils from the public schools of Chicago on account of more or less contagious diseases.

In anticipation of the passage of the shipping bill, many orders for merchant vessels have been placed with American ship builders.

A volunteer in a Colorado regiment at Manila has been cured of stuttering by being shot through the throat by a Mauser bullet.

A man in Philadelphia makes a living by selling foreign hotel, express and railroad labels to people that paste them on their baggage to create the impression that they have been abroad.

President McKinley has been invited by the executive committee of the Ecumenical Conference on Foreign Missions to attend one of the sessions of that conference, to be held in New York in April.

Each battalion chief of the New York fire department is shortly to be supplied with a pocket telephone, which may be affixed to any fire box, and will then enable the operator to talk directly with headquarters. The attachment is simple and the device may be carried in an inside pocket.

Centralia, Mo., has a flourishing organization known as the Backbone Club. Every member must sign a pledge that he will not use tobacco during 1900. The rules provide that if any member shall break his pledge he must wear on the lapel of his coat a badge bearing in large letters the words, "I Have No Backbone."

Plans are under way for the construction of 300 miles of trolley lines in Hawaii.

The wages of Pullman car conductors are to be cut, some to the extent of 20 per cent.

Capt. John K. Waring, Second infantry, physically incapacitated, has been retired from active service as a major of infantry.

Half a million dollars is the estimated cost of repairing the Olympia, according to the reports to the board of naval construction. The work will occupy about a year.

Andrew Carnegie has given $50,000 apiece to York, Pa., and East Orange, N. J., for public libraries.

The Mississippi Legislature has elected ex-Gov. McLaurin United States Senator for the long term and W. V. A. Sullivan for the short term.

The Chinese Six Companies of San Francisco will assist the police in terminating the highbinder war. The companies have put up $17,500 as a reward for the murderers.

Mrs. Edgar A. Storer, wife of a Columbus, Ohio, banker, has found among old papers a grant signed by one of Washington's generals for 80,000 acres of land located in Kansas.

HOOSIER HAPPENINGS

NEWS OF THE WEEK CONCISELY CONDENSED.

What Our Neighbors are Doing—Matters of General and Local Interest—Marriages and Deaths—Accidents and Crimes—Personal Pointers About Indianians.

The Indiana Crops.

Indiana last year had 108,082 acres of potatoes, yielding 76 bushels per acre, and making a total production of 8,214,232 bushels. Twenty-seven states had a larger yield per acre, and nine states had a greater area planted. The yield per acre, 142 bushels, was the largest in Rhode Island; the smallest, 44 bushels per acre, in Tennessee. New Mexico had the smallest acreage, 734. The yield in Illinois was 96 bushels, in Ohio, 71, and in Kentucky 51.

Indiana raised last year 85,296 bushels of buckwheat on 5,831 acres. Out of twenty-four states, ten had less acres sown than Indiana. Pennsylvania had the largest crop, 4,845,000 bushels from 242,280 acres; Oregon the smallest, 4,080 from 240 acres. Illinois had less than Indiana.

Minor State Items

The delinquent tax sale in Union County was the smallest for many years.

Claude Krider of Peru, aged 16 years, is likely to die from excessive cigarette smoking.

At Jeffersonville Nelson Dickerson was sentenced to the penitentiary for life for the murder of "Toad" Richardson at Cementville last October.

In a fight at Avoca, near Bedford, Thos. Pierce, an aged man, was hit on the head and had his skull crushed by George Deford. He will probably die. Both parties are good citizens.

The First Baptist Church of Laporte has publicly burned the mortgages, which have been a burden to the congregation for several years. The heavy debt was recently subscribed and paid.

W. M. Paige, general manager of the Standard Oil Company's interests in Ohio and Indiana, has bought of David Horner the 200-acre farm near Marion, formerly owned by David Horner, for $12,000.

Louis and Martin Enyart, aged 75 and 68 years, respectively, have lived on their farm near Logansport in single blessedness all their lives. By frugal methods they have accumulated considerable money.

Indianapolis and Muncie capitalists have leased the I. O. O. F. Building on West Sixteenth street, Bedford, and will open up a large candy factory at once, under the name of the Southern Indiana Candy Company.

The affairs of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, a State institution of Fairmount, which failed during the panic of 1893, has paid the depositors in full and nearly all of the $50,000 of capital has been returned to the stockholders.

William Newton, aged 15, was killed at the Indiana paving brick works, Brazil, by being caught in a belt and wound about a shaft. His head struck a large pipe at every revolution and was reduced to a pulp, his brains being spattered about.

In the Kosciusko Circuit Court, Jordon E. Gibson of Logansport, the contractor and builder of the Fulton County Courthouse, has just been awarded a judgment of $11,595.81 against the Fulton County Commissioners for extra work and material.

William Baker, an iron worker from Pittsburgh, who was noted among the iron workers throughout the country on account of his ponderous size, was found dead in bed at New Albany recently. He weighed 350 pounds. It is claimed that he was the largest man in the United States who worked at an iron furnace.

Fort Wayne is to have a milk trust which will include all the dairymen who supply consumers in that place. It will capitalize at $25,000. Local capitalists will be asked to subscribe to the stock, and the city to co-operate by exacting a license fee of $100 a year from any non-resident who proposes to sell milk in town.

For the first time in many years the city of Kokomo has an empty treasury. At a meeting of the Council recently the claims of laboring men on the streets were "hung up" for want of funds to pay the men. The large amount of street improvement and lavish expenditures for water and lights has depleted the treasury.

The public school building of Petersburg has been condemned by an expert architect. A largely-attended meeting of citizens was held to discuss the question of erecting a new building, and it was unanimously voted as the sense of the meeting that a building to cost not less than $30,000 be erected by the town at as early a date as is practicable.

The case before the Supreme Court to test the validity of criminal trials on information is attracting great interest in Peru. If decided adversely, fully 150 prisoners will be released, and among them will be Roy Jones, the abductor of Nellie Berger, who is in jail there awaiting trial, and is held on information only. Jones has been in jail since August 8 last, and the third term of court since then is now in session. It is thought that his trial will come up the last of this month.

The Pennsylvania suburban ticket offices at Silver Grove and Howard Park, three miles apart, between Jeffersonville and New Albany, were robbed one night recently. A watch and a pair of bracelets, belonging to the agent, Mrs. Lawrence Jackson, some tickets and $1.50 in money were secured at Howard Park, and a quantity of confections, some tickets and small change were secured at Silver Grove, where Matt McGammon is agent. Entrance in both cases was effected by

TO-DAY'S POSSIBILITIES.

I may not, when the sun goes down,
Have added to my store
Of worldly goods or gained renown
Through gallantry or lore.

I may not, while I strive to-day,
Move onward to the goal—
The gleaming goal so far away—
On which I've set my soul.

But I can show a kindness to
Some one who stands without,
And I can praise some toiler who
Is toiling on in doubt.

And when the sun goes down I still
May be a better man—
No matter what the fates may will—
Than when the day began.
—Chicago Times-Herald.

Finding the Diamonds.

IT was her system that made Mrs. Robinson what she was. If a lie got loose anywhere near she was up and after it with anything she could lay her hands on.

She showed you that lying didn't pay when she was concerned. A lie turned into a serpent as soon as it got out of your mouth, and you were glad to get behind another.

Not to say that her system hadn't its drawbacks. Every system has. And the naked truth is sometimes as awful a thing—ten times more awful than any lie you can think of at the time.

When Susan Jones came, however, Mrs. Robinson had her work cut out. The girl lied like an eel—there was no catching hold of her.

At first she just chirped out lies as light-hearted as a bird. "Pleas'm, it were the cat," or anything that came uppermost. But the cat had a way of proving an alibi that astonished Susan.

So Susan got as cautious as charity, and it would have done your heart good to see the two at it. For Mrs. Robinson had no sooner got the ferret of truth into one hole than Susan was out and in at another.

Anyone else would have got sick and disgusted, but Mrs. Robinson didn't.

"For," said she, "the girl has her good points, and I'll make a woman of her."

And she succeeded, for Susan got worn out by the sheer uselessness of the thing, and at last shut down in disgust. After that the girl did not depart from the truth for six months, and then she let off the awfulest lie Mrs. Robinson had ever heard in her born days. At least Mrs. Robinson thought it was.

It happened like this. One morning when Susan was in the coal cellar she found a lady's ring that dazzled your eyes and took your breath away.

"It's one of them 5-cent things as you can buy in any tinker's shop," she said to herself. "Just a lot o' rubbishy glass. I don't believe it's worth bothering about.

She took it to her mistress, however. Mrs. Robinson gave a cry when she saw the ring and started up with her mouth open. "It looks like one of the rings mentioned in my grandmother's inventory," she said. "I shouldn't wonder if it belongs to the lost set of diamonds."

Mrs. Robinson was a widow and lived with her brother John. Few men could look wiser than Mr. John when he tried. His spectacles made him look like Solomon. When he came home he put them on and raked out the inventory, and placed his forefinger on an exact description of the ring. It was valued at $200.

"I NEVER TOUCHED IT, MA'M."

After they had all wondered awhile they put on last year's clothes, got candles and went into the cellar, but though they shifted the coals about for hours they got nothing but their faces blacked. Mr. John's was the blackest.

When she had got herself washed and dusted Mrs. Robinson put the ring on and wore it till night, but before retiring to rest she put it on her toilet table in case it got lost in bed.

In the morning the ring was gone. Susan took a red face as soon as her mistress came down stairs. Mrs. Robinson just stood still and looked at her for a moment, and then she said:

"Susan, what have you done with the ring?"

"I never touched it, ma'am," was Susan's reply, and the girl sat right down on her chest and burst into tears.

"Then what are you crying for?" inquired her mistress.

But Susan sobbed on and said nothing.

"I'll give you an hour to make up your mind about it," said Mrs. Robinson. "You're not to do any work for that time."

Susan sat on the chest the whole sixty minutes and cried herself out. Mrs. Robinson came down at the end of that time and found her still glued to the lid.

"Now, Susan, I want the solemn truth."

"Yes'm."

"Where's the ring?"

"Mr. John took it, ma'am."

"My brother?"

"Yes'm."

Wise as he was, Mr. John was struck in a heap when his sister mentioned the matter. "What—wha—what?" he gasped. "The girl is stone mad. I never heard such a thing in my life. I never did."

"I guessed as much," replied his sister. "She is sitting on her chest, looking as guilty as a red herring."

"What is to be done?"

"We sha'n't call in the police. The girl has been making progress, and the prison would put an end to all that. I believe she will give us the ring yet. But it would be wrong to keep her here. She shall pack up to-day and leave to-morrow morning."

And Susan got notice accordingly.

"I knew you wouldn't believe me," said the girl, gulping down a sob.

"Then why did you tell me such a thing?"

"Because it's true."

"Don't say any more. I don't want to hear it. I don't suppose you will expect any wages."

Susan turned ghastly pale. "I must have them," she gasped. "My mother needs the money to pay her rent. If she doesn't get it they will turn her out into the street, and she's not strong."

"She doesn't intend to try to sell the ring—at least not yet," thought Mrs. Robinson. "If I give her her wages she won't need to do it, and she'll send it back."

As the old lady lay awake in the middle of the night, the door was cautiously pushed open and Susan came in silently.

"Mrs. Robinson, are you awake?"

The question came in a terrified whisper. Susan's eyes were staring out of her head, and her teeth were chattering.

"What is the matter, Susan?"

"Master has gone up to the garret with a candle. I think there is something wrong."

Mrs. Robinson came hastily over her bed and followed Susan noiselessly along the passage. A glimmer of light shone through the banisters above. Mrs. Robinson saw that her brother was coming downstairs, staring straight ahead with his eyes dilated.

He approached as stately as a wax figure, and almost brushed against them. The light of the candle fell full on their white, upturned faces, as he passed, but he took no notice of them.

Down the next flight of stairs he went, his sister and Susan following, for they wanted to see what he was going to do. They lost sight of him at the foot of the stairs, but soon heard the door of the coal cellar creaking on its hinges. Stealing toward it they peered through. He was inside working a stone in the wall, which in a few moments he dislodged and set down on the floor.

He next took an iron box out of the hole he had made, applied a key to it, raised the lid, and took some small article out.

Then he replaced everything as it had been before, and, carefully obliterating all traces of his operations, left the cellar.

As he passed his sister and Susan they saw that he carried the lost ring between the forefinger and thumb of his left hand.

He then made his way toward his sister's room, into which he disappeared for a few seconds. Coming out again he mounted the stairs in the direction of the garret.

"It's no use following him," said Mrs. Robinson. "I know the key he used and can get it in the morning."

Mr. John was coming down the garret stairs again, and they both held their breath in anxiety.

He came all right till he got about half-way down, and then, whether one of his heels interviewed a tack or something, no one will ever know, but all at once his legs shot out in front of him and he went sailing down the stairs, missing one step more at every bump.

With the supernatural dexterity which characterizes the somnambulist, he managed to keep the candle in all the time, and now set it down in the lobby with a clank right end up.

Mr. John rose with his face quite serious, and without rubbing himself or anything, went along the passage and disappeared into his own bedroom.

"It is evidently not the first time he has walked in his sleep," said the old lady. "He must have visited the box before. That is how the ring came to be found. It must have dropped on the floor. To think that I never had the slightest suspicion? Susan, can you ever forgive me?"

"Yes'm."

"There, you see the ring on the toilet

"HE WAS INSIDE WORKING A STONE IN THE WALL."

table, just where I left it the night it went amissing," remarked Mrs. Robinson, as they entered her bedroom. "The lost diamonds are in the box which is hidden in the wall. I saw them. Get to bed, and we'll see them in the morning."

And they did see them, and a wonderful set of diamonds they were. A beautiful, dazzling, shimmering necklace, and bracelets, and rings, all as set forth in the inventory.

"It was really you who found them," said Mrs. Robinson to Susan, "and I'll have them valued, and you'll get your legal reward and more. I'll pay your mother's rent as long as she lives."—London Weekly Telegraph.

The individual who frequently goes on a tear is seldom able to pay the rent.

DISTANCES IN SOUTH AFRICA.

They Often Appear to Be Somewhat Confusing.

The question of distances in South Africa appears to be somewhat confusing. The figures here given are taken from official sources and may be relied upon. The distances in which the most interest is taken are those between Cape Town, Durban, and Port Elizabeth, the main British bases on the seacoast, and the towns of Ladysmith, Kimberley and Mafeking. In each case is also printed, for purposes of comparison, the name of some town or city which lies at about the same distance from Chicago.

The distance from Cape Town to Kimberley by railroad is 647 miles. From Chicago to Minneapolis is only 421 miles, while, continuing the journey, it is but 618 miles to Watertown, S. D. From Cape Town to Mafeking is 870 miles, which is forty-two miles less than the distance from Chicago to New York. If the English, moving from Cape Town, should start to capture the capital of the South African Republic they would be obliged to travel 1,040 miles to reach Pretoria, which is practically equivalent to the distance between Chicago and Denver, 1,083 miles, and is 118 miles further than from Chicago to New Orleans. In a movement from Cape Town to Bloemfontein, the capital of the Orange Free State, 750 miles would have to be covered, which is more than equal to the distance from Chicago to Des Moines, Iowa, and return.

From Durban, the chief sea port of the English colony of Natal, it is 189 miles by rail to Ladysmith, while from Chicago to Springfield, the capital of the State, is 185 miles. If an expedition against the capital of the Transvaal republic should be started from Durban it would be obliged to cover 511 miles to reach Pretoria. From Chicago to Omaha would be a shorter journey by nineteen miles.

Port Elizabeth is another sea port with railroad connections which might be used as a base for military operations. From Port Elizabeth to Pretoria is 740 miles and to Bloemfontein is 450 miles. Comparative distances are from Chicago to Baltimore, 801 miles, and from Chicago to Kansas City, 488 miles. From Delagoa Bay, in Portuguese territory, the port from which the Boers have received their supplies and munitions, to Pretoria is 394 miles, thirty miles further than from Chicago to Cairo, Ill.

When, soon after Oct. 10, 1899, the date of the Boer ultimatum, the forces of the Transvaal moved down into Natal from their headquarters at Johannesburg, they advanced 252 miles before they met with the British at Glencoe. Then, after the fighting at Dundee, which is on a spur of the main railroad, they made a further advance of forty-two miles to Ladysmith. Thence, still following the railroad, they moved south sixteen miles and succeeded in destroying the railroad bridge at Colenso over the Tugela River, thus cutting the line of communication with Durban, 173 miles away.—Chicago Tribune.

MAP SHOWING DISTANCES IN SOUTH AFRICA.

A Hero of the Mines.

In Rossmore mine, in Pennsylvania, there is a celebrated mining mule, Old Duke, by name. Old Duke has been there for thirty years and has saved many lives. He has an instinct for fire damp—the deadliest of all dangers that threaten miners—which is marvelous. Nothing else makes him uneasy. But once he sniffs the fire damp he bolts for the lift. This gives the alarm, and the men follow in his path.

They are not born in pits and caves, these mules whose lives are passed beneath the earth. But they are used in mining, and from the day when they first enter the mine they never leave their underground quarters until accident, old age or lameness renders them unfit for further work.

He Rose to the Occasion.

There was a bit of fence opposite Rowley's drug store in T——, Kan., and as it proved convenient to loungers it was broken down more than once. The owner, after putting it in order a second time, fastened a barbed wire on the top. There was fun for the clerks for a while watching those who, when just about to sit down, suddenly concluded that business called them elsewhere. One day a farmer in from the country lounged up to the fence, and, without noticing the barber wire, drew himself up and sat down squarely. He didn't jump, he didn't swear; he merely got up and remarked coolly: "I think I've dwelt on that point long enough."—Harper's Bazar.

Much the Same.

Johnnie—Paw, what is a "paradox?"

Paw—Well, a paradox, my son, is something that is self-contradictory—something that doesn't seem to agree with the facts which permit it to exist.

Johnnie—Oh, I thought it meant a pair of doctors.

Pa—Well, I guess it does.—Baltimore American.

Burning Playthings.

When a little Japanese girl marries the burning of the bride's playthings is part of the wedding ceremony. The bride lights a torch, which she hands to the bridegroom, who with it lights a fire in which the toys are destroyed.

One-Half Farmers.

Nearly 50 per cent. of the people of France and Germany are engaged in farming pursuits.

Muster of the Veterans

WHEN the sun of August begins to redden the green out of the foliage the veterans of the civil war in thirty-fifth national encampment will assemble in the State where their order had birth. Not in the city where the original post of the Grand Army of the Republic was instituted, indeed, but in the borders of the State where the idea was first promulgated and carried into effect. Next August the veterans will meet in Chicago, but the army, once an appreciable proportion of the grand army which dropped the sword for peaceful pursuits, is fading away with the lapse of years.

Boys in years and animation when the smoke of the big guns curled about Fort Sumter, nothing but gray beards remain to-day. Veterans then have long since passed over the great divide. Nine years ago the army was nearly twice as strong as it is to-day. It is fitting indeed that as the day draws near when there will be no Grand Army left these who still cling to life should return to the old homestead in reunion. Born of the consciousness of a son of Illinois, native to the Prairie State, it is fitting that the Grand Army should meet again in the State that gave birth to the designer of the order.

Thirty-four years will have passed away when the next meeting is held since the first national encampment was held in Indianapolis. Half a dozen States were represented in that gathering, with but 228 members in the assembly. Illinois had something over twenty posts then and was the only State organized into a department with department officers. Since then the army has prospered until every State in the Union almost has a department, a large membership and large benefit revenue. In 1890 the comrades numbered over 400,000; to-day, less than ten years later, the army has been reduced to but a trifle over two-thirds the high-water mark.

B. F. STEPHENSON.

Line of March Shortened.

Year after year the line of march in all parades has been shortened, that the faltering veterans may not be overfatigued. Even when civic pride demands the old long lines the men with the blue blouses and bronze buttons pass the reviewing officer and then, again dropping their military formation, fall out of the line and mingle with the people who assemble to see the pageant. Stooped shoulders bent under the burden of years have replaced the erect body, and slow, halting steps have replaced the jaunty stride of the war days. The old men clinging fondly to the trinity of the order, charity, fraternity and loyalty, turn out indeed, but the long marches of forty years ago are beyond their strength.

Steadily each year the percentage of loss by death is rising until to-day it is almost as high as it was in the days when muskets were borne over the shoulders or leveled in fight. Nine years ago the high tide of the army was reached. Even then the losses by reason of the falling out of stragglers whose memories alone remain was heavy, as heavy as the average loss by death in any great battle. Last year the decrease in membership and the increase in flower-decked mounds was nearly as great as the total losses from all causes in the stiffest fight any member ever participated in.

But a few years remain of earth to the men who fought the good battle to preserve the Union. None lives now—with here and there a notable exception—but those who were beardless youths when they went to the front to throttle the most serious rebellion the world ever saw or ever will see. The men who in 1861 wore beards and had the tread of mature manhood have gone before to blaze the way to the haven of eternal rest for their juniors. Thirty-four annual encampments have been held since the organization was born in Springfield. A round dozen more assemblies will see the closing of the records, for the veterans will be all gone and posterity will have but the recollection of what they did and how in all the years since the close of the strife they have kept alive the loyalty to the flag which sent them out to face death in its defense.

In Past Encampments.

But a few years ago it was no uncommon thing for 100,000 boys in blue to assemble in the city chosen for the annual encampment of the Grand Army. Not all, indeed, held seats in the national body, but where that body met the comrades have been wont to meet and fight again the fights of the war. To-day if half that number—in spite of the heavy membership in Chicago and the State—should assemble from all over the broad land it would be a notable gathering. Age, poverty—few of the members are wealthy—and distance from the scene will prevent many a man from attending. Yet in every breast will be the hope, for every veteran realizes that this may be his last opportunity to meet with his comrades this side of the grave.

Thirty-seven years ago, while at the front fighting for the Union, the idea of an association of volunteers after their military duties had closed was born in the mind of a son of Illinois. Dr. Benjamin Franklin Stephenson, surgeon of the Fourteenth Illinois Infantry, and a native of the State, was the man who first thought out the scheme which has worked so grandly. With him as tent mate and intimate friend was Chaplain W. J. Rutledge. In the quiet hours of the night after "taps" had been sounded these comrades often talked of the hope of organizing the Grand Army. As early as the spring of 1862 Mr. Rutledge broached the topic and Dr. Stephenson elaborated it to include a national order.

Looking far into the future the Doctor saw that distress would come to the men of arms as the years passed by. Wounds and disease would cripple them prematurely. Hardships and exposure, bad food and not enough of that in the field would shorten the term of their active business life. Hope of aid they would have none unless, banded together as brothers, they should relieve each other. Seeking to keep alive the fires of patriotism, seeking to provide a relief association which should aid by the highest type of charity a deserving brother, seeking to perpetuate the brotherly feeling engendered of common hardships and perils, the Doctor saw in his mind the long lines of veterans marching together, shoulder to shoulder, in peace as in war.

An idea so born could not fail to germinate. The grand parade and review of Grant's and Sherman's armies in Washington following the declaration of peace had scarcely passed away until Dr. Stephenson began the active work of creating a grand army of peace. In March, 1866, Dr. Stephenson and Mr. Rutledge renewed their discussions with the purpose of putting their ideas into execution. In the preceding month Fred I. Dean was called in and the topic talked over with him. He prepared rough notes outlining the scope and purposes of the organization and a conference of the charter members of the department of Illinois was held in Springfield in March.

At that conference the following men, later prominent in the army, were present: Col. J. M. Snyder, Dr. James Hamilton, Maj. R. M. Woods, Maj. Robert Allen, Chaplain Rutledge, Col. Martin Flood, Col. Daniel Grass, Col. Edward Prince, Capt. J. S. Phelps, Capt. J. A. Lightfoot, Capt. B. F. Smith, Maj. A. A. North, Capt. H. E. Howe, Lieut. B. F. Hawkes and Dr. Stephenson. The conference decided to present the matter to Gov. Oglesby and the Governor heartily approved the project. The name was suggested by some literature received concerning a similar organization being discussed in Missouri under the title of the Grand Army of Progress.

In order to maintain secrecy it was decided to send the copy of the constitution and by-laws to Decatur for printing. I. N. Coltrin and Joseph Prior, of the Tribune, were thus made aware of the movement. Both were discharged volunteers and both took a strong interest in the project. Dr. J. W. Routh and Capt. M. F. Kanan, of Decatur, having been informed of the plans, went to Springfield, where they discussed it with Dr. Stephenson. They returned and organized the first post and then desired Dr. Stephenson, provisional department commander, to institute the post.

The First Post.

This was done on the evening of April 6, 1866, with the following charter members: M. F. Kanan, George R. Steele, George H. Dunning, I. C. Pugh, J. H. Nale, J. T. Bishop, C. Reibsame, J. W. Routh, B. F. Sibley, I. N. Coltrin, Joseph Prior and A. Toland. Commander Stephenson issued his first general order instituting this post and the Grand Army of the Republic was born. Then district and post officers were elected and new posts instituted. The second was created in Springfield, but other cities and towns claimed the honor, so that in a few weeks the department of Illinois had some twenty-eight posts scattered about the State.

MEMBERS OF GENERAL COMMITTEE, CHICAGO ENCAMPMENT.

Commander Stephenson named Captains Kanan and Dunning as a committee to prepare ritual, constitution and by-laws. The order was made April 18 and the committee lost no time, for the ritual was presented and accepted on May 9 by the department. The constitution was presented and adopted on May 15. The rules and ritual thus adopted remained those of the Grand Army until notified by the national encampment in May, 1869, when the ritual and rules that obtain to-day, with such modifications as the lapse of time have called for, were adopted.

With nearly thirty posts in working order and regulations approved by all adopted, the provisional organization was deemed to have served its purpose, so a representative gathering of the army was called for July 13. It was held in Springfield and the department formally organized. Gen. John M. Palmer was elected department commander, with Gen. H. John Cook as senior vice. The originator of the army was not chosen as head of the organization he had brought into existence, much to his disappointment. Yet his chagrin did not serve to abate his enthusiasm, for no man ever in the ranks worked more faithfully to make it succeed than Dr. Stephenson.

The First Encampment.

The idea of the founder of the army was to incorporate every State in the Union where a Federal veteran lived. It was to be a grand army in fact as well as in name. He did not rest with the State organization, but went to work vigorously to carry out his grand scheme. Gen. Cook in the absence of Gen. Palmer named the department staff and made Dr. Stephenson his adjutant general. Then in September of the year of founding a general order was issued calling the first national encampment Nov. 20 in Indianapolis. Seventy posts and 228 representatives composed the first national body of the Grand Army.

Gallant Stephen A. Hurlburt, whose shoulders had borne the double star in the volunteer army, was chosen to wear the badge of the army, whereon was spread the shoulder strap of major general. He was elected to the office of commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. The following officers were elected: J. B. McKean of New York, Senior Vice; Robert S. Foster, of Indiana, Junior Vice; B. F. Stephenson, Adjutant General; D. C. McNeil of Iowa, Quartermaster General; W. A. Pile of Missouri, Chaplain.

CHARTER MEMBERS OF FIRST G. A. R. POST.

Gen. Hurlburt administered the affairs of the army for one term, then giving away to another son of Illinois, the one who had attained the highest rank and greatest fame attained by a volunteer officer, John A. Logan. Gen. Logan became chief of the army in 1868. He signalized his administration by promulgating an order setting apart May 30 as memorial day. He issued his famous order No. 11 on May 5, calling on all survivors of the war to deck the graves of all fallen comrades with flowers on May 30. The ceremonials to be observed were left to the individual posts, as up to that time no ritual had been adopted for this purpose.

Its Struggles and Success.

In the early years, in common with all fraternal organizations, the Grand Army of the Republic struggled for life. But with over 2,000,000 volunteers to draw from it was merely a question of time when no city in the land would be large enough to handle all if all should meet at any national encampment. When the high mark was reached the army comprised about 50 per cent. of all the survivors of the war eligible to membership. Losses from various causes kept pace with gains for ten years. Then gains exceeded losses until 1890. Then the old fellows commenced to pass away with startling speed.

The Grand Army commenced to grow rapidly early in the '70s. By the close of the decade departments had sprung up all over the land. The membership was equal to any single army commanded by any general but Grant during the war. In 1890 the muster rolls showed 409,781 members. Last year but 287,981 veterans admitted adherence to the regulations. The losses from death are on the increase. Losses by honorable discharge are not as heavy as those by the final discharge.

Chicago must prepare to entertain 1,000,000 guests during the last four days of August. For the first time in a generation the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic is to be held in the city by the lake, and preparations are already under way to make the occasion outshine any national gathering ever held by that great organization.

"Approximately 750,000 veterans of the war are still alive out of the 2,225,000 recruits enlisted in that great struggle," said Secretary E. A. Bigelow, of the Executive Committee, having the management of the encampment in charge. "Of that number it is estimated from the rosters of the various divisions of the G. A. R. that 500,000 reside in the territory west of the Alleghanies, north of the Ohio River and east of the Missouri—that is, in the territory directly tributary to Chicago. They will come to this encampment—men who did not go to Philadelphia or Cincinnati or a half dozen of others—will come to Chicago. And we will make them welcome."

His Character.

The old hiring fairs are still held in some rural districts of England. There is a story of an old Gloucestershire farmer, who, seeming a likely lad at such a place, opened negotiations with a view to engaging him.

"Hast got a character from thy last place?" the farmer asked.

"No," replied the boy; "but my old gaffer be about somewhere, and I can get he to write one."

"Very well," was the reply. "Thee get it and meet I here again at 4 o'clock."

The farmer and the boy met at the appointed hour.

"Hast got thy character?" was the query.

The answer was short and sharp: "No, but I ha' got thine, and I bean't a-coming."

GATHER THE RUBBER

LUCRATIVE OCCUPATION PURSUED BY BRAZILIANS.

U. S. S. Wilmington Explores the Amazon River and the Passes of the Para—Strange Sights and Sounds of Life on a Tropical River.

"By studying on a map of Brazil you can see that the Para River extends almost due west, south of the Island of Marajo, to a network of narrow streams, known as the Passes, which connect the Para with the Amazon. These numerous channels are from seventy to 150 yards in width, and some of them are navigable for vessels of eighteen to twenty feet draft. These Passes are interesting enough to those traversing them in small craft, but to the officers and sailors of such steamers as the U. S. S. 'Wilmington' they are trebly so. At night there is little to arrest the attention other than the weird, dark shapes of the banks, which ever seem close aboard. The land being low and flat, and the trees near the water's edge, it seems as if the ship has forsaken her natural element and is running overland on invisible wheels.

"When daylight comes in a sudden burst of light like the unheralded flash of the theater's illumination, there is revealed on each side of the narrow channel the forest's solid wall, exposing to view a panorama of overhanging vines, of creepers and foliage and branches brilliant with the multitudinous hues of tropical vegetation.

"There is a strange chattering of animal life and a whirr of winged insects. The discordant cries of myriad parrots echo from the trees. There is human life, too. Here and there embowered in the jungle can be seen little wooden huts, with thatched roofs and sides open to the cooling winds.

"These are the homes of the rubber gatherers, who labor day in and day out collecting the milky sap of the Hevea brasiliensis. This rubber gathering is interesting, and the 'Wilmington's' crew watch curiously as the winding channel reveals little groups of natives at work along the edge of the stream.

"Those on board who have read the descriptions tell others of the manner in which the half-naked Indians labor, of how each family works what is called an "estrada," or street, a path through the forest, which embraces as many rubber trees as can be conveniently tended, of how these trees are slit with a machete and a cup fitted in the cut to catch the sap, and of the manner in which the owner makes his daily round and brings to his hut the collected juice.

"There is also interest in the description of its next stage, when the sap is dipped up by a stick and revolved over a smoky fire. The smoke causes each layer to coagulate on the stick, and when the desired amount is formed it is removed and made ready for shipment. These balls of crude rubber usually weigh in the neighborhood of twenty-five pounds, and are of a dark, lustrous hue. It was a novel experience, this visit of the 'Wilmington's' crew to the home of the rubber gatherers, and the closest attention was paid to the everchanging scenery as the white cruiser steamed slowly along through the Passes."—Ainslee's Magazine.

PAINFUL CEREMONY OBVIATED.

Device Invented for Filling Graves with Earth.

A device for use in constructing graves, the invention of Henry D. Cameron, of Burlington, Iowa, is designed to fill the grave with earth after the coffin has been lowered and to conceal as far as possible the actual throwing of th dirt upon the coffin, the most trying termination of the grave ceremony to the bereaved mourners. It consists of a receptacle, with detachable sides and bottom, and a gate in the latter so arranged as to be capable of being opened to allow the contents to fall. The front is a flexible curtain, extending from the top to the gate, and designed to prevent the earth within from being seen. The receptacle is filled with earth previous to the ceremony and carried to a convenient point. When all is over and the grave is to be filled, the receptacle is placed over it, and the gates opened, thus gently closing the last sad scene in a much more fitting manner than the seemingly cold-hearted return of the earth with a spade.

DEVICE FOR FILLING GRAVES.

Fertile in Mischievousness.

She wanted her little boy to be so polite, and she was very much mortified when he came in where she was entertaining a visitor with his hat on.

"Take off your hat, dear, and speak to Mrs. Primm," she said gently.

But "dear" paid no attention.

"Son, did you hear? Take off your hat," she reiterated in a more positive tone.

Still "son" paid no attention, and as he came close to his mother she lifted his hat for him. And the deluge that followed was equal to any collection that Herrmann ever got out of his magic hat.

The little fellow had filled it right full of black-eyed peas for his "shooter" and then stood on his head to put it on. And a lively bombardment followed that peppered the face of the baby lying asleep in its mother's lap, and hit the floor in rapid succession and bounced off in every part of the room, to the intense delight of the little fellow, who had prepared the snare so carefully.—Memphis Scimitar.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Positions Secured!

We aid those who want GOVERNMENT POSITIONS. 85,000 places under Civil Service Rules. 8,000 yearly appointments. Prepares by mail for all Government examinations. Fees cash or installments. A thorough and scientific course in all departments. Requires spare time only. Salaries twice as much as private firms for the same kind of work. The hours of labor are short, duties light, positions for life. Take our course of study and we guarantee that you will pass the Civil Service Examinations. Write, inclosing stamp, for our catalogue describing course to—BUREAU OF CIVIL SERVICE INSTRUCTION, Washington, D. C.

Eureka Harness Oil is the best preservative of new leather and the best renovator of old leather. It oils, softens, blackens and protects. Use on your best harness, your old harness, and your carriage top, and they will not only look better but wear longer. Sold everywhere in cans—all sizes from half pints to five gallons. Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

Eureka Harness Oil

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire to pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail, 50 cents per box. WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00. MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio. Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PATENTS DESIGNS TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS OBTAINED

ADVICE AS TO PATENTABILITY Notice in "Inventive Age" Book "How to obtain Patents" FREE

Charges moderate. No fee till patent is secured. Letters strictly confidential. Address, E. G. SIGGERS, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Beware of Counterfeits. Refuse all Substitutes.

Safe. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse dangerous substitutions and imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists.

CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO. 2106 Madison Square, PHILA., PA. Mention this paper.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio. Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given that I, Jacob Recktenwald, administrator of the estate of Joseph Recktenwald, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on

Friday, March 16, 1900,

at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court house door in Auburn, Indiana, the following described real estate, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to wit:

The west half of the west half of the southwest quarter of section eleven (11), township thirty-three (33) north, range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana. Said land to be sold free of all liens.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-third cash, one-third in twelve months, and one-third in eighteen months from date of sale; deferred payments to be evidenced by interest-bearing notes waiving relief and secured by mortgage on the premises sold.

JACOB RECKTENWALD, Administrator.

D. M. Link, Attorney.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until March 8, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following Iron Bridges:

One 85-ft. span on stone abutments.
One 40-ft. span steel legs.
Two 35-ft. spans on steel legs.
Three 22-ft. spans on steel legs.

The survey profile and specifications for superstructure are on file in the Auditors's office.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond, in compliance with an act of the General Assembly, and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor
Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14, 1900.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until

March 8, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m.,

for the construction of stone abutments for the superstructure of a steel bridge over Fish Creek in Troy township.

Plans and specifications are on file in the Auditor's office at Auburn.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond in compliance with an act of General Assembly and in effect after February 27, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the board of Commissioners of DeKalb county.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.
Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14 1900.

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches in diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & Co.

Bismark's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25 cents at R. B. McCord's Drugstore.

—Those advanced thinkers who insist on claiming the advent of the twentieth century, must admit that there is considerable going on back here in the nineteenth century.

Thursday's Daily.

—James McCoell of the Junction has moved onto a farm in Franklin township.

—R. M. Lockhart is arranging a program for a farmers' institute to be held at Ashley the first week in March.

—94 percent of the people you meet have indigestion. Tell 'em to try Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at McCord's

—Miss Laura Keeran has gone up to Corunna, being called there by sickness in the family of Dr. Fairfield Snyder.

—The Northern Indiana conference of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held at South Bend, March 1 and 2.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—Dr. L. A. Hines came over from Warsaw this morning and will spend several days here with his mother and other relatives and friends.

—A rate of one cent per mile will be granted by the railroads to those who wish to attend the national encampment of the G. A. R. at Chicago.

—An effort is being made to start a free mail delivery route starting from the postoffice at Waterloo. A number of farmers have taken an interest in the project.

—E. G. Melendy of Fremont has formally announced his name as a candidate for the republican senatorial nomination for this district. Three active candidates are now in the field.

—Hon. S. S. Shutt of Spencerville is a member of a mining company recently organized to prospect for gold in Georgia. A number of prominent Northern Indiana gentlemen are interested in the enterprise.

—Hon. C. M. Brown, of Auburn, was in the city yesterday on legal business. Mr. Brown represented DeKalb county in the lower house of legislature two terms with credit to himself and his county.—Columbia City Post.

—Look for "Fox."—On the crackers before your grocer bags them. Insist upon getting Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers. But what's the use telling you to do this? You are sure to do it if you know how good they are.

—Miss Belle Buss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Buss, was married at at 4 p. m. today at the home of her parents to Mr. Gus Dunn. The wedding was a quiet one, only members of the immediate families being present. We send congratulations to the young people.

—We learn from Garrett this afternoon that Dr. Browand, mention of whose accident was made yesterday, is in a critical condition. The severe burns received, added to his weakened condition from a recent severe illness, makes his case a serious one, but it is hoped that he will recover.

—John C. Summers started homeward bound for Pueblo, Colo., today at 10:21 over the Wabash. He has spent a few weeks most pleasantly here, for a large circle of old-time neighbors and friends were glad to meet him. He carries an abundance of good wishes for himself and his people back with him to his distant home.

—H. K. Leas called the democratic caucus to order last Saturday. A committee selected the precinct committee for Grant township and the following names were reported and the owners were declared to be the committeemen: South east precinct, W. S. Sewell and J. W. Jackman; Northeast precinct, Lee Stametz and John Jackman; West precinct, S. A. Dilgard and Mart Rhinehart.—Waterloo Dawn.

—The debate on the status of Porto Rico, Alaska, Oklahoma, and the rest of the territories, will be tremendous import. For centuries to come, the decision reached by this Congress will probably control the fate of millions of people, to whom it will grant or deny the privileges of American citizenship. We should therefore approach it with an earnest effort to ascertain what policy is warranted by the constitution and what will be best for us all. Demagogism should be laid aside.

ALL WOMEN AGREE.

A druggist in Macon, Ga., says: "I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend, and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it. All women agree that it makes labor shorter and less painful."

Mother's Friend

is not a chance remedy. Its good effects are readily experienced by all expectant mothers who use it. Years ago it passed the experimental stage. While it always shortens labor and lessens the pains of delivery, it is also of the greatest benefit during the earlier months of pregnancy. Morning sickness and nervousness are readily overcome, and the liniment relaxes the strained muscles, permitting them to expand without causing distress. Mother's Friend gives great recuperative power to the mother, and her recovery is sure and rapid. Danger from rising and swelled breasts is done away with completely.

Sold by druggists for $1 a bottle.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA, GA.

Send for our free illustrated book for expectant mothers.

Friday's Daily.

—Simeon Maurer of Jackson was a caller at this office yesterday.

—W. A. Goodrich and Amos Lower of Fairfield township were callers yesterday.

—Miss Minnie Finch of Corunna is the guest of Misses Jessie and Etta Prickett.

—J. Y. W. McClellan and wife have moved into the Saxton property on Jackson street.

—Miss Mollie Wilson has been suffering for several weeks with an affection of the eyes, but is somewhat improved.

—Daniel Welch, who has been in poor health for some time, is reported much worse and is now confined to his bed.

—Ladies at Havana decorated the the wreck of the battleship Maine yesterday, being the second anniversary of its destruction.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rush today celebrated their fifty-seventh wedding day. We hope they will live to see many more returns of the day.

—Wm. Maxwell and Jacob Sechler of St. Joe were callers this week. Both are among our reliable patrons and we are always glad to meet them.

—Marion and Evans Dermott called on the COURIER yesterday. They are made joint executors of the will of their father, the late Jacob Dermott.

—The annual meeting of the state board of tax commissioners and the county assessors of the state will be held at Indianapolis, March 7 and 8.

—Mrs. Bent Shilling who has been suffering for some days with pleurisy, is improving. Her daughter May, who has been quite a sufferer from rheumatism for some time is also getting better.

—Sheriff Hathaway took young Eash to the reformatory at Jeffersonville yesterday to fill out his sentence. The young man will be in good hands there and it is hoped will profit by his experience.

—Trustee Madden has had a number of notices posted warning teamsters against hauling heavy loads over graveled roads during a thaw. Much damage is done where this provision of the law is not observed.

—Put on your "specks."—When you order Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers. Make sure that you get them. Put on your specks and look for the imprint of "Fox." If it isn't there, beware. This is a new shape and has been patented and cannot be imitated.

—A. C. Gruhlke has resigned his position in the target house and will devote his entire time to the business of the Star Electric Co. and his cigar factory which holds a large interest. Dexter Faucett takes Mr. G's. place in the target house.—Waterloo Dawn.

—The fair grounds have been let by Mr. Fisher to the High School Gymnasium Club and it is expected that the schools of Auburn, Butler, Garrett and Waterloo will engage in friendly contests. This is one of Prof. Smith's progressive moves.—Waterloo Dawn.

—A Lake Shore official told a Journal Gazette reporter at Fort Wayne yesterday that the proposed through line from Jackson to Cincinnati will be a reality in the near future. The route will be over the Lake Shore, Lake Erie & Western and Whitewater railroads, all of which are Vanderbilt lines.

W. L. Yancy, Paducah, Ky., writes "I had a severe case of kidney disease and three of the best physicians in southern Kentucky treated me without success. I was induced to try Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave me immediate relief and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy. H. B. McCord —Citizens of Montana are said to have formed a vigilance committee to prevent candidates for the senate from leaving money in their rooms. During the last campaign, it was impossible for a member of the legislature to go to his own home without finding money there. Even the bath rooms were not safe against this form of invasion.

—John Jones of near Moores station is in receipt of a letter from his brother William, a former DeKalb county boy, who is with the Thirty-fifth United States infantry in the Philippines. He says they have had several hard marches through the mud and rain, and some fighting, but they expect the war will end within the next six months. He is evidently not very favorably impressed with that country.

—The $20,000 damage case of Alvah Brandon against the Minneapolis Threshing Machine company has been set for trial at the next term of the United States court at Fort Wayne. It will be remembered that Mr. Brandon was seriously injured in 1897 while going down a hill with a traction engine and separator, the tongue of the latter breaking and allowing the machine to crash into the engine, pinning him against the fire-box. Hoffman and Moody are the attorneys for the plaintiff and the defendants are represented by Rose & Rose of this city and Fred Winter of Indianapolis.

Liberty, Ind., Jan. 10, '98.
Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.

GENTLEMEN:—For about 10 years I was affected with Constipation, Indigestion and Stomach and Bowel trouble. I tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and soon found relief. After using one fifty-cent bottle I am now well and can eat anything that comes on the table without suffering pain and distress in my stomach, and I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone that has any bowel or stomach trouble. If you are afflicted try it and you will be convinced. Very truly yours, C. H. SLONNEGER. For sale by H. B. McCord.

Saturday's Daily.

—I. B. Madden of Butler is one of the latest new subscribers to the Weekly. Glad to enroll him.

—The U. S. is going to see if it is not better to bring Rocky Mountain trees into the prairie states this side instead of taking eastern trees out there.

—Joseph Bell, postmaster at Artic, died suddenly last night at about 10 o'clock, after an illness of not over five minutes. We have no particulars.

—The jury in the case from Waterloo retired about 9 o'clock last night, and as we go to press no agreement had been reached and they were discharged.

—Jeremiah McClintic of Artic has been granted a restoration and increase of pension, and Mrs. Kate Fusselman of Newville a widow's pension.

—The Butler Canning Co., is settling up with the farmers for tomatoes bought last fall and in a few days will make contracts for next season.

—Take ten crackers of diffent brands, taste each without seeing the imprint and if one of Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers is among the number, you'll decide it is the best, much the best. That's the only fair way to find out the best.

—Our fellow citizen F. E. Davenport has again shown his progressiveness by securing the agency of Putnam Fadeless Dyes. This dye not only colors more goods than any other, but each package will color any and all kinds of clothes. Price 10c. 8

—F. A. Hogue, who lives one mile east of LaOtto in Butler township, will have a sale of his personal property Thursday, March 8, at 9:30 a. m. It will be a big sale for there is a large amount he wishes to dispose of before locating in Nebraska this spring.

—A deal was closed today by which Harry Trentman becomes the owner of the Abright building, now occupied by Davidson's jewelry store, and as soon as some needed repairs and improvements can be made the Trentman Sisters will occupy it with their millinery and fancy goods store.

—Carl Bergman of Pleasant Lake plead guilty in the Steuben circuit court this week to robbing his employers, Chadwick, Ransberg & Co., and was given a sentence of one to fourteen years in the Jeffersonville reformatory. He had invested the stolen cash in a livery barn at his home town and in a California fruit farm, and these were turned over to his employers.

OBITUARY.

Jacob Dermott was born in Schuylkill county, Penn., May 16, 1824; a son of Peter and Hannah Dermott. When eleven years of age he drove mules hitched to a car to haul coal out the mines. He worked two years at this work. When 15 years of age his parents moved to Paulding county, Ohio. Here he attended school one winter, which was all the schooling he had except in the stern realities of a frontier life. He went onto the canal at sixteen; drove the horses on the boat that carried passengers. He worked at this for two years. He then apprenticed himself to J. M. Miller, of Ft. Wayne, in the furniture and undertaking business. He worked for him six years and was offered a partnership but declined on account of his health. He was married Oct. 23, 1845, to Phebe Coburn, a daughter of Asher and Hannah Coburn. To them were born five children, four of whom are living, the eldest dying in infancy. In 1847 he bought the farm where John Benninghoff now resides in Allen county. Five years later he sold and bought in Concord township, DeKalb county where he has since made his home. He died of cancer in the stomach. He had had one removed a number of years before, from his back between the shoulders. During his long sickness he never complained and his only desire was to die and be freed from pain. He died Jan. 31, 1900. Age 75 years, 8 month and 15 days. The funeral services were held at the house on Sunday, conducted by Prof. L. W. Fairfield, and the remains were laid to rest in the Coburntown cemetary.

The wife and children of Jacob Dermott wish to express their sincere thanks to the neighbors who were so kind to them during the sickness and burial of their husband and father.

OBITUARY.

Susan Dohner was born in Markham township, York county, Canada, October 21, 1812. She was married in her fifteenth year to Christian Steckley. To this union were born five sons and one daughter; the daughter and one son preceded her to the better land. Her husband died January 4, 1884. The early part of her life was spent near her birthplace, and in 1840 she with her husband and family moved to Crawford county, Ohio, where they resided for several years. In 1864 the family moved once more and located in Stafford township, DeKalb county, Ind., where she resided until her death which occurred February 1, 1900, after an illness of about three weeks, at the age of 87 years, 4 months and 11 days. To mourn her departure she leaves four sons, seventeen grand-children, thirty-nine great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren. She lived a consistant christian life in the Dunkard church from the days of her youth. Her mortal remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Richland center. Funeral services were conducted in the Lutheran church near by, conducted by Rev. J. H. Elson, assisted by Rev. Gaff of the Lutheran church.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XVI.

February is the shortest of the months and the only one that varies in regard to the number of days it contains. All the eccentricities of the other months seem to be saddled onto this one, and more school children are given a brain fog over it, than over all the others. They must learn which years are leap years, and which are not, and then when they have been made to feel sure that every year that is divisible by 4 is a "leap year," they come into 1900, which is not a leap year and there they stick. We may suppose that February was selected to receive the additional day which belongs to every fourth year, mainly because it was the shortest month and the one that therefore needed the most help.

AS TO BIRTH DAYS.

This little month is famous for its birthdays. February 9, is the birthday of the famous General and Senator John A. Logan, though the usual celebration was not held this year, as his son's funeral interfered.

February 10, is the birthday of the world's greatest inventor, Thomas A. Edison, who this February completed his 53d year. He, however, regards himself as but a beginner, though fortune has rewarded his work. Each birthday a great fete is prepared for him at his home, and he receives letters of congratulation and birthday gifts from rulers and crowned heads, to all of whom he makes a courteous acknowledgement marked: "Dictated in phonograph."

Daniel Boone, the great pioneer of Kentucky, and famous Indian fighter, was born February 11, 1735, in Pennsylvania, and his birthday is celebrated each year in many places in Kentucky. When thirty four years old, he in company with James Robertson of Virginia, suffered many hardships in first crossing the Blue mountains into Kentucky. Boone was a wilderness hunter, Indian fighter and leader, who from choice kept himself on the outer edge of civilization. Robertson was an Indian fighter. These two frontiersmen organized parties, who were the original settlers of Kentucky and Tennessee.

February 12, is the anniversary of Lincoln's birth, and the most widely celebrated of all natal days in this country, not even excepting that of Washington.

Thaddeus Kosciusko, the Polish prince and American general, was born February 12, 1746. After he had helped us in our revolutionary war, he returned to Poland, where later he assisted his country in the two wars that resulted in the first and second partition of his country. He left Poland and died in Switzerland in 1817.

Washington's birthday, as all know, is February 22. It has always been celebrated over the United States and in all other countries where a few Americans are in the same locality.

NOTED EVENTS.

February 10, was the first anniversary of our occupation of Iloilo, one of the chief cities of the Philippines, and is on the island of Panay.

Also on February 10, one year ago, President McKinley signed the treaty of peace that closed the Spanish-American war.

Also February 10, one year ago, our forces fought the battle of Caloocan, north of Manila, the first of the fights that may be called battles, though we had several rough and tumble battles or skirmishes before that.

And so we might go on indefinitely, but this article is already long enough. It is sufficient to say, that there are no flies on little February—generally.

Frequent Coughing.

Inflames the lungs. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the coughing and heals the lungs. The ordinary cough medicines which are simply expectorants, will not do this, as they keep the lungs irritated in throwing off the phlegm. H. B. McCord.

Kimberley Relieved.

Yesterday, Friday, the first dispatches came from Lord Roberts since he and his other columns started on Monday for the general advance. Gen. French, who had been sent on another road with a force of cavalry, mounted infantry and horse artillery, had a hot march and some fighting, beginning on Monday. By Thursday, he had driven the Boers from every point on his march and entered Kimberly, which has been besieged since October 13, by a heavy force of Boers under Gen. Cronje, the next best man they had after Gen. Joubert who has been beating back Gen. Buller, near Ladysmith. The British force in the city was about 4,000.

The movement began on Monday, when French swooped down on Dekil's Drift and across. Tuesday he continued his dash and moved his forces twenty-five miles in a little over six hours, capturing three Boer laagers at Klipt Drift on the Modder river. The march was accomplished during a fierce sandstorm and while the heat was terrific. That was the last heard of him until the relief of Kimberley was announced today. It is figured that after a brief rest he pushed right on for Kimberley, reaching there in less than forty eight hours after his capture of Klipt Drift.

Cecil Rhodes, the "Colossus of South Africa," has been in Kimberley ever since the siege began, and the Boers made desperate efforts to capture the place because of their hatred of him.

It was recently reported that $30,000,000 worth of diamonds were stored in Kimberley, and the Boer government had, it was said, formed a syndicate among the troops, in the event of the capture of the beleaguered diamond city.

A Remarkable Discovery.

A remarkable discovery is one of the chronic proclamations of advertisers. No such claim is made, for Lichty's Cough Cure is an established remedy with known merits, made on scientific principles by experienced chemists. It stops coughing at once; will not cure consumption, but gives temparory relief and absoutely cures all other affections of the throat and the lungs. For croup, whooping cough and colds, Lichty's Cough Cure is invaluable. 25 and 50 cent bottles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Superinduced the Gestures.

Teacher—Your recitation was extremely good, Johnny. The gestures were particularly natural. Where did you get them?

Johnny—Git what?

Teacher—The gestures.

Johnny—I ain't got the gestoors. It's hives!—Catholic Standard.

Could not fix 'em All.

Bald heads, hard work, love, warts on the nose, bicycle faces, war craze, swell head, delirium tremens, unhappy marriages, insanity and punctured tires have never been cured by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to our knowledge, but for a sure and pleasant remedy for indigestion, constipation, sick headache and all stomach troubles, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the surest, safest and most pleasant remedy. It is sold in trial size, 50c and $1 bottles by H. B. McCord, Druggist.

Too Industrious.

First Hen—Pray, what are you cackling about?

Second Hen—I have laid two eggs.

First Hen—I'll see that you are dismissed from the union. Just when we have eggs up to 30 cents a dozen you have to begin laying.—Ohio State Journal.

An Editor's Recommendation.

Mr. W. J. Hutchison, editor Gazette, Pleasantville, Mo, writes:—"I have used Krause's Headache Capules with satisfactory results. I bought a box which cost me 25c and one capsule cured me of a dreadful sick headache. My wife and myself have also used the other medicines prepared by the Norman Lichty Mfg. Co., and we recommend them to the public to be just as represented. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Judgment has been rendered in the Wabash circuit court against ex-Treasurers Gross and Geiger of Whitley county for money paid them as salaries for which there was no provision in the law. The judgments aggregate over $3,000.

NOTICE.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 bottle of Downs' Elixir if it does not cure any cough, cold, croup, whooping cough or throat trouble. We also guarantee Downs' Elixir to cure consumption, when used according to directions, or money back. A full dose on going to bed and small doses during the day will cure the most severe cold and stop the most distressing cough. E. M. FISCHLER, F. E. DAVENPORT, HOWARD MCCORD.

—A fellow giving his name as Baker has been working a number of farmers in Northern Indiana securing subscription at $1 each for the National Advocate, published at Washington, D. C. A dispatch from Laporte says Baker is a fraud.

'Tis Not True.

We do not sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for all diseases; it is only good for Constipation; Indigestion, Sick headache and Stomach Troubles and we guarantee it to cure. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—The Martin county council refused to pass the appropriations made necessary by the publication of the state food and health law, and the health officer will bring suit to compel them to be published.

Modern Science.

Has demonstrated that the old fashioned way of curing colds, la grippe sneezing, etc., is a thing of the past. For ten years Krause's Cold Cure has has been recognized as a specific for these troubles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Now Gen. Buller has captured a "kloof" after being driven away fuom a "kopje" and is being fired on from a "krants". Why not call them simply "valley," "hill" and "cliff" and go quietly about our business.

To Stop a Cold.

After exposure or when you feel a cold coming on, take a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails to stop a cold if taken in time. Take nothing else. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST.

—A Kokomo young man named Griffth who is a permanent invalid as a result of sickness contracted while with the 158th Indiana regiment at Chickamauga, has been granted a pension of $50 per month.

Frost Bites and Chilblains.

Quickly cured by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best healing salve in the world. It also cures burns, scalds, boils, ulcers, felons, corns, warts, skin eruptions, eczema, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, piles. Only 25 cents at R. B. McCord's Drugstore.

—There ought to be a good deal of snap about the new whip trust.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, March 1, 1900. | Number 9.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres J. C. Heary, V-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D Vesta W. Swarts, M D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND.
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Ltock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McCLELLAN, ESTATE CHARLES McCLELLAN D. A. GARWOOD, ISAAC HAGUE. } C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed } Gas Administered.
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC
Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to hronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

C. S. SMITH,
Auburn, Ind.
Attorney-at-Law
AND NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office over Bazar Store, formerly occupied by Judge Hartman.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examination s and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

Junk Wanted

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays

Best Cash Prices

for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.

Surprised the Pastor.

Rev. E. H Peters and wife of the M. E Church at Spencerville were very pleasantly surprised one day last week by a donation from their friends west of Spencerville. John Means, Thos. Farmer and John W. Bishop were the leaders of the affair and when their well filled wagons were emptied, the parsonage was well stocked with many of the things which make housekeeping happy. Every preacher's home should be forever [illegible] ningham House.

The donation amounted to about $250.

Populist State Convention.

The populist state convention was he'd at Indianapolis Thursday, about 400 delegates being present. The following ticket was nominated:

Governor—A. G. Burkhart, Tipton.

Lieutenant Governor—C. M. Waller, Rossville.

Secretary of State—Dr. W. T. Carmichael, Columbus.

Auditor of State—John W. Wales, Greenfield.

Treasurer of State—W. H. Kunse, Logansport

Attorney General—D. F. Boger, Shelbyville.

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Prof. W. P. Beasley, Vincennes.

Reporter of the Supreme Court—Charles Edward Hoffman, Clay county.

Statistician—A. L. D. Grindle, Starke county.

Supreme Judge First District—S. M. Holcomb, Gibson county.

Presidential Electors—Atwood Rowley, Columbus; H. Walker, Greenfield.

The Twelfth district was the only one not represented.

Kansas City Gets It.

Thursday the national democratic committee decided on Kansas City as the place and July 4 as the time for holding the next national convention. It was decided on the first ballot, the vote being 40 for Kansas City and 9 for Milwaukee. Kansas City donates $50,000 to the national committee for campaign purposes, and besides that, agrees to pay all the expenses of the committee. This is certainly a liberal arrangement. Philadelphia offered $100,000 for the republican convention, but at last accounts had not raised much of the money. Kansas City, however, put up a certified check, and that ends it. One reason for giving the convention to that city, is that it has the largest permanent hall in the country. Its size is 314x198 feet outside measure, and seating capacity 25,000. It was built last year by popular subscription. It has all conveniences including press galleries, committee rooms, etc.

Serious Accident.

A few days ago William Moore and wife, living northwest of Hicksville, were driving into Spencerville, Ind., late in the evening and the night being dark, the horse got too near the bankment near the bridge and upset Mr. Moore and wife, forcing the horse into the stream, breaking the ice and the horse went under the water and the buggy on top; it was a desperate struggle with the horse for some time to keep from drowning as the weight of the buggy kept his head under water a good share of the time. Quite a number of people came to Mr. Moore's rescue and with a desperate effort the horse was landed on the bank of the stream, but was nearly dead with cold. Mr. Moore was seriously hurt about the head and shoulders. One of his shoulder bones was broken and he will be an invalid for several months Mrs. Moore escaped a few light bruises. William Moore is a son of our esteemed citizen, Moses Moore, living south of Halls Corners, Ind.—Hicksville Independent.

Queer Mail Package.

The queerest package of mail we ever saw, was one received by Mr. Moody day before yesterday. It is a cocoanut, entire, husk and all, and was sent by his daughter, Mrs. Mattie Walters, who with her husband, is now at Palm Beach, Florida. There was no wrapping of any kind around the nut, but the address was plainly written on the smooth, close outside covering of the husk, nine one-cent stamps were pasted on the same smooth surface, and the package was ready to go. The hard nut we buy at groceries, has a soft, spongy covering over it, the outside of this being close, tough and smooth like the surface of the palm leaves we see made into fans. This one is quite a curiosity to those who never saw one, and Mr. Moody prizes it highly.

A Night Of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases Only 50c and $1 00 Trial bottles free at McCords drug store.

Farm for Sale.

Eighty acres of good land for sale. This farm is in Paulding county, Ohio, and only one mile from a good market and on a good stone road leading to county seat. Will sell this land cheap. It is the best of black soil and all about clear. There is no better land to be had. Cost this land. Will give purchaser [illegible] ..., O., care Cunningham House.

Was He Surprised?

If you don't believe it ask Jerry Bolinger. It having been learned that this gentleman intended to leave Auburn in a few days for Miamisburg, Ohio, where he has secured work, the A. O. U. W's and their wives to the number of thirty or more sprung a surprise on the aforsaid gentleman by congregrating at Frank Baughman, (next door) and at the appointed hour while Jerry was at the barn to see to his horse we all marched in and awaited his return. He came in "whistling up a tune" but when he beheld the crowd he changed his "tune" to one of surprise. Nothing but a flash light camera or a cinematograph could have recorded his expression. He confessed himself beaten for once, and then saw why his wife (who was in the secret) wanted him to stay at home when he spoke of going down town for a little while. Presently Bro. Baughman announced that supper was ready over at his house, and to say that the oysters, cake and coffee rapidly disappeared hardly expresses it. A social time interspersed with games followed, until the chanticleer by his shrill "crow" announced that morning was drawing nigh, when all betook themselves to their homes feeling that the evening had been pleasantly spent. —ONE WHO WAS THERE.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Billiousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles at O. P Barber's, Corunna.

A Pleasant Party.

The party at the home of Chris Ruse on South Jackson street last evening in honor of Mis Mary Kroll, was a grand success from start to finish. Those present were: Mary Kroll, Lena Damman, Maud Conrad, Eva Platter, Effie Smith, Nellie Smith, Bessie Kinsey, Katherine Richards, Nellie Boyer, Rubena Nagle, Cassell Caldwell, Wade McDougall, Alpha Showalter, Orville Wise, Purley Click and Carey Boyer.

An excellent supper was served at about eleven o'clock, and although several of the boys imbibed more than their shares of the good things, all went home filled with good cheer and voting Miss Kroll an excellent entertainer.

While the Battle Raged.

While the battle of Sedan was raging between the French and Germans, an old peasant continued to guide his primitive plow, drawn by an old white horse, backwards and forwards through his little piece of ground, regardless of the fact that he almost came within the firing line.

When the battle was over, some of the victorious Germans came up to him and told him the news. They found that he was quite deaf and almost totally blind, and did not know any battle had been fought, or even that war had been declared between Germany and France, despite the fact that it had been raging for a month.

Boy Stabbed.

Mrs. M. A. High was here today and reported a lamentable affair in the Braybrook school district over in Allen county. Her little nephew, Emery Smith, son of Levi Smith, was playing at recess, with a lad named Benninghoff. A sudden little quarrel arose just as the bell called them in. Young Benninghoff drew his pocketknife and stabbed the other in the back, the blade going into the kidneys. The lad is likely to die. Young Benninghoff is in jail at Fort Wayne.

Farmers' Institute.

There will be a farmers institute of Richland township held at the Lutheran church, Sedan, on Thursday, March 1. Hon. R. M. Lockhart will be assisted by Cal Husselman and other good speakers; to begin at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. The ladies of the Lutheran church will furnish warm meals at 15 cents each. The Woman's Missionary Society will be held at Mrs. Benson's on Friday on account of the institute taking their regular date.

A Monster Devil Fish.

Deseroying its victim, is a type of Constipation. The power of this murderous malady is felt on organs and nerve and muscles and brain. There's no health till it's overcome. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a safe and certain cure. Best in the world for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. Only 25c at McCord's Drug Store.

"Little Drops of Water,
Little Grains of Sand,
Make the Mighty Ocean
And the Pleasant Land."

How often have these words been spoken without a thought as to their meaning? How few people realize the real value of the moral attached to them? By far the larger part of Success in life depends upon our ability to "watch" the little things.

Success in business is no exception to the rule. We exercise the same care in selecting an article to sell for 10c as we do in selecting one to sell for $10.00. We show the same appreciation of a 10c sale as we do of a larger one.

We are as careful in our recommendation of a 5c calico as we are in a high class of dress patterns. You can depend upon what we tell you. Couple these facts with our well-known reputation for closeness in price, and doesn't it look reasonable to you that we are justly entitled to our greatly increasing trade? This week we are showing many new spring Dress Goods, Ladies' Silk Waists, Suits and Capes. New Clothing, Hats, Neckwear and Carpets, which we are very anxious to have you see.

We Are Saving You Money

SCHAAB & BRO.

Have You Heard Of It?

You may have heard about SCOTT'S EMULSION and have a vague notion that it is cod-liver oil with its bad taste and smell and all its other repulsive features. It is cod-liver oil, the purest and the best in the world, but made so palatable that almost everybody can take it. Nearly all children like it and ask for more.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

looks like cream; it nourishes the wasted body of the baby, child or adult better than cream or any other food in existence. It bears about the same relation to other emulsions that cream does to milk. If you have had any experience with other so-called "just as good" preparations, you will find that this is a fact.

The hypophosphites that are combined with the cod-liver oil give additional value to it because they tone up the nervous system and impart strength to the whole body.

50c. and $1.00. all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

To Stop a Cold.

After exposure or when you feel a cold coming on, take a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails to stop a cold if taken in time. Take nothing else. H. B. McCORD, DRUGGIST —Subscribe for the COURIER.

Worked Like a Charm.

The Visiting Club, an organization of which but little has been said but the members of which have all the fun there is going, played a trump card on Mr. and Mrs. William Sheffer last evening. The club had arranged to surprise a certain couple and Mr. Sheffer and wife, with a general supply of popcorn, were just about to leave the house to join them when the rest of the crowd came in, and then Mr. Sheffer "tumbled" to the trick. He struck a war like attitude and tried to scare the party away with his cane, but finally surrendered and acknowledged himself beaten. Mrs. Sheffer was none the less surprised, but soon recovered and proceeded to make the guests feel at home. Nice refreshments were served, and we are assured by several of those present that no more pleasant affair of the kind was ever held in Auburn.

To California Quickly and Comfortably.

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line. "The Overland Limited" leaves Chicago daily 6:30 P. M., arrives San Francisco the afternoon of third day, and Los Angeles next morning. No change of cars. All meals in dining cars. Buffet, smoking and library cars, with barber. "The best of everything." The Pacific Express" leaves Chicago daily 10:30 p. m. with first class and through tourist sleepers to California. Personally conducted excursions every Thursday. All agents sell tickets via Chicago and North-Western R'y. For full information and illustrated pamphlet apply to A. H. Waggoner, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill. 11

Union. Central

The following letter explains itself:

AUBURN, IND., Feb. 15, 1900.

HON. JNO. M. PATTISON, President.

DEAR SIR:—I have this day received through your local agent, E. L. Casebeer, $2,038.01 in settlement at maturity of my life rate endowment policy of $2,000, taken 26 years ago. I have made 26 payments of $49.56 each, and now, have not only drawn back what I paid in but $744 45 besides I have had 26 years of good, safe life insurance known in [illegible] closed with my investment.

[illegible] O. D. MITCHELL.

The above is the kind of policy our competitors say never mature.

E. L. CASEBEER, Agent.

James H. Smart Dead.

Hon. James H. Smart, president of Purdue University at Lafayette, died at his home there last night at 10:30 after an illness of several days. For many years had been in poor health, and at two or three times in the past few years, has been compelled to cease work, and take rest and treatment. Then as soon as he could attend to his duties he was hard at work again.

Prof. Smart has been one of the leading educators of Indiana and of the country. His first prominent work was in the schools at Toledo, where he took a leading position and published several small works on special subjects and methods of teaching including physical training. In 1865 he became superintendent of the city schools at Fort Wayne, and this gave him a place on the Indiana State Board of Education, in which he at once became a leader in practical work. In 1874 he was elected state superintendent of public instruction, giving him a still wider field of usefulness. It was while occupying this position that he was chosen one of the commissioners who organized an educational exhibit at the Philidelphia Centennial. It was the first exhibit of the kind ever attempted in the world, and the great educators from European countries, with whom Mr. Smart met in New York, were almost ready to give the thing up, as a department which could not be organized. In despair they called on the slender, almost feeble looking man from Indiana. He arose and gave them a plan, the first practical plan they had heard. His plan was adopted and the educational exhibit at the Centennial was the result. It secured him a high standing in educational circles over the world. After retiring from office, he was elected president of Purdue, and has faithfully and ably served in that capacity till his death. No other one man has so strongly left his imprint on the educational interests of the state, and a large circle of acquaintances will learn his sudden death with sincere sorrow.

Had Money to Burn.

S. Smith who resides north of town, is $55 poorer than he was ten days ago He had about $150 he had been carrying about his person, but his wife thought that not a safe place, so she induced him to let her care for it, and she placed the money in the top of a stove they had not been using. One day last week company came and a fire was started, but the money was not taken out, and after the money burned up, Mrs. Smith thought of the hidden treasure and went to the stove, taking off the top of the stove and with her hand brushed off the money, $55 of which was in ashes, and the remaining amount was in gold. Mrs. S. severely burned her hands in the excitement.—Waterloo Press.

Cold Steel Or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver trouble, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholy cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feel better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at McCord's drug store.

Won by a Few Rods.

For some time there has been a controversy between the Masonic lodges of Ligeonir and Goshen; the bone of contention being Millersburg, lying midway between the two cities, but in Elkhart county. A number of Millersberg men joined the Masonic lodge in Goshen, and the Ligonier Masons complained. Tuesday afternoon the question of jurisdiction was settled by measurement, and Ligionier was found a few rods nearer to Millersburg than Goshen. It will cost the Goshen lodge $100 in initiation fees, which have been paid The fact is now recalled that the same question was decided in the same way twenty-one years ago.

Mrs. Lawton Thankful.

Mrs. Gen. Lawton has sent a most grateful telegram to Gen. Corbin who has charge of the Lawton fund, thanking the people of the country through him, for the much needed contribution. She says "It has relieved the one anxious thought Henry would have had" which refers to his anxiety about the mortgage on his farm and the support of his family.

A Frightful Blunder

Will often cause a horrible Burn, Scald, Cut or Bruise. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, will kill the pain and promptly heal it. Cures Old Sores, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, all Skin Eruptions. Best Pile Cure on earth. Only 25 cts. a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord, the Druggist.

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XVII.

It is likely that this is an appropriate time to look a little on the back track of this great republic of ours, for almost everyone is taking sides for or against "expansion," and on this also, we might add, party lines do not fully divide the people. Party lines may be drawn eventually, but it will probably be done, not so much on the fact of expansion, for that is settled, mainly, already, but it will turn on the manner in which it is to be done and the treatment we are to give our new citizens.

But we have from the start, been a nation of expansionists. We united to defend ourselves against the unjust course of Great Britain and in the war that followed, we sent a small army into the then British territory now called Indiana, and captured or drove out the enemy. We took it by conquest and when the war closed, we insisted we had a right to keep it, and we got it under the same circumstances we got California, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Out of this conquered territory we have the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

We had a pretty smart expansion from the old thirteen colonies lying on the seacoast.

In 1803 we bought Louisiana, of the French government for $15,000,000, and that was a big expansion, for we acquired all the land north of that, lying west of the Mississippi, clear to British America and west to the Rocky mountains. This with slight exceptions, comprises the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma Territory, Indian Territory and parts of Colorado and Montana. Another big expansion.

In 1792 Capt. Gray of Boston, sailing on the Pacific discovered the mouth of the Columbia river, and that gave us a claim to Oregon and Washington by right of discovery. We clinched this claim by "exploration" for we sent two U. S. officers, Lewis and Clark, overlain, up to the sources of the Missouri, and over the mountains to the source of the Columbia and then down to its mouth. So we expanded nicely in that section.

In 1819-21 we bulldozed and bought Florida from Spain, an addition a third larger than Indiana, agreeing to pay debts Spain owed our citizens, not to exceed $5,000,000.

In 1845 we annexed Texas by a mutual agreement between that young republic and ourselves.

In the war with Mxico, 1846-48 we conquered California, by means of land and sea expeditions. We paid $15,000,000 and assumed debts of not over $3,500,000, they owed our citizens.

About this period we had a long struggle with Great Britain over the amount of land that belonged to Maine. The people there, wanted to "expand" and went around singing,

"The Aroostook is a right slick stream,
Has a nation sight of woodland,
And hang the fellow that would lose
His footing on such good land.
Beat the sheepskin, blow the fife,
And march in training order,
Our way is through the wilderness,
And all along the border."

We got the "Aroostook woodlands" all right, but should have had all the land east to the St. Johns river, and down that to where it turns east. We were overreached in the Webster-Ashburton treaty, 1842, about 6,000 square miles of good timber land.

In 1853 we scared the Mexicans into selling us Arizona for $10,000,000.

In 1867 we took in the first territory, that did not lie on our border. We jumped over and beyond the British possessions and bought Alaska of the Russians, giving them $7,200,000 in gold, which was then at a premium. It looked like a poor bargain, and many found fault on that score. Others disliked the idea of taking in any territory that was not on our own borders. For years much criticism and ridicule followed this bargain. But we are now satisfied.

We had at various times acquired several little islands in the Pacific, some by discovery, and some because no one else cared to take them. They were of no especial value. Some of our citizens bought and held as private property, several guano islands.

Then we bought land enough in Tutuila, one of the Samoan islands, to give us its only good harbor, Pango Pango, which we wanted for a cooling harbor. We have dumped off a few ship loads there, but now have the entire island.

We also bought for the same purpose, Pearl Harbor, on the island of Oahu, one of the Sandwich islands, the one on which is the largest city, Hopolulu. Now, we have got all the islands by permitting our friends to drive out the queen and establish a republic, which later on, they turned over to us by annexation. They are out in the Pacific, 2,000 miles from San Francisco.

In our next we intend to give some interesting information about the islands we acquired from Spain, valuable facts we have hardly had time to learn.

(Concluded next week.)

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

WOMAN

MUST WORK TOGETHER.

BEFORE giving a command a mother should ask herself if it is necessary, and also whether she is prepared to enforce it in case of disobedience; if she is not, the command had better not be given. The authority of one parent must be upheld by the other if the best results are to be secured in the government of their children. Whatever their private differences of opinion may be, neither should ever, by word or look, question the decisions of the other in the presence of the children. The word of either should be law in the household, and this cannot be if the partner who should be the most loyal in upholding it is an opposing power. The line of conduct to be followed should be decided between them, and in unexpected emergencies the private judgment of one should give way to the expressed wish of the other.

The fullest liberty is found within the limits of law, and children who are trained to obedience can be permitted far more freedom than those who cannot be trusted out of sight for fear the liberty permitted them will degenerate into license. The child whom experience has convinced that his parents' prohibitions are not arbitrary, but are founded on kindness and justice, will not often disregard them. Lapses there may be, as no human beings are perfect. But the lapses will not be many, and from the nature of the case chey will bring their own punishment, convincing the offender, as nothing else will do, that the path of obedience is not only the safest but the pleasantest to walk in.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Wants Men to Stand.

The Woman's Municipal Ownership League, of Chicago, under the direction of Mrs. Minano Stearns Fitts, has started a crusade against men who monopolize car seats when women are standing, says Leslie's Weekly. Cards are distributed to men who are seated in street cars while women are standing. The cards bear the following legend: "Gentlemen, stand up and give the women seats. You can vote for municipal ownership and stop this thing—they cannot." Mrs. Fitts is credited with being the originator of this original scheme, which created quite a sensation. The idea was to call the attention of the men to the fact that voters were responsible for existing conditions, and to show both men and women that if men claim that women are a protected class, women, some of them at least, have sufficient courage to demand that protection. Many men confessed that the card was the first reminder they had ever had that men are, indeed, responsible for evil civic conditions, and that women are not responsible, yet suffer equally with them the injury done.

MRS. FITTS.

The Girl with a Temper.

The girl with a temper can be very fascinating when she likes. She usually has nice little ways and can perform certain acts with grace and cordiality. But she has no idea of proportion in important and unimportant matters. You may devote your life to her, but if you are clumsy or stupid before strangers she will electrify you by telling you how unbearable you make life for her. She usually repents of this in an hour, says she did not mean all she said, and that it was her dreadful temper that spoke. If you love her very deeply you forgive her, of course, but the ache of that and similar strokes will persist in remaining.

If the girl with the temper is plain in feature she has less excuse made for her, and her circle of intimates becomes more restricted as the years grow. The pretty girl with the temper has more immunity from blame, especially when she is young. The chances are, however, that she will plunge some man and herself, too, into life-long misery. The habit of tempestuous fits strengthens with the years. The girl with the temper scarcely ever gains much through knowledge, for knowledge to sink deeply requires calm, restful soil, which it cannot find in the mind given to upsetting itself and others on all occasions.

What "Wife" Means.

Says Ruskin: "What do you think the beautiful word 'wife' comes from? It is the great word in which the English and Latin languages conquered the French and Greek. I hope the French will some day get a word for it instead of that femme. But what do you think it comes from? The great value of the Saxon words is that they mean something. Wife means 'weaver.' You must be either housewives or housemoths—remember that. In the deep sense, you must either weave men's fortunes and embroider them, or feed upon and bring them to decay. Wherever a true wife comes, home is always around her. The stars may be over her head, the glow worm in the night's cold grass may be the fire at her feet, but home is where she is; and for a noble woman it stretches far around her, better than house ceiled with cedar, or painted with vermilion—shedding its quiet light for those who else are homeless. This, I believe, is the woman's true place and power."

Make Evenings Pleasant.

One means of gaining happiness is the art of laying aside in the evening all the work and duties of the day.

Every person ought to have some simple evening diversion as a relaxation, even if it is only the pleasure of having a good magazine to read aloud, or some simple pleasure to share with others. Even if you are very tired when you come home from your duties, make up your mind to have some little pleasure with which to finish the day. Try this plan, and see if your whole mind is not healthier and happier for it.

One simple pleasure that the lives of all girls ought to hold is the home element, the home spirit. Some of you will answer that you have no homes. Well, the beauty of the real home spirit is that it will, if you invite it, come to live in even the most unhome-like places. I have seen a small tenement more home-like than a handsome mansion. A pot of flowers, a few loved books, some very simple comforts, and those little invisible touches here and there which only a girl can give, the gathering together now and then of a few congenial friends, and behold, the home spirit is around and about you.—Ladies' Home Journal.

How to Cut a Dress.

Having selected the material, decided upon the style, shrunken your haircloth and dress material (if it needs it), the cutting comes next. Skirt linings, inter-linings and facings should be used lengthwise; that is, with the selvedge running from the waist to the hem. But waist linings are cut with the selvedge at the neck and waist line instead of at the sides of the various forms; there is less "give" to waist lining which received so much lateral strain when cut thus. Cut the linings first and cut each piece separately, so that each piece may be exact.

The backs of the skirt lining should be cut first so that there shall be no piecing in the portions that will show, as the skirt is raised when worn. Be careful always to place the straight line representing the waist line on each bodice form on a straight thread of the goods running from side to side. In the skirt forms there is a straight line from top to bottom of each pattern which should come exactly over a straight line thread of the goods.

Pin the patterns onto linings where they belong, true, not twisted or crowded or pulled to "save" material, and if you have a tracing wheel, mark all edges, darts, etc., accurately, then lift off the patterns and cut the linings.

The middle of the front gore is always laid upon a lengthwise thread or fold of the goods, and the straight edge of other breadths should be laid upon the selvedge of the goods.

Upon the proper basting of a garment depends much of the dressmaker's success, and the best of them baste a great deal more than beginners are willing to take time for. Baste all the seams in one direction, say from the top down. In basting the front gores of lining and outside together, beside directly down the center, taking but one stitch on the needle at a time. The edges of the front gore are then basted from top to bottom following a straight line. In basting the back and side gores, the line of basting should follow, not the grain of the cloth, but extend in straight lines from top to bottom as in the front gore. The true direction for the basting line is determined by holding the gores to the figure and note how the folds come—they will be straight down—and the basting should follow the folds in which the skirt will fall when made.

Woman's Wages.

A writer in a French review has made a careful analysis of the wages of women in the various countries. He says that in the United States a woman will earn about half as much as a man for doing the same work, and in England rather less. In Vienna the average earnings of women are from $1.20 to $1.60 a week. In Italy she gets about a third as much as a man. In Germany her earnings average $1.40 a week, while in France she is paid somewhat more than half a man's wages. The writer's belief is that women, on the whole, receive fairer treatment from their employers in France than elsewhere—a belief which cannot have any more solid foundation than patriotism. One thing is made clear by the article, and that is, the unfair advantage which employers everywhere take of a woman by paying her less than a man for doing equal work.

A Fair Designer.

Miss Glenrose Bell, a fair-haired and blue-eyed girl, with plenty of sentiment, designs table linens for a big manufactory in Chicago. Imagination and an artistic eye make her a glowing example of the girl successful.

Man's Idle Boast.

Man thinks that he is lord of all creation,
And boasts about the things that he can do;
And he claims to occupy a higher station
Than thoughtless woman may aspire to.

But where's the man who, with his lordly powers,
Could cling to seven handles and a child,
And stand up in a jolting car three hours
And drag a skirt and keep from going wild?

—Chicago Times-Herald.

When Wife Is Liable.

A married woman to whom a loan is made on her husband's representation, in her presence, that it is for the benefit of her separate estate, understood by the wife and believed and relied on by the lender in good faith, is liable, though no part of the money was in fact so used.—Vosburg versus Brown, 78 N. W. Rep. (Mich.) 886.

Patronize those who advertise.

CARRIED OFF THE BRIDE.

Strange Misadventure that Befell a Chinese Damsel.

The way of Oriental brides would scarcely suit their Occidental sisters. In China a bride usually rides in a richly embroidered red sedan chair, decorated with flowers, and hired for the occasion.

Not long ago in Canton city a man hired a chair to carry his bride to his homestead in the suburbs. The distance was great and the hour late. When the four chair coolies and the lantern bearers arrived at their destination the chair containing the bride was deposited outside the doorway to await the auspicious hour selected for opening the door to admit the bride and the coolies adjourned to an opium den; and, as they had traveled a long way and were tired, they soon fell asleep. How long they dozed they knew not, but on awakening they returned and found the bridal chair outside the doorway. They came to the not unnatural conclusion that the bride had already entered the household and that the chair was left there for them to take back to the city. Since they had all received their pay in advance they did not stop to make further inquiries, but hurried home with the chair, put it in a loft, and, rolling themselves up in their beds, slept the sleep of the just. In the meantime the bridegroom heard the bridal party arrive, but had to await the stroke of the auspicious hour before welcoming the bride. At last the candles were lit, incense sticks were lighted, the new rice and viands for entertaining the bride were served, the parents-in-law put on their best suits and so did the bridegroom and, with much pomp and ceremony, the door was thrown wide open; but as far as the lanterns' light would reach, lo! there was not a trace of the bridal chair or bride, nor a single soul to be seen. Great was their consternation, and it became greater still as they concluded that bandits must have kidnaped the bride and would hold her for ransom. The district officer was aroused, the case was reported to the village justice of the peace and search parties were sent out in every direction.

DISCOVERY OF THE BRIDE.

The bridegroom, though distracted, had sense enough to rush to the city and make inquiries of the chair bearers. The coolies were dumfounded and explained what they had done. Together they climbed to the loft, opened the door of the chair and found the demure-looking bride, long imprisoned and half starved, but still appearing to her best advantage in her beautiful bridal gown. The bride appeared to have known that she was being carried backward and forward, but could not protest, because it is the custom for brides not to open their lips till the marriage ceremony is performed. Hence all the trouble.

ALL WERE SELF-CONVICTED.

Georgia Lawyers Handed Over Their Guns with Singular Unanimity.

Georgia has a stringent law forbidding its citizens to carry pistols on pain of forfeiting the weapons and paying a fine of $50 or being imprisoned for thirty days. Shortly after the passage of this enactment Judge Lester was holding court in a little town, when suddenly he suspended the trial of a case by ordering the sheriff to lock the doors of the courthouse.

"Gentlemen," said the Judge when the doors were closed, "I have just seen a pistol on a man in this room and I cannot reconcile it to my sense of duty to let such a violation of this law pass unnoticed. I ought perhaps to go before the grand jury and indict him, but if that man will walk up to this stand and lay his pistol and a fine of $1 down here I will let him off this time."

The Judge paused, and a lawyer sitting just before him got up, slipped his hand into a hip pocket, drew out a neat ivory-handled six-shooter and laid it with a dollar down upon the stand.

"This is all right," said the Judge, "but you are not the man I saw with the pistol."

Upon this another lawyer arose and laid down a Colt's revolver and a dollar bill before the Judge, who repeated his former observation. The process went on until nineteen pistols of all kinds and sizes and shapes lay upon the stand, together with nineteen dollars by their side. The Judge laughed as he complimented the nineteen delinquents upon being men of business, but added that the man whom he had seen with the pistol had not come up and, glancing at the far side of the court, he continued:

"I will give him one minute to accept my proposition, and if he fails I will hand him over to the sheriff."

Immediately two men from the back of the court rose and began to move toward the Judge's stand. Once they stopped to look at each other, and then, coming slowly forward, laid down their pistols and their dollars. As they turned their backs the Judge said:

"This man with the black whiskers is the one that I originally saw."—New York Press.

Reading Manuscripts.

It would be a revelation to the young writers who complain that every word of their stories is not read, to see how fast an experienced and conscientious editor can, at times, go through a big pile of essays, stories or poems. The title is often enough, and he would say, "We don't want an article on that subject." The next article begins with a page or two of commonplace introduction, and that is thrown aside in half a minute's inspection, without turning more than the next page. The next is written in the first person, and peppered with "I's," "We don't want that egotistical stuff." The first verse of this poem has false meter and is tossed aside. The next begins in schoolgirl style, with "dove" and "love;" it is not read through. Of the next the editor reads ten lines. It is simply a dull description of a stream in a forest—not wanted. The next poem begins in a fresh way, seems to be constructed according to the rules, is pretty good. It is put one side to see if other better poems will crowd it out. The next is a story. The first page is promising, but the second shows a coarse strain, and the reading stops there. Another story follows. The beginning is not promising, but a glance at the middle and end shows a marked improvement, and it is laid aside for a more critical examination. In half an hour twenty articles are passed upon, and with sufficient good judgment, for a minute to a manuscript is often more than it needs.

Everybody Plays the Guitar.

In Portugal men play upon the guitar as naturally as Yankees whistle. The peasants are universally given to the instrument, chiefly as an accompaniment to the voice. In towns and villages the artisans are often expert guitar players and walk in groups to and from their work, enlivening the journey with music and song. The carpenter who comes to your house to execute a small job brings his guitar with his tools and the blacksmith is a far better performer on the guitar than the anvil.

When Portuguese day laborer or workman has finished his long day's toil he does not hie him to a wine shop to squander the few cents he has earned; he does not even lean against a post and smoke, nor whittle a stick while swapping yarns with his fellows. If he did not bring his guitar with him he goes straight home and gets it, rests and comforts himself with the music while supper is being prepared. Afterward he spends the evening singing doggerel songs to a strumping accompaniment, tilted back in a chair against his own house wall or on the doorstep of a neighbor.

Virginia's Natural Bridge.

The famous natural bridge of Virginia is situated in Rockbridge County and spans the mountain chasm in which flows the little stream called Cedar creek, the bed of which is more than two hundred feet below the surface of the plain. The middle of the arch is forty-five feet in perpendicular thickness, which increases to sixty feet at its juncture with the vast abutments. It is sixty feet wide, and its span is almost ninety feet. Across the top is a public road. For many years the name of Washington, cut in the rock forming one of the abutments when the Father of his Country was a lad, stood high above all others; but in 1818 a student of Washington College, Virginia, Piper by name, climbed from the foot to the top of the rock, and placed his name above that of Washington.

A Story of Bismarck.

Bismarck was for some time an official reporter for one of the courts of justice. Upon one occasion, when questioning a witness, the latter made an impudent retort, whereupon the embryo Chancellor exclaimed, angrily: "If you are not more respectful, I shall kick you out of the room!" "Young man," said the Judge, interrupting the proceedings, "I would have you understand that this is a dignified court of justice, and that if there is any kicking to be done the court will do it!" "Ah, you see," said Bismarck to the witness, "if you are not more respectful to me, the court will kick you out of the room. So be careful, very careful, sir!"

Testing the Cleanness of Air.

Prof. Dewar has recently devised a new method of testing the contamination of air. A short time ago he exhibited before the Royal Institution two samples of liquid air in glass tubes—one was made from air which had been washed to purify it from dust, soot, carbonic acid and other impurities. This, when condensed, was a pale blue liquid. The other sample was made by condensing the air of the lecture-room in which the audience was assembled, and was an opaque, blackish fluid, resembling soup in appearance.

"Polly Con."

An old lady lately asked President Hadley of Yale—he tells the story himself—what he was teaching. To his reply, "Economics," she said, thoughtfully:

"Oh, you teach the students to be economical. That is good. When I was a young lady they never learned to be economical until they got married."

The True Condition.

Briggs—Do you believe that the world is divided into two classes—those who borrow and those who lend?

Griggs—No, sir! My experience is that two other classes are much more prevalent—those who want to borrow and those who won't lend.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Almost every man gets a notion when he is on the back of a horse that he looks like the equestrian statues of Gen. Grant.

HUMOR OF THE WEEK

STORIES TOLD BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Odd, Curious and Laughable Phases of Human Nature Graphically Portrayed by Eminent Word Artists of Our Own Day—A Budget of Fun.

An English general, in reviewing a corps of cavalry, suddenly stopped before a splendid-looking fellow and asked abruptly:

"Which is the best horse in the regiment?"

"No. 40, sir."

"What makes you think he is the best horse?"

"He walks, trots and gallops well; is a good jumper; has no vice, no blemish; carries his head well; is in his prime."

"And who is the best soldier in the regiment?"

"Tom Jones, sir."

"Why?"

"Because he is an honorable man, is obedient, is tidy, takes good care of his equipment and his horse, and does his duties well."

"And who is the best rider of the best horse?"

"Tom Jones, sir."

"And who is Tom Jones?"

"I am, sir."

A Change of View.

"There is no chance for me to get up in the world."

"Oh, I don't know!"

Solving the Problem.

Domestic—I'm much obliged to ye, mum, for sendin' me to that cookin' school so long. Here's me diplomer wot I got ter-day.

Mistress (who thinks she has solved the servant girl problem)—I'm delighted. Now, I presume you can cook.

Domestic—Please, mum, th' teacher said we couldn't be expected to remember all we learned, an' we must buy her cookin' book, an' keep it by us all th' time.

Mistress—Certainly, I will get you a copy.

Domestic — Thankee, mum. An' please, mum, wud ye moind sendin' me for a few terms to boardin' school till I learn to read?—New York Weekly.

Of Course.

Pearl—So your friend is from Key West?

Ruby—Yes, and he must be wealthy.

Pearl—Why, dear?

Ruby—Because he told me when home he was not accustomed to bathe 'n anything but Florida water.

Wisdom by Experience.

"Now, my dear wife, if you are quite ready we will set out in search of cheese. Not that we could not find it close at hand, but years of experience have taught me that when you find cheese in a mouse-trap you'll also find a mouse who doesn't hanker for any more of it."

Demonstrated.

"Only a fool would argue with a woman!" said he, in disgust, after an hour's hot contest with his wife.

"Precisely!" she calmly asserted.—Tit-Bits.

He Knew.

"Is his name in 'Who's Who?'"

"I don't know as to that," replied the demure one blushing, "but he has demonstrated to me that he knows who's who and what's what, and I'm who and that diamond engagement ring is what."—Chicago Evening Post.

An Apt Comparison

"I have no faith in modern medical science," said the long-haired boarder.

"Neither has a mule any faith in the veterinary surgeon," said the medical student, "but he cures him just the same."

Masculine Vengeance.

The bachelor—It is said that a man rarely marries his first love.

The widow—True, but he usually gets revenge by constantly holding her up as his ideal to the woman he does marry.

Dancing on the Toes.

"Do you dance on your toes, Miss Quickwit?"

"Never, Mr. Clumsey. Other people do that for me."

And he didn't know just what she meant until he tried to get another dance with her.—Tit-Bits.

Showing Undue Preference.

"Yes, this open winter is pleasant, but—"

"But what?"

"I don't think the weather ought to be run entirely in the interest of people who play golf."—Chicago Record.

Had a Good Right.

The Gobbler—My! You're awfully proud!

The Peacock—Well, wouldn't you be if you ran as few chances of being killed as I do?—Puck.

A Heavy Debt.

Tom—She promised to give me a kiss for every shooting star I saw.

Jack—How many did you see?

Tom—I haven't collected the account yet, but her father found me about five minutes later, and she owes me at least a million kisses now.—Buffalo Commercial.

Entertainment.

It was the eve of the day of her large reception.

"And, James," she was saying to her butler, "be very particular to see that the umbrella jar in the hallway is kept constantly replenished!"—Puck.

Authentic.

McJigger—Jobson is one of the brightest men in Barton's employ. Barton has absolute confidence in him.

Thingumbob—Is that so?

McJigger—Absolutely. I got my information direct.

Thingumbob—From Barton, eh?

McJigger—No, from Jobson.—Philadelphia Press.

A Quiet Dresser.

"Your husband dresses very quietly."

"Does he? You ought to hear him when he can't find his collar, or his sleeve links become mislaid."

Scientific Mechanism.

"What is your idea of a statesman?"

"H'm, well, a statesman is a politician who gets what he wants without letting his own party know how he got it."—Indianapolis Journal.

Insulting.

Miss Plainface—I should like to look at some hand mirrors.

Clerk—Yes, ma'am. For yourself, ma'am?—Somerville Journal.

Now She Has the Money for a Bonnet.

Little Wife—I saved $30 to-day.

Loving Husband—You're an angel. How?

Little Wife—I saw a perfectly lovely easy chair that I knew you'd like and I didn't buy it.—New York Weekly.

Also True.

"It's a true saying," remarked the man who dearly loves to moralize, "that one must go forward or backward in this world; there's no standing still."

"Maybe so," replied the temperance fanatic, "and if there were no still standing in this world some men would never get a head."—Philadelphia Press.

How It Ought to Be.

"Look at that name on the Chinese laundry sign," said one stroller in the East End the other day.

"I see. It is Wah Sing."

"What a pity the h and S are not transposed."—Pittsburg Chronicle.

More Likely.

Mrs. Kindheart—A poor tramp came here to-day who said he had been blown up by dynamite and lived to tell the story. I gave him a dinner and some of your old clothes.

Her Husband—I am afraid, my dear, that he deceived you. He probably tells the story to live.—New York Journal.

A Phenomenal Rise.

They were talking about stock deals one hot day when he informed his friend that he had picked up a cheap thing during the winter. "It stood at 33 then, and yesterday it touched 84!" he said.

"Wish I had your luck, old man!" was the reply. "What was it?"

"Oh, just a thermometer."

Ties of Brotherhood.

Jones—How do you feel about this phonetic spelling reform?

Brown—Well, I think it will be valuable in wiping out party bitterness between the educated and the uneducated.—Indianapolis Journal.

Those Loving Girls.

Clara—Young Dashleigh proposed to me last night, but I couldn't think of marrying him. He's too fresh.

Maude—That's the one reason of all others why you should marry him, dear.

Clara—Why, what do you mean?

Maude—The union of extremes usually makes a satisfactory average.—Buffalo Commercial.

About Right.

Visitor—Is Mr. Swindell in?

Office Boy—He's out, but I guess he's in.

Visitor—What do you mean?

Office Boy—He's left. Did he owe you money?

Visitor—Yes.

Office Boy—Well, you're left, too.—Philadelphia Press.

Friendly Advice.

Smith—I've been thinking seriously of investing some money in stocks. What would you advise me to do?

Jones—Have you any real estate?

Smith—Yes.

Jones—Then I'd advise you to put it in your wife's name.

Kinsmen Across the Border.

Many Americans gladly acknowledge their kinship with the Anglo-Saxons beyond the water, but we must remember that we are still more literally cousins of the great people to the north of us. For a century and a quarter Canadians and Americans have intermarried freely, and the border cannot divide ties of blood.

Not long ago the dispatches from South Africa announced the death of Lieut. Wood of Halifax, the first Canadian to die for the British Empire in the Boer war. It is an interesting comment on our relations with Canada to note that this young lieutenant was the great-great-grandson of Zachary Taylor, who was a major in the war of 1812, and fought against the British with all the zest for fighting that was in him, and that his great-grandfather was Jefferson Davis, who, as a young man, married Taylor's daughter. It is usually represented as a runaway match, but Mr. Davis himself wrote that it was nothing of the sort.

In spite of such American antecedents, Lieut. Wood lived a loyal subject of the Queen, and died for her majesty's empire.

"New Brooms Sweep Clean."

The human body has been compared to a temple and the poet urges us to keep it entire and clean. To accomplish this end, every nook and cranny must be swept and garnished. The agent of the body that goes everywhere is the blood. If it is not strong, pure and life-giving, it is like a worn-out broom. It fails to do the work. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes a new broom of your blood.

Skin Disease — "I have been troubled with a skin disease. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised I decided to try it, and after taking it a short time the disease disappeared." Miss Mary Jagen, 4050 Cambridge St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ALABASTINE

ALABASTINE is the original and only durable wall coating, entirely different from all kalsomines. Ready for use in white or fourteen beautiful tints by adding cold water.

LADIES naturally prefer ALABASTINE for walls and ceilings, because it is pure, clean, durable. Put up in dry powdered form, in five-pound packages, with full directions.

ALL kalsomines are cheap, temporary preparations made from whiting, chalks, clays, etc., and stuck on walls with decaying animal glue. ALABASTINE is not a kalsomine.

BEWARE of the dealer who says he can sell you the "same thing" as ALABASTINE or "something just as good." He is either not posted or is trying to deceive you.

BLIND IN OFFERING something he has bought cheap and tries to sell on ALABASTINE'S demands, he may not realize the damage you will suffer by a kalsomine on your walls.

CONSIBLE dealers will not buy a lawsuit. Dealers risk one by selling and consumers by using infringement. Alabastine Co. own right to make wall coating to mix with cold water.

THE INTERIOR WALLS of every church and school should be coated only with pure, durable ALABASTINE. It safeguards health. Hundreds of tons used yearly for this work.

IN BUYING ALABASTINE, customers should avoid getting cheap kalsomines under different names. Insist on having our goods in packages and properly labeled.

NUISANCE of wall paper is obviated by ALABASTINE. It can be used on plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas. A child can brush it on. It does not rub or scale off.

ESTABLISHED in favor. Shun all imitations. Ask paint dealer or druggist for tint card. Write us for interesting booklet, free. ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Libby's

One of Libby's famous canned foods—always delicious—ready to serve. An exclusive most dainty of superlative excellence. Inexpensive, wholesome, labor saving, fire saving. Put up in convenient strip key opening cans. Ask your grocer or write

Libby, McNeill & Libby,
CHICAGO.

Send your name and address on a postal and we will send free our new booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Veal Loaf

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 200,000 new customers, and to once offer:

1 Pkg. City Garden Beet,	10c
1 Pkg. Earliest Emerald Cucumber,	5c
1 " La Crosse Market Lettuce,	15c
1 " Strawberry Melon,	15c
1 " 11 Day Radish,	10c
1 " Early Ripe Cabbage,	10c
1 " Early Dinner Onion,	15c
1 " Brilliant Flower Seeds,	15c
Worth $1.00, for 14 cents.	$1.00

Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c. stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without. $500 Prizes on Salzer's 1900—rarest earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.—
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.
DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 60 years, and is still harmless we take it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the hauteur (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all Druggists and Fancy-Goods Dealers in the U. S., Canadas, and Europe.
FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop'r, 37 Great Jones St., N.Y.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.
Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.
The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free.
W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

My Hair Was Coming Out

"About a year ago my hair was coming out very fast. I bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor to stop this. It not only stopped the falling, but also made my hair grow very rapidly, until now it is 45 inches in length and very thick."—Mrs. A. Boydston, Atchison, Kans., July 25, 1899.

It Feeds the Hair

Have you ever thought why your hair is falling out? It is because you are starving your hair. If this starvation continues your hair will continue to fall.

There is one good hair food. It is Ayer's Hair Vigor. It goes right to the roots of the hair and gives them just the food that they need. The hair stops falling, becomes healthy, and grows thick and long.

Ayer's Hair Vigor will do another thing, also: it always restores color to faded or gray hair. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Write the Doctor

If you do not obtain all the benefits you desire from the use of the Vigor, write the Doctor about it. He will tell you just the right thing to do, and will send you his book on the Hair and Scalp if you request it. Address, Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

A Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

Dr. Bull's Cures all Throat and Lung Affections. COUGH SYRUP Get the genuine. Refuse substitutes. IS SURE

Dr. Bull's Pills cure Dyspepsia. Trial, 20 for 25c.

Ely's Cream Balm QUICKLY CURES COLD IN HEAD

Druggists, 50 Cts.

Apply Balm into each nostril. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N.Y.

Women Should Get Insured.

"Life insurance as managed to-day, on the endowment plan, for instance, is at once an assurance and insurance," writes Edward Bok, in the Ladies' Home Journal. "It is the best means of saving, because it is compulsory. Men have found this to be the case, and women should. At 30, for instance, she can, for less than $50 a year, take a twenty-year endowment policy of $1,000, which guarantees her that amount when she reaches the age of 50. She will not feel burdened by the annual premium of $50. But she will feel the comfort of $1,000 when she is 50. A woman's insurance for the education of her children is another factor of life insurance worthy of her thought, especially if she be a widow. In this way a mother may provide for the education of her children in case of her death. If the custom of mothers insuring their lives for their children at the time of the children's birth could become more general it would be one of the blessings of mankind. For women to insure their lives for the benefit of their husbands may well be an open question so far as the wisdom of such a course is concerned. But when the matter of life insurance for women is placed on a basis of self-protection in old age, for the benefit of children, or as one of the best means of saving money, or even as a wise system of investment, there cannot be the least question of its wisdom."

A MINNESOTA FARMER WRITES OF WESTERN CANADA.

Is Now Located There—Farms Being Rapidly Settled by Former U. S. Residents.

The following extracts from a letter written to Mr. Benj. Davies, Canadian Government Agent at St. Paul, Minn., give an excellent idea of what is said of Western Canada by those who have gone there during the past two or three years:

"When we first arrived here and took up our homes on the prairie near Dalesboro, Assa., for a short time we had a fit of the 'blues,' but now all hands are settled to business, hale, hearty and contented, enjoying the finest winter we have ever seen. We have got very comfortably situated, with considerable preparation for a crop, and all hopeful. I think this is a very fine country, and if the past season's crop is not an exception, which they claim not, I believe this is going to be the wheat field of the West. It is filling up fast. In this township last spring there were twenty-five quarter sections of land vacant, and to-day there is not one; I can stand at my house and count ten houses where there was not one last spring, with six more to go up this spring. This is only a sample of what is going on all round. We intend to build a church next summer, right close to my place, so we will be strictly in line. It would have amused you to have been here last spring. There were crowds of land seekers, and sometimes in the spring the prairie is not very inviting, and of course lots were discontented. There was one in the crowd who jumped on me for putting a letter in the paper, only for which he never would have come here, and he was very hostile, but eventually he got a place and to-day claims he would not take a thousand dollars and move out; so I am glad he is satisfied.

"Well, my dear sir, as Arthur Finney is about to move out in March, with his family, and also one of my sons, anything you can do for them to assist them along and to make things smooth as possible will be greatly appreciated by me. I will close for this time, and will write from time to time to let you know we are living. Drop us a few lines to let us know how things are moving in St. Paul.

"Yours respectfully,
"ALEX. CAMERON."

Pungent.

"Does the razor hurt?" asked the sympathetic barber. "I notice tears in your eyes."

"Oh, no, not at all," replied the sufferer, sarcastically, "perhaps the tears are due to the onions you've been eating."—Philadelphia Press.

How Different.

"Guess we'll have to change our favorite paragraph," said the London editor, sadly. "It would be rather awkward to keep on saying 'The flight of the Boers was something tremendous.'"

"Then we can just drop a letter and say 'The fight of the Boers was tremendous,'" remarked his assistant, who was born in Dublin.

Revenge may be sweet, but an overindulgence in sweet things makes trouble.

900 DROPS CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of NEW YORK.

At 6 months old 35 DOSES—35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Young Soldier Takes Poison—Son Murderously Assaulted by His Father—Insane Over Christian Science—Hunter Accidentally Killed.

At Scottsburg the dead body of Floyd Merrill, a prominent young man, was found in his room in a hotel. He was married about two months ago. His young wife left him for a few hours to visit her parents. Returning she found the door of the room locked, and, becoming uneasy, the door was forced open and the husband was found lifeless on the bed. He had taken four grains of morphine, purchased from a druggist on false representation. No cause is known for the act. Deceased was a soldier in the war with Spain and was formerly from Rising Sun.

Nearly Murders His Son.

Thomas Morris, nurseryman at Clinton, committed a murderous assault on his 18-year-old son, and is now in jail pending the results of the boy's injuries. Morris ordered the boy to go home, and when he refused to obey struck him with a stone, causing a severe fracture of the skull. Young Morris was removed to Terre Haute hospital. Morris is an announced candidate for sheriff. His wife is in an insane asylum.

Tortured Himself with Fire.

Louis Kantz, a carpenter, became violently insane over Christian science at Elkhart. He drove his attendants from the house with a chair and then put his foot in a coal stove, almost burning the flesh to the bone. He also threw live coals around the room with his hands. After this he escaped from the house and ran six miles into the country, stopping only when thoroughly exhausted.

Dog Guards Master's Corpse.

Armed with a shotgun and accompanied by his dog, Richard Cain of Shelbyville went in search of game, that his family might have meat for supper, he being out of employment. The next morning his dead body was found with his dog beside it. He had slipped, discharging the gun and the charge blew his head off. The dog had remained by the body throughout a blinding snowstorm.

Two Offices Robbed.

The Pennsylvania suburban ticket offices at Silver Grove and Howard Park were robbed the other night. A watch and pair of bracelets, belonging to the agent, Mrs. Lawrence Jackson, some tickets and $1.50 in money were secured at Howard Park and a quantity of confections, some tickets and small change were secured at Silver Grove, where Matt McCammon is agent.

Within Our Borders.

Baseball practice has opened at DePauw.

Cora Lock, 15, Laporte, is mysteriously missing.

Fourth-class postmasters of district 5 have organized.

Populists of Daviess County will put a county ticket in the field.

Elliottsville bank, robbed recently, has bought a burglar-proof safe.

Residence of Charles Johnson, near Muncie, in ashes. Loss $4,000.

William Whittaker, 19, Versailles, was instantly killed by a falling limb.

Joseph Henderson, Greenfield, had a finger bitten off by a vicious horse.

It is said that fruit jar manufacturers in the gas belt are forming a trust.

The first colored children have been sent to the Madison County infirmary.

George McDowell, 81, Rising Sun, stood before a mirror and shot himself dead.

Power house of the United Oil and Gas Company, near Hartford City, is in ashes. Loss $2,000.

There is nothing to rattle in the Crawfordsville cash box, and the city can't build a sewer system.

Anderson painters and paper hangers are forming a union and will adopt a scale before spring work begins.

A dismissal was filed for entry in the divorce suit of Helene Studebaker Ulrich vs. Russell Ulrich at South Bend.

Maj. James M. Hoskins, one of the leading Democratic politicians of Brazil, died of heart trouble, aged 69 years.

Nelson Dickerson, tried at Jeffersonville for murdering "Toad" Richardson, at Cementville, last October, was sent up for life.

The heirs of Andrew Binkard of Peru found $1,300 in coin buried on his farm. A $50 gold piece once owned by Frances Slocum was included in the lot.

Mary Scott committed suicide at Evansville by taking laudanum. She was 20 years old and was recently jilted by her lover, who married another girl.

William Aggery, an old soldier of Newport, drew his pension, $72, and went to Clinton to have a good time. He started home drunk, and was knocked down and robbed of $50, all he had left. The old man has a dangerous wound on the head. His assailant escaped.

Miss Ellen Voder, the pretty 16-year-old daughter of Quincy Voder of Plainville, was arrested at Vincennes on the request of her father, who came for her. She came to meet her sweetheart, Chas. Roach of Ball. When she alighted from the train the chief of police took her into custody.

A wedding feast was spread at the home of Grant O'Neal, near Columbus, and the guests and minister had arrived to witness the ceremony that was to unite Miss Ida Barrett and Ned McGeary, when it was announced that the groom had disappeared. The young man left no explanation and his sudden disappearance on the eve of his wedding is shrouded in mystery.

West end school building, Washington, burned. Loss $12,000, with $8,500 insurance.

Indiana miners and operators will hold their State meeting in Terre Haute March 20.

By observations, some Richmond men found that the ground hog really did appear Feb. 2, and then went back into his hole. The ground hog is in the zoological garden in one of the parks there, and the last seen of him was Nov. 14. A thin layer of sand was sprinkled at the opening of his tunnel, but there were no tracks visible until the fatal weather day.

In Indianapolis Henry Brewer, aged 12, had a fight with a companion and was scolded for it at supper by his mother. He arose from the table, walked to a drug store, bought an ounce of carbolic acid, returned home, threw himself across a bed and swallowed it. He died in terrible agony.

At the funeral of Milo Harlan at Kokomo his wife, whom the relatives ostracised, appeared at the cemetery. The relatives tried to keep her away, but the military escort rebelled, drove the Harlans back and opened the coffin for the girl widow to see the remains. Harlan was a sergeant in the regular army and died of wounds received in Luzon.

Cross-Eyed Women Are Dreaded.

All soldiers share the common superstition against meeting a cross-eyed woman. A reservist who recently journeyed to Aldershot to rejoin his regiment, under orders for South Africa, wrote to a friend on the eve of his departure for the front: "I sha'n't come back this trip, old fellow; there was a cross-eyed wench in the train as I came down to join. She looked at me all the time, confound her, and you know what that means. I shall get the knock this journey."

The poor fellow's gloomy foreboding came true—he was one of the Grenadiers who fell at Belmont, and his fate has strengthened in one or two minds at all events the belief that the sight of a cross-eyed woman is inimical to the safety of a soldier going on active service.

On the contrary, a cross-eyed man is not an anathema to Tommy Atkins, for the sight of him is supposed to bring good luck.

His Chinese Name.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee received much attention during his recent visit to the United States. He had stories to tell, and one of them concerned his name. It was after he had gone to Cuba, and the manipulators of the telephone were not very familiar with his name and reputation.

"What name is that?" asked one operator.

"Lee—Fitzhugh Lee," was the response.

"Spell it, please."

"F-i-t-z-h-u-g-h L-e-e."

"Thank you. Plague take these Chinamen."—Philadelphia Post.

For Wireless Steering.

An invention for steering any craft, by means of an ether wave on the wireless telegraph principle has been perfected. In naval war it is expected to make the torpedo boat almost infallible. In this respect it will equal the famous Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which never fails to cure constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness and malaria.

President Steyn Need Not Want.

President Steyn of the Orange Free State is a Free-Stater by birth, a lawyer by profession, and a republican by conviction. He is still not much over forty, is happily married (his father-in-law and mother-in-law are both Scotch), and before the war was considered a coming man among the Boers. He was elected President in February, 1896, just after the raid, succeeding Mr. Reitz, who is now State Secretary in the Transvaal, and who, like himself, has been a judge. President Steyn's emoluments are £3,000 a year, £600 table money, and £800 for traveling expenses.

Dubious Generosity.

Mrs. Henpeck—It costs a great deal to keep me in the country all summer.

Henpeck—Yes, my dear, but you know I never begrudged the money.—Life.

FOR MIDDLE-AGED WOMEN.

Two Letters from Women Helped Through the "Change of Life" by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I first wrote to you I was in a very bad condition. I was passing through the change of life, and the doctors said I had bladder and liver trouble. I had suffered for nine years. Doctors failed to do me any good. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, my health has improved very much. I will gladly recommend your medicine to others and am sure that it will prove as great a blessing to them as it has to me."—MRS. GEO. H. JUNE, 901 DeKalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Relief Came Promptly

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I had been under treatment with the doctors for four years, and seemed to get no better, I thought I would try your medicine. My trouble was change of life, and I must say that I never had anything help me so much as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Relief came almost immediately. I have better health now than I ever had. I feel like a new woman, perfectly strong. I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound all the credit, and would not do without her medicine for anything. I have recommended it to several of my friends. There is no need of women suffering so much for Mrs. Pinkham's remedies are a sure cure."—MAHALA BUTLER, Bridgewater, Ill.

Another Woman Helped

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life and derived great benefit from its use."—MARY E. JAMES, 136 Coydon St., Bradford, Pa.

THE MILLION DOLLAR POTATO. Most talked of potato on earth! Our Catalog tells—so also about Salzer's Earliest Six Weeks' Potato. Largest farm and vegetable seed growers in U.S. Potatoes, $1.20 and up a bbl. Send this notice and 5c. stamp for Big Catalog. C.N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE WIS.

CARTER'S INK Has the largest sale of any ink in the world.

A valuable book for practical flower and vegetable growers. Free for the asking. Address J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Marblehead, Mass.

PENSIONS Get Your Pension DOUBLE QUICK! Write Capt. O'FARRELL, Pension Agent, Washington, D.C.

JELL-O, THE NEW DESSERT, pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

LAMBS' THROAT CANDY, one of the best confections for vocalists, public speakers, etc. Send 10 cents to the Lamb Mfg. Co., Ottawa, Canada, for sample box.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

F. W. N. U. - - No. 8—1900.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

At the Mission School.

Teacher—Why was Rebecca at the well?

Little girl—I guess because her husband wouldn't get the water for her.—New York Press.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

Lucky, Sometimes.

Longshot—Do you consider horseshoes an emblem of luck?

Placer—Yes, when they are on the winning horse.

The liberal offer made by the T. M. Roberts Supply House of Minneapolis, Minn., should be of interest to all our readers. In addition to the best bargain ever offered in seeds they give a high-grade knife free of charge with each purchase. Mention this paper when writing to advertiser.

The Banana.

The banana produces per acre forty-four times more food than the potato and 131 times more than wheat.

Potatoes, $1.20 Per Bbl. and Up.

Salzer beats the world on prices. Largest Growers of Farm and Vegetable Seeds and Potatoes on earth! Millions of pounds of Onion seed, Cabbage, Radish, Peas, Beans, Corn, Potatoes, etc. Prices dirt cheap! Send this notice and 5c for catalog. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. C N U

No matter how worthless a man is, he can always find some woman willing to marry him.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

It is sometimes difficult to get any information through a cloud of witnesses.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Love levels all things except its own monotony.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh gives immediate relief, allays inflammation, restores taste and smell, heals the sores and cures the disease.

Some men take time and others have it given to them—convicts, for instance.

The Dewey Calendar

For 1900, issued by the Nickel Plate Road, will be mailed anyone sending address with 10c in stamps to the General Passenger Agent, Cleveland, O.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Medical Book Free.

"Know Thyself," a book for men only, regular price 50 cents, will be sent free (sealed and postpaid) to any male reader of this paper, mentioning this advertisement, inclosing 4c for postage. Address the Peabody Medical Institute, 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., the oldest and best institution of its kind in New England. Write to-day for free book.

Opportunity.

Mrs. Slimson (dining at the Winterblooms)—Willy, if you eat any more of that cake you'll be sick.

Willy—Well, mamma, you know I don't have a chance like this very often.—Puck.

Libby, McNeill & Libby.

Housekeepers frequently feel the need of luncheon meats which are either ready to serve or can be prepared for the table at a moment's notice. Such a need is abundantly supplied in the superior meats put up by the old reliable house of Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago, one of whose specialties is advertised in another column of this paper, and their booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat," is offered free on application.

The Brute's Reply.

Wife—Ah, darling, what would your life be without me?

Husband (with conviction)—Cheaper.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Deceit is the false road to happiness; and all the joys we travel through to vice, like fairy banquets, vanish when we touch them.—A. Hill.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

When a man neglects his duty he always says it resulted from his absentmindedness.

VITALITY low, debilitated or exhausted cured by Dr. Kline's Invigorating Tonic. FREE $1 Trial Bottle containing 2 weeks' treatment. Dr. Kline's Institute, 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia. Founded 1851.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets are accepted for passage on all trains of the Nickel Plate Road.

SECRETS SOLVED.

Men Hunting for the Gold Mine of Health.

Great Discovery That is Bringing This Boon to Many Sufferers—Story of One of the Lucky Ones.

The greatest treasure of all—health.

All the gold in the world cannot pay for the loss of it.

The secret of how to remain in good health, and, with reasonable care, live to be a hundred, is worth more than the richest gold mine that has been discovered.

What is the secret?

Keep your bowels open!

Almost every known disease is caused by an irregularity of the bowels. Constipation is the first source or the attendant symptom of nine-tenths of all illness.

To cure constipation, to make the liver lively, clean out the bowels, prevent sour stomach, stop poisonous gases, purify the blood, kill disease germs in the system is to keep the body and mind in good health.

That is what Cascarets Candy Cathartic do for you.

Go buy and try Cascarets to-day. It's what they do, not what we say they'll do, that will convince you of their merit. All druggists, 10c, 25c, or 50c, or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address, Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can.; or New York.

CCC This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

SALZER'S 3 EARED CORN

This new, earliest, corn will revolutionize corn growing, yielding in 1899, in Minnesota, 600 bus. per acre.

BIG FOUR OATS yields 250 bus. per acre, and you can beat that!

SPELTZ 80 bus. per acre. Greatest grain and hay feed this side of the stars!

BARLEY, BEARDLESS, yields 121 bus. in N.Y. Wonderful!

RAPE 25c. A TON Gives rich, green food for cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, etc., at 25c. a ton. We sell nine-tenths of the Rape seed used in the U. S.

BROMUS INERMUS Greatest grass on earth. Grows to perfection in America everywhere. Salzer warrants it!

THE MILLION DOLLAR potato is the most talked of potato on earth, and Salzer Six Weeks' both will make you rich. Largest grower of Potatoes and Farm Seeds in the world.

VEGETABLE SEEDS Largest, choicest list in U. S. Onion Seed, 80c. lb. Everything warranted to grow. 80 pkgs earliest vegetables, postpaid, $1.00.

FOR 10c. STAMPS and this notice, we mail great Seed Catalog and 10 pkgs Farm Seed Novelties. Catalog alone, 5c. postage. C.N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE WIS.

AN APPEAL TO HUMANITY

We need your assistance in announcing to the world the GREATEST REMEDY that Science has ever produced, and you need our assistance to secure relief for yourself and friends through SWANSON'S "5 DROPS."

A REMEDY SUPREME As surely as the American Navy has conquered and will conquer all that opposes it, so will "5 DROPS" unfailingly conquer all diseases like Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Catarrh of all kinds, ASTHMA, Dyspepsia, Backache, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis, Liver and Kidney Troubles, etc., etc., or any disease for which we recommend it. "5 DROPS" is the name and the dose. "5 DROPS" is perfectly harmless. It does not contain Salicylate of Soda nor Opiates in any form. The Child can use it as well as the Adult.

5 DROPS [TRADE MARK.]

Read carefully what Mr. L. R. Smith, of El Dorado Springs, Mo., writes us under date of Nov. 27, 1899, also Martan Bowers, of Caraghar, Ohio, under date of Dec. 16th, 1899:

NEURALGIA

I do not know how to express how wonderful I think your "5 DROPS" medicine is. I was suffering intensely with NEURALGIA and thought for a month that I would have to die. One day a lady called to see me and brought me an advertisement of your "5 DROPS." I received to try it and sent for a sample bottle. Have been taking it for three weeks and have not had an attack of suffering since I took the first dose. I believe it has saved my life. This statement is positively true. I shall also take pleasure in recommending your "5 DROPS" for the cure of NEURALGIA. L. R. SMITH.

El Dorado Springs, Mo., Nov. 27, 1899.

RHEUMATISM Your "5 DROPS" came to hand on the 11th of last month and was glad to receive it for I was suffering at the time with untold agonies. The first dose helped me out of my pain on short notice. Bless the name of God for it. It will do all you say it will, and more too. I had severe pains all over my body, when night came I could not sleep. The worst pain was in my left leg. I could not put my foot to the floor without suffering great pain. Have used four different kinds of medicine for RHEUMATISM and got no relief until I got your "5 DROPS," which gave me immediate relief as above stated. MARTAN BOWERS, Box 83, Caraghar, Ohio. Dec 16, 1899.

30 DAYS to enable sufferers to give "5 DROPS" at least a trial, we will send a sample bottle, prepaid by mail for 25c. A sample bottle will convince you. Also, large bottles (300 doses) $1.00, 6 bottles for $5. Sold by us and agents. AGENTS WANTED in New Territory. Don't wait! Write now!

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO., 160 to 164 Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL.

SPRING HUMORS

Complete External and Internal Treatment

$1.25

Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA Ointment (50c.), to instantly allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all other remedies fail.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER D. & C. CORP., Props., Boston. How to Cure Spring Humors, free.

TO PLACE OUR GARDEN SEEDS IN EVERY HOME IN THE COUNTRY we offer fresh garden seeds, full sized packages, at less than ½ value, best ever grown, that will grow in any U. S. climate and GIVE YOU FREE your choice of knives shown. Cut out this advertisement and send us 75 cts. If you want knife No. 1 do., or 37 cts. if you want knife No. 7 do., and the following grand collection of THE BEST VEGETABLE SEEDS (retail price is over $2.00) and we will send the entire 37 packets and the knife FREE all postpaid. READ THIS! 1 pkg. Gem Peas, 1 pkg. Dwarf Wax Beans, 1 pkg. String Beans, 1 pkg. Robbs' Gem Watermelon, 1 pkg. Marble Mammoth Drumhead Cabbage, 1 pkg. Green Citron Musk melon, 1 pkg. Rutabaga, 1 pkg. Big Boston Lettuce, 1 pkg. Purple Top Turnip, 1 pkg. Red Globe Onion, 1 pkg. Mellow Crown Parsnips, 1 pkg. Early Long Scarlet Radish, 1 pkg. Double Curled Parsley, 1 pkg. Celery, 1 pkg. Thyme, 1 pkg. French Breakfast Radish, 1 pkg. Summer Crookneck Squash, 1 pkg. Bullnose Blood Turnip Beet, 2 pkgs. Early June Peas, 1 pkg. Yellow Dunvers Flat Onion, 1 pkg. Oz Heart Carrots, 1 pkg. Large Early York Cabbage, 1 pkg. Long Green Cucumber, 1 pkg. Danvers half long Carrots, 1 pkg. Perfection Tomato, 1 pkg. Cherry Tomato, 1 pkg. Curled Simpson Lettuce, 1 pkg. Early Dutch Turnip 1 pkg. Scarlet Turnip Radish, 1 pkg. Denver Market Lettuce, 1 pkg. Early Russian Cucumbers, 1 pkg. Cuthan King Cabbage, 1 pkg. Brown Pumpkin, 2 pkgs. Early Minnesota Corn. Also 20 other pkgs. fresh garden seeds not mentioned above, 37 altogether. KNIFE FREE! At 75cts. the job, 4-blade, Congress knife, best steel warranted knife will be sent FREE. The 75cts knife is just what every farmer should have. Extra weight finely polished ends, three heavy steel blades, including hoof blade. We give it FREE to every person ordering the above collection at 75 cts. through this advertisement, or we will furnish the 37 fresh pkgs. of garden seeds without the knife to anyone postpaid for 45cts.—or 37 pkgs. fresh garden seeds postpaid for 25cts. No better seeds grown or sold at any price than our LARGE PKGS. FRESH SEEDS WITH KNIFE FREE. T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, MINNEAPOLIS MINN.

THIS KNIFE FREE With Lot No. 77 S. B. KNIFE Free

THIS KNIFE FREE With Lot No. 7 S.B Free

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 1, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratcic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

Ought to Have It.

We present to our readers today, a good likeness of Maj. John R. Simpson of Paoli, Orange county, who will come to the democratic state convention at Indianapolis, asking for the nomination of lieutenant-governor at the hands of fellow democrats. The democrats of the state will do themselves a credit by giving him the place. There is no worthier man asking for a place on any ticket. The writer is personally acquainted with him and knows his worth and ability. At present he is publisher of the Paoli Democrat, but has been all his life, an active business man, with the exception of the years of the rebellion. Then he was at the front serving his country. He had a brilliant career as an officer. It was he, who ran to cover and captured a company of Morgan's raiders as they passed through his county stealing horses for the use of Morgan. He happened to be home on a furlough. He hurriedly gathered a lot of farmers, with their squirrel guns, and they chased the invaders, and finally, after a brisk fight, got every man of them. It is citizens like Major Simpson who should be remembered. He is still in the prime of a vigorous and hale old age, and would be a credit to any party.

MAJOR JOHN R. SIMPSON.

Taffy and Epitaphy.

Rev. Wm. Pearce, the popular pastor of the First Baptist church, Goshen, is to lecture at the Baptist church in our city next Thursday, on "Taffy and Epitaphy." Mr. Pearce needs no introduction to our people as we have heard him again and again in sermon and on the platform. This lecture is partly the result of his visit to Westminster Abbey, England. It is full of variety, striking the lawyers, doctors, housewives, maids and bachelors. The Hon. A. Zook, lecturer at half dozen Chautauquas said: "I have heard the lecture as given by Rev. Wm. P. Pearce. It is rich in variety of subject matter of an elevating character, dealing with the professional, patriotic, beautiful and sublime, in which the speaker tactfully proceeds from finished fields to new grounds of argument. The wit and fun plentifully scattered along the highway from the depot of taffy to the depot of Epitaphy as only Mr. Pearce can weave them in among solid facts, are highly entertaining even to the most prosy thinker and don't-care listener. His eulogy of the eloquent Ingersol and his defense of Christianity, the epitaphs of Bismark and Lincoln, with peroration of the latter constitute a lecture within itself of the choicest matter."

This lecture will be given for the benefit of the Baptist church in our city. It is hoped that our friends will attend for the sake of the church and as Mr. Pearce has so many friends here they will certainly attend.

To Make Life Happy.

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned Steger Piano you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the celebrated Steger Piano. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully warranted.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West. Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for a full descriptive catalogue, which will be mailed free upon application. STEGER & Co., (Established 1879.) Chicago, Ill.

Has Lots of 'Em.

Our old friend A. Lewis is already preparing for next season's building campaign and among other material received was one lot of 275,000 of the celebrated Davenport shingles, than which none better ever came out of a mill. Mr. Lewis will be prepared to furnish shingles to everybody who wants them.

Cronje Surrenders.

The famous Boer commander in the Orange Free State surrendered to Lord Roberts yesterday morning at 7:45 after a desperate defense of more than a week. The fighting had gone on for ten days, as he was being pushed back to the final stop. When he could not escape, he took a place in the bend of the dry bed of the river, and there stood the shelling of about eighty guns. Re-enforcements were sent to him, but were stopped by the British. He had about 4,000 men, and it appears to be a part of his force, the rest, with all his heavy guns having been sent on ahead. Gen. Buller is gradually nearing Ladysmith, which has now been closely besieged for four months.

Death of Mrs. Picker.

After a long illness Mrs. Elizabeth Picker, for thirty-six years a resident of Auburn and a most estimable woman, died at her home on South Main street at 10:20 last night, aged 81 years, 3 months and 13 days. Grandma Picker during her long residence in Auburn endeared herself to a large circle of friends. The funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon leaving the house at 1 o'clock; interment in Evergreen cemetry.

In Holy Bonds.

Last evening occurred the marriage of Harry C. Lamb and Miss Maud VanAuken at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. VanAuken, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. D. Brosy. All the family were present including those of her two married brothers, Ray and Roy VanAuken, and in addition Miss Dollie Husselman of this place and another young lady friend, Miss Lizzie Morche, of Columbia City, and Mr. Lamb's brother, Charles Lamb and wife, also of Columbia City. Mr. Lamb is now located at Garrett to which place they go today, and after March 1st will be at home here to their many friends. Mr Lamb is an industrious and respected young man, and the bride, one of Auburn's most popular and worthy young ladies. They have the best wishes the COURIER for their future happiness.

Announcement.

We are delighted to know that Mrs. S. L. Gibson has been appointed by the American Publishing House of Chicago, to represent them in this territory on the sale of their new (private) book for ladies entitled "Obstetrics and Womanly Beauty" by Drs. Conger and Crane. It has 600 pages and 32 colored plates. No lady can afford to be without it. See the book; it speaks for itself. It is very cheap and within the reach of all. It is a magnificent work. Mrs. Dr. Crane has made a specialty of woman's ills for 30 years. "It is a great book."

Change of Firm.

Charles Rodeman, an experienced and skilled worker in tin and sheet metal, has purchased the establishment of Frank Rush on West 7th Street and will at once enter upon the business. He has worked at this for many years, at his former home, Ft. Wayne, including six years under one employment. This guarntees good work and careful attention. He does every sort of work including spouting and eves, sheet iron, galvanized iron, etc., as well as all mending in his line. Our people should see that he has a full share of their patronage.

Despoiling the Forests.

In spite of expedients and the substitution of coal for fuel, and iron for walls, bridges, piers and ships, the demand for wood of all kinds is still on the increase. Our immense railroad system alone is using in this country 300,000,000 of wooden ties. Boxes, toys, paper, charcoal and numberless other articles necessary to comfort or luxury are eating up the forests of the world, until it takes no prophet to predict that the day is not far distant when a scarcity will prevail. In addition to this, forest fires devour hundreds of acres of trees yearly.—New York Tribune.

Carbonic Acid a Fire Extinguisher.

The use of liquefied carbonic acid gas to extinguish underground fires has been dealt with by Mr. George Spencer in a paper read before the Institution of Mining Engineers. A fire occurred in a heading of a colliery with which Mr. Spencer was connected. It was decided to use carbon dioxide to put out the fire, and six cylinders of the liquefied gas were successfully used. In case of fire on shipboard the use of carbon dioxide might prove invaluable. It can be instantly applied and save much damage by water to the cargo.

Manual Training in Germany.

There are in German, distributed in 603 places, 861 schools and institutes where in manual training is carried on in 1,514 workshops. Of this number 836 schools and institutes conduct the training on a basis calculated to teach the art of imparting the knowledge of manual training. Prussia has 570 manual training schools, spread over 435 places and distributed among 596 workshops.—New York Press.

Fast Trains.

Via Chicago & North Western R'y—Chicago to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, Des Moines, Sioux City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. The best of everything. No change of cars. Call on any Ticket Agent for information, or address W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue. Chicago, Ill.

Gypsy Burial.

There was a gypsy burial at Evergreen yesterday, for a note of which we are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Emerick of Fairfield. Several families of these wanderers have been camped this winter on the banks of Indian lake in that township, and the two old people Mr. and Mrs. Green, have been poorly. They are somewhere between 90 and 100, though neither they nor their children who are in the same camp, seem really certain as to their ages. The old lady has been failing for some time and died last Thursday. It will be remembered that about a year ago, a young girl died at the same gypsy camp, then located at Auburn Junction. She was old Mrs. Green's granddaughter, and the old lady wanted to be buried beside her. So yesterday two of the grandsons got Al Magee of Corunna to take his team and bring the remains to Auburn. Only one other rig came along. It was that of Mr. and Mrs. Emerick, and the remains were given a resting place near her granddaughter. The old lady was the grandmother of the gypsy woman who made so much talk last year by marrying a man named Campbell, near Butler.

March Juries.

The following were drawn for jurymen for the March term of court.

GRAND JURY.

P. D. Childs	Fairfield
S. K. Firestone	Franklin
Mac Leighty	Concord
Wm. Hood	Smithfield
James A. Boots	Jackson
James J. Coleman	Wilmington

TRIAL JURY.

I. N. Wingard	Wilmington
D. W. Weitz	Troy
Wm. L. Houlton	Franklin
James A. Farver	Jackson
John T. Hendricks	Newville
John W. Buss	Smithfield
Joseph Weller	Keyser
Henry M. Fretz	Richland
F. M. Dellenbaugh	Fairfield
I. B. Madden	Wilmington
Jacob Swinehart	Troy
H. W. Embrey	Keyser

The grand jury will be called for the first of the week, and the trial jury for the second week.

Club Notes.

The session of the L. L. C. which was held last Saturday, was fairly well attended for such a cold and blustery day, and proved to be a session of much interest. Two members were obliged to be absent on account of sickness. Mrs. Swineford gave a very full and timely paper on "America's Working People," which was followed by a lively discussion and which recalled the fact that the members had been interested in the great problem of American labor. Miss Hague gave an interesting essay on the theme, "What is an an Idea?" She touched on the much talked of subjects of "Thought Transferrence" and "Hypnotism," and the discussion that followed was very interesting, every member taking part in it. The current events were of unusual interest and much valuable and interesting news gleaned from all parts of the world. Mrs. Wallace of Butler a sister of Mrs. J. E. Rose, was present as a welcome visitor as she is well known by many of the members. The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Maud Robbins next Saturday.

Child Chokes to Death.

A distressing accident occured yesterday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dancer in Jackson township, which resulted in the death of their youngest child, a boy aged fifteen months. The little fellow was playing about the floor when Mrs. Dancer noticed that he was choking, but before anything could be done for him life was extinct. The child was unusually strong and heathly and its sudden death is a severe blow to the parents, who are at a loss to determine the real cause of the accident. It is thought the child tried to swallow a peanut shell or piece of paper, picked up from the floor.

The funeral will be held at the Lockwood church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Brosy. Interment in Woodlawn cemetry.

Sometimes a Known Quantiy.

"Always let X equal the thing you want to find," softly uttered the wife, as she went through her sleeping husband's pocket and abstracted the needed $10 bill.

A Mexican War Letter.

The COURIER always takes pains to get the most interesting and valuable reading matter. We have at times published letters, written by soldiers in the rebellion, and more frequently in recent times of soldiers in Cuba, Porto Rico or the Philippines. It is now our pleasure to present one written by a soldier in the Mexican war, fifty-two years ago. The letter was written by Geo. W. Perkey to his brother, B. F. Perkey, and is the property of John Carlin of Pleasant Lake, who is Mr. Perkey's nephew. Mr. Carlin himself, has no small record as a soldier, for he served all through our rebellion, in the old 44th, and several years in the regular army besides, making a record of seven years and two months in all. He is a brother of Recorder Carlin of Angola.

Mr. Perkey's letter is that of a well educated and intelligent man, he having been many years a teacher in his native state, Ohio. His regiment was the 16th regulars which is still serving Uncle Sam, being at present in Manila.

The letter is plain to read in spite of its great age. In those days envelopes had not come into use, and the letter as usual then, is a large sheet folded in such a way as to bring the white, or unwritten page on the outside. On this the address is written, and the words "From the army" are added, just as we now say "Soldier's letter." It was fastened safe by a wafer of red sealing wax.

But here is the letter itself:

CERALVO, MEXICO, Feb. 18, 1848.

RESPECTED BROTHER:—I embrace the present opportunity to inform you that I am still in the land of the living, but my health at this time is rather delicate as I was taken down about four weeks ago with the bilious fever. I immediately reported myself on the sick list and by proper medical attendance, in about two weeks the fever entirely left me and I am gradually regaining my streegth, and I think in about ten days more will be able to return to duty, which I could attend to now in case of an attack, but they never want a man to drill or stand guard unless he is in perfect health, in which there is both humanity and good policy. My companions in arms generally enjoy good health, as our company has but four sick in the hospital and all in a fair way to recover and I hope these few lines may find you and your family enjoying the blessings of health and general prosperity. I received October 5, a letter from you dated September 3, which was read with interest and satisfaction and was responded to by me at the time, and I have looked in vain for more than four long months for an answer, and have come to the conclusion that either my letter must have been miscarried, or your answer have met a similar fate and if you are so fortunate as to receive this, it is needless to mention that I shall expect you to answer it with promptness and despaton. Since I received your letter, I received one from brother David, one from John F. and from father besides some papers from the two latter. The letters have all been responded to and if my friends only knew the high value I place on their communications, they would certainly write oftener than they do, and I want you to write to me occasionally whether you receive anything from me or not. We have been stationed at the above named place since about the 1st of September and no prospects at present of leaving it. There has been in all, three deaths in our company since I joined it, and among the rest, John C. S. Harrison, eldest son of the deceased president and first sergeant of our company. His death occurred December 21, and his remains were interred with military honors at the close of the day, on the evening of the 26th of December. I received a letter from my children's guardian dated November 22, which brought me the sad tidings of the death of my son John, which cast quite a gloom over my otherwise cheerful and contented mind. His death was occasioned by the dysentery which brought the man he was living with (Adam Simon,) to the brink of the grave, and I am satisfied his death was not occasioned either by neglect or harsh treatment. He also stated that the rest of the children were doing well. God grant that their lives be spared and their health preserved, as they are the chief objects of my solicitude, anxiety and care. We have had no news from the city of Mexico for nearly two months, the news at that time seemed rather to indicate a peace. While there are some men in the ranks of the noble cast of mind, both for intelligence and generosity of spirit, there are others the most degraded and vicious, and I must admit that there is almost every vice practiced to be found in the catalogue of crime; not that the war is at all productive of such conduct, for the same men had their hands in before they joined the army, and in all cases of thieving, drunkenness or other bad conduct they meet with an exemplary punishment. Jackson and Jonas Fladly, formerly from Trumbull county belong to Co. C, of this regiment, and are now stationed at this place. Jackson says he is acquainted with you and that their friends belongs to the Disciple church. They both send their best respects to you, etc. We have had but four or five nights cold enough to freeze this winter, and they were all in the month of December. The weather here now is almost equal to the month of May in Ohio, for the fig leaves are already putting forth, and as the scripture says we may know that "The summer is nigh, even at the door." I never was in a situation in my life where I tried more to sustain a good reputaion than I have in the army. The splendid evolution of the troops the sweet strains of martial music, together with the neatness, cleanliness and good order with which every thing is attended to, are well calculated to keep up the spirits. Please write. Direct as follows: GEORGE W. PERKY, Co. C, 16th Regiment, U. S. Infantry, Ceralvo, Mexico.

REWARD.

We, the undersigned druggists, offer a reward of 50 cents to any person who purchases of us, two 25 cent boxes of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters Tablets, if it fails to cure constipation, biliousness, sick-headache, jaundice, loss of appetite, sour stomach, dyspepsia, liver complaint, or any of the diseases for which it is recommended. Price 25 cents for either tablets or liquid. We will also refund the money if it fails to give satisfaction.—E. M. Fischler, F. E. Davenport and H. B. McCord. 2

Accuracy.

"Now," said the client, taking his pocketbook, "how much are your services worth?"

"That has nothing to do with the case," answered the professional man of fine distinctions.

"What you ought to have asked is merely how much I am going to charge you."—Washington Star.

'Tis Not True.

We do not sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for all diseases; it is only good for Constipation; Indigestion, Sick headache and Stomach Troubles and we guarantee it to cure. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

Oak Timber.

For sale, a job lot of oak and soft wood timber. Call on J. W. Sherer, one mile north of Concord, Ind. 10

The Service Building of the Pan American Exposition, to be held at Buffalo, N. Y. on the Niagara Frontier, from May 1st to November 1st, 1901, was the first building of the Exposition to be erected, and is used by the corps of officials and employes having direct charge of the constructive work of the Exposition.

The building, which is situated on the west side of the grounds, is 95x145. It is in the form of a hollow square having two stories on its exterior facades and three stories on the court side. The entrance, which is in the form of a driveway, faces the north and communicates directly with the inner court. Part way down this entrance and from each side extend the main corridors. That on the right leads to offices and departments to be used for police headquarters and hospital service; including the rooms for the use of the Commodaant of Police, Police Station, the Chief of the Fire Department, medical waiting room, durg supplies, offices for a surgeon and his assistants and an operating room. The hospital has a porte cochere entrance for ambulance and emergency purposes.

The ornamental work, including the flag standards, finials, festoons, etc., are of staff. The roof is covered with Spanish tile of iron. The building in its architecture is a free adaptation of the Spanish Renaissance, such as is shown in old Californian and Mexican missions and churches. This style was followed as closely as the requirements and exigencess of arrangements for light and space necessary in a first-class working office allowed. This building was erected ready for occupancy in thirty-two days. Work on the grounds is going on, and about 3,000 large trees will be planted this spring.

REDUCED RATES.

To the Hot Springs of Arkansas via Wabash Railroad.

Reduced round trip rates are now in effect to the Nation's great resort, the Hot Springs of Arkansas, owned, controlled and endorsed by the United States government for the cure of a score of human ills. Beautiful winter climate, 200 hotels and boarding houses of all grades. Ask your ticket agent for particulars or write C. S. Crane, General Passenger Agent, St. Louis, Mo. For illustrated book of information, address Bureau of Information, Hot Springs, Ark.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Queen Victoria's Three Crowns.

Queen Victoria has three crowns, none of which is used except on extraordinary occasions. The crown which she wore in the last grand reception weighs eight ounces. It is of pure gold and set with 2,673 diamonds and with 523 rubies. The other two crowns are simple bands of gold, each set with gorgeous jewels. It is one of these latter crowns which is worn when the queen opens parliament. When she appears in the house of lords the large crown is taken from its place among the crown jewels in the tower of London and borne on a velvet cushion ahead of the queen.

A Judge of Tears.

The unusual spectacle of a judge in tears was witnessed at Cardiff when Mr. Justice Buckaill pronounced the capital sentence for the first time in his judicial career. The sentence was on a woman, and the judge, whose voice was very shaky from the first words of the sentence, entirely broke down at the end and burst into tears. The scene, especially after the pathetic appeal of the prisoner for mercy for the sake of her children, was almost without parallel in the annals of trials. Even the leading counsel were obliged to use little subterfuges to hide their emotion.—Tit-Bits.

Utilization of Wood.

Cooperage woods have advanced 20 per cent, largely caused by the enormous demand from whisky combine. Experimenters are trying to make cloth and soap out of wood pulp. Sawdust and wood waste have almost as great a value as the clean plank ten years ago.

Bled Their Horses.

A curious superstition was formerly prevalent regarding St. Stephen's day (December 26) that horses should then, after being first well galloped, be copiously bled to insure them against disease in the following year.

Three Nations to a Glove.

It was formerly said that for a glove to be good three kingdoms should have contributed toward its manufacture—Spain to prepare the kind, France to cut it and England to sew it.

Dr. Humphreys'

Specifics act directly upon the disease, without exciting disorder in other parts of the system. They Cure the Sick.

NO.	CURES.	PRICES.
1	Fevers, Congestions, Inflammations.	.25
2	Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic...	.25
3	Teething, Colic, Crying, Wakefulness	.25
4	Diarrhea, of Children or Adults.....	.25
7	Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis.....	.25
8	Neuralgia, Toothache, Faceache.....	.25
9	Headache, Sick Headache, Vertigo...	.25
10	Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weak Stomach.	.25
11	Suppressed or Painful Periods....	.25
12	Whites, Too Profuse Periods.....	.25
13	Croup, Laryngitis, Hoarseness.....	.25
14	Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions..	.25
15	Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains.....	.25
16	Malaria, Chills, Fever and Ague.....	.25
19	Catarrh, Influenza, Cold in the Head	.25
20	Whooping-Cough.....	.25
27	Kidney Diseases.....	.25
28	Nervous Debility.....	1.00
30	Urinary Weakness, Wetting Bed...	.25
77	Grip, Hay Fever.....	.25

Dr. Humphreys' Manual of all Diseases at your Druggists or Mailed Free.

Sold by druggists, or sent on receipt of price. Humphreys' Med. Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York.

Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

Rotary Motion and Ball Bearings.

Porter Depew, Agent.

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings 2-story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettville, ¾ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning Will sell part cash, balance time or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ½ its value $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary: low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 64 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36 This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80 acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ¼ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard 45 acres cleared, cleared, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, balance cleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30-acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard well, cistern, good fences, soil black sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

No. 65. 8½ acres land 3 miles south of Butler, 3 acres timber, balance clear. Good land. Will sell at Bargain Small payment down, balance on time.

No. 63. Brick residence; 8 rooms, two lots on 7th street, Auburn. Will sell on easy terms at a bargain.

No 64. For rent, 240 acre of good, improved land, want first-class renter to which will make desirable terms.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

Red Cross Tansy Pills

FOR Suppressed Menstruation PAINFUL Menstruation And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES. Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless

The Ladies' Relief.

Purely Vegetable! Never Fail

PRICE $1.00

Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we say. Yin de Cinchona Co. Des Moines, Iowa.

For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LIVERITA

THE UP-TO-DATE LITTLE LIVER PILL

40 PILLS LIVERITA 10 CENTS 100 PILLS 25 CTS.

CURES Biliousness, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick-Headache and Liver Complaint. SUGAR COATED. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Norvitz Medical Co., Chicago

Davenport, The Druggist.

New Jewelry! SEE New Jewelry!

OUR NEW LINE OF JEWELRY!

ALL THE NEW THINGS
FRESH FROM NEW YORK.

The New Swell Chains for Ladies, an Elegant New Line of Broaches, Friendship Hearts to bufn, newest Hat Pins, Gents Chains, etc. You should see this line in order to appreciate it.

D. A. Hodge,

JEWELER.

WEICHT & CUTLER,

Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country.

Auburn, Ind.

Western 'Phone 106 South of Jail

EVERYBODY KNOWS,

or SHOULD know,

how essential phosphates are to the human body

as Brain, Bone and Nerve Builders.

This Baking Powder is made of Phosphates

AND IS . . .

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Consult your Physician, then ask your Grocer for it.

ALL GROCERS SELL IT!!.

We also manufacture a more expensive Baking Powder, "JUNO Cream of Tartar," which is the Purest and Best Cream of Tartar Powder ever put on the market.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Company,

CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS.

New Tinner!

Charles Rodeman, an experienced tinner, has bought Frank Rush's establishment and will continue the business. All kinds of work in Tin and Sheet Metal done with skill and dispatch. Give him your work. Call at . . . .

Rush's Old Stand.

West 7th St.

Astronomers of Ancient China.

When Nineveh and Babylon were in the splendor of their might men in China were predicting eclipses, making catalogues and giving names to the stars. But Nineveh and Babylon were mere mounds of earth and rubbish when China was great, and to this date the civilization and life of the empire is the wonder of the world.

HERE is a medical lecture in a nutshell. The Kidneys drain water and impurities from the blood. The Liver makes bile and helps to drive off other waste. If these organs work badly the body becomes a cesspool and disease sets in. You must get them into healthy action or die.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

is an old and unsurpassed remedy for Backache, Debility, Sleeplessness, Lost Appetite, Foul Tongue, Palpitations and all other symptoms of disease in those organs. It cures as well as prevents every serious trouble in Kidney, Liver or Bladder. At druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

THE DR. J. H. McLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

For sale by F. E. Davenport.

L. S. & M. S. R. R

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 19 1899.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'g
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 40 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 08	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 25	5 21	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 25	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 36	8 15
Summit	12 51	5 46	8 35
Steubenville	12 54	5 49
Pleasant Lake	1 03	5 58	9 05
Angola	1 13	6 08	9 35
Stryker	3 30	8 25	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'g	Exp'ss	Mail
Stryker dp	8 50	11 45 am	7 [illegible]
Angola	11 00	2 10 pm	9 16
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 26
Steubenville		2 36	9 31
Summit	11 50	2 35	9 [illegible]
Waterloo	12 41 pm	3 35	9 48
Auburn	1 20	4 10	9 58
Auburn Junction	1 25	4 [illegible]	10 02
New Era			11 13
Fort Wayne			10 50

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAY, Agent Auburn.

Monday's Daily.

—Court meets next Monday.

—FOR SALE—A high grade short horned cow and calf. Jas. McClellan. m3

—The regular March session of the commissioners court begins next Monday.

—Samuel Dove was a caller last week and advanced his subscription in good shape.

—T. S. Murray of Spencerville called and put his subscription way ahead yesterday.

—Miss Maggie Crane is sick at the home of Mrs. Emily Dills on South Main street.

—T. C. Ford returned at noon from his visit with Dr. and Mrs. Collett at St. Mary's, Ohio.

—Sale bills printed on good tough, heavy, weather proof stock, cheap and on short notice.

—Grandma Picker is gradually growing weaker and it is thought she cannot survive but a short time.

—When you go to buy bluing, insist upon having Russ' Bleaching Blue and not some of the many imitations. 8

—Go to Sheffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct.26w-tf

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—Dr. Buchtel reports the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robbins. Of course there is rejoicing in that household.

—If you want to sell or buy, or have lost or found anything, let your wants be known through the columns of the COURIER for quick results.

—In a wolf drive in White county a few days ago two handsome specimens, a male and female, were caught in the roundup. Five wolves escaped through the lines.

—Mr. Dean Metcalf left Satuday for Elkhart, intending to return Sunday accompanied by Miss Pearl Hornberger who has been spending the past week with relatives at that place.

—John W. Baxter returned this morning from his trip to Burkesville, Va. He was accompanied by A. Wheelock, who will spend a few days here looking after business matters.

—The democratic state convention will be held at Indianapolis on June 6. Terre Haute, South Bend and Evansville were also after the meeting but stood little show against the state capital.

—Mrs Wallace Webster of Butler was here over Sunday, a guest in the family of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Rose. They have resided several years in Minneapolis, but returned to make this their home.

—Delaware still publicily whips some of its male malefactors, but no woman has been thus punished in the state for nearly 50 years, the law exempting them from its infliction having been enacted in 1855.

—Lewis Iddings, a prominent resident of Kendallville, died at his home in that place yesterday. Mr. Iddings was at one time treasurer of Noble county and was well known throughout northeastern Indiana.

—The "Fourth of March" comes this year on Sunday. If this were a leap year, like other years that are divisible by 4, the fourth would be on Monday. There is no president to be inaugurated so it makes no difference.

—Clerk Long issued four marriage licenses last week. The parties most concerned were: Lavern C. Swartout and Minnie C. Zeek; Marion E. Ernest and Rosa A. Gushwa; Henry H. Smith and Mary Simons; Harry C. Lamb and Maud F. VanAuken.

—The jury in the case of Frank Zuber, one of the three men arrested for the killing of Policeman Rath at Hicksville, brought in a verdict Saturday of murder in the first degree. The sentence for the crime is life imprisonment without parole or pardon.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn, Ind. 4tf

—NOTICE:—We have the most beautiful line of commencement program samples we have had heretofore, and at prices as reasonable as ever. Make your selections early. We take pleasure in showing samples. We recently purchased type especially for this class of work. w-Aug 1

—There was a small fire at Mr. Rakestraw's on the Feagler place west of town at 11 p. m. Saturday. An outhouse caught fire, supposed from ashes and was burned, but by help of neighbors, the house was saved. This loss was small, being chiefly a large can of gasoline and a crock or two of lard.

—The John C. S. Harrison mentioned in our Mexican War letter, was the oldest brother of ex-President Benjamin Harrison, and consequently a grandson of President W. H. Harrison. It will be seen he is named for W. H. Harrison's famous brother in law, John Cleves Symmes, the man who contended that the earth was hollow at the poles and that ships could sail through it that way.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Tuesday's Daily.

—Albert Buchanan of Fairfield was in town yesterday.

—William Chambers of Butler was here today on business.

—Moody & Rickel have a 240 acre farm for rent. Call on them.

—J. P. McCague of Waterloo was in town today calling on friends.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Emerick were down from Fairfield yesterday.

—Miss Lydia Hogue is suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism.

—Mrs. Frank Furnish, who has been seriously ill, is reported slightly better today.

—There are score of places in this country where only one mail comes every 14 days.

—WANTED—To buy a small farm 20 to 30 acres for cash. Address P. O. box No. 25, Auburn, Ind. f15-tf.

—Adam Walters of this city and John A. Kanavel of Butler have been granted an increase of pension.

—Wm. Haines of Jackson township will go to Fort Wayne this week to take treatment for his eyes.

—Mrs. John Keeran received word today of the death of her nephew, Milton Snyder, at South Bend.

—The Kansas City hotel keepers say they will not advance rates during the democratic national convention.

—W. J. Pickhart is the next lucky man to go on the 1901 list. That is a good way for a young man to get into business habits.

—Ask your grocer for Russ' Bleaching Blue, do not be deceived by fraudulent imitations, see that the name Russ appears on all packages. 8

—Wm. A. Deetz, son of Adam Deetz of Fairfield, is among our latest new subscribers to the Weekly and of course pays ahead to 1901.

—Allen Zollars of Fort Wayne is mentioned as a probable candidate for governor on the democratic ticket. No better selection could be made.

—Four young Valparaiso bachelors have agreed to deposit twenty-five cents a month in a common fund. As each one is married he has to forfeit his share.

—Goshen has a merchant who for the past twenty-five years has been offering to sell his stock "at cost." If he tells the truth, he must be a humanitarian.

—To all points in competition where the fare is $2 or more we have free bus and free baggage to the Junction. tf SPROTT & KNAPP, Agency B. & O. Ry.

—Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Jackson, of Jackson township, last Sunday afternoon, a fine son. Ask Dr. Casebeer, the attending physician, if it was a stormy day.

—The two young men who stole fourteen sheep in Whitley county plead guilty and were given a sentence from one to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville.

—The treaty of peace between the United States and Spain was written in French, as also have been the majority of international documents during the last two centuries.

—Thomas Lipsett, Goshen, mailed a letter to himself at Hong Kong, Nov. 21, 1899, with instructions to forward it from place to place, until it reached home. It arrived last week.

—There will be a public sale of household goods, etc., at the residence of F. J. Yeebera, on South Main street Auburn, on Saturday, March 3. Don't forget the date, and be sure to attend.

—Aaron Smith of Butler township is moving to Benzonia, Mich., where he will join the DeKalb colony. He takes the COURIER along, and we hope it will prove a great convenience in his new home.

—Ed. Johnson and Floyd Rumbaugh, accomplices of Frank Zuber in the killing of Policeman Rath at Hicksville, will be arraigned for trial at Defiance next week. Both stoutly declare their innocence.

—J. W. Sherer, who has purchased the Frank Barney farm, was a caller today. As a former newspaper man, we are of the opinion he will be a good citizen and Old Concord will be pleased to have him in her borders.

—Mark Apple, living on the Pyle farm, five miles northeast of Auburn, will have a sale of horses, cows, farm implements, wheat and rye in the ground, and other personal property on Thursday, March 8. The usual terms will be given.

—The efforts of a tax ferret, aided by the county assessors, is resulting in thousands of dollars in sequestered property being placed on the tax duplicate in Elkhart county. It is estimated that before the end of the year the amount will reach $200,000.

—It is authoritively announced that Judge Joseph W. Adair of Columbia City will be a candidate for supreme judge before the democratic state convention. Judge Adair would make a strong candidate and if elected would fill the position with honor and credit to himself and his party.

—A Kaffir captured by the Boers while taking a quill dispatch from Mafeking to Kuruman was searched from head to foot, and then told to go. The wily native thus escaped, with the dispatch safely concealed up his nose, and reached his destination without further mishap.—Answers.

—J. W. Sherer of the Payne cash store was around shaking hands Tuesday preparatory to moving his family to his farm near Concord, Ind. Mr. Sherer leaves this county and state with the reputation of being a good, substantial, progressive citizen and leves a host of friends behind who will wish him prosperity, peace and happiness in his new Indiana home. The Democrat is pleased to be numbered on this list.—Paulding Democrat.

Wednesday's Daily.

—It will now be in order to organize sleighing parties.

—Mrs. L. Spitler is numbered among those on the sick list.

Miss Mae Welhet of Angola was the guest of Mrs. Sallie Weamer yesterday.

—Mrs. John Keeran and daughter Bertha are confined to the house by sickness.

—Engineer Potter of the B. & O. was in town over night, the guest of relatives.

—Little Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Widney, has been quite sick for several days.

—Miss Ida Smith of the COURIER force is confined to the house with an attack of grip.

—A Lewis & Co. sold to St. Joe parties yesterday a bill of lumber amounting to 16,000 feet.

—Mrs. William Hoffman was called to Garrett yesterday by the critical illness of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Carr.

—The News is the leading evening paper in Indiana with a circulation larger than any two Indiana dailies.

—Mrs. Harry Draggoo and her mother, Mrs. Larimer of Fort Wayne, are visiting relatives in Ohio this week.

—The better grades of hickory timber are said to be getting scarce in northern Indiana and command a good price.

—Mrs. W. T. Francis of Chicago Junction, O., arrived yesterday for treatment at the Sanitarum of Drs. Swarts.

—The total appropriation of the last congress reached $1,506,800,016. Of $482,562,082 is chargeable to the Spanish-American war.

—Miss Julia Hodge is giving an interesting series of Bible lessons on the book of Revelations, at the Mission, Sunday afternoons.

—There will be considerable building in Auburn this year, notwithstanding the increased prices of all classes of building material.

—The Mack-Fenton Stock company will play a return engagement at the Wagner opera house in Garrett the last three nights of this week.

—Thos. Elliott and Miss Carrie Reader went to Defiance yesterday to visit the former's mother. Miss Reader will remain there several weeeks.

—The national editorial association is holding its annual meeting at New Orleans this week. Northern Indiana is not so largely represented as usual.

—See the COURIER for supervisors's notices to teamsters in regard to hauling over gravel roads. They are 9x12 and printed in bold type on heavy card board.

—S. C. Snyder came home yesterday reaching Auburn in the evening. He is looking well and left Mrs. Snyder and Ora in good health at Los Angeles, where they have spent the winter.

—While milking a cow a few days ago Florence Buchanan of Concord township was kicked over and considerably bruised by the animal tramping on him before he could get out of the stall. His injuries were not serious.

—People who do not want to get taken in on "raised" paper money should remember that the spread eagle in new paper money always means $1, and the Indian head means $5. If any other figures appear on a bill it is bogus.

—Don't kill the skunks, but sell them to us alive. We pay for star black, $1.50 to $2.00; small stripe, $1 to $1.50; large stripe, 50 to 75 cents; white, 40 to 50 cents. Write us; We will come and get them. DEKALB FUR CO. w4t

—The Snider Preserve Company of Cincinnati is casting about this locality looking for a location. The company wants a guarantee for farmers to raise from 400 to 500 acres of tomatoes each. Catsup is manufactured and 75 men are employed.

Jacob Richards has placed in Hodge's show window the husk of a cocoanut recently received from his brother, who is employed as steward in a big hotel in Florida. Placed beside the one recently received by D. D. Moody it makes an interesting exhibit.

—The farmers of Washington township have formed an association composed of about ninety per cent of the land owners of the township for the purpose of preventing hunting without the consent of the owner of the land. They met a few days ago and elected officers.—Kendallville Sun.

—Is it possible that those who use "dodgers" for advertising purposes can understand how they are received? They are left at front doors and other places where they are regarded as litter and are treated as litter by people who are irritated when they have to dispose of them. The newspaper that is paid for, on the contrary, is taken into the house and read.

—Republicans all over are renominating their present congressmen, Landis and Crumpacker have both served two terms and have been nominated for the third. Overstreet of the Indianapolis district has served three terms and has been nominated for the fourth term. They stand by their experienced men and keep them in, where they can do the most service to the party —Jule Walters fully sustained his reputation as a fun-maker in "How Hopper was Side Tracked" at Henry's opera house last night and was ably supported by Miss Louise Llewellyn and a capable company. Mr. Walters gave a beautiful portrayal of the festive windmill agent, his work serving to relieve the more serious scenes of the play. The attendance was good and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the entertainment.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

NOTICE of ANNEXATION!

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given that at the April session of the Board of Commissioners of the County of DeKalb, State of Indiana, the Town of Auburn, in said county and state, will present a petition, by its duly authorized attorney, pursuant to a resolution adopted on the 23d day of February, 1900, by its Board of Trustees, authorizing a presentation of the same, for the annexation to and the incorporation within the limits of said town, the following territory situate within the County of DeKalb and State of Indiana, namely:

Beginning at the northeast corner of section thirty-two (32), township thirty-four (34) north and range thirteen (13) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana, and from thence as follows:

South on the east line of said section thirty-two (32) thirteen hundred and forty (1340) feet to the southeast corner of the north half of the northeast quarter of said section thirty-two (32)

Thence west on the south line of said north half of said northeast quarter twenty-six hundred and sixty-two (2662) feet to the southwest corner of said north half of said northeast quarter;

Thence south on the west line of the south half of said northeast quarter and on west line of southeast quarter of said section thirty-two (32) twenty-eight hundred and eight (2808) feet to the southeast corner of an eighteen (18) acre tract of land belonging to the town of Auburn, said southeast corner being fourteen hundred and eighty-three (1483) feet south of the center of said section thirty-two (32);

Thence west on the south line of said eighteen-acre tract of land and on the south line of Ensley's Third and Second additions to said town of Auburn, twenty-six hundred and twenty-four (2624) feet to the west line of said section thirty-two (32);

Thence north on the west line of said section thirty-two (32) two hundred and fifty-eight (258) feet to the north line of the right of way of the Wabash railroad;

Thence southwesterly along said north line of right of way twenty-nine hundred and forty-six (2946) feet to the west line of the southeast quarter of section thirty-one (31) of the township and range aforesaid;

Thence north on said west line of said southeast quarter two hundred and thirty-eight and one-half (238½) feet to the north line of Ensley's avenue;

Thence northeasterly along the north line of Ensley's avenue twenty-four hundred and two (3402) feet to a point four hundred and seventy (470) feet due west of the east line of said section thirty-one (31);

Thence north parallel with the east line of said section thirty-one (31) three thousand and seventy (3070) feet to the south line of Eleventh street in said town of Auburn;

Thence west on the south line of said Eleventh street and on a continuation of said south line of Eleventh street eight hundred and fifty-four (854) feet to the west line of the east half of the northeast quarter of said section thirty-one (31);

Thence north on the west line of said east half of the northeast quarter of said section thirty-one (31) and on west line of southeast quarter of southeast quarter of section thirty (30) of said township and range, twenty-one hundred and eighty-four (2184) feet to the northwest corner of said southeast fourth of southeast quarter of section thirty (30);

Thence east on the north line of said southeast fourth, thirteen hundred and twenty-five (1325) feet to the east line of said section thirty (30);

Thence north on east line of said section thirty (30), thirteen hundred and twenty-six (1326) feet to the northwest corner of southwest quarter of section twenty-nine (29) of the aforesaid township and range;

Thence east on north line of said southwest quarter of section twenty-nine (29), thirteen hundred and thirty (1330) feet to the southwest corner of out-lot No. seven (7) in Mader's addition to the town of Auburn;

Thence north on the west line of out lots numbered seven (7) and six (6) in said Mader's addition to Auburn, three hundred and six (306) feet to the northwest corner of said out-lot six (6);

Thence east on north line of said out-lot No. six (6) and on a continuation of the same, six hundred and forty-eight (648) feet to the east side of the Auburn and Waterloo road;

Thence northeasterly along the east side of said road, six hundred and forty-two (642) feet to the south line of out-lot numbered four (4) in said Mader's addition to Auburn;

Thence east on the south line of said out-lot numbered four (4), five hundred and fifty-one (551) feet to the east line of said northwest quarter of said section twenty-nine (29);

Thence south on the east line of said northwest quarter of said section twenty-nine (29) and on the east line of southwest quarter of said section twenty-nine (29), thirty-six hundred and thirty-five (3635) feet to the south line of said section twenty-nine (29);

Thence east on the south line of said section twenty-nine (29), twenty-six hundred and sixty-one (2661) feet to the northeast corner of section thirty-two (32), the same being the place of beginning.

By order of the Board of Trustees of the Town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

D. A. GARWOOD, President Board of Trustees.

[Corporate Seal.] Attest:—C. B. WEAVER, Town Clerk.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 8	8:34 am—Daily
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	2:05 pm—ex Su
No. 96	11:35 am—ex Su
No. 98	8:30 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9	5:38 am—Daily
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71 (local freight)	9:15 am—ex Su
No. 95	5:48 pm—ex Su
No. 97	7:52 am—ex Su

Nos. 8 and 9 do not stop at Auburn, but No. 9 stops at the Junction.

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind

Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen'l Manager.

C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98

Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	8:53 p m
No. 5 Daily	4:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:17 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Suday	12:25 p m
No. 47	1:58 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	8:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:35 p m
No 14 Daily	11:17 a m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m

Trains Nos. 16 and 17 are the only ones that top at Wawasee.

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager

D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.

G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind

THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

Gobbler Stopped the Draught.

A family of Swedes of Des Moines, Iowa, raises a large number of turkeys, which usually roost on the roof of the house. One night last week it grew too cool for one old gobbler, and about midnight he climbed up to the roof of the chimney, and, finding it warm there, he sat on top of the flue and went sound asleep. There was a coal fire burning in the bedroom where the family were sleeping, and when a neighbor called in the morning the inmates were found nearly asphyxiated by coal gas.

Queer Point of Law.

A curious will case has been brought before the courts in north Germany. A gentleman died, leaving 20,000 crowns to his cook and the same sum to his man servant, on the condition that if either married the money should revert to the other. The legatees married each other, and a nephew of the deceased is endeavoring to prove that the marriage invalidates the conditions of the will.—Stray Stories.

Key to the Transvaal.

Delagoa Bay, around which so much interest is just now centered, is the finest harbor in South Africa and practically the key to the Transvaal. Its value to England, therefore, if they could number it among their possessions will be readily understood, for it would enable them to cut off the supply of Boer war stores which the Portuguese are allowing to pass through Lourenco Marques.

Successful Cooperative Factories.

Co-operative factories in Great Britain last year made profits aggregating over $1,000,000 on a capital of a little over $11,000,000. This is more than 10 per cent on the investment.

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang

Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

It has always been claimed for The Chicago Tribune that it would, in all probability, pass with the highest average in any competitive examination among the newspapers of the United States for excellence in all departments of journalism.

"Under date of May 2, 1899, the Omaha World-Herald, editorially answering a letter from 'Inquirer' asking the names of the five best newspapers in this country, points out that a newspaper may excel in one way and be inferior in another. The World-Herald gives lists under five general headings of leading American newspapers distinguished especially for excellence, mentioning in all some twenty.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE HEADINGS:

"(1) Most and best news, foreign and domestic, presented attractively.
"(2) Best possible presentation of news briefly.
"(3) Typographical appearance.
"(4) Classification of news by departments.
"(5) Editorials.

"The Chicago Tribune is the only newspaper in the United States which the World-Herald considers worthy of mention under four different heads."—From the October Plain Talk.

Practically all high-class intelligent newspaper readers, comprising the best and middle classes in Chicago and vicinity, read The Chicago Tribune. A great majority of them read no other morning newspaper.

The Chicago Tribune prints more advertising year in and year out than any newspaper in the West.

A Great Advertising Medium.

Highest Inhabited Spot.

The highest spot inhabited by human beings on this globe is the Buddhist cloister of Hanle, Thibet, where twenty-one monks live at an altitude of 16,000 feet.

Dublin an Unhealthy City.

Dublin has the unhappy pre-eminence of being at present the most unhealthy city in the United Kingdom.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. FEBRUARY. 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28

F. Q. 6th. F. M. 14th. L. Q. 22d.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sandwiched with Minor Affairs.

The Battle Royal On.

London special: Gen. Cronje is seemingly making his last stand. He is dying hard, hemmed in by British infantry and with shells from sixty guns falling in his camp. On the third day of the fight the Boer chief asked for an armistice to bury his dead. "Fight to a finish or surrender unconditionally," was Lord Kitchener's reply. Gen. Cronje immediately sent back word that his request for a truce had been misunderstood, and that his determination then, as before, was to fight to the death.

The battle went on. This was the situation Thursday, as sketched in the scanty telegrams that have emerged from the semi-silence of South Africa.

Mrs. Lawton's Gratitude.

Mrs. Lawton has made the following acknowledgement of the receipt of the home fund:

DEAR GEN. CORBIN:—Such kindness as yours can never be repaid, and my heart is very full when I try to thank you. Words seem very poor at such a time. Will you please believe that I do appreciate it and all my life will find comfort in the remembrance.

"The universal feeling which prompted such wonderful generosity from the nation is so beautiful to me, and so dear, my gratitude is inexpressibly profound.

"It has relieved the one anxious thought Henry would have had, and I do not know how to thank you or the nation.

"Believe me, with kind regards, very sincerely, "MARY C. LAWTON."

What Dewey Says.

Regarding the contention that the United States should not build the Nicaraguan Canal without erecting extensive fortifications, Admiral Dewey says: "Fortifications? Why, of course not. As I understand, the canal is to be and should be a neutralized commercial pathway between the two great oceans. To fortify it would simply result in making it a battleground in case of war. Fortifications would be enormously expensive and ought not to be erected. Our fleets will be a sufficient guarantee of the neutrality and safety of the canal in time of war as well as in peace."

Killed by an Explosion.

Two miners were killed and one fatally injured by an explosion of giant powder at their camp near Monongahela. Their names: Killed, Robert Pezzoni, Joseph Dorsa; injured, Peter Lorsi. Mrs. Pezzoni was also seriously burned while tearing the burning clothing from her husband. The building was completely demolished and the victims were burned almost beyond recognition. It is thought the powder was ignited by a spark from one of the miners' pipes.

Objects to Olga Nethersole's "Sapho."

On application of District Attorney Gardiner to Magistrate Mott, in the Center Street Police Court, New York, warrants were issued for the arrest of Theodore Moss, Marcus Meyer and Olga Nethersole, the actress, for the production of the play "Sapho," now at Wallack's Theater. The charge is the violation of section 383, of the penal code, which relates to matters "offending public decency."

Princess Cantacuzene Ill.

Princess Cantacuzene, who was Julia Dent Grant, granddaughter of Gen. U. S. Grant, is ill with typhoid fever in St. Petersburg, Russia. Her mother, the wife of Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, now in the Philippines, sailed hurriedly on the American liner St Louis, Friday. She hopes to reach the bedside of her daughter within ten days. She took with her an American trained nurse.

Wreck on the B. & O.

Passenger train No. 5 on the Baltimore and Ohio Road was telescoped by a milk train at Edgemore, Ind. Michael Kelly, engineer of the milk train; James C. Baghitt, fireman, and the steward of the dining car were injured, but not fatally. None of the passengers were hurt.

Kansas City Gets It.

The next Democratic National Convention will be held in Kansas City. This was decided upon at the meeting of the National Democratic Committee held in Washington. The vote was as follows: Kansas City, 40; Milwaukee, 9.

Postoffice Robbed.

Three men blew the postoffice safe at Whitehouse, Lucas County, Ohio, securing $200 worth of stamps and several checks. The explosion aroused the citizens, but the robbers held them at bay with drawn revolvers until they made their escape in a buggy.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

March 3—"The Highwayman."

To Reimburse United States.

The Committee on Puerto Rico reported favorably to the Senate an amendment to the Puerto Rican bill reimbursing the United States for the expenditures from War Department funds for the relief of the industrial condition of the island caused by the hurricane last August.

Vessel Wrecked, Crew Saved.

Nassau (N. H.) special: The Norwegian bark Ameer, Capt. Thisland, from Mobile, Feb. 1, for Bahia Blanca, was wrecked on Feb. 17, at Orange Bay. The crew have arrived here.

EASTERN.

William H. Beard, the artist, died at New York. Mr. Beard's death was due to apoplexy.

Woman suffragists in Washington formally celebrated Susan B. Anthony's eightieth birthday.

Miss Porter, head of the famous Farmington School and sister of Noah Porter, died at Hartford from old age.

Fire did $50,000 damage at 231 Mercer street, New York. The losses are divided among fur and clothing firms.

Mrs. Rachel B. Crane of Peekskill, N. Y., has given $50,000 to the home mission board of the Presbyterian Church and $50,000 to its foreign mission board.

J. A. Woods is the champion pie eater of New Jersey. At a contest he ate eleven large apple pies in nine and one-half minutes. He was three pies ahead of his closest competitor.

The 1,800 employes of G. B. Markle & Co., anthracite coal mine operators of Hazleton, Pa., have been notified of a 5 per cent increase in their wages, the second advance in the last two months.

At Pittsburg fire gutted a three-story brick building at 947 Liberty avenue, occupied by Sol Cerf & Co., wholesale jewelers, causing a loss estimated at from $75,000 to $80,000, partially covered by insurance.

There was a $75,000 fire in one of the old car buildings which are occupied by the Metropolitan Street Railway Company in New York City. Only three out of 200 cars were destroyed and forty damaged. The loss was largely on the building.

The tug Nathan Hale arrived in New York with news that the barge Oaklands, coal laden and consigned to the Pomeroy Coal Company, of Providence, R. I., had gone down off the Jersey coast in the recent storm, four men on the barge perishing.

Prince Mura, 35 years old, an acrobat, committed suicide in his room at the Trafalgar Hotel in New York, by inhaling gas through a tube. The man's wife died at St. Joseph's hospital for incurables of consumption, and since her death he acted strangely.

Roland B. Molineux was sentenced to die in Sing Sing prison during the week of March 26 for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams. He made a statement asserting that he had not been fairly convicted and that "yellow journalism" had put a price upon his head.

Bessie Titsworth, who is only 6 years old, the only daughter of Simon Titsworth of Milford, Pa., by a second wife, was sold by her father for $1 to the Rev. W. R. Neff, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The father relinquished all rights and claim to the child.

WESTERN.

Former Judge William S. Vest, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Minneapolis, is dead in Los Angeles, aged 63 years.

At Mexico, Mo., Edward Spencer was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years for the murder of Benjamin Eddleman in a saloon at Vandalia.

The building of the Pittsburg Plate Glass Company's northwestern branch at Minneapolis was destroyed by fire. Loss on building and stock, $125,000.

K. T. Parkstad committed suicide at his home in Chicago by hanging himself to a doorknob. Parkstad was 61 years old, in poor health and out of work.

Because he was unable to secure employment for the support of his young wife Walter Belz, a Chicago plumber, committed suicide by hanging himself.

The residence of the Rev. W. Bainbridge, an elderly retired minister, at Antwerp, Ohio, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Bainbridge lost his life in the flames.

Frank E. Moore has been renominated for Mayor by the Republicans of Omaha, Neb. The platform declares for municipal ownership of water works and other public enterprises.

H. L. Moyer of Deshler, Ohio, in attempting to cross the railroad tracks in front of a train, was caught in a frog and the entire train passed over him, cutting him into fragments.

One man was killed and five others were overcome by gas while at work in a sewer at Paulina and Fulton streets, in Chicago. The men were almost drowned before help reached them.

At San Francisco the contract firm of Marcuse & Remmels has failed for $140,000, and large blocks of property owned by them have been sold to satisfy the demands of pressing creditors.

The bill for the reorganization of the government of Cincinnati, known as the "Cox-Ripper bill," passed the Ohio Senate by a vote of 17 to 14, the contest resolving itself along party lines.

A mob of armed negro soldiers from Fort Bliss went to the city police station at El Paso, Texas, and attempted to release two imprisoned comrades. A fight ensued, resulting in the killing of two men.

The steamer Coptic brought to a San Francisco smelting company 1,840 sacks of ore concentrates from the mines of an American syndicate in Corea, and is the second similar consignment within a few months.

Leander J. McCormick, who, with his brother Cyrus, founded the great McCormick Harvesting Company and who had been a resident of Chicago since 1848, died at the Virginia Hotel of pneumonia. His age was 81 years.

Frank A. Ulrich, a collector, 34 years old, committed suicide at his home in Chicago, by shooting himself. According to the statement of neighbors to the police, Ulrich's wife left him a week before, and that, with poor health, made him despondent.

Notwithstanding the fact that it has long been expected, but repeatedly denied, the quiet marriage of Dan R. Hanna, son of Senator M. A. Hanna, and Mrs. Daisy Gordon Maud, created a sensation in high Cleveland society circles.

Frank Crane, of Wakefield, Neb., who disappeared ten years ago and was supposed to have been murdered, has turned up alive. He gives no cause for his disappearance. He has been in Central and South America. He returns to stop some family litigation.

A five-story brick building at 16 Harrison street, Cleveland, used as a stable by Gibbons & Pinkett, agents for Armour & Co., was destroyed by fire. Forty horses perished in the flames. The loss on the stable and contents is $50,000, covered by insurance.

Cleveland is to have another big rolling mill for the manufacture of iron and steel. The Empire Rolling Mill Company has been incorporated at Columbus, the incorporators being U. G. Walker, Louis D. Round, James Paton, John D. Paton and W. R. Dunbar.

Discoveries of gold of wonderful richness have just been made in the Chispa mountains in Brewster County, Texas, and there is great excitement throughout that section over the results of the assays that have been made. Prospectors are rushing into the locality.

President Barrows announces a gift of $40,000 for Oberlin, Ohio, college from the estate of William E. Osborn of Pittsburg, who died in Florida a few weeks ago. Mr. Osborn in his will provided that the sum should be given for the endowment of the president's chair.

SOUTHERN.

Fire burned the business part of Halls, Tenn., causing a loss of about $50,000.

William Scott Belknap, formerly a well-known minstrel, is dead at Louisville, Ky.

At Southern Pines, N. C., the Alfa Hotel, with all its contents, was burned. The thirty guests escaped.

The Owen brothers, two of the bandits who held up a train at Fairbanks, Ari., have been captured near Pearce.

The St. Charles College at Grand Choteau, near New Orleans, together with a large and valuable library, was destroyed by fire. Loss $50,000.

Fire which started in the rear of Bacot & Co.'s general store at Clarksdale, Miss., destroyed seven brick stores in the business portion of that place, entailing a loss of $60,000.

Mrs. William J. Garland, wife of a saloonkeeper in Phoebus, Va., was found murdered in her bed by her husband when the latter awoke. The husband reported the murder and he was arrested, charged with the crime.

State Senator R. L. Bradley was shot and slightly wounded at Raymond, Miss., by Mrs. Ida Bolls, who alleges that Bradley had failed to keep faith in a promise to marry. Mrs. Bolls then attempted to commit suicide by stabbing, but was prevented.

The Hotel Flanders at Knoxville, Tenn., was partially burned, seventy-five guests being forced out into the streets with the mercury hugging the zero mark. McNabb's cafe, in the hotel block, was gutted. Six firemen were overcome by smoke. The fire originated in the basement under the cafe, probably from electric wires.

At Chepultepec, Ala., Jennie Maxwell was ordered by her husband to go out in the woods and cut some kindling for the fire. The woman declined to subject herself to the exposure of the very cold weather and the husband hit her on the head with a plank. The blow drove a nail which the woman had in her hair into her head, and it penetrated her brain and caused her death.

FOREIGN.

Paris hotels have raised their rates from $3 to $9 a day.

Andrew Coats, famous threadmaker, is dead in London, aged 85.

Henri Rochefort was mobbed and pelted with rotten apples in Bordeaux.

Russia is expected to re-arm her entire artillery with new quick-fire guns.

Brazil has declared Argentine and Portuguese ports free of the bubonic plague.

Two elephants broke loose in the Crystal Palace, London, and killed their keeper.

English wall-paper makers have completed the organization of their $30,000,000 trust.

Paul Hervieu and Emile Faquet have been elected members of the French Academy.

A French expedition has decisively defeated Rabah, the "African Napoleon" of the Sudan.

France is to have another treason case much like the Dreyfus case. Jude Philippe, an officer employed in the ministry of marine, is the accused, and has fled.

An imperial edict, just issued, commands Li Hung Chang to desecrate and destroy the tombs of the ancestors of the Chinese reformer Kang Yu Wei, and offers 100,000 taels for the capture of Kang Yu Wei, dead or alive.

Out of a total of fifty-one cases of suspected bubonic plague reported in Manila forty-two proved genuine and thirty-two deaths resulted, half of them being Chinamen. The health department census shows the population of Manila is about 190,000, including 31,000 Chinese.

IN GENERAL.

The battleship Wisconsin, now building at the Union iron works, San Francisco, is fast nearing completion. She will probably be ready for her trial trip before July 1.

The steamer Jess, from Skaguay, brings a report that most of the gold hunters who started from Dawson to Nome are making a cut-off to the recently found diggings on the Koyokuk.

Edwin Mayo of the "Pudd'n Head Wilson" company dropped dead in the Chateau Frontenac, at Quebec. Mr. Mayo was the son of the late Frank Mayo, for whom the play "Pudd'n Head Wilson" was written.

The United States steamship Nero, during its recent survey for a transpacific cable, broke the record for deep-sea soundings. One sounding near Guam Island marked 5,269 fathoms, only sixty-six feet short of six statute miles.

Preparations are now being made at the War Department in Washington for a reduction within the next few months of the American military force in Cuba. There are now in Cuba four general officers with a total of less than 9,000 troops.

An American syndicate with a capital of $10,000,000 will immediately begin the construction of a great steel plant in Monterey, Mexico. The plans for the mammoth concern have been completed and the ground purchased for locating the several buildings. An abundance of high-grade iron ore and coal is within easy shipping distance.

The business situation is thus set forth by Bradstreet's: "Satisfactory advices as to expanding spring trade in dry goods and kindred lines come from a number of markets. That the aggregate business of the country is of good volume otherwise is, however, indicated by detailed reports of increases in trade as compared with last year, confirmed by satisfactory railroad earnings reports, by fair gains in bank clearings and by reports of better demand for money in commercial channels. Though some talk of lack of snow in the grain growing regions is heard, no widespread damage from cold weather is yet noted. Some cutting of the list price for anthracite coal is reported, while bituminous grades are very firm, and leading operators talk of a further advance caused by increased cost growing out of advanced wages of mine workers and also by the steadily growing foreign demand."

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.25; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 66c to 67c; corn, No. 2, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 53c to 54c; butter, choice creamery, 24c to 25c; eggs, fresh, 13c to 14c; potatoes, choice, 40c to 50c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.25; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 71c; corn, No. 2 white, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 28c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 26c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 55c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.25; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $2.50 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 61c to 63c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.25; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 74c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, 58c to 60c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 23c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 60c; clover seed, new, $5.55 to $5.60.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 65c to 66c; corn, No. 2, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 1, 57c to 59c; barley, No. 2, 45c to 47c; pork, mess, $10.75 to $11.25.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.50; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.25; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $7.50.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 78c to 79c; corn, No. 2, 43c to 44c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c; butter, creamery, 20c to 25c; eggs, western, 15c to 16c.

HEAVY BRITISH LOSS.

ROBERTS REPORTS FIFTY OFFICERS KILLED OR WOUNDED.

Invasion of the Orange Free State Is Sharply Contested, and Burghers Are Still in Fighting Trim—Boer Siege of Ladysmith Not Abandoned.

The idea prevalent in London that the Boers were demoralized and in a condition of panic was dispelled by the publication of a serious casualty list from Gen. Lord Roberts, without any explanation of how or where the losses were incurred. Gen. Roberts' previous dispatch, so far as it was published by the war office, gave the impression that the Boers were in full retreat, making hardly any resistance, and aroused the expectation that the next tidings would announce the surrender of Commandant Cronje's army. Then came the news that nearly fifty British officers, including two prominent generals, had been killed or wounded, while the losses of the rank and file were not mentioned. There can be no doubt that the British invasion of the Orange Free State is being sharply contested, and that the Federal forces are still in vigorous fighting trim.

The news from Gen. Buller's campaign is favorable as far as it goes, but the persistent report that Ladysmith had been relieved proves to have been premature. The Tugela river was crossed for the fourth time by the British Wednesday, but it would be almost absurd to assume that the retirement of the Boers from this point before the British advance indicates an intention to abandon the siege of Ladysmith and the possession of territory in Natal. In other words, the crisis is not yet passed, according to the information at present received, and all depends, not on Gen. Buller's campaign, which is now a side issue, but on Gen. Roberts' great dash at the Free State capital.

One of the costliest actions of the war occurred at Paardeberg drift Sunday, Feb. 18. Gen. Kelly-Kenny, in his pursuit of Gen. Cronje, caught the latter's rear guard at Klip drift and followed the burghers to the Boers' laager at Koodoosrand. The drift action began at daybreak, the mounted infantry driving the Boer rear guard up the river toward the main body, while another body of mounted infantry maneuvered on the right, front and flank of the Boers. The British main body advanced to outflank the Boers' laager on the north bank of the river. Gen. Kelly-Kenny, having seized two drifts, found the Boers strongly inclosed and ordered an attack, with the Highland brigade on the left and Gen. Knox's brigade on the center and right, while Gen. Smith-Dorrien's brigade crossed the river and advanced along the north bank.

GEN. CRONJE.

On both the north and south banks the ground is level and the advance across this was deadly and the British losses were heavy. The British guns shelled the laager vigorously and the Boers confessed to a loss of over 800 men. The terrific shelling was resumed Monday, when Gen. Cronje asked for an armistice. The shelling was continued Tuesday.

A London correspondent says that the withdrawal of the Boers before the British advance in both the western and eastern campaigns has been so general and precipitate that it seems to be no longer possible to account for it by the supposition that the movements constitute a new and well-planned maneuver. Gen. Lord Roberts, by rapid marches, has advanced unopposed more than a third of the way to Bloemfontein. Gen. Methuen has occupied Kimberley and restored railway communication between that place and Cape Town. Gen. French is still pursuing the enemy to the northeast. It is persistently reported that Gen. Kitchener has Commandant Cronje's army surrounded.

It is reported that Col. Plumer, who is moving to the relief of Mafeking, surprised the Boers in a night attack at Crocodile Pools. The Boers were intrenched on a steep, thorny ridge. While struggling through the barbed-wire entanglements the British alarmed Boer dogs. The barking of the dogs brought the Boers out, and they began firing. The British then made a bayonet charge, when the Boers exploded dynamite mines, and the British were forced to retreat.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

Gen. Lord Methuen, with Col. Douglas, chief of his staff, directing the battle of Magersfontein. Lord Methuen had not fully recovered from the wound he received at the battle of Modder river, and was obliged to direct his forces from a native cart. The picture is from a sketch by Frederick Villiers, drawn for the Illustrated London News.

Trade and Industry.

The United States Government uses nearly 10,000 new typewriters each year.

A firm in London purchases each year over 2,000,000 bottles, valued at about $35,000, recovered from garbage and dust yards.

The Brewers' union at Cincinnati has passed a resolution subjecting to a fine any member who patronizes a non-union barber shop.

BRITISH WAR OFFICE IN LONDON.

This picture illustrates the famous British war office in London, which, since Oct. 12, has been the European center of interest in the great South African trouble. It was here Gen. Roberts met the secretary for war, Lord Lansdowne, when it was determined to send "Bobs" to the command of the British forces at the Cape. Here are received all the official telegrams from the front and here are posted the bulletins which the authorities see fit to publish. Ever since the war began the street before the grim old building has been crowded with anxious relatives of the fighting men, eager for news of husband, brother, sweetheart or father, and many have been the distressing scenes the war officials have been compelled to witness. The building, as may be judged by its palace-like aspect, has accommodations for luxuriously lodging several persons.

ALLIANCE IS DENIED.

Secretary Hay's Answer to Macrum Is Given to the House.

The President sent to the House of Representatives Wednesday the answer of the Secretary of State to the resolution presented by Representative Wheeler of Kentucky calling for information as to whether Charles E. Macrum had informed the State Department that his official mail had been opened by the British consul at Durban, and, if so, what steps, if any, had been taken in relation thereto, and what truth there was in Macrum's charge that a secret alliance existed between the United States and Great Britain. The answer, at the President's suggestion, was made more comprehensive by the insertion of the reference to the fact that all of Mr. Macrum's official mail had been received at the State Department unopened, and that Mr. Macrum had not, after he left South Africa, communicated to the department any complaint about the opening of his mail.

The State Department said that inquiries set on foot immediately after the publication of Macrum's first statement developed the fact that the British Government had no knowledge of any interference with the correspondence of the United States consulate at Pretoria, and the additional fact that if any such interference had taken place it was contrary to instructions. The answer of the State Department states positively that no secret alliance or understanding exists between the United States and Great Britain. It is signed by Secretary Hay.

TAYLOR AND BECKHAM AGREE.

Kentucky Courts to Decide the Governorship Question.

The courts are to determine who is Governor of Kentucky and who is to perform the duties of Lieutenant Governor. Attorneys for Gov. Taylor and Lieut. Gov. Marshall and Mr. Beckham, after a conference of several hours Wednesday afternoon, reached an agreement as to how the trouble is to be ended.

TYPES OF KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEERS.

Mr. Beckham is to withdraw his injunction suit filed before Judge Cantrill. He can if he desires file a similar one in Louisville. The injunction suits of Taylor and Marshall filed in Louisville are to stand. All of the suits are to be placed upon the ordinary docket. They are to be consolidated. Both sides are to use their best efforts to have them decided as quickly as possible.

During the pendency of the suits Messrs. Marshall and Taylor retain their respective offices, giving supersedeas bonds. An appeal to the Court of Appeals will not be opposed by either side. That court will be asked for a writ of error to the Supreme Court, neither side offering objection.

DR. L. E. KEELEY DEAD.

Originator of the Famous "Gold Cure" Passes Away.

Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, who made a million dollars out of his "gold cure" for the liquor habit, died at Los Angeles, Cal., of heart disease, Wednesday morning. He had a severe cold and while going to the bath room had an attack of heart failure. He soon recovered and made light of his illness, but before a physician could be summoned, expired. Dr. Keeley left no children.

Leslie E. Keeley, M. D., LL. D., was born in a small village in the interior of New York State, sixty-five years ago, and early in life removed to Michigan. He graduated in medicine at the Rush Medical College, and on the breaking out of the civil war enlisted in the medical corps of an Illinois regiment, serving his full time with distinction. At the close of the war he settled at Dwight, Ill., where he first evolved the theory that inebriety was a disease. He then began seeking a remedy, and after several failures he discovered that double chloride of gold and sodium, combined with other ingredients, had merits which led him to begin extensive demonstrations of his specific in the early '80s and to establish his first institute in 1887.

GOES TO SOUTH AFRICA.

Maj. Gen. Sir Frederic Carrington Goes to Fight the Boers.

Maj. Gen. Sir Frederick Carrington, who has been ordered from his command in the Belfast district to South Africa, will return to familiar ground when he joins the forces that are fighting the Boers. Sir Frederick displayed much wisdom and ability in his work as a commander of the British during the Matabele war. For twenty years his name has been associated with South Africa. The troop which he founded in 1877 still bears the name of "Carrington's Horse." He took part in the Kaffir war and he rendered notable service in the Transkei district. In 1881 he was an officer of Warren's Bechuanaland expedition and was the commander of the border police for five years. In 1893 he was made major general and appointed military adviser to the governor of the Cape. Gen. Carrington is 56 years old.

GEN. CARRINGTON.

Side Lights on the Boer War.

Among the many appliances now being tried in warfare for the first time the tele-photographic camera is not the least important. Telephotography is often thought to be the taking of photographs by means of an apparatus combining a telescope with an ordinary camera. This is not strictly the case, although the principle is the same. Telephotographic action is brought about by specially devised lenses, the invention of an Englishman. Its advantages in military work and especially for balloon purposes is great. It has been used to advantage by the British in South Africa, although the war office has not officially adopted the device. In Italy, Spain, Russia and Germany the apparatus has been thus adopted. Telephotography was first used in the Chino-Japanese war.

-:—:-

In the opinion of the Indianapolis Press it is a little early for England to hold a general jubilee over the success of Roberts in relieving Kimberley. He is over 500 miles from the sea, with an army of 70,000 to feed and practically all the food resources of the country are locked up in Boer strongholds. In the meantime there is an ominous movement of Boer forces toward his long line of communications. The British would feel much more comfortable if they knew just where Cronje is, and why he gave up Kimberley without a struggle. If he should succeed in cutting off Roberts' supplies and starving out his whole army, it would be an enlargement of Boer strategy that would "stagger humanity" for sure.

-:—:-

Mafeking is the third of the South African towns in which there is a British garrison besieged. Ladysmith and Kimberley are the other two. Mafeking lies in the open, bare veldt which is as flat as a pancake. A few isolated kopjes, an ant heap here and there, a clump of bushes under three feet in height—these are the only things that break the monotony of the landscape. The town is practically defenseless. Mafeking is 870 miles from the Cape and 144 miles north of Kimberley. It is a simple little township of a few hundred souls and its only importance lies in the fact that it is a trading station with the far north.

-:—:-

The scarcity of wood in Natal has been severely felt by the British troops. Almost all of the firewood that does not come from the boxes in which the canteen goods are packed, forms a part of the commissariat stores and is issued in small quantities to the troops. One pound of wood a day to a man is the specified quantity.

-:—:-

There are about 170,000 reservists in England, between 25 and 40, whom the Government will ask to serve in the army for home duty.

CONGRESS

On Thursday the Senate passed the Senate substitute for the House currency bill by a vote of 46 to 29. Made the Hawaiian bill unfinished business, giving it right of way. The House completed twenty-six of the 124 pages of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill without amendment. During the general debate Mr. Boutell (Ill.), Mr. Miers (Ind.) and Mr. Showalter (Pa.) discussed the Philippine question; Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio) and Mr. Gillette (Mass.) civil service reform, Mr. Driggs (N. Y.) pensions, and Mr. Underwood (Ala.) his resolution to repeal the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution.

The Senate on Friday resumed discussion of the Philippine question. Mr. McEnery strongly opposed permanent acquisition of the islands and believed United States ought to relinquish them as soon as authority of this country had been asserted. Mr. Stewart took pronounced position in favor of admission of the products of any of the island possessions of the United States free of duty. Hawaiian bill was read, but nothing was done with it. The House by a vote of 75 to 67, in committee of the whole, struck out from legislative appropriation bill all provision for civil servivce commission. Action regarded as annual joke, as item will probably be restored in open session when members have to go on record on roll call. Rest of the time devoted to assertions by Mr. Sims (Dem., Tenn.) that northern volunteer soldiers in Spanish war were much more clamorous for pensions than the southern ones, and attributing this to the debauching of public sentiment in the North on the pension question. Mr. Pearre (Rep., Md.) raised the storm by stating that hundreds of Massachusetts soldiers who never smelled powder had applied for pensions. This brought out an indignant reply from Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., Mass.), who detailed the record of the Massachusetts volunteers. He was followed by others, who defended the soldiers from their several States. Mr. Hepburn (Iowa) especially assailed Mr. Sims.

The Senate held no session on Saturday. The House passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. The civil service appropriation, stricken out in committee of the whole, was restored to the bill by a vote of 77 to 125.

The Senate spent Monday in debate on the right of Congress to extend or withhold the Constitution to territory acquired by the United States. The House began expansion debate, the Porto Rico tariff bill coming up. Passed a bill to amend sections 3339 and 3341 of the Revised Statutes relating to internal revenue tax on fermented liquors, the purpose being to abolish the smaller packages of beer, one-sixth and one-eighth barrels. The bill is to go into effect July 1, 1900. Nothing was accomplished at a night sesion, which was to have been devoted to pension legislation. Mr. Talbert, of South Carolina, made the point of no quorum and blocked proceedings.

The Senate on Tuesday heard Mr. Kenney in opposition to retention of the Philippines and then resumed consideration of Hawaiian bill. The House heard Mr. Hopkins of Illinois in support of the Porto Rican tariff bill and Messrs. Newlands of Nevada and Swanson of Virginia against it.

On Wednesday the Senate passed a number of bills of local interest and spent the rest of the day in debate on the Hawaiian government bill, little progress being made. In the House debate on Porto Rican tariff bill was resumed. Adopted Senate resolution authorizing the President to appoint one woman commissioner to represent the United States and the national society of the D. A. R. at the unveiling of the statue of Lafayette at the Paris exposition.

Brief News Items.

Canada may send 10,000 more troops to the Cape.

Nicaraguans favor Americans controlling the canal.

Russia will build a railroad across Persia, 1,300 miles long.

Chicago Board of Trade has abolished "put" and "call" trading.

Plague is about over in Honolulu. City has been thoroughly cleansed.

George Barrow, abductor of baby Marion Clark, New York, is insane.

A Liverpool physician has discovered the bacillus of pink-eye in horses.

Dr. Lapponi, the papal physician, says Pope Leo may live to be 100 years old.

Preston Huribert, prominent stockman, Buffalo, N. Y., killed by a street car.

G. W. Cross and Gus Leach were killed by a dynamite explosion, Hillsworth, Ga.

Porch climbers secured $1,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. A. S. Sturm, Chicago.

A system of government inspection of nursery stock is expected to be enacted soon.

F. O. Tait, amateur golf champion of England, was killed in the battle at Koodoesberg.

Owing to the Texas anti-trust law the bicycle trust refuses to ship wheels there unless money accompanies the order.

Nearly $200,000,000 will be appropriated by this Congress for the support of the United States army and navy during the next year.

The Ohio House of Representatives has passed a bill prohibiting the desecration of the American flag by its use for advertising purposes.

Three hundred Spanish prisoners of the Filipinos dispersed their guard, escaped and barricaded themselves in a town, awaiting the arrival of the Americans.

Judge William H. Taft, who has been appointed president of the new Philippine commission, said he would not remain in the islands longer than two years.

Said that fire insurance companies lost more than $5,000,000 in New York the past year.

A tornado passed over Custer, O. T., wrecking four buildings and killing Jas. Abney and wife.

Thirty-nine Irish representatives from Chicago will go to Pretoria to join the Boer hospital corps.

W. T. Hudson, Haskell, Texas, live stock raiser, filed petition in bankruptcy. Liabilities $223,000.

Former Gov. Wolcott, Massachusetts, declined an appointment on the Philippines commission.

Capt. E. T. Strong has been detached from the navy yard, Washington, and ordered to the command of the Monadnock on the Asiatic station.

Wm. Metcalf, well-known publisher, Springfield, Mass., committed suicide by shooting. His partner, Wm. Clark, killed himself two years ago.

A Chicago robber held up Mrs. Mary Burk in her saloon and took $11. He dropped his revolver, which was discharged, the bullet striking her in the thigh.

In the past ten years the production of wheat has increased 54 per cent in the South, and the number of hogs raised there has, during that period, nearly doubled.

THE FAULT OF THE AGE.

The fault of the age is a mad endeavor
To leap to heights that were made to climb;
By a burst of strength, or a thought most clever,
We plan to forestall and outwit time.

We scorn to wait for the thing worth having;
We want high noon at the day's dim dawn;
We find no pleasure in toiling and saving,
As our forefathers did in the old times gone.

We force our roses, before their season,
To bloom and blossom for us to wear;
And then we wonder and ask the reason
Why perfect buds are so few and rare.

We crave the gain, but despise the getting;
We want wealth—not as reward, but dower;
And the strength that is wasted in useless fretting
Would fell a forest or build a tower.
—New York Journal.

My Brown Merino.

DO YOU think it will look fit to be seen, after it is turned?" I asked, holding up to the light my old brown merino.

Georgie Terry looked at it rather dubiously, while I anxiously waited her decision.

"H'm—I don't know, Rose. I wish you would take my black alpaca. The merino will be good enough for me at home."

"Indeed, I'll do no such thing!" I exclaimed indignantly. "Have all the pleasure of going away and take your dresses in the bargain, leaving you to stay home and wear my old clothes! I can't be quite that selfish, Georgie."

Georgie laughed melodiously. She always had such a pleasant, rippling laugh—it sounded warm and sunny, just like her own sweet temper.

"Now, that's what I call 'straining at a gnat,'" said Georgie, with her ripe, red lips trying to pout, but quivering with smiles instead. "But here comes mamma. She shall settle that point."

Poor, dear mamma turned her head, first to one impetuous daughter, then to the other, sighing gently all the while. But to my great glee the decision was in my favor.

"I wish you could have another new dress, dear Rose," said mamma, in her kindest tones; "but I don't see how we can manage it."

All this dispute may seem very trivial to the unconcerned, but to us, the interested parties, it was of great importance. I was going on a journey—going to leave my home and travel alone for the first time in my life. We—that is, mamma, Georgie and I—lived on grandfather's farm, in New Hampshire.

Mamma had a friend named Mrs. Wharton, who had been living in Boston for many years, and she had written to mamma begging that one of us might pay her a long visit. Great was the debating as to which should accept the invitation.

Georgie insisted that it was my prerogative, as I was Mrs. Wharton's namesake. I rather think our new minister had something to do in making Georgie so persistently refuse to go; for good and kind as Georgie was, she had never been quite so active until young Mr. Partridge beamed upon us, with his bright black eyes. However, it won't do to tell her secrets without special permission.

Mamma had given me a new gray gown for Sundays and visitings; I had also a white one for evenings, in case I should go to any parties. These, with my two morning wrappers, were considered a very good outfit.

Georgie had generously insisted on my taking her new black alpaca, her one best dress, and leave my brown merino—my last winter's garment—for her to wear on Sundays. But Georgie was the soul of generosity, and would beggar herself to do anyone a kindness.

After much twisting and turning and discussions as to trimmings my wardrobe was considered finished and presentable, and I embarked on my journey. The ride was one of long delight, for my passionate love of traveling had hitherto been very little gratified.

As I stood in the railroad station at my journey's end, looking helplessly about me, a tall gentleman, with a handsome brown mustache, approached, and bowing with easy and polished grace, said in an inquiring tone:

"Miss Rose, I presume?"

I bowed in response, inwardly wondering if polite society required gentlemen to address ladies at first acquaintance by their Christian names.

"My aunt, Mrs. Wharton, has been unexpectedly called away from home for a few hours, and has given me the honor and pleasure of escorting you to her house," he remarked.

My second reply was another bow. Again I was wondering who this nephew was. The gentleman looked at me curiously. Evidently he was beginning to think me dumb, so I found voice to say:

"How is Mrs. Wharton?"

"Very well, indeed, I thank you, and looking eagerly for your arrival."

After we were seated in the carriage, which was far handsomer than my country experience had thought possible, the gentleman proceeded in his efforts for my entertainment.

"Do you wonder how I knew you, Miss Rose?" he asked.

"Very much," I replied—not, however, without qualms of conscience, as I had really not given it a thought.

"I recognized you by your dress," he triumphantly responded.

I looked down at my bright merino, the subject at home of so much disputing, and felt an inward terror. Was the man a medium, a clairvoyant? Had he in spirit heard my conversation with Georgie?

"My dress?" I gasped.

"Yes, your dress. My aunt informed me that your traveling suit was brown."

"Oh!" I faintly ejaculated, inwardly thinking how very strange in mamma to write to Mrs. Wharton concerning the dress, and feeling considerably vexed about it—so much so that the gentleman, judging from my flushed cheeks that the subject was unpleasant, pursued it no further, to my great relief.

Presently the carriage stopped before a large and handsome dwelling, and although I know that Mrs. Wharton was in possession of a very comfortable income, I was not prepared for the elegance I encountered.

My poor brown merino looked sadly out of place beside the rich crimson furniture and splendid mirrors, and had not Mrs. Wharton's nephews made strenuous efforts for my entertainment, I should have subsided into that most forlorn and dreary feeling—homesickness.

"My aunt begged that we should dine at the usual hour," said the gentleman, after I had divested myself of my wraps, "as she was afraid she would not be able to return before 8 or 9 o'clock; the friend she has gone to see is very ill—in fact, dying—and Aunt Lizzie will probably stay until all is over."

"Aunt Lizzie?" I thought; "has she discarded the name of Rose?"

I remembered, however, that her initials were R. E. W.

The dinner was charming; my appetite was good. I never had dyspepsia in my life, and I ate the luxurious food, so daintily prepared, with an enjoyment that must have been quite amusing to my companion.

About an hour after we had sat down, while we were leisurely partaking of our dessert and discussing the rights of women, the butler handed a note to my vis-a-vis. After asking me to excuse him he opened and read.

The look of surprise and consternation in his face was simply appalling.

"Has anything happened to your aunt?" I timidly inquired, feeling uncomfortable under the scrutinizing gaze of his dark-gray eyes.

"No, no—that is, nothing of importance—but I do not think she will be back to-night. But, Miss Rose—your name is Miss Rose, is it not?"

I put down the orange I was peeling and looked the amazement I felt.

"My name is Miss Rose Terry," I replied, with as much dignity as I could assume.

"Yes—certainly—I beg your pardon—but, Miss Rose—Miss Terry, I mean—you will make yourself comfortable for the night—until my aunt returns, I should say."

His confusion seemed very strange, after his late self-possession, but attributing it all to the contents of the note—alas, I did not then dream of the information it conveyed!—I endeavored to make the best of it, and told him not to be uneasy, as I had no doubt but that Mrs. Wharton would return early in the morning.

Books and music formed the principal subjects of conversation during the few hours I passed with Mrs. Wharton's nephew, and so pleasant and agreeable did he prove that I began to like him very much, and quite forgot my embarrassment at remaining so long alone with a stranger.

At breakfast next morning we chatted away like old friends, but when the meal was over my companion asked me to walk into the library for a few moments.

I complied with his request, made rather gravely, feeling a sensation pass through me that something was going to happen.

"Please be seated, Miss Terry," he began. "I regret that I am obliged to explain a very strange mistake—and I beg your pardon for keeping you in ignorance through last evening, but, believe me, I did so only because I wished you to have a pleasant and comfortable rest after your long journey.

I could say nothing to this preparatory speech, for my heart was throbbing at such a furious rate I dared not trust my voice.

"My aunt," he continued, "expected a lady friend, named Miss Annie Rose, to arrive yesterday, and being called from home unexpectedly, she commissioned me to be her escort from the railroad station to the house. She spoke of Miss Rose's traveling dress being brown, and hence my mistake in accosting you. The note I received last evening apprised me of my error, for in it Aunt Lizzie informed me that Miss Rose, learning of the illness of Mrs. Talmage, had arrived by an earlier train and gone directly to the house of Mrs. Talmage, so that she might see her friend once more while alive. If you will accept my apologies for causing you this inconvenience and delay in your plans I will be truly grateful for your forbearance and will do all in my power to rectify my mistake as speedily as possible."

What could I say? He was so sincerely sorry I could not find fault with him. With hot cheeks I explained my part in the misunderstanding.

"My friend is Mrs. Rose Wharton. She lives on Charles street. If you will——"

"I will deliver you safely into her hands, Miss Terry," he interrupted, "and will immediately order the carriage. But first I must thank you for your goodness in so readily granting pardon for my inadvertence."

When we arrived at Mrs. Rose Wharton's door he turned to me, and, taking my hand, said:

"Miss Terry, you have shown me great mercy. Will you add to your favors one more kindness, and grant me permission to call this evening and renew the acquaintance which, although commenced under such untoward circumstances, has yet afforded me much happiness?"

The look which accompanied these words was so beseeching that my heart yielded and I murmured an almost inaudible "Yes," which favor he acknowledged by a slight pressure of my hand.

Mrs. Wharton and I had a hearty laugh over my adventure, and when he called that evening she was completely charmed with both his manner and appearance.

The acquaintance, commenced so strangely, progressed rapidly, and before my visit was half over I had good reason to hug my old brown merino with a grateful heart for being the unconscious means of bringing me so much happiness.

I afterward had the pleasure of seeing Miss Annie Rose's brown suit. Need I say it was as far superior to mine as a brand new three-dollar-a-yard material could be to a seventy-five-cent merino which was in its second season?

"Never mind," said my lover, as I pointed out the difference, "you shall have as many ruffles and flounces as you like hereafter, but this brown dress is simply perfect, for it contains Rose."

In a happy household there should be no room for doubt.

TITANS OF THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRIES AT WAR.

GREAT HOMESTEAD STEEL MILLS.

ANDREW CARNEGIE and Henry Clay Frick have stunned the commercial and manufacturing world with the recent revelations made as to the annual profits of the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, of which Mr. Carnegie is the financial head and Mr. Frick (until recently) the active manager. That wealth untold has poured in upon these two fortunate men has never been questioned, but that it had reached the volume which Mr. Frick asserts it has, no one—not even intimate friends—dreamed. Men gape at each other when they read the figures. An annual profit of from 5 to 12 per cent anyone was willing to concede the magnates, but not profits of 40, 50, 75 and 100 per cent. Yet these latter figures are the ones with which Mr. Frick deals.

Briefly told, Mr. Frick's suit is a prayer filed in the common pleas court to restrain Mr. Carnegie from forcing him to sell out his interest in the steel company except at his own terms. In support of his prayer he states: The profits of the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, for 1899 were $21,000,000 above all expenses. The net profits for 1900 have been estimated by Mr. Carnegie at $40,000,000 and by Mr. Frick at $42,500,000. Mr. Frick's interest in the company, according to his own calculations, is $16,238,000; according to Mr. Carnegie but $6,000,000. The number of partners in the company is forty. The total value of the property under ordinary conditions is $250,000,000; in prosperous times at home and abroad, $500,000,000. The capital stock of the steel company is but $25,000,000, of which Mr. Carnegie owns 58½ per cent, and Frick 6 per cent. In May, 1899, Mr. Carnegie received in cash $1,170,000 given him as a bonus for his ninety days' option to sell his 58½ per cent in the steel company for $157,950,000. Mr. Frick's 6 per cent of stock on that basis would be worth $16,238,000. Mr. Frick in his prayer avers fraud on the part of Mr. Carnegie. He declares the latter drove him out of the chairmanship of the steel company last December through malice, that he intends to run the business himself, and that he will thereby cause great loss.

Andrew Carnegie is the epitome of Scotch thrift, Irish volubility and American perseverance. Henry C. Frick is the embodiment of Dutch acquisitiveness and taciturnity and English tenacity. Chance worked more for the winning of Mr. Carnegie's fortune than in the case of any other living American multimillionaire. Necessity brought Mr. Frick into Mr. Carnegie's service. Opportunity gave Mr. Frick his wealth. Favorable legislation and judicious nursing increased Mr. Carnegie's wealth. Mr. Carnegie professes to believe in the human race and in the success of human endeavor. Mr. Frick is little concerned in the human race, save as it is a buyer in his market. Mr. Carnegie is not bold or daring. Mr. Frick is both. Mr. Carnegie thinks wealth should add to wealth, but that it should be disposed of before death. Mr. Frick doesn't care—get all, hold all, is his creed. Mr. Carnegie says he owes a debt to humanity. Mr. Frick says it is not due to humanity, but to himself. Mr. Carnegie gives away a library every time he feels democratic. Mr. Frick relinquishes nothing. Both men have gained millions by methods open to intelligent discussion. Neither man can avoid death.

The Famous Homestead Outbreak and Cause from Which It Originated.

Henry C. Frick owned a name of national prominence at the end of the year 1892. For years prior to the events of that time labor-saving machinery had been introduced at the mills in Homestead, which greatly increased the output, lessened the labor and increased the wages of a small number of employes known as the "tonnage men." These men were paid at certain fixed rates per ton of product, and with the improved machinery used they were enabled in many cases to double their earnings beyond the figures contemplated by the union scale, and also beyond that paid by competing mills. Mr. Frick insisted when it came to arranging a new scale that allowance be made for the improved machinery used. The "tonnage men" refused to listen to him, and many useless conferences were held. The men were stubborn and Mr. Frick cold. There does not appear to have been much tact used on either side. Mr. Frick finally prepared a new scale and submitted it to the workmen direct without consulting the officers of their unions. A strike was ordered by the union officers and followed. Mr. Frick imported Pinkerton men to protect his property, and they were entrapped on river barges and shot down by the strikers. The presence of the Pinkerton men really appears to have precipitated rioting which otherwise might not have taken place. The National Guard of Pennsylvania was called out and Homestead put under martial law. While the excitement was at its height Alexander Bergman, an anarchist from New York, called at Mr. Frick's private office in Pittsburg, shot him four times and stabbed him seven. Nevertheless Mr. Frick recovered and Bergman was sent to the penitentiary for a long term of years. Congress appointed a committee to investigate the cause of the Homestead riots and it did so, but no practical good came from the investigation. The rioting ended as quickly as it began, and since that time the Carnegie works have had no serious trouble with their labor. A kind of a civil service is maintained in the works by which men of steady service may be promoted.

COLLEGE GOOD-FELLOWSHIP.

Alma Mater Attachments that Last a Whole Life Long.

A prime advantage of a university education, says the Kansas City Star, is the assimilation of what is called the college spirit. This is worth quite as much to the student as the technical knowledge which he masters in his academic course.

At any first-class institution of learning the students meet young men of good breeding and antecedents from every part of the country. They form acquaintances and associations which yield enjoyment to them for the remainder of their lives. They are given the opportunity of measuring themselves as to intellectual power, and, what is as fully important, in point of manner and development, with the best American types. The assemblage of thousands of youths from the most cultivated families in the land opens the way for the assimilation and imitation by each of all that is most admirable in the others.

College friendships, in many instances, lead the students into wholly new fields of social observation and thus greatly broaden the education of the student. The Western boy at Yale or Harvard goes home to visit with his Eastern chum, and sees life which is essentially different from that to which he has been accustomed. The Eastern chap comes to the West, and fairly revels in the cordiality and freedom which are notable in Eastern society for their absence. The advantage is great and as valuable on one side as on the other. This feeling of good fellowship has built up what may be called a vast college order all over the country.

RISTORI AT 78.

Terrible Vengeance Which Dumas Pere Took on Rachel.

So long has Ristori been off the stage that many people think her dead, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. The last scene in life's drama, though, has not yet come for the great tragedienne. She is living quietly in her home in Italy, spending part of her winters in Rome, and watching with interest all the current events in the dramatic world.

Writing of Ristori, Kate Field once said: "Romance seems to have presided over her birth, and to have strewn her path with as many incidents as flowers. * * * Born a dramatic gypsy, she made her first appearance on the stage when two months old. Introduced in a basket, the unconscious infant did not on this occasion give any evidence of dramatic ability. Four years later, when la piccola Ristori became a regular member of the company, large audiences greeted her whenever she appeared in a child's part, and even then Ristori's salary was greater than that of her parents, who were acting with her."

Of her debut in Paris in 1855, after she had already become famous throughout Italy, Miss Field wrote: "The play was 'Francesca da Rimini.' The great Rossi played Paolo, but critical Paris saw only Ristori. Some had gone to scoff—they remained to bring Francesca back to life by recalling her three times before the curtain. The audience was not large, for Italian form meant nothing in France; but that audience made haste to proclaim the coming of a new prophet, to whom they gave papers of naturalization and called 'Notre Ristori.'

"Dumas pere made haste to write: 'Last night I was at the representation of "Francesca da Rimini." * * * I looked around the theater, but did not see Rachel. I beg that she will go and see how the death scene is performed.' Rachel would not play Dumas. Here was the author's terrible venegance—unkind and undeserved, but none the less cutting to the great tragedienne who for fifteen years had, undisputed, worn her crown."

OUTRAGED OFFICIAL DIGNITY.

Sad Mistake of a Machinery Drummer in Central America.

"It takes some time to learn the social ropes in Central America," remarked a gentleman in the banana trade, "and a stranger is very apt to put his foot in it. The first time I ever went into the country myself was as the representative of an American machinery house. There was a good field for us in one of the republics, but the tariff was prohibitive, and I concluded to go over to the capital and have an interview with the minister of agriculture, hoping to persuade him to recommend a reduction. I spoke pretty fair Ollendorf Spanish, but was otherwise green as a gourd, and as soon as I arrived made a bee line for the administration building.

"While I was cooling my heels in an ante-room, waiting for a chance to speak to somebody in authority and ascertain how the minister could be seen, a very black, fat little negro waddled in, wearing what I took to be a species of livery. He had exactly the air of an impudent, overfed house servant, and he looked me over in a way that made my blood boil. 'Hi, boy!' I said sharply, 'how long must I wait here? 'How should I know?' he replied in Spanish; 'if it doesn't suit you get out.' He chuckled as he spoke and his answer so infuriated me that I lost my head.

"Jumping up, I seized him by the collar and the slack of his absurd embroidered trousers and propelled him, turkey fashion, through the open door. 'There, you black scoundrel!' I exclaimed, 'Go and send somebody after my card!' The little fat darky was so amazed he couldn't utter a word. He simply gasped and disappeared. Half a minute later a squad of soldiers rushed in and placed me under arrest, and then I learned that my friend in the embroidered pantaloons was the minister of public instruction.

"I will leave you to imagine my feelings. It took three hours of solid talk from both the American and British consuls to get me out of the scrape, and, incidentally, I made a groveling apology. Of course, I didn't dare to introduce the machinery proposition after such a debut, so my trip was a flat failure. As I said before, it takes some time for a stranger to grasp the etiquette of those parts."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

In Indiana.

Despite the following bit of dialogue, found in the Indianapolis Journal, there is nothing topographically wrong about the town in question.

"Do you mean to tell me," said an inquiring visitor in a Hoosier village, "that those two Hill brothers are deaf and dumb?"

"Yes," replied the native, "we allus calls 'em the two Hills without a boller."

Some women would rather go hungry than miss an opportunity to purchase a new complexion cream.

The man who distrusts his neighbor will bear watching.

SQUELCHED A MUTINY

ANECDOTE OF "BOBS" THE BRITISH COMMANDER.

Harsh Measures Were Necessary Just at That Time, and He Ordered an English Soldier Shot for Insubordination—It Took Place in India.

"Gen. Lord Roberts of Kandahar, Kipling's 'Bobs Bahadur,' was the last English general to order the execution of a private soldier for insubordination," said a visitor to Washington, who has seen service under her Majesty's flag.

"It was away back in the '70s; but the incident is still very clear in the memory of old soldiers, and has been handed down with every possible exaggeration for the delectation of the 'recruitie,' who listens to the barrack-room tales told for the express purpose of striking terror and horror to his unhardened heart.

"The story is revivified now. It contributes something to illustrate the man who is beloved and feared by rank and file, and notwithstanding his determined and exacting discipline, is conceded to be England's ranking soldier among good soldiers.

"The Indian contingent has always been a ticklish department to handle. Roberts did more than any one man to bring them to a realization of what discipline really means. To-day, thanks to him, there is less grumbling, less uneasiness, and less chance of revolt than ever there has been since first the native wore the uniform, and even now extreme measures are necessary.

"But Roberts, once upon a time about the year 1878, found himself threatened with a serious situation. The native troops were uneasy. The English soldiers, too, in the case of several regiments that had been kept overtime on Indian service, were kicking loud and strong. The mouthing of the men of the English regiments was a bad example to the natives. It disorganized everything, and the punishments were made severe upon offenders who gave opportunity. But insubordination was rife. It needed but a little spark to kindle the whole command into a blaze, in which many lives must have been sacrificed and the prestige of the commanding officer lost.

"One day a drunken private was insolent to a corporal of one of the regiments. The 'non-com.' ordered the man to the guard house. A lance-corporal of the room called out a file of men. One of these refused to act as escort. He had slept in the next bed to the prisoner for years, he protested. They were army 'bed chums.' He, too, was made a prisoner, and the charge of insubordination and refusal to obey orders entered against him. It was a high crime. A general court martial was ordered, the man was sentenced to be shot, and the sentence was approved by Gen. Roberts.

"Before the assembled regiments at Calcutta he was taken out and died ignominiously with his face to the wall.

"It was a terrible and effective lesson. The spirit of insubordination was dead, but the department issued an order, religiously observed since then, to the effect that where others are available, a 'bed chum' cannot be ordered to act as escort."

COUNTESS VON BRUENING.

American Woman Who Is Admired by the Old World Aristocracy.

An American woman, Countess Adolf von Bruening, is well known in the social circles in which European nobility moves because of her marriage to her husband, the Count, but to the American people her name is familiar chiefly because of the touching devotion of her divorced husband, Gordon MacKay, of Boston and Washington. The Countess' life has been most romantic. She was the daughter of Mr. MacKay's housekeeper and had grown from childhood to mature beauty under his eyes. Although twice her age, Mr. MacKay paid her devoted attention, and she finally became his bride. Everything that wealth could provide was lavished upon the young wife and for a time theirs was a happy home. But a season of court life evidently gave Mrs. MacKay new ideas, for she made a pronounced sensation by her beauty and was loth to return to her native land.

COUNTESS ADOLF VON BRUENING.

Mr. MacKay's life was always busy and it came about that while he worked the fascinating daughter of his former housekeeper sumptuously entertained Washington society. Finally Mrs. MacKay began suit for divorce and, in 1890, was granted a decree with $25,000 yearly as alimony, the possession of two beautiful homes and also the custody of their two sons. Mr. MacKay made no defense and by many was considered too magnanimous because of his quiet acceptance of the decree.

Six years later Count von Bruening, then a secretary of the German embassy at Washington, came into Mrs. MacKay's life. After two years they became engaged. The marriage took place in Washington the latter part of last April, the Count and Countess sailing at once to Constantinople, where the former was stationed as a member of the German embassy. The Count and Countess are now living in Berlin, where the beauty and charm of the accomplished American are greatly admired.

As a wedding gift to the Countess, Mr. MacKay presented her a check for $1,000,000. He still devotes himself to business and has amassed an enormous fortune.

Some literary men do wrong when they do write.

MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.

Some Monuments Brought from England Still Stand.

Great bodies move slowly, and perhaps that is the reason why it has required such an unconsciously long time to get the Commonwealths of Pennsylvania and Maryland to act in union in the matter of restoring the stone posts which mark the famous Mason and Dixon line. But as a bill has been introduced in the Maryland Legislature appropriating $5,000 for this purpose, it is expected that the work will be soon completed. Several years ago the Pennsylvania General Assembly appropriated a like sum for the purpose, on condition that the Terrapin State would defray the one-half of the $10,000 required.

When it is remembered that this boundary line between the two States was marked 133 years ago, and that stone posts then set up have never been repaired where injured or replaced where destroyed, it is seen that the work of restoration is a matter of necessity. In fact, comparatively few of the original posts remain, and those which still stand have been sadly chipped and broken by the ubiquitous relic hunter. Dr. William Bullock Clark, the Maryland State geologist, is authority for the story that in Washington County, Maryland, two of the historic stones ornament the front steps of a farmer's house.

VIEWS OF ORIGINAL BOUNDARY STONES.
The upper two stones bear the coat-of-arms of the Penn family and of Lord Baltimore, respectively, the lower two pictures show the Pennsylvania and Maryland sides of one stone.

It is curious to note that every transaction connected with this boundary has been carried out only after protracted delays. There was much serious contention about it in England, long before Richard Penn and Lord Baltimore agreed in London, in 1760, that Charles Mason and James Dixon should be sent over to survey and establish the line with visible and durable marks. It was no easy task. The territory to be traversed was wild and rough, and the Indians were troublesome. In fact, in 1767, when the surveyors had completed the monuments to within thirty-six miles of the Delaware line, the chiefs of the still powerful Six Nations compelled its cessation.

The stones used to mark the boundary were quarried and carefully cut in England and shipped to America as they were required. At the end of each mile a stone having the letter P on one side and M on the other was set up; and a larger post of the same material was erected at the end of every fifth mile, having upon their respective sides the arms of the Penn family and those of Lord Baltimore. But it was not until 1767 that they ended their labors, and even then a good deal of the line was signalized by only heaps of stones. Many of the posts sent from England were never used at all, and several years ago some of them were found to be in use as steps before a negro cabin at Fort Frederick, on the north bank of the Potomac, in Washington County, Maryland.

A Rhinoceros at Large.

A rhinoceros that can dance is not, like a dancing bear, a familiar sight. Naturally such a rhinoceros created a sensation when, while being unloaded from a railroad car at Philadelphia, it escaped into the street.

The beast was sent to the Zoological Garden and arrived in good health and spirits. Twenty employes of the express company stood about to prevent its getting away, but when the animal started they all fled down Seventeenth street.

The rhinoceros went to Market street, the men after it, thence to Sixteenth and back to Filbert. In the short journey it passed probably a hundred people, and put them all to flight. An Italian, grinding out a merry tune on his organ, got a shock that he will not soon forget.

The beast has been with a circus and can dance and do a cake walk. At Sixteenth and Filbert streets it heard the sound of the music, and began to dance.

The Italian did not know what brought the crowd, but he kept on turning his crank until suddenly there was a roar of laughter, and he turned to find the beast standing still, solemnly looking at him. With a terrific yell, he dropped the crank and ran. The animal was caught and put back into the cage with little difficulty.

Great Salt Lake Drying Up.

According to the Irrigation Age, the waters of the Great Salt Lake in Utah have receded a mile within the past year, and some persons think that within the coming century this wonderful body of water may be completely dried up. The cause of the lowering of the water is ascribed to the rapid extension of irrigation ditches, which draw their supply from the streams emptying into the lake. There is now a "salt desert" not far from the lake, which was once covered with water. The salt deposit on the floor of the lake itself is believed to be of great thickness.

A man who has a good start in life may fail because he is facing the wrong way.

When the glass in the kitchen falls it is a sure sign of a domestic storm.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given that I, Jacob Recktenwald, administrator of the estate of Joseph Recktenwald, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on

Friday, March 16, 1900,

at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court house door in Auburn, Indiana, the following described real estate, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

The west half of the west half of the southwest quarter of section eleven (11), township thirty-three (33) north, range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana. Said land to be sold free of all liens.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-third cash, one-third in twelve months, and one-third in eighteen months from date of sale; deferred payments to be evidenced by interest-bearing notes waiving relief and secured by mortgage on the premises sold.

JACOB RECKTENWALD,
Administrator.

D. M. Link, Attorney.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until March 8, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m. for the following Iron Bridges:

One 85-ft. span on stone abutments.
One 40-ft. span steel legs.
Two 35-ft. spans on steel legs.
Three 22-ft. spans on steel legs.

The survey profile and specifications for superstructure are on file in the Auditors office.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond, in compliance with an act of the General Assembly, and in effect Feb. 28, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor
Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14, 1900.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of DeKalb county, Indiana, will receive sealed proposals until

March 8, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m.,

for the construction of stone abutments for the superstructure of a steel bridge over Fish Creek in Troy township.

Plans and specifications are on file in the Auditor's office at Auburn.

Each bid must be accompanied by an affidavit and bond in compliance with an act of General Assembly and in effect after February 27, 1899.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the board of Commissioners of DeKalb county.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.
Auburn, Ind., Feb. 14 1900.

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches in diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & CO.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned have been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the state of Indiana, executors of the estate of Jacob Dermott deceased, late of said county.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

MARION DERMOTT
JOHN E. DERMOTT
Executors.

February 15, 1900.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Liberty, Ind., Jan. 10, '98.
Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.

GENTLEMEN:—For about 10 years I was affected with Constipation, Indigestion and Stomach and Bowel trouble. I tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and soon found relief. After using one fifty-cent bottle I am now well and can eat anything that comes on the table without suffering pain and distress in my stomach, and I can cheerfully recommend it to anyone that has any bowell or stomach trouble. If you are afflicted try it and you will be convinced. Very truly yours, C. K. SLONNEGER. For sale by H. B. McCord.

—The fellow who takes orders for enlarging pictures, with the usual fee in advance, has been working towns not many miles from Auburn. At Kalamazoo he secured a large number of orders and skipped out leaving the sample pictures scattered along the railroad track.

W. L. Yancy, Paducah, Ky., writes "I had a severe case of kidney disease and three of the best physicians in southern Kentucky treated me without success. I was induced to try Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave me immediate relief and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy. H. B. McCord

—A bill has passed the Ohio legislature and now awaits the governor's signature, previding that no train shall be run with a crew of less than five men; and whenever more than thirty five cars are put into one train an extra brakeman is required.

—"I strongly recommend Begg's' Cherry Cough Syrup; it cured me of a throat and lung trouble of many years' standing."-Mrs. J. Bremen, Rifle, Colo. Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, la grippe, pneumonia, whooping-cough, croup and consumption, H.B. McCord.

—A Kosciusko county woman deeded certain real estate to a prominent farmer on condition that he marry her on on or before Feburary 21, 1900. He failed to keep his promise and she has sued to recover her property and $5,000 damages for injured affections.

—Rev. James B. Time, of Alickchi, Checotah Nation, I. T. says of Begg,s Blood Purifier, the great blood remedy and system regenerator: "Both myself and wife were entirely cured of bad case of scrofula by it." A guaranteed remedy, of sterling merit. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The new camp of Spanish-American war veterans recently formed at Fort Wayne, was mustered in last night by Major Feaser of South Bend. The new camp has nearly eighty members and is named in honor of Gen. Henry W. Lawton.

—Prof. M. H. Kasper, Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill., writes:—I had been suffering for some time with severe pains in my lungs, and coughed almost constantly. One bottle Beggs' Cherry Syrup entirely cured me." It is guaranteed to cure, has never failed.—H. B. McCORD.

—The tramp who attempted to murder a horseman named Fred in a Lake Shore car near Wauseon a short time ago was sentenced to fifteen years in the Ohio penithutiary. Freed was badly injured but will recover.

—"I can highly recommend Begg's Hair Renewer as a pleasing restorative application for the hair and a sure cure for all scalp diseases." Mrs. J. Whertle, Omaha, Neb. A thoroughly reliable preparation; endorsed by thousands. It will not disappoint. For sale at H. B. McCord's.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and emissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Thursday's Daily.

—Reuben Sawyal was in town today on business.

—C. J. Bordner has thanks for a nice remembrance in cash.

—Miss Clara Haag of Cedar was in town today calling on friends.

—A detachment of the Salvation Army is doing revival work in Churubusco.

—J. C. Cramar, one of our earliest patrons, was a caller today and went on the 1900 list.

—The Nickey company of Princeton is putting in a big band saw mill in Posey county.

—The national convention of the populist party will be held at Sioux Falls, S. D., May. 9.

—Brooks Hine of near Sedan has moved to Spurlington, Ky., where he has purchased a farm.

—Rev. Father Young came over from Garrett today to call on old friends and attend the Catholic fair.

—T. C. Ford went to St. Marys, O., yesterday to spend a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Dr. Collett.

—The presiding elders of the North Indiana M. E. conference will be held at Elkhart, beginning April 4.

—Mrs. W. C. Hartman and little son, Stanley, took the afternoon train south, on their way back to Wabash.

—Mrs. Hettie Sommers and Miss Alda Larimore were entertained at tea Monday evening by the Keeran Sisters.

—John W. Gates, at the head of the steel wire trust, says their profits during the past year exceeded thirteen millions.

—The transport Hancock with the bodies of nearly 500 American soldiers, arrived at San Francisco from Manila yesterday.

—Mrs. Mary Wyatt died at Ashley Tuesday, aged about 70 years. The remains will be interred at Newville tomorrow.

—Mr. Small has moved his family here from Garrett and will work at the carpenter trade with his brother-in-law, Perry Long.

—Mrs. E. S. Kandel and son, Grant, returned yesterday to Fort Wayne after a few days visit with her mother, Mrs. Johnston, and other relatives.

—Laverne Swartout, a B. & O. conductor, and Miss Minnie Zerk were married at the home of the bride's mother in Garrett last evening.

—A splendid meeting is in progress at the M. E. church at Spencerville. There have been 36 conversions to date and the interest is still increasing.

—Train up your servant girl in the way she should go. Teach her at the start to accept nothing but Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers when you send her for crackers.

—Frank Dawson is taking a special course at the Tri-State Normal at Angola, and Mrs. Dawson is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs Isaac Ditmar, south of town.

—J. A. Goodrich was in town the other day, and subscribed for the Weekly COURIER for his father, David Goodrich. Always glad to see these friends put down their names.

—Frank Traster at Swanton, Ohio, sends on his cash for a year in advance on the Old Reliable COURIER as he wants to hear the news from old DeKalb. We will try to give him all there is.

—Webster Hiatt was fined $10 and costs in the police court at Muncie for numerous and emphatic "Amens" at inopportune times during religious services and, being unable to pay, he was sent to jail.

—Is is reported R. B. Hanna of Fort Wayne is likely to be republican candidate for congress in this district. As Mr. Robinson will probably be the democratic candidaer it will make a lively race between two popular young men —Think twice before you speak, especially when ordering crackers. When you've thought of Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers, it's time to speak and speak distinctly. Give the grocer to understand that you want Fox's and only Fox's.

—The funeral of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Pipes of Garrett will be held at at the Evangelical Reformed church at that place tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock, after which the remains will be brought here for interment in Evergreen cemetery.

—The funeral of little Anna Gaetz, who was accidentally shot and killed by her eight-year-old brother at their home north of Waterloo Monday, was held at St. Michael's church in Smithfield township yesterday. The mother of the children was visiting in Ohio when the accident occurred.

—Rev. J. H. Neher returned to Auburn yesterday after a visit with friends at his old home in Nottingham township. He is completely restored to health after more or less impaired health for the past eight years. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is now as strong and vigorous as ever.—Bluffton Banner.

—Passenger train No. 5 on the Baltimore and Ohio road was telescoped by a milk train at Edgemore, Ind., twenty-one miles from Chicago, yesterday. Michael Kelly, engineer of the milk train; James C. Baghitt, fireman, and the steward of the dining car were injured, but not fatally. None of the passengers were hurt.

—Hilda Marguerite, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Pipes, died at their home in Garrett this morning at the tender age of six months. This is the second bereavement of this nature they have been called upon to bear and their sorrow is indeed beyond expression. Their many friends extend their heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Friday's Daily.

—C. H. Bartels is now on the list of 1900sters on the Weekly.

—Mrs. Lafe Miser of Waterloo was in the city today calling on friends.

—Mrs. Samantha Williams now is on the 1901 list on the Weekly, and has thanks.

—Chas. Moses, the veteran B. & O. engineer, is seriously ill at his home in Garrett.

—Mr Sylvester Shoemaker and daughter Maude of Fairfield were in the city today.

—Mrs. J. M. Carmer and children have been visiting the former's parents, north of St. Joe, this week.

—Mrs. Silas Brandon met with a severe fall Tuesday and suffered a number of bruises, though no bones were broken.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—Another bunch of B. & O. brakemen and firemen have been promoted to conductors and engineers this week. Freight business continues heavy.

—Mrs. A. B Walsworth sent in a box of dressed bronze turkeys this morning, six of which weighed 135 pounds. They were shipped to a restaurant in Cleveland.

—Fifteen Garrett citizens who neglected to pay their poll tax have had judgments signed against them in a justice court, and others are "on the list."

—Mrs. Henry Sherlock has gone to the home of her brother, C. C. Buss in Richland township, where she was called by the serious illness of her sister, Miss Ida Buss.

—Edward Kelham, an old and valued subscriber from Keyser township was a caller at this office today and left a substantial deposit on subscription. He is in the 1901 class.

—Herman Hirsch has retired from the firm of Aaron Levy & Co. at Butler and purchased the grocery store of A. D. Morse, who retires from business on account of poor health.

—Phil. Ginder was in town today paying taxes, and took occasion as usual to call on the COURIER and pay the subscription of his mother-in-law, Mrs. A. McDaniels. Both have thanks.

—Mrs. Bert Hull and sister, Mrs. Murray, accompanied by their little daughters, went to St. Joe today. Mr. Hull and Howard will go down this evening and join them for a visit with relatives.

—Chaplain Henderson, who brought Hiram Barnhart back from the state prison, was the guest of L. J. Miller and family while here. He formerly resided at Kendallville and is an old friend of the Miller family.

—Hiram Barnhart, who was brought here from Michigan City Wednesday evening, was released from custody yesterday and left at once for Waterloo. We have not learned what steps, if any, will be taken in the matter.

—Three republican congressional conventions were held in Indiana yesterday and in all the incumbents were renominated. They are: Seventh district, Jesse Overstreet; Ninth, Chas. B. Landis; Tenth, Edgar D. Crumpacker.

—Married, at the Lutheran parsonage last evening at 5 o'clock, by Rev. J. D. Brosy, Marion S. Ernest and Rose Gushwa of Corunna, Ind. Our best wishes go with this promising young couple as they launch out upon the sea of married life.

—Philosophers take things as they come. Good housekeepers take the best that's to be had when the price is no barrier. When you see Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers on a woman's grocery list, make up your mind that she sets a good table.

—An order from the census bureau compels census supervisors to name enumerators who live in the precincts they are to take. This will tend to complicate matters for in some precincts there are many applicants while in others there are none.

—The postoffice department has granted the petition for a postoffice at Stroh, the new cement factory town, and has appointed William Hayward, postmaster. Mr. Hayward has filed his bond and the office will be established soon. The office at Eddy has been discontinued.

The increase in individual wealth as the population of Indiana increases and the resources of the state are developed will be shown in a book that State Statistician Conner will compile. Persons worth from $300 to $1,000, from $1,000 to $2,000, and so on will be grouped for each of the decades, beginning with 1870.

—The Garrett Herald says that a recent order forbids B. & O. passenger conductors wearing high collars, flashy neckties and bright colored shirts, instead they must wear white shirts, low collars and very common ties. It is also rumored that all station baggagemasters along the route will be compelled to wear uniforms. It is compulsory for conductors to wear cuffs. These rulings are made to comply with the standard rules in vogue on all railroads.

Sore Throat

Sore throat and constant coughing indicate an affection of the bronchial tubes which may develop into pleurisy or inflammation of the lungs. Do not wait; but use Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup at once and be cured.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

Cures Hoarseness and Sore Throat.

Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

Saturday's Daily.

—C. W. Bartels went onto the 1900 list yesterday. Good idea.

—Ernest Peters is now on our 1901 list on the Weekly. He keeps right up with the procession.

—Mrs. Rebecca Fair, the oldest woman in Indiana, died at Wabash this week, aged 104 years.

—94-percent of the people you meet have indigestion. Tell 'em to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at McCord's

—Dr. Vesta Swarts reports the arrival of a son, this morning, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morr of this city.

—Mrs. James McDowell and daughters, Gladys and Lola, will to Lansing, Mich., Monday, in the hope of improving Gladys' health.

—Mrs. James Griswold fell while coming from the home of her daughter on west Seventh street last evening and received severe sprains, but fortunately no bones were fractured.

—Dr. Gary Emanuel of Edgerton was here over night the guest of his brother C. E. Emanuel. He was called in consulation in the case of little Ruth Emanuel, who is reported slightly better today.

—Mrs. C. J. Coats of Butler came through here yesterday on her way to see her mother, Mrs. Shepard, at Hicksville. They returned today, and with the other son, Fred, who works at Eckharts, went home to Butler this evening.

—The Fairfield township Sunday school institute will be held at the county line Evangelical Lutheran church on Sunday, March 18. An excellent program has been prepared for the occasion and a large attendance is expected.

—We wish to say a word in regard to Monroe Drug Co. manufacturers of Putnam Fadeless Dyes. They not only make the best dyes on the market and give you the most for your money, but they actually pay the printer in advance. Mr. F. E. Davenport is their agent. 9 —A. P. Foltz was here today, and went on the 1900 list. He has been on our list for twenty-five years. We might add he has been a teacher for nearly forty years and has taught the past ten years at the first school east and the first north of Garrett, five years at each.

It is pretty certain now that Aguinaldo escaped from the island last fall, at the time that Gen. Lawton's several divisions were chasing him through the north part of Luzon. It is supposed he reached the island of Formosa, and then to the main land. He may cause some trouble yet.

—An exchange asks: "How many walnut trees did you ever see struck by lightning? Did you ever see beech or birch trees struck by lightning? The oak trees seem to be the special mark for the bolts of electricity. Think of these things when planting shade trees or seeking shelter in time of storm."

—Robert Cameron, a druggist and leading citizen of Fremont, was convicted this week of violating the liquor law, by a jury in Steuben circuit court, and was given a heavy fine and a term of sixty days in jail. The case excited much interest on account of Cameron's prominence and previous good character.

—Dr. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, is of the opinion that the bubonic plague will reach Indiana within two or three years. He says it is a disease that flourishes in the midst of filthy surroundings and uncleanliness. From the standpoint of fatality he places it on equality with typhoid fever.

—Bert McBride, former Waterloo boy, son of ex-Judge R. Wes McBride, is making a fortune in the Klondike. He recently sold one of his mining claims for $11,000, which he will spend in developing his remaining claims. One of his arms was severely frozen this winter, and for some time it was feared he would lose the member.

We have had to give back several small islands in the south part of the Philippine group, as it has been found they were not included in the treaty. So we give to Spain, Caygayen, Cibutu, and the Sulu group. It seems strange that it has taken our government and that of Spain, a year or more to find out how much territory the lines of that treaty took in. We have even garrisoned these islands and now our forces will have to get out.

—Mrs. Mary Boyer, now in poor health, has always been an active, self-sacrificing member of the order of Rebekah, and last evening that society planned a sort of friendly plot on her. They met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Everett and fixed up a sort of donation party, the Rebekahs all gladly assisting. So today they carried their gift to her, and no doubt greatly lightened her heart and thereby lessened her sufferings. It was a graceful way to remember a worthy sister.

—J. E. Rusk of Booneville, Arkansas, is the guest of his brother-in-law, M. B. Masters. His home is about twenty miles from that of Stephen Masters at Charleston, Ark. He has not been in Indiana for about twenty-five years. He was a member of the old 20th Indiana, having enlisted at Valparaiso, and served through the war, being in over twenty of the great battles of the army of the Potomac. He has just been visiting the relatives at Battle Creek, Mich., and reached here yesterday. Miss A. E. Masters came home with him, and will stay with her people here for a time.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

A Remarkable Discovery.

A remarkable discovery is one of the chronic proclamations of advertisers. No such claim is made, for Lichty's Cough Cure is an established remedy with known merit, made on scientific principles by experienced chemists. It stops coughing at once; will not cure consumption, but gives temporary relief and absoutely cures all other affections of the throat and the lungs. For croup, whooping cough and colds, Lichty's Cough Cure is invaluable. 25 and 50 cent bottles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The middle-of-the-road populists that had a convention at Indianapolis this week, did not have many present. This congressional district did not send a delegate.

Could not fix 'em All.

Bald heads, hard work, love, warts on the nose, bicycle faces, war craze, swell head, delirium tremens, unhappy marriages, insanity and punctured tires have never been cured by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to our knowledge, but for a sure and pleasant remedy for indigestion, constipation, sick headache and all stomach troubles, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the surest, safest and most pleasant remedy. It is sold in trial size, 50c and $1 bottles by H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—Two inmates of the Wells county poor house attempted to elope this week but the would-be groom gave the thing away and the romance was cruelly shattered.

An Editor's Recommendation.

Mr. W. J. Hutchison, editor Gazette, Pleasantville, Mo., writes:—"I have used Krause's Headache Capules with satisfactory results. I bought a box which cost me 25c and one capsule cured me of a dreadful sick headache. My wife and myself have also used the other medicines prepared by the Norman Lichty Mfg. Co., and we recommend them to the public to be just as represented. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—A concern in Iowa is making farm wagons wholly of steel, and it can scarcely fill the orders that pour in from the wheat growers out in Dakota and other parts of the west.

Frequent Coughing.

Inflames the lungs. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the coughing and heals the lungs. The ordinary cough medicines which are simply expectorants, will not do this, as they keep the lungs irritated in throwing off the phlegm. H. B. McCord.

—A big hog story comes from Elkhart county. Reuben Wohlford brought in a dressed porker a few days ago that weighed 875 pounds for which he received 5 cents a pound, or a total of $43.75.

Modern Science.

Has demonstrated that the old fashioned way of curing colds, la grippe sneezing, etc., is a thing of the past For ten years Krause's Cold Cure has has been recognized as a specific for these troubles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The directors of the B. & O. road have declared a semi-annual dividend of two per cent on the preferred stock. This is the first dividend since the road was reorganized.

Frost Bites and Chilblains.

Quickly cured by Banner Salve, the most healing remedy in the world. H. B. MCCORD, DRUGGIST.

—A Muncie man was in Indianapolis the other day and called on ex-president Harrison. He told the general he would like to borrow his hat as he expected to run for governor. Gen. Harrison declined. The man was later on arrested, as he was evidently crazy.

—Krause's Cold Cure is all the name implies—an absolute cure for cold in the head, cold in the chest—in fact, cold in any part of the body. Not necessary to go to bed, or neglect your work while taking the medicine. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Two Whitley county young men named Raber and Chamberlain are under arrest for stealing fourteen head of sheep. The owner of the sheep is also in jail where he was sent several months ago for contempt of court.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 2, 1898.
Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm has no equal as a seller and one that gives entire satisfaction to our Johnson's Pharmacy.
Sold by DAVENPORT the DRUGGIST.

—Lagrange and the township in which it is located will hold an election to vote on the question of granting a subsidy on the proposed Goshen-Angola electric road, in which Auburn parties are interested.

—"I have always used Foley's Honey and Tar cough medicine, and think it the best in the world," says Chas. Bender, a newsdealer of Erie, Pa. H. B. MCCORD, DRUGGIST.

—The Supreme Tribe of Ben Hur, of Indiana, has filed articles of incorporation in order that it might operate under the fraternal beneficiary law of 1899. The order has many soldier members in this state.

—Fatal delays are caused by experimenting with coughs and cold cures. Foley's Honey and Tar will prevent a cold from resulting in Pneumonia. H. B. MCCORD, DRUGGIST.

A Word to Doctors

We have the highest regard for the medical profession. Our preparations are not sold for the purpose of antagonising them, but rather as an aid. We lay it down as an established truth that internal remedies are positively injurious to expectant mothers. The distress and discomforts experienced during the months preceding childbirth can be alleviated only by external treatment—by applying a liniment that softens and relaxes the over-strained muscles. We make and sell such a liniment, combining the ingredients in a manner hitherto unknown, and call it

Mother's Friend

We know that in thousands of cases it has proved more than a blessing to expectant mothers. It overcomes morning sickness. It relieves the sense of tightness. Headaches cease, and danger from Swollen, Hard and Rising Breasts is avoided. Labor itself is shortened and shorn of most of the pain.

We know that many doctors recommend it, and we know that multitudes of women go to the drug stores and buy it because they are sure their physicians have no objections. We ask a trial—just a fair test. There is no possible chance of injury being the result, because Mother's Friend is scientifically compounded. It is sold at $1 a bottle, and should be used during most of the period of gestation, although great relief is experienced if used only a short time before childbirth. Send for our illustrated book about Mother's Friend.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.
ATLANTA, GA.

Positions Secured!

We aid those who want GOVERNMENT POSITIONS. 85,000 places under Civil Service Rules. 8,000 yearly appointments. Prepares by mail for all Government examinations. Fees cash or installments. A thorough and scientific course in all departments. Requires spare time only. Salaries twice as much as private firms for the same kind of work. The hours of labor are short, duties light, positions for life. Take our course of study and we guarantee that you will pass the Civil Service Examinations. Write, inclosing stamp, for our catalogue describing course to—BUREAU OF CIVIL SERVICE INSTRUCTION, Washington, D. C.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you ove worked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box. WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00. MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PATENTS DESIGNS TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS OBTAINED FREE

ADVICE AS TO PATENTABILITY
Notice in "Inventive Age"
Book "How to obtain Patents"
Charges moderate. No fee till patent is secured.
Letters strictly confidential. Address,
E. G. SIGGERS, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Safe. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse dangerous substitutions and imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists.

CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO.
2100 Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure you in 14 days. Absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Restores Color and Beauty to Hair.
Promotes Luxuriant and Healthy Growth.
Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color.
Cures scalp diseases & hair falling.
50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, March 8, 1900. | Number 10.

BANK Farmers, Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN, Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty.

Physicians and SURGEONS
O. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M. D.
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets.
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND.
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McClellan, Estate, CHARLES McCLELLAN, D. A. GARWOOD, ISAAC HAQUE. } C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J. E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed } Gas Administered
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

C. S. SMITH,
Auburn, Ind.
Attorney-at-Law
AND NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office over Bazar Store, formerly occupied by Judge Hartman.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

Junk Wanted

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays

Best Cash Prices

for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg

SCOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. SCOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

IT MAY PROVE A MURDER.

David Rowe is a Victim of the Rage of George Green, a Negro.—Rowe May Not Recover.

Many of our citizens Friday afternoon saw a party of six men, among them George Green, the colored man who has been working for Harry Draggoo, riding about town on a sled, and noticed that they were having "a high old time." After finishing the ride the men stopped at Fredericks' saloon on South Main street, where they had several rounds of drinks. About 5:30 Green became angered after a short altercation with some of the men present, which seems to have started in a joking way. The bartender, John Maxwell, separated the men, and Mr. Fredericks came in as the negro was loudly daring the rest to fight him, and after trying to quiet him, led him to the back door and put him out. Green went around to the front door and attempted to come in, when one of the men closed the door in his face. Soon after a shot was heard and Fredericks went out and ordered Green to leave.

David Rowe, a timber cutter for the Greenler Company, also went out and advised the negro to go away and not make any further trouble. When the men were but a few feet apart the negro fired point-blank at Rowe, the ball striking him in the groin. Rowe turned and went back into the saloon where it was found that he was badly wounded. A conveyance was at once secured and the injured man taken to Dr. Nusbaum's office where an examination was made, and later on he was removed to the home of Enos Kissinger, over Kruger's grocery. He rested fairly well through the night and this morning Dr. Nusbaum probed for the ball, finding it lodged in the muscles of the back. The chances for his recovery are about even.

After the shooting Green ran to the Draggoo residence, entering by the front door. Several persons saw him go into the house, and as soon as the news of the affair spread quite a crowd gathered. Mr. and Mrs. Draggoo are absent on a visit in Ohio, and as it was known that several guns were kept about the house no one seemed anxious to make a search for Green, who was known to be desperate. Sheriff Hathaway and his deputies at once arranged to guard the house, and when John Wolf, Mr. Draggoo's hostler, found two of the guns in the kitchen where they had been placed by Green, it was determined to risk a search of the premises. Every corner (as it was supposed) of the residence and out-buildings was searched but without success, though the vigilance of the officers was not relaxed. The officers in the neighboring towns were also notified by telephone to be on the lookout for Green who it was thought had managed to sneak away. About daylight this morning another search was made, and in examining the cellar one of the windows was found to be slightly open. Sheriff Hathaway peered out and saw the much wanted man curled up under the porch, where he had evidently spent the night. When he looked into the muzzle of the sheriff's big gun, Green weakened and came out of his hiding place. He was soon behind the bars where he will be held to await the action of the grand jury, which meets Monday. He has but little to say except that he was provoked to the shooting by being imposed upon by his companions.

While Rowe was at Dr. Nusbaum's office last evening, and when it was thought his wound would prove fatal, Deputy Prosecutor Pomeroy was called and took the wounded man's statement of the case, which corresponds with the facts given above. There seems to be no question that Rowe was in no way to blame, and in fact was simply doing all in his power to quiet the negro when shot.

Green came here last summer from Fort Wayne where he was well known to the police as a dangerous man. In a quarrel with another negro at the Randall hotel in that city, Green almost killed his antagonist, and at once came here. He has had trouble with other Auburn men while intoxicated but this is his first serious offense here.

The shooting and the nature of the circumstances surrounding it created great excitement and hundreds of people visited the scene of the crime and the Draggoo residence during the evening. The usual talk of lynching was indulged in but there was probably no danger.

As we go to press Dr. Nusbaum informs us that Rowe's condition is rather unfavorable, and that his chances for recovery have been greatly lessened in the last few hours.

A Powder Mill Explosion.

Removes every thing in sight; so do drastic mineral pills, but both are mighty dangerous. Don't dynamite the delicate machinery of your body with calomel, croton oil or aloes pills, when Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are gentle as a summer breeze, do the work perfectly. Cures Headache, Constipation. Only 25c at McCord's drug store.

Obituary.

Elizabeth Picker was born in Lincolnshire, England, Nov. 13, 1819, died Feb. 27, 1900, aged 81 years, 3 months and 14 days. In the Episcopal church at Harbling, Lincolnshire, England, on the 28th day of May, 1840, she was united in marriage to Francis Picker. To them, in their England home, were born six children, Mary, Eliza, Edward H., Fredrick, George and Sarah E.

Bidding farewell to home and friends they set sail at Liverpool, in the early part of April, and after a tedious voyage of four weeks landed in New York city, May 4, 1852. Through the kindness of a friend in New York they were enabled to reach Albany, N. Y., where Mr. Picker secured employment at his trade on one of the public buildings of the city. During the summer of 1852 he was sent to work at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and during his absence four of the children were stricken down with that most loathsome disease, smallpox. Against the demands of health officers and a heartless landlord she bravely stood, denied even the assistance of her husband, shut up in two miserable rooms unaided and alone for many weary weeks, she fought a battle with death and gained a victory. By united industry and frugality they saved enough in the summer of 1852 to bring them all to Fremont, O., in the autumn of that same year, where they resided 12 years. To them here were born two children, Charles A. and John J. Here they were led through the dark valley of sorrow, burying their soldier son, Frederick, who died June 29, 1864. In the spring of 1865 the family came to Auburn, where they have still resided. On March 18, 1893, Mr. Picker died, and since that time she has been a constant sufferer with that dreaded disease, dropsy, and heart failure. Sister Picker has been a kind and indulgent mother, an ardent worker in the church. She formerly was reared an Episcopalian in which church she was confirmed when she was 16 years of age. After their removal to Auburn there not being an Episcopal church here she united with the Presbyterian church in the year 1866. Since that time she has been a constant attendant up to six years ago, when she was compelled by sickness to give up her pew, but not her faith, which she has retained to the last. When she was called she was ready. During all her sufferings she was patient to the last and frequently expressed her desire to go as she was ready. "Grandma Picker," as she was familiarly known, was always kind, obliging, a good and kind mother and good neighbor. God has called her to her happy home where sufferings are no more. Peace be to her ashes.

JOHN T. PICKER.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup.' It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle, many years by all druggists in the world Sample bottles at O. P. RABER'S, Corunna.

Hugh K. Davis.

The family of John L. Davis were shocked to learn this morning of the death of Mr. Davis' nephew, Hugh K. Davis of Hearne, Texas, which occurred yesterday morning. The deceased was born in Auburn, September 3, 1851, in the dwelling at the southwest corner of Ninth and Jackson streets. He was the sole survivor of the family of Joseph D. Davis, who located in Auburn in the fall of 1850, and engaged in the banking and hardware business at the present location of his brother, John L. Davis. Shortly after the death of his father which occurred April 15, 1865, Hugh and the family moved to Waterloo. From there he went to St. Louis, Mo., and a few years later located at Hearne, where he has since resided. He engaged in the banking business and was very successful; he was noted throughout the state for his honesty and uprightness. He was a candidate for state treasurer in 1896.

Farm for Sale.

Eighty acres of good land for sale. This farm is in Paulding county, Ohio, and only one mile from a good market and on a good stone road leading to county seat. Will sell this land cheap. It is the best of black soil and all about cleared. There is no better land to be had than this land. Will give purchaser reason for selling. Address L. Cunningham, Defiance, O., care Cunningham House.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

SPRING DRESS GOODS!

New Percales	Twenty to twenty-five patterns, handsomer than ever, at last year's price..... 12½ Cents
New Ginghams	Stripes and Checks, last year's price..... 6 Cents
Galatea Cloth	Suitable for Waists and Skirts; especially nice for Collars and Cuffs..... 15 Cents
Fine Tissues	In Plain, Polka Dot and figure..... 25 and Cents
Pointette Soie	The new weave for fine Wash Dresses, Magnificent Patterns; Pretty as Silk, 30 inches wide at.....50 CENTS. A great many customers are buying these NOW in order to get their warm weather sewing done.

We are showing an elegant assortment of NEW WOOL GOODS IN black and colors. There are too many different weaves to describe them separately. We ask you to call and convince yourself that we have the nicest Dress Goods Stock in this section of the state.

NEW Spring Clothing!

Our new clothing is pretty well in. We are pleased with what we have bought. The styles are very swell; the patterns neat as can be, and prices no higher than last spring. We are able to show you a good all wool suit $5.00; a fine all-wool Clay at $10.00, and the latest ideas in Worsteds $10 to $20. We wish to see you often. We are saving you money.

SCHAAB & BRO.
AUBURN, IND.

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches in diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & Co.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

A Wife Says:

"We have four children. With the first three I suffered almost unbearable pains from 12 to 14 hours, and had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. I used three bottles of Mother's Friend before our last child came, which is a strong, fat and healthy boy, doing my housework up to within two hours of birth, and suffered but a few hard pains. This liniment is the grandest remedy ever made."

Mother's Friend

will do for every woman what it did for the Minnesota mother who writes the above letter. Not to use it during pregnancy is a mistake to be paid for in pain and suffering. Mother's Friend equips the patient with a strong body and clear intellect, which in turn are imparted to the child. It relaxes the muscles and allows them to expand. It relieves morning sickness and nervousness. It puts all the organs concerned in perfect condition for the final hour, so that the actual [illegible] is almost painless. Danger [illegible] is altogether [illegible] merely a matter of [illegible] at a bottle. [illegible], Ga. [illegible] BOOK.

A New Version.

He was shot in old Kentucky, where they make the mountain dew, and the mothers feed the babies on hot revolver stew, where you wake up in the morning shot full of bullet holes, and find your soul companions are disembodied souls.

He was shot in old Kentucky, where their aim is always true, and the principal amusement is shooting people through, where the doctors use as medicine, for all the human ills, a dose or two of bullets instead of giving pills.

He was shot in old Kentucky, where their "feuds" grow on the trees' and the bullets from their rifles buzz through the air like bees, where the instruments they play on, when they give a dance or hop, are their musical revolvers, and they "call off" with a pop.

I have heard that old Kentucky is a fine old commonwealth, that the women all are noted for their beauty and their health, but I'll stay in Indiana, where the women cut less figure, and the men are not so hasty nor so quick to pull the trigger.—Montgomery News.

No Right To Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, skin eruptions and wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming, woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at H. B. McCord's Drug Store.

Mexico's Postal Drafts.

The first money order drafts ever sent from Mexico addressed to persons in the United States have reached the postoffice department. In amount they aggregate $5,000. They are issued by the Mexican postal department under the terms of an agreement with this country, which went into effect January 1.—Indianapolis Press.

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Our article of last Saturday on the tendency to expansion, would not be complete without some additional facts showing our weakness in this direction.

We went to war with Spain for a good cause. No nation in modern days had such provocation as we had, and no nation was ever more signally victorious. At the outset, we told Spain we would free Cuba. At the close, we insisted on this point, and Spain gave her up. Then we told them we must have Porto Rico, and they assented. We had taken by force, Guam, one of the Ladrone Islands in the Pacific, and we kept that. The struggle came when we asked for the Philippines. But we insisted and Spain needed money. The $20,000,000 looked big to them, and they finally gave a reluctant consent. It is possible we made a mistake in not letting them keep the Philippines. That is a point on which men may honestly differ. But we have them and we should study the conditions there so as to give the people a government that will be to their advantage from every point of view. In this way alone can the islands be of advantage to us.

Let us study them and see what we have got in the bargain.

Going to see at San Francisco, we stop at Honolulu after a 2,000-mile trip. Then we go to Hong Kong in China, and may also stop at the Japan ports. Coming to Manila, the largest city on the largest island, Luzon, we can begin to study our new possessions.

Manila has a population variously estimated at 300,000 to 375,000. The white people are mainly Spanish or of Spanish descent, and the great mass of poorer people, mainly natives, also speak Spanish. The Spanish people have much of the wealth, but there are wealthy and intelligent natives. The city has many churches, schools, theaters, etc.

What will surpise many, is the size of these island, and the great number of them. Large and small, there are over 1,000 islands.

Luzon, the largest, is about 470 miles long, and would reach from Auburn to New York. Its great size accounts for the difficulty we have had to chase the followers of Aguinaldo from one end to the other.

Luzon is divided into twenty-nine little states called provinces. These are: Cagayan, Apayaos, Bontoc, Isabella, Quiangan, Lepanto, Amborayan, Benguet, Union, Nueva Vizcaya, Nueva Ecija, Principe, Pangasinan, Tarlac, Zambales, Pampanga, Bataam, Bulacan, Manila, Infante, Marong, Cavite, Laguna, Layabas and Camarines Norte.

Each of these provinces has a separate government, and for these we will have to provide and control.

The island next in size is Mindanao, about 350 miles long, which shows it to be about the size of Indiana.

The length of the whole area occupied by the group of islands is about 970 miles, and would reach from St. Louis to Boston.

So it will be seen that we have a big job on our hands to care for all these new possessions properly and not get into trouble. The Philippines offer the greatest difficulty, as they are so far away, being on the opposite side of the earth. Then their people are so different from any with whom we have had to deal.

Since writing the above a new chance for expansion has arisen.

The Nicaragua Canal is possibly going to be a more important factor in international affairs than anyone could have predicted. It begins to appear certain that the United States will build it and as they would have to own a strip of land on each side of it that would cut Nicaragua into two parts. They begin to think the best way to avoid this, is to be annexed to the United States. So it is easily possible that we may expand to the south, and not only own the Nicaragua Canal, but that little Central American republic, also.

It also occurs to us that various times we have tried to "expand" in other parts of the world, though we did not dare to own it. And besides, we signally failed. We refer to the attempts to seize Canada, Louisiana, Honduras, Cuba and parts of Mexico.

In the Revolution we tried to get all Canada, and expected to have it all. And our army under Montgomery swept everything till it reached Quebec in December, 1775, but was driven back the next month.

In 1806 we almost winked at the two plots of Aaron Burr, who had been vice president, and was then seeking to invade and conqer the southwest, including Mexico.

In 1850 Gen. Lopez got a lot of men in the United States and invaded Cuba intending to take it from Spain. He landed at Cardenas, but failed. He tried it the next year, was captured and executed.

In 1853 Gen. Wm. Walker made an attempt, with a small force, to capture Lower California from Mexico, but failing, came back. Next year he invaded Sonora, a state of Mexico; was captured but not punished. In 1855, he invaded Nicaragua, won two battles and became president. Two years later he was forced to leave, and he then invaded Honduras, was captured and shot.

A SURPRISE PARTY

Forty or more A.O.U.W.'s and wives embarked last evening in three large sleighs on the corner of 6th and Main streets for a surprise on Amos Walsworth, living four miles east of town. The road was in good condition, and 'twas a merry crowd that broke the stillness of the quiet country evening as the sleighs glided smoothly along, and each one seemed to vie with the other in making the occasion more merrier. They arrived at Mr. Walsworth's home at about 8 o'clock, and were greeted with a hearty welcome by Mr. and Mrs. Walsworth and family. Big fires were roaring in the stoves, and it was but a short time until the chilly crowd thawed out, especially "the ice man" and "the man from Ohio," then the fun began. Pleasant conversations were indulged in for a while and then games of a quiet nature were introduced. Refreshments were served at about 10 o'clock and seemed to be relished by all, judging by the enormous amount consumed. More games ensued: "The ice man" and "the man from Ohio" did the choosing up for a "living picture show," which was played by a sheet being stretched over the entrance of a large folding door between two rooms—one room was darkened and the other brilliantly lighted. Disguises were made by persons in the lighted room who stood one at a time so as to cast a shadow on the sheet; the other side did the guessing. Three guesses were allowed each picture, and upon failure to guess the names of three pictures, a forfeiture is made and the sides change rooms. So the fun continued in contested games on sides as were at first chosen, and it is hard to decide whether "the ice man" or "the man from Ohio" won. Anyhow everyone enjoyed themselves so well that it was 12 o'clock or more before the party made preparation for departure. We know that Mr. and Mrs. Walsworth were glad when they left, as it is no easy thing to entertain such a jolly crowd of A.O.U.W.'s, though their genial hospitality extended as long as they desired to remain. The sleigh ride returning home was enjoyed equally, if not better than going, as the party was fatigued by the late hour, and the horses anxious to get to their warm stalls, glided the sleighs along swiftly, and all were soon at home enjoying their own cheerful firesides, meditating over the pleasant time they had spent and wishing for a repetition of the same. If there are any names omitted from the following who were there, it is an oversight;

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reesch
" " W. H. Keckler
" " James Sheffer
" " Jerry Bolender
" " Levy Wolf
" " Emanuel Miser
" " Frank Baughman
" " Eli Cochran
" " P. L. Bishop
" " R. Bell
" " Frank Wise
" " John Schlink
" " Harry Gill
" " Jack Harris
" " Wm. Heyler
" " Geo. W. Everett
Mr. Sam Brandon
Mr. Charles Raub

There were six children or more in attendance with their parents.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

POLITICS OF THE DAY

HIGH-HANDED USURPATION.

Mr. McKinley is using his executive office to further an imperial form of government, independent of Congress or Constitution. The Chicago Chronicle calls attention to this innovation:

For the first time in the history of the country a series of commissions, so-called, have, under this administration, been created to discharge many important functions of the Government. A very few of these commissions were instituted by law. But the most of them were created by the President without authority of law, under what is claimed to be the war power of the executive. In some cases, as in that of W. J. Calhoun and Robert P. Porter, individual emissaries were appointed at enormous expense for the mere purpose, as alleged, of procuring information for the action of the President. The military and diplomatic officers of the Government were not trusted to perform this labor.

An incomplete list of the commissions under this administration and those costing the most are as follows:

Peace commission	$300,000
Nicaragua canal commissions	250,000
Philippine commission	150,000
Alger commission (embalmed beef)	150,000
Queen's jubilee commission	60,000
The evacuation commission	50,000
Seal commissions	45,000
Hawaiian commission	50,000
Samoan commission	50,000
Insular commission	90,000
Hague peace congress commission	35,000
John A. Kasson, treaty expert!	80,000
Robert P. Porter, tariff expert!	40,000
W. J. Calhoun, commissioner to Cuba	20,000
Maj. Handy, commissioner to Paris	20,000
Total so far	$1,390,000

It is proposed also to create a new Philippine commission to reinvestigate the conditions of our new possessions in the Indian Ocean. This commission will have broader scope than any previous commission. It may be in existence for years. It will pay well. Judge Taft thinks that membership on the commission will be so fat a job that he has given up the office of United States Circuit Judge at a salary of $6,000 a year and all the comforts of a civilized home in order that he may accept the place. It is estimated that this commission will cost the country a million dollars before it gets through with its work. And other commissions may exist not included in this list or planned in the executive mind.

The method of governing by commissions is outside of the Constitution and the laws. It is a scheme to avoid the proper responsibility which belongs to the President. It is a plan to establish an array of respectable names behind which the President can hide if the plans of the administration fail and meet with disaster.

The Drooping American Eagle.

When the British lion roars, the Amerian eagle, at present in charge of William McKinley, drops off its perch and scurries into the bushes with drooping tail and head. Great Britain has us, and showers greater insults upon than we did upon Aguinaldo. Here is something to make an American citizen hang his head and wish he were a Boer or a Filipino:

It will astound Americans to know that the British authorities are familiar with the American consular code. On Nov. 8 Mr. Macrum sent a cablegram in code to the State Department urgently requesting that he be permitted to come home. Usually cablegrams, because of the difference in time between South Africa and the country, consume two days in transmission—that is to say, the cable sent by Mr. Macrum on Oct. 8 would normally have been received by the State Department on Oct. 10. But on Oct. 9, before the cablegram was received by the State Department certainly, and before it was sent from South Africa probably, the British papers in Natal, hundreds of miles away, announced in impressive type that Mr. Macrum, the American consul at Pretoria, desired to be permitted to go home.

Consul Hollis at Lourenzo Marquez is well aware of the British acquaintance with the American consular code and the last thing he told an American who was about departing was, "For God's sake, tell the State Department to change our code number. As soon as we send out anything from here all Britain knows what we have said."

The State Department may not know the surprising fact that it is impossible for a United States consular or diplomatic representative in South Africa to communicate with his Government without informing the British Government of the nature of the message. Nevertheless, the American consular agent at Bloemfontain, of the name of Elliott, is a subject of Great Britain and perniciously active in his espousal of the British cause and the expression of his contempt for the "Dutch farmers."

Reduced to a Fine Art.

Ballot box stuffing has been reduced to a fine art by the Republicans in Pennsylvania and Kentucky and there is every reason to believe it was practiced on a large scale by that party in 1896 in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky. Their recent experiences in Kentucky and Pennsylvania will probably cause them to be more circumspect in the future, in which event there is no doubt of Bryan's election by the largest majority ever given a Presidential candidate.—Joplin (Mo.) Globe.

Connection with Great Britain.

We respectfully call the attention of William McKinley, President, and John Hay, Secretary of State, to the declaration moved in the Continental Congress, on the 7th day of June, 1776, by Richard Henry Lee and unanimously adopted by the Congress. It is good reading for all Americans in connection with the scheme to form connections and alliances with Britain for her benefit and our undoing. Here is the resolution:

"Resolved, That these United Colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be totally dissolved."—Buffalo Times.

A Friend in Need.

"Didn't I help you in your Spanish war by keeping my hands off?" This to us, quoth England. Now comes the Spanish premier, Silvela, who tells a different story.

Premier Silvela declared recently in the Spanish Senate "that previous to the war with the United States the British Government had consented to let Spain have 8,500 shells which were being manufactured for England at Maxim's factory at Placentia meet with vigorous denial in London. Albert Vickers, head of the Vickers-Maxim firm, said: 'Senor Silvela lied. There is not a word of truth in this allegation that England helped Spain to fight the United States. In the first place the factory at Placentia is a branch of our concern, built at the request of Spain because that country wanted ammunition of home manufacture. It is under the Spanish Government's control, and there never was a shell manufactured there for sale in England or in any country except Spain, where a law against the export of ammunition exists.'"

Lord Salisbury says "tain't so, and if it is so the Vickers-Maxim company furnished the shells without the knowledge of the British Government." The idea of the British Government being ignorant when an honest penny is to be made! She would have deprived the infant Savior of His swaddling clothes for money.

"Delay Ruining the Country."

The following telegram from the San Juan Chamber of Commerce was received at Washington a few days ago:

"Situation becoming more desperate and unendurable, due principally to advices of opposition to opening markets for tobacco and sugar. Delay ruining country. Saving measures urgent."

These are the people who welcomed Gen. Miles so heartily in the summer of 1898, thinking the Americans had come to deliver them from the yoke of Spanish tyranny. But the Americans are worse than the Spaniard so far as commerce goes. The Porto Ricans enjoyed free trade with the home country. The Republican protectionists propose to shut them out of the United States. What has become of the American promises to grant these people the blessings of liberty? The first consequence of the American occupation is a restriction of markets which threatens to ruin their commerce and starve the workers of the island.—St Louis Post Dispatch.

Capital Wanted, Not Money.

Ex-Speaker Reed expresses the trust gold standard and imperialistic idea when he says capital and not money is what we want. Aside from the humorous view that may be suggested by this reversion to the trading facilities approved by nations still in the darkness of savagery, there is an economic idea concealed in it.

Are we not reaching a point where the masses will not be allowed to have any money, but be compelled to rest satisfied with the necessaries of life doled out to them in such rations as will enable them to live and—what? Work? Wherefore work? For more necessaries? No one need work for sustenance; all that is necessary is to join the army of tramps. They have no money, yet they live, moreover they do not work.

A Queer Proposition.

One-quarter of the sum England is expending in the war to extend its dominion in South Africa would suffice to feed every starving mouth in India. That the world should be asked to support her famine-stricken subjects in one part of the empire in order that she may devote all her energies and money to crushing a people who stand in the way of a limitless extension of the empire in another part, is certainly a most extraordinary proposition.—Springfield Republican.

A Bad Man.

If ex-Consul Macrum is such "a coward, liar and disreputable" person as the McKinley administration say he is, how many more cowards, liars and disreputable persons has Mr. McKinley appointed to public positions of trust and confidence? A commission to investigate should be immediately appointed to find out how many of them should come out and tell the truth.

Give Him an Island.

The administration ought to have something nice for Capt. Mahan. The Mahan idea that no people possess the right to govern themselves and that no State has a right to independence is exactly in line with the McKinley policy.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Wicked Newspapers.

A committee of merchants is about to memorialize the authorities of Illinois to enact a law to compel newspapers to publish the truth. If the newspapers should publish the truth it would create a revolution to make them suppress it.

Usurper Taylor, of Kentucky, says he will now turn his attention to the courts. It is understood that Kentucky judges are wondering which of them will be assassinated first.—Albany Argus.

From Consul Macrum's account of the attempt to make a British consul of him at Pretoria it might seem that John Hay himself has been doing some "loafing around the throne."—New York World.

It requires extraordinary ability to enable any man to be profitably and safely dishonorable.

GENERAL PIETER ARNOLDUS CRONJE.

Pieter Arnoldus Cronje, whose heroic stand at Paardeberg against an army ten times his strength in men and guns has challenged the admiration of the world, is not only a brave soldier and excellent commander, but is believed by military men to be as cunning and as resourceful a strategist as any man alive. Such Spartan heroism as he displayed in the battle of Paardeberg is a rare spectacle in military history. It has elicited expressions of the highest appreciation from the press of London.

Gen. Cronje is a Boer from top to toe. He has all the stern religion of his race, all its courage, its purposefulness, its sublime faith in God, its great love of the patriarchal life and its implacable hatred for everything that is British. He is a descendant of the Colonial Dutch who trekked north before the pressure of British invasion. Cronje is about 63 years old. He never had any school military training. In times of peace he is very shy and simple. About four years ago he was a farmer. Then he was made superintendent of natives in the Orange Free State. In war the man's whole nature appears to change. His mind works like a flash. In battle he is all over the field, directing and encouraging his men. Cronje became prominent in the uprising of 1880-81. His later fame rests upon the Jameson raid. It was he who arranged the trap into which Jameson walked. He chose the place and personally directed the men.

WEST UNDER SNOW COVER.

Storm Is Widespread and Delays Business and Traffic.

The heavy snowstorm which has enveloped the entire West and Northwest, covering almost every State in these parts of the Union, is almost unprecedented in damage to all manner of traffic as well as interrupting seriously the ordinary vocations of life. Press dispatches show the storm to have been general from Omaha to Toledo and from Milwaukee to the Gulf of Mexico.

In Illinois, northern Indiana and eastern Missouri snow fell to a depth of eight to fifteen inches. The high winds and snow has also interfered with traffic from northern Ohio over western Pennsylvania to the lower lake region to the interior of New York. Moline, Ill., reports a freight wreck on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad at Port Byron. At Mattoon snow and sleet played havoc with wires. Jacksonville fears a coal famine. Waukegan, Bloomington and many other cities report the schools closed on account of the snow.

All of Indiana felt the force of the storm. Trains were much delayed throughout the northern and central portions, and in the southern part sleet caused much damage to wires. In Michigan, Lansing, Three Rivers, Saginaw, Benton Harbor, Kalamazoo and Niles report from ten to eighteen inches of snow on the level. Kenosha, Wis., was storm bound, and at Burlington, Iowa, street car traffic was blocked. Toledo, Ohio, reported a severe storm, with all the attendants of wind, delayed railroad trains and blockaded traffic.

In the southwest Dennison, Texas, reports the storm the worst in years. Six inches of snow fell in Indian Territory.

PORTO RICO BILL PASSES.

House Adopts Tariff Measure by a Vote of 172 to 161.

The struggle in the House over the Porto Rico tariff bill Wednesday afternoon when the bill was amended by reducing the tariff to 15 per cent and making the law temporary, and passed by a vote of 172 to 161. The Republican managers seemed surprised at the majority of eleven received by the bill, for up to the hour of voting they claimed only a majority of from three to five.

There were six Republicans who voted against the bill. They were McCall of Massachusetts, Littlefield of Maine, Crumpacker of Indiana, Lorimer of Illinois, and Heatwole and Fletcher of Minnesota. Warner of Illinois, who was absent by reason of illness, was paired against the bill. Representative Lorimer announced that were Mr. Warner present he would oppose the bill.

These five Republicans were not enough to defeat the bill had the Democrats been united in opposition. On a strict party vote, with all members present, the Republicans have a majority of fourteen, and it would have required the change of eight Republican votes to defeat. Four Democrats voted for the bill, four others were absent without pairs, and one was present without voting. In this way the bill received a majority of eleven votes.

The four Democrats who voted for the bill were Davey and Meyer of Louisiana, Devries of California and Sibley of Pennsylvania. The four Democrats absent without pairs were Stallings of Alabama, Small of North Carolina, Smith of Kentucky and Fleming of Georgia. Bellamy of North Carolina, Democrat, was present, but did not vote.

THE DUKE OF ARGYLL.

The Duke of Argyll, who is reported seriously ill at Inverary, is the head of the great family of the Campbells. He has more titles than any other nobleman of Scotch descent, and he and Lord Rosebery share the honor of being Knights of the Garter and Knights of the Thistle, a distinction which no other noble possesses. The Argyll estates comprise more than 170,000 acres. His heir is the Marquis of Lorne.

DUKE OF ARGYLL.

Majuba Hill, Feb. 27, 1881.

The disastrous defeat of Gen. Sir George Colley by Gen. Joubert at Majuba Hill was retrieved by Gen. Lord Roberts in the capture of Gen. Cronje on the Modder. The recent British victory was a peaceful surrender, while Colley's defeat, nineteen years ago, was the most fatal battle of the first British-Boer war. On Saturday night, Feb. 26, 1881, Sir George Colley, with a small force, moved out of camp at Mount Prospect and occupied Majuba Hill, which overlooked the Boer position on the flat beyond Laing's Nek. Early Sunday morning Gen. Joubert attacked the hill, and, under cover of desultory firing, three Boer storming parties ascended the hill unseen. The British were outflanked and surrounded and a deadly fire was poured upon them from all sides. The slaughter was heavy. Sir George Colley was killed just as he had given orders to cease firing. The British fled, being shot as they ran. So disastrous a defeat has seldom fallen upon British arms. It was the last episode of that war. Peace was established on what was regarded as a Boer basis.

AFRICAN WAR WORDS.

While the words contained in the following list have become familiar to all readers of South African war news, their exact definitions are not thoroughly known. These words are mostly of Dutch, Portuguese and Kafir origin:

COMMANDO—A body of Boer troops; originally an unauthorized body of raiders.

BURGHER—A Boer voter over 16 years of age.

DRIFT—A shallow formed by drifting sands or gravel; a ford.

KLOOF—A gully.

KOPJE—A low, flat-topped hill; butte, frequently abbreviated kop.

KRAAL—A corral; in South Africa primarily a collection of huts encircling an inclosure for cattle, or the inclosure itself; a village within a stockade; a ranch, also spelled krawl.

LAAGER—An encampment; an inclosure for temporary defense, formed by the wagons of a traveling party; to form a defensive inclosure, as to laager wagons.

NEK—A depression or neck between and connecting two hills.

POORT—A mountain divide or pass, literally a gate.

RAND—A margin, border or edge, as a bank of a stream; brim, shore, etc.

TREK—To draw; pull; journey.

TREKKING—Moving along or off. The early nomad habit of the Boers of immigrating further and further into the interior was so called.

VELDT—A grassy plain with few trees. Plains entirely destitute of timber are called high veldt. A brush veldt is a level tract thinly covered with undergrowth. The nature of the grass produced distinguishes the sweet from sour veldts.

REDUCED TO EXTREMITIES.

Gen. Cronje Gave Up to Save His Women and Soldiers.

The condition of affairs in the camp of the Boers when Gen. Cronje surrendered to Lord Roberts was something frightful. They had run entirely out of food, except the trek cattle, and these were eaten as rapidly as they were killed by the British shells. Their ammunition had given out, and most of their artillery was badly damaged by the British fire. Most of their wagons were burned.

The laager was strewn with the corpses of the dead, lying in the broad light unburied and festering. The wounded were in an awful plight. The hospital corps was insufficient to attend to them, and they lay about the laager in heaps.

The British troops, immediately on taking possession of the laager, were ordered by Lord Roberts to devote all their attention to succoring the wounded and burying the dead, as well as caring for the women and children, who, panic stricken and in expectation of some awful punishment, could hardly be induced to accept kindness or aid from their conquerors. The British commissariat was taxed to its utmost to give immediate relief to the sufferers, but everything possible was done to alleviate the condition of the captives. The surrendered force numbered about 5,000 combatants. Besides these, there are over 1,000 women and children and Kafir laborers and members of the Red Cross Relief Corps.

DEWEY RECEIVES $9,570.

Award of the Court of Claims as Bounty for the Manila Battle.

The United States Court of Claims has rendered an opinion in the cases of Admiral George Dewey for naval bounty on account of the battle of Manila, the opinion being the finding of facts for a judgment of $9,570. The opinion is that the Spanish force in Manila bay was inferior to that of the Americans, and for that reason the claimants for bounty will be allowed $100 instead of $200 for each man in the enemy's fleet. Had the opinion held that the Spanish force was superior, Admiral Dewey's share would have been $19,001.40.

SAYS BRITAIN IS RIGHT.

John Hays Hammond Condemns Oom Paul and His Policy.

According to John Hays Hammond, the American engineer whose activity at Johannesburg while associated with the Rhodes mining interests at the time of the Jameson raid in 1896, came near costing him his life at the hands of the Boers, America's sympathies in the British-Boer conflict should be not with Oom Paul but with her majesty's forces. Mr. Hammond gave expression to this view at a brilliant dinner given him a few days since in Chicago. He spoke of the condition of affairs in the Transvaal prior to the war and took the opportunity to say that England was carrying on a just war and that the Boers were wholly to blame for the present difficulty.

Mr. Hammond made the assertion that the Transvaal mining industry would never have achieved success were it not for the fact that English capital and American ingenuity became interested and entered the field. The Outlanders, he said, were invited to the territory by Oom Paul, who, when they had served his purpose, denied them the right to exist there by reason of the oppressive laws he directed against them. The Outlanders paid nine-tenths of the taxes and yet had little or no voice in the government. All that is wanted by the Outlanders, said Mr. Hammond, is the establishment of the principle that there shall be no taxation without representation.

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND.

In Mr. Hammond's opinion, the present strife was forced upon President Kruger by his inability to longer control the widespread conspiracy he had built up against England. Oom Paul, said Mr. Hammond, was waiting for a rupture between Great Britain and some other power when he would make his effort to attain independence. For many years the Boers were actively pursuing a scheme of conspiracy for driving the English from South Africa and were buying guns, building fortifications and hiring foreign officers in anticipation of a conflict.

It might be supposed that Mr. Hammond was prejudiced in the matter in favor of the English because of his participation in movements against the Boers, but, he claims, this view of the matter would be wrong. He spoke as an American, he said, and put the facts of the case plainly before his auditors.

A FAIR VICTIM OF OPIUM.

Young Girl Attempts Reform, Becomes Degraded, and Then Dies.

A few days since Miss May Bibighaus, a young and pretty girl, died under lamentable circumstances. Miss Bibighaus belonged to a highly respected family and at one time was an enthusiastic church worker. Last May she determined to bring converts into the church and offered her services to Mrs. J. D. Nash, superintendent of the Chinese mission.

MISS BIBIGHAUS.

She entered on her labors enthusiastically, and apparently was so devoted to the work that she had time for nothing else. During daylight hours she was almost always absent from her home and even her evenings were spent out. Her mother and sisters noticed that the bloom was rapidly fading from her face and urged her to abandon the work at least for a time. But she would not. Meantime Miss Bibighaus instead of making converts or endeavoring to do so was fast going to ruin. She had contracted the opium habit, and instead of reforming others she was degrading herself. But of this her people were ignorant. From opium smoking she finally became sick, and the next day she died.

Side Lights on the Boer War.

The health of the horses in South Africa is a question which is worrying British officers almost as much as the health of the men. On account of the lack of railroads and the quickness of the enemy's moves, mounted troops are almost as essential as guns. With the change from the dry to the wet seasons comes the danger to horses. The average death rate among the horses now from sickness alone is about 25 per cent. In some localities it has been known to reach 80 and even 90 per cent. The disease works rapidly. It often happens that a trooper is riding along when his horse begins to stagger, then drops and dies on the spot. Donkeys are immune to the disease, but mules are not.

The Kafirs, Basutos and Zulus are the native "runners." But it is not by running that they do the best of their work. This they do by shouting their messages from hill to hill. They are the South African telegraph system. The first news of the battle of Glencoe which reached England and America came to Cape Town in this way. Whatever message is given by a native negro is never altered by any one who forwards it, though it may be passed along by 2,000 men. The precise words that are uttered by the first man are the identical ones which the last one hears.

On Christmas day three Englishmen, who had previously received passes to remain in the Free State, were commandeered and ordered to proceed to the front. They declined to fight against their countrymen, and on the same day were taken to the market square at Harrismith and shot.

Well up to the front, among the popular heroes of the Boer war, is Bugler Dunn, the boy of 15, first of the Royal Dublin Fusileers to cross the Tugela, and who, wounded in the right hand while sounding the "advance," immediately sounded the "advance" with his left hand.

Lord Roberts is not the only British general to have lost a son in the South African campaign. Gen. Brabant, commander of Brabant's Horse, and one of the most popular military men in South Africa, had a son, Capt. Brabant, killed in a sortie from Ladysmith.

CONGRESS

In the Senate on Thursday Washington's farewell address was read with fine elocutionary effect by Mr. Foraker. Owing to the absence of some Democratic Senators Mr. Penrose announced that he would not call up the Quay case until Friday. In the House debate on Porto Rico tariff bill continued, a notable speech being made by Mr. Grosvenor.

On Friday the Senate by a vote of 34 to 28 decided to take up the Quay case, and Mr. Daniel made a speech in favor of seating Mr. Quay. Mr. Vest and Mr. Foraker delivered notable speeches anent the Hawaiian government bill. Both were constitutional arguments, Mr. Foraker's being in reply to that of Mr. Vest. The House continued debate on the Porto Rico tariff bill, Mr. Littlefield (Me.) making a noteworthy speech in opposition thereto. Mr. Lacey of Iowa, Mr. Russell of Connecticut, Mr. Gardner of Michigan, and Messrs. Jones of Virginia and Maddox of Georgia also spoke.

On Saturday the Senate debated the Hawaiian government bill. The discussion took a wide range, but the basis of it was an amendment offered by Mr. Platt (Conn.) as to the appointment and tenure of office of the judges of the Hawaiian courts. Mr. Tillman embraced the opportunity to make a characteristic speech, in the course of which he made an attack upon Mr. Morgan and vigorously opposed many provisions of the bill, particularly those which related to suffrage. The House continued debate on Porto Rican tariff bill, the principal speech being by Mr. Tawney of Minnesota, who replied to Mr. Littlefield's speech of Friday.

On Monday, in the Senate, formal discussion of the right of former Senator Quay to a seat in the Senate was begun by Mr. Turley. Consideration of the Hawaiian government bill resumed. An amendment was made striking out the property qualification of voters for members of the legislature, but little other progress was made. In the House the debate on Porto Rican tariff bill was continued.

The Senate on Tuesday heard Mr. Depew in support of the retention of the Philippines and Mr. Turley in opposition to the seating of Mr. Quay. Amended Hawaiian bill so as to make void all contracts for labor entered into since Aug. 12, 1858. The general debate on the Porto Rican bill in the House closed in a blaze of glory. The galleries were banked to the doors and every seat on the floor was occupied when the rival champions of the respective sides—Mr. Dolliver of Iowa and Mr. Bailey of Texas—made the closing arguments. Before these closing speeches were made Mr. Cannon of Illinois, one of the veterans on the Republican side, made an exceptionally effective speech in support of the bill.

On Wednesday the Senate postponed until Thursday the vote on the Hawaiian government bill. Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, made an explanation of the work of the conferees on the financial measure, his statement resulting in an unexpected and spirited debate. Mr. McLaurin of South Carolina made a speech on the Philippines. He is the first Democratic Senator to declare himself for expansion. The House passed the Porto Rican tariff bill by a vote of 172 to 161.

Odds and Ends.

It is believed that the plague in Honolulu has now run its course.

The survey of the route for a Pacific cable has been finished by the steamer Nero.

The Pittsburg Plate Glass Company has announced a general advance of 5 per cent.

Gen. Bravos of Mexico has defeated the Maya Indians in the southern part of that country.

Advices from Dawson state that a general exodus to Cape Nome was expected in May and June.

The Millar-Osborne spice works and the Moline Plow Company's warehouse, Denver, Colo., were burned. Loss $150,000.

Ed Berlin was found dead on top of a Pullman car at Louisville. Death was caused by his head striking a bridge or tunnel.

James Detrick, a Californian, is in Bucyrus, Ohio, to purchase great steel wagons and traction engines for use in the desert of northern China in place of camels.

A jury at Dallas, Texas, has declared the will of the late Gen. E. A. Mexia of Mexico invalid because of undue influence. Property worth over $1,000,000 is affected.

A troop of Boer horsemen who perform nightly in a German circus have been forbidden that part of their program which represents a victory over British redcoats.

The Abbott-Downing Company of Concord, N. H., manufacturer of carriages and wagons, has failed with $200,000 liabilities and $600,000 assets. It was established in 1826.

The Glasgow (Scotland) Tramway and Street Railway Company has ordered from the Ritter-Conley Company of Pittsburg, Pa., structural iron and steel plates worth $100,000.

The Chicago postoffice shows a great decrease in the sale of postage due stamps since the rules prohibiting the forwarding of underpaid second and third class matter went into effect.

A slab to the memory of George Washington's ancestors is to be removed from a church in Wiltshire, England, to the Smithsonian Institution. Its date is 1645 and it bears a coat of arms and an inscription setting forth the virtues of Washington's grandfather's grandparents.

Italian agents who have been in New York for a couple of weeks past have concluded arrangements for the equipment of several trolley roads in the leading cities of northern Italy.

What is said to be the first instance of a mother performing the marriage ceremony for her daughter occurred recently in San Francisco, when Mrs. Kate Heussman united Miss Mary Violet Heussman to Felix Drapinski. Mrs. Heussman is an ordained minister under a State charter issued to the Independent Bible Society, of which she is a missionary.

Rear Admiral W. T. Sampson has positively declined the presidency of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Claim bills now before Congress, exclusive of pensions, provide for the expenditure of about $200,000,000 of the Government's money.

The lowest point of land between the two oceans on the American continent is the grand divide in Nicaragua, where the elevation is only 146 feet. The lowest point of land on the Isthmus of Panama, according to the report of the canal commission, is Culebra, which is 33 feet above tide water, and is now the scene of active work by the Panama Canal Company.

RECORD OF THE WEEK

INDIANA INCIDENTS TERSELY TOLD.

Populist State Convention—Complete Ticket Placed in Nomination—Superintendents for State Fair—Installation of Dr. Kane at Wabash College.

Populists of Indiana in State convention at Indianapolis named the following ticket: Governor, A. G. Burkhart, Tipton; Lieutenant Governor, C. M. Walters, Indianapolis; Secretary of State, Dr. W. T. Carmichael, Columbus; Auditor, John W. Wales, Hancock County; Treasurer, W. H. Kunz, Logansport; Attorney General, G. T. Boger, Shelby County; reporter Supreme Court, Charles E. Huffman, Clay County; superintendent public instruction, Prof. William P. Beasly, Knox County; State statistician, A. L. Grindle, Starke County; national electors, Samuel Walker, Hancock County, and A. H. Rowley, Columbus; members of the national committee, N. H. Motsinger of Portland, A. G. Burkhart of Tipton and Thomas S. East of Madison County; Supreme judge, first district, S. M. Holcomb. Resolutions were adopted favoring government ownership, the same treatment of gold and silver at United States mints at the present ratio of 16 to 1, the election of President, Vice-President and Supreme judges by direct vote, initiative and referendum, opposition to trusts, municipal ownership, additional pensions and the "issue by the general government without the intervention of banks of such value of full legal tender paper money as may be sufficient for the needs of the people."

Fair Superintendents.

At the meeting of the State Board of Agriculture President Jones announced the appointment of the following department superintendents of the State fair: Admissions, E. A. Robinson of Rocklane; grand stand, James E. McDonald of Ligonier; speed, W. T. Beauchamp of Terre Haute; horses, Mortimer Levering of Lafayette; beef cattle, M. S. Claypool of Muncie; dairy cattle and dairy products, Cott Barnett of Logansport; swine, Mason J. Niblack of Vincennes; sheep, John L. Thompson of Gas City; poultry, Sid Conger of Flat Rock; art, John L. Davis of Crawfordsville; horticulture, Knode Porter of Hagerstown; agriculture, John C. Haines of Lake; mechanical, W. W. Stevens of Salem; privileges, H. L. Nowlin of Lawrenceburg. President Jones also appointed the following executive committee: W. W. Stevens of Salem; W. T. Beauchamp of Terre Haute, E. A. Robison of Rocklane and J. L. Thompson of Gas City.

Dr. Kane Is Installed.

The Rev. William P. Kane was formally inducted into the presidency of Wabash College at Crawfordsville with impressive ceremonies, in the presence of 1,500 people, including 500 visiting alumni and former students. Dr. M. L. Hines of Indianapolis presided. The venerable ex-president, Joseph Farrand Tuttle, D. D., LL. D., delivered the charter and keys of the college to the new president, who then delivered his inaugural address. Addresses were made by Prof. John L. Campbell in behalf of the faculty, the Rev. D. P. Putnam of Princeton for the alumni, A. E. Tinkham for the students.

Dies in a Railway Station.

Mrs. George F. Field, traveling from Donaldson, Ark., to Fair Haven, Vt., died in the union station at Indianapolis, surrounded by her three small children. Mr. Field died in Arkansas and a week later a child died. The mother was ill and the 15-year-old daughter took charge of their affairs and started with her mother and two small sisters for the old home in Vermont.

Within Our Borders.

Sullivan will incorporate.

Gypsies around Clayton.

Ducks are plentiful on the Kankakee.

Muncie is going into the park building business.

Vincennes wants a $200,000 Government building.

South Bend will be redistricted, and a new ward added.

Greensburg schools are troubled with a siege of playing hookey.

Herman Schroeder has been appointed postmaster at Smithson.

Some one tried to burn the sanitarium at Cartersburg Springs the other day.

Seventeen-year-old daughter of H. S. Daniels, Union City, has disappeared.

Johnson County hens are beginning to come off of the nest with spring chickens.

Death of Clarence Betts, 29, of spinal meningitis, has caused excitement at Russiaville.

Schools have been closed and a revival discontinued at Vernon because of scarlet fever.

Terre Haute Council made an appropriation to help the Board of Health fight smallpox.

Work on the electric line from Muncie to Hartford City will begin with the shoots of spring.

The old citizens of Mooresville celebrated the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the place.

Jack Shashberger, Goshen, who was crippled on the Lake Shore Railroad, has been granted a pension and $2,000 back pay.

A large number of business houses were destroyed or damaged by a fire at Owensville. Total loss $15,700, insurance $1,100.

William Buttington, insane over politics, refused to leave the Muncie jail with his relation, until given a shotgun and hatchet to protect himself.

Jeffersonville Light and Water Company, that has received the new contract for furnishing the city with light, mortgaged its plant for $58,000.

There is a plan to build an electric line from Fort Wayne to Ligonier, to connect by branch lines with Mishawaka, Goshen, South Bend and Elkhart.

George Hoffman, Cincinnati, while hanging sash at the Oldenburg convent, lost his balance on a scaffold and jumped to a board, but it broke. He fell to the ground, dying a few minutes later.

Dr. James H. Smart, president of Purdue University, died at his home in Lafayette. He had been in ill health for several years, as a result of overwork in his ambitious zeal to further the best interests of Purdue.

A $25,000 fire destroyed the Quick & Co. wholesale candy house in Kokomo, $8,000 worth of sweets being consumed. The buildings of the Ogden carriage works and the Standard Manufacturing Company were slightly damaged.

Clyde Jones, accused of the abduction of Nellie Berger, tried to escape from jail at Peru. He and another prisoner, Orville Fox, attached a rubber hose to the gas jet and by means of this heated the stone flagging overhead. Then they dashed cold water against the stone, breaking it, and making a hole large enough to crawl through. The jail janitor came with the prisoners' breakfast just in time to prevent the escape.

Worthless Stuff!

What a lot of trash is sold as cough cures. The hollow drum makes the loudest noise—the biggest advertisement often covers worthlessness.

Sixty years of cures and such testimony as the following have taught us what Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will do.

"I had a most stubborn cough for many years. It deprived me of sleep and made me lose flesh rapidly. I was treated by many eminent physicians, but could get no permanent relief. I then tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I began to get better at once. I now sleep well, my old flesh is back, and I enjoy myself in every way at the age of seventy-four."—R. N. MANN, Fall Mills, Tenn., Feb. 7, 1899.

It's the do-as-you-would-be-done-by cough medicine. Try a 25-cent bottle.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

THE CLEANSING AND HEALING CURE FOR CATARRH is Ely's Cream Balm

Easy and pleasant to use. Contains no injurious drug. It is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at once. It Opens and Cleanses the Nasal Passages. Allays Inflammation. Heals and Protects the Membrane. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada. Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

Cures Croup and Whooping-Cough. Unexcelled for Consumptives. Gives quick, sure results. Refuse substitutes. Dr. Bull's Pills cure Biliousness. Trial, 10 for 5c.

NOT the CHEAPEST BUT THE BEST

BUGGY our factory can build for the money. $68.50 buys the Buggy here illustrated, fully equipped, with the customer's choice of either HEAVY Rubber or Leather quarter-top. End of Brewster side-bar springs. Your choice of color in painting. Cloth or leather trimmed. The BEST HICKORY Screwed Rim Wheels, ¾ or 1 inch tread. Full length Brussels Carpet. Body, Storm Apron, Whip Socket, Toe Rail, Spring Rack, Nickel Line Rail, Leather Trimmed Shafts. We have vehicles from $9.85 up, including Road Carts, Road Wagons, Surreys, Phaetons, Trades Spring Wagons and Business Hgs. Shipped C. O. D. subject to examination. For those who prefer to send the full amount with the order, we will include a good whip. OUR SPRING CATALOGUE of 1,000 pages, illustrating some of the line in NATURAL COLORS, will be sent prepaid upon receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of the first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE.

Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH CO., 150-166 W. Madison St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Order by this No. 200 K.

Salzer's Rape gives Rich, green feed, at 25c. a ton.

Spelts—What is it? Catalog tells.

BUY NORTHERN GROWN SEEDS. FARM SEEDS. Salzer's Seeds are Warranted to Produce. Mathias Lauber, E. Troy, Wis., secured the world by growing 160 bushels Big Four Oats; J. Bruder, Hubbard, Wis., 173 bus. barley; and H. Loveley, Red Wing, Minn., by growing 320 bush. Salzer's seed per acre. If you doubt, write them. We wish to get 250,000 new customers, hence will send on trial

10 DOLLARS WORTH FOR 10c.

10 pkgs of rare farm seeds: Salt Bush, the 3-eared Corn Spelts, producing 10 heads, feed and 2 tons hay per acre—three-eared barley, 200 bushels per acre—the greatest grass on earth; Salzer rape as Rape, Spring Wheat, &c., including our mammoth Prize Mixed and Seed Catalog, telling all about Salzer's Great Million Dollar Potato, all mailed for 10c. postage; positively worth $10 to get a start.

Seed Potatoes $1.20 a bbl. and up.

16 pkgs earliest vegetable seeds, $1.00.

Finest seed this adv. with 10c. to Salzer.

Catalog alone, 5c. C.N.U.—

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LACROSSE, WIS.

CARTER'S INK IS THE BEST Ink.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in civil war. 15 adjudicating claims, atty since

Not a Novelty.

Only so far as this country is concerned is the Pingree potato patch a novelty. For years laborers and dwellers in the small villages of England have been in the custom of tilling small patches of "allotment land," offered them at low rent or no rent by the local "squire." Such gardens figure in many English novels.

Our Increase of Insanity.

Much discussion has been aroused lately by the alarming increase of insanity. Our high living is the cause assigned. In the rush for money, men and women neglect their health until the breakdown comes. The best way to preserve the health is by a faithful use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It cures stomach ills, such as constipation, dyspepsia and biliousness.

Deductive Reasoning.

"I believe you have been secretly married to young Mr. Noodle!" cried the irate father.

"How ridiculous!" replied the daughter.

"Well," said her sire, "he used to come here at 8 o'clock and stay till 11:30, and now he doesn't get here until 9 o'clock and leaves at 10:15."—Philadelphia Press.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Standard of Measurement.

"There's no doubt about it," said the man with a large diamond in his necktie; "that man is a genuine patriot."

"How do you know?"

"Why, he can get up as much enthusiasm over an election as he does over a prize fight."—Washington Star.

Medical Book Free.

"Know Thyself," a book for men only, regular price 50 cents, will be sent free (sealed and postpaid) to any male reader of this paper, mentioning this advertisement, inclosing 6c for postage. Address the Peabody Medical Institute, 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., the oldest and best institution of its kind in New England. Write to-day for free book.

A prisoner about to be executed in France does not know the day. He is informed just fifteen minutes before the ax falls.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Value of English Land.

Land in England is 300 times as valuable now as it was 200 years ago.

Piso's Cure for Consumption cured a case of Pneumonia after the family doctor gave up all hope.—M. F. McDowes, Conowingo, Md.

Opportunity is rare, and a wise man will never let it go by him.—Bayard Taylor.

Jell-O. The New Dessert,

pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

A life of pleasure makes even the strongest mind frivolous at last.—Bulwer.

MARCH AND APRIL

Are the most disagreeable months of the year in the North.

In the South, they are the pleasantiest and most agreeable. The trees and shrubs put forth their buds and flowers; early vegetables and fruits are ready for eating, and in fact all nature seems to have awakened from its winter sleep. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company reaches the Garden Spots of the South, and will on the first and third Tuesdays of March and April sell round-trip tickets to all principal points in Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and West Florida, at about half rates. Write for particulars of excursion to P. Sid Jones, D. P. A., in charge of Immigration, Birmingham, Ala., or Jackson Smith, D. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

To California Quickly and Comfortably

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line. "The Overland Limited" leaves Chicago daily at 6:30 p. m., arrives San Francisco the afternoon of third day, and Los Angeles next morning. No change of cars. All meals in dining cars. Buffet, smoking and library cars, with barber. "The best of everything." "The Pacific Express" leaves Chicago daily 10:30 p. m., with first-class and through tourist sleepers to California. Personally conducted excursions every Thursday. All agents sell tickets via Chicago & Northwestern R'y. For full information and illustrated pamphlet apply to

W. B. KNISKERN, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Blood Humors Are Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

It Purifies the Blood

"I always take Hood's Sarsaparilla in the Spring and it is the best blood purifier I know of." MISS PEARLE GRIFFIN, Baldwin, Mich.

Cures All Eruptions

"Eruptions that came on my face have all disappeared since I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cured my father of catarrh." ALPHA HAMILTON, Bloomington, Ind.

Eradicates Scrofula

"I had scrofula sores all over my back and face. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few weeks I could not see any sign of the sores." OTHO B. MOORE, Mount Hope, Wis.

THE MILLION DOLLAR POTATO

Most talked of potato on earth! Our Catalog tells—so also about Salzer's Earliest Six Weeks' Potato. Largest farm and vegetable seed growers in U.S. Potatoes, $1.20 and up a bbl. Send this notice and 5c. postage for Big Catalog. C.N.U.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS.

LAMBS' THROAT CANDY, one of the best confections for vocalists, public speakers, etc. Send 10 cents to the Lamb Mfg. Co., Ottawa, Canada, for sample box.

GENERAL WARREN.

Has Had an Extended Experience in South African Warfare.

A strong man and an accomplished soldier, Sir Charles Warren has had a more extended experience of South African warfare than any of the divisional generals already appointed, and his conduct of the Bechuanaland expedition of 1884-85 was conspicuously successful. A Royal Engineer of close upon forty-two years' standing, Sir Charles Warren did not see active service until 1877, when, after serving for a year as a boundary commissioner in Griqualand West, he was given the command first of the Diamond Fields Horse and subsequently of the Field Force in the Griqua and Bechuana campaigns of 1879. Here he saw a great deal of "rough-and-tumble" fighting, and emerged with several mentions in dispatches and a brevet lieutenant colonelcy. In the Egyptian expedition of 1882 Sir Charles was employed on special service among the Beduin in connection with the murder of Prof. Palmer—a duty for which his previous experience in Palestine exploration was a useful qualification. In 1884-85 he led the Bechuanaland expedition, having under him, as commander of "Methuen's Horse," the officer now in charge of Sir Redvers Buller's First infantry division. In 1886 Sir Charles commanded at Suakim, and from 1886-88 he was chief commissioner of the Metropolitan police. From 1889-94 he was in the Straits Settlements as colonel on the staff, and subsequently as brigadier general. In 1895 he was appointed to the command of the Thames district, which he relinquished in September of last year.

SIR CHARLES WARREN.

VIRGINIA'S BIG APPLE TREES.

Some Giants that Grow at the Foot of the Mountains.

Near Stuart, Va., at the foot of a spur of the Blue Ridge Mountains, there is an apple tree which measures nine feet and five inches around, says the Philadelphia Record. Five feet from the ground are four branches, the largest being six feet around, the next 5 feet 6 inches, the next 5 feet, the smallest 4 feet 5 inches. The tree is fifty-two feet high and seventy-one feet broad. Although it is about 70 years old, it bore this year a very large crop. It has been known to produce 110 bushels in a season, and, as might be supposed, the soil in which it grows is exceedingly rich.

On a neighboring farm there is an apple tree which is 8 feet 5 inches around. In 1880 eighty-five bushels of nice picked apples were gathered from it and sold at the apple house for $60. The tree is 75 years old and is still bearing.

Two miles from Stuart, on the farm of J. W. Robertson, stands the famous Robertson apple tree, the parent of all the apple trees of that name in the United States. It bears a large red apple, which keeps well, and it has produced at one bearing eighty-five bushels, is about 80 years old, and is still in bearing.

A few years ago there was on a farm near Stuart an apple tree which produced at one bearing 130 bushels. It shaded at meridian ninety feet of ground in diameter. Apple trees grow very large in Patrick County, and the flavor of the fruit is unsurpassed.

JOHN BUNYAN'S TOMB.

Last Resting Place of the Famous Author of the Pilgrim's Progress.

Few books, except the Bible, have gone through so many editions as the Pilgrim's Progress, written by John Bunyan. It was written while the author was in Bedford jail, England, suffering for liberty of conscience. Bunyan in his early life was a tinker, then a soldier, later becoming a Baptist and a preacher. While in jail, where he spent twelve years, he supported his wife and children by making tagged laces. After his release he resumed preaching and continued it until his death in London in 1688.

TOMB OF JOHN BUNYAN.

He was buried in Bunhill Fields burying ground, which was opened as a suburban cemetery in 1665. Here are buried some famous personages in their day, including the novelist, Daniel Defoe; George Fox, founder of the Quakers, and the mother of John Wesley. Our illustration shows Bunyan's tomb at the present time.

Plenty of Mahogany in Venezuela.

Venezuela has vast forests of mahogany and cedar which have scarcely yet been touched.

Sugar Eating in America.

Americans use more sugar in proportion to population than any other nation of the world.

"Oh! How Happy I Am."

"HOW HAPPY I AM to be able to say that I am free from pain after five years of severe suffering from neuralgia," writes Mrs. Archie Young, 1817 Oaks avenue, West Superior, Wis. "I am so thankful to be able to say that your '5 Drops' is the best medicine I ever got in my life. When I received it from you last November, I used some of it right away. The first dose helped me.

"It is impossible to explain how I was suffering from neuralgia. I thought no one could get worse and that death would soon come. I was very weak, and I hardly thought I could live to see my husband come back from his daily labor.

"Now I can say that I am free from pain, my cheeks are red, my appetite is good and I sleep well all night. Many of my friends are surprised, and say they will send for some '5 Drops.'"

Sample bottles of this wonderful remedy 25c, large bottles, containing 300 doses, $1.00. For information write Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 164 E. Lake street, Chicago.

Hunted to Cover.

"As a nation, Americans don't sufficiently love their home life."

"That's so; we had to go to boarding because so many relatives loved our home life better than they did their own."—Indianapolis Journal.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science have proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Razor v. Fatigue.

Mrs. Elder—I suppose your constitution pulled you through.

The convalescent—I suppose it did, ma'am; though from the doctor's bill you'd think he did it all!—Puck.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

A little social life is good for one. As time goes on, and the old friends have gone to their promotion, it is well to keep up one's interest in the world of to-day by cultivating friendly relations with those about us.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

$1,000,000 in 13 Years.

Read the story of the Million Dollar Potato, also of Rape, Bromus, Speltz, 3-eared Corn, etc., all great money makers for the farmer, in John A. Salzer Seed Co.'s, La Crosse, Wis., catalog. Send 10c postage for same and 10 rare samples of farm seeds. Largest Vegetable Seed Growers in the United States. C N U

No Chance for Her.

There is a young man in Dayton so careful that in calling on his girl he always knocks, for fear if he came with a ring she might consider it a proposal

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

Of all the paths that lead to a woman's love, pity is the straightest.—Beaumont.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

An extreme rigor is sure to arm everything against it.—Burke.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Not a single infectious disease is known in Greenland.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets are accepted for passage on all trains of the Nickel Plate Road.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

NONE SUCH

Nothing hobbles the muscles and unfits for work like

SORENESS and STIFFNESS

Nothing relaxes them and makes a speedy perfect cure like

St. Jacobs Oil

$2.65 This High-Grade QUITAR for Only $2.65

The top edge is bound with white celluloid. Has fancy inlay around sound-hole. The best American-made patent head. Raised German silver frets, with inlaid pearl position dots. The scale is as near perfect as it is possible to make. Is strung with a full set of BEST quality steel strings. A complete Instruction Book is sent FREE with each Guitar. On receipt of $1.00 we will send it C. O. D. subject to examination. OUR SPRING CATALOGUE of 1,000 illustrated pages will be sent prepaid on receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE. Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH CO., 150-166 W. Madison St., Chicago. Order by this No. 200 K.

WANTED—Apple Logs or Lumber. Write for prices and specifications. E. C. ATKINS & CO. Saw Manufacturers, Indianapolis, Ind.

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

Charles Reade at Oxford.

When Charles Reade was at Oxford he was not always, from a proctor's point of view, a pattern for others to be guided by. One night he and a companion, being without cap and gown, were chased by the "bull dogs." Being fleet of foot, they soon reached their respective colleges. His chum was able to square the porter at Queen's and passed in, but there was no such luck for Reade, when he arrived at Magdalen. Being a young man of resources, he was not to be easily caught, and, looking about him, in the moonlight, he spied a ladder. Planting this under his chamber window, he was soon in his own rooms. But the tell-tale ladder remained behind, so he managed to drag it up after him. He always carried a capital sportsman's knife—which would saw as well as cut—and with it he began to convert the ladder into fuel. When his friend from Queen's called in the morning to see how it fared with Reade, he was told: "I shall be all right directly, old man, for I've been up all night burning the ladder, and I have just put the last bit of the blessed thing on the fire!"

Rules for Courtship.

Agree with the girl's father in politics and her mother in religion.

If you have a rival keep an eye on him; if he is a widower keep two eyes on him.

Don't put too much sweet stuff on paper. If you do you will hear it read in after years when your wife has some special purpose in inflicting upon you the severest punishment known to a married man.

If on the occasion of your first call, the girl upon whom you have placed your affections looks like an iceberg and acts like a cold wave, take your leave early and stay away. Woman in her hours of freeze is uncertain, coy and hard to please.

Don't lie about your financial condition. It is very annoying to a bride who pictured for herself a life of luxury in her ancestral halls to learn too late that you expect her to ask a bald-headed parent who has been uniformly kind to her to take you in out of the cold.

The Druggist's Fault.

Mrs. Newlywed—I was going to have some sponge cake as a surprise for you, my dear, but I confess it is a failure.

Mr. Newlywed—What was the matter?

Mrs. Newlywed—I don't know for sure, but I think the druggist sent me the wrong kind of sponges.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Why trifle with health when the easiest and surest help is the best known medicine in the world?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is known everywhere and thousands of women have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it.

Mrs. Pinkham's methods have the endorsement of the mayor, the postmaster and others of her own city.

Her medicine has the endorsement of an unnumbered multitude of grateful women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper. Every woman should read these letters.

Mrs. Pinkham advises suffering women free of charge. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes. Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers. The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free. W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

FOR 50 CENTS we will send you our TWO-QUART FOUNTAIN SYRINGE, fitted with a full length STEEL NICKEL-PLATED VALVE & THREE hygienic, hard rubber pipes—for INFANTS, ADULTS, RECTAL and VAGINAL. These pipes have the slip expansion air-tight joints, guaranteed not to leak or wear. All carefully packed in a strawboard, paper-covered box. The postage will be 12 cts.

Our Spring Catalogue of 1,000 illustrated pages will be sent prepaid on receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of your first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE.

Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH COMPANY, 150-166 W. Madison St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Order Style No. U. 200 K.

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 250,000 new customers, and hence offer

1	Pkg. City Garden Beet,	10c
1	Pkg. Earliest Emerald Cucumber,	10c
1	" Crease Market Lettuce,	15c
1	" Strawberry Melon,	15c
1	" 12 Day Radish,	10c
1	" Early Pine Cabbage,	10c
1	" Early Dinner Onion,	10c
5	" Brilliant Flower Seeds,	15c
Worth $1.00, for 14 cents.		$1.00

Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c. stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without. Also Prize on Salzer's 1900—earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.U.—

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

GREGORY'S SEEDS

For 60 years the favorite with practical gardeners and florists. The new 1900 catalogue describes all varieties. Send for it.

J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Rockbank, Mass.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

A NOTED JUDGE SAVED BY PERUNA.

Had Catarrh Nine Years—All Doctors Failed.

HON. GEORGE KERSTEN, OF CHICAGO.

Hon. Geo. Kersten, a well-known Justice of the Peace of Chicago, says:

"I was afflicted with catarrh for nine years. My catarrh was located chiefly in my head. I tried many remedies without avail. I applied to several doctors, but they were not able to cure me. I learned of the remedy, Peruna, through the daily newspapers. After taking the remedy for 18 weeks I was entirely cured. I consider my cure permanent, as it has been two and a half years since I was cured."

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well-nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Peruna is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Peruna not only cures catarrh, but prevents it.

All families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book entitled "Winter Catarrh." This book consists of seven lectures on catarrh and la grippe delivered at The Hartman Sanitarium. It contains the latest information on the treatment of catarrhal diseases. Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Sore Hands

Red, Rough Hands, Itching, Burning Palms, and Painful Finger Ends.

One Night Treatment

Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of CUTICURA SOAP. Dry, and anoint freely with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear, during the night, old, loose kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and air holes cut in the palms. For red, rough, chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with shapeless nails and painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful, and points to a speedy cure of the most distressing cases when physicians and all else fail.

Sore Hands 8 Years Cured.

Pain So Intense Would Nearly Twist Fingers From Sockets. Hands Puffed Up Like a Toad. Water Ran Through Bandages to Floor. Had to Walk the Floor Until Would Fall Asleep. Fingers Would Peel Like an Onion. Doctors Could Not Cure.

Eight years ago I got sore hands, commencing with a burning sensation on my fingers and on top of the hand. When I rubbed them, you could see little white pimples. I felt like twisting my fingers out of their sockets. I had high fever, and cold chills ran over me, and so I kept it going until I was tired out. Nights, I had to walk the floor until I fell asleep. My hands peeled like an onion, the finger nails got loose, and the water ran out, and wherever there was a little pimple there the burning fire was—that happened at least ten times. I am running a blacksmith shop, horseshoeing, and I would not shut up the shop for anybody, but it was hard. My hands puffed up worse than a toad. When I drove horse nails, the water from my hands ran through the bandage, on to the floor. My customers refused to look at my hand. I had a friend take me to the doctor; he gave a solution of something to bathe my hands. I went to another doctor, I think, for a year. I found your advertisement in a Utica newspaper, and I got the CUTICURA remedies. As soon as I used them I began to gain, and after using a small quantity of them I was entirely cured. I would not take fifty dollars for a cake of CUTICURA SOAP if I could not get any more. I would not suffer any more as I did, for the whole country.

Feb. 22, 1898. CASPER DIETSCHLER, Pembroke, Genesee Co., N. Y.

Cuticura The Set, $1.25 Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A. "All about the Skin, Scalp, and Hair," free.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap

Exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the best skin and complexion soap, the best toilet and best baby soap in the world.

..BY ORDER OF..

THE U. S. COURT!

As The Settlement With Creditors Was Affected.

I am authorized to close out the JACOB BAILER stock of Men's, Boys and Children's Clothing, Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Shoes, Boots, Rubber Goods, Trunks, Valises, Telescopes, Umbrellas, etc., etc., at

70c ON THE DOLLAR

The stock is clean; no old shelf-worn goods, nor out of date; no sweat shop goods, or auction goods--all bought within the last Six Months.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

It will pay you to buy and lay it away for a year. The biggest opportunity the people of Northern Indiana ever had to buy Good Clothing for little money.

SAM'L BAILER, Manager.

Ford Building, 3 Doors North of Farmers Bank. AUBURN, INDIANA.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 8, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratcic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

Club Notes.

The L. L. C. met at the home of Mrs. Maud Robbins and the entire program was given as printed. The first paper "Working under water," was given by Miss Margaret Buckley and was a fine description of the work of the divers and their outfits.

"United States Harbors," was an interesting paper by Mrs. Nettie Eckhart. She gave an interesting account of the principal harbors of our country. Mrs. Ford's paper the first she has been able to give this club year, was most excellent and entertaining, and was given in the form of a story, subject: "A dollar and a ten dollar dinner." This brought out a fine discussion, all the members becoming interested and taking a part. Mrs. Sprott gave a fine paper on "The Paris Exposition," full of good things, and left us all with the wish we could see with our own eyes the things she so vividly described. Next Saturday being guest day, the club decided that each member be allowed one guest and that the meeting be held with Mrs. Josie Brown.

Mrs. Worden of Albion, the guest of Mrs. Guild, was present as a visitor.

An Ounce of Preventive.

Is worth a pound of cure. Try a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and, if properly taken, it will positively prevent rheumatism or any other kindred trouble arising from a torpid condition of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Trial sizes 10 cents, other sizes 50c and $1 of H. B. McCord.

Oak Timber.

For sale, a job lot of oak and soft wood timber. Call on J. W. Sherer, one mile north of Concord, Ind. 10

At the Court House.

Judge Bratton arrived from Angola this forenoon and at once took up the circuit court work for the March term. The grand jury was on hand early and after being charged by the judge entered upon its duties. P. D. Childs was chosen as foreman, and J. J. Lateen is acting as bailiff. The greater part of the afternoon has been devoted by the judge to making up issues and hearing probate cases.

The board of commissioners met this morning in regular monthly session and have been examing claims and settling with township trustees. Settlement was made this afternoon for the heating plant in the new county building.

The following couples have been licensed to marry since our last report: Frank Allwood and Alice Heller; Chas. Moore and Laura E. Baughman; Chas. F. Ramsey and Ada Baker; Chas. J. Lake and Bessie M. Able; James Stansbury and Bertha Campbell; William R. Gregg and Vertie Woodworth.

Obituary.

Mrs. Catherine Henney was born in Holmes county, Ohio, December 24, 1833, and died at her home in Fairfield township, DeKalb county, Indiana, Monday, February 26, 1900, aged 66 years, 2 months and 2 days.

On the 17th day of November, 1853, she was united in marriage to Jacob Henney. This union was blessed with four sons and six daughters. One son and one daughter have preceded her to the spirit land. Mrs. Henney was a hard-working woman, but never complained about her lot in life. She was a tender-hearted, loving mother, and a faithful wife. She united with the Reformed church of Hudson, Ind., in the spring of 1881, of which church she remained a faithful member until her death. He last illness which was one of intense suffering, and of seven weeks and three days duration was borne with Christian patience. During all her suffering her faith and confidence in her Savior remained unshaken. She said she was ready and willing to go whenever the Master called. Just before death came she spoke as though she would be well in a few weeks, and then lay down and peacefully fell asleep in the arms of a loving Savior. She leaves to mourn her death a sorrowing husband, eight children, six grandchildren, two great grandchildren, two sisters, four brothers and a wide circle of friends and relatives. Their loss we trust is her eternal gain. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. A. Seitz, from the Fairfield Center church on Wednesday, February 28; interment in the Fairfield Center cemetery. J. A. S.

Latest News of the Day.

--The Philipinos are trying to keep up an organization and carry on a guerilla warfare. They are so unreliable and treacherous that they may cause a good of trouble.

Congress is still working on the Porto Rico bill the main trouble being the clause fixing a tariff of 15 per cent between the island and this country. The excuse for this unusual course is that the islands need the money and it will be used for their benefit. Since the strife over the bill has begun, however, congress has appropriated two millions for the use of the island. So, that would seem to do away with the excuse.

In South Africa, Cronje and the men surrendered with him are at Cape Town, and the most of them are given good quarters on ships lying in the harbor. A few tried to escape from the train on the way down.

In the English parliment the government has made its estimates for the expense of the coming year. The amount seems enormous, even in this country, where our expenses of national government are great. The sum asked is £154,000,000 or over $750,000,000. Fourfifths of this great sum is already provided for, but extra taxes will have to be raised to get the rest. Parlament promptly voted the entire amount.

There is talk about making Gen. Harrison a candidate for president. But is only talk. It is certain that McKinley will be renominated as that has become the rule of both parties.

Some Filipinos misled one of our soldiers the other day and got him to go to a certain village where they said he would be given some guns that had been hid. He went and they killed him. His fellow soldiers attacked the village, burned it and killed several Filipinos.

The U. S. Senate is likely to upset the tariff clause in the Porto Rico bill. They revolt at the idea that a part of the United States should pay a duty to the other part.

Prohibition County Convention.

The prohibitionists of DeKalb county, Ind., will meet at Auburn in the rooms now occupied by the Auburn Christian Mission on Saturday, March 17, 1900, at 1 p. m. A full county ticket will be nominated, delegates to the state convention elected, and transact such other business as may come before the convention. We ask all to unite with us who are in favor of prohibiting the whole liquor business. We expect the largest convention ever held in DeKalb county.

CHARLES ECKHART,
Chairman Co. Central Com.

New Wabash Line.

It has been ascertained to a certainty, says the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, that the Chicago-Toledo line of the the Wabash will be built. This will make the Wabash a strong competitor of the Lake Shore for business between Chicago and Toledo, and it is fully realized by the former road what that competition means.

Arrangements will be made by the management to put on a passenger service fully equal to that of the Vanderbilt line. At a comparatively small cost the Wabash can run part of every train of its elegant through service from St. Louis and Chicago through to New York. Sleepers and palace cars of the famous Continental limited can be detached at Montpelier and sent to Toledo, instead of going east with the rest of the train, and a train out of Toledo can connect at Montpelier with the Continental limited going west. The same arrangement can be made with the through trains on the Wabash.

Work on the new line will begin next month, or as soon as the weather will permit. Three routes have been surveyed as was previously announced. One of them, the shortest, strikes five or six large towns west of Toledo which do not have direct railway connection with Toledo. The management refuses to state which route it will follow, and much depends, it is said, upon the spirit displayed by the towns which are most interested.

Ladies' Gold Plate Bracelet Free

Send us your name and address, NO MONEY, and we will mail you free of charge, packages of our new variety flower seeds; sell these seeds to your friends at 10 cents a package and send us the $1.00 and we will send you free of charge an elegant, gold plate, ladies' chain bracelet and locket, guaranteed good lasting plate and newest design.

This is a great chance for the girls. Write today.—THE POSTAL NEWS & SUPPLY AGENCY, P. O. Box 238, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

A Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recomending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known baker of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug." Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

CEDAR.

Aaron Smith left on Thursday last for Benzonia, Mich., where he expects to work this summer.

John Stonestreet's oldest son, Egernot, visited friends near Churubusco last week.

We understand that one of our merchants has bought a farm near here, but does not expect to commence farming right away.

Ezra Haag has so far recovered from his recent illness that he is able to be out again.

Mrs. Hattie Kimmel of Chicago is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lucinda McClure of Butler Center.

Many are taking advantage of the sleighing for hauling logs and it looks now as though the mill men would have to enlarge their mill yards.

John Holman now wears an 8x10 smile on his face on account of the little boy that will call him papa in the future.

It is reported that Noah Lung has bought C. F. Warner's farm near here and will contine to be a resident of Butler township.

John Stonestreet made a business trip to Fort Wayne last Saturday.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Name of Swamp-Root.

Three-Room Store.

Schaab Bros. have rented the Johnson block, adjoining them on the south and will extend their business so as to fill that room. This makes them a three-room store. The central one is their original store, the one next north being the furniture store for several years managed successfully as the Schaab Furniture Co., and now the one on the south. This will make the first establishment of the kind in the county. They are cutting an archway through their south wall so as to open up the new room, which they are to use for clothing, gents' furnishings and goods in that line.

Cure of Rheumatism.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts afflicted and realizing instant benefit and entire releif in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain.—The Vindicator, Rutherfordton, N. C. For sale by H. B. McCord. 13

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, DeKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, March Term, 1900

Adolph Frederick Okerlind, Ulrica Okerlind (his wife), John H. Miller, Charles Bruse, George G. Burrows, Frank W. Howes and Nathan Tarney are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court to foreclose a mortgage by State House Building Association, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 21st day of May, 1900, being the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences May 21, 1900.

Witness, the clerk of said court this 6th day of March, 1900. MICHAEL F. LONG, Clerk.

Brown, West and Lodge, Attorneys.

NOTICE

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 bottle of Downs' Elixir if it does not cure any cough, cold, croup, whooping cough or throat trouble. We also guarantee Downs' Elixir to cure consumption, when used according to directions, or money back. A full dose on going to bed and small doses during the day will cure the most severe cold and stop the most distressing cough.
E. M. FISCHLER
HOWARD McCORD.

NOTICE FOR SUPPLIES.

Requisition for Supplies for DeKalb County Poor Asylum.

The Board of Commissioners of said county will receive sealed bids for supplies up to March 21, 1900, at 10 o'clock a. m., for quarter ending May 31 1900

GROCERIES AND DRY GOODS.

Commissioners reserving the right to reject all bids at their discretion, may demand a bond from the successful bidder, conditioned upon the fulfillof their cotract.

Requisition and sample of goods may be seen at the Auditor's office.

FRANK P. SEILER,
Auditor.

Auburn, Ind., March 7, 1900.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Cornelia P. Hogue deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 30th day of April 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there appear and make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares

Witness my name this 5th day of March, 1900.

FRANCIS A. HOGUE, Executor.

Honest Medicine for Lagrippe

George W. Waitt, of South Gardiner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vender. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by H. B. McCord.

Why the Painter Hurried.

The Irishman was painting his barn, and hurrying his work, with all his strength and speed, says the Utica Observer.

"What are you in such a hurry for, Murphy?" asked a spectator.

"Sure, I want to get through before the paint runs out," was the reply.

The Best Salve in the World,

Is Banner Salve. It is made from a prescription by a world wide known skin specialist and is positively the most healing salve for piles, burns, scalds, [illegible] and skin diseases. H. B. McCord.

Is your feet wet?
Is your wife's feet wet?
Is your boy's feet wet?
Is your daughter's feet wet?

There is no use for us to tell you that you need now above all other times, Good, Substantial cold and damp proof footwear, but we feel it our business to tell you that we have just such shoes as you require, and our reputation for best footwear and lowest prices guarantees you against inferior goods and high prices.

our rubber stock is always complete—now it is no exception. We have everything in Rubber Footwear from a hip boot to a foot hold.

Bishop&Beidler
Your Shoemakers,

WEICHT & CUTLER,
Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country.
Western 'Phone 106
Auburn, Ind.
South of Jail

JUNO THE PEERLESS

What lady does not have a feeling of pride and satisfaction when her light and delicious biscuits are highly commended by the partakers of her good cheer? How eagerly they ask the secret of her success! The answer is, "Juno Baking Powder."

Juno, the Queen,
Juno, the Best,
Juno, the Purest

Of All Cream of Tartar Baking Powders.

With the Juno Powder you are always sure of success. It is perfectly wholesome, and absolutely pure. Chemists and pure food commissioners tell you so.

Grocers Sell Juno, The Peerless

We also make a cheaper Baking Powder, "CHURB'S Cream of Phosphate," containing the phosphates which are lacking in white flour, and absolutely without alum or injurious ingredients.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Co.
CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang
Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field seeds for the spring planting.

Never out of Season.

There is no time in the year when Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a benefit to mankind. It cures constipation and indigestion and cures diarrhœa caused by bad condition of the digestive organs. Trial size bottles 10 cents, also in 50c and $1 size, at H. B. McCord's.

Going Down Hill.

People suffering from kidney diseases feel a gradual but steady loss of vitality. They should lose no time in trying Foley's Kidney Cure. It is guaranteed. H. B. McCord, Druggis t.

Red Cross Tansy Pills
FOR Suppressed Menstruation
PAINFUL Menstruation
And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES.
Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless
Purely Vegetable! Never Fail
The Ladies' Relief.
PRICE $1.00
Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we Yin de Cinchona Co.
Des Moines, Iowa.
For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist

Sunday's Daily.

—John D. Williams of Butler township called today and paid up into 1901.

—Sale bills printed on good tough, heavy, weather proof stock, cheap and on short notice.

—Joel Treesh is the next new name on the weekly. Always glad to see the boys come home.

—Sleigh for sale at a bargain, second hand, in good condition. Call on Will Zeigler, South Jackson street.

—George Picker of Coffeyville, Kansas, was unable to attend his mother's funeral on account of sickness.

—Miss Lydia Hogue went to New Era today to visit James Hogue and wife. The latter is in poor health.

—Wesley Carper, teacher in No. 6, Jackson, paid his subscription way up into 1901, Saturday, and has thanks.

—Go to Sheffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct.26w-tf

—John S. Potts and his neighbor Mr. Reed were callers today. Mr. Potts put his COURIER subscription up onto the 1901 list.

—N. Friend was here Saturday and put his subscription up into 1901, and that of A. E. Foltz into 1900. Good business plan.

—Mrs. Rowe of near Sedan came down Saturday and is at the bedside of her son, David Rowe, who was shot by George Green Friday evening.

—To all points in competition where the fare is $2 or more we have free bus and free baggage to the Junction. tf SPROTT & KNAPP, Agency B. & O. Ry.

—The Catholic school building at Garrett caught fire about 1 o'clock today, but by prompt work on the part of the fire department serious damage was averted.

—E I Lewis, traveling correspondent of the Indianapolis Press, was in the city Saturday on a business mission with the local correspondent, J. C. Lochner.

—The supreme council of the Catholic Benevolent League of Indiana was organized at Fort Wayne yesterday. John B. Mager of Garrett was elected president.

—Chas. Schaab is in Chicago this week buying new goods for the big new spring stock. When they get here it will be the biggest ever shown in Auburn and probably the best.

—The people of Cleveland township, Whitley county, have filed a remonstrance against the licensing of saloons at South Whitley. Two men have made applications for license.

—J. C. Elson has received a letter from his mother, Mrs. S. D. Waltz, that her husband, Mr. Elson's step-father, died February 21, and was buried the 24th. Their home is at Canal Dover, Ohio.

—Don't kill the skunks, but sell them to us alive. We pay for star black, $1 50 to $2 00; small stripe, $1 to $1 50; large stripe, 50 to 75 cents; white, 40 to 50 cents. Write us; We will come and get them. DEKALB FUR CO. w4t

—The Auburn Hardwood Company of this city was incorporated in the office of the secretary of state, with a capital stock of $15,000. The directors are E. L. Robbins, Chas. McClellan, A. C. Robbins and P. A. Muhn.

—Mrs. Mary Huffman arrived from Bowling Green, O., last Saturday, one day too late to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs Elizabeth Picker, there having been some mistake in the message sent her. She will remain here a few days with relatives.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn. Ind. 4tf

—S. Shumaker was in town today, having come in through the heavy storm sixteen miles to attend to matters in the estate of the late Andrew Smith, of which he is administrator. He says that he lost that driving horse of his that was sick and treated here in town for a time.

—Truth enters the mind through several doors; the eyes, the ears, the mouth and the sense of touch. The truth of our claims concerning the goodness of Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers will reach your mind through your mouth. Take a bite and give the facts a chance to convince you.

—Beam Bros., the Spencerville undertakers who last November buried the body of Mr Hamerick without a permit, paid the expense of exhuming the remains and making and holding the post mortem examination. They claimed to know nothing of the existence of the new burial law, having never been notified of it

Saturday afternoon a couple got a license at the office of the county clerk, and then set out to find someone to marry them. They called at 'Squire Walter's office first, and not finding him they went to 'Squire Treesh's. Here also the "joiner" was absent, and they turned northward to the M. E. parsonage, where Rev. Guild pronounced them man and wife They were Mr. Chas. J. Lake and Miss Bessie M. Abel.

A Little Known Fact.

That the majority of serious diseases originate in disorder of the kidneys. Foley's Kidney Cure is guaranteed. Try it today if you are not feeling well. H. B. McCord.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Tuesday's Daily.

—Attorneys Lual G. Waterloo and Wickwire of Ashley were at work in court today.

—The widow of the late Major Heatwole of Goshen has been granted a pension of $25 per month.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—South Carolina will hold a state exposition in 1901 to show the development of its resources. It is intended to make it a big affair.

—If you want to sell or buy, or have lost or found anything, let your wants be known through the columns of the COURIER for quick results.

—Matanzas, in Cuba, with 37,000 people and 162 teachers, has no schoolhouses. Most of the other Cuban cities are in the same condition.

—Mrs. Florinda Swander has thanks for some much needed wood, brought in Tuesday by her son, Henry A. Swander. It pays her to next fall.

—See the COURIER for supervisors's notices to teamsters in regard to hauling over gravel roads. They are 9x12 and printed in bold type on heavy card board.

—People are discussing that shooting affray from both sides, and many are very bitter against the men with Green who tormented him till he got mad and used his revolver.

—Take a bite and let the facts convince you that Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers are the best crackers you ever put into your mouth. That's the way to know. There is no other way.

—The DeKalb county W. C. T. U. convention will be held at Corunna, March 23 and 24. Among those who will have a prominent part in the work is Mrs Hattie Brand of Indianapolis

—Bailer's store opens again for business and is making great cuts in all prices in their line. They have a large stock of clothing, etc., etc, from which to select. Read his big ad, which begins today.

—Herb Weaver is now settled in his new office and has everything cozy. It is the west room of the law offices that Judge Hartman occupied for so many years. His patrons should make a note of this new location.

—Congress may conclude to remove the tariff duty from paper, wood pulp and other material from which paper is made. Newspapers all over the country are complaining of an advance of 60 per cent by the paper trust.

—A party of about thirty went out in two sled loads last evening to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wise, two miles east, and were entertained in fine style They were members of the Lutheran church and all had an enjoyable ride and visit.

—It is now authoritively announced that Senator Gilbert of Angola will be a candidate for lieutenant governor. The Twelfth district has two other candidates—J. W. Baker of Columbia City and J. N. Babcock of Lagrange county.

—An ex-saloon keeper at Dillsboro, this state, is in luck, having fallen heir to $25,000. He has a wife and seven children and had been running a saloon till stopped by a remonstrance. There are plenty of saloon keepers who would like to be hit by a remonstrance that would result like that.

—NOTICE:—We have the most beautiful line of commencement program samples we have had heretofore, and at prices as reasonable as ever. Make your selections early. We take pleasure in showing samples. We recently purchased type especially for this class of work. w-Aug. 1.

—The Atchison Globe man chewed the end of his pencil reflectively and then wrote: "What's the difference between Massachusetts and Kentucky?" Then he smiled and continued: "In Massachusetts they make boots and shoes and in Kentucky they make shoots and booze." And then he went out and took a little Kentucky dew.

—Saturday, the COURIER recived a big cocoanut from Mr. and Mrs. Walters at Palm Beach, Florida. It was followed by a letter that reached us next day, in which Mrs. Walters said she and Mr. Walters picked it off the tree the day they sent it. It is a big one, and everybody stops to admire it. It came as Mr Moody's had, with no wrapper, the address being written on the smooth husk. We are under obligations to them for the gift.

—Andy Wagner came down from Defiance Saturday to stay over Sunday. He came in on No. 7 of the B. & O, and they had quite an experience at Deleware Bend. Just after pulling out of the station there they struck a double team on the first crossing and the horses of the head span were almost instantly killed. The hind team escaped. He said it made a terrible sight to see the blood scattered over the deep snow. It is supposed they were hauling a load too heavy for one team in the deep snow, and may have been stalled on the crossing. The train was stopped long enough to go back and see the wreck, but as nothing could be done, they pulled out again.

SORE LUNGS
Sore lungs, pain in the chest and painful breathing, the fore-runners of pneumonia, are quickly relieved and cured by the old reliable Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup. It breaks up a cold in one night. Try it at once.
Dr. Bull's COUCH SYRUP
Will quickly heal Sore Lungs.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Mary McCurdy of Butler has been granted a widow's pension.

—Claude Link came home Saturday afer a stay of several weeks at Fort Wayne.

—Wilson the shoe man is handling the "Trading Stamps." See his notice and look the matter up.

—A. E. Smith is the latest new name on the Weekly list as we go to press, and is a 1901ster besides.

—If you wish to have beautiful clear white clothes ask for Russ' Bleaching Blue. Refuse Imitations.

—The new Methodist church at Wabash, the finest in Northern Indiana, will be dedicated next Sunday.

—BORN, to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Baxter Feb. 27, a girl baby, weight 11½ pounds All getting along well, especially Tom.

—Mrs. Mack Waller of Hamilton add her two daughters Misses Emma and Alta Myers were callers at this office.

—Russ' Bleaching Blue makes brown muslin white in a day. All grocers sell the genuine Russ. Refuse imitation.

—On account of the high prices of building material the big beet factory at North Judson will not be built this year.

—Alex Miller of Auburn is visiting in the city with his brother, Alfred. He expects to leave for Idaho in a few days.—Columbia City Post.

—The next attraction at the opera house will be Barney Gilmore and his company in "Kidnapped in New York," Wednesday evening, March 14.

—The east-bound shipments of flour, grain and provisions from Chicago last week amounted to 169,612 tons. This does not include dressed beef, live stock nor miscellaneous freight.

—A. M. A. Miller this week begins a notice of his folding bath cabinet. It has become a household necessity as an adjunct to cleanliness and consequently to health. Read it carefully.

—Russell, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Garrett fell from a chair yesterday afternoon, biting his tongue nearly through. He will be compelled to live on soft food and stop talking for a few days at least.

—Mrs John Pauley and children have returned home from Auburn where they were the guests of friends The Misses Surfice of that city accompanied Mrs. Pauley home.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

—David Rowe continues to improve and there is now no reason to doubt that he will recove. This will be good news, not only to his friends, but to the man who came so near cutting short Rowe's earthly existence.

—A pound of facts is worth a ton of theories Thousands upon thousands of people prefer Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers because they have found them best notwithstanding the high-sounding but empty promises of imitators.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says; "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave me great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's Drug Store! every bottle guaranteed.

Has Lots of 'Em.

Our old friend A. Lewis is already preparing for next season's building campaign and among other material received was one lot of 275,000 of the celebrated Davenport shingles, than which none better ever came out of a mill. Mr. Lewis will be prepared to furnish shingles to everybody who wants them.

Volcanic Eruptions

Are grand, but Skin eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, cures them, also Old, running and Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands Chilblains. Best Pile cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord the Druggist.

It Leads.

Wherever it has been introduced, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin leads all other remedies in curing constipation, indigestion and sick headache It only costs ten cents for trial size. 10 doses 10 cents. Large size 50c and $1. H. B. McCord.

Lingering LaGrippe Cough.

G. Vacher, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of lagrippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50c bottle cured her entirely." Price 25c and 50c H. B. McCord.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Ho, Stop, Read!

After an absence from your city of

Twenty Two Years

I am back again to do all the good I can.

Have taken the agency for the Square, Quaker, Turkish Folding Bath Cabinets. Am now prepared to make the.....

Old Young, and the Young Happy

For $5.00.

No Ailment of the Human Family, but what our Vapor Baths will Relieve. Call and see Cabinets at our home, No. 83 N. Main St., Auburn, Ind.

A. M. A. MILLER,
General Agent.

BUTLER.

A multiplicity of duties compelled the writer to leave his accustomed space vacant last week.

Last Saturday was a red-letter day to Butler merchants.

Notwithstanding nearly two feet of snow spread out everywhere, the town was overflowing all day with farmers from far and near, availing themselves of the first chance this winter of taking a sleighride to town. Even the agricultural men were showing up their binders and mowers for next harvest's service.

The Saturday night suppers are beginning to be a fixture provided by the different churches and societies. The last one was that of the ladies of the U. B. church, who served crowded tables Saturday night. The occasions are very enjoyable and are patronized by all classes.

Everything in the shape of a sleigh was brought into service Saturday night. The town was nearly depopulated. No doubt the hospitality of many of our neighbors was put to a severe test.

A report gained some credence last week that Curtis, of the canning factory, had been arrested at Seattle, Washington.

H. A. Gingery has packed up his stock of rackets and moved them to Garrett.

—Herman Hirsch has severed his interest with Levy & Co, and bought Morse's grocery, and is now a full fledged groceryman. We bespeak for him a liberal patronage, and as a more gentlemanly and courteous dealer is not found in our town.

Fred Wagner, living three miles north of Butler, has been quite sick for a short time past.

Will Plowe was taken seriously sick last Thursday morning and had to be carried to his residence. He is reported better at this writing.

Mary Carr, widow of Thomas Carr, died at the residence of her daughter, M. Garrett, about the middle of last week. Her remains were brought to Butler, and the funeral service held at M. E. church last Saturday; Rev. Frech officiating. She had passed her seventieth year. She left one son, one daughter and a number of grandchildren to mourn her departure.

You Have Seen.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin advertised for months, but have you ever tried it? If not, you do not know what an ideal stomach remedy it is. A 10c bottle, 10 doses, 10 cents, will show you its great merits as a cure for constipation, indigestion and sick headache. Regular size, 50 cents and $1 at H. B. McCord's.

SEDAN.

John VanLear made a business trip to Garrett today.

W. H. Crane and wife visited Wm. Hamilton's at Hudson yesterday.

Geo. Kruse and wife of Auburn were the guests of Henry Schuster and wife yesterday also John Kleopfel and wife.

David DeLong and family and Orrin DeLong and wife spent Sunday in Hudson with Perry DeLong and wife.

Quite a number from this place to attend meeting at Fairfield Center Saturday and Sunday evening. They report a splendid meeting.

The funeral service of Mrs. John Haney was held in the Lutheran church at this place last Saturday; Rev. Gaff officiating.

Mr. Delbert Sherlock, George Dawson and E. J. Dellenbach were the guests of S. W. Guthrie and wife Sunday.

Sam Rohm is moving to Sedan.

B. L. Rise expects to start for Kentucky some time this week. He has been delayed several days by not getting a car, the delay being caused by the deep snow.

Don't Read This... Advertisement

Unless You Want Something in the.....

Jewelry Line.

Just arrived a very few pieces of small....

Bric-a-Brac

Everything new in Jewelry. See our window.

D. A. Hodge,

MANY people have bad blood. That is because their Liver and Kidneys are sluggish and fail to carry off the waste matter. When this happens the blood is poisoned and disease sets in. To keep your blood pure take a quick relief and sure cure for disorders of the Liver, Kidneys and Bladder. Thousands use it in the spring especially. Your druggist has it. Only $1.00 a bottle.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

THE DR. J. H. McLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.
For sale by F. E. Davenport.

NERVITA PILLS Restore VITALITY, LOST VIGOR AND MANHOOD

Cure Impotency, Night Emissions and wasting diseases, all effects of self-abuse, or excess and indiscretion. A nerve tonic and blood builder. Brings the pink glow to pale cheeks and restores the fire of youth. By mail 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50; with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Send for circular. Address,

NERVITA MEDICAL CO.
Clinton & Jackson Sts., CHICAGO, ILL.
Davenport, The Druggist.

HUMPHREYS'
WITCH HAZEL
OIL

CURES
- Piles or Hemorrhoids
- Fissures & Fistulas.
- Burns & Scalds.
- Wounds & Bruises.
- Cuts & Sores.
- Boils & Tumors.
- Eczema & Eruptions.
- Salt Rheum & Tetters.
- Chapped Hands.
- Fever Blisters.
- Sore Lips & Nostrils.
- Corns & Bunions.
- Stings & Bites of Insects.

Three Sizes, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.
Sold by druggists, or sent post paid on receipt of price
HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., 111 & 113 William St., New York.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. MARCH. 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	31

N. M. 1-30. F. Q. 8th. F. M 16th. L. Q 24th.

NEWS IN BRIEF GUSTS

BLOWN IN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE EARTH.

An Important Record of the Week As Told by the Telegraph—Latest from Foreign Shores—Crimes, Casualties, Fires, Etc.

Sympathy with the Boers.

Representative Sulzer of New York, has introduced the following resolutions in the House:

Resolved, That the Republic of the United States sympathizes with the brave Boers in their struggle for freedom and independence and hereby declares that the people of the South African Republic and the Orange Free State are and of right ought to be free and independent, and the Congress of the United States hereby protests and remonstrates against the barbarous war now being waged by Great Britain against the patriots of South Africa.

And the President is hereby authorized to take such steps as may be expedient, in his judgment, to secure and bring an honorable peace between the contending parties.

Sick Man Burned to Death.

David M. Robeson was burned to death at his home, 502 Fort street, Port Huron, Mich. He had been sick for some time with malarial fever. After an alcohol bath he was tucked into bed. William B. Robeson, who was sitting in the next room, saw a flash and rushed into the bedroom. His brother was standing up in bed, a pillar of flame. William made an attempt to smother the flames. David's wife came to his assistance. Both brother and wife were forced to leave the room on account of the heat. A fire engine extinguished the flames, but the body had been burned beyond recognition. It is supposed that the alcohol became ignited in some way after the bath and set the bed on fire.

A Million Dollar Fire.

Fire swept through the retail dry goods district of Newark, N. J., destroying a score or more buildings. The loss is estimated at more than $1,000,000. Four firemen were buried under a wall at the rear of Snyder's, that fell with a terrific crash. Capt. Walter Harrison and Fireman Thos. Brown were taken out unconscious, and may be fatally injured. The other two firemen were severely injured. Although a number of people were believed to be in the Snyder store when the fire broke out, no bodies have been found.

Ambushed by Insurgents.

Manila special: A hundred insurgents, seven miles from San Fernando de la Union, ambushed ten men of the Third Cavalry, who were escorting a provision train. The Americans scattered and while returning to camp one man was killed. The insurgents captured four horses and a quantity of provisions. A subsequent reconnoissance of the locality developed the fact that there were entrenchments there and a force of Filipinos, estimated to number 800 men. The Third Cavalry is preparing to drive the insurgents out.

A Labor Holiday.

John Mitchell, President of the United Mine Workers, has issued a call addressed to all the union men of the country, requesting them to observe Saturday, March 31, as a holiday. It is the anniversary of the founding of the eight-hour workday among miners in Chicago in 1888. It is expected that 250,000 miners will cease all work on the anniversary day.

German Battleship Stranded.

Berlin special: The German battleship Sachsen is reported to have stranded near Kiel light house during a fog. In an attempt to lighten the vessel by removing some of her guns, one of these was lost. The battleship Wurtemberg, and the coast defense ironclad Aegir are endeavoring to get the Sachsen afloat.

National Editorial Association.

The National Editorial Association held its session in New Orleans. President R. H. Henry's annual report advocated a uniform advertising tariff, condemning the paper trust and trusts in general. He also urged the bringing of the larger dailies into the association.

Six Scalded to Death.

By an explosion on board the English mail packet France at Deppe, France, six of her firemen were scalded to death and four others are in a critical condition. The passengers escaped unhurt.

Receiver Appointed.

Ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant has been appointed temporary receiver of the Third Avenue Railroad Company, New York City, by Judge Lacombe of the United States Court.

Shots Went Wild.

A dispatch from Caracas, Venezuela, says an attempt was made to assassinate President Castro. The shots went wild.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

March 9—"Man of Mystery."
March 10—Walter Whiteside.

American Attache Arrives.

Consul Hay, at Pretoria, telegraphed the State Department that Capt. Carl Eichman, Fifteenth Infantry, U. S. A., who was sent to the Transvaal to report the operations of the Boer armies, has reached Pretoria and was courteously received.

Train Robber Killed.

Lon Curry, one of the train robbers who engaged in the Wilcox, Wyo., hold-up on the Union Pacific last June, when something like $90,000 was secured, was shot and killed by officers at Dodson, Mo., while resisting arrest.

Saw Lincoln Married.

Mrs. H. Hofercamp, probably the last surviving witness of the marriage of Abraham Lincoln, died at Quesnelle, B. C., of paralysis. When only 2 years old she witnessed Lincoln's marriage to Miss Todd. She went to the Pacific coast in the early '50s.

"Open Door" Assured.

Three men, John Barrett, Jacob G. Schurman and Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, speaking at Washington birthday celebrations in three different cities, announced the successful conclusion of the negotiations for the preservation of the "open door" policy in China.

SPAIN WILL NOT GET ISLANDS.

Navy Department Makes Good Its Title to Disputed Possessions.

The American flag will not come down on Sibitu Island or on Cagayan Island. Spain has been demanding that these islands be returned to it. The war department was ready to make the return and so was the state department up to the other day. The navy department was, however, unwilling to surrender anything it had taken, and has made its title good to the islands. The state department will inform Spain that the islands are the property of the United States and will hold them. Sibitu is east of Borneo and Cagayan is west of Mindoro about 200 miles. Sibitu was saved to the United States by the discovery of an old treaty between Spain, Great Britain and Germany, which specifically says that Borneo's holding shall not extend farther than three miles from the coast of Borneo. Sibitu is on the opposite side of the channel separating Borneo from the Sulu archipelago. As to Cagayan Island the records show that it was at one time used as a penal colony by Spain, and the latter is therefore stopped from denying that it was used as a part of the Philippine group.

SPRING BUSINESS ENLARGING.

Reaction from Previous Stiff and High Prices on Some Staples.

Bradstreet's reports on the business situation as follows: "General distributive trade is of satisfactory volume, though affected by weather conditions and holidays. Spring business is enlarging at many markets East and West. A softening of prices of speculatively dealt in staples is to be noted, but the reactions are of narrow extent. Money is steady as a whole and no higher than a week ago. Bank clearings comparisons are rather less favorable. Gains in railway earnings for the first two weeks of February are of absolutely phenomenal proportions. The earnings of sixty roads for the second week of February aggregate $7,941,000, an increase of 30.4 per cent. over the same period a year ago. The strength of staple values is a feature of Canadian trade. Toronto reports heavy buying of spring and summer goods. Industrial activity is very marked. Canadian factories running to their fullest capacity."

DETROIT STORES ARE BURNED.

Flames Spread Rapidly and Several Persons Narrowly Escape.

Fire which broke out in the center of the Woodward avenue shopping district at Detroit gutted the four-story building occupied by Marr & Taylor, retail dry goods, and by George C. Darwin's women's clothing emporium. Streams of water thrown from the front and rear and from adjoining roofs, aided by the protection of fire walls, prevented the fierce blaze from spreading to adjoining buildings. The blaze started in the basement from the fire of a plumber who was thawing out some pipes. It rushed up the elevator shaft and stairways so quickly that several persons narrowly escaped being burned. Marr & Taylor's loss is estimated at $70,000, fully insured; Darwin's loss, $10,000, insured; Mrs. H. S. Weaver, millinery, $2,000, partly insured; Rosenzweig & Co., shoes, $10,000, insured. The damage to the building, which is owned by Lowrie Bros., and insured for $10,000, will equal that amount.

SPEAKS WITH AN ARM BROKEN.

Mrs. Sarah Bolender Addresses Her Society, Then Calls a Surgeon.

With her right arm broken just above the wrist Mrs. Sarah Bolender, chaplain of St. Omar lodge of the Eastern Star, Wednesday delivered an address at the meeting of the grand chapter in Milwaukee. She also recited her part of the ritual with Spartan bravery. Then she quietly retired and asked that a surgeon be summoned. Her arm was broken by a fall as she was ascending the stairs to take part in the ceremony of the grand lodge installation, but she said nothing about it till the ceremony was over.

Emery Wheel Causes a Fire.

Sparks from an emery wheel falling in celluloid dust, which covered thickly the floor of the Joseph Wilcox comb works at Worcester, Mass., set the shop on fire. The dust blazed like gunpowder, and the thirty employes rushed through the flames for life. Pierce J. Sullivan, a rubber, was afterward found dead from suffocation. The loss is more than $20,000.

Rival of Tug Combination.

The Independent Tug Company has been incorporated under the laws of Ohio with a capital stock of $100,000 to compete with the tug combination known as the Great Lakes Towing Company. The organizer of the new company is Captain J. A. Sweeney of Cleveland, who has three independent tugs.

Five of One Family Killed.

The midnight express on the Lehigh Valley Railroad struck a carriage containing seven persons at Tuttle's crossing, about twenty-five miles east of Rochester, N. Y., instantly killing five of the occupants, fatally injuring another and badly bruising the other. All were members of a family.

Fatal Accident at a Paper Mill.

Boiler No. 1 at the Ypsilanti, Mich., Paper Company's Superior mill exploded shortly after the night crew had gone to work, disloding its four companion boilers and totally wrecking the boiler-house, and killing one employe, William Horton. Another, Martin Tull, was severely scalded.

$15,000 from G. C. Copeland.

G. C. Copeland got a verdict for $15,000 against the Wabash Railroad Company in the Circuit Court at Mexico, Mo. This case is the result of the Wabash wreck at Missouri City in 1897. Mr. Copeland was conductor of the wrecked passenger train.

Flour Combine Has Collapsed.

The United States milling combine, generally known as the flour trust, has gone to pieces, but the fact did not become known until Judge Jenkins in proceedings auxiliary to the United States Court of New Jersey appointed three receivers for the company.

Several Injured in a Wreck.

An extra west-bound Panhandle freight was derailed east of Dinsmore, Pa., and passenger No. 34 came along before a flagman could be sent out, and a wreck followed that injured several persons and damaged engines and cars.

Burglar Kills Merchant.

Early Thursday morning George Blick's store at Emporia, Va., was broken into. Blick was awakened and a desperate encounter ensued with the burglar, in which Blick was killed with a club. The burglar escaped.

Friction Causes a Bad Fire.

A portion of the Minetto Shade Cloth Company plant at Minetto, a suburb of Oswego, N. Y., was destroyed by fire; loss $200,000. The fire was caused by friction in the paint mill.

National Convention in Kansas City.

Bimetallists of the country will hold a convention at Kansas City July 4. Eight hundred delegates are expected to attend from all the States and territories.

Woman Loses Life in Fire.

A fire which broke out in the straw goods manufactory of S. May, 721 Arch street, Philadelphia, resulted in the loss of life of a woman employe, the injury of several girls who jumped from windows and the destruction of property valued at several hundred thousand dollars. The fire extended to the adjoining buildings and some dozen or twenty firms were burned out.

NEGRO IS TORTURED TO DEATH.

Fiendish Work of Three White Men Near Benton, Ky.—Two Arrested.

Death at the end of a rope behind a rapidly driven pair of horses was the fate of John Thomas, an aged negro who lived near Benton, Ky. The old man's tormentors and murderers were John, James and Joe Greer, who live in the Little Cypress neighborhood. They were driving to their home when they overtook Thomas, who was walking. They compelled him to get into their wagon, forced him to drink a quart of whisky, beat him over the head, and at last tied him to the wagon wheel. Driving at a furious pace, they dragged him nearly a mile, threw him into a creek, dragged him out and shot him three times and threw his body over the top of a fence, where it was found. James and Joe Greer have been arrested. John Greer made his escape.

LOSE SUIT FOR $1,000,000.

Ohio Supreme Court Decides Against Albert and Mary Field.

The Supreme Court of Ohio decided against Albert and Mary Field of Ashtabula in their suit against the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company. This decision affirmed that of the Circuit Court. Suit was begun ten years ago for damages aggregating $1,000,000 for alleged failure of the company to make certain improvements and fulfill certain pledges under which the Fields deeded to the railway company valuable lands at Ashtabula harbor, upon which are now located extensive iron docks, valued at $5,000,000. The Fields have lost in every court, and this will end the litigation.

FOUR KILLED IN EXPLOSIONS.

Two Accidents Near Sisterville, W. Va., Cause Loss of Life.

Two terrible explosions of nitroglycerin occurred near Sisterville, W. Va. By the first Edward Dalton, a well driller, and a team which he was driving were blown to pieces. The second explosion was caused by an attempt by oil men to thaw some of the explosive at Elk Fork, only a short distance from the scene of the first disaster. Three men were killed by it.

Heroic Rescue of a Boy.

At Peru, Ind., Charles Hardwick, 14 years of age, rescued his mother and three sisters from their burning home. He awoke just as the roof fell and saved himself by jumping from the second-story window. Remembering his mother and sisters were still in the burning house he fought his way through the flames and succeeded in getting them out just as the house collapsed.

After His Long Fast.

In New York Milton Rathbun fasted for thirty-five days, ate heartily. During the time of his fast Mr. Rathbun drank about three pints of water daily, but abstained entirely from food. He weighs 164 pounds now, as against 207 when he began his fast.

Big Factory Building Burns.

Fire destroyed the four-story brick factory building at 51-55 Jefferson street, Chicago, causing a loss of $30,000 on the building, owned by George W. Newberry, and about $35,000 to the several occupants.

To Investigate Officials.

The common council at Indianapolis took the necessary formal steps looking to an investigation that will include all the departments of the city government, and all acts, official and unofficial, of city boards and officials.

Mexican Cattle for Cuba.

American cattle buyers have contracted for 30,000 head of beef cattle in Chihuahua, Mex., for shipment to Cuba. They are to be shipped in lots of 1,000 head a week, the first shipments having been made.

Rival for Carnegie's Plant.

H. C. Frick, Henry Phipps, Jr., John Walker and F. T. F. Lovejoy will in the near future erect a steel plant on Monongahela river frontage, just below Monongahela City, Pa.

Big Fire in Montreal.

The Theater Francais and nearly the entire block on St. Catharine street, between St. Dominique and Cadieux streets, Montreal, was burned. The total loss is about $100,000.

Handsome Residence Burned.

The handsome residence of Robert Johnson, a retired dry goods merchant of New York, on the Hudson at Mount St. Vincent, N. Y., was burned. The damage is $100,000.

Big Mill Destroyed by Fire.

The works of the Maritime Milling Company at New Glasgow, N. S., were destroyed by fire, together with a grain elevator and thousands of bushels of grain. Loss $150,000.

Cronje Has Surrendered.

The London war office announces that Gen. Cronje has surrendered his whole force unconditionally.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 65c to 67c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 36c; oats, No. 2, 23c to 24c; rye, No. 2, 51c to 53c; butter, choice creamery, 22c to 24c; eggs, fresh, 13c to 15c; potatoes, choice, 38c to 50c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, 68c to 70c; corn, No. 2 white, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 28c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 32c to 34c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $2.50 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 37c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 59c to 61c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 37c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 28c; rye, 58c to 60c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 70c to 71c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 23c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 58c to 59c; clover seed, new, $5.65 to $5.75.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 63c to 65c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 25c to 26c; rye, No. 1, 56c to 58c; barley, No. 2, 45c to 46c; pork, mess, $10.50 to $11.00.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.25; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.50; heep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.50; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $7.75.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.50; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 75c to 77c; corn, No. 2, 41c to 43c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 32c; butter, creamery, 20c to 25c; eggs, western, 14c to 16c.

BOER ARMY YIELDS

General Cronje Surrenders Unconditionally.

FIERCE FIGHT ENDS.

Stubborn Ten Days' Battle Results in Victory for British Arms.

Hopelessly Cornered and Subjected to a Most Terrible Artillery Fire for Ten Long Days and Nights, the Boer Commander, with His Entire Force, Is Finally Forced to Capitulate to Lord Roberts.

The unconditional surrender of Gen. Cronje and his force, numbering 4,000 men, was officially announced by the British war office early Tuesday morning. Gen. Cronje, commandant of a Boer army estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000 men, retreated from Modder River toward Bloemfontein, the capital of the Orange Free State, when Gen. French, with British troops, effected the relief of Kimberley. Gens. Kelly-Kenny and Kitchener managed to head off the retreat. Gen. French came to their aid from Kimberley and Lord Roberts concentrated his whole British force about the cornered Boer army. Fighting was kept up almost incessantly for ten days, ending with Cronje's surrender.

At daybreak Tuesday morning the British were preparing to renew the bombardment of the Boer laager when an officer arrived from Gen. Cronje offering surrender and asking a safe conduct for the women and children who accompanied the army. The request was granted. Immediately upon receipt of the news in London the Queen and Government officials wired their congratulations to Lord

GENERAL KITCHENER.

Roberts and his victorious army. For six days the Boer army was practically at the mercy of the British, but Lord Roberts treated the burghers with great consideration from humane motives.

Surrounded by ten times their number, cut off from re-enforcements and supplies, subjected to a concentrated artillery and machine-gun fire that for fierceness and effectiveness probably has not been equaled in history, burrowing like rabbits in a river bank, and threatened by a flood that might burst on them at any time and drown them out like rats, the Boers held out for over a week, and saw one relieving force after another broken up and scattered by the superior strength of the enemy. A week in such a situation is a long time. It would have been a great achievement to hold that position for three days. But they had to yield at last. Gen. Cronje himself was received by Lord Roberts with the greatest courtesy and sympathy.

Lord Roberts will exchange a large number of the Boer prisoners captured for British prisoners held in Pretoria. At last accounts the Boers held as prisoners 193 officers and 2,669 men. These will be swapped for an equal number of Boer prisoners. Gen. Cronje will be held a prisoner of war at Cape Town, as the Boers have no officer of his rank to exchange for him.

CONFIDENCE IN ROBERTS.

British Faith in "Bobs" Is Strengthened by the Recent Victory.

Now that one of the most formidable of the Boer generals has been summarily disposed of, the London war critics are justifying their confidence in "Bobs," whose good luck is proverbial, but is in reality an infinite capacity for taking pains. They point out that it took only ten days to compel the surrender of the Boers at Paardeburg, while Mafeking, Ladysmith and Kimberley, with very inferior forces, have held out for four months. The comparison seems to gratify the national pride, somewhat humbled as it has been by recent reverses and hostile foreign criticism.

The capture of Gen. Cronje and his troops cannot fail to have an immediate effect on the war. Gen. Cronje's name was one wherewith to conjure. During the war of 1880-1 Cronje besieged Potchefstroom. After a long and gallant resistance the garrison was forced to surrender eight days after peace had been declared. During all that time Cronje had concealed the news from the British commander. His conduct in placing British prisoners in the trenches, where they were killed by the fire of their countrymen, earned for him the hatred of the British.

Whatever the effect of this surrender may have on the war, there is little doubt of the attitude of the British public. One and all seem to think this is the beginning of the end. They anticipate some fighting in Natal and a hard campaign in the Transvaal, but they claim that the tide is finally turned in favor of the imperial army. It appears to be the almost universal opinion that the Boers will not be able to cope with the shrewd, comprehensive generalship of Lords Roberts and Kitchener.

ANNIVERSARY OF MAJUBA.

Noteworthy Coincident of the Surrender of Cronje's Army.

Those who take note of coincidences point out that the surrender of Cronje and his men took place on the anniversary of Majuba Hill, a minor British defeat at the hands of the Boers which has had far-reaching consequences. Majuba has been flaunted in British faces during the last nineteen years, and there is little doubt that the British are glad the old score is now more than even. How deeply this old defeat has sunk in British hearts is seen from the fact that even Lord Roberts, in his communication to the war office, says: "I hope that her majesty's government will consider this event satisfactory, occurring, as it did, on the anniversary of Majuba."

ARTILLERY CROSSING LITTLE TUGELA RIVER UNDER FIRE.

—London Graphic.

JOY IN LONDON.

News of Cronje's Surrender Received with Wild Demonstrations.

The news of Gen. Cronje's surrender reached London Tuesday morning during a sudden downpour of rain and spread by word of mouth almost before the extra papers appeared. Englishmen thawed at once. Absolute strangers stopped in the streets, shook hands and slapped each others' backs. In office buildings some went down the corridors hammering doors and shouting the glad tidings. Many rushed to the telegraph offices, while excited throngs blocked the windows and flags were run up everywhere.

A stranger entering London would not have known the town. The usual staid Englishman for the moment was insane with joy. Proceedings on the stock exchange opened with the singing of "God Save the Queen," and then the jubilant brokers cheered Roberts, Kitchener and everybody connected with the war again and again.

Pall Mall was thronged, and the war office packed with shouting and cheering crowds. Congratulations were exchanged on every side. It was really the first chance the public has had to jubilate, and no one seemed to neglect the opportunity. The fact that it was the anniversary of the battle of Majuba Hill added to the effectiveness of the news, carrying as it did the avenging of the disastrous defeat the British had sustained nineteen years ago. Gen. Cronje's surrender will have a far-reaching effect. It opens the southern Free State to the British and isolates the Boers in northern Cape Colony. The Boers, it is known, are now collecting for the defense of Bloemfontein, where another battle is likely to occur, but the Transvaal is still untouched. A stubborn resistance is expected there.

Cronje left Maagersfontein with his army on the night of Thursday, Feb. 15, trekking eastward across the front of Roberts' big army and eluding the cavalry of Gen. French. Roberts soon got wind of the fact that his bird was fleeing and the mounted infantry started in pursuit. The infantry under Kelly-Kenny followed by forced marches and Cronje was caught up with in the bed of the Modder river in the vicinity of Koodoesrand Drift. His rear guard put up a brilliant fight while Cronje was making hasty preparations for a stand.

Although his position was regarded as hopeless after Roberts caught up with him, military men could see a method in the madness of Cronje's resistance. By occupying the attention of Roberts' main force the gallant Cronje gave the Boers time to hurry re-enforcements to Bloemfontein and to make strong a second line of defense. Cronje's surrender was inevitable. His force was surrounded by from 30,000 to 50,000 British with upwards of 100 guns. The wonder is that the Boers were able to hold out as long as they did.

On Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 17 and 18, an attempt was made to take Cronje's position by assault, but again the Boers demonstrated their ability to stand off infantry attack, and the British were treated to a deadly fire against which they could not advance. On Monday, Feb. 19, Gen. Roberts arrived. He saw the futility of attempting to storm the Boer position and ordered a cessation of these tactics. Instead, he brought up the artillery around the Boer laager and opened a terrific bombardment, meanwhile employing the infantry in an attack on the Boer re-enforcements who were coming to Cronje's relief. Until Thursday the bombardment continued unabated and it was reported that the beleaguered "Lion of Africa" was ready to surrender. These reports, however, proved premature. After Friday the British bombardment slackened, Roberts evidently thinking it poor policy even if good war, to turn the little Boer camp into a shamble.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts, V. C., the commander-in-chief of the British forces in South Africa, to whom Gen. Cronje surrendered, was born in Cawnpore, India, in 1832. His early years were spent in England. He did not know his father until he was 20 years of age. He received a splendid military education in England. The success he won in the Indian mutiny led to his eventual promotion to be commander-in-chief of the Indian army. Roberts is quiet and retiring, cool and a keen observer. He says little and appears to be always thinking out a great plan. He is a devoted husband. His love for his only son did not prevent his unremitting zeal in perfecting the South African campaign after the news was sent to him that his son had fallen in battle.

FINE CONVENTION HALL.

Kansas City Has Good Accommodations for Democrats.

The convention hall at Kansas City, where the Democratic convention will be held July 4, is one of the finest in the country. It was opened a year ago. The building is of bridge construction without a column to interfere with the view from any part of the auditorium. The roof is supported by great steel girders. The general seating arrangement is modeled somewhat after the plan of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York.

KANSAS CITY'S CONVENTION HALL.

The floor space is divided into arena, arena balcony, balcony and roof garden, boxes skirting the arena and the arena balcony. The stage is situated in the center of the arena. The total seating capacity is nearly 20,000, and, with standing room, the building is capable of holding more than 22,000 persons. The arena alone will seat 4,000. To each side of the arena and under the first balcony are numerous committee rooms, which have their separate street entrances. The building has no stairways, the upper seatings being reached by means of inclined planes. Separate exits are used for the balconies and roof garden, and it is estimated the hall can be emptied at the rate of 5,000 persons a minute.

MAY CLASH OVER THE CANAL.

Evidence of Friction Between Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

The United States Government is making an effort to bring about a better understanding between Nicaragua and Costa Rica, with a view to removing possible obstacles in the construction of the Nicaraguan canal. Despite denials, the Government has reason to believe that there is friction between Nicaragua and Costa Rica, and the supposition is that the canal question is involved in some way. The State Department and the Navy Department have unofficial information, and the naval authorities are watching for developments, with a view to sending warships to Central America if trouble is imminent. Officially the Government, it is said, knows only that the Costa Rica refugees are preparing to cross from Nicaragua to their own country to start a revolution.

Told in a Few Lines.

Kalamazoo, Mich., raised $1,000 for the Boers.

Georgia is experiencing the most prosperous winter in a score of years.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has decided to raise the wages of all engineers.

Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, exploiter of the "Christian newspaper" idea, may be called to share the pulpit of the Chicago church formerly occupied by Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis.

LADYSMITH IS FREE

General Buller Lifts the Long Siege.

ENDS HARD CAMPAIGN

Official Announcement of Victory Made by London War Office.

Victory Comes After Months of Fighting—Brief Account of the Siege and Efforts at Relief—Gen. White Penned in Ladysmith Oct. 30 After Disaster to British Arms—Reward of British General's Valor and Perseverance.

It is officially announced in London that Ladysmith has been relieved. The war office has received the following dispatch from Gen. Buller: "Lyttleton's headquarters.—Gen. Dundonald, with the Natal Carbineers and a composite regiment, has entered Ladysmith."

The events which led up to the siege of Ladysmith began with the pouring of Boer forces into Natal by way of Laing's Nek and of Free State forces through Van Reenan's pass immediately after the war began on Oct. 12. The attack on Glencoe Oct. 20 resulted in a reverse for the British, their commander, Gen. Symons, being mortally wounded. The British found their position untenable, and under the leadership of Gen. Yule they retreated toward Ladysmith, the force of 4,000 men being in imminent danger of destruction by the Boers. To guard the retreat a force of British from Ladysmith under Gen. French fought the battle of Elandslaagte on Oct. 21, which resulted in a victory for the British, the Boers being routed and their commander, Gen. Kock, being mortally wounded. Gen. Yule arrived safely at Ladysmith on Oct. 26, after a severe march.

In the meantime the Boers continued to gather in Natal and by Oct. 30 were strongly posted on three sides of the city. Gen. Sir George Stewart White, who commanded the forces at Ladysmith on that day, moved out all his force in an effort to break through the Boer lines and rout them, but the left wing of his command, composed of the First battalion of the Royal Irish fusiliers, the First battalion of the Gloucestershire regiment and the Tenth mountain battery, was surrounded by the Boers at Nicholson's Nek and compelled to surrender. The other British troops were driven back by the Boers, and from that time Ladysmith was under siege. By Nov. 1 the city was well invested. The day before a naval brigade had arrived from Durban with some powerful guns, taken from the warships. These guns proved invaluable in the long siege which followed, as they were the only weapons in Ladysmith which could compare in power with the magnificent artillery used by the Boers in shelling the city. On Nov. 2 the communications were cut south of Ladysmith.

On Nov. 4 the British evacuated Colenso, which guarded the bridge crossing the Tugela river. The Boers crossed the Tugela and raided through Natal to the outskirts of the British camp at Estcourt and beyond, threatening even to attack the capital of Natal, Pietermaritzburg. The British forces began to arrive from England, and under command first of Gen. Cleary and later of Gen. Buller organized at Frere and Chieveley station for the advance to the relief of Ladysmith.

After collecting an army of about 12,000 men Gen. Buller on Dec. 15 advanced to attack the Boers at Colenso under Gen. Schalkburger and along the Tugela river in an attempt to force the crossing of that stream. A severe battle followed, in which the British showed bad leadership and were defeated at every point with heavy loss of men and the capture of eleven cannon.

Gen. Buller began his great movement toward the relief of Ladysmith Jan. 13. Gen. Warren, with 11,000 men, made a detour toward Weenen, but it was three days later before the British troops began to get across the Tugela. Lyttleton's brigade, a battery of field artillery and a howitzer battery crossed in the center, while Gen. Warren's command to the left crossed on pontoons. Lyttleton continued the advance under a heavy artillery fire from the Boers. At the same time Gen. Warren's division met with strong resistance. There was hard fighting for nearly a week, and on Jan. 24 Gen. Warren captured Spion kop. Jan. 25 the Boers recaptured Spion kop, and immediately afterward Warren's troops moved back across the Tugela. The Boers captured 1,308 prisoners.

At this point in the campaign many of the English officers advised abandoning the relief of Ladysmith. On Jan. 30 Gen. Buller sent out another reconnoissance, and on Feb. 2 the British recrossed the Tugela river and attacked the Boers two days later. The Boers secured an advantageous position and checked the advance of the British for the time. More fighting followed. The Boers for the first time took the offensive against Gen. Buller. The two forces engaged in light skirmishes, Gen. Buller trying to keep the Boers so busy that none could be spared to assist Gen. Cronje, who had taken charge of the federal troops at Modder river.

On Feb. 15 Gen. Buller began an advance to Ladysmith, and began to fight his way toward the besieged city. Position after position was captured by the British, and two days later the Boers began moving their large guns from the hills surrounding the city, evidently fearful lest they could not hold back the British when the rush began to Ladysmith.

Telegraphic Brevities.

The Comptroller of the Currency levied an assessment of 100 per cent. on the capital stock of the Globe National Bank of Boston.

The ashes of Walter S. Blanchard, founder of the Corinthian Yacht Club, were scattered to the winds from the main mast of the ship Shenandoah, in San Francisco Bay.

Mount San Piedra, near Santiago, Cuba, was recently covered with snow for the first time in thirty years. Excursions were run to the mountain to give the Cubans a view of the snow.

An Egyptian, who has just arrived in New York to join a dime museum exhibition is 7 feet 11 inches tall. He is only 23 years old.

Gerald Lapiner, central figure in most noted kidnaping case in recent years, was rescued from flames by father in his home in Chicago.

There is a peculiar sect known as Zionists in Ontario, Canada. The cardinal doctrine of their creed is that hogs are possessed by devils, and should, therefore, be killed. The Zionist farmers, in some instances, have joined together, driven all their hogs into one place and there killed them, in no instance allowing any of the meat to be used as food.

THE BROOKLET.

"Oh, silver brooklet, flowing clear,
Forever speeding past me here.
I stand, and ponder on thy flow;
Whence comest thou? Where dost thou go?"

"From out the rock's deep heart I glide,
O'er flowers and moss my course I guide;
There floats upon my mirror true,
The picture of the heaven's blue.

"So, like a child without a care,
I bound along, I know not where;
He will, I trust, my Leader be,
Who from earth's bosom summoned me."
—Goethe.

Mrs. Luther Wilkins.

THE postmaster smiled a little when he passed out the mail, but Luther Wilkins did not notice. He was trying to remember whether it was a yeast cake or a pound of cheese he had meant to get at the store.

He went out of the postoffice still pondering and ended by forgetting both articles, his attention being diverted by the sight of two boys playing marbles on the sidewalks. This was the first sign of spring Luther had seen, so it was no wonder that his memory played him false.

After he had got home and had eaten his supper he thought of the mail in his overcoat pocket. He brought it to the table and sat down to examine it. There was the weekly county paper, a poultry journal, an agricultural monthly, and last of all a letter.

"Well, now," said Luther, picking it up, "I wonder who's been writing to me. I don't know when I've had a letter."

He looked at it eagerly, held it nearer his eyes, then farther off. He removed his glasses and polished them in nervous haste. After replacing them on his nose he picked up the letter again and scanned it narrowly, then he looked over his glasses as if at some person and said:

HE STUDIED THE ENVELOPE WITH RENEWED INTEREST.

"I snum!"

He sank into a reverie, out of which he roused himself with a start to study the envelope with renewed interest.

"Mrs. Luther Wilkins," he said. "Mrs. Luther Wilkins. And I an old bachelor who never so much as hardly thought of getting married! Mrs. Luther Wilkins, why, where is she? And who is she?"

"Well, I guess I'll see what's in it." He inserted the point of his knife under the corner of the envelope flap, then he hesitated.

"What business have I opening of her letters?" he asked himself. "I never did open other folks' letters, and I guess I won't begin now." He rose to his feet and carrying it to the mantelpiece leaned it up against the clock.

He settled himself to his papers, but thoughts of Mrs. Luther Wilkins kept intruding on what he was reading about patent nest-boxes, and, underdraining and the news of the village.

Thereafter during all his waking hours, Mrs. Luther Wilkins was often in his thoughts. She even haunted his dreams at times. He wondered what she was like, and he thought of the kind of woman he would wish her to be, and enjoyed himself very much in imagining how it would seem to have her meet him at the door when he came in from the fields, and how nice it would be not to have to get his own meals.

At first he was a little cynical and told himself that the imagining was much more satisfactory than the reality would be, but after awhile he changed his mind, and would sigh heavily when he came into his lonesome house.

The letter by the clock, too, began to trouble him. He had a devouring curiosity to see what was in it, and besides it did not seem just right to keep it so long before delivering it.

One evening in June Luther put on his best clothes and walked three miles to see an old schoolmate who had an unmarried cousin living with him. It seemed to him that Eliza Elliott fitted in exactly with his idea of Mrs. Luther Wilkins.

He came home quite early very much disappointed. Eliza wouldn't do at all.

He worked doggedly for a month, trying hard not to think of the disquieting subject. It was no use, and toward the end of July it was observed that Luther was becoming very neighborly. He spent his evenings at different neighbors' houses, he accepted intations to tea, he went to church regularly and to all Sunday school picnics. And still he could not find a suitable owner for the letter.

"I must me terribly fussy," he sighed. "I've got acquainted with about all the women in town; they're nice women, every one of them, but somehow they don't suit me. I guess I'll have to give up beat."

It was one cold, raw day in early November that Luther sat at a window making clumsy attempts at mending a pair of very ragged socks. Happening to glance across the road he saw a woman out in Hammond's yard. She was busy raking up the fallen autumn leaves.

"Letitia Hammond," Luther commented, "Bill Hammond's sister. We don't see much of her lately. She don't even go to church, there's so many of Bill's children to look after, and Bill's wife is so took up with her clubs and things. It's hard on Letitia, but she never finds a word of fault."

The sock he was mending fell to the floor, and the wooden egg inside it struck with such a loud bang that the cat started in his sleep. Luther did not notice. He was standing at the window staring out.

"'That is best which lieth nearest,'" he said, solemnly. "What a fool I've been."

He found his hat and left the house, almost running across the road. He took the iron rake away from Letitia gently. "That's too hard work for a little thing like you," he said.

Letitia's blue eyes were full of wonder, but she yielded up the rake weakly.

"You'd better go into the house, too," said Luther. "It's cold out here."

No one had been thoughtful of her before for a long time, and Letitia couldn't understand it. When Luther returned the rake she asked him to let her do something for him.

He carried her his best pair of socks. She was horrified at their condition, and mended them in a very artistic manner.

Luther looked at them in wonder and reverence. "I'll never wear 'em," he said, when he was at home again. "I wouldn't have let her do it, only I knew it would make her feel better, and it gave me a chance to see her, too."

He found that it was an easy matter to invent excuses for seeing her, and finally, some time in the winter, he asked her, in fear and trembling, if she would be Mrs. Luther Wilkins.

At first she was afraid it would not be right to abandon her brother's children, but her scruples melted away before the warmth of his eloquence. Then she confessed that she was tired.

"It is so long that I have had to take care of other folks, and it will seem like heaven to have some one to take care of me."

So it happened that in a little less than a year the letter to Mrs. Luther Wilkins was given to its rightful owner. "Circumstances over which I had no control have prevented you from getting it before," Luther said.

"Why, it's nothing but an advertisement of some preparation of cereals," she said, when she had opened it.

Luther looked blank.

"THAT'S TOO HARD WORK FOR A LITTLE THING LIKE YOU," HE SAID.

"I see how it is," she said, after a moment's thought. "They sent to the different grocers for lists of their customers, and then sent these circulars to their wives."

"Let's keep it," said Luther, softly. "If it hadn't been for that——"

"Yes, we'll keep it," said Letitia, blushing.

A Sympathetic Princess.

The following story about the Archduchess Valerie of Austria is told by the Vienna correspondent of the London Morning Post: A short time ago a 13-year-old schoolboy was summoned home from his boarding school at Linz The lad was without traveling companions, and, while waiting on the platform at Linz, began to cry bitterly. His distress was noticed by a lady in a first-class compartment, who summoned the guard and had the boy brought to her. She paid his excess fare for traveling first class, and devoted herself to the task of comforting him and relieving the tedium of the long journey to Vienna, to attend his father's funeral in Vienna, telling him that she, too, had suffered much from the loss of a parent, who had died suddenly and unexpectedly in a foreign land. The schoolboy was not a little astonished at the end of the journey to learn that the kind-hearted lady was the Archduchess Valerie, daughter of the Emperor.

Pekin's Unenviable Distinction.

The three chief characterisitcs of Pekin, the Chinese capital, which most impress the newly arived visitor are dust, stench and dogs.

When a dressmaker goes to a house, everytime she sees the husband she looks at him in a way which seems to say, "You should have attended to this long ago!"

A SAMPLE OF BOER FORTIFICATIONS.

INTERIOR OF THE JOHANNESBURG FORT.

Mr. James Hay, formerly president of the Johannesburg Chamber of Mines, who recently visited London, stated to an interviewer in Cape Town, some time previously, that when the Boers have had their first big defeat they will go to Johannesburg and level it with the ground. To do this Oom Paul's faithful burghers will, of course, have to make use of the fort which for so long a time has presented a threatening front to the unarmed and helpless inhabitants of the town. The fort, by the by, was finished in the middle of the year 1897, and its origin is said to have been due to the ever-to-be-lamented Jameson raid.

The fort occupies a commanding position on top of a hill. It is rectangular in shape, with two bastions at opposing corners. On each bastion is mounted a 23-centimeter quick-firing gun, with two flanking Maxims for enfilade fire. On the side looking toward Barnato Park are four small quick-firing guns. On the opposite side towards Johannesburg is the entrance which traverses the rampart at an angle of 45 degrees. Right and left of this, within the court, are stables. Under the bastion on the right are barracks and a magazine, the corresponding position beneath the other bastion being occupied by officers' rooms and another magazine. Whether these elaborate preparations for the destruction of Johannesburg have been made in vain is at present a nice speculative point. It may be that when the British forces appear before the Gold Reef City Johannesburg of the nineties will be no more.—Illustrated London News.

HOW TO CARE FOR UMBRELLAS.

Hints from a Manufacturer Which May Prolong Their Usefulness.

Manufacturers and jobbers of umbrellas say that there were more umbrellas sold during the past year than for the past five years. Especially is this true in Baltimore of the finer grades of goods, for which the demand has been unusually great. Retailers did a remarkably large holiday trade, and, of course, the manufacturers and jobbers profited by it.

While Baltimore does not rank high as a manufacturing center for umbrellas in point of numbers, its reputation depends on the fine quality of goods made up in this city. It is estimated that over 500 hands are steadily engaged in the manufacture of umbrellas in Baltimore, and that an average of 5,000 complete umbrellas are turned out every week. During some seasons the figures are greater or less, but that is the average production.

Like many other articles of manufacture, the making of umbrellas has been reduced to the assembling of the parts and turning out the complete shelter from the rain. One firm makes the stel tubing which nowadays forms the "stick" of the umbrellas, another turns out the ribs, another the various fancy handles and so on through the list. Silks and other materials for the covers are cut and sewed in the factory, where the other parts are brought by the thousand and put together. To such a degree of perfection has the machinery been brought for making the various parts of an umbrella that it is said that it is actually cheaper to make a new umbrella than to repair an old one. That is to say, that in the time taken by a workman to repair an umbrella he can turn out probably half a dozen new ones complete.

Recent sales show that while Baltimoreans prefer the better qualities of silk covering for umbrellas, they favor natural wood handles or those tipped with pearl for ladies' umbrellas. For men the demand is for the combinations in ivory handles, next to the natural wood sticks and the silver-mounted wood handles.

A manufacturer gives three points about the care of umbrellas which will tend to their lasting longer while in service. In the first place an umbrella should not be tightly rolled and then put in a close cover unless it is desired to have the silk cut to pieces in every fold. Even when lying in stock it is said that tightly rolled silk umbrellas will cut out in a few weeks. The other precaution is to open an umbrella when it has been wet and let dry while spread open. This will prevent the water gathering in the folds and rotting the fabric which forms the covering.—Baltimore Sun.

Sizes for Flower Pots.

An error very frequently made in repotting palms and other ornamental plants is in transferring them into pots entirely too large in comparison with the one last used, says the Woman's Home Companion. The sizes of different pots are calculated by inches. The smallest pot in use is commonly called by the florist a "thumb-pot," and measures about one and one-half inches in diameter at the top. Into this he pots many of his newly rooted cuttings, and as soon as they fill the soil pretty well with roots he shifts them to the next size, a two-inch pot. From this they increase, by half inches, and it is always well to use the next size above that last used.

After the plant has attained such proportions that it requres something larger than a nine or ten inch pot, it is better to use a tub, and just here is where the mistake is often made. A much larger tub or pot than a plant really requires often retards rather than advances its growth. Very often the florist, when he has a plant that does not seem to be doing well, will remove it from the pot, shake off the soil from the roots, and repot it into a size smaller than it formerly occupied until it starts into more active growth.

New Latin Dictionary.

Philologists in Germany have united to bring out a complete Latin dictionary, a "Thesaurus Lingual Latinae," and expect to begin printing next fall. The standard is still Forcellini and Facciolati's "Lexicon Totius Latinitatis," compiled 150 years ago and revised repeatedly by Italian scholars.

Siamese Fear of Even Numbers.

The Siamese have so strong a superstition against even numbers that they will have none of them. The number of rooms in a house, of windows or doors in a room, even of rungs on a ladder, must always be odd.

It is a great bore to receive a "beautiful" letter.

HELIOGRAPH IN WAR.

MESSAGES SENT BY A SYSTEM OF SUN FLASHING.

Little Instrument of Ancient Invention Has Played an Important Part in the South African War—Used by General Miles in Indian Campaigns.

The hellotrope, or heliograph, has played an important part in the South African war. With this little instrument the light of the sun is used to convey intelligence to points far distant. Communication between places many miles apart can be set up by its use. The mirror used has a small eyehole cut into the quicksilver, through which the distant station is located. The mirror disk is turned by means of a Morse key, and in answering the key a dot or a dash, in the way of a long or short flash, is sent out. These flashes are read by the person at the receiving end with the ease of a telegraph operator taking a message. The heliograph was invented in 1821 by Gauss, who used it as a signal in the measurement of angles. The longer the line the larger must be the disk. The longest line thus far observed is 192 miles, which was observed in California, and required a mirror of seventy-seven square inches in area. Ordinary heliotropes used on lines less than fifty miles in length are only about two square inches in area. For its successful operation clear atmosphere is necessary. Two hours before sunset is the most favorable time.

U. S. ARMY HELIOGRAPH CORPS.

The military value of the heliographic method of transmitting information may be readily imagined. Its first advantage is its extreme simplicity. It does not necessitate the keeping open of lines of communication, there are no wires to protect, no batteries to look after and no burdensome apparatus to carry about.

The Indians of America, like the old warriors of the Scotch highlands, realized the importance of signal fires in war time and made use of a code of fire flashes; but it was not until 1822 that Colonel Colby of the British Royal engineers devised a more adequate system for transmitting messages by sun flashes. His method of doing this was by nailing a certain number of pieces of bright tin on poles and exposing them to the sun's rays. Some time later this was improved on by the adoption of a plain mirror. In 1833 an English officer at Gibraltar used an ordinary looking glass to reflect flashes across the strait to Tangier, thereby carrying on a long distance conversation with other English officers in Africa.

This mirror system was experimented with and improved upon until the year 1878, when the United States government purchased the latest models and began the instruction of a special signal corps in heliography. The military value of such sun writing was well known when, in 1886, General Miles began his Indian campaign against Geronimo. If the truth were only known, it was the heliograph more than anything else that led to the rounding up and capture of the famous, blood-drinking red man. One can imagine the surprise of the Indians when they found that they could not move without the fact being known to the Americans and the movement mysteriously anticipated. Signal parties, in fact, were flashing hourly information from mountain peak to mountain peak, and the Indian warrior's headquarters were always known at Miles' camp. Through the use of the heliograph Geronimo was kept away from water by rapidly stationed and mobile bands of troops and was finally parched into submission.

The English army had already been making use of the heliograph in Afghanistan, and during the Boer war of twenty years made effective use of the Mance heliographic apparatus. The great service this means of communication has been to the different British commanders besieged by the Boers in the present South African was is very well known.

The field heliograph apparatus, as used to-day, consists of a sole leather pouch containing a sun mirror and a station mirror, a small screen or shutter, a sighting rod and two small tripod stands for the mirrors. The entire apparatus does not weigh over ten pounds and can easily be carried over the arm. When the air is clear, signals may be easily taken by the naked eye at a distance of 100 miles and by an expert at the rate of fifteen words a minute.

USE OF THE HELIOGRAPH IN SOUTH AFRICA.

HIS IDEAL WOMAN.

Not So Much of an Angel as a Sympathetic, All-Forgiving Human.

"Man has a number of fixed, old-fashioned notions about the ideal woman which are quite apart from questions of complexion and dress," writes Carrie E. Garrett in the Woman's Home Companion.

"The sober truth is that while men may seek diversion with the more showy, flippant type of girl, and are often caught by mere glitter, they have an ideal far, far above this cheap type which is imperishable. A man does not picture a completely limp and characterless creature as his soul's ideal, however 'sweet.' Yet the woman as she appears in his dreams is not too clever. It is a pleasure to him to be a little superior to his mate—to be 'looked up to'—and as the true woman desires to 'look up,' it is clear that Nature's arrangements in these matters are not without design. The most charming woman of all is she who has the consummate wit to seem to 'look up' when really she stands on a level with the man who loves her, or perchance a little above him.

"One thing imperatively demanded in the make-up of the ideal woman is sympathy—that all-divining, all-forgiving quality which makes the whole world akin. Sympathy is one of the prime factors of charm. So is humor. A man is fearfully lonesome when his wife cannot see his jokes. She could hardly offer him a more deadly affront than to laugh in the wrong place at one of his pet stories. The ideal woman is religious—has the wise, sweet, old-fashioned notions about right and wrong. A man is quite capable of making merry over his wife's scruples of conscience, but I think he would be rather disappointed if she had no scruples—if in his worldly way she was guided chiefly by expedience. He may not say many prayers himself, but he likes to know that his children pray at their mother's knee. Perhaps he sometimes reflects that the nightly petition from innocent lips, 'God bless father,' may not be quite empty of meaning."

How a Duke Earned Sixpence.

How the Duke of Norfolk, one of the richest of England's peers, earned his first sixpence is related by his friends with a great deal of gusto.

A few years ago a large English party headed by the Duke went on a continental tour. The Duke busied himself very much on the journey in a kind-hearted way about the welfare of everyone in the party. At every station he used to get out and go round to see if he could do anything for anyone. One old lady, who did not know him when she arrived at last in Rome, tired and hot, found great difficulty in getting a porter. So she seized on the Duke. "Now, my good man," she said, "I've noticed you at all these stations loafing about. Just make yourself for once in your life. Take my bag and find me a cab." The Duke mildly did as he was bid and was rewarded with a sixpence. "Thank you, madam," he said; "I shall prize this indeed! It is the first coin I have ever earned in my life."

Paid Duty on a Mouse.

Uncle Sam is a stern stickler for form and the amount of red tape employed in the custom house is really remarkable. It was demonstrated the other day that not even a tiny mouse can creep into our domains from foreign shores without paying duty. A gentleman returning from Europe brought with him to Philadelphia a pet white mouse, of which he had grown very fond. His "mouselets" was assessed at 20 per cent., which so enraged the owner that he vigorously protested. This case was appealed and, the board of classification of general appraisers, after mature deliberation in solemn conclave, handed down a decision in which the protest was overruled.

Queen Victoria's Three Crowns.

Queen Victoria has three crowns, none of which is used except on extraordinary occasions. The crown which she wore in the last grand reception weighs eight ounces. It is of pure gold and set with 2,673 diamonds and with 523 rubies. The other two crowns are simple bands of gold, each set with gorgeous jewels. It is one of these latter crowns which is worn when the Queen opens PUarliament. When she appears in the House of Lords the large crown is taken from its place among the crown jewels in the tower of London and borne on a velvet cushion ahead of the Queen.

Color in Medical Practice.

The use of colors as a part of medical treatment is not a new one. Red light, for example, has been recently advocated in the treatment of measles and smallpox. Jean Gaddesden cured the son of Henry I., King of England, of smallpox by surrounding the Prince with scarlet, clothing him in scarlet as well as all his attendants, and having red carpets and hangings in the room. The record shows this succeeded so well that his face was not even scarred.

Not an Athletic Statesman.

Joseph Chamberlain's distaste for physical exercise is as marked as his passiol for orchids. At no period in his life has he indulged in any form of sport, and walking is his special aversion. Practically the longest walk he takes when in London is from Prince's gardens to his clubs in Pall Mall or St. James street. To his sedentary habits he adds a love for smoking black cigars and drinking tea.

Dublin an Unhealthy City.

Dublin has the unhappy prominence of being at present the most unhealthy city in the United Kingdom.

Every one who owns a dog boasts that his dog knows more than most grown persons.

OUR BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SAYINGS AND DOINGS HERE AND THERE.

Jokes and Jokelets that Are Supposed to Have Been Recently Born—Sayings and Doings that Are Old, Curious and Laughable—The Week's Humor.

Penelope—Mr. Brown is the most entertaining man I have met for a long time.

Aphrodite—Why, I thought him very stupid.

Penelope—Oh, you are mistaken. Why, last night he called and I succeeded in convincing him that we are now in the twentieth century. He was skeptical at first, but after listening to my arguments he admitted that he was mistaken.—Omaha World-Herald.

Their Little Game.

Quinn—That mining-stock company is on its last legs.

DeFonte—Yes, but they are putting up a strong bluff to the last.

Quinn—Is that so?

DeFonte—Yes, they pay a boy to sit behind a screen, ring a bicycle bell and yell "Hello!" Customers naturally think they are doing a rushing business.

Money No Object.

Doctor—You must give your husband every two hours a half teaspoonful of this medicine.

The Patient's Wife—Oh, doctor, I can give him a whole teaspoonful every hour! I assure you, we don't have to economize!—Heitere Welt.

In Pretoria.

"My dear," said Oom Paul, after a visit to the prisoners, "this reminds me of the Queen's Jubilee."

"How?" said Mrs. K.

"Why, we have samples of nearly every sort of troops in the British army."—Puck.

The Savage Bachelor.

"I hardly approve these Mothers' Congresses," said the youngest boarder.

"They're a good thing," said the Savage Bachelor. "A Mothers' Congress gives their poor young ones a chance to rest."—Indianapolis Press.

A Shrewd Girl.

Ella—You must have been up late last night; there are rings around your eyes.

Stella—Well, they are engagement rings; I sat up with Fred until he proposed.—Judge.

Awful.

"Why are the mules so restless?" inquired the Boer commander.

"They have just heard that Hay has arrived at Pretoria," elucidated the subordinate.

Factory Kind.

Banker's Boy—De boss thumped de typewriter himself dis mornin'.

Broker's Boy—An' yer stood by an' let him thump de poor girl? Where's yer manliness?

The Cause.

Mrs. O'Toole—Yis, me bye hos lift school.

Mrs. O'Brien—An' hos he lift fer good?"

Mrs. O'Toole—No; fer bad.

In the Wee Hours.

They heard a noise in the kitchen and crept down. He carried a pistol and she a curtain pole. Then they discovered the cause of the noise.

"Did you see that rat jump out of the oven?" she gasped, holding her skirts. "Why didn't you shoot him?"

"Because he was just out of my range," he chuckled.

Ostend's Predicament.

Mother—I notice, Ostend, that you did not eat any pie at dinner.

Ostend—I asked you for a piece, ma.

Mother—But I did not hear you. You should have asked a second time.

Ostnd—But, ma, you told me never to ask for pie a second time.

Rather Funny.

Mrs. A.—I was just thinking.

Mrs. Z.—Thinking of what, dear?

Mrs. A.—How funny it is for them to sell umbrellas at a clearing sale.

Evil Effects.

"Didn't you send any of your chickens to the poultry show?"

"No; I've noticed that when a hen acquires a taste for society she gets too stuck up to lay eggs."

A Change of Plan.

"The Folderols have recalled their reception invitations."

"Anybody sick?"

"No; Mrs. Folderol changed her mind, and concluded she would rather have the house painted."

His Sticking Qualities.

Miss Murray Hill—Mr. Homewood is a regular stick.

Miss Point Breeze—You surprise me.

Miss Murray Hill—When he calls on me he sticks in his chair long after the time when he ought to be leaving for home.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

In the Side Show.

Old party—Well, well! Nature works wonders!

Manager—Yes, an' me an' the wonders works the public.—New York Press.

Sensational.

"Anything new?" inquired the reporter, as he stood before the station desk.

"Yes," responded the corpulent lieutenant, "a Chinese was found with a strange wound on the side of his head. He doesn't know who struck him."

"Aha! Then I'll just head that 'The Mystery of the Chinese Temple.'"

Discarded.

"Lizzie," whispered the boyish voice through the knothole, "me brain is wurkin' night an' day thinkin' of you."

"'Taint union, den!" piped the girl, whose father lays bricks.

South African Mystery.

Captain—Corporal, what became of that tall recruit?

Corporal—Goodness only knows, Cap. He was sufferin' wif the earache an' asked for some cotton to stick in his ear. Somebody gave him some guncotton an' we hain't seen him since.

Wouldn't Take Offense.

Clerk—You can't get a room for him here. He's drunk.

Wytte (supporting his "weary" friend)—I know he is. What of that?

Clerk (scornfully)—This is a temperance hotel.

Wytte—Well, he's too drunk to know the difference.—Philadelphia Press.

Baffling.

"It's a very unsatisfactory story!"

"Yes?"

"Oh, very! I've read the first chapter and the last chapter and I don't know yet how it turns out!"—Life.

Too Realistic.

Ida—I think Walter is awful mean.

May—Why, dear?

Ida—He wears those horrid mouse-colored mocha gloves. He dropped one on the floor and it looked so natural I screamed.—Chicago News.

Revised Version.

Miles—They say it is good luck to find a pin on the ground with the point toward you.

Giles—Yes; but it's better luck to find the head toward you when you happen to sit down on one.

A Sherlock Holmes Deduction.

Customer—You should stable your cows in wet weather.

Milkman—How do you know but I do?

Customer—The milk has a rain flavor.

The Day of Rest.

The tailor—I do all my pressing work on Saturday.

The grocer—When do you do the rest?

The tailor—On Sunday, of course.

Nuts for Them.

"Well, well!" exclaimed the field cornet, peering into the darkness, "here comes another one of those British night attacks. They're getting to be chestnuts."

"Exactly," replied the Boer general, "so we'll shell them."—Philadelphia Press.

Hit the Nail.

"What did the poor man say when he was accused of taking the cattle?" inquired the tourist.

"The right thing, stranger," responded Amber Pete.

"What was it?"

"I'll be hanged!"—New York World.

Not His Fault.

"Sir," began the tramp, as he stepped in front of a pedestrian, "I've seen better days, and——"

"Well," interrupted the other, "you needn't blame me for it. I'm not the weather man."

Satisfied with the Old Kind.

Bobbs—I see that a man has invented a typewriter that you just sit down and talk to it and it writes out everything you say.

Dobbs—I guess I'll keep mine. She does not write everything I say, and I'm glad of it.

A Hasty Retreat.

"Why did the young minister leave so suddenly?"

"The Maiden Ladies' Home Missionary Society took up the task of finding him a suitable wife."—Philadelphia North American.

Ignorance Not Bliss.

"De lack of eddication is an orful ting," remarked Wraggy Wriggles, musingly.

"W'en did yer find dat out?" asked Hungry Hawkes.

"De udder day. I swiped a box from de freight station and lugged it a mile inter de woods. It was marked 'S-o-a-p,' an' I t'ought dat spelled 'soup.'"—Philadelphia Press.

About the Size of It.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what's the meaning of ostentation?

Pa—It's a way the neighbors have of showing off.

He Explains.

Little sister—What does "obsolete" mean?

Little brother—Oh! that's when a thing is a back number.—Puck.

The Child Was Saved.

Not that we wish the suggestion to be generally adopted—for bicyclists also have a right to life—but because it proves the resourcefulness of woman, we copy this incident from the Chicago Post:

The bicyclist was scorching along with his head down.

The little one had toddled out into the road, and stood directly in his path.

The woman saw them both, and was too much frightened to move. A quick-witted man would have had time to spring into the road and pull the little one out of the way, but the woman seemed helpless.

Suddenly she screamed. It was no ordinary scream, but an ear-splitting shriek of despair.

The bicyclist was so startled that he looked seven ways at once, lost control of his wheel, hit the curb, and didn't know where he was for fully ten minutes.

The child was saved.

A woman is not always so helpless as she looks.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signatnre of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Positions Secured!

We aid those who want GOVERNMENT POSITIONS. 85,000 places under Civil Service Rules. 8,000 yearly appointments. Prepares by mail for all Government examinations. Fees cash or installments. A thorough and scientific course in all departments. Requires spare time only. Salaries twice as much as private firms for the same kind of work. The hours of labor are short, duties light, positions for life. Take our course of study and we guarantee that you will pass the Civil Service Examinations. Write, inclosing stamp, for our catalogue describing course to—BUREAU OF CIVIL SERVICE INSTRUCTION, Washington, D. C.

Eureka Harness Oil is the best preservative of new leather and the best renovator of old leather. It oils, softens, blackens and protects. Use on your best harness, your old harness, and your carriage top, and they will not only look better but wear longer. Sold everywhere in cans—all sizes from half pints to five gallons.

Eureka Harness Oil

Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.

WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or Lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.

MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PATENTS DESIGNS TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS OBTAINED

ADVICE AS TO PATENTABILITY Notice in "Inventive Age" Book "How to obtain Patents" Charges moderate. No fee till patent is secured. Letters strictly confidential. Address, E. G. SIGGERS, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

FREE

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Beware of Counterfeits. Refuse all Substitutes.

Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse dangerous substitutions and imitations. Buy of your Druggist, and ask for Chichester's English Pennyroyal Pills, for 25 years known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO. Madison Square, PHILA., PA. Mention this paper.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given that I, Jacob Recktenwald, administrator of the estate of Joseph Recktenwald, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on

Friday, March 16, 1900,

at 10 o'clock a. m., at the court house door in Auburn, Indiana, the following described real estate, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

The west half of the west half of the southwest quarter of section eleven (11), township thirty-three (33) north, range twelve (12) east, in DeKalb county, Indiana. Said land to be sold free of all liens.

TERMS OF SALE.

One-third cash, one-third in twelve months, and one-third in eighteen months from date of sale; deferred payments to be evidenced by interest-bearing notes waiving relief and secured by mortgage on the premises sold.

JACOB RECKTENWALD, Administrator.

D. M. Link, Attorney.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned have been appointed by the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, of the state of Indiana, executors of the estate of Jacob Dermott deceased, late of said county.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

MARION DERMOTT
JOHN E. DERMOTT
Executors.

February 15, 1900.

—"I can highly recommend Begg's Hair Renewer as a pleasing restorative application for the hair and a sure cure for all scalp diseases." Mrs. J. Whertle, Omaha, Neb. A thoroughly reliable preparation; endorsed by thousands. It will not disappoint. For sale at H. B. McCord's.

—A preacher in Columbia City asked all the women in his congregation to take off their hats provided they were paid for, and every woman was bareheaded in a jiffy.

—Rev. James B. Tims, of Alickchi, Checotah Nation, I. T. says of Begg,s Blood Purifier, the great blood remedy and system regenerator: "Both myself and wife were entirely cured of bad case of scrofula by it." A guaranteed remedy, of sterling merit. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Electric railroad projects are springing up by the dozen throughout the state, and it is a safe bet that one-half of the lines will never be built.

—"I strongly recommend Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup; it cured me of a throat and lung trouble of many years' standing."-Mrs. J. Bremen, Rifle, Colo. Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, la grippe, pneumonia, whooping-cough, croup and consumption, H. B. McCord.

—During one week 2821 pieces of mail were delivered and collected on Warsaw's two rural routes.

—Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct the disorders and cure the headache. Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

—The question of establishing a home for superannuated ministers and their wives will come before the Methodist conference at Elkhart.

—Eugene J. Hall, the poet and publisher, says that one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar restored his voice when hoarseness threatened to prevent his lecture at Central Music Hall, Chicago. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—Seven counties in western New York received nearly 85,000,000 for their apple crop last year.

—Don't throw away good but faded garments. Remember with one hour's work and no muss, if you use Putnam Fadeless Dyes, you can make them new again. Sold by F. E. Davenport. 11

—When dressing your turkeys save the quills for they may be sold at a handsome profit.

Thursday's Daily.

—La Grippe hld no show against Krause's Cold Cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Lorenzo Clark, a Noble county young man who secured employment as a brakeman on the B. & O., was killed in the yards at South Chicago, Tuesday. He leaves a wife.

—The Chicago weather reports say last Saturday was the coldest day of the winter. The temperature reached eleven below zero at noon. The coldest weather last year was in February.

—Our latest new name on the Weekly list is Frank Zirwes of Waterloo, who pays to 1901. He was a mere child when we lived in that place but is now in business for himself, in the wagon making business we believe.

—Such a snowstorm, few can remember. For twenty-four hours it came down with very little stop. As we said yesterday, it stood about fifteen inches on the level. Where it had drifted it was much higher.

—Judge Rose will render his decision tomorrow on the application of Robert Cameron, the Fremont druggist convicted of violating the liquor law, for a new trial. Cameron was fined $150 and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail.

—Miss Ida Buss died at the home of her brother, C. C. Buss, in Richland township, about six o'clock Wednesday, after an illness of about a week, aged about 31. The funeral will be held at the M. E. church tomorrow forenoon, interment in Evergreen cemetry.

—The afternoon south-bound train yesterday, got stuck in the snow up at Shoemaker's cut, north of Waterloo, yesterday, and had to stay there till after midnight before it was released. The snow plow with a force of men went up from Fort Wayne about 9 p.m. and helped to dig them out.

—Sol. A. Wood of Angola, supervisor of the census for this district, is about ready to make the appointment of his deputies, which must be done by March 15. So far as we have learned no appointments have been decided upon in this county, and in fact we do not know who any of the candidates are.

—The funeral of Miss Ida Buss was held at the Methodist church this forenoon and was quite largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. Hirsch, pastor of the Evangelical Reformed church, assisted by Rev. Guild, and the singing was by the choir from near the late home of the deceased. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

—Sidney Farmer and Helen Smith, the two talented Auburn girls, will give an entertainment in Wagner's Opera House next Friday evening March 9. We assure the Garrett people this will be better than any other similar treat they ever had. They will no doubt remember little Miss Farmer, who took part in the Oddfellows entertainment over there last fall. Every one who has heard them, is delighted with their work It is not as some might expect from their years a lot of child's work. It is the real work of real elocutionists and impersonators, equal to the best done by professionals.

Friday's Daily.

—La grippe and colds have no show against Krause's Cold Cure.

—Frank M. Powers of Angola was in town today on legal business.

—Engineer Gelhausen of the B. & O. was badly hurt at LaPaz one day this week by striking his head against a piece of iron.

James C. Barcus is likely to be the republican candidate for congress in Terre Haute district. And it might be added "Barcus is willin'."

—R. C. Bell of Fort Wayne, is reported as a candidate-at-large to the democratic national convention, and Henry Colerick as a district delegate.

—Over at Butler the owner of a big platform scale weighed the snow which fell on Wednesday. The platform measured 7x14 feet and the snow weighed over 700 pounds.

—A pan of sliced onions in a room where there is diphtheria will absorb the poison and prevent the disease from spreading. The onions should be buried every morning and new ones put up.

The Republic Steel Companies located at Muncie and Anderson, refuse to obey the law which says they must pay their employes each week. They will avoid it by shutting up their plants:

—The Kalamazoo beet sugar factory is looking for a location and has made propositions to several towns in Indiana. Complaint is made that the Michigan farmers do not raise a sufficient amount of beets.

Cuba has an election in May, for all local officers. Only those who can read and write and who pay taxes can vote under Spanish law, but now we add all that were in the Cuban army in the recent war.

—A letter to Edna Davis, from a son of Hugh Davis at Hearne, Texas, says Hugh has been ailing eight months this and for the past six weeks has been seriously sick. His many friends here will be pained to learn this.

—W. A. Goodrich and wife came to town today on their way to Hibbard in Marshall county where their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gonser, reside. They will stay there a couple of weeks or so, and then go back to Morenci, Mich. where they lived so many years.

There is a talk that the populists who hold their national convention at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, May 9, will nominate Bryan for president and Judge Henry C. Caldwell for vice president, in the belief that the democratic national convention will do the same.

LION COFFEE

Used in Millions of Homes!

Accept no substitute!
Insist on LION COFFEE, in 1 lb. pkgs.

Best Coffee for the Money!

Try LION COFFEE and you will never use any other. It is absolutely pure Coffee and nothing but Coffee.

These articles mailed FREE in exchange for lion heads cut from front of 1 lb. LION COFFEE pkgs.

Silk Umbrella (either Lady's or Gents).

Sent by express (charges prepaid), for 170 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

A very fine umbrella, made of union silk-taffeta; 26-inch frame with seven ribs; steel rod and silver Congo handle. Would cost $2.00 at the store.

STRENGTH, PURITY AND FLAVOR

Fancy Gold Ring. For 16 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Genuine Ruby Setting Gold Ring. For 25 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

These rings are genuine rolled-gold plate, having the exact appearance and qualities of solid gold, and guaranteed by the makers to last two years with ordinary usage. New patterns and very popular.

Cut a strip of thick paper so that the ends will exactly meet when drawn tightly around second joint of the finger. Lay one end on this diagram at the 0, and order the number the other end indicates.

Dress-Pin Set.

Mailed free for 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Three pins in the set (larger than shown), composed of fine rolled-gold, with handsome ruby-colored settings. Suitable for waist-pins, cuff-pins, neck-pins or as a child's set.

"Knickerbocker" Watch.

Given for 175 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Neat appearing and an excellent time-keeper. Solid nickel-silver case, with ornamental back. Nickel movements, escapement fully jeweled. The famous "Knickerbocker" watch.

Pair of Lace Handkerchiefs.

Two extra fine cambric handkerchiefs, with beautiful imported lace medallion insertions in the corners. Half-inch hem, machine hemstitched; stylish and durable. A pair of these handkerchiefs given for 18 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2c. stamp.

Art Picture, "Easter Greeting"

Given for 8 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp.

A highly artistic picture, that will grace the finest drawing-room. The background of royal dark-blue furnishes an appropriate contrast to the little girl and her white Easter lillies. Size, 14x28 inches.

For 10 lion heads and 2 cents we will send it tinned ready for hanging.

Sash-Belt and Buckle.

Mailed free for 18 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2-cent stamp. Latest style of imported black Swiss grosgrain ribbon belting; stylish imitation oxidized silver buckle; neat, strong and fashionable.

Ladies' Watch Chain.

A double strand of best silk cord, united at intervals with colored beads; neat and substantial. For 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Gent's Watch.

Mailed free for 90 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. The celebrated "Ingersoll" watch; stem-wound and stem-set; durable nickel-plated case; each watch accompanied by guarantee of the maker. A reliable time-keeper.

Children's Picture Book.

Given for 10 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Sixteen large pages of Mother Goose Melodies illustrated and with nicely lithographed cover. We have different books, so you can get an assortment.

Flower Picture.

For 8 lion heads and a 2c. stamp. American Beauty Roses and Lilies-of-the-Valley. Size, 11x24 inches. Bright and artistic coloring.

Silver Napkin-Ring.

For 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Neat and substantial. Made of durable metal, heavily silver-plated. Two different patterns.

Ladies' Pocket-Book.

Large size and latest shape. Black seal-grain leather, with five separate divisions, including a tuck-pocket with flap to hold visiting cards secure.

Given for 25 lion heads from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2c. stamp

Century Cook-Book.

368 pages of valuable cooking receipts, also treatise on the labor of the kitchen, dining-room, laundry, sick-room, and remedies for the more common diseases.

Given for 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Coin-Purse.

For 15 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp. Color, dark brown. Made of fine kid leather; chamois lining; nickeled frame, with strong snap-fastening.

"The Dancing Lesson."

The green grass and trees, the little brown kitten and the girl's snow-white dress form a pleasing combination of colors. Size, 15x21 inches. Mailed free for 8 lion heads and a 2-cent stamp.

Ladies' Pen-Knife.

For 15 lion heads cut from Lion Coffee wrappers and a 2c. stamp. Large size; good material; handles nicely decorated and assorted colors.

Table Cover.

Durable, dark-colored material that will stand washing. 32 inches square, including fancy fringed border. Mailed free for 25 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

Boys' Pocket-Knife.

The "Easy-Opener"; strong, sharp blade; red-wood handle.

For 12 lion heads and a 2c. stamp.

THE ABOVE ARE ONLY A FEW OF THE LION COFFEE PREMIUMS. Another list will shortly appear in this paper! Don't miss it! The grandest list of premiums ever offered!

You always know LION COFFEE by the wrapper. It is a sealed package, with the lion's head in front. It is absolutely pure if the package is unbroken. LION COFFEE is roasted the day it leaves the factory.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

When writing for premiums send your letter in the same envelope or package with the lion heads. If more than 15 lion heads are sent, you can save postage by trimming down the margin. Ask your grocer for large illustrated premium list. Address all letters to the

WOOLSON SPICE CO., Toledo, Ohio.

—Ludwig Krueger, brother of Oom Paul Kruger, president of the South African republic, lives near Adrian, Mich. He has resided there for a quarter of a century, but the fact of his relationship to the distinguished head of the Boers has juft become known.

—Matt Richter, an employe of the B. & O., was completely buried under an avalanche of snow and ice which fell from the roof of the round-house at Garrett Wednesday night. Fortunately the accident was witnessed by a passerby, but when taken out Richter was found to be badly hurt.

—A bad wreck occured on the B. & O. at Edgmore last night in which several freight cars were smashed. Engineer George Fralick, brother of Al. Fralick who was killed near the Junction several months ago, was badly hurt. He was brought to his home in Garrett and may not recover.

—A Laporte woman with ten children wanted to rent a house and finding it a difficult problem with so many children she sent nine of them out to the cemetry, and taking one with her went in search of a house. Finding one which suited her very well she approached the landlord to arrange for the rental. He asked her how many children she had and she said "this one and nine in the cementry." She got the house for five years.

—Traveling men do not always have sunshine and comfort. On Wednesday the day the blizzard raged from morning till night and snow became fourteen inches deep, the traveling agent of the Chamberlain Medicine Company drove from Auburn to Butler, then to Mt. Hope, then to Newville, then to St. Joe, then to Spencerville, then back to Auburn, making a distance of over forty miles. Of course the team had the worst of it.

After the House had passed the Porto Rico bill Wednesday, it was promptly sent over to the Senate. Then they had already arranged to put Senator Foraker's bill in its place, which was promptly done after inserting the 15 percent tariff clause of the House. It will come up in the Senate in a week or so, and will evidently pass both houses. Then we shall have the unheard-of spectacle of a nation charging a tariff duty to its own people.

Saturday's Daily.

—Mrs. J. H. Rowland is reported improving.

—Allen Wolf, wife and little son, were in town today.

—A Pierceton man is having meal made of sweet corn. It is said to be superior to that made from common corn.

—J. W. Jackman put his COURIER into the 1900 list today. He had just shipped some of his fine pigs to a party in Delaware.

—Though a trifle late, we are pleased to note the arrival of a son in the family of Henry and Jennie Antrup, a piece of good fortune that came February 22.

—Robert Cameron, the Fremont druggist convicted of violating the liquor law, will have to serve his sentence and pay his $150 fine. Judge Rose refused him a new trial at Angola yesterday.

—A maiden fair, with sun-kissed hair, came tripping down the street; her face serene, her age sixteen—gee whiz, but she was sweet! On the icy walk she came down quick, with a jolt that shook her curls, but the words she used must be excused, for she's one of our nicest girls.

—Last November an aged gentleman named Homerick was buried at Hall's Corners without the permit required by the new law, and the coroner of Allen county has been ordered to exhume the body and hold an examination. The purpose of this is to cause enforcement of the law in the future —The county officers to be elected this year are representative, treasurer, sheriff, surveyor, coroner, county assessor, two commissioners and seven councilmen—three at large and one from each of the four districts. The three councilmen-at-large are elected by the entire county, while those from the districts are elected from each district and voted for only by the voters of that district.

—In order to set at rest the minds of many township trustees who are undecided whether there will be an election of trustees this fall or not, Attorney-General Taylor, Wednesday gave out an opinion, in which he holds that an election will be held. The uncertainty seems to have arisen over a circular sent out by some printing houses, informing the trustees that their terms of office will not expire until 1903.

—Our readers will be interested in the experience of Mr. Will H. Slep, publisher of the Altoona, Pa., Mirror, who says: "I have been a sufferer from headache for many years and can cheerfully recommend Dr. Krause's Headache Capsules as being the only preparation that has given almost instant relief. Have been using them for about six months and have never yet been disappointed in them." Sold by H. B. McCord.

—The word fleece as applied to poultry dressing is comparatively a new term. It indicates the wing, tail, pointer and body feathers, all of which should be saved as they have a market value.

—Thousands of testimonials could be furnished to prove what Lichty's Cough Cure has done in curing coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, throat and lung complaints, but by purchasing a 25c bottle you will be more quickly convinced that it is a medicine of rare excellence and one that you should always have in the house. It is warranted to cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—J. M. Doble, of Ramirea, Live Oak county, Texas, owns a steer whose horns from point to point measure nine feet seven inches It will be sent to the Paris Exposition.

Overton, Tex., Dec. 15, 1898.

I suffered for thirty years from gall stones. Treated with a great many physicans and have taken a large amount of patent medicines, but could find nothing that would relieve Last April I began taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. Took nine bottles and have felt no pain or symptoms of gall stones since. D. R. Tucker

For sale by Davenport the druggist.

—A preacher at Valparaiso used for his text, "Be ye therefore steadfast." When the notice appeared in the paper next day, it read: "Be ye there for breakfast."

—Mrs. C. E VanDeusen, of Kilborn, Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says: "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These tablets are for sale at H. B McCord's drug store. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. 13

—In the rush during the war with Spain to ship troops south, thousands of dollars were paid out at the government depot, at Jeffersonville, for transportation. Checks of large denominations were used, and in all cases but one, they were returned to the government cancelled. The one company returned its check uncancelled, with a note saying no charge would be made for the transportation of troops. The name of the road will not be given out at the department, until a history of the war is written.

—Don't neglect your business by going to bed on account of a cold. Krause's Cold Cure will break it up in 24 hours. Krause's Cold Cure will break up a cold while you work—not necessary to go to bed. The new way to cure a cold is by taking Krause's Cold Cure.

—It is perhaps not generally known that turkey quills have a positive market value. They may be sorted and sold separately according to variety or they may be sold just as they come from the turkey.

—Prof. M. H. Kasper, Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill., writes:—I had been suffering for some time with severe pains in my lungs, and coughed almost constantly. One bottle Beggs' Cherry Syrup entirely cured me." It is guaranteed to cure, has never failed.—H. B. McCord.

—The month of February was a busy one in the Indiana oil field, 270 new wells being drilled. Of these over 200 were producers, with a combined daily output of about 4,500 barrels.

—Too many people lose valuable time experimenting with cough and cold cures. They should take Foley's Honey and Tar before it is too late. H. B. McCord sells it.

—Bluffton is without an opera house and the citizens are trying to raise a bonus of $15,000 with which to build one.

—Don't stay at home on account of a cold. Keep on with your work and take Krause's Cold Cure Sold by H. B. McCord

Upon the basis of one delegate for each 200 votes cast in 1896 the democratic state convention will be composed of 1,529 delegates.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, March 15, 1900. | Number 11.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Heary, V-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprciaity.

Physicians and SURGEONS
D. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M D
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McClellan, Estate, Charles McClellan, D. A. Garwood, Isaac Hague. } C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed } { Gas Administered.
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Madden Bros Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

C. S. SMITH,
Auburn, Ind.
Attorney-at-Law
AND NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office over Bazar Store, formerly occupied by Judge Hartman.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

Junk Wanted

Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.

Best Cash Prices

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and omissions, increase vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, O.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

Court News.

The following proceedings have been had in the circuit court in addition to that already given.

Equitable Building and Loan association vs. Wm. F. Baughman and Chas. F. Ling. Verdict for plaintiff against Baughman for $269 12.

Alpheus W. Madden vs. Ida E. Stokes, on note, submitted to court Judgment for plaintiff for $320 95.

Claude A. Benedict vs. Wm. J. Shellhouse et. al, on note. Judgment by default for $65.85.

Claude A. Benedict vs. Ora Kuhlman, on note. Judgment by default for the sum of $719 66.

Gilbert M. Showers vs. Elmer Haynes, on note. Judgment by default for $156 62.

The following cases have been dismissed: Laura Getz vs Franklin Getz, divorce; Christian Barker vs. Edward VanFleit and Anna B. Hill, damages; State of Indiana ex. rel. Inez Westfall Getz vs. Delbert Getz, for abandonment after marriage to escape prosecution for bastardy; Mary E. Fales vs. Henry H. Fales, divorce; Mary E. Bishop vs. Chas. Koons, injunction; Town of Auburn and Central Union Telephone Co. vs. Frank Hart, injunction.

The Wrong Man.

The man that Marshal Hilkey arrested Wednesday on suspicion that he was the murderer of Hugh O'Niell at Calumet on the 7th of February, has been released, as heis believed not to be the man. He came here and gave out that he was a cigar maker and wanted work. Theo. Kessler sent him to Cory Shugers' lunch counter to get a lunch. Marshal Hilkey was there, and having a description of the person wanted for the murder, at once saw the resemblance, and finally arrested him. The man asserted his innocence and said his name was William Doyle and that he was at work at his trade at South Bend at the time the murder was committed. But the resemblance was so strong that he was held in jail, and the police at Chicago notified. Last evening a detective from the city reached here to see the man. His name is a familiar one, George B. McClellan. He was taken to the jail and at the first sight of Doyle, which was at his back, he said "That is the man," but on looking him in the face, and all over, he came to a decided conclusion that Doyle was not the man. The real murderer's name is Harry Bowden and he greatly resembles Doyle. Doyle thinks it pretty hard that a man has to be so closely watched. He says Indiana is the worst state to arrest men for vagrancy or on suswicion he ever saw. A collection was raised to send Doyle on his way rejoicing.

Bridge Contracts Let.

The commissioners yesterday opened bids for seven bridges, to be built in various parts of the county. There were fifteen bidders and competition was lively. Only two bidders were successful in securing any of the work, each getting three bridges, as follows:

Lafayette Bridge Co.—Forty-foot bridge in Franklin, $710; two 22-foot bridges in Fairfield, $520 each.

Wabash Bridge Co.—Thirty-five foot bridge in Concord, $700; 35 foot bridge in Fairfield, $700; 22-foot bridge in Fairfield, $550.

In the matter of the 84-foot bridge in Troy, the board deemed the bids high and also found that it might interfere with building other bridges that would necessarily have to be constructed this year, hence it was declared off. The lowest bid on this bridge was that of the Massilon Bridge Co., $1,799.

New Chain Scheme.

Our exchanges are telling of a new chain scheme that has taken hold of some parts of the country. It originates in the offer of an eastern firm to furnish silk petticoats and waists for a quarter. The offer is of the endless chain variety. Each applicant receives a book on which is her name. The book costs her $1.25. In it are five coupons she must sell to a friend, who in turn must persuade five others to join the scheme. When the string of twenty-five names is complete, and is in the hands of the company, the original applicant gets a silk petticoat.

Some women are of the opinion that by the time twenty-five names are obtained, the petticoat is well-earned; others consider it a tempting opporunity, and are not only trying for one, but two or three petticoats or waists.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at H. B. McCord's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Odd Fellows' Meeting.

According to previous arrangements made by D. D. G. M., Sol. Barney, the second annual county meeting of the Odd Fellows of DeKalb county was held in Auburn Thursday night. The Auburn lodge had, through the courtesy of the Modern Woodmen, secured the armory in which to do the work of the evening, and used their own hall for a reception room. Waterloo, Butler, St. Joe and Garrett, all the lodges in the county had good delegations present. They were received and made to feel at home by a committee consisting of Hugh Culbertson, W. H. Rakestraw, W. H. Keckler and M. E. Smith, assisted by the brethren of Auburn Lodge.

The meeting was called to order by Deputy Barney and opened in the usual form. The officers then gave place to the Butler team which initiated the following persons into the mysteries of the order: George Ettinger, Curt Bookmiller, C. W. Miller, C. O. Tenney, Wm. Kruse and Dan Butler. The Butler team exhibited fine floor movements and conferred the degree in a very impressive manner. If the initiates expected only fun in joining the order, that idea was certainly taken out of their minds before the Butler team got through with them.

The Garrett team conferred the first and second degrees. Their floor movements to the music of the Garrett orchestra were greatly admired by the audience, and in the first degree they taught the candidates a lesson in friendship, which they will not soon forget.

At the close of the work in the first degree, all repaired to the Presbyterian church, in charge of W. H. Rakestraw and S. U. Tarney, where the Rebekahs had spread a sumptuous banquet.

We often hear about riding the goat in secret orders, which most people take as a joke, but the Garrett team had a real live animal for the second degree, and those who rode it or tried to ride it, will no doubt remember the occasion as long as they live.

However, it wa not all fun, for in this degree is taught a most beautiful lesson in brotherly love.

The third degree, or degree of Truth, was exemplified by St. Joe lodge, and this team sustained its reputation for giving fine work.

At intervals when the teams were preparing for the work and at the close of the session several speeches were made in lines pertaining to the order, the candidates saying that they were well pleased with the work. A vote of thanks was tendered the Rebekahs for their fine supper.

Needs But One Stamp

The paper conveying the power of attorney from the remonstrators against saloons in Locke township to B. F. and Anthony Deahl, of Goshen, has now about 280 names and it is thought the paper will bear the names of at least 325 out of the 385 voters of the township. The question has arisen whether or not a twenty-five cent revenue stamp had to be affixed with each signature, and concerning the question Daniel Zook wrote to the chief of the internal revenue bureau at Washington. His reply was that the document required but one twenty-five cent stamp, no matter how many names were affixed.—Nappanee Advance.

Had a Jolly Time.

Last evening about thirty Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees filled up a couple of bobsleds and went out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Clark, west of town, but of course said nothing to them about it. Oysters were scarce, so the visitors took along a sack of corn meal for mush, knowing that Mrs. Clark would at least furnish the milk. And she did a a good deal more—supplied many good things from the family larder, making a feast such as "the town folks" were very glad to tackle. The party returned home about 2:30 this morning and we are told they had "dead loads" of fun.

Prohibition County Convention.

The prohibitionists of DeKalb county, Ind., will meet at Auburn in the rooms now occupied by the Auburn Christian Mission on Saturday, March 17, 1900, at 1 p. m. A full county ticket will be nominated, delegates to the state convention elected, and transact such other business as may come before the convention. We ask all to unite with us who are in favor of prohibiting the whole liquor business. We expect the largest convention ever held in DeKalb county.

CHARLES ECKHART,
Chairman Co. Central Com.

Never out of Season.

There is no time in the year when Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a benefit to mankind. It cures constipation and indigestion and cures diarrhœa caused by bad condition of the digestive organs. Trial size bottles 10 cents, also in 50c and $1 size, at H. B. McCord's.

SPRING DRESS GOODS.

New Percales	Twenty to twenty-five patterns, handsomer than ever, at last year's price..... 12½ Cents
New Ginghams	Stripes and Checks, last year's price..... 6 Cents
Galatea Cloth	Suitable for Waists and Skirts; especially nice for Collars and Cuffs..... 15 Cents
Fine Tissues	In Plain, Polka Dot and figure..... 25 and 35 Cents
Pointille Soie	The new weave for fine Wash Dresses, Magnificent Patterns; Pretty as Silk, 30 inches wide at.....50 CENTS. A great many customers are buying all the above mentioned goods NOW in order to get their warm weather sewing done.

We are showing an elegant assortment of NEW WOOL GOODS IN black and colors. There are too many different weaves to describe them separately. We ask you to call and convince yourself that we have the nicest Dress Goods Stock in this section of the state.

NEW Spring Clothing!

Our new clothing is pretty well in. We are pleased with what we have bought. The styles are very swell; the patterns neat as can be, and prices no higher than last spring. We are able to show you a good all wool suit $5.00; a fine all-wool Clay at $10.00, and the latest ideas in Worsteds $10 to $20. We wish to see you often. We are saving you money.

SCHAAB & BRO.
AUBURN, IND.

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches in diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & CO.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Be Careful

No woman can be too careful of her condition during the period before her little ones are born. Neglect or improper treatment then endangers her life and that of the child. It lies with her whether she shall suffer unnecessarily, or whether the ordeal shall be made comparatively easy. She had better do nothing than do something wrong.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is the one and the only preparation that is safe to use. It is a liniment that penetrates from the outside. External applications are eternally right. Internal medicines are radically wrong. They are more than humbugs—they endanger life.

Mother's Friend helps the muscles to relax and expand naturally—relieves morning sickness—removes the cause of nervousness and headache—prevents hard and rising breasts—shortens labor and lessens the pains—and helps the patient to rapid recovery.

From a letter by a Shreveport, La., woman: "I have been using your wonderful remedy, Mother's Friend, for the last two months, and find it just as recommended."

Druggists sell it at $1 per bottle.

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.
ATLANTA, GA.
Send for our free illustrated book, "Before Baby is Born."

Origin of Leap Year.

There is quite an interesting and little known history connected with the introduction of leap year. In 1288, when Queen Margaret reigned over Scotland, this gracious lady decreed that during her reign every maiden in her realm, whether of high or low degree, should propose to the man that she loved and that if the man were not betrothed already he must either wed the maid or pay a heavy fine.

On the death of Queen Margaret the women were urgent in their demands that their new privileges should be continued. To appease them an act of parliament was passed which made it lawful for maidens to do the proposing every leap year.

Not all the romantic ideas of our ancestors have been thus perpetuated and comparatively few were transferred by our pilgrim fathers across the Atlantic. For instance, in the good old days it was the custom in many towns and even villages in England to own a house where poor couples, after they had been wedded in church, could entertain their friends at small cost, the only outlay, indeed, being entailed by the purchase of such provisions as they chose to bring with them.

In Hertfordshire there was such a house, which had a large kitchen with a caldron, large spits and a dripping pan, also a large room for merriment and a furnished boudoir. Dishes, table linen and bed linen were among its possessions.

In Essex there was a house very much like this, which was used by the poorer folks for dining in after they had returned from church.

In some of the old English histories one may read that in 1456 Roger Thornton granted to the mayor and community of Newcastle upon the Tyne the use of the hall and kitchen belonging to Thornton's Hospital for the use of young couples "when they were married to make their wedding dinner in, and receive the offerings and gifts of their friends."

At Hamelin there still exists a large building which is known as the wedding house. It was erected during the second decade of the seventeenth century.—Boston Globe.

—FOR SALE:—A good mandolin. Inquire at this office.

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Almost every day we hear someone lamenting the horrible loss of life in the South African war. We cannot help thinking that much of this is mistaken sympathy. There has not been a war of that magnitude where so many men have been engaged and where such vast sums of money have been used, in all the history of the world, so in this latest war, the one between the British and the Boers, in which the losses have been so small. This fact is easily shown and goes to prove what many have predicted, that the life destroying implements of modern warfare, while terrible to contemplate and capable of infinite destruction, are really the means of saving life and making the bloody business of war less dangerous. One rifle or one cannon will now send out a score of charges where the guns of thirty-five years ago sent out one, and the accuracy of fire has been increased at least five-fold. Where we used to load a musket and get close up to the enemy, now we fire at him a mile away. And in a long range, we used to fire high so as to hit the mark as the ball came down, and no matter how level the ground or how many lines of men were in its path it went high over all and only hit the mark as it came down. Now, the long pointed bullets go straight ahead, nearly on a level, and if a dozen men are in that direction, it may hit any of them. And yet, with these improvements, fewer deaths result.

In all the earlier battles of the world, before the use of gunpowder, we need have nothing to do, as the losses, while vastly greater, than now, were never correctly reported. Life was of too little value to waste time in counting the dead.

Since gunpowder, the parent of all explosives, has come into use, we may begin the comparison.

In the decisive battle of Waterloo, the English and their German allies lost 22,000 in killed, wounded and missing. The French under Napoleon lost, including a few prisoners, about 35,000 men. At Hohenlinden, the French lost 9,000, while the Austrians lost 8,000 besides the 12,000 men they surrendered.

In our civil war, the Union losses in three days at Chancellorsville, were 16,030; the Confederate loss was 12,281. At Chickamauga, in two days, the Union loss was 15,851, the Confederate loss, 17,804. In three days at Gettysburg, the Union loss in killed, wounded and missing, was about 23,000, and that of the Confederates, about 31,000. At the Wilderness we lost all told over 18,000 and the Confederates about 12,000. And we might name a score of battles of the civil war, any one of which would show a greater loss of life than all the twenty or thirty little battles so far fought in South Africa.

The Germans and French did equally as well at Mars la-Tour Aug. 16, 1880. The German loss in killed and wounded was 16,000. The French loss in killed, wounded and prisoners was 17,900. one regiment lost forty-nine officers and 1,736 men, but this regimental loss does not campare with the Union loss at the time of the first discharge of the confederate batteries and musketry at the battle of the Wilderness, when it is estimated that in five minutes 5,000 Union soldiers were wounded and killed. Gravelotte, Aug. 18, 1870, was a carnage to be remembered. The Germans left upon the field 20,519 dead or wounded men. The French lost between 12,000 and 15,000. Plevna, situated in the snows of Bulgarian mountains, was a battlefield in July, 1877, where the mountain side ran streams of blood, and Turk and Muscovite died with their teeth fixed in each other's flesh. The total Russian losses in ten days' fighting were 32,000. The Turkish losses have never been accurately known. They have been estimated at 20,000.

In point of prisoners taken and cities surrendered, the English-Boer war cuts no figure.

In our Revolutionary war, we enforced the surrender of two entire British armies. At Saratoga, Burgoyne surrendered to us 5,791, men incldiug six members of the British Parlament, who were serving in various capacities and vast quantities of war material, including forty-two brass field cannon, the finest then known. At Yorktown, Cornwallis surrendered to us 7,247 English and Hessians of the land forces, 850 sailors, 75 brass and 31 iron field guns. At Vicksburg, Pemberton surrendered to Grant, over 31,000 men.

In South Africa we have reports of "fierce fighting for eleven hours" and a report of fifteen or twenty killed and 120 wounded. Small parties from fifty to 160 have been made prisoners and at one point nine field pieces were taken by the Boers. Compare these losses between stranger nations with those in our own conflict between kindred, and we may well stop sighing over the war in South Africa.

Going Down Hill.

People suffering from kidney disease feel a gradual but steady loss of vitality. They should lose no time in trying Foley's Kidney Cure. It is guaranteed. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

A Jolly Crowd.

A jolly crowd, did I say? Yes, it was a crowd, and a jolly one, too—only fifty-two of us. The A. O. U. W.'s never do things by halves. Preparations were made yesterday to go the home of our brother P. P. Lochner and spend the evening. The time for starting found four full sled loads of the boys and their wives ready, and away we went, arriving at 8 p. m. Mr. Lochner had been informed that perhaps a sled load would be there to spend the evening, but when four loads drew up it nearly took his breath. However he soon recovered from his surprise, and himself and most estimable family gave the house over to the crowd. As soon as the "ice man" thawed out the fun began. He was ably assisted by his right bower, "the man from Ohio," and others. Several pleasant hours were spent in social intercourse and games of various kinds, interspersed at intervals with refreshments, such as candy, maple taffy, grape wine, and, last but not least, a good, substantial luncheon. The "bashful man," whould not refuse anything that was offered him, had to be choked off to avoid paying sick benefits. After bidding the host and hostess "good morning" and receiving a hearty invitation to "come again," we departed for our homes feeling that the evening had been enjoyably spent. B.

She Needs a Lesson.

Germany is still working hard to pass laws that shall bar out American products, such as pork, lard, sausage, beef and even breadstuffs. And as we are trying to find out just how they want their meats cured or prepared, or inspected, they have sent out an order, that no American consuls, or agents of any American house shall be given any information on any of these subjects. Their whole course is aggravating and even insulting and ought to be met with more spirit by our government. Congress might stop talking long enough to pass a law prohibiting the import of German wines, much of which are known to be adulterated. The wines from Alsace-Lorraine, which are quite popular over here, are well known to be "re-enforced" by cheap grades of alcohol, to give strength to cheap wines, while "thin" wines are given "body" by the addition of soft raisins. How easy it would be for us to head off all this Germany kicking on our products. What we need is a little back bone. Our congress spends a big lot of time on politics that ought to be devoted to the business interests of the country.

Working Night and Day

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globule of health, that changes weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by H. B. McCord's drugstore.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. MARCH. 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	31
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

N. M. 1-30. F. Q. 8th. F. M 16th. L. Q 24th.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sandwiched with Minor Affairs.

A Blow to Paris.

Paris special: The famous Theatre Francais has been destroyed by fire. Only the shell of the building remains. The charred corpse of a woman was found in the ruins. It was identified as that of Madame Henriot, who was a promising young actress. The face was so burned that it was very difficult to recognize it.

The theater, which is the home of the comedie Francais, was only reopened a fortnight ago, after having been renovated, for the exposition throngs expected to visit Paris during the year, with Dumas' (fils) drama, "Diane De Lys," for which a special set of scenery and costumes had been provided.

Boers Sue for Peace.

The London Daily News make the following editorial announcement:

"It was rumored in London Friday—and we have some reason for believing the rumor to be correct—that the two republics made informal and unofficial overtures of peace on the preceding day.

"Unfortunately the conditions suggested were of such a character as to preclude the possibility of leading to any result. Terms which might have been gladly accepted before the war, in order to avert it, are impossible after the war, with all the sacrifices it has entailed."

Rescued at Sea.

Wilmington (N. C.) special: The Norwegian barque Passal, Capt. Aronson, which arrived at this port recently, had on board Capt. George L. Weit, and the entire crew of eight men from the four-masted schooner Isiah Hart of Boston, from Baltimore to Galveston, which encountered a gale off Hatteras and went down about 250 miles southwest of Frying Pan Lightship. The schooner had a cargo of 1,320 tons of coal and sunk bow foremost as the crew drifted out in a yawl boat. They were picked up five hours later by the Passal.

One Kiss Cost Him $10.

Joseph Whitelaw, a well-known merchant of Akron, Ohio, aged 60, and father of Jennie Whitelaw, who has won fame in grand opera in Europe this season, was arrested, charged by Nora Strong with assault and battery. Miss Strong is a pretty collector for a laundry, and alleges that when she entered Whitelaw's store to collect a bill he seized and kissed her. He pleaded guilty, saying the woman encouraged him. He was fined $10 and costs.

One Million Loss.

Fire originating in the Shonemaks department store swept through the shopping district of Philadelphia, and caused a million dollar loss. Six buildings were destroyed or badly damaged. Marks Bros., Meyerhef & Co., Edill & Co., and the Koehler & Buckles Company were the chief losers. This is the third destructive fire that the district has suffered within the last three months.

Great Price for a Race Horse.

London special: At the sale of the late Duke of Westminster's string of race horses which took place at Kingsclere, Flying Fox, winner in 1899 of the Derby, the Two Thousand Guineas, the Eclipse stakes and the Doncaster St. Leger, was purchased by Edmond Blanc for 37,500 guineas (about $195,900.) Blanc is the son of the founder of Roland Boneparte.

Pension for Queen Lil.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations has authorized the reporting of an amendment to the diplomatic appropriation bill appropriating $20,000 to be paid to ex-Queen Liliuokalani, and providing for an annual donation of $10,000 to her as long as she may live.

Food for the Soldiers.

Thirty-two refrigerator cars—700,000 pounds—of ham and bacon, cured under government formula with a view to preservation in tropical climates, bound for the American soldiers in the Philippines, left Chicago Thursday night for Manila.

Miner Killed.

David Burton, a miner, aged 48 years, was killed in No. 8 mine near Clinton, Ind. A shot he had fired failed to go off and he return to investigate just as the shot exploded. He was killed almost instantly.

Boers Capture British Officers.

The British War office announces that four officers and seventy-two men of Gen. Kitchener's horse have been captured by the Boers while guarding a well. The time and place of the capture is not stated.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Week March 12—Daniel Ryan Stock Company.

Paris Editors Fight a Duel.

Paris special: A fierce duel was fought between Charles Maurras, editor of the Action Francais, the new royalist organ, and M. Monod of the Aurore. Maurras was severely wounded during the second round.

Insane Asylum Burned.

The State Insane Asylum, at St. Peter, Minn., was badly burned, but fortunately no lives were lost, though thirty-five employes narrowly escaped in their night clothes. The loss is $40,000, partially insured.

Twenty Men Hurt.

Twenty men were injured in a collision between two freight trains of the Illinois Central Railroad at Junction "C," a side station near Broadview, Ill. Two of the injured were fatally hurt. The collision was the result of the breaking of a coupling pin in the middle of one of the trains.

Rubber Factory Shut Down.

The large rubber manufacturing plant of the L. Candee Company at New Haven, Conn., was closed and work will not be resumed until April 1. More than 1,250 employes are thrown out of work. Owing to the extremely mild winter orders have been unusually small.

WEDS A BOGUS NAVAL HERO.

Miss Bertha Warten of Cincinnati Marries Demented Man.

A man who said he was Capt. Clark of the battleship Texas married a beautiful young lady from Cincinnati at New Orleans after a couple of days' courtship. The bride is Miss Bertha Warten. She went there with her brother-in-law, Alexander Aronson of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Aronson, and stopped at the St. Charles. The man was stopping at the hotel. He became fascinated with Miss Warten and sent a card to her room telling her he was in command of the battleship and desired to meet her. Mr. Aronson looked up Clark, believed his representations and Clark and the young lady were brought together. Two days later they were married by Dr. Percival at the Church of the Annunciation. The next day Aronson learned of some insane actions of Clark on the battleship, became frightened and made an investigation and soon satisfied himself that the man was either insane or an impostor. Detectives were called in and the groom was locked up in a cell. When the unfortunate bride realized her terrible situation she collapsed and was taken seriously ill. At the police station Clark was identified as J. J. Moyse of Greenville, Miss. The general impression is that Moyse is unbalanced.

RISE IN PRICE OF DRUGS.

Result of Monopolies and the South African War.

To the alleged monopoly of the chemical trusts and in part to the conflict in South Africa is attributed the pronounced increase in the price of many standard drugs which have shown such a decided tendency to bound upward during the last few weeks that sickness has become a luxury in New York, and a similar condition of affairs is reported from other parts of the country. Cocaine, quinine, aqua ammonia, fluid extract of ergot and iodide of potassium, for all of which there is a large and constant demand, have all advanced in price since Feb. 1. Cocaine has doubled in value, while fluid extract of ergot, which a few weeks ago could be had for $1.80, now brings $4 a pound at retail. This is said to be due to a scarcity of dry ergot in South Africa because of bad crops. The price of carbolic acid has almost doubled, which is due to the fact that the chemical is used so extensively in the making of lyddite shells that England has placed a ban upon its exportation. Other drugs have gone up in proportion.

MOTOR CAR STRIKES A SLEIGH.

One Woman Injured—Operators of the Car Are Assaulted.

At Toledo, Ohio, a Broadway car in charge of A. Matthias, conductor, and R. B. McLarren, motorman, struck a sleigh in which were fifteen people, throwing out the occupants. The car was not moving fast or a number might have been killed. Mrs. Shaffer was caught by the fender and dragged quite a distance. Her hip was dislocated and she was fatally hurt. The men in the party dragged Motorman McLarren from the car and beat him severely about the head and also assaulted Conductor Matthias. Later they stopped another car and assaulted Motorman A. Davoll, beating him about the face. The street car men attempted to get the names of those in the party, but were not successful.

RETARDED BY BAD WEATHER.

Storm Delays Development of Spring Trade at Many Markets.

Bradstreet's says: "Stormy weather has retarded the development of spring trade at many markets, interrupting telegraph and railway communication and naturally checking the movement of merchandise. In prices aggressive strength is still the feature of the cotton and cotton goods market, while metals remain steady. Food products, however, have weakened, and some raw materials, like wool and hides, are quotably lower. Wheat (including flour) shipments for the week aggregate 3,863,387 bushels, against 3,660,850 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 4,533,730 bushels, against 2,896,175 last week."

Prehistoric Relics from Mexico.

Prof. Marshall Saville, representing the American Museum of Natural History of New York, has left the City of Mexico for home, carrying many unique objects discovered by him at ruins near the prehistoric city of Mitla, in the State of Oaxaca. The principal work of the professor was the uncovering of many ancient mounds, which were almost inaccessible, as they were overgrown with forests.

Three Shot by Highbinders.

The war of the Tongs in Chinatown, San Francisco, has been renewed by the murder of two of the most prominent merchants in the city and the wounding of a third man, all members of the Sam Yup organization. The victims of the outbreak are Poon Gee, Low Soon and Leong Cheu, members of the pork-packing firm of Tuck Wo & Co.

Rob Two Saloons and Escape.

The three men who held up Spreen's saloon in Cincinnati, went to Newport, Ky., robbed everybody in two saloons at the point of revolvers, assaulted one man and engaged in a running pistol fight with the police. The men then ran to the river, which was full of heavy ice and running fast, and compelled Clark, a boatman, to make the perilous trip across.

Wreck on the Northern Pacific.

A west-bound passenger train on the Northern Pacific collided with a string of coal cars twelve miles west of Billings, Mont. Fireman Fred Sherman was killed. The coal cars had been blown from the siding at Laurel Junction, four miles distant, by a wind.

Wrecked Steamer Breaks Up.

The Savannah line steamer Gate City, which ran ashore three miles west of Moriches, L. I., on the night of Feb. 8, has broken in two. All hope of saving the vessel had been given up and the wreckers were attending to the removal of her cargo.

Murder in Second Degree.

At Omaha, Neb., James Shannahan was convicted of murder in the second degree for the killing of Ed Callahan in Shannahan's saloon in South Omaha. In a previous trial he had been acquitted of the murder of Ed Joyce. Both men were shot by Shannahan at the same time.

Bush Fires in Australia.

The steamer Aorangi from Sydney brings an account of the most disastrous bush fires in Victoria experienced in the last fifty years. The entire Warrnambool district has been devastated, and the damage is estimated at $2,000,000. Seven persons perished in the flames.

Will Make By-Products of Milk.

The Casein Company of America was incorporated at Trenton, N. J., with a capital of $6,000,000. The company will manufacture condensed, sterilized and evaporated milk and the by-products of milk.

Big Fire at Woodsfield, Ohio.

The business portion of Woodsfield, O., was burned after midnight the other night. Loss about $50,000.

One Hundred Men Killed.

More than 100 miners were entombed at the Red Ash coal mine, near Fire Creek, W. Va., by an explosion caused by fire damp. The explosion was a terrific one and caused the entire mountain to tremble. The loss of life is not definitely known, but it is believed that all within are dead, as the interior of the mine is on fire. Twenty-seven bodies have been removed, all dead save two, and they were fatally burned and mangled.

DAIRY CATTLE EXCLUDED.

Kansas Establishes Quarantine to Keep Out Tuberculosis.

A proclamation has been issued by Gov. Stanley, at the solicitation of the live stock sanitary commission, declaring a quarantine which practically excludes the shipment of dairy cattle into Kansas. The quarantine is established in order to prevent the further introduction of tuberculosis into Kansas herds. It applies to dairy cattle and cattle used in breeding and developing dairy stock. C. A. Stannard of Emporia protested against the application of the quarantine against Illinois because it is from that State that most of the dairy cattle are received. Tuberculosis is prevalent, however, in Illinois, and the protest was overruled. The proclamation makes the quarantine specific against the New England States and New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado.

ACCEPTS DONATION OF $100,000.

Money to Be Used by New York University to Build a Colonnade.

A gift of $100,000 to the New York university has been formally accepted. With the money there will be built a colonnade 500 feet in length on university heights facing the Hudson river and the Palisades. It will be known as "the hall of fame for great Americans," and will contain 150 panels, each 2x8 feet in size, upon which will be inscribed the names of such of America's great men as are deemed worthy of commemoration.

Robbers Secure Over $6,000.

The safe in the office of the Hand Brewing Company at Darlington, a suburb of Pawtucket, R. I., was blown open and upward of $3,500 in cash, more than $1,600 worth of revenue stamps and checks aggregating upward of $1,000 were stolen. The damage by the explosion will add $500 to the loss.

To Death in a Locomobile.

Jerome Van Valkenburg, 19 years old, of 171 Bainbridge street, Brooklyn, rode a locomobile into the elevator shaft on the fourth floor of the Locomobile Company's American factory at Seventy-sixth street and Broadway, New York. With his machine he plunged down sixty feet to the basement. He was instantly killed.

Knockout Avenges an Insult.

Two State college students, E. G. Galther and James R. Seeley, fought nine rounds of two minutes each with their fists on the college athletic grounds at Lexington, Ky., to settle a quarrel and insult given Galther by Seeley. Only a timekeeper witnessed the battle, which ended by a knockout blow on Seeley's right eye.

Detroit Ball Club Sold.

James D. Burns and George T. Stallings of Detroit have closed the purchase of the Detroit club of the American Baseball League. The price is $12,000 cash. This will enable the divorced wife of George A. Vanderbeck, the late owner, to collect the alimony granted her, amounting to some $8,000, and will end the further litigation of the matter.

Minnesota G. A. R. Election.

The Minnesota department of the G. A. R. elected former Lieut. Gov. Gideon S. Ives of St. Peter department commander; William H. Harries of Caledonia, senior vice-commander, and C. H. Ballard of Verndale, junior vice-commander.

Want Homes in Minnesota.

Hendrick O. Hurdt of New York has been in Minneapolis looking up locations for the forty Holland families which were intending to migrate to the Transvaal, but which have been compelled by the war to change their plans.

Mrs. Wolcott Gets a Divorce.

Mrs. Frances M. Wolcott, wife of United States Senator Wolcott of Colorado, was granted an absolute divorce at Denver, with alimony at $7,500 annually. Desertion was the ground upon which the decree was issued.

Reaper Manufacturer Is Bankrupt.

John F. Seiberling, a pioneer mower and reaper manufacturer, filed a petition in bankruptcy at Akron, Ohio. He places his liabilities at $801,576 and assets at $30.

Yale Student Has Smallpox.

Ganus William Perkins of Grand Rapids, Mich., a student in the freshman class of the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale University, is ill with smallpox at his room in New Haven.

Pauncefote Not to Leave.

The Associated Press learns that the British Government has decided that Lord Pauncefote shall remain as ambassador at Washington indefinitely.

St. Louis Box Factory Burned.

Wood & Downs' box factory, on Tenth and Mullanphy streets, St. Louis, was destroyed by fire.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.25; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 64c to 65c; corn, No. 2, 34c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c; butter, choice creamery, 23c to 25c; eggs, fresh, 15c to 17c; potatoes, choice, 35c to 40c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 68c to 70c; corn, No. 2 white, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 28c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.00; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 33c to 35c; oats, No. 2, 23c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $2.50 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 36c to 37c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 59c to 61c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 35c to 37c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 28c; rye, 58c to 60c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 35c to 36c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 56c to 58c; clover seed, old, $4.85 to $4.95.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 63c to 64c; corn, No. 3, 33c to 34c; oats, No. 2 white, 25c to 26c; rye, No. 1, 57c to 58c; barley, No. 2, 42c to 44c; pork, mess, $10.25 to $10.75.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $7.00; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $8.00.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.25; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 75c to 77c; corn, No. 2, 40c to 42c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 32c; butter, creamery, 20c to 27c; eggs, western, 16c to 17c.

MANY MINERS KILLED

COLLIERY EXPLOSION CAUSES GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

Accident at Red Ash, W. Va., Supposed to Have Been Caused by Fire Damp—Not One Left Alive to Tell How Disaster Happened.

An explosion at the Red Ash mine, two miles west of Thurmond, W. Va., killed nearly 125 miners. The explosion is believed to have occurred near the mouth of the mine. It was heard on adjoining mountains and coal cars and mules were hurled several hundred yards down the mountain side. The sound of the explosion spread terror in every direction, and rescuing parties were soon on the scene. The mouth of the mine was found jammed almost full of carts, mules, and a few human bodies. It is believed that every man in the mines perished. Hundreds of women, wives, daughters and sweethearts of the unfortunate ones, crowded about the mouth of the mine and their wails were heartrending.

These mines usually employ 150 people, but Sherman Shirkey, the bookkeeper, states that for a week only about three-fourths of the men have been on duty. Fully 80 per cent of the miners were white people and about 60 per cent were married men. John Laing, the superintendent, came out of the mine not more than ten minutes before the catastrophe. He is of the impression that the gas in the mines was ignited from a miner's lamp. The mine is the property of the Red Ash Coal Company, the principal owner of which is J. Fred Effinger of Staunton, Va.

Portions of a body were found after the explosion hanging to a tree almost sixty yards from the mouth of the mine. Andrew Pritt, chancellor commander of Beury Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was taken from the mine, but was unable to speak and died soon afterward. More than a dozen doctors were dispatched to the scene from the various towns in the vicinity, but their services were unnecessary. All the victims were dead. The mine is in a mountain overhanging the little town of Red Ash, where most of the miners lived. The opening was high upon the mountain wall, about 700 feet above the west side of New river.

HELD AS THE SLAYER OF GOEBEL

Harlan Whittaker Accused of Murdering Kentucky's Governor.

Harlan Whittaker of Butler County, the home of W. S. Taylor, has been held at Frankfort, Ky., to answer to the grand jury without bond, charged with the killing of Gov. William Goebel. Silas Jones of Whitley County, arrested for complicity in the assassination of the Governor, was admitted to bail in the sum of $500. Whittaker's examination was before County Judge Moore and evidence adduced is held to show that he is either deeply implicated in the crime or knows the men who did the shooting.

H. WHITTAKER.

TEST PROVES SUCCESSFUL.

Messages May Be Sent in Opposite Directions on One Wire.

A novel and successful test was made by which telegraph and telephone messages were transmitted over the same wire at the same time between Chattanooga and Knoxville.

The East Tennessee Telephone Company made a contract with the Postal Telegraph Company to use its wires from Chattanooga to Knoxville. Before the contract was closed, however, this test was made, said to be the first of the kind in the country. Messages were telegraphed from Chattanooga and were accurately received at Knoxville. At the same time a telephone message was being transmitted over the same wire from Knoxville to Chattanooga, the message being accurately received.

Cervera's Watch in Pawn.

The watch of Admiral Cervera, who commanded the Spanish fleet at Santiago, is in pawn in Wichita, Kan. A local genius is organizing a company of forty persons to redeem the timepiece and send it back to the admiral. Forty dollars was the amount advanced on it to a lieutenant in the Twenty-third Kansas regiment, colored. The watch was given to a Cuban pilot by Admiral Cervera on the morning of the memorable battle for showing him the way out of Santiago harbor. After the battle the Cuban was in bad repute among his countrymen and endeavored to get back to Spain. While skulking in the woods around Santiago he was caught by the lieutenant, who secured the watch from him.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

The first Russian orthodox church in America is to be erected in New York at a cost of $36,000.

Of the 34,000,000 people in South America it is estimated that 30,000,000 have never seen a Bible.

The London Mail speaks of Mr. Moody as "the great link between the churches of England and America."

The Congregational churches of South Carolina composed of colored people have formed a State association.

Secretary of State Hay has presented to St. Paul's Church at Warsaw, Ill., a carved oak altar as a memorial to his mother.

The London Council for the Promotion of Public Morality has begun a vigorous effort to drive out evils which are subject to law in London and to purify the moral atmosphere of the city.

In 1899 the Young Men's Christian Association erected new buildings in the United States at the rate of one every ten days, many of them costing from $50,000 to $200,000.

St. George Mivart, whose orthodoxy has been questioned by Cardinal Vaughan has been a Catholic for over fifty years, having joined the church when he was 17 years old.

The Bishop of Koniggratz, Austria, has published a Latin circular directed against the love of dancing shown among the clergy of the diocese. All priests who dance will be suspended.

President Kruger said to the Rev. Dr. Clark of the Endeavor society, when he visited him in Africa: "I am glad to have any one come to this country who loves the Lord Jesus Christ."

About sixty clergymen of all denominations, including a number of Roman Catholics, formed part of a large excursion party which sailed recently from Boston for the Holy Land.

Yale students have practically ostracised those undergraduates who interrupted with unseemly conduct a prayer by Dr. Stimson of New York, delivered in Yale Chapel recently. The impatience of the disturbers was due to the length of the pr——

"SAPHO" IS SUPPRESSED.

Police Prevent a Performance of the Nethersole Play.

The production of the play "Sapho" was stopped in New York by the police. The management of the theater and representatives of Miss Nethersole said no attempt would be made to produce "Sapho" until it could be done legally.

The critics of "Sapho" say such a play should have no place on the modern stage. It is a picture of a phase of life that might far better remain unpictured, for it serves no good purpose. To claim that it teaches a moral lesson is the purest sophistry. It is the argument with which the pruriently curious satisfy their consciences when they go slumming in evil places. Such pictures of vice tend to demoralize rather than reform the world, even though misery is portrayed as the result of it. In any circumstances, it is claimed, the play is distinctly vicious and its influence bad.

OLGA NETHERSOLE.

Magistrate Mott in New York did not undertake to pass finally on the question of its morality, but he held the managers and principals for trial before a jury and thus was at least successful in securing its temporary withdrawal.

SOLDIER KILLED FROM AMBUSH

Treacherous Act of Filipinos—Americans Burn a Village.

A Manila dispatch says that Lieut. Edgar F. Koehler of the Ninth infantry was shot in the abdomen and killed at a village six miles north of Tarlac, where he went in search of some hidden rifles. A Filipino, promising to produce the rifles, led him into an ambush away from his command. The American soldiers in revenge burned the village and killed twenty-four of the enemy.

Gen. Bates' expedition to southern Luzon, consisting of the Fortieth and Forty-fifth regiments, a total of 2,300 men, has occupied Neuva Caceres, province of South Camarines; Daet, province of North Camarines, and the neighboring smaller towns. The enemy resisted at one point and two Americans were killed, including Lieut. John B. Galleher of the Fortieth regiment.

On Feb. 20 the expedition arrived at San Miguel bay, landed, and in three columns immediately pushed inland, converging upon Nueva Caceres, and attempting to control the enemy's routes to retreat. At Libmanan, north of Nueva Caceres, the enemy was concealed in the rice fields and resisted a battalion of the Fortieth regiment, which engaged them at close quarters with bayonets. After forty minutes' fighting the enemy fled and Libmanan was occupied. The Americans buried sixty-four of the enemy, whose total loss in killed and wounded is estimated at 140.

CHICAGO'S LABOR WAR.

Ten Thousand Men Are Added to 75,000 Already Idle.

Ten thousand men have been added to the 75,000 made idle by the labor contest and property estimated to aggregate $20,000,000 in value has been ordered tied up by action of the building material manufacturers of Chicago at a meeting Tuesday afternoon. Beyond attempting to fill contracts now on hand the material men will, they state, do no business until the labor war is settled. Self-preservation is the motive they give and a diversity of opinion exists regarding the effect it will have on the labor situation. Officials of the building contractors' council declare that it means support for them, while the supply men assert that they are neutral, and will sell to no contractor or builder in Chicago regardless of whether he is involved in the struggle.

It is conceded on all sides that enough material will be forthcoming to complete most of the big structures under way in the hands of the organized contractors, but it is held that it will be impossible to proceed with any new building operations.

While some maintained that this may do much to force a peaceable adjustment of the labor difficulty, many minimize the effect of the material men's decision, because in several lines, they say, there are manufacturers not bound by the action of their fellows who will probably seek to make the most of the emergency that will throw them trade.

HE DEFENDED KIMBERLEY.

Col. Robert G. Kekewich, who held the besieged city of Kimberley for nearly four months, commands the First Battalion, Loyal North Lancashire Regiment. Col. Kekewich has seen a good deal of active service. Born in 1854, he had not long entered the service when he took part in the Perak expedition. During 1884-85 he was again on active service with the Nile expedition, for services in which he received the bronze star and the brevet rank of major. In the Suakin campaign of 1888 he won mention in dispatches and the Khedive conferred upon him the fourth class of the Medjidieh. He has recently been with his regiment in Ceylon.

News of Minor Note.

Fifteen persons were injured in a wreck at Mineola, Texas, Friday.

Battleship Kearsarge will become the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron.

Unusually cold weather in Florida is believed to have injured the orange trees.

On Thursday in the Senate the bill providing a form of government for the territory of Hawaii was passed without division. Mr. Clay delivered a carefully prepared speech on the Philippines. He favored the adoption of the Bacon resolutions, declaring it to be the policy of the United States to turn over the islands to the Filipinos as soon as a stable government could be established by them under the protection of this country. At the instance of Mr. Foraker the Porto Rican tariff bill was made the unfinished business and will be considered as soon as the conference report on the finance bill shall have been disposed of next Tuesday. It was decided to take a final vote on the conference report on the financial bill next Tuesday at 4 p. m. In the House the Democrats scored their first victory of the session on the motion to take up the contested election case of Aldrich vs. Robbins from the fourth Alabama district. On two separate votes the Democrats, with the aid of two Republicans, Mr. Mondell of Wyoming and H. C. Smith of Michigan, beat the Republicans upon the question of consideration. An agreement was made to consider the Loud bill relating to second-class mail matter March 20.

In the House on Friday a special message from the President was read recommending that all the revenue collected on importations from Porto Rico since the evacuation of the island by Spain (amounting to over $2,000,000), should be placed at the disposal of the President for the relief of the island. It is as follows:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives: Since the evacuation of Porto Rico by the Spanish forces on Oct. 18, 1898, the United States has collected on products coming from that island to the ports of the United States the duties fixed by the Dingley act and amounting to $2,095,455.88, and will continue to collect under said law, until Congress shall otherwise direct. Although I had the power and, having in mind the best interests of the people of the island, used it to modify duties on goods and products entering into Porto Rico, I did not have the power to remit or modify duties on Porto Rican products coming into the ports of the United States. In view of the pressing necessity for immediate revenue in Porto Rico for conducting the government there and for the extension of public legislation just inaugurated by the House of Representatives, and for the purpose of making the principle embodied in that legislation applicable to the immediate past, as well as to the immediate future, I recommend that the above sum so collected, and the sums hereafter collected under existing law, shall without waiting for the enactment of the general legislation now pending be appropriated for the use and benefit of the island."

In the Senate Mr. Hoar made a speech in favor of the seating of Mr. Quay. Debate on the Porto Rican tariff bill consumed the rest of the day. On receipt of the message from the President the House passed a bill placing in the President's hands all the money collected upon Porto Rican goods since the Spanish evacuation, to be used for the relief of Porto Ricans. Mr. Mann (Ill.) called up the contested election case of Aldrich vs. Robbins from the Fourth Alabama district. The Democrats attempted a filibuster, but the case was taken up, 136 to 129. The case was debated for the remainder of the day.

Saturday's session of the Senate was brief on account of the death of Representative Epes of Virginia. Mr. Ross spoke in opposition to the seating of M. S. Quay, and Mr. Teller spoke in criticism of the conference report upon the currency bill. A number of private pension bills were passed. In the House the chaplain in his invocation made feeling reference to the death of Mr. Epes. It had been intended to proceed with the Aldrich-Robbins contested election case, but unanimous consent was given to vacate the order heretofore made and postpone the final vote until the next Tuesday at 2:30 p. m.

In the Senate on Monday Mr. Carter of Montana dealt vigorously with the Quay case in the course of an explanation as to why he will vote for the former Senator from Pennsylvania, notwithstanding he voted against the seating of Mr. Corbett in the last Congress. The near approach to the time of voting on the conference report on the financial bill brought out two speeches on that measure, one by Mr. Fairbanks and the other by Mr. Butler. In the House considerable miscellaneous business, much of a minor character, was transacted. During consideration of a bill to incorporate the Frederick Douglass Memorial and Historical Association the Speaker and Mr. Bailey of Texas exchanged sharp words and the latter filibustered and ultimately prevented the final passage of the bill by demanding the reading of the engrossed bill. The bill proposes to collect at the residence of the late Frederick Douglass in Washington a record of the anti-slavery movement.

On Tuesday the Senate by a vote of 44 to 26 passed currency reform bill as agreed upon in conference. Received from Mr. Scott a resolution authorizing the President to govern the Philippines until Congress shall otherwise provide. The House devoted the day to discussion of the Aldrich-Robbins contested election case from the Fourth Alabama district.

In the Senate on Wednesday a notable speech on the Philippine question was made by Mr. Lodge, in which he favored the bill introduced by Mr. Spooner, vesting in the President authority to govern the Philippines until Congress should otherwise provide by legislation. In the House announcement made of the death of Mr. Harmer, appropriate resolutions adopted and adjournment as a further mark of respect.

Brief News Items.

It has been determined that light is an important factor in sugar production, recent investigations showing that the sugar content of the plant is dependent on the amount of direct sunlight received.

A Lehigh Valley Railroad engine recently accomplished the feat of hauling a train consisting of thirty-three steel cars of 100,000 pounds capacity and thirty-seven wooden cars of 80,000 pounds capacity, each fully loaded with anthracite coal. The total weight of the seventy cars was 4,567 tons.

There are now about 3,500 deer belonging to the Government in Alaska, which are leased out among the natives near the missionary stations to be taken care of under the supervision of Government agents. The people who take care of them are allowed to keep the increase, which is about 50 per cent a year.

By a strange coincidence the bronze Spanish cannon which was presented to the city of Bangor through the influence of Congressman Boutelle was mounted in front of the custom house building on its own birthday, Feb. 9. On the breech is engraved the date of its make—Feb. 9, 1787—which was just 113 years before the gun was mounted in Bangor.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Farmer Assassinated at His Door—Credulous Man the Victim of Robbers—Monument for Lincoln's Mother's Grave—Explosion of Natural Gas.

Thomas L. Traylor, one of the wealthiest farmers of Pike County, was assassinated the other night by J. C. Vincent, who called Traylor to his front door and as he appeared fired three shots at him. One bullet passed through Traylor's arm and penetrated the groin, making a wound of which he died. Vincent lately sued Traylor for $25,000 damages, charging that Traylor had alienated his wife's affections, but lost the suit. A new trial was granted on the ground that the verdict was not in accordance with the testimony. Since the trial deadly enmity had existed between the men. After the shooting Vincent telephoned to Petersburg, telling the sheriff of his deed and asked to be arrested.

Farmer Robbed of $2,500.

Thieves worked a clever ruse on Joseph Weimer, a wealthy old German farmer of Clark County, who explained to the chief of police of Jeffersonville how he had been robbed of $2,500. Recently some one told Weimer that all the banks in the country were going to fail and advised him to withdraw his deposits. The old man did this, and placed $2,500 in his bed. Early on a recent morning burglars entered the Weimer house and secured this money, taking it from the bed without awakening Weimer or his wife, who were asleep in the bed at the time.

Plan Nancy Hanks Memorial.

Steps to erect a monument over the grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, the mother of Abraham Lincoln, near Lincoln City, were taken at a meeting of the Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial Association in the Governor's office at the statehouse in Indianapolis. The movement was begun about two years ago, when Gov. Mount received from President McKinley a letter that had been sent to the President by some one who had traveled through Indiana and had seen the grave of President Lincoln's mother.

House Is Blown to Pieces.

The home of George Weaver, a well-to-do farmer near Noblesville, was wrecked by natural gas, killing Mrs. Fanny Denny and seriously wounding Mr. and Mrs. Weaver, George Champ and Marion Irwin. Mr. Irwin was badly burned and bruised and his recovery is very doubtful.

Within Our Borders.

Logansport will support the Indiana baseball league.

Carr Burgett, who died in Cuba, was buried at Muncie.

Putnam County farmers are investing in Angora goats.

The laboring men's library is being fitted up at Muncie.

A women's union label league is being organized at Anderson.

Jay County Fair Association will hang up $6,000 for premiums.

A piano has been placed in the union depot parlors at Vincennes.

Muncie police have taken to burning gambling paraphernalia again.

Muncie postoffice may be advanced from second to first class July 1.

Philadelphia quartz company will put in a coal gas plant at Anderson.

The boy phenomenon, who cures all pains and rheumatics, has struck Evansville.

Logoottee prospecting company has struck an oil well that flows 250 barrels a day.

Boys between 10 and 14, Columbia City, are causing annoyance by petty thieving.

The Elkhart jail and Longcliff insane hospital, Logansport, are both full of lunatics, and the officers of the institutions don't know what to do.

Many persons living in Wilmington, Concord and Grant townships are much frightened over loud rumbling noises that come from the interior of the earth.

The 4-year-old daughter of Chas. Fishback, at Amity, was burned to death in attempting to take some meal from a stove, while her mother was gone.

The 3-year-old child of Joseph White, at Maxams, was fatally burned with boiling tallow. The cup of tallow was on the stove, and the child, thinking it contained water, attempted to drink it. The cup was overturned and the tallow covered the little one's head and shoulders.

Two costly fires visited Brazil. One broke out in Cowry & Lawlis' grocery on West Main street at 6 o'clock in the morning and destroyed the stock and wrecked the building. The loss was $4,000, with $2,000 insurance. Fire also broke out in the Fashion store and damaged the stock to the amount of $5,000; insured for $3,000.

In pursuance of a promise made just prior to going through an operation, from which the doctors said she had but one chance in a thousand of surviving, Miss May Walker of Dillsboro has joined a wandering Pentecost band, and says she will devote the remainder of her life to pentecostal work. Her parents have tried in vain to dissuade her.

Eleven big iron and steel mills in Indiana, owned by the Republic Iron and Steel Company, closed down indefinitely on account of the suits recently filed in Muncie by the State factory inspector to enforce the weekly pay law. More than 5,000 men become idle. The mills closed are at Muncie, Terre Haute, Marion, East Chicago, Alexandria, Frankton and Brazil. The company claims the prosecution of the suits is all for political effect, and says its mills will stand idle as long as the employes consent to be parties to the prosecutions.

Western glass factory, Eaton, with provision for thirty-six blowers, has started.

Peter Alwine, 12, Goshen, was arrested, charged with taking $26 from a money drawer.

The investigation finished recently by the Auditor of State of Indiana's war claim against the United States for the expense of fitting out Indiana soldiers in the civil war disclosed that the claim on which the United States Senate committee on claims recently passed on favorable to passage is $73,497.31 more than is due to the State. The whole claim amounts to over $500,000.

Muncie had fewer calls for charitable assistance this winter than any in her history.

Miss Beckey Garrison, aged 15, daughter of William R. Garrison of Tecumseh, shot herself above the heart in an attempt at suicide because father would not let her marry John Faulkner, aged 17, a farm hand. The bullet struck a bone and she will recover.

At the Porter County farmers' institute resolutions were adopted in favor of a sound and elastic currency, a stricter game law, prohibiting the use of ferrets, a law requiring the publication of each

AN ANGEL UNAWARES.

Suppose for every act of love and duty
An angel in the path of life should lay
A lovely rose of sweet perfume and beauty—
Ah, even then, how bare would be the way!

Suppose for every kindly word unspoken,
For every fault which careless hands had done,
For every resolution made and broken,
A thorn beneath our erring feet had grown—

Ah! then the way would be one stretch of anguish,
With only here and there a flower to cheer.
Our feet would falter and our spirits languish,
And life would be a burden hard to bear.

But seldom are we outwardly rewarded
According to the deeds which we have done.
"The pure in heart" are by the world discarded;
The wicked harvest where the good have sown.

And yet to every heart in darkness hidden
There comes an angel, whom we cannot see,
Who strives to keep us from the paths forbidden,
And in the narrow way where faith may be.

His name is Conscience, and he brings us roses—
Sweet roses, borrowed from the brow of Peace,
Or thorns on which remorseful thought reposes,
Regrets whose sharp tormentings never cease.

Then let us strive temptation's storm to weather.
Let every thought and every deed improve,
Till Conscience finds no cruel thorns to gather,
But crowns the soul with joy, and peace, and love.

—Richmond Religious Herald.

Under Orchard Boughs.

FOR three days Ford Ashcroft, editor of the popular Now-a-Days Magazine, has been kept at home by a wretched cold. To-day he felt almost himself again, but a whistling, driving snowstorm, a fierce blizzard, such as sometimes strikes New York in the latter part of February, was raging, and forbade him to venture out. Tired with the unwonted inaction of the past two days, the editor's thoughts turned to his work, and he began to consider the make-up of the number now in preparation.

"I'm not quite satisfied with the May number," he murmured. "It's a little heavy for May; there ought to be more of the light and life and blossoming of May in it. Now, those 'Pastelles'—we haven't any really good spring story in them."

The "Pastelles," a new department of the magazine, were short sketches, with hardly plot enough to be called stories; sometimes a light character study—a delicate word painting of some aspect of nature.

Mr. Ashcroft took an art calendar from the wall by his side and turned the leaves until he came to the May page. The picture was an excellent copy of a water color painting. It represented an orchard of apple trees, covered with their pink and white bloom. A young girl stood under one of the trees, leaning gracefully against the gnarled trunk, her hands clasped loosely before her. The whole was delicately tinted, and seemed almost to carry with it a faint fragrance of the blossom-laden May.

His thought went back to the village of Raynor, where he had spent a few months years ago. Some college prank had brought him into touble with the faculty, and he had been suspended for four months. His father had sent him to the little Connecticut village to spend the time with an old college classmate.

One of the village girls, shy little Faith Thorne, had from the first held captive his boyish fancy. As he came to know her better, her influence increased, and he said to himself that he had found the pearl among women. Brought up in a Quaker household, for Faith was an orphan and lived with her grandparents, a certain quaintness, a child-like simplicity and directness, made her seem unlike the other merry, chattering country lasses.

Little by little he and Faith came to be more and more to each other; the wild rose flush in her cheeks deepened when he was by, a sweet shyness made the blue eyes droop before his.

She would not let him bind himself by any promise; they were both too young, she said. He must go away now, finish his college course with honor, and then, when he had taken the place waiting for him in his father's office, he might come again to Raynor, and he would find her waiting for him.

So, on this afternoon, with the February storm raging without, Ford Ashcroft's thoughts went back and lingered on the springtime idyl of those long ago years. Could it be twelve years—Faith would be 29 now, but somehow he could not think of her as looking much older than the young girl he had left in the orchard. Surely she had not lost that pure, child-like face—a little older, perhaps, a little sadder, but still with those innocent, wistful eyes. And he—well—he was 34; he had lived in the midst of the rush and whirl of city life.

"It would make a good 'Pastelle,'" he finally remarked, and turned to his desk, took up his pen and began to write. Slowly at first, then, as the past seemed to come nearer, his pen moved more rapidly over the page. He told of the college youth in the little village, of the shy maiden who won his boyish heart; he described the old orchard with its glory of apple blooms; he seemed almost to inhale their delicate fragrance as he wrote. The whole pretty idyl was old in simple words, but with such exquisite art that one who read might almost see the pretty picture of the girlish Faith, with her pure, trustful eyes, and the boyish lover who bent to kiss her cheek beneath the orchard boughs. Then the story of the young lover who went away, who grew older and sterner, who struggled and won—and forgot.

After a while he took the pen and wrote again.

* * * * * * *

A month later the editor was startled to find among his personal mail at the office an envelope bearing the postmark of Raynor.

"My Dear Ford: I have read the story, 'Under Orchard Boughs,' in the Now-a-Days, and though you have changed the names of the people and of the place I knew at once that it was our story. But, dear, you should not have ended it as you did. When Fred Reynolds falls asleep in the little railway station, where he is waiting for his train, and the young girl comes in with her armful of apple blossoms, whose fragrance, stealing into his dreams, makes him fancy himself once more in the old orchard; when he wakes to find it but a dream, and knows at last the one thing his life has lacked in the midst of its seeming prosperity; when, seized with a sudden heartsick longing for a sight of the Faith he had known, he rushes to the ticket office and asks for a ticket to the little village; ah, Ford, why did you not let him carry out his first impulse, why did you make him hesitate and turn his back on the hope he might have made his own?

"I cannot say more than this—if you care to come to Raynor you will find me waiting in the old orchard, and you will find me still

"FAITH THORNE."

Ford Ashcroft crushed the letter in his hand with a muttered imprecation. "Coward!" he said to himself fiercely. "Couldn't I have found enough literary material without dragging poor little Faith into print? It was a dastardly thing to do, but who would have thought she would have seen the thing. And now—"

He hastily put the letter in his pocket as the sound of voices was heard in the hall. The next moment the door was thrown open and two children rushed in, the older one exclaiming breathlessly, "Papa, papa, the carriage has come, and mamma is ready, and you said you'd go to wide wiv us to-day, 'cause it's my birthday, and I'm 6 years old."

Ashcroft picked up the child and gave her half a dozen kisses in honor of the day. Then he went for a drive with his wife and little ones, the pathetic letter from Faith Thorne still in his pocket.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Land of Windmills.

Great flapping sails all over the land make Holland look as if a flock of huge sea birds were just settling upon it. There are said to be at least 10,000 of these windmills in Holland. They are employed in sawing timber, beating hemp, grinding corn and many other kinds of work; but their principal use is for pumping water from the lowlands into the canals and for guarding against the inland freshets that so often deluge the country. Many of the windmills are quite simple affairs, but some of the new ones are admirable. They are so constructed that by an ingenious contrivance they present their fans or wings to the wind in precisely the right direction to work with the requisite power. In other words, the miller may indulge in a quiet little sleep and leave his mill to study the winds and make the most of them without his assistance.

If there is only a little wind every sail will spread itself to make the most of it; but if a big "blow" should come, they will all shrink up and give it only half a chance to move them. If you want to see windmills in all their glory, you must pay a visit to the land of windmills.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

To Make Cloth Fireproof.

The American consul at Freiburg, Germany, reports an interesting discovery by German scientists, the application of which will render cloth and wood fireproof. The material used to bring about this result is now being manufactured by a German firm, and great things are expected of it. The American consul declares that he has experimented with the discovery, and has found that curtains, carpets, clothing, draperies and wood to which the liquid has been applied refuse to yield to flame. Even when cloth was covered with kerosene and the oil burned out the fiber of the goods was only charred, while the piece remained intact. It is claimed that with the use of this chemical application hotels may be made absolutely fireproof, and that it will reduce fire risks on inside property very greatly. The chemical is soluble, and is therefore impracticable for outdoor use. Garments, curtains or carpets that pass through a laundering process must be treated again. It is claimed, however, that the scientists who have worked out the process believe they can render it waterproof in time.

The Umbrella Bird.

The umbrella bird, which has some resemblance to a crow both in size and plumage, is so called from a wide crest which spreads out above its head like a parasol. This crest is composed of long slender feathers, rising from a contractile skin on the top of the head. The shafts are white, and the plume glossy blue, hair-like, and curved outward at the tip. When the crest is laid back the shafts from a compact white mass sloping up from the top of the head, and surmounted by the dense hairy plumes, but when fully spread the top forms a perfect, slightly elongated dome, of a beautiful shining blue color. The length of this dome from front to back is about five inches, the breadth four to four and a half inches. This bird is a native of the islands of the South American rivers, being seldom if ever seen on the mainland.

A Gigantic Moth.

The largest insect known to entomologists is a Central American moth, called the Erebus Strix, which expands its wings from eleven to eighteen inches.

Nature intended that people should be unlucky: more twin babies are born than twin calves.

FILIPINOS' QUAINT, ANCIENT AND HOME-MADE CANNON.

SOME curious old cannon have been captured in the Philippines. Some of the arsenals taken have been found to be veritable museums of ancient ordnance. The relics of bygone warfare were left behind by the Spaniards when they evacuated the places and had not been used for many and many a year. They are valuable now only as curiosities. Even the Filipinos seldom tried to use them. At first the rebels were without field artillery, but later they smuggled in a small supply of modern field pieces, which, however, they never succeeded in using effectively.

On one occasion it was found that some enthusiastic Tagal actually had tried to make use of one of the relics. At the capture of Santa Anna the field piece shown in the picture, mounted, was fired against the Americans. Its crudeness can be seen at a glance. It is mounted on a carriage composed of the wheels of a "carramato," the cab of Manila. The collection of curious guns shown was found in the arsenal in Manila. Some of the specimens were secured as curiosities by British naval officers and sent to the Royal United Service Institution as curios. Most of the field pieces are of the "gaspipe" order, strengthened with wooden sheathings, while others are of the real old-time Spanish type of the sixteenth century. Some of the obsolete mortars are of bronze, highly ornamented with scrollwork, crowns and ciphers. Some of the most elaborate and remarkable pieces will find places in this country in museums or as ornaments at military posts.

GUESS ON 1900 VOTE.

FORECAST OF NEXT NOVEMBER'S ELECTION FIGURES.

New York Sun Figures Out that About Fifteen Million Votes Will Be Cast—Factors that Are Expected to Affect the Number.

In the election of 1892, the first following the last federal census, the total vote on Presidential electors was 12,150,275. In the election preceding, in 1888, the last before the census, the total vote on Presidential electors was 11,392,429. Between 1888 and 1892, however, Idaho, casting 19,000 votes; Montana, casting 44,000; North Dakota, casting 36,000; South Dakota, casting 70,000; Washington, casting 87,000, and Wyoming, casting 16,000, were admitted into the Union, and these cast collectively 272,000 votes. The net gain, therefore, during the intervening four years was 485,000, or about 4 per cent.

At the same rate of increase the total vote at the last Presidential election, in 1896, should have been about 12,640,000. Instead of this, it was more than 14,000,000, a total vote without precedent in the United States, or, in fact, in any country in which universal suffrage exists. So large an increase, nearly 2,000,000 in four years following a period of financial depression, has been ascribed generally to the interest enlisted in the McKinley-Bryan contest, the important character of the principles involved in it. But even under such conditions it would be difficult to account for an increase of nearly 2,000,000 unless there had been general lethargy among the voters in the various contests preceding or unless other special reasons contributed to the large total of four years ago. As a matter of fact, such cases did contribute materially and perceptibly, and a statement of a few of them would make easier an understanding of the situation which is now confronting the political computers in their early estimates of the probable total vote that will be cast for President in November next.

Between 1892 and 1896 Utah, with a total vote of nearly 100,000, was added to the number of States and in Colorado the exercise of the suffrage was extended to women, with the result that the total vote of the centennial State, which was 91,000 in 1888 and 93,000 in 1892, rose to 190,000 in 1896. Moreover, in the border States of the country in which prior to the appearance of the silver issue Democratic success had been accepted as a matter of course, the uncertainty of contest brought out a larger vote, the increase in Maryland being from 213,000 to 250,000, in Kentucky from 340,000 to 445,000, and in Missouri from 540,000 to 675,000. The changes in these border States, the extension of the suffrage in Colorado and the admission of Utah account, therefore, for 500,000 of the gain and in the other States of the country there was about the normal increase augmented by the vigor of the contest in many of the States which were uncertain and further by the fact that there were seven electoral tickets in 1896, drawing to the polls all classes of electors, some of whom had taken no part in previous elections.

Since the Presidential election of four years ago there has been a large increase in the population of the United States. No States, it is true, have been added to the number which are to participate, but woman suffrage has been extended to Idaho by constitutional provision with the certainty of adding to its total vote. On the other hand, restrictions on voting have been adopted in Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, the full effect of which will be shown at this year's election, and the most reasonable estimate of the probable total vote is, everything considered, about 15,000,000.—New York Sun.

COULDN'T HELP IT.

An Old Yankee's Yarn of Better Days Was Pure Fiction.

An old man was sawing wood in a Maine village the other day. He had taken a job and was putting in his best licks.

A man who was going past stopped and looked over the palings of the fence.

"Kind o' tough work, isn't it, uncle?" asked the passer.

The old man straightened up and stroked the sweat off his forehead.

"Wal, middlin' tart," said he. "Sort o' takes holt o' my lumbago once in a while. I don't suppose I should mind it so much if it hadn't been for the fact that I had money once and didn't have to do such things as this."

"Is that so? Had money?"

"Yas, that's right. You remember the time they built this branch railroad through here?"

"Sure."

"Wal, I was doin' pretty well at that time and I subscribed to the stock. Kinder thought there might be a chance to make a little something out of the deal. But the first thing I knowed they called for an assessment of the stock. They come round to me and wanted my assessment.

"'How much be it?' said I.

"'Sixty-four thousand, five hundred dollars,' says they.

"'Wal,' says I, 'that's rather a stiff haul on a man, but I'll pay it. But I give ye notice now that ye better not call on me again. For that will just about take the last cent I got.' And for a fact when I went into the old chist and counted out my money that was jest what I had to a cent. Never got a cent back for all that money I put in. And here I am sawin' wood for a livin'."

When the stranger got down to the store and stood warming his hands at the barrel stove he remarked upon the sad case of the old man sawing wood up the road.

"That man never had a cent ahead in all his life," remarked the storekeeper. "He's allus sawed wood for a livin'."

"Well, what does he want to tell such a thundering story as that for?" asked the stranger.

"Wa-a-l," replied the storekeeper, "Yankees have to sorter keep in practice for what may come up. Jest hav' to do it.

"When you drive along you'll probably see an old fellow up here working round in the barnyard. He wears Horace Greeleys for whiskers and a straw hat winter or summer. You'll know him when you see him. Stop and talk with him a little while. He's keepin' in practice, too."

The stranger did so.

They fell into talk of the corruption of modern institutions and of the difficulty of believing those who are engaged in business operations.

"Two weeks ago," said the old man, "I was shingling the Methodist pa'sonage down the road here a ways, and the elder came out and says he, 'The's a big bank in Boston failed.'

"'National bank?' says I.

"'National bank,' says he and he gave me the name.

"Wal, sir, for a while I never was so scared in my life. I jest jumped right down off the roof of that pa'sonage—'bout thirty feet. Was so excited I never felt it.

"I ran all the way home. I rushed into the bedroom. Wife come a runnin' after me.

"'For the land sakes,' says she, 'be you crazy?'

"'Putty near it,' says I. 'The So-and-so National Bank of Boston has failed up and it's jest like my luck to have a lot of bills of that bank in the chest here.' And I threw the chest open and reached down for our box. I opened it. Wal, it didn't have a single bill on that bank—nor any other kind of a bill either. Never felt so relieved in my life."—Lewiston Journal.

CAMEO CARVING.

A Description of the Tools and the Method Employed.

All the tools used by the cameo carver would make but a handful, says the New York Evening Post. The worker sits before a wheel turned by a pedal; tools occupy a small corner of the table surface on which the worker's hands rest while he holds the shaped stone or shell beneath the needle-like drill. The little pointed instruments which are used to drill resemble those employed by a dentist, and, indeed, it was from the cameo carver's kit that the dentists got many of their ideas when the tools now in use by them came to be manufactured, thirty years ago. The drills vary in thickness according to the portion of the figure or design to be executed. Some are as fine as the point of a cambric needle. A small china receptacle also stands near, filled with oil and diamond dust and into this the workman frequently dips his tool during the progress of his work.

The cameo cutter's occupation is very exacting. He can put in only a few hours' work at a time as a usual thing, because of the tension on his nerves. A quavering hand may be responsible for the single stroke which will spoil a week's work. He must have an eye almost like a microscope and a very delicate touch; he must be an artist in soul and as skilled a craftsman as a watchmaker; he must know how to model and draw, and he must have a knowledge of chemistry, so as to remove offending spots.

The work is executed in relief on many kinds of hard or precious stones, but essentially the chalcedonic variety of quartz and on shells. The cameo cutter himself prefers onyx because of its dark and light layers, which throw out in bold relief a white head, say, against a black background. He evolves his picture by removing all that portion of the white stratum remaining after the head has been completed. Sapphire blocks are used, carnelian, turquoise, amethyst and numerous other stones.

It takes about a month to execute a portrait on onyx, while much less time is consumed if the work is done on shell. There is always great danger of the latter breaking, and its durability, too, is not great, so that the shell, as a rule, is not desirable as the harder materials. A portrait on onyx will cost $200, while one on shell may be had for $50. The inquiries for these are rare and building up a patronage is slow and accomplished mainly by satisfied customers influencing others.

Singing at Their Work.

Contractors in South Missouri employ many negroes to load railroad ties in the cars of the Memphis railway, says the Kansas City Star. The ties are cut in the woods, hauled to the railway in wagons and dumped in piles along the side of the roads. The negroes then take them up, tie by tie, and run with them up planks to the cars, where they drop them in regular order. These negroes are paid a price for each tie they carry, so they vie with one another to earn the most money in one day.

They become so expert at the work that an old hand can throw a heavy tie on his shoulder, so that it will balance, and then, without holding it, he will run, both hands pressed flat against his sides, up the gangplank to the car. The negroes are so accustomed to the work that they seldom drop a tie and seem never to have sore shoulders.

One may see gangs of a dozen or more of them, all singing and whistling. Each sings at the top of his voice or whistles as loud as he can, and every tune is different. The effect is amusing, but beyond description. The men carry their ties at a trot all day long. An inspector stands beside the plank that goes up the car to examine the ties being loaded. It is amusing to hear the inspector call a negro half-way up the plank with a tie on his shoulder to throw it away among the heap of bad ties. The negro gets no credit for his load and goes back swearing at his bad luck, while his companions stop their music and burst into loud, uncontrollable laughter.

All these negro tie-carriers have deep grooves in the right shoulder where the ties have pressed, but the flesh is calloused and seldom sore. The men make good wages, most of them $3.50 a day. They spend all of it. Very few of them save their money.

Business Acumen.

The clerk—By the way, I see the Anti-Superstition League opens its meeting to-morrow.

The boss—Is that so? Mark those $12 overcoats up to $13 in big figures and stick 'em in the window.—Indianapolis Press.

Tenement Dwellers in Boston.

More than 500,000 tenement dwellers are in Brooklyn, according to official figures just issued. The number of tenement houses is 31,087.

In the Dining Car.—"Isn't it delightful to be dining together without a chaperon?" "I should say so! Marriage is certainly a great economy."—Puck.

Every woman likes to talk of the "gray monotony" of her life.

SHOOTING OIL WELLS.

A CALLING THAT IS FRAUGHT WITH DANGER.

The Shooter Is in Constant Peril from the Time He Loads His Glycerin Into the Wagon Until It Is All Poured Into the Well.

Of the thousands of persons interested in the oil fields of Indiana and Ohio, a very small proportion have only a faint idea of the dangers almost daily encountered by that hardy and daring class of men known as "shooters." From the time the "shooter" starts with his wagon load of nitro-glycerin until the shooting has been accomplished, there is not a moment which is not fraught with danger. These loads vary from eighty to 240 quarts of nitro-glycerin, and are carried over roads that are none too good with such a power in the vehicle. Despite the care taken, much loss of life has resulted from explosions during these trips. William Ulmer started one morning with 750 quarts on his wagon, and when but a few miles from Bluffton there was an explosion which shook the country for fifty miles. All that could be found was a few fragments of the stout wagon and some fragments of flesh, but whether these belonged to the man or his team will never be known. At the point where the explosion took place the earth was blown away to the bed rock, a distance of thirty feet downward from the surface.

Harry Woods and George Hiscock, both experienced workers in the field, were blown to atoms by an explosion which took place at a magazine near Montpelier.

In the Jay County field, about eleven miles from this city, a year ago, James Thompson and Gilbert Goodin were engaged in lowering a powerful charge for the purpose of shooting a well, when the long torpedo caught on a projection. In the rending crash which followed both men were torn to pieces, the greatest portion of either being the trunk of Goodin, which was hauled to his Geneva home under the buggy seat of an undertaker. The hands of Thompson's gold watch were blown into the dial.

During his residence of ten years in Indiana William Snedeker has shot 4,000 wells, using, it is claimed, 400,000 quarts of nitro-glycerin. Snedeker, as well as every other shooter, hauls his load of nitro-glycerin in a wagon designed especially for such work. Under the seat of the wagon is a square box of a dozen compartments, each padded heavily, and into one of these the separate cans of the molasses-like fluid is placed carefully, the lid of the box which contains so much danger then being carefully fastened into place. With this done the shooter starts for his destination. Arriving at the well, the long, thin tubes, better known as torpedoes, are placed in the casing, and the nitro-glycerin poured into them. As one is filled it is lowered to the bottom, and others follow until the entire charge for the well is thus sunk. When all is in readiness the "go-devil," a piece of iron, is dropped into the hole, this often being 1,200 to 1,500 feet deep. Nothing is heard for a moment or so, then a snap and a crash, followed by a rumble. Louder and louder becomes the rumble, until a tall column of oil and water shoots high above the derrick, sending clouds of spray to the windward.—Indianapolis News.

GEN. BULLER AT THE TUGELA

Was Eating Sandwiches Where the Fire Was Hottest.

It was during the advance of the Devons and the Queen's that the series of brilliant attempts to rescue the guns (at the Tugela) began, says a Colenso correspondent of the Manchester Guardian. A little earlier—about 10 o'clock—Sir Redvers Buller had left the position he had appointed for himself at the naval battery—the situation on the right was too serious for a man of Buller's spirit to stay there now—and had ridden off toward the guns with all his staff and the escort of the Natal police. "Out of this, please," he said—he was down among the naval twelve-pounders behind Long's guns now. The Boers had perhaps recognized the staff; the whistling in the air trebled. "You oughtn't to be here, sir," gasped Ogilvy. "I'm all right, my boy," said the general. The staff lingered about the place; Sir Redvers Buller was eating sandwiches, and from the scattered groups of men emerged one of the most gallant trios that ever tried to win the Victoria cross.

Off the three went for the guns—I saw them go—Schofield, Congreve, who had been leisurely giving me notes out of his pocketbook an hour before up near the naval battery, and young Roberts. * * * It was all no good; a general retirement was ordered; ten guns were left on the field. * * * Sir Redvers Bullers and his staff came by me on their return. The general climbed down limply and wearily from his horse like an old, old man. I thought then that he was wounded with vexation; I did not know then that he was wounded—though slightly—with a bullet which had passed round his ribs. The horse of Lord Gerard, one of his aids-de-camp, had been shot; Capt. Hughes, the doctor of his staff, had been killed—half blown to pieces—by a shell; one of the Natal police (the general's escort) had his horse grazed in the fetlock, in the belly and in the mouth, and two bullets had passed through his holsters. That is the sort of fire the general had been under eating sandwiches.

Avarice of Advocates.

The present lord chancellor was cross-examining a shrewd bucolic witness some years ago, who rather "had" him.

"They sometimes call you a Devonshire dumpling, don't they?" asked the genial advocate.

"I believe they do," replied the witness.

"But are you a Devonshire dumpling?"

The witness waited till the laughter occasioned by the inquiry subsided, then he slowly drawled out:

"Hey, but if I hod been a doompling you lawyers 'od a' gobbled I up afore now!"

CONGRESSMAN HITT.

The Greatest American Authority on International Questions.

One of the most interesting men in American political life to-day is Congressman Robert Roberts Hitt, of Illinois, the chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs. Not only has he figured prominently in national and international affairs for nearly a generation, but he has enjoyed personal relations of a peculiarly close character with more men of eminence, perhaps, than any other man of the day.

Away back before the war, when a mere boy, he was attached to Abraham Lincoln in a way that gave him enviable facilities for studying the processes of Lincoln's mind. He was a stenographer and a newspaper reporter for the Chicago Tribune, at that time the one great Republican organ of the West, and throughout the memorable debate between Lincoln and Douglas, preceding the latter's election to the United States Senate young Hitt followed Lincoln, taking down in shorthand every word that publicly fell from his lips. These famous addresses, which made Lincoln's national reputation, and which more than anything else contributed to his election as President, owe their permanent and enduring form to the young reporter's notes, the originals of which the Congressman still hoards among his literary treasures. Lincoln called him "Bob," and was fond of the boy.

CONGRESSMAN R. R. HITT.

After the war Hitt went to Washington as clerk of a Congressional committee and had an opportunity to become acquainted with the great statesmen of the reconstruction era.

His good luck sent him to Paris in 1874, just after the Franco-Prussian war, as secretary of legation and charge d'affaires ad interim. History was being made rapidly in the French capital in those days, and Hitt spent seven years in Paris, a period which was closely packed with important events. He returned to Washington in 1881 to become Assistant Secretary of State, and the next year was elected a member of the House of Representatives. All through his career in Congress he has been conspicuous in the discussion of international questions, and now, as chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, he is regarded as a diplomatic authority beside whom there is no peer.

Hitt has had the good fortune to cement friendship more firmly than almost any other man now in public life. He was Blaine's closest friend in Washington. In the concluding years of Blaine's life Hitt was the man in whom he confided most and was often to be found in the historic old mansion on Lafayette square. At the same time that he enjoyed these affectionate relations with the great Secretary of State he was the best friend of Speaker Reed, Blaine's bitterest enemy in public life. And no finer tribute could be paid to the delicate tact of the Illinois representative than that he should have continued for years such a relationship with two such men without losing the confidence of either.

In Hitt's house in K street is a room which is devoted to the memory of Blaine. The walls are covered with pictures of the Maine leader, with autograph letters and with all sorts of relics which bring Blaine to mind. Elsewhere in the house are Lincoln relics, and stored away somewhere in places where they will be found sometime and brought to light are scores and hundreds of confidential letters from men whose names will figure in history.

Age Limit for Cheese.

"A few years ago," said Harry Cunningham, of Montana, at Chamberlain's, "the late Charlie Broadwater, of our State, gave a banquet to about a score of his personal friends. It was an elaborate spread, and one of the chief items was some twenty-year-old brandy that cost Mr. Broadwater a fabulous price, and regarding which he spoke with much enthusiasm.

"At the wind-up of the feast coffee and Roquefort cheese were brought in, though the latter was not commonly down on Montana menus at that period. Sitting near the host was one of his special friends, who, after eying the Roquefort a trifle suspiciously, tasted it, made a wry face and shoved his plate to one side.

"'You don't seem to like that,' remarked Mr. Broadwater.

"'Indeed, I do not, Charlie. Your twenty-year-old brandy is all right, but I'll be d—d if I like your twenty-year-old cheese.'"—Washington Post.

Story of Jefferson Davis.

Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake told an interesting story of the Goddess of Liberty on the Washington Capitol the other day. It was during a discussion of the life of Jefferson Davis. "You may not know," she said, "that Davis was one of the committee to select the statue of liberty for the top of the capitol. The goddess usually wears a little cap, you know. This is called the Phrygian cap, as it was given to their slaves by the Phrygians, when emancipated, as a badge of freedom. Davis said the statue should not have such a headdress, so instead she wears a helmet with feathers. "American liberty was never a slave," he said; "she shall wear no badge but the feathers of the eagle of freedom."

Old French Officers.

General d'Exea Doumerce, senior officer of the French army, is 94 years old and has served under three kings, an emperor, and two republics.

..BY ORDER OF..
THE U. S. COURT!

As The Settlement With Creditors Was Affected.

I am authorized to close out the JACOB BAILER stock of Men's, Boys and Children's Clothing, Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Shoes, Boots, Rubber Goods, Trunks, Valises, Telescopes, Umbrellas, etc., etc., at

70c ON THE DOLLAR

The stock is clean; no old shelf-worn goods, nor out of date; no sweat shop goods, or auction goods--all bought within the last Six Months.

COME ONE! COME ALL!

It will pay you to buy and lay it away for a year. The biggest opportunity the people of Northern Indiana ever had to buy Good Clothing for little money.

SAM'L BAILER, Manager.

Ford Building, 3 Doors North of Farmers Bank. AUBURN, INDIANA.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 15, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

About the Court House.

Judge Bratton has cleared up several cases on the civil docket this week, among which were the following:

Mary V. North vs. James C. North, divorce. Decree to plaintiff with custody of three children and alimony of $500, payable in quarterly installments of $25 each.

Sarah Goodwin and others vs. Allie Gavit, partition. Judgment for plaintiffs and Charles Rempis, R. N. Crooks and Edward Campbell appointed commissioners to make division of property.

Nicholas Goldsmith vs. James Lawhead, damage. Defendant asks for a change of venue, which is granted and the case sent to Noble county.

Wm. A. Howe vs. Valda Howe, divorce. Submitted to court and evidence heard. Decree granted to plaintiff.

The petit jury was called yesterday and after the panel had been made up the first case brought up for trial was that of Leas vs. Woods. This is the case recently tried in Esquire Walter's court, in which the jury disagreed and the particulars are familiar to most of our readers.

A suit has been filed by Jennie Mabus who asks that she be divorced from Conrad Mabus. The parties reside at Waterloo and the defendant has on more than one occasion had business at the court house, though not of this nature.

COMMISSIONERS COURT.

The commissioners were in session yesterday trying to effect some sort of a settlement with Contractor Myers, who has not yet completed the work on the building east of the jail. Myers failed to appear, however, and further hearing of the matter was postponed until tomorrow.

The board closed up its regular business today and made a visit of inspection at the county asylum.

Porto Rico.

The subject of Porto Rico continues to take the attention of congress. It has got into the senate and will likely be discussed there for some days. The discussion mainly turns on the proposal to levy the 15 per cent. tariff provided for in the house bill. In the meantime the matter has gone out into the country and people of all parties are discussing it and nearly every body denounces the tariff feature. The senators have heard of this opposition and they are frightened. The state of things has divided the senate into three fractions. One wants a tariff levied, one don't want it levied, and one would like to let the island stay just as it is now, under military rule, for they fear the people will hurt some one politically.

Senator Foraker of Ohio, who has charge of the tariff bill in the senate, says he is tired of so much kicking against it and if it is not stopped he will drop his bill and introduce one of an extreme opposite kind, making Porto Rico a territory and her people citizens, exactly as in case of New Mexico and Arizona, give them offices in the same way, give them the same free-trade and all other rights as American citizens of a territory of the United States. This is exactly what should be done and what the people of all shades of politics want to see done.

The Porto Ricans themselves object to being hampered by a tariff.

PORTO RICAN VIEW.

In a statement signed by the chief business men of all the principal cities of Porto Rico, they say:

"We beg to submit to your earnest consideration the following views as to the financial policy of Porto Rico. We note with regret the principle enunciated by certain speakers in the lower house of congress, that a tariff between Porto Rico and the United States is the proper method of raising revenues for this island. To this we are unchangeably opposed for the following reasons:

"1. Because taxation on our exports means an embargo on our foreign commerce.

"2. Because curtailment of our commerce with the United States would lock up our products here and prevent us from gaining our legitimate proportion of profit on our productions.

"We can never become independent financially if forced to trade solely among ourselves. We must have a market other than Porto Rico or else we cannot gain wealth.

"Do not mistake the proposed 15 per cent of the Dingley rates for a reasonable rate. It is a fact that no class of goods produced here from leaf tobacco will be taxed less than 25 ad valorem while one of the most important of these classes will be taxed 160 per cent. ad valorem, under the bill adopted by the house of representatives.

"If this is not an embargo on our trade what can it be called?

"We earnestly ask for free trade, believing that with a mutual interchange of products between the two countries the United States will be more than the gain.

"Therefore, we infer that it will be unnecessary to adopt for this island the full revenue rates of the United States. One-third of those rates will give ample receipts to cover all the above. Porto Rico has no bonded or other debts. Therefore $2,000,000 of bonds to be issued for internal improvements would be conservative.

"We call your attention to the fact that it has been the custom for all countries to make internal improvements by the system of bonded indebtedness which divides the expenses among succeeding generations. We do not desire to have the burden of internal improvements placed on us solely. If it must be so then we ask that it be done by a system of internal taxation that will not prevent the increase of our commerce with the states of the American union and that will not starve us."

A Notable Gathering.

Mrs. W. B. Brown gave a dinner today to a few pioneer ladies of Auburn in honor of her mother, Mrs. Jemima Rush. They are Mesdames Amanda Little, Prescilla Barclay, Fannie Ford, Mary Murphy, Laura Ward, Amy R. Kelley, Maria Richmond, M. Kline, Eleanor Leasure and the guest of honor, Mrs. Rush. A noble company, helpmates of the pathfinders of civilization in DeKalb county. We trust they had a happy meeting.

Going to Paris?

Parties contemplating travel in Europe during the coming season can get pointers as to Paris hotels and rail travel abroad by calling on Sprott & Knapp, Auburn, or writing to Mr. V. C. Ward of Columbus, O., manager of Ward's European tours. Mr. Ward has made numerous foreign tours and speaks several languages.

Get Your Releases.

Taxpayers should go to the auditor and get their mortgage exemption release before paying their taxes. Last year's release does not fix you for this year. You must get the release each year and this should be done before calling on the treasurer to pay the tax.

Latest News of the Day.

From South Africa the latest word is of severe fighting all day Saturday, as Lord Roberts is pushing forward to Bloemfontein. The British were victorious and lost but few men. The Boers seem to be getting demoralized, and may not hold out long.

From Pretoria, the Transvaal capital, comes news that Oom Paul has asked McKinley to interfere in a friendly way and stop the war. He has sent word to other nations to the same effect. It looks as if the trouble is about over.

In the Philippines there has been but little fighting, only a few skirmishes.

Sudden Death.

Word reached Auburn late yesterday afternoon that Jesse Harpish, a well known resident of Jackson township, had died suddenly while at work with his son cutting timber about a half mile west of Duncan lake. Mr. Harnish ate a hearty dinner and while at work about 2:30 suddenly let go of the saw and dropped to the ground. The son at once summoned help and sent a messenger for Dr. Baxter, who found upon arrival at the home that his services were not needed. Death was caused by heart disease.

The funeral will be held Thursday, interment being at Spencerville.

Indiana Patents.

E. G. Siggers, patent lawyer, Washington, D. C., reports the following patents granted to Inventors in the state of Indiana, March 6, 1900. He will mail copy of specification drawings of any patent for 10 cents in stamps.

A. W. Bishoff, Ambria, washboard; J. A. McGee, Big Spring, clutch; H. W. Meyer, Fort Wayne, motion converting mechanism; W. A. Nordyke, Indianapolis, necktie holder; F. H. Peelle, Jonesborough, suspenders; W. P. Strawmyer, and O'Nilius, Indianapolis, rubber tread horseshoe; H. M. Williams, Fort Wayne, butter plate and mold.

Democratic Committee Meeting.

The Democratic precinct committeemen of DeKalb county are requested to meet at the office of the county chairman, C. C. Walter, in Auburn, Ind., on Tuesday, March 27, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m. A full attendance is urgently requested, as very important business will be considered.

C. C. WALTER, Chairman.
JOHN C. LOCHNER, Secretary.

Nicaragua Canal Bill.

The senate committee on Foreign Relations has agreed to amend the Hay-Pauncefote treaty so as to prescribe that none of the restrictions in its first five sections shall apply to any measures which the United States may find it necessary to take in time of war. These five sections grant entire freedom to all nations in the canal in war and in peace; forbid blockades in the canal; forbid loitering or revictualing of war ships or disembarking of troops, and extend the same provisions to the harbors at each end. The prohibition of fortifications is not affected by the amendment. In short, the amendment put in the treaty a clause which Secretary Hay omitted because the powers granted by it are those which the United States would hold in time of war under any circumstances. As a matter of course, it being impossible to fortify the canal, it can only be defended by war ships which must lie outside of its harbors to give battle satisfactorily, and the amendment gives almost no rights not already in existence without it. It is now included in deference to the outcry of certain people who take more interest in hampering the work of the administration and in antagonizing anything that it may do, than they do in the welfare of the country. The amendment is modeled after a somewhat similar provision in the Suez canal convention, but which, strictly speaking, does not apply to the case of Nicaragua. The Khedive of Egypt or his suzerain, the Sultan, exercises sovereignty over both shores of the Suez Canal and of its southern outlet, the Red Sea, and could plausibly demand the right "to secure the defense of Egypt and maintain public order" by defending the Suez canal. The United States, however, owns no territory adjoining the proposed canal, and were the Hay-Pauncefote treaty made to conform in all respects to the Constantinople convention, the defensive powers granted to the Khedive and the Sultan would logically be conferred on the republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rico.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of James B. Bleeks, deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 7th day of April, 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 9th day of March, 1900.

GEORGE W. BLEEKS, Administrator.
J. E. & J. H. ROSS, Att'ys.

Club Notes.

The third guest day of the club year of the L. L. C. was entertained at the home of Mrs. Josie Brown last Saturday and was voted a success by those who were privileged to attend. The program was fully carried out by those on for the day, with the exception of Mrs. Nusbaum's number, she being unable to attend on account of a severe cold. Mrs. Ralston read a selection in her place. The first on the program was music by Mrs. Guild, who gave a beautiful song entitled "Sometime, Somewhere," which was much appreciated by her audience. Her accompanist was Miss Flora Hoffman. This was followed by a paper by Dr. Vesta M. W. Swarts, an honorary member, entitled "General Hints on Hygiene." The hints were excellent and most practical as one might suppose, and its close was followed by an animated discussion and a number of questions, which Dr. Swarts very pleasantly answered. "The Ideal American Woman" was the next paper, given by Mrs. Nellie Hartman. This was a charmingly arranged list of the various characteristics that go to make up the "Ideal American Woman" and in the discussion which followed, which was general, many ladies expressed their gratification that they were so fortunate as to live in America. At the close of the "Current Events" the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Sprott next Saturday. A social hour was spent and light refreshments were served by the committee—Mrs. Lackey, Mrs. Hortense Robbins and Mrs. Maud Robbins. The refreshments consisted of coffee, sandwiches and olives.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Mary A. Clark, deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 7th day of April, 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement account with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 10th day of March, 1900.

GEORGE W. CLARK, Executor.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the judge of the DeKalb circuit court, of the state of Indiana, administrator of the estate of John Henney, deceased, late of said county.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JOHN S POTTS, Administrator.
March 12, 1900.

MANY people have bad blood. That is because their Liver and Kidneys are sluggish and fail to carry off the waste matter. When this happens the blood is poisoned and disease sets in. To keep your blood pure take a quick relief and sure cure for disorders of the Liver, Kidneys and Bladder. Thousands use it in the spring especially. Your druggist has it. Only $1.00 a bottle.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

THE DR. J. H. McLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.
For sale by F. E. Davenport.

NERVITA PILLS Restore VITALITY, LOST VIGOR AND MANHOOD

Cure Impotency, Night Emissions and wasting diseases, all effects of self-abuse, or excess and indiscretion. A nerve tonic and blood builder. Brings the pink glow to pale cheeks and restores the fire of youth. By mail 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50; with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Send for circular. Address,

NERVITA MEDICAL CO.
Clinton & Jackson Sts., CHICAGO, ILL.
Davenport, The Druggist.

Red Cross Tansy Pills

FOR Suppressed Menstruation, PAINFUL Menstruation, And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES. Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless. Purely Vegetable. Never Fail.

The Ladies' Relief.

PRICE $1.00

Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we say. Vin de Cinchona Co, Des Moines, Iowa.

For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist

Oak Timber.

For sale, a job lot of oak and soft wood timber. Call on J. W. Sharer, one mile north of Concord, Ind. 10

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang

Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings, 2-story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettsville, ¾ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning. Will sell part cash, balance time, or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots, cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ⅓ its value, $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary; low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 64 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam, all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36. This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80-acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ¼ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard. 45 acres cleared, cleared, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price. Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, bal cleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time, must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30-acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard, well, cistern, good fences, soilblack sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

No. 65. 8½ acres land 3 miles south of Butler, 3 acres timber, balance clear. Good land. Will sell at Bargain Small payment down, balance on time.

No. 63. Brick residence; 8 rooms, two lots on 7th street, Auburn. Will sell on easy terms at a bargain.

No. 64. For rent, 240 acre of good, improved land, want first-class renter, to which will make desirable terms.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

GRIPPE

Grippe and influenza invariably leave the system with a bad cough. For such Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup is highly recommended. This wonderful remedy gives relief at once, conquers the worst cough overnight and soon effects a thorough cure.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

Cures Grippe and Influenza.

Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

Monday's Daily.

—G. W. Osborn moved this week to Waterloo.

—Miss Lydia Hogue returned Saturday evening from her visit to New Era.

—Read the call of Chairman Walters for a meeting of the democratic committeemen, March 27.

—Wallace Clum has bought from the building and loan association the property occupied by Ed. Webb.

—Miss Lulu Rempis of Waterloo was a guest Saturday of Mrs. Barns and her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Hartman.

—Dr. Baxter went out into Jackson township today to see Trustee Dancer who is very sick with bowel trouble.

—Go to Sheffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct.26w-tf

—The price of brick at Fort Wayne has been raised from $4.75 to $5.50 per thousand, the result of a combination among manufacturers.

—FOR SALE:—Three or four fresh cows; pur-blood Jerseys. Call on me at the old Rakestraw farm, two miles west of Auburn.—G. W. RAKESTRAW.

—See the COURIER for supervisors's notices to teamsters in regard to hauling over gravel roads. They are 9x12 and printed in bold type on heavy card board.

—A number of school masters and schoolma'ms from DeKalb county will attend the meeting of the state teachers' association at Logansport the last week of this month.

—A letter from Mrs. Della Weaver Koons, at Lewiston, Idaho, says they are making garden there. She likes the country and has already formed many pleasant acquaintances.

—Don't throw away a good but faded garment. Remember with one hour's work and no muss, if you use Putman Fadeless Dyes, you can make them new again. Sold by F. E. Davenport.

—Fred W. Baker, editor and publisher of the Avilla News, has completed one year on that paper. The News is a clean, newsy newspaper and deserves the support of the citizens of Avilla.

—James V. Hazzard of Huntington, once a well-known resident of Auburn, was in town over Sunday, a guest at the Hollister. This was Jim's first visit to Auburn in a number of years.

A man in Indianapolis has invented a necktie holder. That will not have much of a sale in Auburn where so many young ladies are ready to see to it, that the young man's necktie don't fall off.

—Fifty years ago today James McClellan rolled up his blankets and left for the gold fields of California. He is still on earth, though not so lively as he was on that eventful morning half a century ago.

—Del. Purdy has purchased the lunch room in the Pfefferl building on east Ninth street, recently conducted by Frank Rush. Mr. Purdy will keep everything up in first-class shape and will make a specialty of lunches for farmers.

—NOTICE:—We have the most beautiful line of commencement program samples we have had heretofore, and at prices as reasonable as ever. Make your selections early, We take pleasure in showing samples. We recently purchased type especially for this class of work. w-Aug. 1.

—Capt. Lahnum has been appointed major of the Fourth battalion of the Indiana National Guard, an honor which came to him unsought, but is none the less deserved and appreciated. Capt. Lahnum is a hard worker and is getting the Auburn company in first-class shape.

—George Jenkins was over to visit his father last week. He says Charley is all right and able to stand a good deal of hard work. If anyone doubts this, they should have seen him walking home through the fifteen-inch snow the morning it was the worst. It is only about three miles from St. Joe to his home.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

CEDAR.

B. F. Warner has bought the Balliet farm and expects to move there this spring.

It is rumored that we will soon have another wedding to report.

D. Gump made a business trip to Fort Wayne Monday.

Wm. Kenton went to Albion the first of the week to rent a house as he expects to work on the B. & O. grade this summer.

Ezra Haag moved his household goods to his father's place this week.

John E. Lung is still buying corn, oats, hay, wheat, buckwheat, barley and potatoes for Bash & Co. of Fort Wayne.

Billy Zern visited friends at St. Joe last Saturday and Sunday.

S. K. Slentz of St. John spent Sunday at his home here.

Perry Gump expects to work for John Benninghoff this summer.

E. C. Strause with his best girl made a trip to Auburn last Saturday.

Lucinda McClure spent Sunday with her daughter and family at LaOtto.

We understand that Charley Holman, formerly of this place, but now of Corunna, concluded last week that it was not best to live alone any longer and took unto himself a wife.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Mrs. G. W. Askew is here from Petoskey for a visit with relatives and friends.

—The democratic precinct committeemen will meet in this city on Tuesday, March 27.

—Sale bills printed on good tough, heavy, weather proof stock, cheap and on short notice.

—Congressman Robinson returned from Washington to visit his mother, who has been sick.

—We welcome two new names to our Weekly 1901 list—G. W. Rakestraw and Henry Bartels.

—If you wish to have beautiful clear white clothes ask for Russ' Bleaching Blue. Refuse Imitations.

—Perry Grosh broke an arm one day last week. Dr. Stamets has the case and reports him doing well.

—Dr. Stamets reports a nice little daughter born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lee on south Main street.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—If you want to sell or buy, or have lost or found anything, let your wants be known through the columns of the COURIER for quick results.

—Linas Hilkey and Miss Ida Bowen, both of this city, were married at Hoagland, last Saturday. They returned to Auburn yesterday and will make their home here.

—John S. Potts has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Henney. Young men are coming to be needed in places like that.

—Free buss and free baggage to all points in competition to Baltimorian and Ohio points when tickets are bought at city office.—SPROTT & KNAPP. tf

—E. E Bookmiller of Butler has closed a contract to cut timber from 23,000 acres of land in Arkansas, belonging to the McCormick harvesting machine company of Chicago.

—James Hazzard, whose visit to Auburn was noted yesterday, got the worst of it in a contest with his old enemy, "John Barleycorn," and spent the night as a guest of Marshal Hilkey. He left town today.

—They tell a good joke on Commissioner Shoemaker, whose absent-mindedness caused him to spend last night in Auburn, he having forgotten that he came down from Waterloo on the train instead of in a buggy.

—Don't kill the skunks, but sell them to us alive. We pay for star black, $1.50 to $2.00; small stripe, $1 to $1.50; large stripe, 50 to 75 cents; white, 40 to 50 cents. Write us; We will come and get them. DEKALB FUR CO. w4t

—The report is given out that there are several cases of smallpox in Swan township, Noble county. This is getting pretty close to DeKalb county and if the report is true the public should be on their guard against the disease.

—Pin your faith:—To Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers. They have stood the test. The bakers who bake them are determined to keep them up to high water mark. They are the best and you can prove it by a fair and square comparison.

—Since our last report the following marriage licenses have been issued by the county clerk: Charles G. Holman and Sarah E. Hanes; Chris. Grim and Lenora H. Grawcock; Linas Hilkey and Ida A. Bowen; Alfred Reasoner and Mary L. Hamilton.

—A few days ago Miss Jennie Imler received from one of the soldier boys at Columbia Barracks, Cuba, part of a big seaweed which is decorated with Indiana soldier buttons, and a chain made of horse-hair, and other relics. She values the souvenier very highly.

—As a result of a conference between the leaders of the two parties in Elkhart county it was decided that the republican should nominate four and the democrats three members of the county council. The nominees will be the men now serving by appointment.

—J. E. Rust, who has been visiting his brother-in-law, M. B. Masters, for a time, goes to South Bend tomorrow where he will remain a week with a daughter and from there he goes to Chicago where he will make his home with another daughter.

—Wm. Kist, formerly of the Pierceton Record, is now employed in the Dispatch office. It may interest the friends of his family to learn that his brother Fred is now traveling for the Chicago Inter Ocean, while the youngest, Frank, is in Iowa, working at the blacksmith trade.

—Mrs. Bertha Barker writes from Devereaux, Mich., that they want the COURIER changed from that place to Albion, Mich., "Route 3." That means that they are to have a free rural delivery, we suppose. We hope to hear from them later as to how the plan works. This is the first COURIER to go on the rural delivery.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on H. B. McCord, druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Miss Inez Farley of Hamilton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Thomas.

—Several carloads of handle stuff will be shipped out by J. M Cherry & Co. this week.

—Mrs. John Grete and daughter, Florence, are down with the grip, and are pretty sick.

—George Watson of Jackson was a caller yesterday on road business. He is supervisor in Dist. No. 5.

—Charley Comesky was in town Monday and brought the first report of the sudden death of Mr. Harnish.

—George W. Cromer was renominated for congress by the republicans of the Eighth district yesterday.

—E. M. Palmerton has gone to Milan to cut hoops for the Milan hoop factory. His family will remain here for a time.

—Russ' Bleaching Blue makes brown muslin white in a day. All grocers sell the genuine Russ. Refuse imitation.

—Mrs. C. C. Hoffman was taken sick while visiting her son, Attorney Hoffman in town a few days ago, but is now improving.

—The commissioners took an inventory of the property at the county asylum yesterday and found everything in good shape.

—M. L. Hoffman, who is secretary of the Butler township Sunday schools, was here today in the interest of their coming institute, March 31.

—The Butler township Sunday school institute will be held at Cedar Creek on March 31. A full program is prepared and excellent work will be done.

—Mrs. Baltz, of Spencerville, mother of Dr. Carey, who was visiting friends here Saturday and Sunday, was taken quite sick at the home of Mrs. Walborn. She is still here, though improving.

—When a man tells you that So and So's crackers are just as good as Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers, make up your mind that he's "off his reckoning." Taste, test and find out the facts as they exist.

—Business is brisk at the Eckhart factory and they are turning out a big lot of work. The new addition is under roof and will be ready for use in a short time.

—The Knights of Pythias at Corunna gave a banquet to their friends last evening. Those in attendance report a grand time and the spread elaborate. —Kendallville Sun.

—Mayor Harrison of Chicago has not missed a regular meeting of the council since his incumbency in office, and has always been present to start the meetings on schedule time.

—Mrs. Martin Marsh and daughter, Elsie, and also Harry Bear of the South end have the old reliable grip. In fact, our reporter says the grip is about all they have down that way.

—A flock of wild geese flying over Winamac became bewildered from the glare of the electric lights, and settled in a street. They took fright at shots fired at them and went honking on their way.

—Senator Fairbanks' bill to reimburse the state of Indiana for money expended in fitting out state troops has been passed by the senate. The money involved is almost $700,000. The bill is now before the house for consideration.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn, Ind. 4tf —Brandon & Long are rearranging the furniture in the Johnson room, which will be used by Schaab Bros. A large doorway has been cut in the brick wall between the two buildings and when the boys get their stock arranged in the new room it will be one of the finest stores in this part of the state.

—Cracker genius:—It takes a genius to bake a good cracker. Any "cheap" baker can't do it. There's a knack needed which few possess. Fox's "Forex" New Design Butter Crackers are the result of the very best ingredients handled in the most skillful manner. That's why they are top o' the heap.

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. and mention this paper.

BUTLER.

Butler people have been making the most of the sleighing and many will long remember March, 1900, with its ten days of sleighing. This does not quite equal the spring of 1840 when the snow fell the last of February and good sleighing continued until April 4, when the people attended the spring elections in sleds on the fourth day of April. March, 1894, there were eighteen days of good sleighing.

The eighth grade of our public school filled a big sled and visited Waterloo last Thursday evening. They were a noisy lot and waked the echoes along the route with loud singing and class yells.

Will Chick, recently sent to the southern reformatory, is home on parole. We hope he will stick to work now and save his mother further trouble.

Mrs. Newman, the aged mother of our townsman C. A. Newman, was buried in Michigan last week.

James Champion and wife of Pleasant Lake visited with the former's sister, Mrs. J. A. Campbell, last week. They are about to move on a farm in Michigan, a few miles north of Fremont, Ind.

Philip Walters, formerly of Butler, now of Lagrange, who recently married a comely widow of that place and had a nice eighty acre farm thrown in, visited his old associates about Butler last week. He reports everything prosperous about Lagrange.

Lee Campbell of Gypsy fame is reported seriously sick at Montpelier, O.

There seems to be considerable sickness about town and in the country around. Measles and mumps prevail in some parts of town.

R. S. Kester has the Showalter house that was damaged by fire in January, nearly completed.

A small child of Mr. Oberlin's, living in the north part of town, was buried last Sunday.

Good reports come from the Butler colony at Port Huron, Mich.

FAIRFIELD.

William Krahn was at Helmer last Sunday.

Miss Cora Paxson of Michigan is visiting her uncle, David Shook, and wife.

Miss Etta Pontius has been visiting her sister the past week.

Mr. Hiram Beard and Mrs. Solomon Hecht are visiting relatives at Bellville, Mich.

Vet Shumaker was in town Monday.

Philip Gushwa returned home last Wednesday.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Obituary.

Elizabeth, Sour, Henney, was born in Woldorph, Germany, Dec. 18, 1838, and died at her home in Fairfield township, Ind., February 28, 1900, aged 61 years, 2 months and 10 days. She emigrated to America with her parents Zovember 4, 1853, settling in Sandusky, O., later moving to Huron county, where her parents died. She was married to John Henney, March 9, 1856. In 1865 they moved to Indiana and settled on the farm, where she had lived until death called her home. Her husband dying November 3, 1897. A number of years ago she was converted and united with the Evangelical church, but afterwards joined the German M. E. church, to which she remained a faithful member. She was the mother of twelve children, five of them preceding her home. She leaves to mourn her death, seven children, thirteen grandchildren and many friends.

Dearest loved one, we must lay thee,
In the peaceful grave's embrace;
But thy memory still we cherish
Till we see thy heavenly face.

Funeral services from Sedan Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. A. E. Gaff.

W. C. T. U. Institute.

There will be an institute of the Womens Christian Temperance Union held in Corunna, beginning on the evening of the 23rd of March On the evening of the 25th a medal contest will be given. Admission 10 cents, children under twelve years 5 cents. A medal worth $2.50 will be given to the contestant making the best percent. On Saturday, the 24th, various subjects will be discussed by the state president and secretary and others. The Hoosier Quartet of Auburn will furnish the music for the contest. The Corunna Quartet (ladies) will furnish for Saturday and Saturday evening. The institute will be held in the Christian church at Corunna. The committee on entertainment will provide for all who may desire to come from neighboring towns.

Red Hot From The Gun

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible Ulcers that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Cures Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Boils, Felons, Corns, Skin Eruptions. Best Pile cure on earth. 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by H. B. McCord, druggist.

Has Lots of 'Em.

Our old friend A. Lewis is already preparing for next season's building campaign and among other material received was one lot of 275,000 of the celebrated Davenport shingles, than which none better ever came out of a mill. Mr. Lewis will be prepared to furnish shingles to everybody who wants them.

Ho, Stop, Read!

After an absence from your city of

Twenty Two Years

I am back again to do all the good I can.

Have taken the agency for the Square, Quaker, Turkish Folding Bath Cabinets. Am now prepared to make the.....

Old Young, and the Young Happy

For $5.00.

No Ailment of the Human Family, but what our Vapor Baths will Relieve. Call and see Cabinets at our home, No. 8½ N. Main St., Auburn, Ind.

A. M. A. MILLER,
General Agent.

WEICHT & CUTLER,

Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country.

Western 'Phone 106

Auburn, Ind.
South of Jail

Don't Read This... Advertisement

Unless You Want Something in the.....

Jewelry Line.

Just arrived a very few pieces of small....

Bric-a-Brac

Everything new in Jewelry. See our window.

D.A.Hodge,

HUMPHREYS' VETERINARY SPECIFICS

A.A. CURES	FEVERS, Lung Fever, Milk Fever.
B.B. CURES	SPRAINS, Lameness, Rheumatism.
C.C. CURES	EPIZOOTIC, Distemper.
D.D. CURES	WORMS, Bots, Grubs.
E.E. CURES	COUGHS, Colds, Influenza.
F.F. CURES	COLIC, Bellyache, Diarrhoea.
G.G.	Prevents MISCARRIAGE.
H.H. CURES	KIDNEY & BLADDER DISORDERS.
I.I. CURES	MANGE, Skin Diseases.
J.K. CURES	BAD CONDITION, Staring Coat.

60c. each; Stable Case, Ten Specifics, Book, &c., $7. At druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Humphreys' Medicine Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York. VETERINARY MANUAL SENT FREE.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,

VITAL WEAKNESS

and Prostration from Overwork or other causes.

Humphreys' Homeopathic Specific No. 28, in use over 40 years, the only successful remedy.

$1 per vial, or 5 vials and large vial powder, for $5. Sold by Druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price. HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., Cor. William & John Sts., New York.

New Tinner!

Charles Rodeman, an experienced tinner, has bought Frank Rush's establishment and will continue the business. All kinds of work in Tin and Sheet Metal done with skill and dispatch. Give him your work. Call at....

Rush's Old Stand.

West 7th St.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am—Daily
No. 8	8:34 am—Daily
No. 4	4:59 pm—Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	2:05 pm—ex Su
No. 96	11:35 am—ex Su
No. 98	8:30 pm—ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am—Daily
No. 9	5:38 am—Daily
No. 3	7:48 pm—Daily
No. 71 (local freight)	9:15 am—ex Su
No. 95	5:48 pm—ex Su
No. 97	7:52 am—ex Su

Nos. 8 and 9 do not stop at Auburn, but No. 9 stops at the Junction.

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind

Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen't Manager.
G. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98

Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 3 Express, to Garrett only	3:52 p m
No. 5 Daily	4:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:17 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Sunday	12:25 p m
No. 47	1:53 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:30 a m
No. 6 Daily	3:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	3:35 p m
No. 14 Daily	11:17 p m
No. 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:08 a m

Trains Nos. 16 and 17 are the only ones that top at Wawaseo.

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager
D. B. MARTIN, Manager of Passenger Traffic.
G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind
THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 19 1899.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 40 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 19 pm	5 08	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 35	5 21	7 10
Auburn	12 39	5 25	7 20
Waterloo	12 41	5 30	8 15
Summit	12 51	5 45	8 35
Steubenville	12 54	5 49
Pleasant Lake	1 05	6 00	9 55
Angola	1 13	6 08	9 35
Jackson	2 25	8 25	3 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson ..... dp	5 55 am	11 45 am	7 05 am
Angola	11 00	2 10 pm	9 15
Pleasant Lake	11 25	2 29	9 36
Steubenville	.....	2 36	9 51
Summit	11 30	2 39	9 33
Waterloo	12 41 pm	2 55	9 48
Auburn	1 30	3 05	9 58
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 02
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 13
Fort Wayne	3 30	3 50	10 50

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DELAPP, Agent Auburn.

REWARD.

We, the undersigned druggists, offer a reward of 50 cents to any person who purchases of us, two 25 cent boxes of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters Tablets, if it fails to cure constipation, billiousness, sick-headache, jaundice, loss of appetite, sour stomach, dyspepsia, liver complaint, or any of the diseases for which it is recommended. Price 25 cents for either tablets or liquid. We will also refund the money if it fails to give satisfaction.—E. M. Fischler, F. E. Davenport and H. B. McCord.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Sweden has ordered forty-seven batteries of the latest artillery. These little countries are learning that they can put up a stiff fight.

With the men all at the front fighting on the kopjes, the Boer women may be forced to harvest the cropjes, and, if the worst comes, to defend their homes with their mopjes.

Connecticut figures from its recent State school census show that it has twenty per cent. more inhabitants than it had in 1890. The population of the country on this basis is 75,150,000.

The metric system of weights and measures is now permitted in Russia, and while it does not supplant the national system already in use, it may be used side by side with it.

A letter carrier in Chicago who, as alleged, incited two small boys to engage in a fight in which one of them seven years old, was so badly injured that he had to be taken to a hospital for treatment, has been sued by the small boy's mother for $10,000 damages.

Through the fear that the fragile and delicate Italian greyhound will become extinct a movement is now on foot in England to establish a club for the improvement of this breed of dog and making them more popular as household pets.

Some of the worst famines of modern times were the famine in Ireland in 1846-7, in which 1,000,000 people perished; the Indian famine of 1866, which claimed 1,450,000 victims; the Indian famine of 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1878, in which 9,500,000 are said to have died.

Mason City, Iowa, is progressive. The Official Board of the Methodist Church of that city has "resolved" that ladies "be encouraged" to remove their hats during service. Evidently the preachers want to be seen as well as heard. Or is it that the male worshippers are addicted to naps behind the big hats?

The gondola of Venice will soon be a thing of the past. A steam transportation company has established a system of shrieking little steamboats which make their noisy way all through the city, despite the protests from the inhabitants, and the picturesque gondola will soon be no more.

It is announced that the division of forestry of the Department of Agriculture has decided to investigate this summer the extreme eastern distribution of the Rocky Mountain trees. This will be done for the benefit of tree planters on the Western plains, since the success of planting in those regions must depend upon the introduction of trees which are adapted to them.

It is on record that Mr. Rhodes was as ignorant of Boer military resources as Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Lord Rosebery, Lord Wolseley or Lord Lansdowne, for only last summer he declared: "The armed strength of the Boers is the greatest unpricked bubble in the world." This utterance is worthy of rank with the leader of the opposition's famous aphorism: "There is no need for military preparations."

Gold seekers naturally constitute a very mobile population, and movements of this kind are among the things to be expected, though a little while ago few imagined that such a change as that indicated in the press dispatches would take place so soon. A striking incident of the exodus, and one which throws a strong light upon the character of the population, is the contemplated movement of the largest playhouse in Dawson to the Cape Nome region, a distance of 2,000 miles.

California is falling into line in calling for the adoption of the metric system. The San Francisco Call concludes a carefully written exposition of the subject with the statement: "Neither the United States nor Great Britain, nor both combined, can force their clumsy medieval method of weighing and measuring upon the world in the face of the excellent decimal system which the French have introduced and made popular throughout Europe. Sooner or later we must come to it, and it would appear that the sooner we do it the better."

Last year there passed through the Sault Ste. Marie canals 25,255,810 tons of freight—the wheat, corn, oats flour, iron ore, copper and lumber of the great Northwest, and the coal, manufactures and miscellaneous merchandise of the East. This enormous traffic, amounting to nearly one-half of the annual freightage of all the railroads in the Lake Superior region is increasing annually by leaps and bounds—doubling, in fact, in every five years. It is a fair and significant indication of the material prosperity of the Northwest, and a continual object lesson in the supreme advantages of cheap water transportation.

The great danger of contagion which lies in books from circulating libraries has often been spoken of. It is a common thing for these books to find their way into the rooms of invalids, especially into those occupied by chronic patients. The state board of health of Michigan reports the death from consumption of twenty department clerks whose work had been in certain volumes of records. The books were found by examining bacteriologists to be full of tubercle bacilli, and it is believed that they became thus infected from a clerk who had consumption, and who was known to have habitually moistened his thumb with saliva when he turned a page.

An interesting exhibit at the Paris Exposition will be an industry of Minnesota not yet two years old, which is converting into many useful and ornamental articles the familiar wire grass of the American swamps, heretofore considered wholly worthless. In this exhibit will be furniture the grass taking the place of reed, rattan or willow; screens, baby carriages, baskets, jardiniere bowls and mattings. The material is described as light, beautiful, elastic and enduring. More than five hundred persons are now employed steadily in the industry, which number is to be tripled in a few months, the demands for the goods warranting the erection of two more plants. In the summer, when the raw material is being gathered, more than three thousand persons are engaged.

The town of McAlester, in the Indian Territory, has a population of more than seven thousand, all of them squatters, who hope that eventually the Federal Government will ratify their title to the property of which they have taken possession. They have no mayor, no town marshal, no aldermen, no police. There never was a survey of the ground made for town purposes. Yet they have built up fine residences, for a frontier settlement; the houses are built in rows that leave wide and fairly regular streets; the people lead moral lives and are law-abiding in spirit, though there are no particular laws for them to abide by. A stranger in the city would never suspect that the place was not fully organized and furnished with all the modern municipal machinery.

It is a strange anomaly to find Great Britain, the home of the emigrant, threatened by the immigrant, yet such is the case. Industrial activity and the increase in wages in the United Kingdom have attracted hordes of Continental labor. One month alone about four thousand immigrants arrived, a large increase on the average. The Globe of London plaintively remarks: When the present wave of industrial prosperity is succeeded by a wave of adversity we shall have on our hands a multitude of foreigners, eagerly competing for the bread which ought by right to nourish the native born. We have no legislative machinery for sifting out pauper aliens and returning them to their own countries, as they have in the United States.

Courtesy to fellow passengers has been commended and encouraged by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals (Eighth Circuit) in the case of Trumbull Erickson. John Erickson, a passenger on a Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf Railway Company train, gave his seat to two old and infirm women, and then stood in the aisle. The car was crowded, and Erickson found himself pushed out on the platform. Going around a curve he was jolted off. He sued and got judgment. The Appellate Court, in affirming the judgment, said: "The defendant, in effect, asked the court to declare as a matter of law that, when an able-bodied passenger in a crowded car surrenders his seat to an infirm old person, he is guilty of an act of negligence. It is a matter of everyday occurrence for passengers on crowded street-cars to surrender their seats to women, and to men as well, who are old, crippled, and infirm; and this practice obtains under like circumstances on passenger-cars on railroads, also. While the law does not make it obligatory upon passengers to do this, the consensus of opinion in the country does; and one failing to extend this courtesy, under the circumstances that existed in this case, would justly subject himself to public scorn and censure. It is an act of courtesy which is practised and approved by all men of ordinary social instincts, and only a corporation, which is a creation of man, and therefore has neither soul nor conscience, nor social instincts, nor any principles outside of its coffers, would seek to have such a polite and gracious act declared one of culpable negligence."

Glass Cooking Utensils.

Some women have to be queens, some pot-wrestlers. Pot-wrestling is in higher favor than washing the dishes and scouring the knives. But our pots (using the word as a generic term covering the whole field of cooking utensils) have not kept pace with our civilization. They still bend and rust, crack, wear out and scale off. I suggest to our glass manufacturers annealed kettles, boilers, stew-pans, coffee-pots, etc., of indestructible vitreous substances. I have no doubt that such utensils would quickly supersede those metal ones which we have been wrestling with these many years. No acid would affect them, no fruits, vegetables, meats or beverages would taint them. Nothing would stick to them. They would require no polishing, no shining up once a week. Their cleanliness would bring godliness to the home, which is next to the kitchen. He who introduces glass cooking utensils will reap a fortune.—Victor Smith in New York Press.

The "Train Fever" Dream.

Herein we find ourselves about to go a journey, but one of the bags or boxes inexplicably declines to get itself packed, in spite of all the best endeavors of self and servants. It is like the waking experience of all those of us who are occassionally, but not often enough to make the process easy and familiar, obliged to pack for ourselves—the experience that whenevr we strap up the last vehicle for luggage we immediately find another suit of whose existence there was no previous sign. In dreams it is not only a suit, but a whole portmanteau load, that will not get itself packed. As fast as one thing is put in another is created to be put in after it, and after the whole has been packed quite full it is often found in some mysterious way to be quite empty again, and all the things in a muddle on the floor.—Longman's.

Among the members of the present Congress, ninety-five per cent. wear Prince Alberts and silk hats, which has caused observers to remark that it is the best dressed Congress in many years.

Copenhagen will send a scientific expedition to Siam in the autumn.

VIADUCT TO BE TAKEN DOWN.

Immense Work of Engineering in Pennsylvania Will Be Destroyed.

It is authoritatively stated that the famous Kinzua viaduct, the gigantic iron girder and trestle bridge in McKean County, Pennsylvania, south of Bradford, is to be replaced at an early date by a new and wholly different structure. Work on it was begun on May 5, 1882, and it was completed and opened for traffic less than four months later, on Aug. 29, 1882. It is 301 feet high at the highest point and until the completion of the Garabit viaduct was the highest bridge in the world. The Garabit spans the Truyere in the south of France, is 1,840 feet long and at the highest point the rail level is 401 feet above the river. It was designed by M. Eiffel, builder of the famous tower, and was completed in 1884.

The Kinzua bridge is 2,060 feet long. Its completion gave to the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad direct communication with the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania. The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg has a traffic arrangement with the Erie for the use of the bridge. The valley of the Kinzua, which this great trestle spans, is fifteen miles south of Bradford and one of the wildest regions yet left in Western Pennsylvania. Until recently, perhaps even yet, bear were plentiful and deer occasionally found in this valley. The Kinzua viaduct has been a point of excursion and an object of curiosity for sight seers ever since it was built. Gen. Grant was taken there on one occasion.

GREAT KINZUA VIADUCT, 300 FEET HIGH, TO BE TAKEN DOWN.

GREAT COKE AND COAL YEAR.

Tremendous Output of Both Expected in Western Pennsylvania in 1900.

This year will witness the greatest era in the coke and coal regions of Western Pennsylvania in their history. In the Connellsville coke region more new ovens will be built than in any previous year, and the coke production will be increased fully 20 per cent. There are now projected and in the course of erection more than 2,000 new ovens, which will be put in operation by the middle of the coming summer, which will run the total of the coke region up to 21,000 ovens. At the beginning of the present year there were in operation in the region 18,904 ovens. During the past twelve months the price of coke has nearly doubled, and the demand to-day greatly exceeds the production. At the present price, $3, the business is most profitable. Two years ago coke was selling for $1 a ton. The production of the coke region for 1897 was 8,500,000 tons, while during the year 1899 9,529,000 tons was shipped from the Connellsville region. The 1897 product was valued at $14,000,000, while that of last year represented a value of $20,500,000. The enlarged capacity will increase the product for 1900 to about 13,000,000 tons, with a value of nearly $30,000,000.

Just now there is a famine in coke. The famine is not acute because coke can be had for immediate delivery, but only in small quantities. Coke makers are just now getting $3 a ton for furnace coke and $3.25 for foundry coke. Western Pennsylvania coke is now bringing $5.90 at Cincinnati and $6.50 at St. Louis. All kinds of coal have greatly advanced in prices, and to-day there is not an idle mine in all Western Pennsylvania. In many cases the wages of the miners have been advanced greatly. The coal famine has induced many large Pittsburg consumers to buy up coal lands, and many new mines will be opened soon. A large syndicate, formed of Pittsburg consumers, has obtained control of more than 1,000,000 acres of rich coal lands around the city, and will operate mines to supply their manufacturing plants.

MYSTERY OF THE MAINSPRING.

Some Breakages Not Yet Understood Despite Much Investigation.

Despite the investigations regarding the structure of mainsprings and the efforts to improve them; despite the experimentation and theorizing on the subject, some of the causes of the breaking of mainsprings remain an unsolved mystery. Many, indeed, are the known causes responsible for breaking, such as faulty construction or tempering, careless handling, leading to the formation of rust and poor fitting, but after all these which are recognized have been eliminated there still remains the fact well known to watchmakers that the best springs will, in spite of the most careful handling and proper adjustment, unexpectedly break, sometimes in a number of places. It will thus happen that of two springs made at the same time by the same process, of the same material, tempered in the same way and handled with the same care, one may last for years, while the other may break after two weeks' use, or even while being placed in the barrel.

When it is considered that the spring is but from .008 to .009 of an inch in thickness; that the material must be subjected to a process which shall give it a high state of elasticity, and at the same time enable it to do its prescribed work for years, a slight molecular disarrangement in its structure may be expected to occur from causes too insignificant for observation.

Many jewelers state that it is their experience that they have many more mainsprings to repair after a warm, humid day than at any other time. Others believe the breaking to be due to electric disturbances, stating that after an electrical storm they find that many of their customers bring their watches to them for repair. The sudden cooling and consequent contraction of the tightly wound mainspring, caused by the removal of the watch from the body on a cool night following a warm day, is believed by some to account, in a measure, for the accidents mentioned. So far, however, no entirely satisfactory explanation has been suggested. The only conclusion to be drawn from the acknowledged facts of the case is that it is not safe for the watchmaker to infer, merely from the breaking of a mainspring, that it is of an inferior grade, nor for his customer to believe the watchmaker deficient in skill because the mainspring of his timepiece has snapped shortly after being replaced.

Baggage Allowed a Cavalry Officer.

In the war in South Africa a British mounted officer knows exactly what he may carry. In his pockets or haversack or slung on a belt he is restricted to a whistle, compass, notebook, water bottle, clasp knife, besides sword, pistol and ammunition. On this horse, attached to the saddle, are a spare shoe, case with nails, nosebag, picketing ropes and pegs, cloak, mess tin, field glass and in a pair of wallets an emergency ration, tin of vaseline, underlinen (not exceeding two pounds), knife, fork, spoon, comb, toothbrush, shaving brush, nightcap, field cap, towel and soap, drinking cup, map of country and a box of matches. All these articles must not, with saddle and bridle, exceed 71½ pounds in weight. Carried in the regimental transport each mounted officer is restricted to 25 pounds of baggage, which must be packed in bed valise, and includes change of clothing and linen, boots and puttles, canvas shoes, bucket, lantern and writing portfolio, camp kettle, two plates and pepper and salt pots.

Pope Leo's Graceful Act.

Pope Leo was able to show deference to an older man than himself at the celebration of his coronation. Cardinal Martel, who is 92 years of age and the senior Cardinal in length of service, having been Cardinal deacon for forty years, had himself carried to the vatican, but was unable, after the Pope's address, to join in the defile past the throne. The Pope, noticing this, stepped down from his throne and walking to Cardinal Mertel wished him many more years of life.

The Morals of Ants.

Sir John Lubbock has gone to the ant again, and if he keeps up his visits and others imitate him that interesting insect will become useless for Sunday school purposes. Sir John succeeded in getting fifty ants helplessly drunk and then placed them outside an ant hill. The sober ants came out, picked up their friends, and put them to bed to sleep off the effects of Sir John's liquor; the strangers, however, they sternly rolled over into the ditch.

A Reformer.

Mrs. Corncribber—I reckon our Hennery has joined the law and order league at Yale.

Mr. Corncribber—Why do you think that?

Mrs. Corncribber—Why, he writes that he's helped to break up four shows at the opera house this week. Them theaters is very pernicious things, you know.—Judge.

Different ways: "They sat and held hands all the evening." "How silly!" "Oh, I don't know. You have to in whist."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The hostess—I want you to meet Mr. Cawker. So interesting, you know. He believes in nothing. The blase one—What enthusiasm!—Life.

Men are so scarce that a man who talks of getting divorce can always find women sympathizers.

SUPPOSE WE SMILE.

HUMOROUS PARAGRAPHS FROM THE COMIC PAPERS.

Pleasant Incidents Occurring the World Over—Sayings that Are Cheerful to Old or Young—Funny Selections that Everybody Will Enjoy.

Stella—Why on earth did Miss Pechis reject Mr. Boomer? He's making lots of money in the advertising business.

Bella—Yes, and he proposed to her by mail in this fashion: "I can place in a few good papers of guaranteed circulation at a minimum cost the following notice (pure reading, top column): 'Engaged, Miss Birdie Pechis to Mr. Howlett Boomer.' If this proposition meets your approval, kindly sign and return by first mail."—Philadelphia Press.

The True Condition.

Briggs—Do you believe that the world is divided into two classes, those who borrow and those who lend?

Griggs—No, sir; my experience is that two other classes are much more prevalent—those who want to borrow and those who won't lend.—Life.

Something New in Carpet Goods.

Erastus, Jr.—What kin' ob a cigah is dat, pap?

Erastus, Sr.—I fink it am Brussels wrappah an' Ingrain fillah, mah son. It war a present from a man dat beats carpets.

$2,000 in It, Anyway.

"Ah, but there's no money in literature," sighed the young man who was trying to earn a living with his pen.

"Yes, there is," said the great lard refiner. "My daughter has written four books of poems, and I've paid $2,000 to have them printed. We haven't got a cent out of them so far."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Doogan Got the Job.

The Boss—Yis, bhoys, we need an Art Commissioner. Now, Doogan, ye've said ye'd loike the place. What are yer qualifications?

Doogan—Hivins! The salary is tin thousand a year, begorrah, an' Oi kin spend ivry cint of it.

N. B.—Doogan got the job.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Almost as Good.

"Do you believe you will succeed in having your man acquitted?" asked one lawyer.

"I haven't given much thought to that phase of the question," answered the other. "But I am absolutely confident that we can have the trial postponed often enough to prevent a conviction."—Washington Star.

Holiday Infantile Logic.

Teacher—Who was the father of his country?

Scholar—Santa Claus.

Teacher—No, no!

Scholar—Well, fathers is the Santy Clauses of this country, anyway.

A Hot Time Ahead.

"Does raw meat make folks savage?"

"I guess it do."

"Then feed me about four pounds right away, for I wants to lick a purleeceman."

Now the Cards Are Out.

She—Sir! How dare you kiss me?

He—"Out of sight, out of mind," you know.

She—What do you mean, sir?

He—Well, I mean you're out of sight and it just made me crazy with love to look at you."—Philadelphia Press.

Shades and Degrees.

"Are your new neighbors nice?" Mrs. Skinner.

"Well, they're not exactly nice, but they are pretty near nice."—Indianapolis Journal.

Alert.

"The great danger," said the grave citizen, "is that we will drift into a paternal form of government."

"Yes," answered Mr. Meekton, with a sigh; "Henrietta seems worried about that every time I speak to the children."—Washington Star.

Once Removed.

Raynor—I hear there is a new baby next door to you.

Shyne—You don't hear it half as often as I do.—Chicago Tribune.

No Time Wasted.

Betty—You say you never turn down the light when Jack comes?

Letty—Never.

Betty—Why, how unsociable.

Letty—Jack doesn't think so.

Betty—How do you account for it?

Letty—Well, you see, I never turn it up.—Judy.

Just Like a Man.

When a young man, the late John Lewis, R. A., went to India and Egypt and was away about eighteen years. When he returned to his mother's house in Portland Place he almost immediately pulled off his boots and commenced to hunt about at one end of the parlor fender, and seemed terribly put about. His mother, of course, asked him anxiously what he wanted.

"My slippers," said he. "When I went away I left them just down there. Now, where are they?"—Tit-Bits.

Well Informed.

Patron—Are you sure you know all about this girl?

Manager of Employment Agency—Well, I ought to. She has been in my family for the past week.—Detroit Free Press.

In Her Line.

Wife—I found a place to-day where I can get a $12 wrap for $7.98.

Husband—Very well. To-morrow go out and find a place where I can get the $7.98.

Variable.

"What is this title 'professor' that I hear so often?" asked the distinguished foreigner.

"Well," answered Miss Cayenne, "it's getting rather hard to tell. Usually it means a man who knows more than any one else, and sometimes it means a man who simply won't work."—Washington Star.

Mrs. Middleroad's Troubles.

Mrs. Brown—So you are a widow a second time, Mrs. Middleroad?

Mrs. Middleroad—Yes; and it's too bad. I have got so used to the name of Middleroad that I hate to have to give it up for some other name, for I don't think there's another marriageable Middleroad in this vicinity. Isn't it awful?—Boston Transcript.

The Only Alternative.

She—Then it's all over between us.

He—Yes; all that remains now is to go back to the ones we were engaged to before.—Life.

Human Nature's Failing.

The average male employe is always a good deal more grieved when he has to work ten minutes overtime than he is pleased when the boss lets him go some night an hour early.—Somerville Journal.

A Qualified Appraiser.

"I am afraid you don't appreciate popularity at its full value."

"I ought to be able to," rejoined Senator Sorgham. "I have paid enough for it."—Washington Star.

The Solar Plexus.

Friend—Er, dat's it, Sam; dat's it; hit him in de solar-pa-lucus.

All Settled.

She—Have you seen my father?

Fresh—There was no need. I had my lawyer look up his standing.—Life.

A Good Passage.

"Did you have a good passage?" was asked of a recent traveler.

"Fair; but I couldn't sleep. The first three nights I couldn't tell whether to shut the porthole and go to bed, or to close the bed and go to the porthole. And the last three I spent in reading the customs laws."—Life.

Born to Dominate.

"Mrs. Crowder has been president of your club a long time."

"Yes; none of us could call her to order, so we decided we might as well let her regulate the rest of us."—Chicago Record.

Why It Was.

Browne—Smith says this week is passing more rapidly than any week he ever saw.

Towne—Yes; his wife is coming home on Saturday.

His Serious Studies.

"What studies are you pursuing?" asked the landlady of the new boarder, who had told her he was a student.

"I am studying psychology," he answered. "I am delving into unstrayed fields. I'm studying the——"

Just then some one passed him the dish of hash.

"I am," he continued, "fathoming the mysterious and unknown."

And the landlady never knew why all the people around the table smiled audibly.—Baltimore News.

They Sized Him Up.

A very simple statement proved very unfortunate to a savings institution in the rural district recently. An editor in writing of the institution in his paper said:

"The president is a very tall man; the cashier is short."

And in less than an hour the excited depositors were asking, "How much? How much?"—Atlanta Constitution.

No Commiseration Necessary.

Two girls met in a dry goods store yesterday. They had evidently not seen each other for some time, as the trend of their conversation proved.

"What good times we used to have at the lake," said one.

"Yes, I like our own resorts," replied the other, "better than on the coast. Oh, say, where is my old flame, Perry? I think the world of that boy."

"Oh, he's married."

"You don't say! Who to?"

"Me."

"Well, of all things," replied her friend, flushing.

The conversation drifted, but a short time later reverted to its old channel.

"Say, Hetty," remarked Perry's wife, "did you meet Johnny —— out in San Francisco?" and then added, "He told me that summer he was there that he could not live without me."

"Yes, I met him in Los Angeles."

"Poor fellow! I feel sorry for him. He is a bachelor yet, I suppose."

"No, he's married."

"You don't say! Who to?"

"Me."—Salt Lake Herald.

SERMONS OF THE WEEK

Man.—God loves men not for what they are, but for what he can make out of them.—Rev. Frank Crane, Methodist, Chicago, Ill.

Spiritual Power.—The resources of spiritual power are ever at the command of the humblest saint.—Rev. J. J. Persons, Baptist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Life.—Life is not the lapse of years, but an inheritance which is ours to possess, modify and improve.—Rev. J. T. Steffy, Methodist, Pittsburg, Pa.

Ignorance.—Ignorance of law does not excuse violations of it. Search all the more earnestly for your sin.—Rev. T. H. Rice, Presbyterian, Atlanta, Ga.

Bad Habits.—The giving of ourselves to bad habits is an insult to our heavenly father, who gave us life and being.—Rev. Dr. Frohock, Methodist, Akron, Ohio.

Patience.—Be patient toward all men. One of the brightest pictures in the life of Jesus is his patience toward weak, erring, stumbling men.—Rev. J. R. Shannon, Methodist, Toledo, Ohio.

Broadening Humanity.—At the present time we find the highly educated man linking his knowledge to the ignorance of the world, and by so doing broadening humanity.—Rev. J. S. Penman, Bangor, Me.

The Great Problem.—The great problem is to so present Christ to men that they may recognize that it is to their best and eternal interest to be his disciples "in deed."—Rev. C. A. Parkin, San Francisco, Cal.

Time.—Time redeemed is wealth. Every time you buy up an opportunity for him you invest an hour in God, and with those hours God is making your fortune.—Rev. J. M. Gaston, Presbyterian, Pittsburg, Pa.

Small Things.—We are too much engrossed with life's small affairs. Let us wisely seek the one thing needful. Christ brought us great things and taught us how we may possess them.—Rev. W. T. Lewis, Methodist, Troy, N. Y.

Conflict with Life.—Changes have come, but there are some things that can never change, and one of them is the truth wrung out of the heart of man in his conflict with life.—Rev. Morgan Millar, Unitarian, San Francisco, Cal.

Society.—Society has progressed in the past and will progress in the future. But, compared to the progress made in other lines, in science and in medicine, it has not gone forward as rapidly as it should.—Rabbi Krauskopf, Hebrew, Philadelphia, Pa.

Satan.—Satan is revealed as a personality of tremendous energy, influence and power. He is not only a powerful personality, but he has a well-organized and regulated authority—the prince of devils.—Rev. Dr. Radcliffe, Presbyterian, Washington, D. C.

Our Work.—Much of our work is without the praise of men, and it is the endless repetition of the duties never done, or finished to-day only to be taken up again to-morrow, that makes our lives seem to us to be small and narrow.—Rev. G. L. Perrin, Universalist, Boston, Mass.

Harmony.—There are but two essential things to do in order to secure harmony of existence and perfection of environment: Establish the mind upon the divine plan of thought and eliminate every thought that tends to deny this basis of being.—Rev. F. E. Mason, Spiritualist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duty of Christians.—I have never heard in these latter days of biblical study that any one has ventured to assert that it is not proclaimed in the New Testament that it is the duty of Christians to preach Christ to those who do not know him.—Rev. J. L. Barton, Congregationalist, Bangor, Me.

Degeneracy.—To affirm the degeneracy of the present is as common as it is foolish and untruthful. Some men make remarks of this kind with the hope of excusing their own folly and sin. There never was a time since Eden when some men were not wicked.—Rev. Dr. MacArthur, Baptist, New York City.

The Greatness of God.—If men had the faintest conception of the greatness of God they would utterly break down at the thought that he in his wisdom and purity would ever care for them, and they would never cease from seeking to win one another to him.—Rev. Dr. Hillis, Congregationalist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Liberty.—Who can gauge the idea of liberty? Who can follow it into all its outworkings? But Lincoln solved it in the special form of negro slavery, and Luther solved it in the particular form of religious liberty, and Moses solved it as to the liberation of Jews out of Egypt.—Rev. J. C. Smith, Christian Church, Indianapolis, Ind.

The World's Destiny.—Every system has its theory of the world's destiny, and for the Christians "that far-off, divine event, toward which the whole creation moves," is the promised "summing up of all things unto him who is the head," when the evil will perish from the earth, when all that is contrary to God's will shall be purged away and purified in every part, the creation that took its rise from God shall reach its goal in him who is its source, and he who was the beginning shall also be the end.—Rev. C. M. Jacobs, Lutheran, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Four Most Populous Nations.

For a decade or two longer the United States must be content to remain in the fourth place in point of population among the nations of the earth. China, despite the encroachments upon her territory, still holds the lead, with 402,650,000 men, women and children within her borders; the British empire comes next, with 381,037,874 subjects, including the dusky fanatics of the Soudan, and the Russian empire is third, 129,211,113 persons owing allegiance to the Czar.

Every man with curly hair spends too much time in combing it.

I Look 25 Years Younger

"I am now seventy-two years of age and my hair is as dark as it was twenty-five years ago. People say I look at least that much younger than I am. I would be entirely bald or snow-white if it were not for your Hair Vigor." — Mrs. Anna Lawrence, Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22, 1898.

Is Yours Snow-white?

There is no getting around such a testimonial as this. You can't read it over without being convinced. These persons do not misrepresent, for their testimonials are all unsolicited.

Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair every time. And it is a wonderful food to the hair, making it grow rich and heavy, and keeping it soft and glossy all the time. It is also an elegant dressing.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Write the Doctor

If you do not obtain all the benefits you desire from the use of the Vigor, write the Doctor about it. He will tell you just the right thing to do, and will send you his book on the Hair and Scalp if you request it. Address,
Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

Cruel.

"How can you object to my fiance? He is chivalry itself. The first time he met me he told me I was the most beautiful and most interesting girl in New York."

"And you would trust your life to a man who lies to you as shamelessly as that at the very beginning of your acquaintance?"—New York World.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

To do so no more is the truest repentance.—Luther.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A fine Road Horse, can be driven by a lady. Top Buggy, Handsome Trap, Speeding Cutter, two Sets Single Harness. Address Lock Box 219, Fort Wayne, Ind.

To California Quickly and Comfortably

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line. "The Overland Limited" leaves Chicago daily at 6:30 p. m., arrives San Francisco the afternoon of third day, and Los Angeles next morning. No change of cars. All meals in dining cars. Buffet, smoking and library cars, with barber. "The best of everything." "The Pacific Express" leaves Chicago daily 10:30 p. m., with first-class and through tourist sleepers to California. Personally conducted excursions every Thursday. All agents sell tickets via Chicago & Northwestern R'y. For full information and illustrated pamphlet apply to
W. B. KNISKERN, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Central Passenger Association Mileage Tickets are accepted for passage on all trains of the Nickel Plate Road.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

BEAUTY IS BLOOD DEEP

Pure, Healthy Blood Means Beautiful Complexion.

Intestinal Microbes Poison the Blood When the Bowels Are Constipated—Drive Them Out by Making the Liver Lively.

"Beauty is skin deep." That is wrong. Beauty is blood deep.

A person constipated, with a lazy liver, bilious blood, dyspeptic stomach, has pimples and liver spots and a sole-leather complexion.

No one with a furred tongue, a bad breath, a jaundiced eye, can be beautiful, no matter how perfect are form and features.

To be beautiful, to become beautiful or to remain beautiful, the blood must be kept pure and clean, free from bile, microbes, disease-germs and other impurities.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic will do it for you quickly, surely, naturally. They never grip nor gripe, but make the liver lively, prevent sour stomach, kill disease germs, tone up the bowels, purify the blood, and make all things right, as they should be. Then beauty comes of itself and to stay.

Buy and try Cascarets to-day. It's what they do, not what we say they do, that will please you. All druggists 10c, 25c, 50c or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can., or New York.

CCC This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.

Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers. The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free. W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

Ely's Cream Balm WILL CURE CATARRH

Druggists, 50 Cts.

MOST PECULIAR PEOPLE.

The Bicycle Has Nearly Emancipated the Parsi Women.

The most peculiar people of India are the Parsis (or "Parsees," meaning "Persians"), who feed their dead to the vultures upon the Tower of Silence. They fled to India from Persia when that land fell into the hands of the Arabs twelve centuries ago. Their men are the first very singular persons the traveler sees on board the ship which takes him to India, their singularity consisting in their long sallow faces and large eyes, their shiny, patent-leather-looking, tubular hats and their long and ugly coats. They are most numerous in Bombay, but one meets them in other cities on the "Bombay side," and in Madras and Calcutta on the other shore. They are the richest natives of India, and have made and still make money in trade.

They are the only Indians, who, as a body, admire and cultivate Western progressive ideas, who treat their women fairly well (according to our ideas), and who permit their widows to marry again. Their first rule of life is to practice benevolence, and no people do this more liberally. They maintain nearly two-score charitable institutions in Bombay alone. They are the only people in the world who do not smoke, and this is because they will not trifle with fire, which is sacred in their belief. They never spit and they will not in any way contaminate the earth or water or defile the trees and flowers. That is why they destroy their dead without burning the bodies.

They have no beggars among them; they are monogamists; they are not caste-ridden (or rotted), like the Hindoos, for they acknowledge two classes—the priests and the people. They keep New Year day, not only as a religious fete day, but, much as we do, as a day for general visiting. Their women are not imprisoned with their servants or otherwise degraded, but may be met anywhere and everywhere to the same extent as English women in India. So often are these women comely, and so beautifully are they clad—in such soft and exquisitely colored silks—that, as one writer says, "they appear as houris floating about the earth in silk balloons, with a ballasting of anklets, necklaces, earrings and jewelry." It is no more than fair for the Parsi men to let this be as it is, for they are the ugliest men that crawl upon this globe.

An English lady advised me to go and see the rich Parsi young women riding bicycles on the road beside the sea at 4 o'clock of any afternoon. What an idea! The bicycle has so revolutionized young womanhood in England that men who return there after a short absence can not credit their senses as they note the change in the maidens and their home government. What will it do—or not do—in India? Truly that modest-looking toy has worked as much of the change in this swift-booted century as many of our most important inventions. It has proved a steed which leaps the highest bars of prejudice, runs away with the deepest-rooted conventions—even outpaces the plans of women for their own emancipation. I try to fancy what it may do in India, but, after all, it has only a few thousands of Parsis upon whom to work.—Harper's Magazine.

The Kentucky Mountaineers.

There are no more strikingly interesting people in America than these isolated mountaineers who make their homes generation after generation among the fastnesses of the eastern section of the "dark and bloody ground." The waves of civilization which swept westward along the St. Lawrence, the Erie canal, and a dozen other routes seem to have found at this point in the Appalachians an insurmountable barrier and rolled back, leaving the descendants of the pioneers of a century and a half ago with many of the same habits and customs and traditions dear to the hearts of their forefathers.

A man who knows the whole country as a child does his first picture book told me that if any person took the trouble to go through a copy of Shakspeare and pick out all the obsolete words he would find nearly all of them in common use among these mountain folk. In their phraseology we find "holp" for "help," "hit" for "it," and other words which, far from being corruptions, are the pure old Anglo-Saxon. Even their ballads are mementos of ages gone by, and I know of one man who, after riding 200 miles through the mountains for the purpose, finally picked up, from hearing the women sing them, the full thirteen verses of an old Scotch ballad which proved to be identical with those recorded in a diary bearing the date 1665.—International Magazine.

The Kaiser Checked at Last.

Kaiser Wilhelm, like King Canute, has found a check to his arbitrary power. He returned home hungry from an officer's smoking party recently and asked the Empress for something to eat. She told him that the cook had gone to bed, and as neither dared to wake her up the Kaiser was obliged to go supperless. The Empress now saves up a cold snack from dinner on the chance of the august appetite's awakening at night.

Female Postal Employes in England.

The English postoffice employs not far short of 30,000 women, and it is probable that the largest number are employed in telegraphy, or in duties relating thereto. In London alone the number would appear to exceed 1,500, of whom no fewer than 1,000 are employed at the central telegraph office at St. Martin's-le-Grand.—Scottish American.

Judge Hawkins Was Severe.

Justice Hawkins, of the English bench, once had to sentence an old swindler, and gave him seven years. The old rascal in the dock squirmed and whined: "Oh, my lord, I'll never live half the time." The judge took another look at him, and answered: "I don't think it is at all desirable that you should!"

It is not necessary to die to prove friendship; just refuse to tell all you know on a man.

Every time a boy looks at a gun, some woman screams.

Never argue with a barber.

Spring Medicine

There's no season when good medicine is so much needed as in spring, and there's no medicine which does so much good in Spring as Hood's Sarsaparilla. In fact, Spring Medicine is another name for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Do not delay taking it. Don't put it off till your health tone gets too low to be lifted.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Will give you a good appetite, purify and enrich your blood, overcome that tired feeling, give you mental and digestive strength and steady nerves. Be sure to ask for HOOD'S, and be sure that you get Hood's, the best medicine money can buy. Get a bottle TO-DAY. All druggists. Price $1.

DO YOU COUGH

DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

Not on Borrowing Terms Now.

"Mrs. Hockafus, mamma wants to know if you'll lend her your hall lamp this evening."

"Certainly, Willie. Here it is. Handle it carefully."

"I will. Ever so much——"

"Oh, by the way, Willie!"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Ask your mamma if she wouldn't like to borrow our parlor chandelier."—Chicago Tribune.

SMALLPOX DISTRIBUTORS.

How the Germs Are Nurtured and the Disease Is Spread.

It would seem that people will never learn to be careful. The recent alarming spread of that dire epidemic, smallpox, throughout different sections of the country has been traced by physicians and sanitarians in many instances directly to the moldy and rotting layers of paper and paste which cover the walls of many houses. The practice of laying layer after layer of paper on a wall, using common flour paste, is especially calculated to create homes for disease germs. People could not do more to effect such a result if they tried. The rotting vegetable matter affords caves from which are ready to dart forth the infection at every opportunity. There is no excuse for this practice, as walls and ceilings can be coated with a pure, cleanly and sanitary material like Alabastine, for instance, at no greater expense. Alabastine is a rock-base cement, which incorporates itself with the wall or ceiling. It is easily applied, comes ready to mix with cold water, requires no washing or scraping before renewing or retinting, is beautiful, long-lasting and safe.

For walls that have been infected, nothing is equal to Alabastine as a disinfectant to render them pure and clean and the rooms once more habitable.

To the Last.

After she had selected an imposing column of marble she handed him the epitaph manuscript.

"But, madame," he gasped, "that column won't hold half of that without crowding."

"Don't mind the column being crowded," responded the widow. "My husband was an editor."—Chicago News.

Libby's Luncheon Meats.

From point of economy of purse, fire and time, Libby's Luncheon Meats appeal to every housekeeper. They save an endless amount of worry and give the greatest of satisfaction.

They are always ready when you want them and are cooked and deliciously seasoned. All you have to do is to serve. There are more than thirty varieties put up in convenient size key-opening cans. A neat little book called "How to Make Good Things to Eat," giving more than 100 recipes for preparing Libby's Luncheons will be mailed free to all who write for it to Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

Reason for It.

"Why is she only in half mourning? Of course, she married old Skinphlint for his money, but she ought to respect his memory now that he's dead."

"Oh, she thinks she's doing all that's required under the circumstances. He only left her half his fortune."

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

An Exception Cited.

Miles—A physician told me recently that a good, hearty laugh prolongs a man's life.

Giles—Perhaps it does—unless he laughs at another man who slips on an icy sidewalk.—Chicago News.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the best medicine for that disease I have ever used.—L. C. Johnston, Iola, Texas, June 24, 1891.

The best way to make our poverty respectable is to seem never to feel it as an evil.

Homeseekers' Excursion

Via the Nickel Plate Road to western, northwestern and southwestern points on March 20th, 1900. Tickets available on above date good returning within 21 days at one fare plus $2.00 for the round trip. See agents or address C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Timely Reminder.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself," said Jones to his neighbor, who was an aged millionaire. "Here you are, a man of wealth and position, and yet you put out your ash barrel every morning with your own hands to save a few miserable pennies!"

"I guess you're right, neighbor," replied the miserly old fellow, "now that you have spoken of it, I can see that it is hardly the thing for a man in my position to do. Hereafter I'll have my wife do it."

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Life in a Flat.

"Where is my folding pipe?"

"I don't know, James, but the folding matches are on the folding mantelpiece."

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Modern education too often covers the fingers with rings, and at the same time cuts the sinews at the wrists.—Sterling.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

The bitterness of death is sweet as against the gall of a mother's woe through her son's downfall.—Boston Ideas.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a ackage of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

The light of friendship is like the light of phosphorus—seen plainest when all around is dark.

The Million Dollar Potato.

It's marvelous. Salzer's catalog tells, so also about Rape for cattle, sheep and swine. Costs 25c a ton to grow. Send 5c and this notice, to-day, to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., for his big catalog. C N U

We are all the time making character, whether we are doing anything else or not.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE.

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, damp, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All druggists and shoe stores sell it. 25 cents.

It is not the clothes a man wears—it is the way his society wears that counts.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

A talkative barber sometimes illustrates his story with cuts.

The Nickel Plate Road

Will run an Homeseekers' Excursion to points in the west, northwest and southwest on April 3rd, 1900. Tickets available on above date good returning within 21 days at one fare plus $2.00 for round trip. Inquire agents or address C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.

A Hopeless Case.

He—I don't believe Miss Howells will ever learn to sing.

She—Well, that wouldn't matter so much if she would only not attempt it.

Our Nation's Wealth.

The material wealth and strength of our nation is in iron, the most useful of all metals, just as the wealth of a human being lies in a useful stomach. If you have overworked yours, try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will relieve the clogged bowels, improve the appetite and cure constipation, dyspepsia and biliousness.

A Good Beginning.

Student—Were you successful with your first case, doctor?

Old doctor—Remarkably. I attended the patient only two weeks, after which the executors of his estate paid my bill in full.

The above illustration shows one of the mammoth buildings occupied by the great Mail Order House of the John M. Smyth Company of Chicago.

For one-third of a century this company has been in business. Beginning in a small way, they supplied their neighbors in the near-by towns, each year widening their field. They are now selling merchandise direct to the consumer at wholesale prices throughout the United States.

Some years ago they began supplying their customers with an illustrated catalogue. As the business expanded they were obliged to increase the size of this catalogue, until to-day it exceeds 1,000 illustrated pages, quoting the lowest wholesale prices on everything to Eat, Wear and Use. By a superior process of color photography they illustrate many of their goods in natural colors, bringing out the rich color value of curtains, carpets, draperies, and the latest designs in wall paper, etc., thus enabling the customer hundreds of miles distant to select goods at his own fireside, knowing by the description, illustration and price the class of goods he may expect.

This feature of their business is becoming more and more popular each year, for it not only saves long and tiresome railroad journeys but is a great time saver. It leaves out the profit of the jobbing house, the retailer, the expensive commercial traveler, the general agent, the sub-agent, and thus eliminates from one to four profits, saving this amount for the consumer. In short, it is a great wholesale store brought to the home. The mammoth catalogue referred to is a 20th century dictionary of economy.

The illustration below shows the recent building added to this great enterprise.

The success of this company seems incredible, considering the fact that they have advertised so little. Their spirit of fairness and industry is the secret of this wonderful success. The quantity of goods they require in some lines enables them to handle train loads of merchandise secured at the lowest possible cost and freight rate.

When goods in the rough are coming from the mills and factories in the East, the lake steamers are pressed into service at a freight expense which is but little in advance of the iron ore rates.

Their references are: Any bank or express company, or any man, woman or child in Chicago.

Jell-O. The New Dessert.

pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

Strong Sense of Gratitude.

Bragg—What'll you take for the dog, Mr. Jumbo? I'll give you a crown for him.

Mr. Jumbo—A crown? No, sah! Dat dog saved my life from gittin' drowned. Think I'll sell him for a 5-shillin's? No, sah! I want 6 shillin's, sah!—London Tit-Bits.

VITALITY low, debilitated or exhausted cured by Dr. Kline's Invigorating Tonic. FREE $1 Trial Bottle containing 2 weeks' treatment. Dr. Kline's Institute, 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia. Founded 1871.

Working Women

are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for free advice about their health.

Mrs. Pinkham is a woman.

If you have painful periods, backaches or any of the more serious ills of women, write to Mrs. Pinkham; she has helped multitudes. Your letter will be sacredly confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is known wherever the English language is spoken.

Nothing else can possibly be so sure to help suffering women. No other medicine has helped so many.

Remember this when something else is suggested.

Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Her helping hand is always outstretched to suffering women.

NOT the CHEAPEST BUT THE BEST

BUGGY our factory can build for the money. $59.50 buys the Buggy here illustrated, fully equipped, with the customer's choice of either HEAVY Rubber or Leather quarter-top. End or Brewster side-bar springs. Your choice of color in painting. Cloth or leather trimmed. The BEST HICKORY Screwed Rim Wheels, ¾ or 1 inch tread. Full length Brussels Carpet. BOOT, STORM APRON, Whip Socket, Toe Rail, SPRING Back, NICKEL Line Rail, LEATHER Trimmed Shafts. We have vehicles from $9.85 up, including Road Carts, Road Wagons, Surreys, Phaetons, Traps, Spring Wagons and Business Rigs. Shipped C. O. D. subject to examination. For those who prefer to send the full amount with the order, we will include a good whip. OUR SPRING CATALOGUE of 1,000 pages, illustrating some of the line in NATURAL COLORS, will be sent prepaid upon receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of the first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE.
Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH CO., 150-166 W. Madison St., CHICAGO, ILL.
Order by this No. 200 K.

This High-Grade GUITAR for Only $2.65

The top edge is bound with white celluloid. Has fancy inlay around sound-hole. The best American-made patent head. RAISED German silver frets, with inlaid pearl position dots. The scale is as near perfect as it is possible to make. Is strung with a full set of BEST quality steel strings. A complete Instruction Book is sent FREE with each Guitar. On receipt of $1.00 we will send it C. O. D., subject to examination. OUR SPRING CATALOGUE of 1,000 illustrated pages will be sent prepaid on receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE. Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH CO., 150-166 W. Madison St., Chicago. Order by this No. 200 K.

FOR 50 CENTS we will send you our TWO-QUART FOUNTAIN SYRINGE, fitted with a full length STEEL NICKEL-PLATED VALVE & THREE hygienic, hard rubber pipes—for INFANTS, ADULTS, RECTAL and VAGINAL. These pipes have the slip expansion air-tight joints, guaranteed not to leak or wear. All carefully packed in a strawboard, paper-covered box. The postage will be 12 cts.

Our Spring Catalogue of 1,000 illustrated pages will be sent prepaid on receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of your first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE.
Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH COMPANY, 150-166 W. Madison St., CHICAGO, ILL.
Order Style No. 11. 200 K.

WANTED—Apple Logs or Lumber. Write for prices and specifications. E. C. ATKINS & CO. Saw Manufacturers, Indianapolis, Ind.

One Street in Five Parishes.

The Strand, London, is in no fewer than five parishes.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Libby's Luncheons

Substantial Meat Foods

cooked just right, seasoned deliciously, ready to use for lunches and suppers, and convenient at all times:

DEVILED HAM POTTED HAM
BEEF and TONGUE VEAL LOAF
COTTAGE LOAF COTTAGE BEEF
COTTAGE HEAD CHEESE

and twenty more varieties. New Booklet tells all about them. Sent free—"How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Libby, McNeill & Libby
CHICAGO

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.
DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 50 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the Skin preparations." For sale by all Druggists and Fancy-Goods Dealers in the U. S., Canada, and Europe.
FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop'r, 37 Great Jones St., N.Y.

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 200,000 new customers, and to once offer

1	Pkg. City Garden Beet,	10c
1	Pkg. Earl'st Emerald Cucumber	10c
1	" La Crosse Market Lettuce,	15c
1	" Strawberry Melon,	15c
1	" 13 Day Radish,	10c
1	" Early Ripe Cabbage,	10c
1	" Early Dinner Onion,	10c
1	" Brilliant Flower Seeds,	15c

Worth $1.00, for 14 cents. $1.00

Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c. stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without. $500 Prizes on Salzer's 1900—rarest earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.—
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

A STATE STREET SCENE ON A STORMY DAY.

NOTE—Laxative Bromo-Quinine which is advertised on the large banner over State Street, Chicago, as represented above, is the only exclusive cold prescription sold by every druggist in the United States, Canada and in England. This is the signature E. W. Grove of the inventor and plainly appears on every box of the genuine article. It is sold for 25c a box, and all druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP SAFE SURE
Cures a Cough or Cold at once, Conquers Croup without fail. Is the best for Bronchitis, Grippe, Hoarseness, Whooping-Cough, and for the cure of Consumption. Mothers praise it. Doctors prescribe it. Small doses; quick, sure results.
FOR ALL LUNG TROUBLE

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS.

Secure relief by using Dr. Harvey's Rheumatic Pills, used successfully by him in his practice for many years. Send for pamphlet. Address Harvey Medicine Co., 180 Tremont St., Boston, Mass. (Room 38.)

CARTER'S INK

Ever use it? You should.

Well begun is half done. Sow well if you would reap well. Sow GREGORY'S SEEDS and reap the best results the earth can give. 1900 Catalogue free. J. J. H. GREGORY & SON, Marblehead, Mass.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

THE MILLION DOLLAR POTATO

Most talked of potato on earth! Our Catalog tells—so also about Salzer's Earliest Six Weeks' Potato. Largest farm and vegetable seed growers in U.S. Potatoes, $1.50 and up a bbl. Send this notice and 5c. stamp for Big Catalog. C.N.
JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Positions Secured!

We aid those who want GOVERNMENT POSITIONS. 85,000 places under Civil Service Rules. 8,000 yearly appointments. Prepares by mail for all Government examinations. Fees cash or installments. A thorough and scientific course in all departments. Requires spare time only. Salaries twice as much as private firms for the same kind of work. The hours of labor are short, duties light, positions for life. Take our course of study and we guarantee that you will pass the Civil Service Examinations. Write, inclosing stamp, for our catalogue describing course to—BUREAU OF CIVIL SERVICE INSTRUCTION, Washington, D. C.

William's Kidney Pills

Has no equal in diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Have you neglected your Kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire pass urine? William's Kidney Pills will impart new life to the diseased organs, tone up the system and make a new man of you. By mail 50 cents per box.
WILLIAMS MFG. CO., Props., Cleveland, O.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

Mott's Nerverine Pills

BEFORE AND AFTER USING.

The great remedy for nervous prostration and all nervous diseases of the generative organs of either sex, such as Nervous Prostration, Failing or lost Manhood, Impotency, Nightly Emissions, Youthful Errors, Mental Worry, excessive use of Tobacco or Opium, which lead to Consumption and Insanity. $1.00 per box by mail; 6 boxes for $5.00.
MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Prop's, Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

PATENTS DESIGNS TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS OBTAINED
ADVICE AS TO PATENTABILITY Notice in "Inventive Age" Book "How to obtain Patents" FREE
Charges moderate. No fee till patent is secured. Letters strictly confidential. Address, E. G. SIGGERS, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Safe. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse dangerous substitutions and imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists.
CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO.
2100 Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

PILES Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment will cure Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles. It absorbs the tumors, allays the itching at once, acts as a poultice, gives instant relief. Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is prepared for Piles and Itching of the private parts. Every box is warranted. By druggists, by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents and $1.00. WILLIAMS MANUFACTURING CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.
Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Billiousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles at O. P Barber's, Corunna.

NOTICE FOR SUPPLIES.

Requisition for Supplies for DeKalb County Poor Asylum.

The Board of Commissioners of said county will receive sealed bids for supplies up to March 21, 1900, at 10 o'clock a. m., for quarter ending May 31 1900.

GROCERIES AND DRY GOODS.

Commissioners reserving the right to reject all bids at their discretion, may demand a bond from the successful bidder conditioned upon the fulfill- of their cotract.

Requisition and sample of goods may be seen at the Auditor's office.

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor.

Auburn, Ind., March 7, 1900.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Cornelia P. Hogue deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 30th day of April 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there appear and make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 5th day of March, 1900.

FRANCIS A. HOGUE, Executor.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, DEKALB COUNTY, } ss.

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, March Term, 1900.

Adolph Frederick Okerlind, Ulrica Okerlind (his wife), John H. Miller, Charles Bruse, George G. Burrows, Frank W. Howes and Nathan Tarney are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court to foreclose a mortgage by State House Building Association, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 21st day of May, 1900, being the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences May 21, 1900,

Witness, the clerk of said court this 6th day of March, 1900. MICHAEL F. LONG, Clerk.

Brown, West and Lodge, Attorneys.

To Make Life Happy.

Sweet music appeals to the heart and soul and lightens many of life's burdens. If you have ever heard the sweet-toned Steger Piano you will appreciate this. To reach the highest standard of excellence has always been the aim in the manufacture of the celebrated Steger Piano. Only the best material is used, insuring great durability. Every piano fully uaranteed.

The Steger factories, thoroughly equipped with the best and most improved machinery, located at Steger, Ill., are among the largest in the West.

Intending purchasers will find it profitable to write for a full descriptive catalogue, which will be mailed free upon application. STEGER & Co., (Established 1879.) Chicago, Ill.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Thursday's Daily.

—Henry Fretz was in town today.

—C. W. Oller took a sleighride to Auburn this forenoon.

—La grippe and colds have no show against Krause's Cold Cure.

—D. D. Rinehold of New Era has thanks for substantial favors yesterday.

—La grippe has no show against Krause's Cold Cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Carl Habig is the latest new subscriber to the Weekly COURIER and paid into 1901.

—C. C. Carlin, the Angola attorney, is said to be a candidate for prosecutor on the republican side of the fence.

—John Olinger was in town today hauling home dressed lumber. It looks as if he was going to do some building.

—Ex-Surveyor Hook is here from Paxton, Ill., looking after business matters and shaking hands with old friends.

—The next county republican convention will be held at Waterloo, says the Press. The date has not yet been fixed.

—M. P. Barker came in today and paid into the 1901 class. He is one of our oldest subscribers and always keeps paid ahead.

—Don't stay at home on account of a cold. Keep on with your work and take Krause's Cold Cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Sol. Barney and his son-in-law, Rev. C. S. Johnson, of St. Joe were here today to attend the county meeting of the Odd Fellows.

—Mrs. A. C. Koeppe of Newville and her sister, Mrs. W. R. McNabb, were callers Wednesday while in town, and have thanks for substantial favors.

—S. H. Barton has thanks for favors today, some much-needed dry wood. We had put in a good deal of time lately in manufacturing a good quality of ashes.

—The application for the establishment of a militia compan at Butler has been refused, on the grounds that the town is not large enough to maintain one.

—Mrs. Henry Sherlock is home again after a stay of a week or two at the home of C. C. Buss, where she helped care for the sick during their recent bereavement.

—Too many people lose valuable time experimenting with cough and cold cures. They should take Foley's Honey and Tar before it is too late. H. B. McCord sells it.

—Married, at the Lutheran parsonage last evening at 8:t0 o'clock by Rev. J. D. Brosy, Chris Grim and Lenora H. Grawcock. They will make their home on a farm south of Auburn.

—Eugene J. Hall, the poet and publisher, says that one dose of Foley's Honey and Tar restored his voice when horseness threatened to prevent his lecture at Central Music Hall, Chicago. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

—Clyde Dean of Newville expected to make application for a liquor license yesterday, but was confronted with a strong remonstrance from the voters of that township and concluded to let the matter drop. Somebody may take to the river down there.

—Daniel Zook is now on our 1901 list in shape. We are pleased to see our patrons getting more into the habit of keeping even. Some, however, are still back and it would be better for them and for us to keep things nearer square. Let us try it.

—George Lanning has sold the house he lives in to G. O. Denison for $2,200, a very fair price. It is a desirable residence, in a good location, rnd will make Mr. Denison a fine home. We presume he will soon move here, as he takes the clerk's office early in November.

—"I strongly recommend Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup; it cured me of a throat and lung trouble of many years' standing."–Mrs. J. Bremen, Rifle, Colo. Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, la grippe, pneumonia, whooping-cough, croup and consumption, H.B. McCord.

—Mrs. J. W. McClellan, who lives out in the neighborhood of the old Magginis place on the Spencerville road, had the misfortune to break an arm yesterday morning. She went to the stable to milk the cow, and in some way fell so as to strike her arm against the side of the stable.

—Our readers will be interested in the experience of Mr. Will H. Slep, publisher of the Altoona, Pa., Mirror, who says: "I have been a sufferer from headache for many years and can cheerfully recommend Dr. Krause's Headache Capsules as being the only preparation that has given almost instant relief. Have been using them for about six months and have never yet been disappointed in them." Sold by H. B. McCord.

The Best Salve in the World,

Is Banner Salve. It is made from a prescription by a world wide known skin specialist and is positively the most healing salve for piles, burns, scalds, ulcers, running sores and all skin diseases. H. B. McCord.

Thirty Millions of Stars.

The French Academy of Science has a map of the heavens well on the way to completion. It faithfully represents the heavens, with stars up to the fourteenth magnitude. There are about thirty millions of stars on the cards, which have taken nearly three years to prepare.

A Little Known Fact.

That the majority of serious diseases originate in disorder of the kidneys. Foley's Kidney Cure is guaranteed. Try it today if you are not feeling well. H. B. McCord.

Friday's Daily.

—John H. Farver has thanks for subscription paid into 1901.

—C. C. Sherck is home again after a winter term at the Angola college.

—Uncle Henry Shull came to town today, the first time we have seen him out for some time.

—The latest new name on the weekly list is J L. Lyons, who became an advance payer yesterday.

—J. H. Hilkey of Newville township dropped a year's suscription into our till today, for which he has thanks.

—Congressmen Watson of the Sixth and Hemenway of the First district were renominated by the republicans yesterday.

—The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey of south Jackson street was gladdened this morning by the arrival of a fine boy baby.

—Joseph Kelham of LaOtto is the next 1901 man. Joe used to be a teacher and knows how to "figger" and keep his accounts up in shape.

—Orrin Clark of Keyser was here today. He always finds plenty of friends to take his hand. We are sorry to see he is not in very good health.

—D. Weaver and Peter Smith of Keyser township made this office a business call, the former enrolling his name on our weekly list and paying into 1901.

—It is reported that the suit of Alva Brandon against the Minneapolis threshing machine company has been settled. We have not heard the particulars.

—David Rowe was able to be out on the street a short time today and seems to be about as good a man physically as before he became a target for George Green's bullet.

—Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct the disorders and cure the headache. Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

L. J. Loveland of Newville called today in company with a neighbor, Mr. Lyon. He is going to take charge of his father's farm, the late L. C. Love land. While here he had a chat with his former comrade of Company K, Geo. W. Everett, foreman in the COURIER office.

—The fine farm residence of George Wilcox, in the southwest part of Butler township, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, together with nearly all its contents, the family being able to save but a few articles. The loss will reach $2,500 on which there is insurance of $2,000 in the DeKalb County Mutual.

—While George Strong was hauling stave bolts to the Greenler factory this morning his team stuck on one of the Wabash tracks at the Jackson street crossing. The rear end of the sled did not quite clear the main track and was struck by the west-bound fast train which was running at a high rate of speed. Mr. Strong unhitched his team when he saw the train nearing him and but little damage was done to the engine or sled.

—A number of young people went sleighing Wednesday evening to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Boren who were taken by surprise. We were cordially invited to lay off our wraps. They had a delightful time; had good music by Obe Boren, and we had refreshments, cider and apples which were appreciated by all. Those composing the crowd were: Ida George, Will Megle, Margia Crew, George Long, Lena Shumaker, Obe Boren Ella Masters, Charley Kiser, Mrs. Hosack and William Elson.

Saturday's Daily.

—Mrs. Wm. Walsworth has so far improved as to be out of doors in pleasant weather.

—Miss Ellen Baltz of Spencerville is the guest of Mrs. Cora McClellan and other friends here today.

—Michael Friend, an aged resident of Jackson township, is lying at the point of death. His age is past 81

—W. H. McIntosh was up town today for the first time in several weeks. He has had quite a siege of rheumatism.

—We are under obligations to our friend Joshua Miller for substantial favors today. May he live long and prosper.

—Dr. Vesta Swarts reports that a daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Abel, southeast of town, last evening.

—Mrs. Anna Simon of LaOtto while in town today made a pleasant call at this office and made a deposit on subscription to the Weekly.

—Samuel Searight of Detroit is here for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Maggie Crane. The latter will return to Detroit with Mr. Searight for an extended visit.

—The grand jury completed their work this morning and after making their report and handing in several indictments were discharged by Judge Bratton.

—Friends of Maud Weamer, now Mrs. Greenman, of Bristol will be pained to learn of the death of her little son, R. H., who was found dead in bed the other morning.

—Mrs. M. E. Olds is here from St. Joe to visit her sister, Mrs. E. Zimmerman, who has been sick two or three weeks, but is now improving. Mrs. Olds returns this evening.

—Mrs. C. E. VanDeusen, of Kilborn, Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says: "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These tablets are for sale at H. B. McCord's drug store. Price 25 cents. Samples free. 13

Get Your Share.

Are you getting your share of the vast amount of money spent in advertising? It used to be all given to the publishers of newspapers and magazines, but by the latest method it is freely distributed among the people themselves; that is, among those who are alert and quick, and can see an advantage when it is offered them.

One of the most successful establishments in America, the Woolson Spice Company, of Toledo, Ohio, is spending thousands of dollars in advertising their Lion Coffee, and they are paying out this money directly to the people who purchase the coffee. Their plan is to enclose in their one-pound package of Lion Coffee a most attractive Premium List. So costly are some of the articles on this Premium List that one wonders how they can afford to give them away with their goods; but it must be remembered that these premiums are bought in enormous quantities and bought directly of the manufacturers, so they are secured at about one-fourth the price the retail consumer pays. No profit is paid to shipper, wholesaler or retailer; the goods are all bought at first hand.

This method of introducing Lion Coffee is as if you wanted to purchase some article for which you would have to pay $1.00; the proprietors of Lion Coffee buy it for you for 25c, and then give it to you for the trouble that you take in letting them know you are using their coffee.

The housekeeper who is alive to the value of her patronage may now, by a little trouble, secure many desirable articles from time to time at no cost. All that she has to do is to cut out and preserve the Lion head which appears on the wrapper of every package of Lion Coffee. These lion heads are received by the Woolson Spice Company in payment for their premiums.

The new Premium List which has just been issued in connection with Lion Coffee is unsurpassed in its liberality. Some of the most attractive articles on the market today are included in this list.

It is evident that the Woolson Spice Company places great value on the recommendation of a satisfied customer, for they believe the best advertising of Lion Coffee is where some one who uses it tells a friend of its good quality. It is mostly in this way that its enormous sale has been brought about. Many people are as delighted with it that they feel it a duty to recommend it to their friends, and as every package contains a Premium List with full instructions for securing the articles offered, there is much interest in buying Lion Coffee for household use. Really, Lion Coffee is almost unsurpassed in its quality, and it is a mystery how it can be sold for such a low price. It is better than many other brands of coffee which cost two or three times as much. It would seem as though the time was approaching when every family would be drinking this famous beverage.

Cure of Rheumatism.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts afflicted and realizing instant benefit and entire releif in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain.—The Vindicator, Rutherfordton, N. C. For sale by H. B. McCord. 13

A Dwarf Queen.

Probably the smallest monarch in the world reigns over the Hindu vassal state of Bhopaul, and governs a people of more than a million souls. This dwarf is a woman, Djihan-Begum by name, but although she is about fifty years old, she does not appear larger than a child of ten. Her diminutive size does not prevent her, however, from holding the reins of government with a firm hand, and in her realm quiet and order are supreme.

Honest Medicine for Lagrippe

George W. Waitt, of South Gardiner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vender. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by H. B. McCord.

An Engineering Triumph.

One of the latest triumphs in the engineering world consists in the construction, shipment by steamer and subsequent transfer to railway transportation of a steamer of 4,200 tons displacement, which was finally put afloat in Lake Baikal, Siberia, not less than five thousand miles from St. Petersburg.

A Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recomending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known baker of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug.' Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

EVERYBODY KNOWS,

or SHOULD know,

how essential phosphates are to the human body

as Brain, Bone and Nerve Builders.

This Baking Powder is made of Phosphates

AND IS . . .

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Consult your Physician, then ask your Grocer for it.

ALL GROCERS SELL IT!!

We also manufacture a more expensive Baking Powder, "JUNO Cream of Tartar," which is the Purest and Best Cream of Tartar Powder ever put on the market.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Company,

CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS.

Overton, Tex., Dec. 15, 1898.

I suffered for thirty years from gall stones. Treated with a great many physicans and have taken a large amount of patent medicines, but could find nothing that would relieve. Last April I began taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. Took nine bottles and have felt no pain or symptoms of gall stones since. D. R. Tucker.

For sale by Davenport the druggist.

—William Colombe, an Indian and a private in the Fourth United States cavalry in the Philippines, has written a letter to the superintendent of Carlisle Indian school, of which institution he is a graduate, saying that he shot and killed the Filipino sharpshooter who shot Gen. Lawton.

—Don't neglect your business by going to bed on account of a cold. Krause's Cold Cure will break it up in 24 hours. Krause's Cold Cure will break up a cold while you work—not necessary to go to bed. The new way to cure a cold is by taking Krause's Cold Cure.

—The national base ball league will have but eight clubs this year. The retiring clubs were Louisville, Cleveland, Washington and Baltimore.

—Rev. James B. Time, of Allokchi, Checotah Nation, I. T. says of Begg,s Blood Purifier, the great blood remedy and system regenerator: "Both myself and wife were entirely cured of bad case of scrofula by it." A guaranteed remedy, of sterling merit. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—A law suit in Wabash county over five shoats worth about $10, raised their cost to $200.

—"I can highly recommend Begg's Hair Renewer as a pleasing restorative application for the hair and a sure cure for all scalp diseases." Mrs. J. Wheritle, Omaha, Neb. A thoroughly reliable preparation; endorsed by thousands. It will not disappoint. For sale at H. B. McCord's.

—In a neighboring town a salvation army advertiser wrote on a billboard, "What shall I do to be saved?" A patent medicine man came along the next day and wrote underneath: "Take Carter's Little Liver Pills." Shortly afterward the salvation army man noticed the sacriligious work of the medicine man and printed below, "And prepare to meet thy God."

—Thousands of testimonials could be furnished to prove what Lichty's Cough Cure has done in curing coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, throat and lung complaints, but by purchasing a 25c bottle you will be more quickly convinced that it is a medicine of rare excellence and one that you should always have in the house. It is warranted to cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Miss Rosamond McIntyre assisted by Marie Hebel, students of Miss E. Maude Winegardner, will give a recital for the benefit of the A. C. C. Library Saturday evening, March 24, at the Armory.

—Prof. M. H. Kasper, Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill, writes:—I had been suffering for some time with severe pains in my lungs, and coughed almost constantly. One bottle Beggs' Cherry Syrup entirely cured me." It is guaranteed to cure, has never failed.—H. B. McCord.

Big Lot of Marriages.

—Wm. Goodwin, of Jeffersonville, who retired Saturday as county clerk, after serving one term made a final report which shows some peculiar features. In the four years he issued 5,133, marriage licenses. Of these fully 3,500 were eloping couples from Kentucky. From this source he received $10,266, which was within $534 of being enough to pay his salary which was $10-800. During the last quarter he was in office he collected $642 for marriage licenses, which his salary for the period was but $631 97. In the four years Mr. Goodwin was clerk he turned into the the county treasury $8,34759 more than his salary.

To California Quickly and Comfortably.

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line. "The Overland Limited" leaves Chicago daily 6:30 P. M., arrives San Francisco the afternoon of third day, and Los Angeles next morning. No change of cars. All meals in dining cars. Buffet, smoking and library cars, with barber. "The best of everything." The Pacific Express" leaves Chicago daily 10:30 p. m. with first class and through tourist sleepers to California. Personally conducted excursions every Thursday. All agents sell tickets via Chicago and North-Western R'y. For full information and illustrated pamphlet apply to A. H. Waggoner, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill. 11

Fast Trains.

Via Chicago & North Western R'y—Chicago to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, Des Moines, Sioux City, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. The best of everything. No change of cars. Call on any Ticket Agent for information. or address W. B. Kniskern, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

A. H. Waggener, 22 Fifth avenue. Chicago, Ill.

You Have Seen.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin advertised for months, but have you ever tried it? If not, you do not know what an ideal stomach remedy it is. A 10c bottle, 10 doses, 10 cents, will show you its great merits as a cure for constipation, indigestion and sick headache. Regular size, 50 cents and $1 at H. B. McCord's.

Farm for Sale.

Eighty acres of good land for sale. This farm is in Paulding county, Ohio, and only one mile from a good market and on a good stone road leading to county seat. Will sell this land cheap. It is the best of black soil and all about cleared. There is no better land to be had than this land Will give purchaser reason for selling. Address L. Cunningham, Defiance, O., care Cunningham House.

Lingering LaGrippe Cough.

G. Vacher, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of lagrippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50c bottle cured her entirely." Price 25c and 50c H. B. McCord.

Railway Carried on a Steamer.

A twenty-five-mile railway for the Philippines was recently packed in the hold of a steamship at San Francisco. Everything needed for the railroad was sent except the ties, which will be obtained in the islands. It is said that the railway will be used to extend the thirty miles of railroad now controlled by the American troops.

An Ounce of Preventive.

Is worth a pound of cure. Try a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and, if properly taken, it will positively prevent rheumatism or any other kindred trouble arising from a torpid condition of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Trial sizes 10 cents, other sizes 50c and $1 of H. B. McCord.

An Eccentric French Poet.

Beaudelaire, the French poet, used to dye his hair green, and wore winter garments in summer and summer garments in winter. He was in the habit of throwing flower pots at the windows opposite for the pleasure of hearing them break.

It Leads.

Wherever it has been introduced, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin leads all other remedies in curing constipation, indigestion and sick headache. It only costs ten cents for trial size. 10 doses 10 cents. Large size 50c and $1. H. B. McCord.

AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, March 22, 1900. | Number 12.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V.-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind,
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty.

Physicians and SURGEONS
D. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M D
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets,
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,000
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McCLELLAN, ESTATE CHARLES McCLELLAN D. A. GARWOOD, ISAAC HAQUE. } C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed } Gas Administered.
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

I. O. BUCHTEL, HOMEOPATHIC Physician and Surgeon.
Special attention given to chronic and Obscure cases and catarrhal diseases of the nose, throat and lungs; also to diseases peculiar to women and children.
Office and residence over Marble Works, Auburn, Ind. Madden Bros Office apart from residence and private. All calls attended to promptly, day or night.

C. S. SMITH,
Auburn, Ind.
Attorney-at-Law
AND NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office over Bazar Store, formerly occupied by Judge Hartman.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

Junk Wanted
Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays
Best Cash Prices
for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.

Eureka Harness Oil is the best preservative of new leather and the best renovator of old leather. It oils, softens, blackens and protects. Use on your best harness, your old harness, and your carriage top, and they will not only look better but wear longer. Sold everywhere in cans—all sizes from half pints to five gallons.
Eureka Harness Oil
Made by STANDARD OIL CO.

In The Circuit Court.

The following cases have been heard by Judge Bratton in addition to those heretofore reported:

State vs. Daniel Hook, renting room for gaming. Plea of guilty and fine of $25 and costs.

State vs. James Tomlinson, keeping gambling room. Same plea entered and same fine assessed.

Peter W. Whitman vs. Wabash railroad company, damages, submitted to court, trial and finding for plaintiff for $525.

The case of McCormick and Ott vs. the Wabash railroad was brought up on demurrer, finding for defendant.

Warren L. Webster and Edward VanFliet vs. John F. Dawson, on judgment and garnishee. Judgment for plaintiff, Webster $18.25, VanFleit $7.40. Dawson has $39.75 coming to him from the B. & O. road and the court orders that this be paid to the clerk to cover the judgment and costs.

H. W. Ellis vs. Isaac and Ezra E. Loutzenheiser, on note. Judgment for plaintiff by default for $629.30.

Harvey Clark vs. Elias W. and Ellen Barton, on mortgage, dismissed.

Almira Vaughan vs. Josiah Chilcoate et. al., on note. Judgment by default angainst defendant for $111.34.

As we go to press we learn that the jury in the case of Leas vs Wood has just brought in a verdict for the defendant.

State vs. William Moughler, permitting gambling. Plea of guilty and fine of $10 and costs.

Peter Grogg vs. Peter Shull et. al., on notes. Submitted to court. Verdict for plaintiff for $173.72.

Almina Vaughan vs. Josiah Chilcote et. al., on note. Judgement for plaintiff by default for $111.34.

William Burrell was granted a divorce from Ella Burrell, and the defendant was allowed to resume her maiden name, Ella Beam.

The case of the state vs. Walter J. Eberly, charged with forgery was called late yesterday afternoon and the defendant plead not guilty, after a motion to quash the indictment had been overruled. The jury panel was filled this forenoon and a good part of the day has been taken up in the examination of the prosecuting witness, Royal J. Fisk. The state is represented by Prosecutor Rhodes and deputy Pomeroy, and the defense by F. S. Roby and C. M. Brown.

The divorce case of Florence E. Hollinger vs. William Hollinger has been decided by Judge Bratton. The plaintiff was granted a divorce, but the custody of the children was given to the defendant until further order of the court, the mother to have the privilege of visiting them at proper times.

The evidence for the prosecution in the Eberle case was completed this forenoon, and a number of witnesses were then examined as to the defendant's reputation. Mr. Eberly also went on the stand and was examined as to his business transactions with the prosecuting witness. The evidence will close at 3:30, and the case will probably go to the jury shortly after 6.

Sixtieth Anniversary.

—John Wilson's home near Norris Chapel was the scene of a pleasant gathering yesterday when a large crowd of Mr. Wilson's friends and neighbors congregated there to start him on his sixty-first year in life. The visitors went prepared to enjoy themselves, and to "make it more binding," as it were, took with them a fine easy chair which was presented to Mr. Wilson. Addresses were made by Rev. Meese and several other guests, to which Mr. Wilson feelingly responded. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames John Mann. Joseph Cullers, A. Blodgett, David Steward, Henry Strob, D. D. Metcalf, James Metcalf, J. H. Gugerli, P. T. Rhoads, John Hornberger, Isaac Derrow, James Sherwood Mort Wilson, F. Metcalf, Amos Walsworth, William Bush, Henry Fulks, A. M. St.Clair, Chas. Whetzel, C. W. Husselman.

Mesdames Sarah Smurr, Cora Oiler, John Elson, Mary Culler, Etta Eakright, A. Eakright, Wm. Oiler, Gertrude Metcalf.

Misses Mollie Wilson, Sadie Rhoads, Pearl Hornberger, Ethel Metcalf, Fay Bush.

Messrs. W. L. Meese, Wm. Elson, Dean Metcalf, Isaac Likens, William Wallace.

English Noblemen.

Many names of English nobility, new to us in this country, have been brought out by the war with South Africa and many titled soldiers have fallen in battle, proving at least by their bravery that they were so far worthy sons of honored families. Quite a number of titled men reside in Canada and other British provinces, and now and then one has taken up a residence more or less temporary in the United States.

At present the English peerage consists of 21 dukes, 19 marquises, 118 counts, 26 vis-counts and 253 barons. Besides these there are in the house of lords sixteen representatives of the Scotch peerage and twenty-eight of the Irish. The term "my lord" is used indiscrimately in addressing members of the house of lords, but a duke is styled "his grace" and a marquis or a count "very honorable." The daughter of a duke, marquis or count is a "lady," but the daughter of a viscount or baron an "honorable." The premier English peer is a Roman Catholic, the duke of Norfolk, who can trace his lineage back to the ninth or tenth century. The first marquis of Scotland is Lord Huntly and the first duke of Ireland Lord Leinster. Of course the English peerage is not a fixed thing, but is subject to frequent additions. When Beaconsfield was prime minister he created forty-three peers within six years Mr. Gladstone equaled this record by naming thirty-six peers in five years.

The Peace Offer.

The correspondence between the Transvaal and the United States, as to mediation between Great Britain and the Boers, is now made public. Kruger and his friends asked our consul at Pretoria to send the following dispatch to President McKinley, which he did March 10.

Am officially requested by the governments of the republics to urge your intervention with view to cessation of hostilities; similar requests made to representatives of European powers. Answer; confirm receipt.

AMERICAN CONSUL.

Our secretary of state, Mr. Hay, sent back the following reply after sending the above letter to our minister at London, with the orders to lay it before Lord Salisbury, the British prime minister:

Your telegram asking offices of United States to bring about cessation of hostilities has been made subject of friendly communication to British government with expression of president's earnest hope for peace.

Signed, HAY.

March 13, Mr. White, our minister at London, sent the following reply to secretary Hay:

I communicated yesterday to the under secretary for foreign affairs, having been unable to see Lord Salisbury, the contents of your telegram, dated 10th instant; today I have had an interview with his lordship, who requested me to thank the president for the friendly interests shown by him, and added that her majesty's government cannot accept the intervention of any power.

Signed, WHITE.

Mr. Hay telegraphed the consul at Pretoria, under date of March 14, the following:

Your communication of request of republics for intervention of president, to cause cessation of hostilities, was at once conveyed to British government with expression president's gratification could he aid to promote peace

Our embassy at London replies that Lord Salisbury thanks president for friendly interest shown, and adds her majesty's government cannot accept the intervention of any power.

Signed, HAY.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

The following is the text of what Mr. McKinley had Secretary Hay send to our minister at London, who in turn sent it to Lord Salisbury:

"By way of friendly and good office inform the British minister of foreign affairs that I today received a telegram from the United States consul at Pretoria, reporting that the government of the South African republic request the president of the United States to intervene with the view of cessation of hostilities, and saying that a similar request has been made to the representatives of the European powers. In communicating this request I am directed by the president of the United States to express the earnest hope that a way will be found to bring about peace, and to say that he would be glad, in any friendly maner, to aid in bringing about the desired result."

To this offer the British government through Lord Salisbury replied:

"Lord Salisbury requests Mr. White to convey the sincere acknowledgment of her majesty's government to the government of the United States for the friendly tone of their communication, and to say that her majesty's government does not propose to accept the intervention of any power in the settlement of South African affairs."

NOTICE.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 bottle of Downs' Elixir if it does not cure any cough, cold, croup, whooping cough or throat trouble. We also guarantee Downs' Elixir to cure consumption, when used according to directions, or money back. A full dose on going to bed and small doses during the day will cure the most severe cold and stop the most distressing cough. E. M. FISCHLER, F. E. DAVENPORT, HOWARD MCCORD.

Never out of Season.

There is no time in the year when Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a benefit to mankind. It cures constipation and indigestion and cures diarrhœa caused by bad condition of the digestive organs. Trial size bottles 10 cents, also in 50c and $1 size, at H. B. McCord's.

Our Saturday Evenings.

There are so many queer things in this world that one is sometimes at a loss to account for all of them.

For example. Why is it the Rev. C. M. Sheldon, who wrote a successful religious book, a semi-novel, came to make himself believe that he would succeed as an editor and publisher? He has been running four days, a paper already well established and provided with everything a newspaper could use. And yet, in these four days he has got into more trouble than the everyday editor could find in five years. If he gets through without a lawsuit, he will be fortunate.

There is a very old saying, "Let the shoemaker stick to his last." Rev. Mr. Sheldon would have been wise, had he taken the advice. It would be extremely foolish for a newspaper man, no matter how successful he had been, to set up as a preacher, pro tem., and to occupy Mr. Sheldon's pulpit. He could not succeed of course, and he would in any case, be subjected to an infinite amount of criticism, mostly of the unkind variety. The newspaper business would not be elevated by such an attempt and we feel equally sure that the ministry will not be elevated by the unique performance of Mr. Sheldon, during the six days of this week.

Did Burns have these performances in his "barmy noddie" when he wrote:

Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us,
To see oursels as ithers see us!
It would frae mony a blunder free us,
And foolish notion.
What airs in dress and gait would lea'e us,
And e'en in devotion.

A fellow is now in jail at Fort Wayne and is worrying over the disgrace his incarceration will bring on his family. He should have thought of this before he did the wrong. A similar case has just happened here.

Two Auburn men were weak, very weak, the other day. They believed from the bottom of their hearts and stomachs that Auburn could not be a lively town unless they two—both, not one—should go off on a drunk. They proved their faith by their works, for they got silly drunk, almost helplessly drunk. Then the marshal came in as a silent partner and they were soon in the toils of an outraged law. They made 'Squire Walter's office blue with drunken profanity, and dared him and all the authorities to make them be decent. But Prosecutor Pomeroy arrived on the scene, and as they turned their mud batteries on him, he directed the marshal to take them to the lockup. They were modest enough to decline with thanks of a profane nature, when Nightwatch Baker and the marshal took one and Mr. Pomeroy the other. The route was mapped out, and the offical program was:

"Form in the justice's office, near the corner of Main and Ninth; thence on Main, south to Ninth; thence east on Ninth to Cedar; thence north on Cedar to the calaboose; east past an iron-grated door, where procession will disband."

This program was carried out to the letter, though there were frequent halts and some confusion. Once inside, the two Dromios fell on each other's necks and wept.

"Oh, what if my wife should see me in jail," sobbed Dromio of Ephesus.

"Oh; what if my mother should know I had been locked up," sobbed Dromio of Syracuse.

"Oh, I can't stay in this horrid place, Mr. Pomeroy," moaningly asserted D. of E.

"Oh, yes you can" replied the officer. "It is the easiest thing in town, much easier than getting out."

And again they fell on each other's neck and wept salt, bitter salt tears, the one for his wife and the other for his mother. Then they quarreled a little, and then they fell to talking fustian, and finally rolled over into a drunken slumber.

A few years ago the Waterloo Press had two articles on the tariff question. The one on the patent side was rank free trade; the one on the home side, and was written by Brother Willis, was rank protection. It put our friend in an awkward position, but he explained it frankly and got out all right.

Something similar to the above has just happened to our friends, the Dispatch and the Butler Record, Bro. Smith and Bro. Higley are partners and own and publish jointly, the two papers. In their last issue but one there were two articles on the Porto Rico tariff bill. One was on the inside and opposed the bill with a good deal of vigor. The other was on the outside page add was decidedly in favor of the bill. The views were radically opposite and must have made their readers wonder. This week they explain it by saying that Editor Higley wrote the inside article and Editor Smith wrote the ne on the outside. No wonder republicans in general are divided on this question when two republican editors who are partners in business also, differ so widely.

This editorial difference of opinion reminds us of the old farce, "Box and Cox" written many years ago by the versatile English playright, J. Maddison Morton. The story centers on the two men and the strange situations they got into. Box is a printer, who sets type at night and sleeps all day. Cox is a hatter, who works all day and sleeps all night. The landlady manages to make one room and one bed do for both men. But in the morning she has to hustle when Cox leaves the room in order to get it ready for Box, who is soon to come up stairs. The great difficulty is the lightning change she must make in the bed, for one insists on sleeping with his head to the north and the other is as decidedly set on sleeping with his head to the south. And the landlady excuses both just as we do the above two editors, by her remark, "People's tastes differ so."

A HUSBAND SAYS:

"Before my wife began using Mother's Friend she could hardly get around. I do not think she could get along without it now. She has used it for two months and it is a great help to her. She does her housework without trouble."

Mother's Friend

is an external liniment for expectant mothers to use. It gives them strength to attend to their household duties almost to the hour of confinement. It is the one and only preparation that overcomes morning sickness and nervousness. It is the only remedy that relaxes and relieves the strain. It is the only remedy that makes labor short and delivery easy. It is the only remedy that puts the breasts in condition so that swelling or rising is impossible. Don't take medicines internally. They endanger the lives of both mother and child.

Mother's Friend is sold by druggists for $1.

Send for our free illustrated book.

The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Reaching the Top Notch.

A good example of what honorable dealing, push and enterprise (coupled with liberal advertising), will do is well illustrated by the progress made by Schaab Bros. since they started in business in Auburn fourteen years ago, and they have every reason to feel proud of the success attained.

In 1886 this firm began the dry goods business in a room 22x80 feet, occupying but one floor. Three years later a deck 20x40 was added and a line of carpets put in, and in 1890 the second floor was finished and set aside for carpets, the deck being devoted to their line of clothing. The same year they made another addition to their business by leasing the room just north, 22x120 feet. which has since been used for their furniture trade. In 1896 the building first used was purchased and improved with a two-story addition at the rear, 22x26 feet, and a new front. In the intervening four years the firm's business has so largely increased that more room was needed, and, as heretofore noted, they have leased the Johnson room on the south, which will be used for the display and sale of clothing and gents' furnishings, hats and caps. The space formerly used by the clothing department will be fitted up for their line of ladies suits and wraps. The three ground-floor rooms are connected by archways and doors, and taken altogether it will be the largest mercantile establishment of any town of this size in Northeastern Indiana.

The COURIER has always found it a pleasure to do business with Schaab Bros., and they have been liberal advertisers. We can assure all our readers that when they visit this big store, they will receive liberal and courteous treatment and have an opportunity to select from a stock of goods that is not surpassed outside the large cities.

Not Wise.

Elsewhere we publish the correspondence between this country and Great Britain in regard to bringing about peace in South Africa. The president should have hesitated to take any step whatever after knowing that Great Britain had refused to let the two South African republics remain independent. That is a point we could not help the two warring nations settle, and the stand taken by the English shows that they will not accept any mediation. And moreover, it is a rule among nations not to offer friendly services, unless it appears that both belligerents are willing to accept. In this case it was plain, and on record in the answer of Lord Salisbury to President Kruger that England would accept no intervention. By making even this friendly offer, it should have been plain that we would receive the snub that we have.

A Little Known Fact.

That the majority of serious diseases originate in disorder of the kidneys. Foley's Kidney Cure is guaranteed. Try it today if you are not feeling well. H. B. McCord.

From Puget Sound.

EDITOR COURIER:—I am receiving many inquiries from your readers in regard to the various opportunities offered to the settler, the laborer and the hunter in this remote corner of our land. I would desire to answer all through the COURIER as my duties are many and my time of considerable value.

First about hunting. Don't come to this country to hunt. There is plenty of game here, but the parts most frequented by large game is too inaccessable to make hunting a pleasure or profitable.

Second. What is the chance here for employment at good wages? Work is plenty at present and wages will average about $2 00 per day without board. Good woodsmen get more.

This is probably one of the healthiest spots on this earth. Evergreen forests, snowy mountains, salt water sound and the sparkling mountain brooks of the purest liquid on this continent make sanitation perfect and disease is almost unknown. I have not seen a doctor since coming to this valley, almost two years ago.

Land varies greatly in price and quality. The mountain sides are of no agricultural value and can be had for a trifle, except where there is good timber. The valley land without improvements can be bought for from $5 to $20 per acre. Improved farms are worth about $30 to $50 per acre. The principle produce is butter, eggs, cattle, oats, wheat and root crops. Lumber and fish are important articles of export. Making a new farm in the woods requires much hard work and more courage, but when once cleared will not fail the tiller of the soil. A failure of crops has never been known in our rich valley lands. This is the best fruit country I know of, except for peaches and insect pests, and worms in apples. If you have $5 and a good constitution come here and own a piece of the earth and you will not regret it.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH A. SHADE.

Cure of Rheumatism.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts afflicted and realizing instant benefit and entire relef in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain.—The Vindicator. Rutherfordton, N. C. For sale by H. B. McCord. 13

Was Nicely Surprised.

Last evening Mrs. George Steele sent word to Miss Anna Rainier that she would like to have her come over to the house and spend the evening. The request was a very natural one and of course Miss Rainier forgot that it was her birthday. She "visited" at the Steele residence a while and on returning home found the house in possession of about twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen who with the assistance of Mesdames Rainier and Steele had planned a neat surprise. From the personnel of the crowd one can be assured that they had a good time. The usual games were on the program and Mrs. Rainier had prepared an elegant lunch which was served in four courses. As a gentle reminder that Miss Anna had reached another milestone in life she was presented by her guests with a fine vase and jewel case, which she naturally prizes very highly.

Lingering LaGrippe Cough.

G. Vacher, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of lagrippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50c bottle cured her entirely." Price 25c and 50c. H. B. McCord.

On the Divide.

It is reported that the water from the roof of Wesley Parker's house situated in Section 29, Green township, flows into two great water systems. The house is located on a ridge running north and south which is on the divide between the two great water systems. The water from the west side of the house flows westward into the Elkhart river, thence into the St. Joseph river and Lake Michigan and finally, if there is any of it escapes evaporation, reaches the Atlantic ocean by of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river. The water that falls on the east side of the house flows westward into Blue river, thence into the Eel river, and to the Atlantic ocean by way of the Wabash, Ohio and Mississippi rivers and Gulf of Mexico. There is probably not another house in the United States where the water that falls on its roof flows into two large systems so widely divergent.—Albion New Era.

Danger Signals!

Do you take cold with every change in the weather? Does your throat feel raw? And do sharp pains dart through your chest?

Don't you know these are danger signals which point to pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption itself?

If you are ailing and have lost flesh lately, they are certainly danger signals. The question for you to decide is, "Have I the vitality to throw off these diseases?"

Don't wait to try SCOTT'S EMULSION "as a last resort." There is no remedy equal to it for fortifying the system. Prevention is easy.

Scott's Emulsion

prevents consumption and hosts of other diseases which attack the weak and those with poor blood.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is the one standard remedy for inflamed throats and lungs, for colds, bronchitis and consumption. It is a food medicine of remarkable power. A food, because it nourishes the body; and a medicine, because it corrects diseased conditions.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York

THE PROHIBITIONISTS MEET.

An Enthusiastic Convention this Afternoon at the Mission.

The most enthusiastic convention ever held by the prohibitionists of DeKalb county convened in the mission this afternoon. The attendance was larger than on any previous occasion, nearly 200 being present. Chairman Eckhart called the convention to order and it was opened with prayer by Rev. Butler of Albion. After the preliminary affairs had been disposed of they proceeded to the nomination of officers.

Chas. Eckhart was unanimously re-elected county chairman, a position he has filled for thirteen years. William Eckhart was also re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Township chairmen were also chosen as follows: Butler, Fred W. Knott; Jackson, A. Sponhour; Concord, M. T. Bishop; Newville, Geo. DeLong; Stafford, not supplied; Wilmington north, John Penick; south W. A. Rose; Union, Ceo. Quince; Grant, T. J. Carpenter; Keyser, C. B. Jones; Richland, Boyd Keen; Fairfield, Emery Johnson; Smithfield, Wesley Jackman; Franklin, H. E. Jackman; Troy, not supplied. Chairman Eckhart was empowered to fill vacancies.

Delegates to the state convention May 1st and 2nd were appointed as follows:

Harry Keese, Emery Johnson, Henry Fretz, Chas. Eckhart, M. T. Bishop, Clayton Benjamin, L. D. Cahow, Daniel Klingin, C. B. Jones, P. A. Shurte, A. T. Harris, Fred W. Knott, Edgar S. Wise, Rev. I. M. Shilling, Will Eckhart. Delegates-at-large: Rev. J. D. Bragg, Rev. C. S. Johnson.

Delegates to congressional convention at Albion, April 14: Chas. Eckhart and M. T. Bishop.

Delegates to joint senatorial convention, Emory Johnson and Rev. J. H. Elson.

The following county ticket was then nominated.

Representative.....
.....Wm. Eckhart, Auburn, Ind.
Treasurer.....
.....Boyd R. Keen, Corunna, Ind.
Sheriff.....Edgar S. Wise, Auburn
Surveyor...A. L. Moudy, Moores, Ind.
Coroner....Dr. Chas. Stewart, Garrett
County Assessor.....
.....John M. Widney, Auburn
Commissioner, North.....
.....Emery Johnson, Summit, Ind.
Commissioner, South....George Leins

COUNCILMEN-AT-LARGE.

A. B. Olds.....Auburn
George Quince.....Auburn
Mort E. Olds.....St. Joe Station

DISTRICT COUNCILMEN.

First District..Geo. D. Long, Newville
Second District.....
.....T. J. Carpenter, Waterloo
Third District.....H. M. Fretz, Sedan
Fourth District.....
....Malcom Leighty, St. Joe Station

It Leads.

Wherever it has been introduced Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin leads all other remedies in curing constipation, indigestion and sick headache. It only costs ten cents for trial size. 10 doses 10 cents. Large size 50c and $1. H. B. McCord,

AUBURN COURIER.

THE UNITED STATES FOR 125 YEARS

Only a Brief Time of Absolute Peace Has Prevailed Since the Declaration of Independence Was Signed—An Official Calendar of All the Military Events in the History of the Government.

THE important wars of the United States since the Declaration of Independence, 125 years ago, can be summed up on the fingers of the two hands, says a Washington writer in the New York Sun. Nine out of ten individuals would unhesitatingly enumerate the revolutionary war, the war of 1812, the Mexican war, the great rebellion, the Spanish war, and the Philippine war as the sum total of our military difficulties. But even aside from our Indian wars, of which we have had a number of great dimensions, there have been several other important foreign collisions which threatened serious results, notably the maritime war with France, the war with the Tripolitan pirates, and the invasion of Spanish Florida.

In the War Department there was recently prepared with great care an official calendar of all the military events, great and small, in our history. The data are of historical value to the general reader, and are as follows:

1775-1783—War of the Revolution, April 19, 1775, to April 11, 1783.

1782-1787—Wyoming Valley disturbances, Pennsylvania.

1786-1787—Shays' rebellion, Massachusetts. Shays did not foment the discontent, but was chosen leader. With 2,000 men he attempted to capture the Springfield arsenal, but was fired upon by the militia under Gov. Shepherd; three insurgents were killed and one wounded. The rest fled. Gen. Lincoln, with 1,500 men, captured and dispersed the rebels. Shays fled to Vermont, then to Sparta, N. Y., where he died in 1825.

1790-1795—War with the Northwest Indians—Mingoes, Miamis, Wyandottes, Delawares, Pottawatomies, Shawnees, Chippewas and Ottawas—September, 1790, to August, 1795. Included are Harmar's and St. Clair's bloody defeats and Wayne's victory at Fallen Timbers, which compelled peace.

1791-1794—Whisky insurrection in Pennsylvania.

1798-1800—War with France, July 9, 1798, to Sept. 30, 1800. There were several desperate maritime combats, with varying fortune, but no land fighting, France being too busy on the European theater to make an invasion, and we being too weak. George Washington was made lieutenant general and commander-in-chief for this war, and our regular army was raised from 3,000 to 4,000 men to upward of 50,000.

1801-1805—War with Tripoli, June 10, 1801, to June 4, 1805. Our military and naval forces brought the North African Arab pirates to terms, something that several European powers had been unable to do. Commodore Edward Preble commanded the American naval forces. Young Stephen Decatur distinguished himself in this war. Preble made several attacks upon the town of Tripoli and the shipping in the harbor, destroying several of the Tripolitan gunboats and capturing others. Commander S. Barron relieved Preble Sept. 10, 1804. Barron was subsequently relieved by Captain John Rodgers. Preble did the most effective work.

1805—Burr's insurrection.

1806—Sabine expedition, Louisiana.

1807—Naval affair in Chesapeake bay, July 9 to Aug. 5, 1807.

1811-1813—War with the Northwest Indians, November, 1811, to October, 1813. Gen. Harrison defeated the Confederate tribes at Tippecanoe. Tecumseh was killed at the battle of the Thames, in Canada, in 1813.

1812-1815—War with Great Britain, June 18, 1812, to Feb. 17, 1815.

1812—Seminole war in Georgia and Florida, Aug. 15 to October, 1812. Spanish Florida invaded by Georgia militia under Gen. Newman, and the Seminoles, under King Payne, defeated. These disturbances never ceased until Florida was ceded by Spain to the United States. In fact, one band of the Seminoles were never conquered and reside in Florida to this day.

1813—Peoria Indian war in Illinois, Sept. 19 to Oct. 21, 1813.

1813-1814—Creek Indian war in Alabama. It was in this war that Gen. Andrew Jackson first attracted attention as a commander. He defeated the Creeks in a bloody engagement at Talladega, Nov. 9, 1813, at Emuckfau Jan. 22, 1814, at Enotochopco, Jan. 24, and finally at the Horseshoe Bend of the Tallapoosa river, March 27, 1814, which humbled the Creek pride completely. At this battle 750 Creeks were killed or drowned, and 201 whites were killed or wounded. In this war the brave Creeks lost 2,000 warriors. But ten years afterward the tribe still numbered 22,000.

1817-1818—Seminole war in Georgia and Florida, Nov. 20, 1817, to Oct. 31, 1818. It was during this war that Jackson took possession of the Spanish territory. He seized St. Mark's and Pensacola, Fla., hanged two Englishmen, Arbuthnot and Ambrister, for inciting the Indians to hostilities, and brought the Indians to terms.

1823—Campaign against Blackfeet and Ariokaree Indians, upper Missouri river.

1827—Winnebago expedition (no fighting), June to September, 1827, also called LaFevre Indian war.

1831—Sac and Fox troubles in Wisconsin and Illinois.

1832—Black Hawk war, April 26 to Sept. 21, 1832, in Illinois and Wisconsin. Black Hawk escaped from Gen. Atkinson, but surrendered at Prairie du Chien, Aug. 27, 1832. He was taken to Washington to see the "Great Father," and ever afterward lived at peace with the whites. He was but a chief of a secondary band. He settled upon the Des Moines river, in Iowa, where he died in 1838.

1834—Pawnee expedition, June to September, 1834, in the Indian Territory.

1835-1836—The Toledo war, or Ohio and Michigan boundary dispute.

1835-1842—Seminole war in Florida, Nov. 1, 1835, to Aug. 14, 1842.

1836-1837—Creek disturbances in Alabama, May 5, 1836, to Sept. 30, 1837.

1836-1837—Sabine disturbances, Southwestern frontier, April, 1836, to June, 1837. No fighting.

1836-1839—Cherokee disturbances and removal to the Indian Territory.

1837—Osage Indian troubles in Missouri.

1838—Heatherly Indian troubles on Missouri and Iowa line.

1838—Mormon disturbances in Illinois and Missouri. Governor of Missouri called out the militia, and the Mormons were driven out of Jackson County, settling down at Nauvoo, Ill. They were driven out of Illinois at the point of the bayonet in 1846, emigrating to Salt Lake City. No regular troops were engaged against the Mormons at that time.

1838-1839—New York Aroostook and Canada (patriot war) frontier disturbances. No fighting.

1846-1848—Mexican war, April 24, 1846, to May 30, 1848. Settled the annexation of Texas, and the cession of California, Arizona, New Mexico, etc. Gen. Taylor fought the battles of Palo Alto, Resaca de la Palma, in Texas; invaded Mexico and captured Monterey, all in 1846; defeated Santa Anna at Buena Vista, Feb. 22-23, 1847, where the Americans were outnumbered four to one. Meanwhile Gen. Winfield Scott invaded Mexico by way of Vera Cruz, and penetrated to the capital in a single campaign. He defeated the Mexicans at Cerro Gordo, Contreras, Molino del Rey, Cherubusco and Chapultepec, and in many minor engagements. Strategists have pronounced this one of the finest campaigns in military history. The Mexican nation was completely conquered, but was most generously treated by the conqueror. In none of the battles did Scott's forces exceed 10,000 men, and he did not meet with a single reverse.

1846-1848—New Mexico expedition, June 20, 1846, to Feb. 13, 1848. Part of the Mexican war.

1848—Cayuse war, Oregon (Oregon volunteers).

1849-1851—Navajo troubles, New Mexico.

1849-1861 — Continuous disturbances with Comanches, Cheyenne, Lipan and Kickapoo Indians in Texas.

1850—Pitt river expedition, California, April 28 to Sept. 13, 1850.

1851-1852—Yuma expedition, California, December, 1851, to April, 1852.

1851-1853—Utah Indian disturbances.

1851-1856—Rogue River, Yakima, Klikitat, Klamath and Salmon River Indian wars, in Oregon and Washington.

1855 — Winna's expedition against Snake Indians, Oregon, May 24 to Sept. 8, 1855.

1855—Sioux expedition, Nebraska Territory, June to October, 1855.

1855—Yakima expedition, Oct. 11 to Nov. 24, 1855. Commanded by Maj. Gabriel J. Rains, afterward a Confederate general. Composed of a small body of regulars and a regiment of mounted Oregon troops. The expedition was a failure. The following year, under command of Col. George Wright, United States army, better success was had against the Indian allies, and a peace subsequently compelled. Lieut. Sheridan, afterward lieutenant general, greatly distinguished himself at the Cascades.

1855-1856—Cheyenne and Arapahoe troubles.

1855-1858—Seminole war in Florida, Dec. 25, 1855, to May 8, 1858.

1857—Gila expedition, New Mexico, April 16 to Sept. 16, 1857.

1857—Sioux Indian troubles in Minnesota and Iowa, March and April, 1857.

1857-1858—Expedition against the Mormons in Utah. About 2,500 troops, under Col. Albert Sidney Johnston, penetrated to Salt Lake City. There were no hostilities, although the Mormons captured a drove of beef cattle, and committed some petty depredations. The President offered pardon to all who would yield, and the proffer was accepted by the Mormon leaders. The troops were stationed at Camp Floyd, and remained in Salt Lake valley until 1860. A. S. Johnston was afterwards one of the most conspicuous of the Confederate chieftains and was killed at the head of his army in the battle of Shiloh, April 6, 1862.

1857-1858—Kansas border troubles. Col. E. V. Sumner of the First cavalry was the senior officer in Kansas. The United States forces seemingly lent their moral influence to the pro-slavery cause, but they did not seriously interfere except once. Under the orders of President Franklin Pierce, Col. Sumner dispersed the Free State Legislature, called to meet at Topeka, July 4, 1856. Sumner was afterward a Union major general, and greatly distinguished himself.

1858—Expedition against Northern Indians, Washington Territory, July 17 to Oct. 17, 1858.

1858—Puget Sound expedition, Washington, Aug. 10 to Sept. 23, 1858.

1858—Spokane, Coeur d'Alene and Paloos Indian troubles in Washington Territory.

1858—Navajo expedition, New Mexico, Sept. 9 to Dec. 25, 1858.

1858-1859—Wichita expedition, Indian Territory, Sept. 11, 1858, to December, 1859.

1859—Colorado river expedition, California, Feb. 11 to April 28, 1859.

1859—Pecos expedition, Texas, April 16 to Aug. 17, 1859.

1859—Antelope Hills expedition, Texas, June 10 to Sept. 23, 1859.

1859—Bear river expedition, Utah, June 10 to Sept. 23, 1859.

1859—John Brown raid, Harper's Ferry, Va., October and December, 1859. Brown seized the United States armory, where he was attacked by local militia under Col. Baylor. Subsequently he retreated to the engine house, afterward known as "John Brown's Fort," where he held out from Monday, Oct. 17, until Tuesday morning, Oct. 18. Col. Robert E. Lee had arrived the night before from Washington with ninety marines and two cannon, and Brown was soon overcome. He was surrounded by 1,500 militiamen and irregulars. His total force was twenty-two men—seventeen whites and five negroes. All were killed but four. Brown was hanged Dec. 2, 1859, at Charlestown, Va. About twenty militiamen and citizens were killed and wounded.

1859-1860—Cortinas troubles along Rio Grande river.

1860—Kiowa and Comanche expedition, Indian Territory, May 8 to Oct. 11, 1860.

1860—Carson valley expedition, Utah, May 14 to July 15, 1860.

1860-1861—Navajo expedition, New Mexico, Sept. 12, 1860, to Feb. 24, 1861.

1861-1866—War of secession, April 19, 1861, to Aug. 20, 1866. Actual hostilities began at Fort Sumter April 12, 1861, and ceased with the Confederate surrender in Texas, May 26, 1865. The civil war was officially declared to have ended Aug. 20, 1866.

1862-1867—Sioux Indian war in Minnesota and Dakota. The Sioux killed upward of 1,000 settlers in Minnesota. They were pursued by Gens. Sibley and Sully, with about 5,000 men, scattering in Dakota. The operations against them were successful. Over 1,000 Indians were made prisoners and 39 of the murderers were hanged after a fair trial. In 1863 the Minnesota Sioux were removed to Dakota.

1863-1869—War against the Cheyennes, Arapahoes, Kiowas and Comanche Indians in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Indian Territory.

1865-1868—Indian war in southern Oregon and Idaho and northern California and Nevada.

1865-1866—Fenian raid, New York and Canadian border disturbances.

1867-1871—Campaign against Lipan, Kiowa, Kickapoo and Comanche Indians and Mexican border disturbances.

1868-1869—Canadian river expedition,

1872-1873—Modoc campaign, Nov. 28, 1872, to June 1, 1873. The Modoc band of Captain Jack held out against all efforts for nearly a year. Gen. Wheaton and Gen. Gillem, with inconsiderable forces, were repulsed. In a friendly conference, April 11, 1873, Gen. E. R. S. Canby and Dr. Thomas were murdered in cold blood, and the war was resumed. Gen. Jefferson C. Davis compelled Captain Jack to surrender after a long and stubborn resistance. Jack and three other Modocs were hanged at Fort Klamath, Oct. 3, 1873. The rest of the band was moved to the Indian Territory.

1873—Yellowstone expedition, Dakota, June 4 to Oct. 4, 1873.

1874-1875—Campaign against Kiowas, Cheyennes and Comanche Indians, Indian Territory, Aug. 1, 1874, to Feb. 16 1875.

1874—Sioux expedition, Wyoming and Nebraska, Feb. 13 to Aug. 19, 1874.

1874—Black Hills expedition, Dakota, June 20 to Aug. 30, 1874.

1874—Big Horn expedition, Wyoming, Aug. 13, 1874, to Oct. 10, 1874.

1875—Expedition against Indians in eastern Nevada, Sept. 7 to 27, 1875.

1876—Powder river expedition, Wyoming, Nov. 1 to Dec. 31, 1876.

1876-1877—Big Horn and Yellowstone expeditions, Wyoming and Montana, Feb. 17, 1876, to June 13, 1877. Three converging expeditions under Gens. Gibbon, Custer and Terry were sent against the hostile Sioux, who had previously repulsed Gen. Crook in the Little Big Horn country. Custer divided his command when in the vicinity of the Indians, and he with 250 of his men was surrounded and massacred to a man by at least 3,000 Sioux warriors. The bands of Sitting Bull, Crazy Horse and other hostiles afterward fled into Canada, from whence they did not return for some years. Eventually all came into the agencies.

1876-1879—War with Northern Cheyennes and Sioux, Indian Territory, Kansas, Wyoming, Dakota, Nebraska and Montana.

1877—Labor strikes in Pennsylvania and Maryland, July to October, 1877.

1877—Nez Perces campaign, June 14 to Oct. 5, 1877.

1878—Bannock campaign, May 30 to Sept. 4, 1878.

1878—Piute Indian troubles in Nevada and Idaho.

1878—Ute expedition, Colorado, April 3 to Sept. 9, 1878.

1879—Snake or Sheepeater Indian troubles, Oregon and Washington.

1879-1894—Disturbances of settlers in Indian and Oklahoma Territories, Oklahoma boomers, and the Cherokee strip disturbances.

1879-1880—Ute Indian campaign, Colorado and Utah, Sept. 21, 1879, to Nov. 8, 1880.

1885—Chinese miners and labor troubles in Wyoming, September and October, 1885.

1890-1891—Sioux Indian disturbances in South Dakota, November, 1890, to January, 1891.

1891-1893—Garcia troubles, Mexican border disturbances.

1892—Miners' disturbances in Idaho, July to November, 1892.

1894—Industrial army, commonwealers, Coxeyites and labor disturbances.

1894—Railroad, Pullman and labor strikes, from Illinois to the Pacific coast, June to August, 1894.

1895—Bannock Indian troubles, July and August, 1895.

1898—Spanish-Cuban war.

1898—Leech Lake and Pillager Indian trouble, October.

1898-1899—Philippine war (still in progress).

Our Indian wars are apparently a thing of the past, but the record shows that they were going on pretty constantly for one hundred years.

Persian Wit.

The author of "Flowers from a Persian Garden" gives many examples of Oriental wit and humor, some of which ar extremely delicate and pleasing. Among them is the story of a professional scribe to whom a man went, asking that a letter might be written for him. The scribe said he had a pain in his foot.

"A pain in your foot!" echoed the man. "I don't want to send you to any place, that you should make such an excuse."

"Very true," said the scribe, "but whenever I write a letter for any one I am always sent for to read it, because no one else can make it out."

When a man becomes suddenly rich, it not unfrequently follows that he becomes as suddenly oblivious of his old friends. Thus, a Persian having obtained a lucrative position at court, a friend of his came shortly afterward to congratulate him thereon.

The new courtier asked him: "Who are you, and why do you come here?"

The other coolly replied: "Do you not know me, then? I am your old friend, and am come to condole with you, having heard that you had lately lost your sight."

Changed the Place.

It is said that Jared Sparks, chosen president of Harvard College in 1849, yielded promptly and courteously to the opinions and wishes of the faculty where no important interest was at issue; but wherever the welfare or honor of the college or of its individual members was concerned, he adhered immovably to his own judgment.

A case in point, says Dr. Peabody, in his "Harvard Graduates Whom I Have Known," occurred when Kossuth was making his progress through the country. Mr. Sparks was one of the few who were disinclined to pay him homage. The then usual spring exhibition, normally held in the college chapel, was at hand, and it was understood that Kossuth would be present. The faculty voted unanimously, or nearly so, to hold this exhibition where the commencements were held, in the First Parish Church.

Mr. Sparks declared the vote, but added: 'It is for you, gentlemen, to hold the exhibition where you please. I shall go to the chapel in my cap and gown at the usual hour."

The vote, of course, was reconsidered.

"A Card."

La Gaceta, a paper published in Guadalajara, Mexico, part in English and part in Spanish, prints in a prominent place the folowing:

Will the gentleman who embraced my wife at the entrance to the postoffice about 9 o'clock Thursday evening please send his photograph for my album of heroes? He will greatly oblige J. I.

Black eyes are beautiful only when given by nature.

Pleasant Incidents Occurring the World Over—Sayings that Are Cheerful to Old or Young—Funny Selections that You Will Enjoy.

"The kind of drummer we want is a convincing talker who has a large circle of friends."

"You'll not find him."

"Why not?"

"Convincing talkers never have a large circle of friends."—Indianapolis Journal.

Wise Precaution.

"What on earth are you bringing all those umbrellas in here for?" asked Mrs. Van Fashion, as Mr. Van Fashion puffed into their bed room with an armful of rain interceptors. "Why, I thought that reception was due tonight."

"Yes, and you are afraid the guests will steal them, are you?"

"Not at all; I am afraid they will recognize them."—Life.

No Dummy.

"Oh, I wouldn't call Chollie a dummy," said the young woman who has a kind heart.

"What else is he?" asked the caustic young woman.

"I do not know that he is anything at all. But all the dummies I have seen wore ready-made clothes, and Chollie would rather die than do that."—Indianapolis Journal.

He Spoke Too Late.

Unwelcome Suitor—That's a lovely song. It always carries me away.

She—If I had known how much pleasure it could give us both I would have sung it earlier in the evening.—Harlem Life.

The 20th Century Hotel.

"Here, Front, take one day's rations and go to the top floor and find out what that man in 100000000001 wants." New York Journal.

Her Knowledge of It.

The young woman had been typewriting to the Chairman of the Finance Committee for about a month and had made a mistake in one of his circular letters.

"Here," he said angrily, "don't you know anything about the money question at all?"

"I know this much," she responded with asperity, "I was to get $6 a week in this office, and I've been working four weeks and haven't had a cent yet."

Resenting a Slander.

Guest—Insomnia kept me awake all night last night.

Landlord (indignantly)—I'll give you $5 to find one in the house!—Baltimore News.

High Life Fiction.

"Does that new novel call a spade a spade?"

"No, indeed; the laboring classes are not mentioned in the book at all."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Definition.

He—What is a flirtation?

She—Attention without intention.—Chicago News.

Fragrant Weed.

Visitor—What a dreadful smell of smoke!

Hostess—Oh, it is only George burning his weeds, as he calls it.

Visitor—I didn't know he went in for gardening.

Hostess—Neither does he. He has been smoking some cigars I gave him last Christmas.—Judy.

Retained with Difficulty.

"Bigby started for Europe full of a big business scheme."

"Did it succeed?"

"Well, yes; but he says that for one spell going over he thought he should have to throw the whole thing up."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Forewarned Is Forearmed.

"Going to the Paris Exposition next summer, Horrocks?"

"Yes."

"Good. So am I. I hope I shall see you often."

"I hope you will, Varnum."

"We ought to begin saving money for it, oughtn't we?"

"Yes. That is, you ought. I am going to run an American boarding house."

Appreciative.

"I suppose you think I insist on having my own way a great deal," said Mr. Meekton's wife, in a rather relenting tone.

"Of course I do, Henrietta. You wouldn't be doing your duty by me otherwise. You might let me make some mistakes."—Washington Star.

It Is Reality.

Charley Spooner—I hope you will write me very often while I am away, darling. I shall live on your letters.

Maude—Dear boy, I didn't know you were fond of a note-meal diet.

to turn over on the other side and sleep some more."

A Double Life.

"Just learned to-day," said Mrs. Wederly, "that my husband is leading a double life."

"Well, I don't blame him much," replied her spinster cousin. "A single life is awfully tiresome."—Baltimore American.

True Genius.

The Philistine—Is it true that genius is only a capacity for taking pains?

The Poet—No. True genius is the ability to write fly-time poetry in the middle of winter.—Indianapolis Journal.

Very Near It.

Governess—What were the names of Noah's sons?

Kitty (after a pause)—Shem—(pause) Ham, and—(long pause)—Bacon.—Ally Sloper.

Made Her Laugh.

Patience—There's something about Tom's moustache that makes me laugh.

Patrice—Is that so? It tickles me, too.—Yonkers Statesman.

Wished Him Success.

A burglar who had entered a minister's house at midnight was disturbed by the awakening of the occupant of the room he was in. Drawing his knife, he said: "If you stir you are a dead man. I'm hunting for money."

"Let me get up and strike a light," said the minister, "and I'll hunt with you."—Universalist Leader.

Questions and Answers.

An inspector was once giving an object lesson on an umbrella. To illustrate his subject he took his own silk umbrella, which happened to have a small hole in it.

"What is this, boy?"

"An umbrella, sir."

"And what is this?"

"The stick, sir."

"And these?"

"The ribs, sir."

"With what is it covered?"

Silence.

"Surely you know. What kind of an umbrella would you call it?"

'An old 'un, sir."—Good Words.

Diamond Cut Diamond.

Downtown—Here comes Jackson. He's got a new baby, and he'll talk us to death.

Uptown—Well, here comes a neighbor of mine who has a new setter dog. Let's introduce them to each other and leave them to their fate.

Not Worth Solving.

She—You are a conundrum.

He—Indeed!

She—Yes, and I'm going to give you up.

A Timely Question.

It was an Irishman who went to buy a clock, and when shown one that "would go eight days without winding," asked: "Be jabers, how long would it run if ye wound it?"

Precocious.

Mrs. Nettleson—The dentist's baby seems to be young to have teeth.

The Nurse (confidentially)—Don't say anything, but the child's father made him the set.—Brooklyn Life.

Colors Too Loud.

Mrs. Porcine—What a lovely rainbow that is!

Mrs. Chipbeef—Do you think so?

Mrs. Porcine—Why, don't you?

Mrs. Chipbeef—Oh, I daresay it's all very well, but the colors are too loud for my taste.—Melbourne Weekly Times.

Extravagant Man.

She—Do you want to drive your wife and children to beggary? That makes the second package of tobacco that you've bought in a month.

The First Monument.

The oldest monument in Westminster Abbey is that erected to Edward the Confessor. The first Abbey church of Westminster was built by King Edward the Confessor, who died in the opening days of 1066, when his church had just been consecrated in the presence of Edith, his Queen. He was buried before the high altar with his crown upon his head, a golden chain and a crucifix around his neck, and his pilgrim's ring upon his finger. When Henry III. rebuilt the Abbey in 1272 he built the chapel of Edward the Confessor, as a monument to him, at the rear of the high altar, placing his shrine in the center of the chapel, and there they remain to the present day. The coffin containing the incorrupt body of the Confessor was carried on the shoulders of the Royal Plantagenet princes (whose own sepulchers were afterward to cluster around it), and deposited in the shrine of marble and mosaic.

Newspapers.

In the year 1700 there was only one newspaper in the United States. Now there are more than in England, France and Germany put together.

ALL OF THE DAY

ANOTHER TRUST PROPHET.

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, whose name has been linked with various profitable schemes, notably a rake-off of ten or fifteen millions in a United States bond transaction less than a hundred years ago, writes a letter to the public deploring freight discriminations.

"While I have no personal knowledge of such evils, no man deplores them more than I do. I supposed that the interstate commerce law would abolish such discriminations and punish everybody participating in them, but it is unfortunate that no substantial results have been accomplished in this respect. The remedy is in publicity and the law must be enforced. The railroads suffer by these discriminations, and so long as the violators of the law go free, it is discouraging to the railway companies, and they must either adopt the same illegal course or meet secret concessions by an open tariff. The remedy is severe, but ought to be effective. You (committee of small shippers who wrote me) have my sympathy and support in your efforts to conserve railroad revenue and the protection of shippers."

In the meantime increased "railroad revenue" pours into Mr. Morgan's coffers, but he doesn't know where it comes from. With such balderdash, Pecksniffian sentimentality the Chicago Times-Herald (Rep.) thinks it can impose trust benevolence upon a trust(ing) people!

Our Duty to Porto Rico.

Since the cession Porto Rico has been denied the principal markets she had long enjoyed, and our tariffs have been continued against her products as when she was under Spanish sovereignty. The markets of Spain are closed to her products except upon terms to which the commerce of all nations is subjected. The Island of Cuba, which used to buy her cattle and tobacco without custom duties, now imposes the same duties upon these products as from any other country entering her ports. She has, therefore, lost her free intercourse with Spain and Cuba, without any compensating benefits in this market. Her coffee was little known and not in use by our people, and, therefore, there was no demand here for this, one of her chief products. The markets of the United States should be opened up to her products. Our plain duty is to abolish all customs tariffs between the United States and Porto Rico, and give her products free access to our markets.—From President McKinley's message to Congress.

Later, as amended: "Our plain duty is to establish such customs tariffs between the United States and Porto Rico as will be most agreeable to the sugar, tobacco and Standard Oil trusts, and give her products access to our markets in such manner as will not hurt our own infant industries."

Later, No. 2: "Owing to the disapproval of the nation of the action of Congress, in taking the sole responsibility of imposing tariff duties on the Porto Ricans, and the contingency of my defeat next November, if this policy be continued, I revert to my prior opinion."

Later, No. 3: "It appearing that the campaign fund will be seriously impaired by yielding to the Porto Rican anarchy and conceding free trade, I hereby return to my former opinion."

Later, No. 4: "Damfino where I am at. Who will haul down the flag?"

Imperial Magnanimity.

Filled with the consciousness of a high and holy purpose, President McKinley on March 1 instructed Secretary Root to authorize the use of $1,250,000 in affording relief to the people of Porto Rico. This is the answer which the administration desires to make to the charge that in helping the passage of the House bill it has lost sight of the interests of the people of that island. There is no authority in the law appropriating the money for such expenditure, but an amendment to this effect was added to the Senate Porto Rico bill.

This is all very laudable, but the misfortune of it is the money does not come out of Mr. McKinley's own pocket, but out of the royal treasury, which, in former times, was considered as belonging to the people. Another misfortune is: All this money will be gathered in Porto Rican duties by the sugar trust, tobacco and other trusts. It is too tough. Truly Mr. McKinley is a philanthropist of royal, nervy, imperial proportions, particularly when the consumers of sugar and tobacco pay the bill.

An Anomaly.

Speaking of the Payne-Foraker bill Senator Pettigrew, of South Dakota, said the other day: "I am opposed to the Payne-Foraker bill. Trade, we are assured by President McKinley, follows the flag. But the Constitution doesn't. Did you ever hear of such an anomaly?

"I contend that we cannot maintain, under our Constitution, an empire and a republic at the same time. The tendency seems to me toward imperialism and empire. The republic must not fail or the empire will stand; the empire must fail or the republic cannot stand."

Senator Pettigrew Wants Light.

The Senator from South Dakota is a thorn in the flesh of the McKinley administration. He troubles their spirits by his treasonable demand for information concerning department matters. His last escapade is to demand the war record of Adjutant General Corbin, whose promotion is opposed on account of his bad record, but alas! as Pettigrew discovered in the Philippine imbroglio, the record of the court martial that sat on Corbin for cowardice and various other delinquencies turns out to be missing. The Senator will now become a double-dyed traitor.

Why Didn't They Do Something?

If some of them ex-officials, Senators, Governors, Congressmen and town marshals who are going about the country telling people what ought to be done to cure the evils which afflict them, would explain why they didn't do something when they had a chance, their advice would receive some recognition. What the country needs is an entirely new dispensation with fresh intellects, capable of acting up to their convictions. As long as the party is in the control of hamfatters, slinks, trimmers and ex-officials, good-by, Democracy.

Mr. Reid Alarmed.

Whitelaw Reid's talk at the Massachusetts Club dinner would serve admirably in good part as an anti-imperialist campaign document. He is alarmed at certain dangers which his Paris peace policy threaten to bring upon the country. The possibility that the new possessions may become a part of the United States through the force of the constitution or otherwise staggers him. It threatens to "plunge us over the precipice." How would Massachusetts relish "having this mixed population" (of Porto Rico), "a little more than half colonial Spanish, the rest negro and half-breed, illiterate, alien in language, alien in ideas of right, interests and government, send in from the mid-Atlantic two Senators to balance the votes of Mr. Hoar and Mr. Lodge?"

Very good. Make the people of Porto Rico citizens now, give them also the constitutional rights of free trade and so on, "and you have already made the island potentially a State." Exactly. And behind Porto Rico stand the Philippines! And so the constitution becomes "a crazy quilt, under whose dirty folds must huddle the United States of America, of the West Indies, of the East Indies and of Polynesia; and pandemonium is upon us." And again:

"What holds a nation together, unless it be community of interests, character and language, and contiguous territory? What would more thoroughly insure its speedily flying to pieces than the lack of every one of these requisites? How manifestly under the incongruous hodge-podge of additions to the Union thus proposed, we should have the exact conditions which have invariably led to such downfalls elsewhere?"

Again very well spoken. But who, besides the President, has done more than Whitelaw Reid to attach this hodge-podge to the fortunes of the nation and annex it hard and fast as territory of the United States?—Springfield Republican.

The New York Chamber of Commerce.

How is this? The New York Chamber of Commerce rebukes the President by unanimous vote for having forced the Porto Rican tariff bill! Is it possible that this is the same Chamber of Commerce which only a few weeks ago indorsed the subvention of American ships, and gave as its reason the fact that such subvention was in harmony with the protective tariff policy? Here is the resolution:

Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York records its emphatic opinion that every consideration of honor, justice and humanity demands that trade between the United States and the Island of Porto Rico shall be unrestricted by any customs duties whatever.

If the President gets himself disliked by such a body, a body whose annual dinners have been turned into Republican love feasts for several years past, how is he likely to stand with the conservative element of his party?—New York News.

Trade Don't Follow Our Flag.

The war department has given out some details of trade with the Philippines for the three months ended with September last. It appears that Great Britain is taking much of the export trade of the islands and that Europe altogether commands over two-thirds of this trade; while of imports into the islands Europe contributed $2,295,520 and North America only $331,475. And yet we understood that trade follows the flag.—Springfield Republican.

Dress Makes the Man.

There were those who insisted that Abraham Lincoln was not a statesman and unfit to govern the country because his pantaloons bagged at the knees, just as there are Americans who claim that the Boers are not entitled to their freedom because they do not bathe every day and part their hair in the middle. The proper badge of statesmen under the McKinley administration consists of knee breeches and dropped "h's."

No Suppression of Facts.

One thing is certain, there will be no Hannaizing of the proceedings of the National Democratic Convention at Kansas City as there was at Chicago four years ago. Kansas City newspapers are not actuated by the kind of partisanship that countenances the gagging and suppression of facts.—Kansas City Times.

A "Holey" Terror.

If the Republicans failed to pass the Porto Rican tariff bill they would put themselves in a hole, as far as the trusts are concerned, and if they passed it they would put themselves in a hole so far as the voters are concerned. The situation confronting the g. o. p. seems to be a "holey" terror.—Kansas City Times.

Blowing Hot and Cold.

"There is no use depreciating the islands, East or West," says Whitelaw Reid to the Massachusetts Club. And then he proceeds to depreciate them in the most scathing manner possible, telling his hearers what a perfectly hopeless, degraded, hybrid lot their people are.—Springfield Republican.

Belgian Cities.

Antwerp in a century has risen from 53,000 to 257,000, an increase of 383 per cent. Liege has advanced from 46,000 to 160,000; Ghent from 55,000 to 155,000; Brussels from 68,000 to 187,000.

Four tablespoonfuls of liquid are equal to one wineglassful. (A sherry or claret glass is not a wine glass ordinarily alluded to in measurements.)

AUBURN COURIER.

Nursery Partners.

"Why, children, what are you crying so for?"

"I'm cold, mamma, and want you to come up!" replied Gertrude.

"But, Ulli, what are you crying for?"

"You didn't hear Gertrude, mamma, so I'm helping her cry."—Humoristiche Blaetter.

Wireless Telegraphy

Has had a new demonstration of usefulness by the captain of a lightship, who used it after ordinary signals had failed, to notify the shore authorities of danger. In a like manner Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the famous indigestion and dyspepsia cure, acts when other medicines fail. It regulates the bowels and improves the appetite.

Disproven.

"Rafferty," said Mr. Dolan, "did yez ever hear th' old sayin', 'Beauty is only skin deep?'"

"I did. An' a foine, true sayin' it is."

"It's nothin' iv the koind. Oi'm thinkin iv its foolishness ivery toime Oi take the cover of a baked pitaty."—Washington Star.

Cold Comfort.

Mr. Slimpurse—To—to tell the truth, I am a—a little afraid to—to ask your father for your hand.

Miss Chargit—Oh, you needn't worry. He says I am ruinously extravagant.—New York Weekly.

Coughing Leads to Consumption. Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

On Japanese Railways.

The Japanese railways have introduced newspaper reading cars on some of their passenger trains. Tall piles of newspapers are kept at the service of travelers so that they may read as they ride.

Spring Humors of the Blood

Come to a certain percentage of all the people. Probably 75 per cent. of these people are cured every year by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and we hope by this advertisement to get the other 25 per cent. to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has made more people well, effected more wonderful cures than any other medicine in the world. Its strength as a blood purifier is demonstrated by its marvelous cures of

Scrofula	Salt Rheum
Scald Head	Boils, Pimples
All Kinds of Humor	Psoriasis
Blood Poisoning	Rheumatism
Catarrh	Malaria, Etc.

All of which are prevalent at this season.

You need Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will do you wonderful good.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Blood Medicine.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 200,000 new customers, and hence offer

1 Pkg.	City Garden Beet,	10c
1 Pkg.	Earliest Emerald Cucumber,	10c
1 "	La Crosse Market Lettuce,	15c
1 "	Strawberry Melon,	15c
1 "	13 Day Radish,	10c
1 "	Early Ripe Cabbage,	10c
1 "	Early Dinner Onion,	10c
5 "	Brilliant Flower Seeds,	15c
Worth $1.00, for 14 cents.		$1.00

Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c in stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without. $500 Prize on Salzer's 1900—rarest earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.—JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes. Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers. The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free. W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

Valuable Premiums FREE!

Our method of advertising. Save the round trade-marks—one on every two-pound package of FRIENDS' Oats. They call for valuable premiums. If you are unacquainted with the premiums, we will mail you, postage free, an illustrated list comprising many handsome and useful articles. Address manufacturers,

FRIENDS' OATS, Muscatine, Ia.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup The best remedy for children and adults. Cures at once coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, asthma, grippe, bronchitis and incipient consumption. Price 25c.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS.

Secure relief by using Dr. Harvey's Rheumatic Pills, used successfully by him in his practice for many years. Send for pamphlet. Address Harvey Medicine Co., 180 Tremont St., Boston, Mass. (Room 36.)

WANTED—Apple Logs or Lumber. Write for prices and specifications. E. C. ATKINS & CO. Saw Manufacturers, Indianapolis, Ind.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A Wife Beater Is Whitecapped—Want Their Wages Every Week—Winter Wheat Injured—Silver Found in a Cave—Nancy Hanks Monument Accepted.

Peter Huffman, a miner living at Lyford, was the victim of a white-capping outrage which may result in his death. In the past two or three weeks his wife has complained to neighbors of his treatment of her, saying that he was abusive, and more recently he struck her and nearly bit off one of her fingers. When the act became known in the town a mob of twenty or thirty persons was formed and each armed himself with a mule driver's whip from the mines in the vicinity. Huffman was taken from his bed and led to the edge of the town, where he was unmercifully whipped.

For a Weekly Pay Day.

Prosecutor William Edwards has brought mandamus proceedings in the Superior Court at Anderson against the Wright Shovel Company, operating plants in Anderson and Elwood; the American Plate Glass Company, operating in Alexandria, and the American Tin Plate Company, operating in Anderson and Elwood, to compel the companies to pay their employes weekly, in compliance with the Indiana law. The State labor commissioners have revoked the permit issued to these companies some time ago to pay bi-monthly. The demands of the employes is practically unanimous for a weekly pay. There are 4,500 operatives interested.

Indiana Wheat Has Suffered.

That the winter wheat crop of Indiana has suffered intensely by the variations of temperature is very evident by the large number of reliable reports received by the crop bureau of Indiana. In the northern part of the State the average will not equal 50 per cent of the normal yield. The wheat on high ground has suffered the most and a great deal of it will not return the seed used. Farmers in general expect about half a crop in Whitley, Allen, De Kalb, Steuben, La Grange, Fulton and Marshall.

Silver Ore in an Indian Cave.

Silver ore has been discovered in Orange County. David Ross, a farmer, discovered a cave on his farm rich in quartz-bearing ore. It is believed that when the cave is explored the find will be of much importance. Near the entrance to the cave are Indian hieroglyphics, cut in the bark of trees, and on several trees is the figure of a human hand pointing toward the cave. The concealed opening of the cave was found through these guiding hands.

Accepts Offer of Monument.

The Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial Association met at the Governor's office in Indianapolis and decided to accept the proposition of J. S. Culver, a Springfield, Ill., contractor, to erect, free of charge, a monument over the grave of Lincoln's mother, near Lincoln City.

Within Our Borders.

Another big oiler has been struck at Lagootee.

John Wisley, 74, Spencer, was found dead in bed.

The Indiana oil field is said to be more profitable now than at any time since it was discovered.

In Kokomo Charles Fisher, a lineman, was killed by a live wire while extending a telephone line.

Floyd Miller, 24, Scottsburg, shuffled off with ten grains of morphine in stomach. No apparent cause.

Christopher Shepherd, 73, Sullivan, was dragged sixty feet by an Illinois Central coal train and killed.

Clark County grand jury adjourned without returning an indictment against County Treasurer M. E. Pangborn, charged with defalcation.

In a drunken fight which occurred fifteen miles southwest of English among a number of young farmers several of them were seriously if not fatally wounded.

Mormon conference at Terre Haute was not attended by the citizens. The Mormons confessed they have made a poor drag in the past two years, but say they feel encouraged.

At Muncie Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hiner were awakened by a loud knocking at the door. The latter answered the call and found a basket containing a girl baby, which had been deposited on the doorstep.

John Baker is dead and Hiram Harris is severely wounded as a result of an attack on an unknown man at Cedar Grove. Baker and Harris met the man, who was with his wife, and began abusing him. The man pulled his revolver and began firing.

A west-bound freight train on the Panhandle Railway, consisting of thirty-three loaded cars, was wrecked at Milgrove. Ten cars were telescoped and the contents—sugar and general merchandise—scattered about. No lives were lost, but the property loss is large.

David Vance, twenty-five years old and single, who lived near Springport, was drowned in a small pool of water. He was washing some carrots in a spring when he was attacked with an epileptic spasm and fell into the water on his face. He was dead when found.

Marx Carll has returned to Anderson from Joplin, Mo., where he went a few months ago and invested $10,000 in lead and zinc mining leases. Before leaving Joplin he was offered $40,000 for one of his leases, which is now yielding him a royalty of $250 per week. Mr. Carll has sunk a shaft through rock ninety feet, striking very rich paying zinc and lead ore.

Hurrle glass company, Hartford City, brought in a big gasser that spurts 6,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Ray Whitback, 30, Kendallville, was killed by a pile of lumber falling on him in the Lake Shore yards at Elkhart.

Evansville water works has broken down, and there is much uneasiness among the business men because of lack of fire protection.

Mrs. Elvina Green, well known by her liberal donations for charitable purposes, was found dead in bed at Lebanon. The coroner's verdict was that death was caused by cancer of the stomach.

South Bend will have another electricity plant of 10,000 horse power, obtained by damming the St. Joseph river. Utility paper company's plant, Hartford City, partially destroyed by fire. Loss $5,000, fully insured. One hundred men are out.

Eleazer A. Wilbite, 80, who has been tailoring in Crawfordsville for sixty-five years, once made a coat for William Henry Harrison.

Peter Vandevere was killed at South Bend by an express train on the Grand Trunk Railway and Julius Dowalla was terribly injured. Both fell under the wheels, and blood tracings show that they were dragged nine blocks.

Peruna is the Very Best Catarrh Cure.

Court Room Scene Where Judge Chambers Maintained the Supremacy of the United States in Samoa.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., Chief Justice Chambers says the following of Peruna:

"I have tried one bottle of Peruna, and can truthfully say it is one of the best tonics I ever used, and I take pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers who are in need of a good medicine. I can recommend it as one of the very best remedies for catarrh."

W. L. Chambers.

A Human Cuckoo Clock.

The wee small hours found Dr. C. S. Muscroft the other night creeping up his own stairs with his shoes in his hand so he would not disturb anybody's slumbers. Of course, those shoes had to drop when he was almost at the top landing, and bumped all the way down with a noise like an Eighth Ward caucus. The Doctor held his breath in hopes he might still reach his couch undetected, but he might as well have kept his lungs working steadily, for soon a door opened above and a sleepy voice inquired:

"Is that you, Charlie?"

"Yes, my dear," he answered.

"Where on earth have you been so late?"

"Oh, just—just downtown on a little business," was the reply.

"What time is it?"

"Just 12 o'clock."

Muscroft was about to breathe easy once more and go on up to bed, when a cold chill crept up his back as the cuckoo clock in the hall opened up for business.

"I had to stand still," said he, "and cuckoo nine times to make good. It was 3 o'clock."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Wounded "Unbeknownst."

One of the colonial war correspondents narrates a curious incident that came under his notice at the Rietfontein engagement. A private of the Natal mounted rifles had his horse shot and immediately cried out: "I'm hit!" "Nonsense, man, it's only your horse," cried a comrade, and the man, accepting the assurance, went on fighting. He returned to camp with his corps, strolled about in the evening, suffered during the night from what he called spasms, and only next morning discovered that a Mauser bullet had gone clean through his body. Then he collapsed and was taken to the hospital. The moral would seem to be that ignorance is bliss on the battlefield as elsewhere, and that the consequences of being perforated by a Mauser bullet are not worse than in the case of a Lee-Metford performing the same operation.—London Chronicle.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

We the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Prices 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

He who dies poor has at least the consolation of knowing that his grave will not have to be turned into a fortress.

MY BEAUTIFUL BABY BOY

Weak Women Made Happy by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Letters from Two Who Now Have Children.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It was my ardent desire to have a child. I had been married three years and was childless, so wrote to you to find out the reason. After following your kind advice and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I became the mother of a beautiful baby boy, the joy of our home. He is a fat, healthy baby, thanks to your medicine."—MRS. MINDA FINKLE, Roscoe, N. Y.

From Grateful Mrs. Lane

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote you a letter some time ago, stating my case to you.

"I had pains through my bowels, headache, and backache, felt tired and sleepy all the time, was troubled with the whites. I followed your advice, took your Vegetable Compound, and it did me lots of good. I now have a baby girl. I certainly believe I would have miscarried had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had a very easy time; was sick only a short time. I think your medicine is a godsend to women in the condition in which I was. I recommend it to all as the best medicine for women."—MRS. MARY LANE, Coytee, Tenn.

PELTZ—WHAT IS IT?

It's positively the greatest cereal and straw feed on earth. Salzer says so. Yields 80 bus. richer grain than corn and 4 tons straw hay, better than timothy. Big Four Oats—Never yield 100 bus. and you, Mr. Farmer, can beat that! It's the best oats on earth. Salzer says so! 5-Eared Earliest Corn will revolutionize corn growing. Salzer says so. Brome Inermis—Greatest grass on earth. 4 to 6 tons hay per acre. Will flourish everywhere. Salzer says so. Rape—Cheapest feed on earth for sheep, hogs and cattle. Will fatten sheep at 50c. a lb. Costs but 50c. a ton to grow. Salzer says so! Vegetables—Largest growers. Onion seed only 50c. a lb.

35 Pkgs. Earliest Vegetables, postpaid, $1.00.

THE MILLION DOLLAR POTATO

Greatest potato wonder on earth; enormously prolific; also Sunlight, the earliest potato on earth. Ripe in 65 days.

For 10c. Stamps and this Notice we send 10 pkgs. Grain, Grass and Forage Farm Seeds worth $10 to get a start, and great seed Catalog, telling you all about above Rare Seeds also over 50 kinds clovers and grasses. Tomato, Sperry, Millet, Velvet and Cow beans, tools, etc. C.N.

80 BUS. PER ACRE 4 TON OF HAY

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LACROSSE, WIS.

ALABASTINE Is a durable and natural coating for walls and ceilings, made ready for use by mixing with cold water. It is a cement that goes through a process of setting, hardens with age, and can be coated and recoated without washing off its old coats before renewing. Alabastine is made in white and fourteen beautiful tints. It is put up in five-pound packages in dry form, with complete directions on every package.

ALABASTINE Should not be confounded with kalsomines, as it is entirely different from all the various kalsomines on the market, being durable and not stick on the wall with glue. Alabastine customers should avoid getting cheap kalsomines under different names, by insisting on having the goods in packages properly labeled. They should reject all imitations. There is nothing "just as good."

ALABASTINE

Prevents much sickness, particularly throat and lung difficulties, attributable to unsanitary coatings on walls. It has been recommended in a paper published by the Michigan State Board of Health on account of its sanitary features; which paper strongly condemned kalsomines. Alabastine can be used on either plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas, and any one can brush it on. It admits of radical changes from wall paper decorations, thus securing at reasonable expense the latest and best effects. Alabastine is manufactured by the ALABASTINE COMPANY, of GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN, from whom all special information can be obtained. Write for instructive and interesting booklet, mailed free to all applicants.

Wanted Pockets.

The Ladies' Aid Society is sewing steadily these days for the benefit of the families who have been worsted by misfortune. One family of children they are trying to get ready for school, and recently they called with a pair of small trousers for a little tot. He needed trousers, but like the true boy he is, when he noticed that there were no pockets in them he said he didn't want them. The motherly women took the hint, and all trousers, however small, now have pockets in them.—Iola (Kan.) Register.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.

With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

It All Depends.

Caller (picking up manuscript)—Is this a joke?

Humorist—It is if I can sell it, but it's no joke if I can't.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE.

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, damp, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All druggists and shoe stores sell it. 25 cents.

Benevolent Person (to blind mendicant)—You weren't here at your usual place yesterday. How was that? Mendicant—It was that foggy, ma'am, I couldn't find my way.

Only a trial of Piso's Cure for Consumption is needed to convince you that it is a good remedy for Coughs, Asthma and Bronchitis.

American hickory as wagon material is better suited than any other wood for moist, tropical climates.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

The man robs others who does not make the best of himself.

To California Quickly and Comfortably

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line. "The Overland Limited" leaves Chicago daily at 6:30 p. m., arrives San Francisco the afternoon of third day, and Los Angeles next morning. No change of cars. All meals in dining cars. Buffet, smoking and library cars, with barber. "The best of everything." "The Pacific Express" leaves Chicago daily 10:30 p. m., with first-class and through tourist sleepers to California. Personally conducted excursions every Thursday. All agents sell tickets via Chicago & Northwestern R'y. For full information and illustrated pamphlet apply to

W. B. KNISKERN, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Atlanta has an ordinance prohibiting vehicles from passing places of worship at a rapid rate of speed on Sundays.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

Don't think that every sad-eyed woman you meet has loved and lost. Perhaps she loved and got him.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Egotism always looks at his "neighbor" through the wrong end of the telescope.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

With God go over the sea; without Him, not over the threshold.

Jell-O, The New Dessert,

pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

A giant among giants is not aware of his own size.

KILL THE BABIES

Careless Mothers Who Use Dangerous Purgatives

A Menace to Mankind Easily Avoided by the Use of a Rational Remedy—Every Mother Should Heed the Warning.

The slaughter of the innocents was nothing in comparison with the destruction of infants caused by "physic."

Not so very long ago the poor little sufferers were usually forced to swallow violent purges, and it was luck if they got over it all right.

The stomach and bowels of the baby are sources of constant discomfort. The milk food sours in the baby's delicate little insides, and forms curd, and the fermentation of this undigested substance makes gases which produce wind colic. Then the little people begin to scream with agony, and the excited mother or nurse pours down the physic.

That's the time for the use of Cascarets Candy Cathartic. If the babe be suckling the mother makes her milk mildly purgative by eating a Cascaret. Older infants eat a little piece like candy. In all cases Cascarets are mild but positive, never grip nor gripe, stop sour stomach, move the bowels naturally, and put things right as they should be.

Now, mamma, buy and try Cascarets to-day. It's what they do, not what we say they'll do, proves their merit. All druggists, 10c, 25c or 50c, or mailed for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can., or New York.

CCC This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

A KNOCK OUT

There is more disability and helplessness from

LUMBAGO

than any other muscular ailment, but

St. Jacobs Oil

has found it the easiest and promptest to cure of any form of

LAME BACK

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair with Shampoos of Cuticura SOAP

And light dressings of CUTICURA, purest of emollient skin cures. This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

Millions of Women

Use CUTICURA SOAP exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing, red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients, and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines, in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

All that has been said of CUTICURA SOAP may be said with even greater emphasis of CUTICURA Ointment, the most delicate, and yet most effective of emollients, and greatest of skin cures. Its use in connection with CUTICURA SOAP (as per directions around each package), in the "ONE NIGHT CURE FOR SORE HANDS," in the "INSTANT RELIEF TREATMENT FOR DISFIGURING ITCHINGS AND IRRITATIONS," and in many uses too numerous to mention, is sufficient to prove its superiority over all other preparations for the skin.

Cuticura Complete External and Internal Treatment for every Humor, consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (50c.), to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. The Set, $1.25 A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston. "All about the Skin, Scalp, and Hair" free.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....MARCH 22, 1900.

AUBURN COURIER.

Democratic Committee Meeting.

The Democratic precinct committeemen of DeKalb county are requested to meet at the office of the county chairman, C. C. Walter, in Auburn, Ind., on Tuesday, March 27, 1900, at 1 o'clock p. m. A full attendance is urgently requested, as very important business will be considered.

C. C. WALTER, Chairman.
JOHN C. LOCHNER, Secretary.

Club Notes.

The Ladies Literary Club met last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Abbie Sprott. There was a very creditable attendance. The president, Mrs. Alice Lewis, gave an interesting report of her visit to Indianapolis with some details that could not be given at the previous meeting. The committee on anniversary made a partial report. Mrs. Josephine Brown offered her resignation as a member of the club, on account of her expected change of residence to Waterloo, Iowa. The resignation was accepted with mutual regret, and Mrs. Brown was transferred to the list of honorary members.

The topic for the day's program was Kansas. Mrs. Mollie Robbins led the subject with an array of bright and interesting facts. Mrs. Mollie Rose, who was unable to be present, sent her work as assistant leader. Mrs. Sarah Guild read a paper prepared by Mrs. Maria Holmes on "Individualism versus Altruism." This paper elicited much praise. All were delighted with a choice reading by Mrs. Mabel Hodge, and a paper combining wit and knowledge by Mrs. Eliza Schaab. The theme of the latter was "Contemporary Celebrities." The club will meet next Saturday with Mrs. Swineford.

Court News.

The case between Werntz and Myers was on all day yesterday.

Myers is the Angola contractor who got the contract for building the power house here, and Geo. Werntz worked for him in digging the basement and putting in the piling. Werntz claimed Myers had not paid him for all the work done, and Myers claimed he had paid him in full.

Hoffman was attorney for Werntz, while Judge Roby and Mr. Harper were for Myers.

The accounts of both men were brought in and there was much discussion as to the time and price of the work. Werntz testified that his price for his pile driving outfit, including himself and one hand, is $1 an hour.

WEDNESDAY.

At 9 a. m. a motion for new trial was heard in the Shellhouse case, but was overruled, and Judge Bratton then sentenced Shellhouse to the penitentiary, two to fourteen years, and fined him $10.

At 9:30 the jury in the case of Werntz vs Myers and Russell, the men who were contractors on the power house, came in with the verdict they had reached the night before. It was in favor of Werntz, that Myers & Russell still owed him $60.

The next case called was one brought by L. O. Bachtel against Mr. Herberger of Garrett on account.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

The Auditor's Suit.

Some inaccurate statements are being made in regard to a suit against Auditor Seiler. It is just this:

He is allowed by law $3 a day for being a member of the board of equalization, and it has always been the custom for the auditor to retain that money as his own, for he is obliged to take an oath of office, aside from his oath and bond as auditor, and besides, it is the understanding of the authorities in other counties. All our officers serving on that board have taken their pay since the new salary law went into effect. If this suit which the board has instituted to collect this money, goes against the auditor, all the others will have to refund what they have to drawn for these services. Mr. Seiler has deposited the money in dispute, $78 in the bank, and can turn it back into the treasury at any time the decision is made. He thinks he is entitled to it, but the board thinks he is not. At all events he does not want a penny that does not belong to him, and this suit is to test the matter.

We Have It.

A self-operating spray pump, the Rochester, the only compressed air pump made. You have all got to have sprayers if you save your orchards. The recent laws are very strict. Here is a sprayer that does a combination of work. We can prove to you more than we claim for it. What is better than all, it is sold at one-half its value. For sale only by A. G. Lodewick. 15

Thirty Millions of Stars.

The French Academy of Science has a map of the heavens well on the way to completion. It faithfully represents the heavens, with stars up to the fourteenth magnitude. There are about thirty millions of stars on the cards, which have taken nearly three years to prepare.

...of incident or ...ht to say of Miss ...such is life," and ...ful, won't you?"

NEW PROSPECTS

About 7 o'clock Saturday evening the Eberly forgery case went to the jury and the twelve men retired to deliberate on a verdict. Owing to the heat being cut off from the jury room they were quartered in one of the sample rooms at the Swineford House. On the first ballot, we understand, the jury stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction, and the entire night was consumed in arguing the case, the last one of the minority finally voting for acquittal about 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Considerable interest was manifested in the case and the accused man and several friends remained up all night to await the verdict. It was a hard-fought case, and Mr. Eberly was of course a happy man when he was formally discharged. He left soon afterward for Waterloo.

The Shellhouse case is on as we go to press.

The Shellhouse Case.

The forgery case against W. J. Shellhouse came up in court yesterday, and after quite a bother to get the jury arranged to suit all parties, it was ready for business in the afternoon. The jury as it stood was: W. L. Houlton, John T. Handricks, James H. Farver, John W. Buss, Joseph Weller, H. M. Fretz, I. B. Madden, Jacob Swinehart, H. W. Embry, Isaiah Baughman Jas. Wallace and C. H. Baber.

The state was represented by Prosecutor Rhoades and Deputy Prosecutor Pomeroy, while Moody & Rickel were for the defense.

A brief history of the case will be of value.

Shellhouse, who has had troubles of this kind before, borrowed $200 of Mrs. James Draggoo of this place, her son Harry doing the business for her. The note bore the names of three securities, David Goodrich, Park Sebert and W. H. Crane. The note was submitted to J. E. Rose, who seeing the names of the three well known men, pronounced the paper satisfactory and Harry Draggoo paid the money to Shellhouse. But when the note fell due and was not aid, it was found the names of the three securities were forged. So Shellhouse was indicted and the case finally came up at this term.

At the trial yesterday, the first evidence offered by the state was the forged note. At once a struggle arose between the opposing attorneys. Mr. Moody for the defense, claimed the note could not be used as evidence because it had no revenue stamp as required by the law that went into effect July 1, 1898, to provide money for the Spanish-American war. It should have had a stamp as it was dated July 16, just sixteen days after the law became operative. Mr. Moody read the United States law on the subject, which says after July 1, 1898, such unstamped documents cannot be used in evidence. The state, however, read the law on the other side. The jury were sent out of the room and the judge studied up the matter and finally decided that though an unstamped note could not be used in evidence to enforce its collection, yet it could be put in evidence in a case like this where it was to be used to convict a man of a different crime, such as forgery. So there was a very brief call of witnesses, Goodrich, Sebert and Crane, all swore they never signed the note. That was all there was to it, no examination further, or cross-examination. Harry Draggoo also stated his connection with the matter. All this took but a few minutes, when arguments began. Mr. Rhoades spoke first, followed by Mr. Moody, and the closing speech was made by Mr. Pomeroy. Judge Bratton charged the jury and at about 8:30 they retired. At a little after nine, they came in with a verdict of "guilty as charged." Mr. Moody at once gave notice of appeal to the supreme court.

The punishment for forgery is from two to fourteen years in the penitentiary, and Shellhouse will have to serve his time until the supreme court reaches the case. So he is liable to serve out his two years anyway.

The case has attracted a good deal of attention up in Richland and Fairfield where Shellhouse lived until recently, and where his former troubles are well known. And it looks as if the jury took notice of the fact that Shellhouse does not deny forgery, but simply relies on the technicality of the law. He no doubt supposed the note was as good as he could make it in this way, for he had not probably heard that there was a revenue stamp law that had gone into force but two weeks before. He had done what he could to make it a successful forgery. And it got him the money.

One week ago last Wednesday John Robbins was coming down from Reading on the Lake Shore forenoon train and at Angola Sam Hanna got on and both occupied the rear seat in the coach. At Waterloo, Jonas Aldrich of Butler took a seat in the car, facing the two, all being well acquainted. When the conductor, Mr. Patterson, came around for tickets, John Robbins had to pay money, as he had bought a ticket only to Waterloo, expecting to go east from there. But he had changed his mind and concluded to go to Auburn and take the next B. & O. train to Defiance. So he went to pay his fare and had to give the conductor a $20. The latter could not change it and asked Mr. Hanna and several others if they could do so. Mr. Aldrich said he could, and took out a roll of money. Mr. Hanna playfully grabbed the money, took out of it two $10 bills and handed to the conductor, receiving back the $20 bill which he placed in the roll and handed back to Aldrich. When the train stopped at Auburn, Aldrich and Robbins got out and Hanna stepped off a minute to talk with friends. Here the conductor asked Aldrich for his fare, but the latter claimed he had paid it. The conductor said he had not and after some words, Aldrich handed out his milerge book and tore off the necessary mileage. Then Aldrich asked the conductor to give him back his $10. The conductor said he had none of Aldrich's money. Then Aldrich demanded of Sam Hanna, the $10, but the latter denied having it. After more sharp talk Robbins and Aldrich took the bus for down town, and at the crossing at the public square, Robbins got out to walk to the postoffice. Aldrich met him and demanded a settlement. Robbins asked what settlement, Aldrich replied it was about that $10 Robbins had taken. Robbins said he had not touched his money, and the men parted, Robbins half believing that Aldrich was fooling.

Robbins went home; in a short time the buss called and he went to the Junction and took the train east on the B. & O.

Aldrich went up to the court room, found Deputy Prosecutor Pomeroy and asked him to go before the grand jury then in session and have Robbins indicted. Pomeroy did not take much stock in the tale Aldrich told and said it would not do to take any hasty action. But Aldrich went himself before the grandjury, told his story, and had a summons made out for Robbins, and Sheriff Hathaway went down to Robbins' to serve it, but Robbins was already gone.

Aldrich also had a subpoena prepared to serve on Conductor Patterson at noon when he came in from Fort Wayne. The Sheriff was on hand to serve the writ, and Aldrich, also, was present, being on his way home. John Shuman of Angola, who got on the train here, was asked by the conductor if the latter could refuse to obey it—the subpoena. Shuman told him not to obey it while running his train, but he would be allowed to finish his run and then come back. The conductor asked Aldrich why he was after John Robbins when it was Hanna who got hold of the roll of bills, and Robbins had had nothing to do with it.

Aldrich had told Sheriff Hathaway that he had not counted his money, but that he was $10 short. He said he had $100 in the morning and now had but $70. To this the sheriff remarked that he must be $30 short. But Aldrich said, "Not that much."

Aldrich had talked about the affair to quite a number of people in Auburn and on reaching Butler, still was talking about losing his money, and laying the blame on John Robbins.

The next morning he called up Mr. Pomeroy and wanted proceedings stopped as he had found where the $10 had gone. He remembered buying a $10 draft at the bank in Butler before starting over here. There is no truth in the story that Aldrich telephoned over here and apologized. Mr. Robbins finding the story of his takin a $10 from Aldrich had been spread broadcast, and having been annoyed by it, put the matter into the hands of Rose & Rose, attorneys, and a suit for defamation of character will be pushed in court. It is a queer case and will be quite a sensation as there is much discussion as to Aldrich's conduct and sweeping accusations against three men as well known as Mr. Robbins, Mr. Hanna and Conductor Patterson.

Sale of Personal Property.

Notice is hereby given that I, John S. Potts, administrator of the estate of John Henney, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on

FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 1900,

at the late residence of John Henney, deceased in Fairfield township, the following described personal property, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

One cow, one pair of bobsleds, one mower, two shovel plows, harrow, wagon, corn, oats, plow, grindstone, farming implements, household and kitchen furniture.

TERMS OF SALE:—For all amounts not exceeding five dollars, cash in hand; for amounts of five dollars and upwards a credit of six months will be given. Note bearing six per cent interest after maturity, with approved security, and waiving valuation and appraisement laws, will be required.

JOHN S. POTTS, Administrator.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Catherine Weaver deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 12th day of April 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there appear and make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 21st day of March, 1900.

HIRAM H. WEAVER, Executor.
Rose & Rose Attys.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of James Ryan, deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 12th day of April, 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement account with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 19th day of March, 1900.

GEORGE W. WOODCOCK Admr.
Rose & Rose Attys.

I hereby submit to you a list of the allowances made by the Board of Commissioners at their regular January, February and March terms, 1900:

JANUARY TERM, 1900.

J. H. W. Krontz, salary	$ 78 00
J. H. W. Krontz, deputy salary	69 00
Joseph Singler, aid to poor person, Mrs. Basale, Keyser township	12 96

FEBRUARY TERM, 1900.

F. P. Seiler, back salary, due December 31, 1899	$ 200 00
J. H. W. Krontz, salary	81 00
J. H. W. Krontz, deputy salary	81 00
Edward VanFleit, salary	46 00
R. W. Guilford, salary	30 00
G. M. Ralston, salary	10 00
O. E. Clay, merchandise for county asylum	57 25
J. H. Hathaway, account of insane	14 55
J. H. Hathaway, account of board of criminals	82 00
J. Roberts, account merchandise furnished criminals	2 86
Isaiah Baughman, labor on bridge	3 00
James Sechler, labor on bridge	30 00
Charles Kellner, labor on bridge	19 20
Elsworth Traxler, labor on bridge	5 00
Wabash Bridge and Iron Works, bridge	1138 00
Charles Rugman, labor on roads	66 30
A. J. Mason & Son, material for gravel road	25 35
Sol Barney, labor on gravel road	13 65
Frank Scholes, labor on gravel road	25 00
Schaab & Bro, furniture for court house	11 00
Schaab & Bro., linoleum for court house	36 83
Schaab & Bro., office chair and repairs for court house	6 25
Henry Peckhart, labor at court house	24 65
Karl Gerner, publishing notice	1 00
H. E. & T. C. Little, publishing report	4 00
Karl Gerner, publishing blanks	17 50
Schaab & Bro., repairing chair for treasurer's office	1 75
G. I Patterson, services as land appraiser	3 00
George Husselman, services as land appraiser	2 00
George A. Ott, aid to poor person, Joseph Coll	1 75
Marion Cramer, fuel	17 41
Auburn Water & Electric Light Works, lights	34 49
Schaab & Bro., merchandise for county asylum	14 75
F. P. Seiler, stationery	3 60
Central Union Telephone Co., telephone rental	8 25
Central Union Telephone Co., telephone toll service	2 65
J. H. W. Krontz, surveyor's incidentals	3 25
F. F. Shaffer, jail incidentals	12 00

MARCH TERM, 1900.

SALARIES.

F. P. Seiler	$ 675 00	Allen Shultz	$ 62 50
M. F. Long	600 00	Isaac Gunsenhouser	62 50
F. M. Hines	525 00	E. R. Shoemaker	62 50
J. H Hathaway	575 00	D. M. Link	25 00
M. C. Jones	375 00	D. A. Sehring	78 25
H. E Coe	304 00	R. W. Guilford	30 00
J. H. W. Krontz	72 00	J. H. Baker	17 55
J. H. W. Krontz, deputy	69 00	H. P. Stroh	117 12

A. and M. Bartels, superintending county asylum	150 00
Ella Sternberg, labor county asylum	18 00
Curt Crumloff, labor county asylum	33 00
Ida Humbarger, labor county asylum	22 75
Lizzie Shatto, labor county asylum	26 00
I. Armstrong, labor county asylum	24 00
Schaab Furniture Co., merchandise for county asylum	12 50
Fred F. Shaffer, merchandise for county asylum	12 50
A. N. Wilson, merchandise for county asylum	13 80

ACCOUNT OF AID TO POOR.

By Whom Furnished.	Township	To Whom Furnished.	Amount.
J. W. Beams	Concord	M. Begar	$ 2 96
do	do	J. Rickets	17 00
do	do	F. Yerks	6 75
Kagey & Son	do	W. Bradfield	6 40
B S Sheffer	do	W Bradfield	2 00
Sol Barney	do	Walt Bradfield?	7 37
A. Kinsey	do	Wm Bradfield	15 00
V C Bronson	Newville	Susan Park	15 00
B F Blair	do	Susan Park	15 00
A E Chapman	do	Susan Park	6 00
Fanning & Son	Wilmington		7 75
A D Morse	do	I N Fisher	2 01
J J Eakright, overseer	do		12 19
W F Shoemaker	do	Mary Plank	1 50
do	do	Susan Gaff	5 00
F D Fanning	do	Ray Chilcote	1 90
G W Wolf	do	J Palmerton	3 50
D T McNabb	do		3 50
Ed Kelham	Keyser	Overseer of poor	11 00
J P Strouse	do	Medical services	40 00
Wm Ettinger	Grant	A A Ostrander	6 00
J C Boyer	do	Wm Swager	2 50
G W Crooks	do	Overseer of Poor	6 50
Phil Plum	do	L Henwood	75
J Loewenstire	do	A A Ostrander	2 50
do	do	G Husselman	6 00
do	do	Mrs Whipple	3 45
A F Phillips	Fairfield	Chas Martin	15 00
W F Krahn	do	Jess Treesh	2 42
Joseph Huet	do	Overseer of Poor	5 00
O F Rudolph	do	Jess Treesh	12 50
E Knauer & Son	Richland	R O Graham	5 00
O F Rudolph	do	O E Rohm	4 75
James Finch	do	Overseer of Poor	5 00
E Knauer & Son	do	M J Camp	14 50
W H Crane	do	V Rohm	7 50
A F Phillips	do	R O Graham	6 00

ACCOUNT COUNTY AID TO POOR NOT IN ASYLUM.

Ed Kelham	E Harris	$ 1 25
do	C Harris	2 00
do	N Reyer	2 00
do	E Reyer	1 00
Anna Hammon	C Hammon	12 50
F W Willis	G Husselman	30
do	J Wetoski	2 45
do	J Livergood	75
Ashley School Board	Jesse Cole	50
do	D Cole	1 50
do	S Locke	35
Wm Coburn	F Coburn	12 50
Children's Aid Society	A Mortimer	19 50
do	J Helm	19 50
do	L Helm	19 50
do	K Helm	19 50
do	R Crowl	19 50
Wilderson & Co	Burial of Soldier	50 00
do	do	50 00

ON ACCOUNT OF STATIONERY, SUPPLIES, PRINTING, ETC.

James A Barns, tax statements	$ 3 00
H E Coe, stamped envelopes, etc	7 61
M E Smith, circular letters	1 00
J H Hathaway, postage	4 50
Wm B Burford, printing for Commissioners	15 35
do printing for H E Coe	28 55
do printing for Treasurer	8 00
do printing for Auditor	168 75
M E Smith, notices	44 00
do blanks, reports, etc	41 10
H E & T C Little, delinquent tax list	3 50
Butler Herald, auditor's report	15 65
J A Barns, notices, etc	48 40
do do	44 00
do notice of tax rates	50 00
J H Hathaway, serving notices to ditch viewers	26 70
do calling commissioners for special session	7 20
do per diem	52 00
M F Long, postage	4 88
J H Hathaway, washing for prisoners	19 25
do board of prisoners	81 20
A Snyder, labor on bridge	22 50
Picker Bros., labor on public building	64 65
Russell & Myers, balance on contract	510 41
G A Mader, fuel	67 77
Marion Cramer, fuel	3 06
Auburn Water and Electric Light Works, lighting	20 43
E V Campbell, coroner's inquests	31 50
M F Long, Commissioners' miscellaneous expenses	3 70
Elijah Hill, Commissioners' incidental expenses	28 56
Schaab Furniture Co., court house incidental expenses	75
Culbertson & Boland, court house incidental expenses	6 34
M F Long, miscellaneous court expenses	9 75
H E Coe, office rent county superintendent	5 00
Central Union Telephone Co., telephone service, commissioners	1 10
H L Henderson, change of venue	15 10

FRANK P. SEILER, Auditor DeKalb County.

Auburn, Indiana, March 20, 1900.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the kind friends and neighbors who so generously aided us in this sad bereavement in the death and burial of our dear husband and father. Their kindness will ever be remembered.—Mrs. Jessie Harnish and family.

...DS YOU'LL PREFER!

The spring merchandise most in request you'll find here. Clever values for us mean good values for our customers, and our spring stock now being received will well merit your interest, will bear out every assertion that this store, at all seasons is the satisfactory and economical store.

Men's heavy cottonade pants, pair, 50 & 75c
Boys' long cottonade pants, pair 50 to 75c
Boys' knee cottonade pants, pair 19 to 24c
Boys' wool knee pants, pair.....33 to 48c
Boys' all-wool pants.....50c
The best 25c men's shirt, double back and front, everybody else sells it for 40 or 50c. Ask to see it.
Men's heavy shirts, double neck band, the best shirt on the market for....50c
Ladies' ready-made wrappers, all sizes and all prices, cheaper than you can make them from.....73 to 98c
Mens' neglige shirts, with collars and cuffs, spring styles, best 75c shirt for 50c

LADIES' CORSETS
A complete line. The Jackson corsets are superior for their fit and ease. We have them from.....29 to 98c

The McKay common sense combination waist and hose supporter for children. We are sole agents for this supporter.

KID GLOVES
For Ladies. All the new shades for spring, every pair guaranteed, and every pair we fit before leaving the store..$1.00

LADIES' TAILOR-MADE SUITS
And ready made skirts, the new styles for spring, at prices that will surprise you. Ask to see them.

CARPETS.
This is a new line for us this spring and we have an elegant assortment of them in Axministers, Velvets, Brussels, and Ingrains. Prices ranging in all-wool ingrains, 45 to 65c. Brussels from 65 to 95c. See us on this line as we can save you money.
NEW FAD in photo frames, the latest thing out. See our window. Prices ranging from 5 to 12c.
RIBBONS—Our stock for spring wear has arrived in all the new shades in taffety and fancy, all widths. We are strong on this line and prices to suit you.

THE NEW IDEA PATTERN—ANY STYLE, ANY SIZE—10c

HARDWARE—A full line of this merchandise on hand. White wash brushes 10 to 35c, paint brushes from 5 to 25c, scrub brushes 5 to 10c, stove brushes 5 to 10c, shoe brushes 10 to 15c, tack hammer 5 to 10c, hatchets 10 to 35c, hammer 10, 19 and 33c, cobbler's outfit—3 lasts, hammer, knife, awl needle, tacks—48c.

GROCERIES!

Pumpkin	8c can; 2 for 15c
Mince Meat	9c box
One pint Mustard can	10c
1 lb. Baking Powder	10c
1 lb. Soda	5c
Starch	per lb. 4c
Rice, the best	5c and 8c lb.
Lion Coffee	11c lb.
Arbuckles Coffee	12c lb.
XXXX Coffee	11c lb.

GROCERIES!!

Jackson Soap, 8 cakes for	25c
Key Soap, 10 cakes for	25c
Santa Claus Soap, 7 cakes	25c
A big brown piece of Soap, 12 inches long for	5c
Big Acma Soap	5c
Marrowfat Peas, 8c can; 2 for	15c
String Beans, 8c can; 2 for	15c
Corn, 8c can; 2 for	15c
Tomatoes, 8c can; 2 for	15c
Kidney Beans	10 can

The BAZAR STORE, AUBURN.

Ho, Stop, Read!

After an absence from your city of

Twenty Two Years

I am back again to do all the good I can.

Have taken the agency for the Square, Quaker, Turkish Folding Bath Cabinets. Am now prepared to make the.....

Old Young, and the Young Happy

For $5.00.

No Ailment of the Human Family, but what our Vapor Baths will Relieve. Call and see Cabinets at our home, No. 83 N. Main St., Auburn, Ind.

A. M. A. MILLER,
General Agent.

WEICHT & CUTLER,
Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country.
Western 'Phone 106

Auburn, Ind.
South of Jail

THE COURIER.

AUBURN COURIER.

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food. Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang

Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

Don't Read This... Advertisement

Unless You Want Something in the.....

Jewelry Line.

Just arrived a very few pieces of small....

Bric-a-Brac

Everything new in Jewelry. See our window.

D.A.Hodge,

MANY people have bad blood. That is because their Liver and Kidneys are sluggish and fail to carry off the waste matter. When this happens the blood is poisoned and disease sets in. To keep your blood pure take a quick relief and sure cure for disorders of the Liver, Kidneys and Bladder. Thousands use it in the spring especially. Your druggist has it. Only $1.00 a bottle.

Dr.J.H.McLean's Liver&KidneyBalm

THE DR.J.H.MCLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

For sale by F. E. Davenport.

Red Cross Tansy Pills

FOR Suppressed Menstruation PAINFUL Menstruation And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES. Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless. Purely Vegetable Never Fails

The Ladies' Relief.

PRICE $1.00

Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we say. Vin de Cinchona Co. Des Moines, Iowa.

For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist

New Tinner!

Charles Rodeman, an experienced tinner, has bought Frank Rush's establishment and will continue the business. All kinds of work in Tin and Sheet Metal done with skill and dispatch. Give him your work. Call at....

Rush's Old Stand.

West 7th St.

MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS

They overcome Weakness, Irregularity and Omissions, Increase Vigor and banish "pains of menstruation." They are "Life Savers" to girls at womanhood, aiding development of organs and body. No known remedy for women equals them. Cannot do harm—life becomes a pleasure. $1 per box by mail. Sold by druggists. MOTT CHEMICAL CO., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by Fischler & Son, Auburn.

...of incident or ...t to say of Miss ...ush is life," and ...ful, won't you?"

roll of honor and has thanks.

—Mrs. William Myers, southeast of town, is recovering from the measles.

—The Rochester sprayer "Operates the Agitator, others Agitate the Operator." 15

—The latest new name on the Weekly list is Mrs. Cora Sponhour of Spencerville.

—Alva Warstler drove through the worst of the storm today to do the COURIER a good turn.

—James McDowell was called to Millersburg Saturday by the serious illness of his uncle, Dr. Jennings.

—Miss Mollie Wilson and Miss Jennie Stewart were guests at the home of Mrs Lorena Kuhlman, Saturday.

—Miss Jennie Stewart returned to her home in Butler today after a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Mollie Wilson.

—Miss Maggie Seibert went to Jackson township today to visit with her nephew, Chas. Williams, and family.

—Go to Sheffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct.26w-tf

—Mrs. Marie Grable left over the Wabash today for Alvordton, O., where she was called to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. C. E Sell.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—The entertainment at the Armory the 24th will be given for the benefit of the Library Association, a good cause, worthy of patronage.

—The next attraction furnished our people by Manager Henry will "Two Merry Tramps," next Friday evening, March 23 This is one of the funniest plays on the road.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed are entertaining company in the person of a nice baby boy, born this morning, and the happy father's clothes are much too small for him today. Dr. Stamets was the attending physician.

—Hazel Harrison is quite sick at present, and their youngest child, baby Agnes, is in a critical condition, her life being despaired of. LATER.—Little Agnes died soon after noon, and the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The little one has never been strong.

—"The Elixir of Youth" is a comic monologue in which Rosamond Mc Intyre, the clever little reciter, personates grandmother 75, a dignified woman of 50, a society belle of 25, a blushing bride of 19, a silly school girl of 13, and and a crying baby in long clothes. The characters will be fully costumed.

Tuesday's Daily.

—I. B. Brandon made his usual advance payment of subscription today.

—Mr. Lodewick is in the market with an improved fruit sprayer. Read his notices.

—S. W. Guthrie will have a sale of personal property at Sedan on Thursday, March 29.

—Katie and Frances Reinig went home Saturday to spend Sunday with their parents in Smithfield.

—The Rochester sprayer is as good as an insurance policy, and cheaper. Isn't this worth considering? 15

—The five daughters of G C. Lahnum have all been down with measles, and the family is not particularly partial to measles either.

—WANTED:—A good girl for second work and to take care of baby. Good wages Apply at 99 east Wayne street, Fort Wayne, Ind. 12

—FOR SALE:—The Wash Askew property, across north from Lutheran church, is for sale at a bargain. Call on Phil Plum, Waterloo.

—Miss Ida Smith who has been down with measles about two weeks, is back at her post in the COURIER office and we hope fully recovered.

—Chas. A. Rugman of New Era is the latest new name on the Weekly list. Our friend Charlie Rugman, always gives his boys the best.

—The sun "crosses the line" at 7:38 this evening on its way north, making the day and night equal. Now we are ready for warmer weather.

—Mrs. John Keeran's mother, Mrs. Beber, suffered something like a stroke of paralysis at the home of the former, yesterday. We do not know how serious it is.

—MUSIC LESSONS.—Pupils desiring to take lessons on piano or organ, by the New England method, should call on James Eldridge. Central Union telephone No. 30. m17

—WANTED:—A laboring man with small family wants to rent a home in some good country neighborhood, where he can get work. Good reference given. Inquire here. 14

—The south bound Lake Shore train yesterday afternoon struck a buggy at a crossing on the state line north of Ray, demolishing the vehicle and injuring the horse. Two men who were in the buggy were thrown across the line into Indiana, landing in a pool of water and escaping uninjured.

—At a meeting held in Kendallville yesterday the republican county chairmen of this district decided to hold the congressional convention in this city on Wednesday, April 11, it being the time selected to hold the meeting to select delegates and alternates to the national convention and one presidential elector for the Twelfth district. Auburn will entertain the crowd in good style.

from the grip.

—Elmer Walter has thanks for a needed supply of wood today.

—W. H. McIntosh is not so well today and is confined to his bed.

—If you wish to have beautiful clear white clothes ask for Russ' Bleaching Blue. Refuse Imitations.

—FOR SALE:—Residence in desirable location on South Main street. Inquire at the home of J. E. Rose. w1d6

—Trustee Dancer is able to come to town again after his recent severe sickness, but is looking pretty thin.

—Russ' Bleaching Blue makes brown muslin white in a day. All grocers sell the genuine Russ. Refuse imitation.

—Nate Sebring got a hard fall on the ice yesterday while carrying a big load of wood, and was unable to lie down during the night.

—Schaab & Bro. have a big ad this week to call attention to the third department now being added to their already large establishment.

—We were pleased to receive an order today to send the Weekly to E. B. Johnson now at Fort Wayne. He and his good wife want to hear all the Auburn news, of course.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Boyer will leave for home tomorrow after a visit with friends and relatives at Auburn and Kendallville.

—The famous recitation, "How Ruby Played," will be recited by Miss Rosamond McIntyre at the Armory on the 24th of March. Everybody come.

—Free bus and free baggage to all points in competition to Baltimorian and Ohio points when tickets are bought at city office.—SPROTT & KNAPP. tf

—Robert B. Hanna of Fort Wayne seems to be about the only candidate for the republican nomination for congressman and will probably be nominated by the convention which meets in Auburn, April 11.

—Oscar Hoffman has started a machine repair shop at the second building east of the opera house where he will do all kinds of machine repairs on short notice and in a skillful manner. Anything in his line will be accepted and done neatly.

—As far as now appears, Hon. James Robinson will be renominated with but little opposition. He is certainly the man who can poll the heaviest vote and do the people the most good. We say this in all friendship to any of the aspirants, whose names have been connected with the office up to date.

—There is one best:—There are lots of pretty fair good crackers on the market, but there is but one "best." Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers are just a little better than the very best of other bakers, but that is worth remembering when you order the best crackers.

—Do you enjoy crackers and milk:—A bowl of rich milk and a plate of Fox's "Forex" Butter Crackers make an excellent light lunch for a half hungry or delicate person. These crackers are delicious by themselves. Their flavor is as fine as the most particular palate could demand.

BUTLER.

Simon Topper is about selling his residence in the south end.

Mirta Champion of North Angola is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Campbell.

The Ladies Missionary society of the M. E. church realized $18 at their meeting Sunday evening.

Three or four insurance specials and state agents were looking over insurance prospects in Butler last week.

John Topper has bought the Crago Block on the south side and will start a little Butler over there of his own.

Mrs. N. F. Genagel died last Sunday after a lingering illness of many months. An obituary may appear next week.

A good many changes are taking place about town, some of our citizens are moving out of town and others are moving in.

Henry Tinteman, an old-time resident of Butler, has bought a house on the south side and will come back to his first love.

The warm sunshine of last Sunday forenoon filled the churches with large audiences, but the rain and mud in the afternoon dampened their zeal—about three degrees below zero on Friday morning and about fifty above on Sunday, made a very perceptable change.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. John Wagner at Port Huron, was received last week. Her parents live in Richland, Steuben county, Ind. She was a bright and promising young woman, always overflowing with kindness. She leaves her young husband and three small children.

Died, at Butler, Ind., March 14, 1900, at the residence of one of his tenants in the 83rd year of his life, Michael Teutsch. The deceased was born in Eastern France, now Germany, on the 19th of January, 1817, and came to the United States with his family, then consisting of his wife, three sons and two daughters, and settled in Franklin township on the farm now occupied by Thomas Tomlinson. He had no knowledge of the English language and being in want of potatoes, he took some money in one hand and a potato in the other he presented himself to George Squires, his neighbor, who knowing his wants, supplied them. He was a hard-working, frugal, industrious man and soon had plenty around him. Honest in all his dealings, he was sometimes deceived. His funeral took place from the U. B. church at Butler on the 16, Rev. Neibot of the Lutheran church officiating. His wife preceded him in death a few years. He leaves two sons and two daughters to mourn the death of a kind and affectionate father.

CASTORIA. Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

SCHAAB & BRO.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, CARPETS

x x x

Again we find it necessary to enlarge our store. We now add the new Johnson room adjoining us on the south. The space we gain is 22x80 feet, ground floor, elegantly equipped and the best lighted store room in Auburn. We have selected this room for our Clothing, Gents' Furnishings, Hat and Cap Department. The special equipment combined with abundance of light, makes this the most perfect store of the kind in this section of the state. With this addition we now occupy three rooms side by side.

The north room which we make our Furniture Department is 22x120 feet. In this department we exhibit the latest and best ideas in all kinds of Furniture, and are enjoying a remarkably fine trade in this line.

The middle room is the room in which we started. It consists of two floors 22x106 feet with a deck between the two 22x60 feet. The deck we have converted into a Ladies' Suit Room. The second floor we occupy with Carpets and Curtains. The south room, as stated above, we make our Clothing room. These three rooms we have connected with each other by archways and make us by far the largest store in DeKalb county. We wish to call your attention to a few of the many attractions which we are now showing.

DRY GOODS.

In Dress Goods we have all the new weaves and colorings, showing them here as they are shown in the cities. Silks the same—Trimmings likewise. In CORSETS we make a leader of the Celebrated ROYAL WORCESTER, but have a number of excellent brands besides. Our HOSIERY are principally WAYNE KNIT, the best to be had anywhere for the money. In KID GLOVES we guarantee from $1 grade up. Our LACES and EMBROIDERIES are the talk of the town—Beautiful patterns and extremely low prices. You can find here RIBBONS galore. Hundreds of bolts—all colors and widths in taffetas and satins.

LADIES' SUITS AND SKIRTS!

Making a separate room for this line will no doubt be greatly appreciated by the ladies. Here you will have an opportunity to try on these garments until you find exactly what you want. Accommodating lady clerks will be pleased to assist you in making your selections. Our line will always contain the proper things and plenty of them.

SHIRT WAISTS.

We are showing a magnificent assortment of Shirt Waists. Wash waits in cords, tissues, fine dimities, percales, all new French back. No yokes, elegant, stylish, and reasonable:

..CLOTHING..

Our reputation for selling Good Clothing is known from one end of the county to the other We handle such makes of clothing as are guaranteed to us, gives us the right to guarantee them to you.

We take great pride in sending out and take a special interest in the satisfaction you get out of the clothing you buy from us. We aim to sell you only such clothing as will make you our friend and regular customer. Our stock is now most complete and we are selling everyday. Buy from us once and we are sure you will come to see us whenever in need of clothing.

NEAT FITS

NEW SPRING SUITS and OVERCOATS

x

The Right Store

You can buy a suit of clothes anywhere if you are easily satisfied and not particular about the style and fit.

If you want clothes that will look right and keep their shape, come to us. We have the trade of the men who are hard to please.

Our Hart, Schaffner & Marx suits will satisfy the most critical.

H.S.&M.

They're the kind advertised in all the leading magazines and worn by good dressers everywhere.

CARPETS, CURTAINS and RUGS.

There isn't a town the size of Auburn in the state that can boast of a finer assortment of Carpets and Curtains than we are prepared to show you. 50 rolls of all-wool Ingrains, New, Spring Patterns; 40 rolls Brussels (Tapestries, Velvets and Axminsters); 80 rolls Matting 12½ to 50c the yard.

Lace Curtains 75c to $10 the pair.

Portiers, $2.50 to $20.00 the pair

Rugs, all sizes and kinds at from 75c to $25 each.

Shades, Hartshorn rollers, all colors and prices. Linoleums in two or four yard widths, excellent patterns, and bought so that we can sell them at last year's prices—fully 20 per cent under what they are worth.

We want you to come and see us. We will be pleased to show you the New Goods whether you are ready to buy or not..

SCHAAB & BRO.

Rare Sapphires.

That quiet, domestic lady, the Queen of Saxony, enjoys the ownership of four sapphires, equal in size and beauty to the one that glows in the crown of England, and the favorite wives of the Shah of Persia and Sultan of Turkey wear turquoises the like of which no western queen can boast.

LIVERITA

THE UP-TO-DATE LITTLE LIVER PILL

CURES Biliousness, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick-Headache and Liver Complaint. SUGAR COATED. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Partlin Medical Co., Chicago

100 PILLS 25 CTS.

Davenport, The Druggist.

OBITUARY.

Jesse Harnish, son of John and Susan Harnish, was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, March 25, 1845, and died Monday, March 12, 1900, aged 54 years, 11 months and 17 days. He was united in marriage to Eva Mack, September 23, 1872. To this union were born three daughters and three sons, Lola, Dora, Susie, Webster, Joseph and Jesse. He was a faithful husband, loving father, kind neighbor and respected by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn his sudden death, a wife, six children, two grandchildren, a mother, two sisters and three brothers. His father, one sister and two brothers have preceded him to the better world.

He has gone from his dear ones, his children, his wife,
Whom he willingly toiled for and loved as his life.
Oh! God, how mysterious and how strange are thy ways,
To take from us this loved one in the best of his days.

Funeral services were held at Hopewell church on Thursday, March 15, interment in Spencerville cemetery.

Singular Coincidences.

A double funeral took place at Benenden, near Cranbrook, Kent, England, when a well-known hop-grower, Mr. Jesse Kemp, and his wife, who predeceased him a short time, were interred together in the same grave. A most singular coincidence is that the father and mother of Mr. Kemp also died within a short time of each other, and were buried in one grave, and the parents of Mrs. Kemp also died within an hour of each other and were interred in one grave.

A Dwarf Queen.

Probably the smallest monarch in the world reigns over the Hindu vassal state of Bhopaul, and governs a people of more than a million souls. This dwarf is a woman, Djihan-Begum by name, but although she is about fifty years old, she does not appear larger than a child of ten. Her diminutive size does not prevent her, however, from holding the reins of government with a firm hand, and in her realm quiet and order are supreme.

Dr. Humphreys'

Specifics act directly upon the disease, without exciting disorder in other parts of the system. They Cure the Sick.

NO.	CURES.	PRICES.
1	Fevers, Congestions, Inflammations	.25
2	Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic	.25
3	Teething, Colic, Crying, Wakefulness	.25
4	Diarrhea, of Children or Adults	.25
7	Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis	.25
8	Neuralgia, Toothache, Faceache	.25
9	Headache; Sick Headache, Vertigo	.25
10	Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weak Stomach	.25
11	Suppressed or Painful Periods	.25
12	Whites, Too Profuse Periods	.25
13	Croup, Laryngitis, Hoarseness	.25
14	Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions	.25
15	Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains	.25
16	Malaria, Chills, Fever and Ague	.25
19	Catarrh, Influenza, Cold in the Head	.25
20	Whooping-Cough	.25
27	Kidney Diseases	.25
28	Nervous Debility	1.00
30	Urinary Weakness, Wetting Bed	.25
77	Grip, Hay Fever	.25

Dr. Humphreys' Manual of all Diseases at your Druggists or Mailed Free.

Sold by druggists, or sent on receipt of price. Humphreys' Med. Co., Cor. William & John Sts., New York.

Auburn Courier
AUBURN, INDIANA
JAMES A. BARNS, - - P

AUBURN COURIER

1900.		MARCH.				1900.
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	31

N. M. 1-30. F. Q. 8th. F. M 16th. L. Q 24th.

NEWS IN BRIEF GUSTS

BLOWN IN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE EARTH.

An Important Record of the Week As Told by the Telegraph—Latest from Foreign Shores—Crimes, Casualties, Fires, Etc.

Just $20,000,000.

The Standard Oil Company disbursed $20,000,000 in dividends. The directors declared, a few weeks ago, the regular quarterly dividend of three per cent. on the $100,000,000 common stock, and twenty per cent. in an extra cash dividend. This probably is the largest cash disbursement ever made at any one time on the stock of a single corporation.

The magnitude of the shifting of capital involved in payment may be judged by the fact that the largest quarterly payment which the United States Government ever has to make on its debts is $5,450,000, or less than one-fourth the Standard Oil as disbursement.

Sentence Commuted.

The President has commuted the sentence of William Steele, late cashier of the Chestnut Street National Bank of Philadelphia, from six years, six months, to eighteen months' imprisonment. Steele was convicted in 1898 of aiding and abetting an officer of the bank in appropriating the funds of the institution to his personal use. The sentence was commuted upon the recommendation of the District Attorney and the trial Judge. It appears from the testimony that Steele was a tool of the officer in question and did not participate in the misappropriation.

Bank Safe Found Robbed.

The safe of the Bank of Hitchcock, S.D., which was burned last week, was opened recently, and it was discovered that $11,000 known to have been in the safe at the close of business the day of the fire was missing. Officers were in the building until late that evening, and everything was all right, the fire occurring a little before 9 o'clock. Cashier Wilson says the depositors will be paid in full; money having been received for that purpose. It is believed the safe was robbed and the building fired to prevent detection.

The Door Closed.

Shanghai special: The American Association here telegraphed the United States Government that the attitude of the Empress Dawager towards the reformers will upset the "open door" policy. They also say rebellion and anarchy are expected, to the detriment of foreign interests, and advocate prompt concerted action on the part of the powers. The China Association will appeal to the British Minister, Sir Claude M. MacDonald, on the same subject.

Driven Back.

Manila special: Advices from Albay say that the seventeen Americans reported surrounded at Gubat, in the province of Albay, have been re-inforced. The garrison had repulsed without loss to themselves the bolomen who attacked them. Gen. Kobbe has just returned from the southern ports, and reports things as generally quiet. Flores, Aguinaldo's late Secretary of War of the Filipino cabinet, has surrendered to Gen. McArthur.

Binds and Gags Himself.

Page Lowrey was found gagged and bound in the dental parlors of Dr. Wasser of Laporte, Ind., the other morning. The safe had been robbed of gold and notes to the value of $600. The police were notified and arrested Lowrey on suspicion. After being placed in the sweat-box Lowrey, who is a student in the office, confessed to the theft and acknowledged he had gagged and bound himself. He will be indicted for robbery.

Lima Bank Case Dismissed.

The case against N. L. Michael, Vice President of the American National Bank of Lima, Ohio, at the time of its mysterious robbery Christmas day, 1898, on affidavit sworn to by Detective Webster of Indianapolis, charging him with the robbery, was dismissed by 'Squire Duffield. Prosecuting Atterney Klinger wanted another continuance, which was refused by 'Squire Duffield, and Mr. Michael was dismissed.

The Armours Incorporate.

Chicago special: The final steps have been taken for the incorporation of the Armour packing interests with a capitalization $20,000,000. Formerly the business was conducted as a co-partnership. The incorporation will not change the management in any sense.

Fear Bloodshed.

Louisville special: Warrants have been issued for thirty prominent Republicans, but all but eight will be held up, the Goebel people knowing that bloodshed would follow the arrest of Gov. Taylor and Senator Deboe, who are on the list of those to be indicted.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

March 22—"Sapho."
March 24—"Three of a Kind."

May Join Hands.

London special: It is reported that the American and German Embassies here are in communication regarding a joint proposal for mediation by the United States and Germany in the Boer war. The report is unconfirmed.

New Counterfeit Found.

Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service, has received the first counterfeit so far discovered of the new one dollar silver certificate. The specimen, which came from Cleveland, Ohio, is a very poor zinc etching.

Outbreak at Copper Mines.

A pitched battle, in which knives and pistols were used, was fought between Mexican and American laborers at the Helvetia copper mines, Tucson, Ariz. The fight was precipitated by drunken Mexicans "shooting up" the camp. One Cisneros was killed.

Shut Out of Japan.

Oriental advices say that permission to do general business in Japan has been refused sixty foreign insurance companies, most of them American. Japanese officials say this results from the fact that the applications have failed to comply with the Japanese insurance laws.

simplest story, devoid of incident or criticism, it is sufficient to say of Miss Middleton's conduct, "such is life," and to report her remarks.

"You'll be very careful, won't you?" she said. "I'm like a cat—very fright-

NEW

PROSPEC

Lord Roberts Cables the London War Office that General French Has Reached and Occupied the Head City of the Orange Free State.

The British war office received a dispatch Tuesday morning from Lord Roberts announcing that Gen. French reached Bloemfontein and after a hard fight with the Boers occupied two hills close to the railway station and commanding the town. "There are 321 men wounded," says Roberts' dispatch, "and about sixty or seventy were killed or are missing. The wounds are, as a rule, more serious than usual, owing to the expanding bullets which are freely used by the Boers. A brother of President Steyn was made a prisoner."

Bloemfontein is not a naturally strong position and was made the Orange Free State capital without regard to military importance or defense. It stands on a high plateau, exposed on all sides and without the shadow of a natural barrier to the west, whence the British were expected to advance.

All around the town the country is sterile and unfitted for agriculture. The soil is covered with bowlders, tufty grass and low brush, which alone relieve the otherwise dead monotony of the plain. The houses of the city are low and white and obscured by the trees, which have grown within the town from sprouted sprouts. Bloemfontein's principal building is the capitol, which supports a lofty tower. This, together with a few spired churches and a few school buildings, is the only structure that is prominent from a distance. Normally, the population of the capital is only 4,000, a rather small number when the large area the town covers is taken into consideration.

The only permanent fortifications of Bloemfontein are those on the east. The town is protected on that side by a long ridge, which rises 300 feet above the level of the plain. From this ridge mounts a kopje, or hill, upon which the Free Staters erected a fort several years ago, when they were in constant fear of danger from British aggression. This fort would not have been of much service without long range guns, and even these could not prevent the enemy from shelling the town on the west.

Early in the execution of Lord Roberts' change of plan, whereby the British army was concentrated in the west, the Boers decided to remove their government to Winburg. Meanwhile they had constructed several lines of works outside of Bloemfontein to the west. The nature of these works was similar to those the Boers used in the long investment of Kimberley.

GENERAL FRENCH.

AMERICA'S AID ASKED.

Kruger and Steyn Request This Government to Communicate with Britain.

The first direct effort to aid the Boer republics to secure the services of the United States Government in the direction of bringing about peace in South Africa has been made with some degree of success. After endeavoring, apparently in vain, to induce the continental powers to tender to Great Britain their services as mediators, President Kruger and presumably President Steyn have turned to the American Government with a request of such character that President McKinley and Secretary Hay found that they could comply with it without conflicting with their declarations that the Government would not mediate between the belligerents unless invited to do so by both.

Through Adelbert S. Hay, the United States consul at Pretoria, the Boer governments have asked the Government of the United States to place before Great Britain a statement of the terms upon which the Boers are willing to negotiate a treaty of peace and to ascertain terms which Great Britain may deem it expedient to offer. The United States Government has thus been placed as a channel for the transmission of communications between the two belligerents without being called on to assume the initiative in any phase of the present aspect of the situation.

President McKinley directed that the communication from Pretoria be transmitted to the British Government. The terms which the Boers have proposed as a preliminary to the arrangement of a peace treaty are regarded as tentative and to serve merely as an entering wedge to securing Great Britain's consent to discuss a general proposition for a peace arrangement or the selection of a mediator, which is certain to be the United States Government.

President McKinley in his annual message to Congress laid before both houses on Dec. 5, 1899, defined the position of the United States in regard to the South African war.

"The Government," he said, "has maintained an attitude of neutrality in the unfortunate contest between Great Britain and the Boer states of Africa. We have remained faithful to the precept of avoiding entangling alliances as to affairs not of our direct concern. Had circumstances suggested that the parties to the quarrel would have welcomed any kindly expression of the hope of the American people that war might be averted, good offices would have been gladly tendered."

As the war between Great Britain and the Boer republics is regarded as a purely foreign matter, the President, bound by the pledge given at The Hague peace conference, could not, if he desired, take the initiative in steps to bring the war to an end.

Told in a Few Lines.

The Russian press was virulent over Cronje's surrender and suggested a diversion against Great Britain.

Representative C. A. Boutelle of Maine has so far recovered from his recent illness, which made it necessary to send him to Boston for treatment, that he has decided to seek re-election.

Our pension bureau estimates that there are 1,032,418 surviving soldiers of the civil war, excluding deserters. About 812,000 of these are unpensioned. The average age of the survivors is 60 years.

The picture shows Coles Kop, or hill, taken by the British in Cape Colony, and the system used in sending up ammunition for the guns stationed on top. The distance from the camp to the summit is 1,400 feet. The illustration shows the difficulties experienced in serving the guns even when they are in effective position.

Side Lights on the Boer War.

It is said that in 1894 the Boers gave their first order for big guns and that at the time they expended nearly half a million dollars with Krupp of Germany, and about the same amount with an Austrian firm for smaller arms. The Krupp guns were delivered in 1895, and included two of what was then the largest pattern for a gun in the world. These guns are forty-eight feet in length, weigh 120 tons, throw a shell weighing 2,300 pounds and require 904 pounds of powder for each discharge. One of these guns has been dragged to a hill overlooking Ladysmith. The other is on the fortifications defending Pretoria. In 1895 another order for field guns of long range was placed with Krupp. It was in 1890 that the Creusot guns, those that have done the most effective fighting, were purchased. Several large orders for guns were placed at later dates.

-:-:-

The Lee-Metford bullet is about four times as long as it is thick, and to keep it straight in its flight it has to be made to rotate at a tremendous rate by the rifling of the gun. Obviously this long, narrow bullet meets with much less resistance from the air than the old spherical ball of the smooth-bore musket. But the swift rotation has another effect. When the bullet strikes a man it bores its way in like a gimlet, and nothing can stop it. As the bullet leaves the muzzle it is twisting on its axis 133,200 times per minute. This is the rate with ordinary powder. When cordite is used, the bullet is made to revolve no less than 144,000 times per minute, or 2,400 times per second.

-:-:-

The important part played by carrier pigeons in the South African war is not generally known. At the outbreak of hostilities one of the first to place his pigeons at the disposal of the British Government was E. Lee of Pietermaritzburg. These birds were carried through to Ladysmith on an armored train the day before communication was shut off. They brought the first news from Ladysmith to the British Government. The Boers realizing the advantage gained by the enemy from the use of pigeons soon established a loft for training the birds in Johannesburg.

-:-:-

The Tugela river is over 200 miles long and attains a breadth at its mouth of 450 feet. It rises in the Drakensberg Mountains, the extreme western point in Natal, and at once leaps down into the colony with a fall broken by two ledges of 1,800 feet—the highest waterfall in the world. It then cuts into a canyon over two miles long, joined here and there by many a foaming stream from kloof and hillside. The scenery throughout the whole length of the Tugela is picturesque and in places wild and magnificent. The river is not navigable, for a bar of sand stretches across its mouth.

-:-:-

Nearly sixty-five years ago, so the story runs, a party of Boer immigrants from Cape Colony came upon a little plain in the territory north of the Orange river, and as it first burst upon their eyes a woman in the party exclaimed: "It's a Bloemfontein" (flower garden). The plain was covered with wild flowers, and presented a glorious appearance to the first white people that had ever looked upon it. Thus was the capital of the Orange Free State founded and named.

-:-:-

The question of the employment of native Indian troops in the South African war is being very generally discussed in India. The Indian native cavalry is one of the finest bodies of horse in the world. An argument for the employment of these troops is that the waste of cavalry will be great before the war is over, and that six months hence Great Britain will be driven to employ her native cavalry whether she wants to or not.

-:-:-

The widow of Gen. Symons, who was one of the first British officers to fall in the war, has married again. Sir W. P. Symons, K. C. B., was killed in the battle of Glencoe in October last. The lady's new husband is said to be about half her age.

-:-:-

Human sympathy is always with the "under dog" in a fight. Cronje's remarkable stand against the British forces and the valor shown by the Boers in the face of terrible odds have won the Transvaalers praise and admiration the world over.

-:-:-

Buller and his staff are actually living the life of a private. There has not been even a tent to cover the commanding generals. They eat from their knees, with their shoulders against rocks. They sleep where they can, and their field work is carried on under a transport wagon.

-:-:-

The artillery and cavalry horses of the Boers have all been inoculated against the "tsetse fly" and rinderpest, both of which are apt to play havoc with green horses in that district.

SHELDON AS NEWS CENSOR.

Topeka, Kan., Pastor Issues His Christian Daily Newspaper.

The first number of the Topeka Capital as a "Christian newspaper," under the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon's editorship opened with a prayer, written by Bishop John H. Vincent of the Meth- Church. Following this came a plea for the famine sufferers in India, by the editor, with a long letter from an Indian missionary and an official statement by Viceroy Curzon, as to India's needs. The entire first page was given up to this matter and an attack on war and saloons.

REV. SHELDON.

The original typographical style of the paper was altered, and single-line heads with two "banks" used in all so-called top-head stories. There was an evident desire to tone down everything and to give no prominence to anything which might cause the gentlest soul to feel a thrill of undue interest.

For six days the Capital continued after this form with all theatrical, ordinary sporting and important criminal news carefully eliminated. Market reports of other than active cash quotations were consigned to the waste basket, and the subscriber was for the period of editor Sheldon's incumbency compelled to seek his information in another paper. Advertisements of the exclusive and Christian variety only were permitted to appear, and all these were overlooked by Editor Sheldon before gong to the foreman of the composing room.

"How an untrained newspaper man can run a newspaper is a mystery to the men of the press," remarked a prominent journalist. "As a novelty it is all very well; as a permanent institution I fear Mr. Sheldon's ideas would not prove a success either financially or from a news point of view. I always remember what Charles A. Dana used to say that whatever the Almighty permitted to happen he was not ashamed to print."

A VISIT TO PARIS COSTLY.

High Rates Charged to Travelers in the French Metropolis.

A Chicago newspaper man now in Paris writes home regarding the expense of a visit to that city. He says: "The hotels have all raised their rates from 40 to 80 per cent. The board amounts to about $6 a day, and all meals skimpy—same thing every day. You are also obliged to fee from six to ten people continually. Next to the hotels as freebooters come the stores, especially clothing stores, that have put up their prices quite 40 per cent. Hats and shoes are 50 per cent dearer than in 1889; neckties that range from 25 cents to 50 cents in New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles, range from three francs (60 cents) to seven francs ($1.40) here—and this in the country of silk manufactures! Cotton, linen and woolen goods have nearly all advanced from 20 to 60 per cent over what they were in 1889. Canes and umbrellas and such from 20 to 40 per cent. Shirts, handkerchiefs and gloves seem not to have advanced so much.

"Druggists' goods have gone diabolically out of all sight of all grades of polite robbery. A prescription that would cost 25 cents in San Francisco is $1 here. An ounce of castor oil is 60 cents, a pint of witch hazel is 90 cents and an ounce of borax 40 cents. The only thing cheap in Paris to-day is the cab, which is still only 30 cents from any one point to another in the city, for from one to three persons, or 40 cents per hour for same. Scores of Americans who had come here to stay for several months are going back.

Notes of Current Events.

Col. A. W. Wiley of Montgomery, Ala., is being considered for Philippine commissioner.

Since the close of the civil war $100,000,000 has been spent in the South for negro education.

Madrid has a 3-year-old pianist, Rodriguez Arriola, who can play any piece on hearing it once.

The Virginia Legislature has made June 3, Jefferson Davis' birthday, a legal holiday in Virginia.

Prince Hohenlohe said in the Reichstag that Alsace-Lorraine must still be held as conquered territory.

Gen. Mercier's paper, the Paris Eclair, has been shut out of Alsace-Lorraine by the German Government.

The Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, a Presbyterian minister of San Francisco, has made a fortune by raising oranges.

During an attack of desperate melancholia Mrs. Doris Heescher slew her daughter in a cemetery at Kiel and then committed suicide, using a butcher's cleaver.

Jas. H. Wilson, military governor of the department of Matanzas-Santa Clara, says trouble is out of the question in the island.

American State Department Receives Lord Salisbury's Answer, Which Plainly Says "Keep Out"—Boers Now Determined to Fight to the End.

Great Britain, in her answer received by the State Department in Washington to the overtures for peace submitted by the United States Government in behalf of Presidents Kruger and Steyn, serves notice on all the nations of the world that she will not tolerate any interference by any of them with the prosecution of the war in South Africa. This ultimatum is distinctly set forth in Lord Salisbury's response, the declination of the Boer suggestion that the United States be permitted to mediate being applicable by Lord Salisbury to "any nation." It is regarded as a warning to Russia and France that if they attempt to bring the war to an end before the British Government is ready to make terms of peace the two continental powers must be prepared to fight Great Britain. That is the plain English of Lord Salisbury's brief reply.

Lord Salisbury has probably voiced the will of the majority of the British people by sending notice to Presidents Kruger and Steyn that her majesty's government is unprepared to assent to the independence of either the South African republic or the Orange Free State. The correspondence between the South African executives and the British prime minister was laid before Parliament. Lord Salisbury places the sole responsibility for the war on the republics and announces Great Britain's determination not to acquiesce in the further existence of Boer independence in South Africa.

The dispatch received from the two presidents does not read much like the supplication of a thoroughly beaten and penitent foe. It is regarded in London rather as a reasonably frank statement of the situation from the Boer point of view, containing, too, a pronounced suggestion that unless the independence of the republics shall be recognized the war will be continued to the limit of the ability of the republican allies, although the overwhelming pre-eminence of the British empire is conceded.

Washington officials take the note from the British Government complacently, and say that, having done all that international courtesy could demand, nothing further will be done except to act as a medium for the transmission of messages between the contending powers.

FINANCIAL BILL IS LAW.

President McKinley Affixes His Signature to Measure.

President McKinley signed the financial bill Wednesday afternoon, after it had been signed by the president pro tem. of the Senate in open session, and immediately the measure became a law. In explaining the provisions of the bill Secretary Gage said:

"The bill reaffirms that the unit of value is the dollar, consisting of twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of gold nine-tenths fine and makes the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to maintain all forms of money issued or coined at a parity with this standard. It puts into the hands of the Secretary ample power to do that. For that purpose the bill provides in the treasury bureaus of issue and redemption, and transfers from the general fund of the treasury's cash $150,000,000 in gold coin and bullion to the redemption fund, that gold to be used for the redemption of United States notes and treasury notes. The law permits national banks with $25,000 capital to be organized in places of 3,000 inhabitants or less, whereas heretofore the minimum capital has been $50,000. It also permits banks to issue circulation on all classes of bonds deposited up to the par value of the bonds, instead of 90 per cent of their face, as heretofore. This ought to make an immediate increase in national bank circulation of something like $24,000,000. National banks are permitted under the law to issue circulation up to an amount equal to their capital. The total capital of all national banks is $616,000,000. The total circulation outstanding is $253,000,000. There is, therefore, a possibility of an increase in circulation of $363,000,000."

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

The average salary paid to Methodist preachers in the United States last year was $473.35.

The Young Men's Christian Association in Rome is now six years old and is in a flourishing condition.

Efforts have been started in Brooklyn to give the gospel in some direct form to every adult during 1900.

Last year the Presbyterian Church in England contributed $109,000 to missions and other plihanthropic objects.

Two young Christian Chinamen in Iloilo have started a movement for the Christianization of the Filipinos.

An international congress of Roman Catholic workingmen will be held in Paris during the coming summer.

An effort will be made to raise $3,000,000 to insure the perpetuation of the D. L. Moody institutions at Northfield.

The Methodist Year Book, which has just been issued, shows in the United States 17,583 ministers and 2,871,949 probationers.

The Congregational Church Building Society received for its work last year nearly $250,000. The loan fund now exceeds $650,000.

Publishing firms state that the rise in the price of Bibles is caused by the advance in paper, and not by a desire to form a Bible trust.

The Rev. Dr. Guinness Rogers has retired from his pastorate of Grafton Square Chapel, London, after a ministry of fifty-four years.

The nonconformist church choirs of London will hold a singing contest at Crystal Palace in June, in which choirs will compete for prizes of money and 4,000 adult singers will give a concert.

A movement is on foot to reorganize the City of Bradford, England, from a church point of view. The building of new churches, the removal of unnecessary ones, and the rearrangement of parishes are included in the scheme.

The Mohammedan students at Cambridge University have formed an association which meets for prayer and the study of the Koran.

Bishop Charles E. McDonnell, of Brooklyn, has asked leave to go to Rome, and about twenty-five prominent priests of the diocese will go with him.

The Bishop of London, speaking at the Royal Society Club, defined a club as a place where the women ceased from troubling and the wicked were at rest.

The Rev. Mr. Steytler of Cape Town, a pro-Boer clergyman, has closed his account with the leading grocer, saying that he preferred to deal with a Dutchman.

CONGRESS

On Thursday the Senate heard Mr. Foraker in support of the Porto Rican tariff bill and Messrs. Pettus, Tillman and Hoar against it. Mr. Mason made his motion to discharge the committee on foreign relations from further consideration of his resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers, and it went over for one day under the rules. The House unseated Gaston A. Robbins, a Democrat, from the Fourth Alabama district, and seated in his stead William F. Aldrich, a Republican, who has been three times a contestant from the same district, on the ground of fraud, and who is now given his seat for the third time by a Republican House. The vote was a strict party one. A new rule was brought in to set aside the day sessions on the second and fourth Fridays of each month for pension legislation. The rule limits debate on each bill to ten minutes on a side, but this provision was withdrawn upon the assurance of Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, that his side of the House would not indulge in filibustering. Mr. Overstreet (Ind.), in charge of the conference report upon the financial bill, gave notice that he would call up the report on the next Tuesday. By unanimous consent it was agreed that the vote on the report should be taken at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

In the Senate on Friday a speech in opposition to the Porto Rican tariff bill was made by Mr. Lindsay. Mr. Mason's resolution expressing sympathy for the Boers discussed in executive session, the question being the discharge of the committee from consideration. Mr. Allison reported from the committee on appropriations the House bill making appropriations of customs dues exacted from the Island of Porto Rico from Oct. 18, 1898, to Jan. 1, 1900, amounting to $2,095,455, and gave notice that he would call up the measure Saturday. At a night session reading of the Alaska code bill was resumed. In the House the first day pension session provided for under the new rule proved a great success. There was comparatively little friction and ninety-seven bills were favorably acted upon in committee of the whole and subsequently passed. The only incident of the session was a brisk exchange between Mr. Loud of California and Mr. Sulloway of New Hampshire upon the general policy of special pension legislation, in which the former attacked and the latter defended the system.

The Senate on Saturday passed the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, after defeating an amendment to give former Queen Liluoklani of Hawaii $20,000 and an annuity of $10,000. The House agreed to take up the bill providing a government for Hawaii on April 3, the final vote to be taken on April 5 at 4 p. m. Consideration of the Wise-Young election contest was resumed. Speeches were made by Mr. Weeks (Rep., Mich.), Mr. Burke (Dem., Texas), Mr. Hull (Rep., Iowa), and Mr. Linney (Rep., N. C.).

Mr. Rawlins occupied the floor of the Senate most of the day Monday in a discussion of the Philippine question. He went deeply into the constitutional phases of the question. His argument was largely legal and technical. He is opposed to the holding of the Philippines. Eighty-six private pension bills were passed. The House by a majority of seven voted to unseat W. A. Young, Democrat, Second Virginia district, and seat R. A. Wise. Passed an urgent deficiency bill carrying $1,439,580.

In the Senate on Tuesday personal explanations were made by Mr. Allen and Mr. Butler of their positions on the financial question, both announcing their belief in the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Mr. Turner began an extended speech on the Porto Rico bill, maintaining that the pending measure is clearly unconstitutional. The House passed the conference report on the currency reform bill by a vote of 166 to 120. The report had previously been accepted by the Senate.

Two speeches on the Philippine question consumed the day Wednesday in the Senate. Mr. Teller maintained that the constitution could not extend over territory acquired by the United States. Mr. Turner took a view precisely opposite. In the House the District of Columbia appropriation bill was taken up and under the latitude allowed Mr. Adamson (Ga.) discussed the Nicaragua canal, Mr. Cowherd (Mo.) the Philippine question, Mr. Howard (Ga.) questions relating to the Philippines and the "open door" policy in the Orient, Mr. Rucker (Mo.) the advisability of electing Senators by the people, and Mr. Boutell (Ill.) replied to Mr. Cowherd. A resolution setting aside alternate Fridays for the consideration of private bills reported by the war claims committee was adopted. Bills were passed to settle the title to real estate in the city of Santa Fe, N. M., and for the relief of Thomas Paul.

This and That.

Peru will become a member of the Pan-American congress.

The receipts of public funds of the Philippine Islands, beginning Aug. 13, 1898, and ending Dec. 31, 1899, amount to $6,696,080.

Green Cockerham was killed and Wallace Cockerham and a man named Boyd seriously injured by a boiler explosion, Magnolia, Miss.

A single wild tribe of Western Indians is using forty-one kinds of vegetables which are absolutely unknown to the majority of cooks.

The oldest note in the possession of the Bank of England is dated Dec. 19, 1699, for £555. In the bank library is a note for £25, which was not presented for 111 years.

Eighty per cent of the cattle of Uruguay are used for the purpose of making "tasajo," or jerked beef, for exportation to Brazil, Cuba and Porto Rico.

Mrs. Taylor, wife of the Governor of Kentucky, was in no way intimidated by the exciting times in Frankfort. She visited the soldiers each day, and carried to them baskets of cake and sweetmeats.

Spain lost 125,000 soldiers in Cuba. The revolution cost 500,000 Cuban lives. Jose Marti raised the flag of independence in February, 1895. American intervention occurred in April, 1898. American occupation began Jan. 1, 1899.

Two German physicians are perfecting an instrument by which it will be possible to take photographs of the interior of the stomach. It is essentially composed of a series of lenses and a camera attached to a stomach tube. The light is derived from an electric lamp.

Ernest Groult, who once saved the life of Alexander II. of Russia, has lately been discovered living in dire poverty in Havre. Groult disarmed the Pole who attempted to shoot the Czar at the Longchamps races in 1867. For this act he received $100 in gold and a handsome miniature of the Czar and Czarina. He has petitioned the present Czar to relieve his distress, but nothing has yet been done.

AN INDIANA HEROINE.

PARIS WILL HONOR LITTLE JENNIE CREEK.

Mill Grove Girl Who Saved a World's Fair Special Train and Was Decorated with the Cross of the French Legion of Honor.

Indiana will be represented at the Paris exposition by Miss Jennie Creek of Mill Grove. She is only a simple American girl, barely 18 years of age, but is entitled to wear the famous five-pointed golden star of the French Legion of Honor founded by Napoleon Bonaparte. Since the beginning of the order it has been conferred upon but two American girls.

Winning the French Legion of Honor is an ambition that scientists, writers and artists have struggled for many years, and ofttimes in vain. Its medal was awarded to Jennie Creek nearly seven years ago, when she was 11 years of age, to commemorate a deed of exceptionable bravery and remarkable presence of mind.

From the little village of Mill Grove to the rich reception rooms of the National Humane Society of France this young lady will journey and be presented to the thousands of Parisians and visitors at the exposition as one of the most distinguished young women in the world.

In the afternoon of Sept. 10, 1893, the world's fair special left Chicago and was speeding along the Panhandle Railroad within a few miles of Mill Grove, when the little curly headed child caught the odor of burning wood as she strolled along the ravines of her uncle's farm. Being of an investigating turn of mind, she discovered the long wooden bridge partly consumed by fire, and while hesitating over how to act she heard the shriek of the locomotive around the curve and less than three miles away.

Quickly recovering from the sudden shock she fairly flew toward the fast coming train, tearing off her red underskirt as she ran, and frantically waving it at the engineer. He at once perceived the bright danger signal, which almost flashed in his face, and reversing his engine he came to a stop within a few feet of the burning bridge. In that act Engineer Frank Williamson saved hundreds of precious human lives, and made little Jennie Creek one of the heroines of the world.

Having accomplished alone and unaided the act of saving the hundreds of passengers from the great ugly gulch below, this modest little country maiden was returning home, breathing a prayer of thanks to the Lord for permitting her to be in time, when she was overtaken by two passengers and triumphantly carried back and through the coaches that the passengers might behold their deliverer from a fearful accident.

When pressed to tell her story of it all this little Indiana child modestly reiterated that she had done nothing and wanted to go home without so much fuss. Money of all denominations was rapidly showered into a purse before the little miss was permitted to depart. Some prominent French people who were on the train carried the story to their native land, and the Legion of Honor Society, through President McKinley, then Governor of Ohio, conferred upon and decorated the girl with the golden star and watery ribbon of scarlet hue, of almost priceless value, when measured in a financial way.

She was and is the youngest person in the world to ever receive the proud insignia of this famous order. Now that she has accepted the invitation of the National Humane Society of France, she will probably be the youngest guest of honor entertained by the Paris exposition.

PLAN TO SET ASIDE A WILL.

Widow and Children of an Old Man Aver He Was Demented.

The widow and children of the late Charles L. Price, Sr., of Richmond filed suit in the Wayne Circuit Court to set aside his will. Mr. Price was 85 years old and one of the most prominent men of Wayne County. He died recently as a result of paralysis.

During his early life he accumulated a fortune, but nearly all of it was given to charitable institutions and at his death his estate amounted to but $10,000. When the will was opened the heirs were both surprised and shocked. The widow is given the family home to live in during life and at death it goes to the youngest son. In addition she receives the interest on $1,500, which gives her about $15 annually when taxes are paid on the home property. None of the six children receives a bequest. The residue of the estate is bequeathed to the John Ruskin co-operative settlement in Tennessee, of which the decedent knew little or nothing. The widow and heirs ask that the will be set aside on the grounds that the decedent was of unsound mind.

FINE RESIDENCE DESERTED.

The Peculiar Will of an Indiana Man Causes Trouble in the Family.

What was once the handsomest and finest residence in Dublin is now but a miserable and deserted wreck. Twenty years ago or more Benjamin Kelly, a wealthy Eastern capitalist, came to Dublin and took up his residence in the north side of town, where he made his home with his second wife, who soon died. He married a third wife, who, with his only daughter by his first wife, is now the beneficiary of the provisions of his will. The house is evenly separated by a long hall. To his daughter, who now resides in California, he bequeathed the north side of the house and the south side of the lot, and to his third wife the south side of the house and the north side of the lot. There is bitter feeling between the heirs, and neither has occupied her portion of the house since Kelly's death. The property cannot be sold or leased, and has long been unoccupied.

BOY STARTS FIRES FOR FUN.

Confesses that He Wanted to See Horses Run from Blaze.

Willie Gulliver, 9 years old, was arrested by the police at Evansville for arson. The boy confessed that he set fire to three stables and one residence. When asked why he did it the boy said: "I like to see the horses run." Two fires were started by the boy on the day of his arrest and he turned in both alarms. The boy expressed no regret at being locked up and spent his time in his cell smoking and singing.

Central Indiana Fair Circuit.

Dates have been arranged for the various fairs composing the central Indiana circuit. They are as follows: Bainbridge, Aug. 14 to 17; Lebanon, Aug. 21 to 24; Frankfort, Aug. 28 to 31; Boswell, Aug. 28 to 31; Lafayette, Sept. 3 to 7; Crawfordsville, Sept. 10 to 17. This leads up to the State fair, which takes place Sept. 17 to 21.

Jackrabbit Sausage.

A jack rabbit sausage factory is to be started in Kansas, in order to utilize the heavy and yearly increasing crop of this creature.

AUBURN COURIER.

BIRTH OF LOVE.

For years I lived beside thee,
And saw thee day by day;
You often used to chide me;
We quarreled at our play.

And when, no more as children,
We'd roam and smile and talk,
Good comrades we were ever,
In hunt or dance or walk.

Your mien I saw was gentle;
Your judgment swift and sure;
Your words were strong, yet humble;
Your thoughts I knew were pure.

And so I called you "brother,"
Our confidence so free;
I ne'er had known another
Who meant so much to me.

I thought with eyes still steadfast,
To journey to the end,
Thro' life's bright paths and golden,
Thus holding thee as "friend."

But now the scales are fallen,
And joy all joys above—
O, ray direct from heaven,
I know, at last, I love!
—New York Home Journal.

THE DAISY CHAIN.

MR. TRAVERS, pretending to rinse plates in the river Thames, looked perpetually toward Miss Daisy Middleton—industriously engaged in packing dishes. Over the meadow the rest of the picnic party was dotted, mainly in pairs, as is pleasant to look upon at a picnic. If the truth were known, Mr. Travers was pleased to see Miss Middleton sternly packing, for of late she had seemed to bestow too much of the honey of her smiles upon a certain bee (to give him no worse title) of the name of Congreve; and Miss Middleton was rejoiced to see Mr. Travers pretending to rinse, since she had a certain undefined objection to hear his praises sung by others of her sex—as recently.

People entertaining such approximate sentiments have no business to be separated by a distance of at least twenty yards. So at any rate Mr. Travers thought, for he left the meadow sweets that sucked in the eddying stream behind him, and, bearing the cleaned plates as a peace offering in his hand, approached the lady.

Miss Middleton lifted her eyes out of a hamper, and, perceiving his humility, smiled.

"THEN, SUPPOSE THE GIRL SAID 'NO?'"

"With fingers weary and worn," he began, "and eyelids heavy and red—as you perceive Miss Middleton—a man answering to the name of Travers has been standing in mid-stream—more or less mid—on an undeniably rickety stone for half an hour—torrents foaming about him—fatal plunge imminent—and has rinsed picnic plates till he could no more."

"During which time," she asked, "he broke—how many?"

"That is hardly generous," said Mr. Travers, gravely. "How many exactly I started with I misremember. One—I admit it—'came to pieces in my hand,' as the kitchen maids say. Another I was compelled, morally and intellectually, to throw at a grasshopper that came up impertinently to sniff the mayonnaise. A saucer or two, by nature amphibious, started down stream. But what would you? I have four here as clean——"

"And I gave you eleven," said Miss Middleton, sternly.

"It's better than picking daisies, like Congreve," said Mr. Travers, slyly.

"Would you like to clean some knives?" she asked, willing to change the subject. "They don't break so easily, and we shall want some for tea."

"It's no relaxation cleaning things that don't break," said Mr. Travers, discontentedly.

"You intend simply to be idle till tea?" she asked, scornfully.

"If you think I deserve a little recreation for cleaning all those plates," he said.

"Breaking them!"

"Let us split the difference and say 'laving' them."

"You crack a joke and a plate in the same breath," she said.

"Don't you think I might take you out in that canoe?" he persisted.

"It's rather late," she said, doubtfully.

"We might find some of the floating saucers," he urged. "The grasshopper got on one and was piloting it magnificently."

"But canoes are so unsafe. Perhaps, if Miss Maltby would come with us, it would be steadier."

This was a distinctly unkind reflection on Miss Maltby, whose attractions, in the opinion of many, were not detracted from by her weight. Mr. Travers, however, saw light in the unkindness, and willingly sacrificed a victim.

"Without in any way wishing to deny the merits of Miss Maltby," he said, "she would add more than a feather-weight. Besides, in adopting an invention like canoes, from the Choctaws, one must conform to their custom."

"Which is?" asked Miss Middleton.

"Based on the tribal motto—'Two's company.' The canoes were constructed accordingly, and only hold two."

"Then there would not be room for Mr. Congreve?" she asked.

"I fancied he was making daisy-chains," said Mr. Travers.

Now, if Miss Middleton had been adverse to the voyage, this foolish remark would have left Mr. Travers solitary. But she was not. She suffered herself to be constrained—not too readily. Yet since, when once the canoe was launched, Mr. Travers seemed to sink into abstraction, Miss Middleton took up the ball. Since this is the very simplest story, devoid of incident or criticism, it is sufficient to say of Miss Middleton's conduct, "such is life," and to report her remarks.

"You'll be very careful, won't you?" she said. "I'm like a cat—very frightened of water."

"What cat's averse to fish?" quoted Mr. Travers, irrelevantly. "That is—I mean—I wouldn't let a drop of water touch you for—what I really mean is, the canoe's perfectly safe. It would hold five with ease."

"I thought that the Choctaws——" hinted Miss Middleton, well pleased with herself.

"Oh, yes, that's all nonsense," he said, distractedly. "I should say I'm talking nonsense now. What I mean was that if five people were in it, it couldn't be safer."

"It does sound rather nonsense," said Miss Middleton, unmercifully.

It is not clear why maidens at these critical times are so much more apt to keep their heads than are men. Mr. Travers thought it a hard dispensation of nature, and sought refuge from his distraction by jogging the canoe.

"Aren't we shaking terribly?" asked Miss Middleton.

"Not at all," he answered.

"Canoes seem so very frail," she explained.

"A girl I knew," said Mr. Travers, thoughtfully, "used to tell me that she was quite nervous until she had tried a canoe, but in the end she thought them otherwise. She even wanted to get engaged in a canoe."

"Did you gratify her wish?" asked Miss Middleton, with a rush of dignity.

"The girl was my mother, you know," said Mr. Travers, scenting a mistake. "It was a reminiscence of hers. She was wondering how I should some day——"

"Yes, yes—don't you think we ought to be going back?" asked Miss Middleton.

"I should like to know your opinion of a boat as a popping place," he persisted.

Miss Middleton supposed that a square, solid sort of boat in the style of Noah's ark—guaranteed not to upset—might not be unsuitable.

"But you would not approve of a canoe?" he asked.

"It would rock so terribly," she said.

"Why should it rock?"

"Suppose," she said, "the man wanted to go down on his knees—just to emphasize his wishes—that would set it rolling to begin with."

Mr. Travers was willing to entertain that supposition.

"Then suppose the girl said 'No?'"

Mr. Travers preferred not to suppose anything unpleasant.

"Still, if she did," said Miss Middleton, "the man would start up in a very bad temper and begin stamping about."

Mr. Travers was positive that no man would be guilty of such conduct. Miss Middleton failed to see how Mr. Travers could answer for men in general. Mr. Travers admitted that he was thinking of a particular case, which caused Miss Middleton to go on hastily:

"Then, again, if the girl didn't say 'No,' she would probably expect——"

"What?" asked Mr. Travers.

Miss Middleton had unfortunately forgotten the sequence of her sentence.

"But I must know, Daisy," he said, earnestly. He ceased to paddle, and the canoe began to roll. "Would she expect——"

Continuous was the rolling of the canoe.

"We shall be over, I'm sure," said Miss Middleton—"please—yes—yes—yes——"

"At any rate the man expects——" said Mr. Travers, and the rolling continued.

When some time later the canoe returned to the meadow from which it had started, the the voyagers were grieved to perceive the tea was already almost finished. The others observed that punctuality was particularly important at a picnic. Mr. Congreve especially insisted on this.

"You shouldn't have been making daisy-chains, Congreve," said Mr. Travers, irrelevantly.

"What does he mean?" Mr. Congreve appealed to Miss Middleton for a solution.

"Mr. Travers has also been making daisy-chains," she said.—The King.

Profits from Butterflies and Beetles.

Mary Yeomans, an Englishwoman now living in California, makes money by catching butterflies. She had some knowledge of the different varieties when she went to the Pacific Slope. One day a flock of pansylike butterflies hovered over her for a moment, and then flew up the mountain side. She thought she recognized a rare and valuable species only known in the higher Alps. She followed these honey-loving beauties up the mountain and captured a goodly number of them. She painted a fac simile of one in water colors and sent the sketch to London. The result was an order for twenty-five of the butterflies, for which she received $575. Miss Yeomans has a nursery for beetles in her cellar. Dr. Le Fontain, who came from France to study the insects of California, taught her much about insects and was enthusiastic over her enterprise. Miss Yeomans finds a great demand for beetles as well as for butterflies.—Woman's Journal.

Three Court Clerks in a Century.

It is reported from Essex County, Virginia, as a fact worthy of note that there have been but three clerks of the Essex County court since 1814, viz.: W. B. Matthews, from 1814 to 1830; James Roy Macou, 1830 to 1887, and Harrison Southworth, the present clerk. Maryland, in the Federal court of this jurisdiction, can beat the above record, as the court has had but three clerks since 1799—100 years—namely, Philip Moore, 1799 to 1834; Thomas Spicer, 1834 to 1864; James W. Chew, from 1864 to date, and, as Mr. Chew is still in good health and active service, his term will probably last for some years longer. Prior to 1799 Joshua Barney was clerk of the court from its foundation, prior to 1790.—Baltimore American.

Telephone Line in a Oregon.

A company has been organized to put up a telephone line between Arlington and Fossil, Gilliam County, Ore., one of the conditions being that the people to be benefited shall haul the poles from the railroad to the points where they are to be erected.

It is easier for a camel to enter a circus than for a man to eat a package of needles.

NEW

PROSPEC

T

The Recently Discovered Fields Declared to Surpass the Klondike or South African Rand in Richness of Yield.

THE Alaskan miners and prospectors have begun a general stampede for Cape Nome. The wonderful tales of the vast wealth that lies hidden in the frozen regions of Northwest Alaska is the magnet that is drawing thither thousands of prospectors from Dawson, Skaguay, Vancouver, Seattle and other places along the coast. A new city has sprung up, the city of Nome. One year ago five Scandinavians comprised the population. Last summer 5,000 miners, gamblers, saloon-keepers and traders settled there. Soon more than 20,000 Americans will be there and many believe that in the course of a few years Nome will have a population of 100,000. The wonders of the Klondike region and the richness of the rand in South Africa do not compare with the placers of the newly-found Alaskan gold field.

A Missionary's Discovery.

It was through a missionary, Rev. Jos. Anderson, that it was learned that gold existed in that northwestern projection of frigid Alaska, where the CAPE NOME CITY, THE NEW ELDORADO.

Bering Sea separates North America from Asia and where the thermometer varies from zero to 70 degrees below in winter. He had heard from Eskimos in a settlement about 120 miles from Cape Nome that gold had in former years been found in several creeks near the Cape. The missionary imparted this news to some prospectors. This was in October, 1898. The miners were eager to get to the scenes at once. Despite the bitterly cold weather, the deep snow and the forming ice, the party, which comprised five Scandinavians, made the journey across Norton Sound and explored several creeks around Cape Nome. In a freezing temperature the men made several hundred trial pannings in different spots along creek branches and some remarkably rich gravel was found. The finders decided that it would not do to leave such claims for others to occupy so they decided to remain there all winter. But in some way the news of the rich findings spread along the western coast of Alaska and hungry prospectors, in spite of the terrors of the winter season, started on foot 300 and 400 miles for the new diggings. When spring came 500 men were camped along the banks of the many streams that flow into the sea about Cape Nome.

When navigation reopened on the Yukon River and travel was resumed in the spring the story of the discovery of gold spread faster and faster. A general stampede of Alaskan miners and prospectors was begun for the new Eldorado. By June 2,000 people were at the new gold camp, a month later there were 3,000, and by August the population reached 7,000. The same scenes that have followed the springing up of mining towns in the West were enacted. Gambling dens started, dance halls were opened. By August the town had a main street, a city government with a mayor and two marshals and several general merchandise stores. Any one of the buildings could be duplicated in the States for $200. At first the miners gave their attention getting gold from the banks of water courses among the hills back of the seashore, until a St. Louis miner, John W. Peters, noticed the peculiar bluish color of the seashore, panned some of the sand and found it rich with gold. He kept his find a secret and took up a claim along the surf, to the ridicule of the other miners. Within two weeks every foot of the sand for ten miles north of Nome was staked out. By October every inch of the beach for thirty-three miles northwest of Nome was staked and the limits of the area claimed for placer mining were being pushed onward six and eight miles a week.

Prospectors Make Fortunes.

Several big fortunes have been made by those who secured good claims. Rev. Joseph Anderson, who first directed the miners to Cape Nome, has made fully $200,000. Gabriel Price, a young Californian, is the richest man in Nome, although less than 30 years old. He went to the diggings about a year ago, enduring severe privations. He has located three claims, bought and sold others, and also bought real estate for a song that he has sold for fabulous prices. John Brindensen, one of the five Scandinavian discoverers of Cape Nome, has $26,000 in a Seattle bank and two claims which are good for at least $15,000 for almost a decade. He has also an interest in two other rich claims. Edward M. Bottume, a brickmaker of Rochester, N. Y., has made $40,000 out of a small part of his claim on the beach, while Carl Winkler, who was a porter in a Los Angeles Hotel a couple of years ago, has a claim that has yielded him over $32,000 since May. The beach sands yielded about $1,000,000 from July to October, and they have scarcely been touched. There are dozens of square miles of the beach remaining which are likely to contain wealth beyond the wildest dreams. The interior country has been but little explored, and no one has the faintest idea how much gold is locked up there. The cost of living in Nome is high, and the winter climate too rugged for any but the most rugged constitutions.

It is believed that the season of 1900

Trifling Causes Influence the Prices of Books at Auction.

The following remarks by Mr. Quaritch upon "the unprecedented sum" recently paid for a copy at Christie's are worth a place in Notes and Queries, says that publication. They will be found in his December catalogue, No. 194, apropos of "a much finer copy (excepting the first two leaves)" which he offers for £550:

"It is amusing for those who are acquainted with the trifling causes that influence the prices of books at auction to read the philosophical theories of tendencies and results, which are solemnly expressed by critics in high consideration. According to those persons it was a great wave of public appreciation which raised the value of the first Shakespeare at a recent sale to the price of £1,700, and their opinion is that the wave will go on increasing in strength and volume forever. As a matter of fact, at the sale in question all the public desires were quenched when the biddings had advanced to £1,000, and scarcely more than two individuals remained to carry on the strife. One of these was an agent holding a simple commission 'to buy' (probably equivalent in the views of his principal to £1,000); the other was my agent, a fiery young man to whom (as I wanted the book) I had given the exaggerated commission of £1,200. Now, he, finding himself outdone by an unlimited commission, determined to push his opponent, and the result was that exactly £500 of the £1,700 represent a gratuitous addition to the cost of the volume—in nowise altering its real value, which may be set down as about £1,100."

A FAMOUS CLOWN.

Dan Rice, Who Made Three Fortunes and Gave Them Away.

The death of Dan Rice, which occurred at Long Branch recently in his 77th year, has removed a man who at one time was the best known showman in America and one of the wealthiest.

Rice's real name was Daniel McLarin and he was born in New York. His father nicknamed him Dan Rice, after a famous Irish clown. In his early years Dan peddled milk and then became a stable boy and hack driver in Pittsburg. He soon achieved prominence as the owner and exhibitor of a learned pig and in 1844 settled in New York, where he made his first appearance as a clown and negro song and dance performer. In 1845 he traveled with Howe's circus and bounded into popularity in Philadelphia. He next traveled in Canada and in the South and became a member of the Dr. Spalding Company. After his severance with this company he launched a show of his own, which, however, he was forced to disband in 1863. Out of the wreck he saved his famous trick horse Excelsior and his pair of trained Burmese cattle. He was the first man who ever trained and introduced in the ring a performing rhinoceros. In 1864 a contract for two seasons was made with Forepaugh, by which Rice received for his services as clown and for the services of his trained horse and cattle $35,000 for each season. In 1866 he got $1,000 per week through the season as a clown with John O'Brien and for a season of 26 weeks in 1867 he received $21,500 from Gardner, Hemmings & Cooper's circus.

DAN RICE.

Thereafter his star steadily waned. His habits were irregular and consequently he was unreliable. He was once offered his own terms in California if he would keep sober, but he refused. A similar offer was made him in New York, but he declined, saying that he would sooner have $100 a week and liberty to do as he pleased than ten times that amount under restraint.

Rice made three fortunes during his career, but died a comparatively poor man. He gave away fortunes, being very generous, and his charities in the region around Girard, Pa., where he owned property and lived, were great. He built a soldiers' monument at a cost of $35,000 and during the war gave $32,000 for wounded soldiers and their families.

ONLY AN HONEST HEART.

The Kindly Farmer and Two Different Styles of Women.

"An all-fired hot day, marm! Goin' fur?" said an old farmer, addressing a lady who sat at his side in a railroad station waiting for a train.

The lady drew away her rich silks impatiently, frowning as if to say, your very reply, he continued, as no reply was vouchsafed. "I'm sorry you're deaf, marm. How long have you been so?"

"Sir," said the lady, rising, "do you mean to insult me? I shall complain to the police," and she swept haughtily from the room.

"Waal, I never!" exclaimed the old man, as he drew out the red bandanna and mopped his forehead. "Pretty tired, marm?" he continued, addressing a woman who had just come in, carrying a baby and a lot of bundles, and with two small children clinging to her dress. "Are you goin' fur?"

"To Boston, sir," was the pleasant reply.

"Got to wait long?"

"Two hours. Oh, children, do be quiet, and don't tease mother any more."

"Look a-here, you young shavers, and see what I've got in my own pocket," and soon both children were on his knees eating peppermint candy and listening to wonderful stories about the sheep and calves at home. Next he pulled out a string and taught them how to play "cat's-cradle." They were soon on the floor, happy as kittens.

"Now let me take that youngster, marm," he said, noticing that the baby wanted to be tossed all the time; "you look clean beat out. I guess I can please him. I'm a powerful hand with babies." In his big arms, the child crowed with delight until he fell asleep.

"'Taint nothin' at all, marm," he said, two hours later, as he helped the woman and her charges on board.

Buying a pint of peanuts from a little girl, and paying 12 cents instead of 10 cents, he munched in hearty enjoyment until his train was called.

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor, and the train started. "Something bright has gone out of this depot that doesn't come in every day," said one who remained—"an honest heart."—Success.

USE QUEER EXPRESSIONS.

Thieves Have a Language that Is Intelligible Only to Themselves.

Thieves have a language all their own, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It was created by them for their own particular use and is entirely unintelligible to the uninitiated. Some of them are as follows:

A policeman in uniform is said to be in "harness."

A policeman in civilian dress is called an "elbow."

"A graft" is that at which a lawbreaker is most proficient; for instance, cracking a safe or picking a pocket.

"Molly Buzzer" is a woman pickpocket.

"To work the shorts" means to relieve people of their valuables as they either alight from or board a street car.

A drunken person is known as a "dummy."

"One stitch" means one year in the penitentiary; "two stitches" means two years, and so on.

One who taps tills is designated as a "heeler."

The individual who has the faculty of learning the arrangement of a house to be robbed is known as a "house prowl."

Pickpockets are "dips" and "fanners" or "stallers" are assistants.

To "switch" is for one thief to transfer to an accomplice whatever plunder he has secured.

"When a town is on fire" a "crook" means that a city or location is not fertile in valuables, or that it is best not to ply the trade because of the vigilance of the police.

When a thief has been frustrated in a design he is said to have had a "fall."

The individual who is an expert in removing bills and papers from a purse or pocketbook without extracting the pocketbook is called a "weeder."

A "wire" is another term for pickpocket.

A safe or hiding place in which valuables are hidden or stored is known as a "register."

A clucking sound made by one thief to another implies that he wishes the booty to be divided.

Human Food from a Lily.

A wonderful reserve fund for the human appetite is to be found in the vegetable diet of the Klamath Indians. A novel variety of food forming a menu unknown to the civilized is offered in the pulp of the great yellow water lily, which is converted into a farinaceous food; in the weed known as goosefoot, which bears a black seed that is ground up for loaves and cakes and in the arrowhead, which in the fall develops a starchy white tuber at the end of the roots.

Where Cooks Get Credit.

At Queen Victoria's table an odd custom, which originated at the time of George II., is preserved. As each dish is placed upon the table the name of the cook who prepared it is announced.

Boarding a Horse at Sea.

A horse on board ship eats ten pounds of hay, five pounds of oats, five pounds of bran and one-half ounce of nitre. His drinking allowance is half a gill of vinegar and eight gallons of water.

Age No Bar on Diplomats.

There is a movement on foot among foreign powers to do away with the limitation of age of ambassadors, making the tenure of office depend solely upon a man's capabilities.

Shanghai Growing.

Since the war of 1894 the Chinese population of Shanghai has grown from 400,000 to 700,000. The attraction lies in the many new industrial establishments.

The General's Wife Involved, and Both, Together with Her Lover, Pledge Themselves to Go Into Exile and Never Return Home.

The war in South Africa has brought prominently to the front the name of an officer, Maj. Gen. Sir William Gatacre, who is bound by one of the strangest of vows, never to return to England alive, and thereby hangs a story that has never been equaled in fiction or in fact.

GEN. GATACRE.

Three persons took this solemn pledge. They all used the same words—"I do hereby solemnly pledge myself not to return to England alive." One of these persons was Col. Gatacre, another was Col. Gatacre's wife, who died recently in Southern California; the third person was Capt. Fitzgerald, formerly of her majesty's service, now a resident of America.

Some years ago Col. Gatacre was ordered to Dublin to take command of the Eighty-eighth Connaught Rangers, then stationed in that city. He took with him his beautiful young wife. She became a favorite with society. Military society is always at a premium, and a military belle is the belle of belles. Mrs. Gatacre became a military belle, and the next thing to it, a military "toast." Col. Gatacre himself was popular in his dignified way—a calm, stern man, scrupulously technical in his observance of the station he occupied and of those with whom he associated.

There was a handsome guardsman, Capt. Fitzgerald, in one of the Dublin regiments, and before a great time had elapsed gossip had associated his name with that of Mrs. Gatacre. Col. Gatacre ultimately heard of it and immediately sought an interview with his wife. The interview was substantially like this:

"I am informed, madam, that you are in love with Capt. Fitzgerald. Is it true?"

"It is true."

"I thank you for your candor. It will prevent any unnecessary complications. It may preclude the necessity of my killing Capt. Fitzgerald. That will depend, of course, upon his being equally candid, and by both of you being willing to abide by the terms I shall make for all three of of us."

FITZGERALD AND MRS. GATACRE.

"What are the terms, Col. Gatacre?"

"That Capt. Fitzgerald shall leave the country immediately and take you with him."

"And you?"

"I shall leave England forever."

"Your commission in the army?"

"That can be arranged—I will be transferred to a colonial post. Denied this favor from my sovereign, who alone is left me to serve, I shall resign my commission and go abroad, an outcast unranked by my country, as I am otherwise degraded by my wife."

"I am sorry. I could not help it. I will do anything you ask, and I shall pray for your forgiveness when I am gone away. Or I will stay and let—let Capt. Fitzgerald go. I will stay—or, better still, I will go with you."

"You will go with Capt. Fitzgerald, and as far away from me as he can take you. You must both pledge yourselves never to return to England alive. Tell him this for me. Tell him also if ever I see him again I shall kill him. That is all. It is our good-by—my good-by to you."

The departure from England of all three principals was freely accepted as an alternative to remaining in Dublin to furnish scandal for the gossips. So Capt. Fitzgerald settled his business affairs in Dublin, converted his estate into cash, and, in company with Mrs. Gatacre, went to Southern California, where he bought a handsome home and settled down. The story of the affair followed them and society made things uncomfortable for them. Capt. Fitzgerald then purchased an orange grove at Durate, and there the two lived in comparative seclusion. But the woman did not long survive. Capt. Fitzgerald married again and is still living in California. Col. Gatacre went to India and wrapping himself wholly in the cloak of martial ambition, won honors and promotion.

Saving His Liver.

The London Outlook, among som fragmentary data in connection with the African war, gives more information as to Mauser bullets. The writer is a woman who helped the doctors in dressing wounds. She says:

The work of the bullet is wonderfully clean. A man had had one through the neck, apparently without serious damage. Another had his forehead pierced. Again, a bullet found its way harmlessly through the stomach, and another passed into the bone of a leg and out again without causing breakage. The men described a shot as resembling a heavy blow from a sledge-hammer, and sometimes declared that they could keep on fighting for several minutes after being hit.

One case, where the bullet had gone through the lower part of the lung, puzzled the doctors very much; for they failed to understand how the liver had been avoided.

"I think you must be a total abstainer," said the doctor to the Gordon Highlander.

"I am sir," he replied.

"Well, that is what saved your life."

Abstemtion from liquor had kept the liver so contracted that it had escaped the line of the bullet

E LATE DR. KEELEY.

Fortune of $1,000,000 Out of His Liquor Habit Cure.

slie E. Keeley, who achieved d fortune by his gold cure for the liquor habit and who died not long ago at Los Angeles, Cal., was a native of St. Lawrence County, N. Y., where he was born 68 years ago. He went through the civil war as an army surgeon and then settled down to the practice of medicine in the little town of Dwight, Ill. According to his own story he devoted all his energies to the study of drunkenness as a disease, and after numerous experiments devised what he termed a cure. He opened a sanitarium at Dwight and patients soon began flocking to it. Controversies raged about his cure. Many physicians scoffed at it. But the remarkable faith shown in him by a large majority who had taken his cure soon brought about a change in public opinion concerning him, and he became an object of respectful profesional consideration notwithstanding that his treatment was in part secret, in violation of the code of medical ethics.

DR. LESLIE E. KEELEY.

THE KEELEY TOMB.

The "graduates" of his institute formed a Keeley Association and held reunions, publicly proclaiming to the world their victories over the demon of intemperance through the gold cure. Some famous men were among them. Branch institutions were established and their members increased rapidly all over the country. It long since became apparent that in the gold cure Dr. Keeley had struck a gold mine. His estate was valued at $1,000,000.

RODE THE YUKON ON A BIKE.

Novel Trip from Dawson City Down the Frozen River.

R. P. McLennan, a prominent merchant and mine owner of Dawson City, recently rode a bicycle from Dawson City to White Horse Rapids in the Klondike, a distance of 380 miles, with the thermometer registering 40 degrees below zero. Mr. McLennan's ride was made in getting out of the Klondike on his way to Chicago. Only two men have ever before undertaken the journey on a bicycle over the 380 miles of frozen trail on the Yukon River. One of these was murdered on the road and his body has never been found. The other, a newspaper reporter, succeeded in making his way out last winter after suffering incredible hardships.

STARTING FROM DAWSON CITY.

Sweet Self-Forgetfulness.

The loss of personality! In that dread thought there lies, to most of us, all the sting of death and the victory of the grave. It seems, with that in store, that immortality were futile and life itself a mockery, says the Atlantic Monthly. Yet the idea, when dwelt upon, assumes an aspect of strange familiarity; it is an old friend after all. Can we deny that all our sweetest hours were those of self-forgetfulness?

The language of emotion, religious, aesthetic, intellectually creative, testifies clearly to the fading of the consciousness of self, as feeling nears the white heat. Not only in the speechless stark immobility of the pathological "case," but in all the stages of religious ecstasy, aesthetic pleasure and creative inspiration is to be traced what we know as the loss of the feeling of self. * * *

But not only the religious enthusiast and the worshiper of beauty "lose themselves" in ecstasy. The "fine frenzy" of the thinker is typical. From Archimedes, whose life paid the forfeit of his impersonal absorption, from Socrates musing in one spot from dawn to dawn, to Newton and Goethe, there is but one form of the highest effort to penetrate and to create. Emerson is right in saying of the genius: "His greatness consists in the fullness in which an ecstatic state is realized in him."

Prepared Food for Soldiers.

The success of the Germans in the war of 1870 has been attributed by experts to the conveniently carried prepared food supplied by the sausage makers of Berlin.

A quiet woman usually speaks in a commanding tone of voice.

THE AUBURN CO

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Cornelia P. Hogue deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 30th day of April 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there appear and make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 5th day of March, 1900.

FRANCIS A. HOGUE, Executor.

Notice to Non-Residents.

STATE OF INDIANA, DEKALB COUNTY. } ss.

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, March Term, 1900.

Adolph Frederick Okerlind, Ullrica Okerlind (his wife), John H. Miller, Charles Bruse, George G. Burrows, Frank W. Howes and Nathan Tarney are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against them in said court to foreclose a mortgage by State House Building Association, and that the same will be heard and determined on the 21st day of May, 1900, being the first juridical day of the next term of said court, which commences May 21, 1900.

Witness, the clerk of said court this 6th day of March, 1900. MICHAEL F. LONG, Clerk.

Brown, West and Lodge, Attorneys.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Mary A. Clark, deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 7th day of April, 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement account with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 10th day of March, 1900.

GEORGE W. CLARK, Executor.

Notice of Final Settlement,

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of James B. Bleeks, deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 7th day of April, 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 9th day of March, 1900.

GEORGE W. BLEEKS, Administrator.
J. E. & J. H. ROSE, Att'ys.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the judge of the DeKalb circuit court, of the state of Indiana, administrator of the estate of John Henney, deceased, late of said county.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JOHN S POTTS, Administrator.
March 12, 1900.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

Safe. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse dangerous substitutions and imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists.

CHICHESTER CHEMICAL CO.
2100 Madison Square, PHILA., PA.
Mention this paper.

PATENTS DESIGNS TRADE-MARKS AND COPYRIGHTS OBTAINED
ADVICE AS TO PATENTABILITY Notice in "Inventive Age" Book "How to obtain Patents" FREE
Charges moderate. No fee till patent is secured. Letters strictly confidential. Address, E. G. SIGGERS, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup.,' It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. many years by all druggists in the world. Sample bottles at O. P. RABER'S, Corunna.

A Four-Legged Criminal,

A mastiff was trained to assist thieves in Paris. It was in the habit of bounding against an old gentleman and knocking them over in the street. A "lady" and "gentleman"—owners of the dog—would then step forward to assist the unfortunate pedestrian to rise, and while doing so would ease him of his watch and purse.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says:"Exposure after measles indused serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my docters said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung trouble." Regular size 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at MCCORD'S Drug Store.

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches in diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & CO.

He Fooled The Surgeons.

All doctors told Renie Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on Earth, and the best Salve in the World. 25 cents a box. Sold by H. B. McCord, druggist.

Water Hard to Heat.

Water is the hardest of all substances to heat, with the single exception of hydrogen gas. The easiest two are mercury and lead, which stand in this respect on nearly the same footing.

The Appetite of a Goat

Is envied by all poor dyspeptics whose Stomach and Liver are out of order. All such should know that Dr. King's New Life Pills, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, gives a splendid appetite, sound digestion and a regular bodily habit that insures perfect health and great energy. Only 25 cents at any drugstore.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

the law of the land.

—A package of dry goods, left at the postoffice a few days ago, is at this office awaiting an owner.

—The grand jury of Marion county returned 275 indictments this term. In DeKalb county there was an even dozen.

—Mrs. Estelle Clark went to Waterloo this noon to visit a few days with her cousin, Blanche Kelley, and other friends.

—Don't stay at home on account of a cold. Keep on with your work and take Krause's Cold Cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Chauncy Baxter of near Hamilton was in town this morning. His father, the venerable Andrew Baxter, celebrated his 87th birthday today.

—Miss Alma May started for West Virginia today where she will remain for a time, at Buckhannon. She is engaged in the millinery business.

—A deed was filed in the recorder's office in Noble county last week that was signed by James K. Polk, president. It conveyed a quarter section of land in York township.

—Cal VanAuken, the granger surveyor, shipped a carload of potatoes of his own raising to Fort Wayne today. Mr. VanAuken is not only a good man with a surveyor's level, but also knows how to raise "taters."

—A cousin of Mrs. J. E. Rose, whose home is at Plymouth, Ohio, is expected here this week for a visit. He has been for some time in South Africa, but the recent unpleasantness brought him home to stay until the trouble is over.

—The civil suit of Boyd vs. Albright was settled today. Albright pays Boyd $100 and pays the cost of the suit. It will be remembered that Albright had already been punished for cutting down Boyd's fruit trees. This case is separate from that.

—Mrs. Joseph Truit has sold her residence, on south VanBuren street, to Frank Simanton, who lives down on the Allen county line. He is a carpenter and will move here about April 1. Mr. and Mrs. Truit will take a smaller house or rent rooms for a time, at least.

—"I strongly recommend Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup; it cured me of a throat and lung trouble of many years' standing."—Mrs. J. Bremen, Rifle, Colo. Cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, la grippe, pneumonia, whooping-cough, croup and consumption, H.B. McCord

Mrs. Mary Beecher Perkins, a sister of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, died at her home yesterday in Hartford, Conn., at the age of 94. Her half-brother, Thomas K. Beecher, died the same day at his home in Elmira, N. Y., at the age of 81.

—Don't neglect your business by going to bed on account of a cold. Krause's Cold Cure will break it up in 24 hours. Krause's Cold Cure will break up a cold while you work—not necessary to go to bed. The new way to cure a cold is by taking Krause's Cold Cure.

—NOTICE:—We have the most beautiful line of commencement program samples we have had heretofore, and at prices as reasonable as ever. Make your selections early. We take pleasure in showing samples. We recently purchased type especially for this class of work. w-Aug. 1.

—Mrs. C. E. VanDeusen, of Kilborn, Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says: "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These tablets are for sale at H. B. McCord's drug store. Price 25 cents. Samples free. 13

—A New York house that deals in ornaments for ladies hats and bonnets has just closed a contract with a syndicate of Delaware hunters, for the bodies of 20,000 birds. The price paid is 8 cents each for owls, black birds, sea gulls, red-winged blackbirds and crows. The slaughter is already begun and they are subletting the shooting to hunters all over the country.

—Thousands of testimonials could be furnished to prove what Lichty's Cough Cure has done in curing coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, throat and lung complaints, but by purchasing a 25c bottle you will be more quickly convinced that it is a medicine of rare excellence and one that you should always have in the house. It is warranted to cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State, was taken on Monday by Gen. French's division of Lord Roberts' army after a hot fight. The Boer army mostly escaped, but left more or less war material. President Steyne got away, but the members of his congress and the town officers remained, and most of the latter met Lord Roberts the next morning as he neared the place, and presented him the keys of the city. He was received in a friendly manner by all.

CROUP

Mothers, when your children are attacked by the dreadful croup, you need not despair; Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will relieve and cure them at once. You can always depend on this marvelous remedy; it always cures.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP
Will cure Croup without fail.
Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

McCORD.

—W. H. Bickel has the thanks of this office for his usual annual contribution to the COURIER.

—The prices of horses are now on the upward grade again and good young animals command a good figure.

—The Waterloo school board has decided to retain Superintendent Keep and Principal Smith of the high school next year.

—John Lochner got a fine snap-shot picture day before yesterday of the pioneer dames, who met at the home of Mrs. W. B. Brown.

—The big Lackey sale of trotting and pacing horses, held at Cambridge City this week, was very successful, good prices being realized.

—The COURIER'S job department is rushed with work It is always safe to expect good work when orders are placed with this office.

—The large flouring mill at Wolcottville was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The loss is heavy, partially covered by insurance.

—Frank Boyer and wife of Muncie were here today on their way to Kendallville where they were called by the illness of the former's mother.

—The Auburn Lumber Co., will hereafter keep a full line of building hardware, having put up a good sized addition to the office for that purpose.

—Baliff Husselman is raising a crop of beautiful Auburn (?) whiskers which are the envy of John Krontz, Frank Nicolai and other court house officials.

—FOR SALE:—Three or four fresh cows; pure-blood Jerseys. Call on me at the old Rakestraw farm, two miles west of Auburn.—G. W. RAKESTRAW.

—Christian E. Miser and Miss Bessie Allman were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Altona. They will make their home there for the present.

—John Buss, who resides north of town, was here yesterday with a regular Michigan pinery load of logs. He had only a team of two horses, but they hauled ten 14-foot logs.

—The first rural free mail delivery route in Noble county will be established April 2. It extends east and north from Albion and covers forty-two square miles of territory.

—Charles R. Hiner and Miss Sophia Kruse were married at the Lutheran parsonage last evening by Rev. Brosy. They will make their home on the groom's farm east of Auburn.

—There was a snow storm all over the southern states yesterday, beginning on the gulf. At the city of Washington it was several inches deep. At Waco, Texas, the fruit trees were in bloom; and of course the fruit was killed.

—Four generations of the Ward family had their pictures taken at Lybarger's today. The persons sitting are: Mrs. Laura Ward, Dr. Vesta Swarts, Dr. Willard Swarts and his little daughter, Irene. It will be an interesting keepsake.

—A swindler operated at Goshen the other day, by selling lubricating and harness oils as low as ten cents for a 75-cent can. Many purchased, to find that 90 per cent of the can was filled with saw dust. They found it out when the swindler had gone.

—The schoolmates and teacher of Sugar Grove school presented to Miss Ruby Crouse a fine volume of Whittier's poems and to her brother Charley, a volume of Wood's Natural History as a token of love and friendship, as they expect to depart soon for their western home.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn. Ind. 4tf

—Rev. James B. Tims, of Alickohi, Checotah Nation, I. T. says of Begg,s Blood Purifier, the great blood remedy and system regenerator: "Both myself and wife were entirely cured of bad case of scrofula by it." A guaranteed remedy, of sterling merit. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Though snowing here today like midwinter, Mrs. Weaver says that her daughter Della writes from Lewiston, Idaho, that she has already planted sweet peas and similar things. Of course they must be in a valley. We could not plant anything here with dynamite.

—But a few weeks ago but one candidate was mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination for governor of Indiana. There are now no less than half a dozen possibilities and several actual candidates. That there will be a contest in the convention there is no doubt.

Overton, Tex., Dec. 15, 1898.

I suffered for thirty years from gall stones. Treated with a great many physicans and have taken a large amount of patent medicines, but could find nothing that would relieve. Last April I began taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. Took nine bottles and have felt no pain or symptoms of gall stones since. D. R. Tucker.

For sale by Davenport the druggist.

The Best Salve in the World,

Is Banner Salve. It is made from a prescription by a world wide known skin specialist and is positively the most healing salve for piles, burns, scalds, ulcers, running sores and all skin diseases. H. B. McCord.

show

corner

zero at 6 o'clock this morning.

—S Shoemaker of near Helmer has moved to near Pleasant Lake and will now get his COURIER on a free delivery route, being the second person on our list.

—Too many people lose valuable time experimenting with cough and cold cures. They should take Foley's Honey and Tar before it is too late. H. B. McCord sells it.

—FOR SALE:—Three residences and one business house in town, and one hundred acres of land a half mile east of Auburn. All on reasonable terms. Call on C. Ashelman, city.

—Mrs. Cal Hosler and son, Jesse, of Fort Wayne, are here for a few days, the guests of the families of W. H. Buss and Geo. W. Everett. Mr. Hosler will arrive this evening.

—Mrs. Myrtle Stine of Lagrange has filed a suit against the B. & O. road for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, Fireman Stine, who was in the McCool wreck last November.

—Charles Crouse, who has been living on the old Shull farm southwest of town, will leave with his family in a short time for South Dakota, where they will make their future home.

—Michael Friend, an old and respected citizen of Jackson, died last evening about 5 o'clock, at the age of 81. The funeral is at Rehoboth at 10:30 tomorrow and burial here in Evergreen cemetery.

—Cal. Brown came up from Leo today on business and have a visit with his brother, W. B. Brown, before the latter goes to Colorado. Cal. is in charge of the Leo school and has been for some time.

—W. H. Zigler, who has been teaching Sugar Grove school, has resigned to accept the agency of the Deering Harvester Co. Mr. Jno. F. Moudy, an old and successful teacher, has been secured to finish the term.

—Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct the disorders and cure the headache. Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

—Charlie Hague is home for a few days to visit his parents. He is employed by the Bell Telephone Co. as a skilled electrician and travels over the state in the practical line of their work. For a time his duties have kept him at South Bend.

—LOST:—Bill-book, containing about $125 in cash, blank contract and letterhead of Madden Bros. with drawings, and two trading stamps. The party who was seen to pick it up in front of Brandon's cigar store will return and save trouble.

—Prof. M. H. Kasper, Evangelical Lutheran Seminary, Addison, Ill., writes:—I had been suffering for some time with severe pains in my lungs, and coughed almost constantly. One bottle Beggs' Cherry Syrup entirely cured me." It is guaranteed to cure, has never failed.—H. B. MCCORD.

—Moody and Rickel yesterday made an important deal in real estate, selling Dr. Nusbaum's 80-acre farm east of town to George O. Lotzenheiser, the consideration being $3,200. This is a good farm and the price is considered a very fair one. Moody and Rickel are doing a good business in the real estate line.

—Beware of a firm who constantly warns you about worthless imitations, etc. Their goods haven't the merit they should have and they wish to prejudice you against goods of real merit. Putman Fadeless Dyes are the brightest, fastest and best dyes in the world, and the only dyes that are sold on a positive guarantee. Sold by F. E. Davenport.

—Our readers will be interested in the experience of Mr. Will H. Slep, publisher of the Altoona, Pa., Mirror, who says: "I have been a sufferer from headache for many years and can cheerfully recommend Dr. Krause's Headache Capsules as being the only preparation that has given almost instant relief. Have been using them for about six months and have never yet been disappointed in them." Sold by H. B. McCord.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Home of Swamp-Root.

JUNO

The Peerless!

Elegant in Appearance,
Wholesome to the System

Are The Biscuits Made With

JUNO BAKING POWDER

The best Cream of Tartar Baking Powder made; not one trace of adulteration or injurious ingredient can be found in it. Recommended by all advocates of pure food laws. Remember the Juno, for it is the purest of the pure

JUNO THE PEERLESS!

We also make a cheaper Baking Powder, "CHUBB'S Cream of Phosphate," containing the phosphates which are lacking in white flour, and absolutely without alum or injurious ingredients.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Company
CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give her no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidney and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion builds up strength. Only 50c. Sold by H. B. McCord, druggist. Guaranteed.

—There is now in the Lake Shore system 4,566.19 miles of railroad, with a combined capital stock of $111,667,835. The Lake Erie and Western, which is the newest addition to the system, has 725 miles of road actually owned and 167 miles leased and operated.

A Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recomending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known baker of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug.' Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

—Atterney General Taylor has held that expenses for the burial of soldiers shall be paid by the county commissioners and from the county funds. The township trustee must take charge but the township is to be reimbursed by the county, as it does not come within the poor laws of the state.

Honest Medicine for Lagrippe

George W. Waitt, of South Gardiner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vender. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by H. B. McCord.

—A curfew bell has been placed in the belfry of the engine house at Waterloo, and the Press suggests it would be the proper thing for the business houses to close when curfew tolls the hour.

You Have Seen.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin advertised for months, but have you ever tried it? If not, you do not know what an ideal stomach remedy it is. A 10c bottle, 10 doses, 10 cents, will show you its great merits as a cure for constipation, indigestion and sick headache. Regular size, 50 cents and $1 at H. B. McCord's.

—In buying the right-of-way for its track to avoid the grade at Avilla, the B. & O. paid out something more than $13,000.

An Ounce of Preventive.

Is worth a pound of cure. Try a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and, if properly taken, it will positively prevent rheumatism or any other kindred trouble arising from a torpid condition of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Trial sizes 10 cents, other sizes 50c and $1 of H. B. McCord.

—Five prisoners sawed out of the county jail at Anderson Thursday night and have not been recaptured.

Going Down Hill.

People suffering from kidney diseases feel a gradual but steady loss of vitality. They should lose no time in trying Foley's Kidney Cure. It is guaranteed. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings, 2-story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettville, ¼ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning. Will sell part cash, balance time or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots, cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ⅓ its value, $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary; low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 64 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam, all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36. This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80-acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ½ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard. 45 acres cleared, cleared, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price. Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, bal cleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time, must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30-acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard, well, cistern, good fences, soilblack sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

No. 65. 8½ acres land 3 miles south of Butler, 3 acres timber, balance clear. Good land. Will sell at Bargain. Small payment down, balance on time.

No. 63. Brick residence; 8 rooms, two lots on 7th street, Auburn. Will sell on easy terms at a bargain.

No. 64. For rent, 240 acre of good, improved land, want first-class renter, to which will make desirable terms.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

—"I can highly recommend Begg's Hair Renewer as a pleasing restorative application for the hair and a sure cure for all scalp diseases." Mrs. J. Wheetle, Omaha, Neb. A thoroughly reliable preparation; endorsed by thousands. It will not disappoint. For sale at H. B. McCord's.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, March 29, 1900. | Number 13.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building, Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprciality.

Physicians D. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M. D
and SURGEONS
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets.
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 15 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,00
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McCLELLAN, ESTATE; CHARLES McCLELLAN; D. A. GARWOOD; ISAAC HAQUE. } C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots, AUBURN, IND.
☞Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed } Gas Administered.
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

Don't Read This... Advertisement

Unless You Want Something in the.....
Jewelry Line.
Just arrived a very few pieces of small....
Bric-a-Brac
Everything new in Jewelry. See our window.
D.A.Hodge,

Junk Wanted
Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays
Best Cash Prices
for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.

—Don't stay at home on account of a cold. Keep on with your work and take Krause's Cold Cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Court News.

The case of Bachtel yesterday to collect an account against Hershberger of Garrett failed on technical grounds.

Judge J. D. Ferrall of Lagrange was here today to try a case, and for a time two courts were running at once.

A good deal of the day has been used in making up issues and similar preparatory work.

Will Watts, who plead guilty a few days ago to stealing some furs from Mr. Greenburg, came into court today and received his sentence, which was, 90 days in jail, $5 fine and disfranchisement for five years. Young Blany, who was mixed up with Watts in the stealing, has not been apprehended.

But little business was transacted in court today, and the jurymen were given a rest until Monday, when the case the colored man, George Green, for shooting David Rowe, will be brought up for trial.

Cure of Rheumatism.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts afflicted and realizing instant benefit and entire releif in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain.—The Vindicator, Rutherfordton, N. C. For sale by H. B. McCord. 13

Have Right of Way.

The mail agents of the United States says an exchange, have the right of way at all times. The rule is applicable to rural and star route mail delivery. It is said that some residents of the country are not inclined to move out of the way when the mail buggy comes along. This is not the proper thing, because one of these fine days a deputy marshal may be hidden in the buggy of some rural delivery or star route man and there will be a trip taken to, perhaps, Fort Wayne, where there is a United States commissioner who will give orders for another trip which will be to Indianapolis to see Judge Baker.

Editor's Awful Plight.

F. M. Higgins, Editor Seneca, (Ill,) News, was afflicted four years with Piles that no doctor or remedy helped until he tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes two boxes wholly cured him. It's the surest Pile cure on earth and the best salve in the world, Cure guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by McCORD the DRUGGIST.

A Good Time.

It was a jolly crowd that gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stahl, it being her twenty-eighth birthday. After visiting a short time a most bountiful dinner was prepared by the ladies, who went with well filled baskets. Among those who ate dinner was the deputy sheriff, Will Beard, of Auburn.

Honest Medicine for Lagrippe

George W. Waltt, of South Gardiner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vender. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by H. B. McCord

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Home of Swamp-Root.

To Oppose Robinson.

What promises to be a lively fight for the democratic congressional nomination was set on foot yesterday afternoon at a conference of leaders in the northern counties, held at the New Aveline hotel. At this meeting it was decided to bring out one or more candidates for the nomination from the northern counties, and to try to centralize the anti-third term forces in the opposition to Congressman Robinson's renomination. This was the avowed purpose of the meeting, and the men behind the plan stated that the candidate or candidates would be announced within a week.

Those who attended the meeting were the Hon. John W. Hanan and the Hon. O L. Ballou, of Lagranpe; Dr. J. W. Morr and Henry D. Stone, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the Noble county committee; P. A. Sunday of Albion; Dr. W.H. Nusbaum, of Auburn, and Judge Stephen A. Powers, of Angola. The meeting was held behind closed doors and Mr. Hanan stated that no Fort Wayne men attended.

All of the gentlemen named left for home last evening, except Mr. Hanan, who remained over until this morning. Mr. Hanan was seen last evening and stated frankly that the purpose of the meeting was to settle on a candidate who would receive the support of the anti-third term and anti-Robinson democrats of the district. He said that the candidate had not been decided upon. "There may be one candidate and there may be more," he said, "and just who he or they shall be will be announced in the course of a week. We shall hold another meeting in the meantime, and decide who shall be brought out. At present I cannot say what name or names will be announced."

Three men were freely mentioned as probable candidates, and the choice, so far as information goes, may fall upon any or all of them. They are Mr. Ballou, of Lagrange; Dr. Nusbaum of Auburn, and ex State Senator Richard Klein, of Angola. Mr. Hanan stated that he is not and will not be candidate. "I am practicing law now, and am not in politics in the sense of being a candidate," he said.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, March 21.

W. C. T. U.

The papers gave an account of the murder of a little boy at Chicago a few weeks ago by a drunken father, crazed by the awful appetite of rum. The poor little soul pleading for his life, wanting to know what he had done, begging to be told that he might do it no more. This maniac—made so by the presence of the saloon, legalized and perpetuated by so called Christian men—applied the blows until life was extinct.

The above recalls an occurrence which took place here in Auburn. A drunken father took his three-years-old child into a bed room and whipped it unmercifully. The mother feared to call in any help, lest the neighbors would make her husband's brutality public, and cause increased trouble; but when she could not endure it longer, she called a neighbor. As the two women entered the room, the little helpless child, covered with welts and streaks of blood, was saying: "Papa, I will be dood, I will be dood."

The Youth's Companion gives the startling record of one of the most enlightened of American cities. Twenty-six thousand arrests for drunkenness a year and eight thousand imprisonments. It means one arrest to every four families. What it means to taxpayers may be reckoned from the fact that while the fines collected amounted to less than twenty-thousand dollars, the cost of maintaing the prisoners took from the public more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. The net cost to the city was, therefore, more than one hundred thousand dollars.

Carroll D. Wright, president of the American Statistical Association, says: "Every dollar received in revenue from the liquor traffic costs the government twenty-one dollars." He also states that twenty-one starve to death each year in New York, while nearly four hundred thousand dollars a day pass over the saloon bars for liquor. It is reported upon reliable authority that the United States' drink bill amounts to one billion four hundred million dollars. It requires two million boys from each generation to keep the saloons running.

D. L. Moody says: "What good does it do a man to get a college education, if at the same time he gets the drink habit? What good is the education in his head, if he goes out with the grip of the liquor demon in his throat.

Listen now to a statement that a Brooklyn magistrate has recently made: In eighteen months, thirteen thousand eight hundred were brought into the second division of the magistrate courts of Greater New York for drunkenness and five-thousand seven hundred and thirty-one for disorderly conduct, nearly all of whom were intoxicated.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE GOODS YOU'LL PREFER!

The spring merchandise most in request you'll find here. Clever values for us mean good values for our customers, and our spring stock now being received will well merit your interest, will bear out every assertion that this store, at all seasons is the satisfactory and economical store.

Men's heavy cottonade pants, pair, 50 & 75c
Boys' long cottonade pants, pair 50 to 75c
Boys' knee cottonade pants, pair 19 to 24c
Boys' wool knee pants, pair.....33 to 48c
Boys' all-wool pants.....50c
The best 25c men's shirt, double back and front, everybody else sells it for 40 or 50c. Ask to see it.
Men's heavy shirts, double neck band, the best shirt on the market for....50c
Ladies' ready-made wrappers, all sizes and all prices, cheaper than you can make them from.....73 to 98c
Mens' negligé shirts, with collars and cuffs, spring styles, best 75c shirt for 50c

LADIES' CORSETS
A complete line. The Jackson corsets are superior for their fit and ease. We have them from.....29 to 98c

The McKay common sense combination waist and hose supporter for children. We are sole agents for this supporter.

KID GLOVES
For Ladies. All the new shades for spring, every pair guaranteed, and every pair we fit before leaving the store..$1.00

LADIES' TAILOR-MADE SUITS
And ready made skirts, the new styles for spring, at prices that will surprise you. Ask to see them.

CARPETS.
This is a new line for us this spring and we have an elegant assortment of them in Axministers, Velvets, Brussels, and Ingrains. Prices ranging in all-wool ingrains, 45 to 65c. Brussels from 65 to 95c. See us on this line as we can save you money.

NEW FAD in photo frames the latest thing out. See our window. Prices ranging from 5 to 12c.

RIBBONS—Our stock for spring wear has arrived in all the new shades in taffety and fancy, all widths. We are strong on this line and prices to suit you.

THE NEW IDEA PATTERN—ANY STYLE, ANY SIZE—10c

HARDWARE—A full line of this merchandise on hand. White wash brushes 10 to 35c, paint brushes from 5 to 25c, scrub brushes 5 to 10c, stove brushes 5 to 10c, shoe brushes 10 to 15c, tack hammer 5 to 10c, hatchets 10 to 35c, hammer 10, 19 and 33c, cobbler's outfit—3 lasts, hammer, knife, awl needle, tacks—48c.

GROCERIES! GROCERIES!!

Pumpkin	8c can; 2 for 15c	Jackson Soap, 8 cakes for	25c
Mince Meat	9c box	Key Soap, 10 cakes for	25c
One pint Mustard can	10c	Santa Claus Soap, 7 cakes	25c
1 lb. Baking Powder	10c	A big brown piece of Soap, 12 inches long for	5c
1 lb. Soda	5c	Big Acma Soap	5c
Starch	per lb. 4c	Marrowfat Peas, 8c can; 2 for	15c
Rice, the best	5c and 8c lb.	String Beans 8c can; 2 for	15c
Lion Coffee	11c lb.	Corn 8c can; 2 for	15c
Arbuckles Coffee	12c lb.	Tomatoes 8c can; 2 for	15c
XXXX Coffee	11c lb.	Kidney Beans	10 can

The BAZAR STORE, AUBURN.

—Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct the disorders and cure the headache. Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

—The Wabash pay car passed over this division yesterday and the employes were all on hand to receive their shekels.

—Too many people lose valuable time experimenting with cough and cold cures. They should take Foley's Honey and Tar before it is too late. H. B. McCord sells it.

Every Month
there are thousands of women who nearly suffer death from irregular menses. Sometimes the "period" comes too often—sometimes not often enough—sometimes the flow is too scant, and again it is too profuse. Each symptom shows that Nature needs help, and that there is trouble in the organs concerned. Be careful when in any of the above conditions. Don't take any and every nostrum advertised to cure female troubles.
BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR
is the one safe and sure medicine for irregular or painful menstruation. It cures all the ailments that are caused by irregularity, such as leucorrhœa, falling of the womb, nervousness; pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. By regulating the menses so that they occur every twenty-eighth day, all those aches disappear together. Just before your time comes, get a bottle and see how much good it will do you. Druggists sell it at $1.
Send for our free book, "Perfect Health for Women."
THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO. ATLANTA, GA.

—Thousands of testimonials could be furnished to prove what Lichty's Cough Cure has done in curing coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, throat and lung complaints, but by purchasing a 25c bottle you will be more quickly convinced that it is a medicine of rare excellence and one that you should always have in the house. It is warranted to cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—A church exchange or sale was held at Columbia City today at which devil's food and angel food were among the articles offered. That's a rather queer combination.

—Mrs. C. E VanDeusen, of Kilborn Wis., was afflicted with stomach trouble and constipation for a long time. She says: "I have tried many preparations but none have done me the good that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have." These tablets are for sale at H. B. McCord's drug store. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. 13

—Reports from Dawson City say that little will be left of the Klondike metropolis after the homeward rush in May and June. Merchants are closing their places of business, and instead of every building being crowded, "To Let" signs are frequently seen. Business is dying, and most of the dealers are going to Nome.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn, Ind. 4tf —The state fee and salary commission will recommend to the next legislature that a bill be passed increasing the salary of the governor from $5,000 to $8,000 per year.

—Don't neglect your business by going to bed on account of a cold. Krause's Cold Cure will break it up in 24 hours. Krause's Cold Cure will break up a cold while you work—not necessary to go to bed. The new way to cure a cold is by taking Krause's Cold Cure.

—The annual state convention of Scottish Rite Masons will be held at Indianapolis next week.

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XXV.

We know some Auburn people who are working on an artistic design for a medal to be presented to the citizen who can bring proof that he, or she, has looked out of his back windows in the last four weeks and did not see a dog acting as scavenger in his back lot. There may be cases of this kind, and if so, they should have a medal. Or, what is as good, let us organize a society of such, and call it "The Fraternal Order of These the Dogs didn't Visit." Such a society would be small but very select.

Alluding again to the trouble Jonas Aldrich had over that $10 he could not account for, reminds J. C. Henry of a little incident that happened to him when he was younger. He was on a farm, and it came about that one of his horses lay down and died, without so much as saying "By your leave, Mr. Henry." So there was no help for it, but he must go and buy another. He had to pay $130, and gave his note for that sum. When the time for payment approached, he went one day on a "collector tour" among people he had threshed for, and succeeded in getting $120. Then he studied where he could get that other $10. Finally, he remembered a man with whom he had an unsettled account, and he struck him for the loan of $10 till settlement time came. This was all right, and he got it. But right here is where his trouble began. He had put the other $120 in his pocket book, and when he got the $10 he had his coat buttoned, and so slipped the $10 into his pants pocket, and went joyfully home. There he gave the pocket book to his wife, and having changed his clothes to do his chores, left the $10 hanging up with the pants, and dropped the matter from his mind. Next day he went to pay off his note, feeling satisfied with himself and all the rest of the township. He handed out his roll of bills, and took up his note. The other man counted the money. It was just $120, $10 short. Mr. Henry was amazed. He counted the money. Again the needed amount was not there by $10. Mr. Henry insisted that there must be some error some where, but he could not tell where, nor how it could have occurred. Then the men counted over the money again. But there was no change in the total. And so they studied and discussed. But all in vain. And they concluded at last to do as the judge in a difficult case sometimes does, "take the case under advisement." A few days later Mr. Henry had occasion to put on his Sunday pants, and found the $10 bill. And both men were so tickled over the joke that there was no lawsuit as in the later case of Aldrich

C. C. Neidig of Fairfield is now a man of mature years, but enjoys a reminiscence of the earlier years, as do nearly all of us. Here is a case in point: When he and his younger brother were young men, their mother was the proud owner of a $10 bible, which it pleased her greatly to read, and which she was anxious her sons should also profit by. But it was in the German language, her mother tongue, and the young men, as is often the case, were using only the English. In order to encourage them, not only to read the scriptures, but to learn the good old German tongue, she told them that the one who could read and understand that bible first should have it. Both entered on the contest with spirit and good will. But the youngest brother hunted up a nice, highly educated German girl, and under such a teacher of course, progressed rapidly in his German lesson. He got the bible and the girl.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50cts., guaranteed, at H B. McCord's Drugstore.

Lively Smashup.

Deputy Sheriff Will Baird did not tell us about his smashup and runaway the other day, but he had a narrow escape that is worth telling. He had gone up into Fairfield Monday to get some witnesses in the Shellhouse case, and in going down one of the slippery hills, the team took fright and ran. The whole outfit went crashing among some trees in a general wreck, and it was almost a miracle that the officer lived to tell the story. Wm. Stahl was at hand and saw the whole affair and helped to save what was left of things. He says one horse was able to boast of a bridle and the collar. The other had the collar and only a part of the bridle. However, Billy had the luck to be invited in at Martin Stahl's to the big dinner spoken of elsewhere.

OBITUARY.

Daisy E. McCrory Morr, wife of Lancaster Morr, was born November 17, 1878, and departed this life March 20, 1900, at the age of 21 years, 4 months and 3 days. On the 23rd day of February 1898 she was united in marriage to Lancaster Morr. Thus after a little over two years of married life, death separated this happy union. A beautiful life just in the bloom of young womanhood, has been cut off, only to live in the memories of her friends. Her sun, which seemed so bright and hopeful, went down while yet in the morning of life. Nearly five years ago Mrs. Morr became a christian and united with the Grove Bethel M. E. church. Since that time she has lived a faithful christian life, though not able to attend church services on account of ill-health. In the closing hours of her life she was trustful and patient and died in the triumphs of living faith in Christ, and left the comforting thought for her friends, that she has gone to live with Him who gave Himself for her on the cross. She was a loving daughter and happy companion, possessing a kind disposition and was loved by all who knew her life. She was a great lover of music, and during the years of declining health she spent many happy hours at the organ singing thhe gospel songs of her choice. She leaves to mourn her early death, a husband, a mother, one brother, besides a host of friends.

Dearest loved one we must lay thee,
In the peaceful grave's embrace;
But thy memory still we cherish,
Till we see thy heavenly face.

The funeral services were conducted from the Grove Bethel church this forenoon at 10 o'clock. Interment took place in Evergreen cemetery; J. D. Brosy officiating.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard-st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at H. B. McCord's drugstore, every bottle guaranteed.

Farm House Burned.

The fine farm home of 'Squire Elias Fisher, a short distance west of Altona, was totally consumed by fire this afternoon. As No. 8, the B. & O. express came into Garrett the trainmen reported passing the fire at 2:30 and saw the roof fall in. We did not learn the origin of the fire or the amount of insurance. It is a heavy loss on a worthy and hard-working man.

It's Easy To Take

Thin, pale, anæmic girls need a fatty food to enrich their blood, give color to their cheeks and restore their health and strength. It is safe to say that they nearly all reject fat with their food.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

is exactly what they require; it not only gives them the important element (cod-liver oil) in a palatable and easily digested form, but also the hypophosphites which are so valuable in nervous disorders that usually accompany anæmia.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is a fatty food that is more easily digested than any other form of fat. A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health. You can get it in this way.

We have known persons to gain a pound a day while taking it.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

HUMOR OF THE WEEK

STORIES TOLD BY FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

Odd, Curious and Laughable Phases of Human Nature Graphically Portrayed by Eminent Word Artists of Our Own Day—A Budget of Fun.

"I wish we was all over in Kimberley," said little Willie.

"Why?" his mamma asked.

"I heard papa reading last night that bread cost nearly half a dollar a loaf there, so I guess they wouldn't try to keep a person from filling up on cake!" —Baltimore Times.

Mexican Sarcasm.

La Gaceta, a paper published in Guadalajara, Mexico, part in English and part in Spanish, prints in a prominent place the following:

A CARD.

Will the gentleman who embraced my wife at the entrance to the post-office about 9 o'clock Thursday evening please send me his photograph for my album of heroes? He will greatly oblige. J. I.

"A Popular Heir."

A Distinguished Character.

"That's an imposing-looking woman over in the corner."

"Yes; she's the president of a parrot club."—Chicago Record.

Caution.

"Young man," said Uncle Jerry Peebles, "how do you pronounce that?"

"Tabbledy hote, sir," replied the waiter, a recent importation from Skedunk.

"Correct," rejoined Uncle Jerry, nodding his approval. "Bring me that."—Chicago Tribune.

What a Palatable Dish!

"Will you have oysters?" asked the man, glancing over the bill of fare.

"Yes," said the short little woman, as she tried in vain to touch the floor with her toes. "And, John, I want a hassock."

John nodded, and, as he handed his order to the waiter, he said: "Yes, and bring a hassock for the lady."

"One hassock?" asked the waiter, with what John thought more than ordinary interest, as he nodded in the affirmative. Still the waiter did not go, but brushed the table cloth with a towel and rearranged the articles on it several times, while his face got very red.

Then he came around to John's side, and, speaking sotto voce, said: "Say, mister, I haven't been here long, and I'm not up to all these things. Will the lady have the hassock broiled or fried?" —Philadelphia Bulletin.

Quantity Rather than Quality.

"Why do you think he isn't much of a criminal lawyer?"

"He completed his speech in three hours, when he might just as well have strung it out for as many days and added several hundred dollars to his bill." —Chicago Post.

Willing to Lose Herself.

"There is one thing can be truly said of Miss Ogler; she is self-possessed."

"True, but I'll bet you she wishes she wasn't."—Boston Courier.

Absent-Minded.

Wickwire—Look here! This is the fourth time this morning you have been in here asking for the price of a meal.

Dismal Dawson—Yep. I am the absent-minded beggar, don't ye know.—Indianapolis Press.

His Words Rang True.

He—To prove the sincerity of my intentions, I have brought this solitaire adornment for your engagement finger.

She—I must say, my friend, that your speech has the true ring.—Boston Courier.

The Seasoning.

Mr. Tenderfoot—This bear meat seems very highly spiced.

Cactus Charley—It ought to be, pardner. That's a cinnamon bear steak.—Baltimore American.

A Game of Checkers.

1—Mr. Blackboard: Dar oughter be some game in disher log.

2—Bear: There is! The game is checkers, and it's your move.

Of a Truth.

"Seven dollars and fifty cents for a book like that!" exclaimed the young man, putting his purse back in his pocket. "Why, that costs like sin."

"My young friend," said the elderly book agent, "there is nothing that costs like sin."—Chicago Tribune.

Useless, if Stationary.

"Yes, your highness," said the aide, "and shall I post this proclamation in a conspicuous place?"

"No," replied Aguinaldo, "you'd better have enough copies printed to give one to each man, so that all who run may read."—Philadelphia Press.

The Roundabout Way.

"You have three brothers, haven't you?" he inquired.

"Yes," she answered. "Why?"

"Oh, I was just wondering if you would like to make me a fourth."

"I'm very sorry," she replied, "but I will be a wife to you."—Philadelphia North American.

Next!

Miss Goldrox—You didn't seem to have much regard for Count Spaghetti. What do you know of him?

Mr. Pepprey—Nothing of my personal knowledge, but some of my friends used to know him quite well.

Miss Goldrox—Then you never met him before?

Mr. Pepprey—Oh, no, I've always shaved myself.—Philadelphia Press.

Impossible.

"We can be friends," she said, softly.

"Then we can never be man and wife," he answered, dismally.—Philadelphia North American.

Would Bring Them All.

"I can't pay that bill now."

"If you don't I'll tell all your other creditors that you have paid it."

Kite Draws Sparks from Snow.

William A. Eddy, at Bayonne, on a recent occasion made his first electric test in a blizzard, by sending aloft a six-foot single plane kite during the heavy gale and dense snowfall, sustaining in this way a steel wire at a considerable height. So severe was the gale that the kite was repeatedly borne down to within about fifty feet of the earth, but it always recovered its position aloft. The falling snow dimmed the kite, but did not overweight it. At 5 p. m. the electric connection with the steel wire was severed from the grounding rod, when the hissing sound of the brush discharge could be plainly heard, followed by a one-inch spark. Mr. Eddy says that the electrical activity with the kite at so moderate an altitude was the greatest he has ever experienced. It was as powerful as if a thunderstorm were near by. At the time the steel was paid out it was made to run through an iron snaphook tethered by a chain to a rod driven into the ground. This was done by Mr. Eddy to lessen the danger from severe electric shocks.

In Mourning.

"What! back again!" exclaimed the young housekeeper, "you can't expect me to give you cake every day."

"No, lady," replied the poor beggar, "I thought maybe you had an old suit of black clothes you might give me. Me poor ole mother eat the cake you gev me yestid'y."—Philadelphia Press.

The Optimistic View.

"You're a shocking sight! He broke your nose, didn't he?"

"Yes, but if he had struck me an inch higher and a little to the right or left he would have broken my eye-glasses, and that would have been $2.50."—Chicago Tribune.

And Incompatibility.

"You want a divorce from your husband, madam? On what ground?"

"Excessive cruelty. He abuses Fido." —Chicago Tribune.

"The Absent-Minded Beggar."

First beggar—Hi, there, pal, you've got y'r signs mixed this mornin'.

Second ditto—What's wrong wid 'em?

"Wrong? Why, you chump, that card says 'Blind.' You're deaf 'n' dumb."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Trying to Scare Her.

"Ma, our old cat likes a joke."

"What makes you think so, Jimmy?"

"'Cause, when she ketches a mouse she allus brings it to you."—Indianapolis Journal.

Strange.

Undertaker—How's business?
Shoemaker—So, so. How's yours?
Undertaker—Dead.

Ties that Bind.

"I thought you and Dorinda were perfectly inseparable.'

"We were, but—don't you know—it was just a society friendship."—Indianapolis Journal.

Reflex Disarmament.

"The Transvaal war is full of surprises."

"That's so. Whenever I try to talk about it I run against somebody who has read more about it than I have."—Indianapolis Journal.

Strategy.

"Oh, mamma!" exclaimed little Arthur, all out of breath, "I've just been playing with the Goodwin children, and they have the measles at their home. Now can I eat all the cake I want to? 'Cause you know I'm going to be sick anyway."—Chicago Tribune.

Proof Wanted.

"I could die for love of you!" said the rich old suitor.

"Yes; but would you?" queried the practical maid.—Chicago News.

Another Change Likely.

Miss Breezy—I see she's married again.

Miss Lakeside—Yes; this is her seventh, and I don't think she cares very much for him.

Miss Breezy—No?

Miss Lakeside—No. It was at the engraver's to-day where she left her order for her new visiting cards. She only ordered fifty.—Philadelphia Press.

THE SCOURGE OF THE CENTURY

Hundreds of Infected Coolies Shot Down. Thousands of Homes Laid Waste by Fire in Efforts to Stamp Out Epidemics.

PLAGUE BACILLI UNDER MICROSCOPE.

Though Many Times Declared to be Suppressed the Bubonic Curse Continues Its Terrible March around the Globe.

BUBONIC plague—the dreaded "black death" of the Orient—will never get a foothold in the United States, or in any other civilized country where modern methods of sanitation prevail. This is the assertion of Surgeon General Wyman of the United States army and it is indorsed by medical experts generally. So far as known only two cases of genuine bubonic plague have been found in the United States. These were brought into New York last fall on a steamer from Santos, Brazil, where the disease is now epidemic. There was considerable alarm when the fact of the presence of the plague was known, but this quickly passed off when it became evident that the quarantine regulations in this country are such that it is almost impossible for a disease of this nature to spread. Since then vessels have been continually arriving from Santos, but no new cases of the plague have developed.

PLAGUE PATIENT, BOMBAY HOSPITAL.

"So far as the United States is concerned," says Surgeon General Wyman, "there is absolutely no danger of a bubonic plague invasion. The plague is essentially a dirt disease; it cannot thrive where the people are cleanly, and well-nourished; or where modern methods of sanitation prevail. It is found in its worst stages in lands like India and China, where the natives are dirty in their personal habits; where the very soil is saturated with filth; where there is an utter lack of anything like sanitation even of the crudest kind, and where the people's bodies, weakened and emaciated by lack of proper food, invite disease."

Most Deadly of Diseases.

Under the conditions obtaining in the Orient, the bubonic plague is the most virulent and deadly of diseases. The symptoms manifest themselves in from twelve hours to twelve days after the system absorbs the disease; the usual period being about four days. At first the patient complains of high fever, a swelling of the glands of the thigh and groin, and sometimes of the neck, and finally becomes delirious. The crisis is reached in from two to eight days, generally in forty-eight hours. If life can be prolonged for five or six days the chances of successful treatment are greatly increased. As a rule, however, little can be done to save the natives of the countries where the plague is epidemic. A few of the well-nourished ones escape; of the rest death claims an average of from 50 to 100 per cent. of the total number of cases. This fearful mortality is best shown in the following figures, furnished by Dr. Wyman: Bombay, cases 220,907, deaths 164,083; Hong-Kong, cases 1,600, deaths 1,541; Formosa, cases 2,468, deaths 1,866. Strangely enough this death rate varies greatly according to nationalities. From statistics obtained during the prevalence of the plague in Hong-Kong the following official showing is made, the percentage being based on the total number of cases reported: Chinese, 93 deaths out of every 100 persons attacked with the disease; East Indians, 77 out of every 100; Japanese, 60; Eurasians, 100; Europeans, 18. This small relative percentage of mortality among Europeans is attributed to better blood and stamina, and to the success of treatment in the early stages of the disease, the intelligence of the European leading him to call in a physician at the first sign of trouble, while the ignorance and prejudice of the Orientals prompt them to conceal themselves and reject medical aid.

An interesting suggestion as to the cause for the great prevalence and mortality of the plague in India and China is offered by Dr. Charles W. Dabney, Jr., who attributes it to the fact that the people, when fed at all, live almost entirely upon rice and other grains which contain very little protein, meat or fish being rare articles of diet, while wheat, oats, Indian corn and rye, all of which are richer in protein than rice, are unknown. In other words, the bodies of these natives lack proper nourishment.

Methods of Contracting Plague.

Medical scientists have determined that bubonic plague may be contracted in three ways—by inoculation through an external wound or abrasion, by respiration (breathing air laden with the plague germs), and by introduction into the stomach of food or water that has become infected. Contrary to the general belief, the disease is not infectious or contagious in the ordinary manner. A person might even sleep in a bed occupied by a plague victim, or wear clothing taken from his body, and yet escape infection, provided there were no wounds or abrasions on the skin in which the disease germs could get lodgment. Even the breath of a patient is not necessarily poisonous, the greatest source of danger being in the discharges from the swellings. All this being granted, the question will naturally arise, Why, then, should the disease rage so among the Orientals? The assertion that the plague is not usually infectious or contagious in the ordinary way applies only to people who are ordinarily cleanly in their habits. To those acquainted with the Oriental no further explanation is necessary. Once the plague gets a foothold among East Indians or Chinese coolies it is almost impossible to check it, except with the extermination of the population affected. Russia has adopted heroic methods in dealing with the plague in its Chinese colonies. All those affected are taken out and shot. "It saves trouble and other people's lives," the Russian grimly remarks.

The conditions of environment favoring the plague are similar to those that encourage typhus fever, namely, density of population, bad ventilation and drainage, impure water, imperfect nourishment, and inattention to sanitary requirements.

It is said of this disease, as of yellow fever, that human habitations and the soil may become so thoroughly infected as to establish endemicity, or regular recurrence of the disease. The bacillus will infect food and water, though how long it will retain its virility in water is as yet undetermined. Heat and moisture, darkness, and the presence of organic matter, vegetable or animal, especially if in a state of decomposition, furnish the ideal conditions for the propagation of the plague bacilli. Light, dryness and heat are fatal to the germs. The bacilli are killed by direct sunlight in three or four hours, and in a dry room at ordinary temperature in three or four days. A temperature of 170 degrees Fahrenheit kills the germs in five minutes, and solutions of corrosive sublimate, sulphuric acid, or hydrochloric acid have the same effect.

Treatment of Plague Patients.

The consulting committee of public health of the French Government has framed the following rules for the treatment of patients:

A patient stricken with plague should be isolated and kept in a state of the utmost cleanliness, the persons charged with his care alone to have access to him. The attendants should observe the following precautions: To take neither food nor drink in the sick-room; never to take food without washing the hands with soap and a disinfecting solution; to rinse the mouth from time to time, and always before eating, with a disinfecting solution; carpets, curtains, rugs and other furniture to be removed from sick-room; cloths, coverings and mattresses to be disinfected by steam or boiling at the conclusion of the case, or as often as they accumulate; the floor of the room to be washed daily with a disinfecting solution.

To a French physician, Dr. Yersen, belongs the honor of having discovered a remedy for the plague. Dr. Yersen was a student of the Pasteur institute and a believer in the serum treatment. At Amoy, China, in 1896, he first put his theories into practice by using the serum from an immunized horse upon cases of a severe type. He treated twenty-three cases in this manner, all of whom recovered excepting two, whose cases were desperate from the outset. Since that time the Yersen method has ben tested until its efficacy is now incontestable. A French commission which has been investigating the plague at Oporto, Portugal, reports that in cases treated with the serum the mortality was only 14 per cent., while in those not treated it was at least 70 per cent. In a case in Bombay a European family resided, with a numerous retinue of native servants, in an infected portion of the city. The little daughter of the family was stricken with the pest in a virulent form; was treated with the serum, and made a rapid recovery. As a precautionary measure the whole family were subjected to inoculation, and the same measure of treatment was offered to the native domestics. Some accepted and escaped infection, while six who declined on the ground of religious scruples were all stricken and five died. A more crucial test could not have been devised.

The bubonic plague, Dr. Wyman asserts, is the same old plague that for centuries past has made its appearance at intervals in various countries to claim its tribute of thousands upon thousands of human lives, and which has been known in turn as the Levantine, Oriental and black plague, and black death. The mere index to the literature on the subject—a simple enumeration of titles with authors—covers forty pages in the index catalogue of the library of the surgeon general's office of the United States army.

Of late years, with the advance of civilization and the adoption of intelligent systems of hygiene, sanitation, quarantine, and medical treatment, the field of the plague has been narrowed year by year, until now it is almost exclusively confined to countries like India and China, with occasional outbreaks in such ports as Santos, Brazil, where the conditions are fully as inviting for an epidemic as they are in the Orient.

In view of the alarm caused by the appearance of the plague at various places in Europe last June, July and August, an international congress of public health bodies were called to meet at Brussels on Sept. 4, when the progress of the pestilence throughout the world and measures for its suppression were discussed. Many valuable experiences in quarantine measures, disinfection and treatment of the disease were related. At this conference the history of the pestilence, under the various names by which it has ben known at intervals during many centuries—as Levantine, Oriental, bubonic and "black death"—was gone into at length. The present species of plague was declared from comparisons to be similar to and to have the same derivation as the epidemics which periodically have depopulated vast regions of the world, beginning as early as 500 years B. C.

Fighting the plague with fire and death—quick obliteration of human beings at the gun muzzle and the utter extinction of dead bodies in the ashes of funeral pyres—is an excess of horror in connection with the progress of the dread black bubonic scourge. The custom of the disposal of bodies of plague victims by the Russian army officials in Manchuria is invariably that of incineration. Between July 6 and 15 last over 300 coolies employed on the railroad work near Newchwang, who became infected by contact with coolie laborers shipped from Hong Kong, and who disclosed unmistakable evidences of having the plague in its first stages, were rounded up and shot by the Cossack soldiers employed in guarding the camps. Their bodies were piled on logs, saturated with petroleum and burned.

In efforts to stamp out the disease in Honolulu the officials burned every building in the infected district. The total expense of the plague in Honolulu up to March 1, including the value of the property destroyed, was estimated to reach $1,000,000.

The Plague in History.

The plague prevailed in Athens in 432-429 B. C. and reappeared eighteen months after it was thought to have been stamped out.

In the third century B. C. pestilences swept away countless numbers in Egypt.

Livy records a great plague that destroyed millions in various parts of Africa in the third century B. C.

In 542 A. D. the plague spread over Egypt and reached Constantinople, where 10,000 died in a day. In the same century it ravaged Italy and Northern Africa.

In the seventh century the plague invaded England and claimed scores of victims.

In 1270 it appeared in Cairo and Constantinople, spread, and became epidemic.

In the fourteenth century the pestilence came from Arabia and swept Egypt, Armenia, Asia Minor, Northern Africa and nearly all Europe. Hecker, the historian, estimates that it claimed 25,000,000 victims in Europe during the century.

In 1466, 40,000 died from plague in Western Europe.

In 1572 pestilence swept away 50,000 people in and near Lyons, and in 1576 more than 70,000 died in and around Venice.

In 1646 the plague depopulated Naples, claiming 300,000 victims in five months.

In 1654-55 London suffered ravages by the pestilence and 100,000 died.

In 1720 one-third of the people of Marseilles died and the following year 88,000 died in Toulon and the whole of Provence.

In 1743 nearly 50,000 died in Messina.

In 1771 the plague destroyed 50,000 lives in Moscow.

In 1835 Cairo again was visited by the plague and one-fifth of the people died.

Plague in Last Decade.

1890 and 1891—Sporadic cases in Tonquin and Hong-Kong.

1892—Carried to Lang-Tchu and Yun-Nan.

1893 and 1894—Epidemic at Tonquin, Hong-Kong, Canton, Lang-Tchu and Yun-Nan.

1895 to 1897—Sporadic cases at Yun-Nan and Lang-Tchu and along the Manchurian frontier; also in various parts of India.

1898—Plague becomes epidemic in Bombay and Calcutta, and famine paves the way for its renewed inroads along the Manchurian frontier.

June, 1899—Pestilence spreads rapidly in Hong-Kong, Bombay and Calcutta, and many cases appear at Rangoon and Singapore.

July, 1899—Epidemic at Port Arthur, Newchwang, Crefoo and Tien-Tsin, and plague spreads to Australia and Shantung.

August, 1899—Disease appears at Tokio and Kobe, in Japan, and at Chemulpo, in Corea; also spreads to Vladivostock and through Siberia, and becomes practically epidemic in Russian Province of Astrakhan.

November, 1899—Plague reaches Manila, and two cases are brought into port at New York.

December, 1899—Appears in Valparaiso and other Pacific South American ports, and breaks out in Honolulu and Noumed, New Caledonia.

January, 1900—Pestilence appears in Sydney, New South Wales and Nagasaki, Japan; also passes Cape Horn and reaches Rio Janeiro and Santos, Brazil; Rosario, Argentine, and the island of Cozumel, off the coast of Yucatan.

February, 1900—Epidemic breaks out afresh in Honolulu after being once almost stamped out; also spreads to other Hawaiian Islands.

HOW RUSSIA CURES THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

Unfortunate coolies suffering from the terrible disease are shot down without mercy by the Czar's soldiers.

PROGRESS OF THE PLAGUE ACROSS THE PACIFIC.

Uncle Eli's Fable.

As two jackals and a fox were traveling in company they came upon a dead chicken lying on the ground, and at once there was a quarrel between the jackals as to which should have the prize. They finally settled it by dividing the chicken between them, leaving the fox entirely out of the affair. An owl who had observed the proceedings asked the fox:

"But where do you come into this thing, Mr. Reynard?"

"Oh, I take my share in natural philosophy," replied the fox. "Firstly, that chicken was killed and placed here for an object. Secondly, the body was poisoned; and, thirdly, there go those jackals tumbling about and making their last kicks.

MORAL:

"And I may say further," observed Reynard, as he scratched his ear with his paw, "that when you are offered something for nothing it's a good idea to let somebody else sample it first."—New York Sun.

In Command for Once.

A man-o'-war was lying off Gibraltar, and permission was given to the men to go ashore for the day. The sailors amused themselves in various ways—among others by riding about on donkeys, and their want of experience in this line caused much amusement. An officer observing one of the men sitting back very far on the animal called out: "I say, Bill, get up more amidships!"

With an injured air he replied:

"Well, sir, this is the first craft I have ever commanded in my life, and it's hard indeed if I can't ride on the quarter deck if I like."—Answers.

Soil.

The pilgrim did not conceal the compassion he felt.

"How," he exclaimed, "do you manage to wring a living from such a poor soil?"

"Oh, our soil makes an excellent sandbag!" protested the dark, sinister inhabitant, regarding the other narrowly.—Detroit Journal.

DESIRABLE COUNTRY HOME.

House of Ten Rooms Conveniently and Economically Arranged.

The most convenient houses are those which are planned with special reference to the needs of the occupants and so as to avoid all useless expenditures, and we might add, those are the most pleasing in point of aspect for the simple reason that they clearly show the purpose for which they are built. I show herewith view and floor plans of a house of ten rooms, very conveniently and economically arranged, with an exterior conceived in a picturesque but chaste style of design, free from current extravagances. The effect obtained is hardly rendered by the illustrations on account of their small scale, but it is very prominent in the actual building and very readily felt as the eye is passed around the neighborhood wherein are houses of the usual type. The rooms are well shaped and proportioned to each other, and a general air of light and cheerfulness pervades the house.

EXTERIOR VIEW.

The building is set well above the grade and entered from the front by a porch into the sitting room or parlor. To the rear of the parlor and sitting room are two bed rooms, with a bath room between, and to the left of the sitting room is a good-sized kitchen and quite a large pantry thoroughly fitted up with shelves, bins, pastry table and cupboards. The kitchen has a portable range, with waterback and boiler, from which hot water is piped to kitchen sink and bath room. A cellar is provided under the house eight feet deep, containing furnace and fuel rooms and other apartments.

Going upstairs from the sitting room, or by back stairs from the kitchen, we land in a roomy hall, from which are accessible the five bed rooms on this floor. The interior of the house is trimmed in natural finished woods throughout. The cellar walls are of stone, eighteen inches thick. The walls above are of frame, 2x4 studding sheathed diagonal on the outside with shiplap sheathing and covered with half-inch siding, and plastered on the inside. The hardware on the two floors is of bronze.

FLOOR PLANS.

The painting outside is three-coat work in colors well selected. The house is heated by furnace. Dimensions are 48 feet wide by 40 feet deep, including projection of the front porch. The height of stories, 10 and 9 feet, respectively. The house can be built thus in most localities for from $2,200 to $2,500, according to style and quality of finish employed.—E. A. Payne.

One Tree in the Square.

In Nassau, the capital city of the Bahama Islands, they say "the tree in the public square," not the trees. Now, the public square of Nassau is quite as large as that of most cities of the size, but there is only one tree in it, and that tree literally fills the square and spreads its shade over all the public buildings in the neighborhood. For it is the largest tree in the world at its base, although it is hardly taller than a three-story house. It is variously known as a ceiba, or a silk cotton tree, but the people of the low islands of the West Indies call it the hurricane tree. For, no matter how hard the wind blows it cannot disturb the mighty buttressed trunk of the ceiba.

In the hurricane of last spring all the palms and many of the other trees of Nassau were overturned, but the great hurricane tree, although it lost all its leaves, did not lose so much as a branch. Its trunk throws out great curving, wind-like braces, some of them twenty feet wide and nearly as high. These extend into the ground on all sides and brace the tree against all attack, while the great branches spread a thick shade overhead. In the tropic sunshine of mid-summer hundreds, even thousands, of people may gather in the cool of its shadow. No one knows how old the great tree is, but it must have been growing hundreds, if not thousands, of years.—Washington Post.

The Lost Was Found.

They fell into conversation on the Avenue street car as men will to pass away the time, and when one of them happened to mention he was from Pittsburg the other turned to him with:

"Pittsburg, eh? Dear me, but how singular!"

"How do you mean, sir?" was asked.

"Why, I was in Pittsburg twenty-one years ago and lost 10 cents in a street car. I was thinking of the incident just before you spoke to me. I suppose you couldn't inform me whether the money was ever found, could you?"

"Why, yes; I believe I can. I found a dime in a street car about twenty-one years ago and have been looking for the owner ever since. Here it is. It must belong to you."

"Thanks. You are an honest man. Here are 2 cents to reward you."

The Pittsburg man pocketed the reward as the other pocketed the dime, and then they closed the incident and opened the Philippine question.—Washington Post.

Growing Its Own Ties.

The Big Four Railroad has planted a large tract of land in Indiana with quick-growing trees, which will be converted into cross ties.

New York Millionaires.

New York is said to have 800 millionaires.

You can't always measure a widow's grief by the length of her veil.

Backaches of Women are wearying beyond description and they indicate real trouble somewhere.

Efforts to bear the dull pain are heroic, but they do not overcome it and the backaches continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetble Compound

does this more certainly than any other medicine. It has been doing it for thirty years. It is a woman's medicine for woman's ills. It has done much for the health of American women. Read the grateful letters from women constantly appearing in this paper.

Mrs. Pinkham counsels women free of charge. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

From Factory to USER.

The MELBA

ONE Profit. Our HIGH ARM MELBA Sewing Machine has all the Up-to-Date Improvements, necessary Attachments and Accessories, with choice of oaken or walnut cabinet. Is furnished with the latest improved AUTOMATIC SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE. By one movement the shuttle is threaded ready for service. The MELBA has the latest TAKE-UP, Automatic BOBBIN WINDER, and a COMPLETE set of best steel attachments, carefully packed in a handsome VELVET lined case. Weight of the machine, weather wrapped and crated, is about 100 lbs. It is shipped at first-class rate. The freight will average about $1.00 within 300 miles of Chicago. The cabinet work is ornamental, the seven drawers and core are being HAND CARVED and highly finished, having the heavy NICKEL-PLATED Ring Drawer Pulls, etc. Each machine is carefully tested before leaving our factory. A MELBA sale to us means a new friend and customer for our general line of EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE; therefore we can afford to sell it on a close margin and fully GUARANTEE it for TWENTY YEARS. We will ship this machine C. O. D., with examination privilege, to any point in the U. S. on receipt of $3.00 with order. Price of 3-drawer machine, allowing $1 less, $16.00.

OUR SPRING CATALOGUE of 1,000 illustrated pages will be sent prepaid on receipt of 15 cents, which pays part of express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE.

Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH CO., 150-166 W. Madison St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Order by this No 200 K.

Planning to Paper This Spring?

There is nothing that will so COMPLETELY Transform your HOME in point of HEALTH and BEAUTY as our

SELECT WALL PAPER.

We carry ALL the latest designs at popular prices, from 2½ to 50 cents per single roll. Our large trade enables us to handle the complete line IN CARLOAD LOTS, hence we can price ALL grades surprisingly LOW. A full line of Samples sent, all charges prepaid, FREE upon request.

Our Spring Catalogue of 1,000 pages, illustrating some of the line in NATURAL COLORS, will be sent prepaid upon receipt of 15c, which pays part of the express charges, and will be refunded on receipt of your first order. This catalogue quotes wholesale prices on EVERYTHING you EAT, WEAR and USE.

Established 1867. JOHN M. SMYTH COMPANY, 150 to 166 West Madison St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Order by this No. 200 K.

Valuable Premiums FREE!

Our method of advertising. Save the round trade-marks—one on every two-pound package of FRIENDS' Oats. They call for valuable premiums. If you are unacquainted with the premiums, we will mail you, postage free, an illustrated list comprising many handsome and useful articles.

Address manufacturers,

FRIENDS' OATS, Muscatine, Ia.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Positively cures coughs, colds in the chest or lungs and incipient consumption! Always reliable. It is splendid for children. Tastes good. Doses are small. 25c.

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

A Family Wedding-Ring.

The wedding ring of the Verney family, of Claydon, Buckinghamshire, is an enormous gold one, intended to be worn outside the thick military glove of the time of Charles I., and was used by an ancestor of Sir Henry Verney at the fatal battle of Edgehill. After the fight, when search was made for the gallant Verney, nothing could be found but a gloved hand, firmly clutched round the royal standard, and this ring still remaining on the finger. With this relic of their ancestor the Verneys solemnize their marriages, though, of course, a lighter circlet is substituted after the ceremony. The last marriage in which this ring was used was that of Sir Harry Verney to the sister of Florence Nightingale.

Teeth Made from Paper

Are the latest in dentistry. By a peculiar process they are rendered better than any other material. They may be fine, but most people would prefer their own, and this may best be accomplished by keeping the stomach healthy with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, as the condition of it affects the teeth. The Bitters will cure constipation, dyspepsia and biliousness.

At the Ananias Club.

"What is the subject of your next debate?"

"'Resolved, that lobsters are fish.'"

"Who does the talking?"

"We don't talk. We eat."

"But what do you do with the question?"

"Why, in order to be consistent from the Ananias point of view we let it lie on the table."—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

Gambling in France.

Gambling in France is said to have reached such proportions that the Government has begun to study the question seriously. It is estimated that half of the suicides in Paris are due to losses at the races.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE.

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, damp, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All druggists and shoe stores sell it. 25 cents.

A Mystery.

"It is a singular thing," soliloquized the philosopher who had been recently married, "that the weight of some biscuits should be equal to twice the weight of the ingredients of which they are composed."—Puck.

Rape and Speltz and Bromus.

Greatest, cheapest, richest food on earth these three make. Wonderful testimonials on same. See Salzer's Big Catalog, sent you for 5c postage and this notice. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. C N U

Crystal Sparklers.

Ida—Have you ever met these imported lords, with their one big glass stuck in their eye?

May—Often. But those I met didn't have the big glass stuck in their eye; they had it stuck in their shirt bosom.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

Mission Presses in China.

Last year the eight mission presses in China sent out 1,470,699 publications.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is an especially good medicine for Croup.—Mrs. M. R. Avent, Jonesboro, Texas, May 9, 1891.

Snowden, 3,500 feet, is said to be the highest elevation in Wales or England.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

Monroe was, even in his own time, called "a gentleman of the old school."

VITALITY low, debilitated or exhausted cured by Dr. Kline's Invigorating Tonic. FREE $1 Trial Bottle containing 2 weeks' treatment. Dr. Kline's Institute, 931 Arch Street, Philadelphia. Founded 1871.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Ali Ferrouh Bey, the Turkish minister to the United States, has obtained permission to take his harem to Washington. The Turkish minister to Stockholm, Sheriff Pacha, also took his wife to Sweden; but she was an Egyptian princess, the daughter of Halim Pacha. The prohibition to Turkish diplomatists to take their wives with them caused some time ago the suicide of Saadullah Pacha, Ottoman ambassador to Vienna for twenty years. He was separated from his wife and children, who remained at Constantinople. Being unable to obtain leave of absence to be present at his daughter's marriage, he committed suicide.

ALI F. BEY.

-:—:-

Four widows of revolutionary veterans are still on the pension roll, although the war of the revolution ended 120 years ago. They range in age from 83 to 99. Seven daughters of revolutionary soldiers are still drawing pensions. Of the $69,000,000 which has been paid in revolutionary pensions $20,000,000 was drawn by widows. One pensioned survivor of the war of 1812 remains. He is Hiram Cronk, 99 years old, and his home is in northwestern New York. The last pensioned soldier of the revolution did not die until 1869. He was 109 years 6 months and 8 days old. He lived in Freedom, N. Y. More widows than soldiers of the war of 1812 were pensioned. In that war 296,916 soldiers served sixty days or more. The pensioned were 30,000 soldiers and 35,000 widows. To the sole survivor of the war of 1812 the Government is now paying $193 a year, and to widows of that war $293,097.

-:—:-

Census taking is not the political picnic that many people imagine. Few appreciate the magnitude of the work. The eleventh census cost more than $11,000,000, and in the twelfth census an office force of more than 2,000 for about two years and a field force of over 50,000 for from two weeks to a month will be employed. Then, too, the Hollerith tabulating machines, by which the population is counted and the returns tabulated, make census taking a huge industrial process. The census office becomes a factory; the director of the census a captain of industry, who, if he is to be successful, must possess all the directive energy and genius for organization which characterise our most successful manufacturers and railroad presidents.

-:—:-

Senator Depew receives as large a mail as Senator Hanna, which is saying a great deal. Several times a day the pages distribute the mail in the Senate, and the pile on Mr. Depew's desk is almost mountain high. He is not only addressed in his official capacity as Senator by constituents who want favors, but his personal acquaintance is so large and his financial interests so great that his correspondence from these two sources alone would keep his stenographer busy. Mr. Depew is very systematic in disposing of his mail. He does not allow it to accumulate, and thus it does not become a burden to him. More invitations to deliver after-dinner speeches come to Mr. Depew than to any other Senator.

-:—:-

There is a movement on foot for the passage of a law requiring defendants in criminal cases in United States courts to furnish bail through surety companies rather than individuals. While there is very little bail forfeited in the Federal courts compared with the State and municipal courts, nevertheless there is always more or less trouble in this line and it is almost impossible to recover on a bail bond without legal proceedings. The same difficulty was found in recovering on bonds given by civil officers of the Government until the system of surety companies was introduced. No surety company has ever declined to pay a bond except in one instance, where a dispute as to liability occurred.

-:—:-

The condition of the negro in Washington has been made the subject of investigation by John W. Ross, who for twelve years has been one of the district commissioners. In the district government as officials, clerks and messengers are fifty negroes receiving annual salaries aggregating $28,000. There are forty negroes on the police force in various capacities drawing $31,400 a year, while there are 500 negro men and women in the school system as teachers, whose yearly pay is $290,000. These, with the negroes in various public institutions and the water, street and sewer departments, bring the total up to 2,600 drawing an annual compensation of about $1,000,000.

-:—:-

Commissioner of Health Reynolds of Chicago has written a letter to Surgeon General Sternberg at Washington protesting against the shipment of the bodies of soldiers from the Philippines to the United States and proposing a conference of the sanitary officers of the country to consider the bubonic plague. The doctor fears the plague may be brought into the country in this way and he asks the surgeon general's assistance to prevent the bringing home of bodies until the plague has ceased in the Philippine Islands.

-:—:-

Enumerators for the census in June will be furnished with badges by the Government, which are to be worn in a conspicuous place so as to be plainly seen, and which will be their credentials for gathering their statistics. These badges will be made of German silver, one and one-fourth inches wide by one and five-eighths inches long, shield shaped, surmounted with an eagle and bearing the words, "United States Census, 1900." An order has already been placed for 60,000 of these badges by the director of the census.

-:—:-

The bill granting an abandoned military reservation to the State of Kansas for the establishment of an experimental agricultural station, was passed by the House.

-:—:-

House committee has agreed to two sea-going coast line battleships to cost $3,000,000 each, three armored cruisers to cost $4,000,000 each, and three protected cruisers to cost $1,141,000.

-:—:-

The naval committee of the House has authorized the purchase of 7,400 tons of armor at $545 a ton. It costs the manufacturers less than $100, it is said.

From Washington

How a Little Boy Was Saved

Washington, D. C.—"When our boy was about 16 months old he broke out with a rash which was thought to be measles. In a few days he had a swelling on the left side of his neck and it was decided to be mumps. He was given medical attendance for about three weeks when the doctor said it was scrofula and ordered a salve. He wanted to lance the sore, but I would not let him and continued giving him medicine for about four months when the bunch broke in two places and became a running sore. Three doctors said it was scrofula and each ordered a blood medicine. A neighbor told me of a case somewhat like our baby's which was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I decided to give it to my boy, and in a short while his health improved and his neck healed so nicely that I stopped giving him the medicine. The sore broke out again, however, whereupon I again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and its persistent use has accomplished a complete cure." MRS. NETTIE CHASE, 47 K St., N. E.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS.

Secure relief by using Dr. Harvey's Rheumatic Pills, used successfully by him in his practice for many years. Send for pamphlet. Address Harvey Medicine Co., 180 Tremont St., Boston, Mass. (Room 33.)

The Southerner of To-Day.

No teacher who has been brought into contact with students drawn from most of the Southern States can fail to conclude that they are in the main a remarkably fine body of young men. In essential charm of manners they are not inferior to their grandfathers; in morals they are, on an average, distinctly better in some important respects, certain vices being now more frowned upon than was the case fifty years ago; in knowledge of the world and in intellectual curiosity they are plainly superior; in sheer mental power they are not inferior, at least; and in genial kindliness and bonhomie, and in that indefinable but supreme quality, manliness, they are capable of holding their own with the youth of any land and of any age. More high seriousness of purpose might be desired for them, and a better comprehension of the importance of the intellectual side of our nature, but being Southern boys, they have the defects of their own and of their progenitors' qualities. Still, when all is said, they impress any fair judge as being just the stuff out of which a great civilization ought to be evolved. They are as good American, in the true sense of that term, as are to be found in any section of the Union; they have inherited the best qualities of their ancestors; they are free from the clogs of slavery; and if they have yet to struggle against political and religious intolerance, they will surely emerge the stronger for the contest.—W. P. Trent in the Atlanta Monthly.

Novelist Caused Trouble.

"Can you or can you not trust novels for a true picture of life?" asked a gentleman who reads much, according to the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"Not long ago I read Pierre Loti's beautiful story founded on personal adventures in the tropical island of Tahiti. The author was a naval officer on a French vessel, and was stationed for many months at Tahiti, a bit of land lost in the vastness of the Pacific. While there he fell in love with a beautiful young native girl and married her according to the customs of Oceanica.

"His book dealt with the idyllic days he spent in her company; with her artless manner and strange, imaginative nature. But in this book he gave reason to believe that nearly all of the naval officers were enamored with the pretty native girls, and thereby hangs a tale. A few days ago I happened to meet an officer of a Danish ship, and he told me that Loti caused a great deal of annoyance to his married friends by his island stories.

"When they arrived in France, after the publication of the book, their wives asked them very awkward questions, and they were kept in a stew for many months. Whenever anything unpleasant happened the girls of Tahiti would become the subject of a very animated conversation. As a result they were forced to tell their wives that Loti's book did not present a true picture of life in Tahiti. Now, did it, or did it not?"

Exact Information.

"I have noticed," said Rev. Dr. Goodman, pausing in his discourse, "that two or three of the brethren have looked at their watches several times in the last few minutes. For fear their timepieces may not agree, I will say that the correct time is 11:45. I set my watch by the regulator at the jeweler's last night. The sermon will be over at 12:01. It would have closed promptly at 12 but for this digression. Let us proceed to consider now what the apostle means when he says, 'I press toward the mark.'"—Chicago Tribune.

Libby, McNeill & Libby.

Housekeepers frequently feel the need of luncheon meats which are either ready to serve or can be prepared for the table at a moment's notice. Such a need is abundantly supplied in the superior meats put up by the old reliable house of Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago, one of whose specialties is advertised in another column of this paper, and their booklet, "How to Make Good Things to Eat," is offered free on application.

Too Honorable.

Angry father—How dare you show your face here again, sir?

Nervy suitor—I might have worn a mask, that's true; but that would have been deceitful.—Philadelphia Press.

Flat Comfort.

Mrs. Flatte—What do you suppose they are leaving a load of ice down at the door for?

Mr. Flatte—Why, that's what they heat the flat with, isn't it?

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

Hospital for Trees.

There is a hospital for trees on the banks of the Seine in Paris. Trees which grow sick along the boulevards are taken here to recover.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

The Use of Boilers.

"I see," remarked Mr. Northside, "that new boilers are needed at the city water works."

"Boilers?" repeated Mrs. Northside. "Surely they are not going to supply the city with hot water?"—Pittsburg Chronicle.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

No Longing.

"Don't you often long for the freedom of your former life?" asked the visitor at the prison.

"Not much," replied the convict; "I was sent here for having four wives."—Philadelphia North American.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

America as Exporter of Shoes.

Of the shoes imported into British colonies more than 45 per cent. are of American manufacture.

Jell-O. The New Dessert,

pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

He that calls a man ungrateful sums up all the evil of which one can be guilty.—Swift.

To California Quickly and Comfortably

Via Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line. "The Overland Limited" leaves Chicago daily at 6:30 p. m., arrives San Francisco the afternoon of third day, and Los Angeles next morning. No change of cars. All meals in dining cars. Buffet, smoking and library cars, with barber. "The best of everything." "The Pacific Express" leaves Chicago daily 10:30 p. m., with first-class and through tourist sleepers to California. Personally conducted excursions every Thursday. All agents sell tickets via Chicago & Northwestern R'y. For full information and illustrated pamphlet apply to

W. B. KNISKERN, 22 Fifth avenue, Chicago, Ill.

He Likes Western Canada.

Duhamel, Jan. 24, 1900.

Dear Sir and Friend—We had a lucky trip, made good connections and got to Wetaskiwin Monday afternoon; stayed there all night, bought a pony and saddle for the boy and hired a three-seated rig for the balance of us and got home to dinner next day; caught the boys cleaning up and getting ready to come after us. Wednesday the snow was all gone and we had bare ground and bright sunshine for a month and it has been pleasant weather ever since. The ground is frozen about two feet, and about six inches of snow, just enough for good sleighing. We had one cold spell in December. The thermometer went down to 32 below zero, but we did not suffer with the cold at all. We have worked every day all winter. Are all well and feeling well. Have built a log house 18x18, two log stables 16x18, and are now busy on a well. We have ten cows, three other cattle and six head of horses. The boys send their best respects to Mr. Huchison and say they will talk to him enough to pay for not writing when he gets up here. Will write you again next spring and tell you all about the winter. We all unite in sending you and family our best wishes and respects and hope this will find you all well. Yours very respectfully,

(Signed) THOMAS TATE,
Duhamel, Alberta, Canada.

P. S.—It has not been down to zero this month. It is 22 above now.

One genius has made many clever artists.—Martial.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A fine Road Horse, can be driven by a lady. Top Buggy, Handsome Trap, Speeding Cutter, two Sets Single Harness. Address Lock Box 219, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Nickel Plate Road

Will run an Homeseekers' Excursion to points in the west, northwest and southwest on April 3rd, 1900. Tickets available on above date good returning within 21 days at one fare plus $2.00 for round trip. Inquire agents or address C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething: softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

DO YOU COUGH DON'T DELAY TAKE KEMP'S BALSAM THE BEST COUGH CURE

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & 3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes. Indorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers. The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Cat. free. W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

WANTED—Apple Logs or Lumber. Write for prices and specifications. E. C. ATKINS & CO. Saw Manufacturers, Indianapolis, Ind.

O, How Happy I am to BE FREE from NEURALGIA

Is what Mrs. Archie Young of 1817 Oaks Ave., West Superior, Wis., writes us on Jan. 29th, 1900. "I am so thankful to be able to say that your SWANSON'S '5 DROPS' is the best medicine I have ever used in my life. I sent for some last November and commenced using it right away and it helped me from the first dose. Oh, I cannot explain to you how I was suffering from neuralgia! It seemed that death was near at hand. I thought no one could be worse. I was so very weak that I hardly expected to live to see my husband come back from his daily labor. But now I am free from pain, my cheeks are red, and I sleep well the whole night through. Many of my friends are so surprised to see me looking so well that they will send for some of your '5 DROPS.'"

RHEUMATISM "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for 2 years. I was in bed with it when I saw your advertisement in a paper recommending SWANSON'S '5 DROPS' very highly. I thought I would try it. It has completely cured me, but I like it so well that I want two more bottles for fear I will get into the same fix I was before I sent for '5 DROPS,'" writes Mr. Alexander Fuirell of Vandale, Ark., Feb. 6th, 1900.

5 DROPS [TRADE MARK.]

Is the most powerful specific known. Free from opiates and perfectly harmless. It gives almost instantaneous relief, and is a positive cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Headache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, La Grippe, Cramp, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Hysteria, Neuralgic Headaches, Earache, Toothache, Heart Weakness, Dropsy, Malaria, Creeping Numbness, etc., etc.

30 DAYS to enable sufferers to give "5 DROPS" at least a trial, we will send a 25c sample bottle, prepaid by mail for 10c. A sample bottle will convince you. Also, large bottles (300 doses) $1.00, 6 bottles for $5. Sold by us and agents. AGENTS WANTED in Few Territory. Write us to-day.

SWANSON RHEUMATIC CURE CO., 160 to 164 Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL.

How Are Your Bowels?

About the first thing the doctor says--

Then, "Let's see your tongue."

Because bad tongue and bad bowels go together. Regulate the bowels, clean up the tongue. We all know that this is the way to keep and look well.

You can't keep the bowels healthy and regular with purges or bird-shot pills. They move you with awful gripes, then you're worse than ever.

Now what you want is Cascarets. Go and get them today--Cascarets--in metal box with the long-tailed "C" on the lid--cost 10c. Be sure you get the genuine! Cascarets are never sold in bulk. Take one! Eat it like candy, and it will work gently--while you sleep. It cures, that means it strengthens the muscular walls of the bowels, gives them new life. Then they act regularly and naturally. That's what you want. It's guaranteed to be found in

THE IDEAL LAXATIVE

Cascarets

Get the genuine if you want results! Tablet is marked "CCC." Cascarets are never sold in bulk, but only and always in the light blue metal box with the long-tailed "C." Look for the trade-mark—the C with a long tail—on the lid!

BEST FOR THE BOWELS

10c. 25c. 50c. ALL DRUGGISTS

CCC This is the genuine tablet, never sold in bulk.

To any needy mortal, suffering from bowel troubles and too poor to buy CASCARETS, we will send a box free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York, mentioning advertisement and paper. 419

ELY'S CREAM BALM Cures CATARRH.

It is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate. It is not drying, does not produce sneezing. Druggists, 50 cts. or by mail. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N.Y.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever. DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM, OR MAGICAL BEAUTIFIER.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash, and Skin diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 50 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the haut-ton (a patient): "As you ladies will use them, I recommend 'Gouraud's Cream' as the least harmful of all the Skin preparations." For sale by all Druggists and Fancy-Goods Dealers in the U. S., Canada, and Europe. FERD. T. HOPKINS, Prop'r, 37 Great Jones St., N.Y.

PUREFYS at WILL. Beautifies the Skin. No other cosmetic will do it.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Soup 1¼ c. Per Plate

A 10-cent can of Libby's Premier Soup makes 8 plates full of rich, pure, all-ready, labor-saving Oxtail, Mulligatawny, Mock-Turtle, Chicken, Tomato, Kidney or Giblet soup.

Drop postal for book, "How to Make Good Things to Eat."

Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago

FOR 14 CENTS

We wish to gain this year 250,000 new customers, and I enclose offer

1	Pkg. City Garden Beet,	10c
1	Pkg. Early Emerald Cucumber	10c
1	" La Crosse Market Lettuce,	15c
1	" Strawberry Melon,	15c
1	" 13 Day Radish,	10c
1	" Early Ripe Cabbage,	10c
1	" Early Dinner Onion,	20c
1	" Brilliant Flower Seeds,	15c

Worth $1.00, for 14 cents. $1.00

Above 10 Pkgs. worth $1.00, we will mail you free, together with our great Catalog, telling all about SALZER'S MILLION DOLLAR POTATO upon receipt of this notice & 14c. stamps. We invite your trade, and know when you once try Salzer's seeds you will never do without them. $500 Prize on Salzer's 1900—largest earliest Tomato Giant on earth. C.N.U.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS.

F. W. N. U. - - No. 13—1900.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

PRIVATE

1900

SALE

1900

Beginning on or before April 1st, 1900 and continuing during the year we will offer for sale at reasonable prices the following articles:

Rock Island Hay Loaders and Wireless Check Rowers,
McCormick Binder and Mowers,
McCormick Corn Huskers and Shredder.
Moline Walking Cultivators, Corn Planters and Disc Harrows,

McCormick Corn Binder,
Turnbull Wagon,
Superior Disc Drills,
Ohio Riding Cultivators,
Oliver Plows,
Bryan Plows,
Platform Scales and Wagon Scales.

Safety Corn Huskers and Shredders,
Dunham Land Rollers and Pulverizers,
Michael Fanning Mills,
Eckhart Buggies and Surries,
Thomas Rakes and Tedders,

Washing Machines.

We carry a line of washing machines that we guarantee to please you or no sale. Take the machine out, and after using it two or three weeks if it is not what you want, we will refund your money.

Hardware Department.

In our hardware department we have Cook Stoves, Gasoline Stoves, Refrigerators, Ice Cream Freezers, Doors and Sash, Screen Doors, Sherwin-Williams Mixed Paints, White Lead in Oil, Glass, Building Paper, Builders' Hardware, Carpenters' Tools, Shovels, Spades, Forks, Hoes, Rakes, Hay Rope, Hay Slings, Ney Hay Carriers and Track, Louden Barn Door Rollers and Track, Wheel Barrows, Step Ladders, Extension Ladders, Ironing Boards, Clothes Racks, Atkins' Cross Cut Saws, Axes, Churns, Wringers, Tubs, Poultry Netting, Wire Cloth, Oil Cloth, Boys' Wagons, Asbestos Packing, Hemp Packing, Lace Leather, Rubber and Leather Belting, Rubber Garden Hose Suction Hose, Machine Oils, Cup Greese, Iron Pumps, Wood Pumps, Steel Roofing, Fishing Tackle, Delft Ware, Tin Ware, and in fact everything and anything kept in a first-class, up to date hardware store.

Steel Ranges and Cook Stoves.

The American Woven Wire Fence

One of our specialties this year is the American Woven Wire Fence which we are selling as cheap as you can buy the plain wire.

The Eckhart Buggies and Surreys.

We want to call your special attention to our carriage repository, the finest thing of the kind in Northern Indiana. We have two large store rooms filled with the Celebrated Eckhart Buggies and Surries, made up in the latest styles and built to wear. Don't fail to see them before you buy, we know we can satisfy you and save you money.

Buy The Turnbull Wagon.

LaClede and Cleveland Bicycles.

We have added to our stock this year a large line of LaClede and Cleveland Bicycles ranging in price from from $20 to $50, and invite you to call and see them.

SEWING MACHINES.

Remember it is not necessary for you to pay a fancy price for a Sewing Machine, we can sell you the finest machine made at prices that will astonish you.

We want your trade, and if Honest Goods and Fair Dealing will get it, we will make you our customer. Come and See Us.

CULBERTSON & BOLAND

North Side Public Square, AUBURN, IND.

? A ?

Question

We would like to ask if you see any other clothes that look like ours or that have the same style or nobby appearance.

If you will just think about it a moment, you'll say "No."

We do not know of any clothes to compare with these Hart, Schaffner & Marx tailor made garments either for looks or wear, and yet we sell them for very little money.

H.S.&M.

They're the kind advertised in the leading magazines and worn by good dressers everywhere.

Our New Spring Suits,

are here and they are simply fine. Patterns exquisite, styles perfect. All made with the new French back. Made to fit perfectly; you won't be satisfied with any other after you have seen these. Our prices are no higher than they were last year.

New Spring Suits,

Now is a splendid time to select your New Spring Suit, Jacket or Separate Skirt. We are showing a fine line and judging from the number of them we are selling they must be what the people want in quality, style and price. We have a room 22x60 specially fitted for this line. This is a convenience not often found in cities of this size.

Carpets and Curtains,

Never before in the history of our business career have we sold so many Carpets and Curtains as we are now selling. Our carpet room (the largest in this section of the state) is jammed full of choice new patterns of all kinds of Carpets and Curtains, in fact so many, and such pretty ones, you scarce know which to choose. We want you to see us before buying anything in our line. We have what you want and at less money than you pay elsewhere. See us often.

SCHAAB & BRO,

Auburn, Indiana.

Club Notes.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. Swineford last Saturday with only a fair attendance owing to a number of members being sick. Considerable business was transacted pertaining to the anniversary, which resulted in the decision of having a banquet at the Swineford house on the evening of April 17. Mrs. Lodewick was unanimously elected a member of the club. A vacancy being caused by the resignation of Mrs. Brown, Miss Edna Davis' name was placed on the waiting list. The program was as follows: "Cuba and Her People" by Mrs. Wildred Olds, a paper full of information. Mrs. Mollie Rose gave a reading, a story of Cuban life, full of exquisite descriptions written by Richard Harding Davis. Mrs. Barns gave her deferred work; a paper entitled "The Newspaper, the Magazine and the Public." This was followed by a discussion after which the criticisms were given and the club adjourned to meet next Saturday with Mrs. Lackey.

OBITUARY.

Lyda Augusta Treesh, daughter of Jacob Treesh of Garrett, Indiana, was born at Cedar Creek, Indiana, March 20, 1878, and departed this life at the home of her parents on South Randolph street, Garrett, March 21, 1900, at the age of 22 years. She leaves to mourn her death, a father and mother, six brothers, besides a host of friends who will greatly miss her in their circles. She possessed beautiful traits of character, and when death came she was prepared to meet her God. The funeral service was conducted from the Lutheran church last Friday at 10 a. m., March 23. Interment took place in the cemetery close to the church where the funeral was held. J. D. Brosy officiating.

The Road Passable.

J. J. Lehner was in town Saturday and reports the completion of the work at the sink in the road north of Feagler's Corners. He has been at work there since February 23, except such days as deep snow prevented. The hole in the road is now safe for teams to go over. Long logs, about 60 feet, were used to lay across the hole, and when enough of these were put in place, stringers were laid on and on these stringers the planks were placed. It took 578 trees as shown by the stumps, and it is hoped the improvement is permanent.

Special Notice to Farmers.

Having made arrangements with a large eastern firm to take all of our surplus butter and eggs we will be in a position to pay the highest market price for same this year.—HEBEL BROS., Auburn, Ind.

Another DeKalb Man.

We still keep hearing from the Auburn boys. A recent paper speaks of the three republican candidates for governor of Michigan as now opening their campaigns. One of them had already established his headquarters, and got his machine in working order. His secretary and right hand man in this work, was Berry Lowrey, formerly an Auburn boy, and for some time an employe in the Dispatch office. He is one of the leading editors and politicians of the Lower Peninsula. He is editor and proprietor of the Record at Howard in Montcalm county.

Mrs. Hilkey Dead.

Mrs. Hilkey, wife of Marshal Hilkey, died yesterday morning, and the funeral will be held at the M. E. church at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. The casket will be opened at the home, but not at the church, and friends will govern themselves accordingly. Mr. Guild, her pastor, will conduct services and the interment will be in Woodlawn. She has been a great sufferer and her death has been looked for any hour for several days.

The Democrat Meeting

The Democratic Central Committee met at the office of 'Squire Walter yesterday, March 27, at 2 p. m., with a large attendance, all the townships but two being present. The date for the selection of delegates to all the conventions, State, Congressional, Senatorial, Judicial and County, was fixed for April 14. It was decided to hold the county convention at Auburn, May 5. The official call will be made next week.

—Hon. J. M. Robinson has already 74 delegates instructed for him. He needs only 53. It might as well be made unanimous and no doubt will be.

—Alvin Warstler of Richland township had one of his legs broken a few days ago while handling logs and will be laid up for some time. Several neighbors will help him out in his spring work.

—The fifth annual exhibition of the Fairfield center school will be held in school-house on Saturday evening, April 7. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, declamations, farces, stump speeches, plays, etc. A special effort is being made to make it a success. Everybody come and enjoy a good time.

—A. C. Osbun of Jackson township leaves today for Pony, Montana, where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Jeff Goetschius, for several months. Mr. Osbun has been a resident of this county since 1842, and does not feel like leaving his old home and friends without having the COURIER sent to him, so he looks forward with great pleasure to reading it every Sunday. We wish him a pleasant visit.

Monday's Daily.

—E. D. Beadle, Auburn, has a 45 foot windmill for sale cheap. 13tf

—Mrs. John Bohler of Smithfield visited her daughter, Mrs. William Reed, Saturday and Sunday.

—A young son of Milo Thomas at Corunna, cut his leg quite badly a few days ago with a drawing knife.

—F. M. Gunsenhouser of Artic is the last new name on our list for the weekly. He goes on the 1901 roll, also.

—Simon Maurer was a caller Saturday and ran his COURIER account up into 1901. All right and business-like.

—M. I. Horn of Spencerville stopped off here yesterday on his way to Goshen, to spend the night with B. S. Kail and family.

—Mrs. Chas. Latson returned to Waterloo Saturday after a visit with her daughters, Mrs. George Wolf and Mrs. Chas. Myles.

—Supt. Coe has been putting in a week or two of hard work grading the examination papers of those who graduated in the country schools.

—Rev. E. E. Campbell has accepted a call as pastor of the Lutheran church at Millersburg in Elkhart county and will move his family there soon.

—John Lochner has been appointed by the court, as receiver for the Nathan Tarney property at Garrett. That includes the old hotel south of the shops —The Misses Trentman shall display a large and fine line of spring and summer hats at their grand opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 29, 30 and 31.

—We are to have another laughable play, "Two Married Men," at the opera house next Friday evening, March 30. It promises to be one of the best seen here this season.

—Every lady in Auburn and vicinity is especially invited to attend our grand opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 29, 30 and 31, at the Misses Trentman.

—WANTED:—A laboring man with small family wants to rent a home in some good country neighborhood, where he can get work. Good reference given. Inquire here. 14

—P. P Lochner had the last of his maple syrup in town Saturday and we were lucky enough to secure some of it. It is of last year's crop, as he is going to give his trees a rest this year.

—Married yesterday, March 25, at the Bradford hotel at 10 a. m. by Rev. J. D. Brosy, William R. Davis and Almeda Burns. They will go to housekeeping in a few weeks. We wish them a happy and successful life.

Tuesday's Daily.

—Mrs. Ruth Grube of Flint was here today attending the funeral of Mrs. Hilkey.

—Henry Steckley of Garrett was a caller today, and put his account up into next year.

—Our reliable friend, Daniel Maggin nis, was on hand as usual with his subscripton this week.

—W. H. McIntosh is reported considerably improved and is able to sit up part of the time.

—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Herrick of St. Joe were here today attending the funeral of Mrs. Morton Hilkey.

—Alonzo Lung and Lizzie Yern were married March 20 at the home of and by Rev. Henry Steckly of Garrett.

—J. Beuret, the veteran hardware man, is going to close out his stock at public sale. See his announcement in another column.

—You are cordially invited to attend the grand millinery opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 29, 30 and 31 of the Misses Trentman.

—J. C. Knapp, general agent of Hi Henry's famous minstrels, was in town today arranging for the appearance of the company here Monday evening.

—Miss Minnie Hornberger of Goshen is among our latest new subscribers to the Weekly. As a former DeKalb girl, of course she wants to hear from home.

—The Picker homestead on South Main street is offered for sale. It is a nice home in a good location. Intending purchasers should see John or Chas. Picker for particulars.

—Nelson Scholes of St. Joe sent up his subscription by his son Frank, today paying to 1901. We are pleased to hear that our friend and his good wife are enjoying fair health.

—The Misses Trentman announce their spring and summer millinery opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 29, 30 and 31, in their new location in the old Albright building.

PHOTOGRAPHS! } Is still our song at
PHOTOGRAPHS! } The same old stand
PHOTOGRAPHS! } On north Main-st.
We have a new line of mounts that our customers say are very tasty. Your patronage will be appreciated—LYBARGER —Attorney-General Taylor has given out the opinion that all voters in their respective townships are to vote for all of the road supervisors in the township. This will include all voters in incorporated cities and towns.

—The farmer north of Waterloo who gave his wife $150 to put away for safe-keeping and afterwards found that part of it had been burned in the hiding place (a stove) has filed a claim with the insurance company for the amount of his loss.

—William Murphy, accompanied by his son Droison and daughter Nellie and Mrs. Perry Muhn were at Huntertown yesterday attending the funeral of Miss Eva Surfus, a niece of Mr. Murphy. The deceased was about 20 years old and leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her death.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

FOR SHOOTING DAVE ROWE.

George Green Now on Trial in the Circuit Court.

After some ordinary work done in court yesterday, which will be found in another column, the trial of George Green was called up. He is the colored man who shot David Rowe in another row at the South End saloon, March 2. Some time was spent in getting a jury. I. B. Madden, W. Houlton, D. W. Weitz and J. H. Handricks were put off, and Michael Porter, John Zimmer, S. H. Hine and Wm. T. Bush put in their place.

The first witness was Chas. Hamilton. He testified that on that afternoon, several men were in Frederick's South End saloon, and toward evening concluded to take a sleigh ride up town with Barrick's team. They took in the uptown saloons and about an hour later found themselves back at the starting point. The negro, George Green, had been with them and all had drank a good deal. Green sat down in a chair, leaned up against a partition and appeared to be asleep. Several of the others were eating pickled pigs feet, and Rowe, the man who was shot later on, threw some crackers at the sleeping darkey, to torment him. "I did not see Rowe throw a bone of the pigs feet, but he may have done so. I saw only crackers thrown. Rowe pushed me over against Green, who fell off his chair. I had not agreed in this thing with Rowe." John Maxwell, the bartender, said pick him up; he's drunk." Green got up. Seemed angry. He went up to Barricks and kicked him. Barricks turned and pushed him, or lunged at him, sending him to the floor. He fell against me, but I did not push him.

Fredericks had been to supper. He came in and said the noise must be stopped. He could hear it across the street at his house. He told Green he must keep still or go out. Green said I would like to see any man put me out. Frederick caught him by the collar, took him to the door, threw him out, kicking him as he went. This was at the west, or rear door. Green soon after appeared at the front door and tried to come in. Frederick told him to stay out. Green insisted. Frederick said if I have to put out again, I may hurt you. Green had a revolver. Rowe pushed him out of the door and Frederick and I went out. Saw Green backing away, threating to shoot Rowe. Rowe followed a few feet away. They were about 20 feet to the north when Green fired. Witness said the thirteen glasses of beer had not made him drunk. When Green said no Auburn man could not get away with him, he told that he had slashed a man all up at Fort Wayne with a razor, and he could do up anyone here.

Isaac Barricks called. Live at north end of Auburn. Am teaming. About middle of the afternoon, was in saloon when one of the men asked me to drive up town, with a number of them. I hitched up. We went to Davis' first, then around the square, then to Ryan's then Sommers' then Fox's then Sommers' then Berg's then back to the South End, then back to Sommers' then to Lackey's where I got a box, then back to the stable, then to Fredericks' saloon. It was now about 5 p. m. Green sat in the saloon with his head down. Seemed to be asleep. I was getting a $5 piece changed by John Maxwell at the bar. Green got up and kicked me three times. I turned and lunged at him, but did not strike him; pushed him over so he fell. Did not see Ed. Metcalf or Cutter, the blacksmith, there. Had heard Mitchell tell Rowe not to throw any more crackers at Green. Hamilton and Green fell out or got out of the sleigh as we were coming from up town, and there was some snowballing and such. After I pushed Green over, Hamilton asked us to drink. We all took a drink of beer.

John Maxwell called. Am bartender for Fredericks. That day, when the men started on their sleighride up town, all took beer, except Green, who took brandy. Green treated that time. Got it on credit. After the team came back, Green was sitting in chair. Rowe flipped a bone of the pig's feet at him. Don't think it hit Green, for he did not look up. Then Rowe threw crackers. Green muttered something. I told Rowe to stop, and he said all right, I do not want to cause trouble. In a little while the boys got to pushing each other, and Rowe pushed Hamilton over Green, who fell to the floor. I told them to pick him up. He may be drunk. This seemed to anger him, and he said I am not as drunk as you think. I was changing the money for Barrick when Green got up and kicked him. Barrick pushed him over. I went around to stop the fuss. I thought Green had a gun. Rowe offered to set up the beer. All came up but Green. I said, Green if you want to drink with the rest, come up and do so and not make a fuss. Will you have beer or liquor? But he set his glass down on the bar and began to swear, Frederick came from supper and told George to keep quiet, but finally kicked him out the back door. George soon tried to come in at the front door, and called to Frederick, "You put me out of your house," Frederick said "I did, and I want you to go away." Rowe pushed Green out the door. We heard a shot. Frederick and I went out. Green was backing north with the revolver in his hand threatening to shoot. Rowe was following him. Did not see Hank Showers or Ed. Metcalf. Green said, you follow me and I'll shoot. Heard a shot. In a minute Rowe came in and called for beer saying, "Boys, drink with me, it may be the last time." They asked if he was shot. He tasted a little, and they saw he was hurt and helped him away.

Frank Frederick called. Live in south part of town and run the saloon there. Was not present when the trouble began. I saw the boys in the saloon that day, and they were there about five in the evening. I came in. Green was sitting behind the stove. I had heard loud talking as I came across the street. Green was swearing. I said keep quiet. George swore he would kill the first man who tried to put him out. Did not kick him hard. He stood at one side and cussed. He soon came to front door. I told him I would put him out roughly if he came in. Rowe went to the door. We heard the first shot. I thought it might be something falling against the door. Rowe went out and tried to quiet George, who was flourishing a revolver. Rowe said, George you would not shoot me. After the shooting, Rowe came in. I said, Rowe, George is shooting blank. Rowe said no, I am shot. I did not know George was drunk when I went to supper. He is a pretty good fellow when sober. I was behind the bar when George tried to get in the front door.

David Rowe called. My home has been in Fairfield township, but I now live in Auburn. I cut logs for Barricks. Am the man Green shot. Green was in the saloon when we were getting ready for that sleighride up town. Someone asked him to go along. He said he would, but he had no money. They said if you set 'em up now, we will take you anyway. He said he would do that if he could get the six drinks for a quarter and pay for them when he got the money. This was done, and all went up town. After our return, George was sitting down and seemed asleep. I snapped a piece of bone at him and some crackers. I pushed Hamilton against him and he fell to the floor. We were all pushing and fooling. I was going to help him up. He said he could help himself. Soon saw him kick Barrick, who was counting his money. Barrick turned and struck at him and he fell.

He was put on the stand this morning and told the story of the shooting very much as the others had, only he said when he went back into the saloon, he does not remember calling for the drinks, nor does he remember much that happened as he got sick. Remembers being taken to Nusbaum's office. Was confined to his room but five days. The wound is now healed outside, but hurts inside now and then.

Mathias Arnold testified that he was in at Potter's grocery, got some eggs and was going north saw Green in front of the saloon, and soon after heard two shots.

George Mitchell, saw Green come in through Potter's grocery and go to front saloon door and try to get in, but someone pushed him back. Then Green shot, saw the revolver. Shot up into the air. Saw Frederick come out. Green said go back or I will shoot. Frederick went back. I told Beaty to telephone for sheriff or marshal, which he did.

Clarence Cook called. My barber shop is across from saloon. Was shaving a customer when heard the trouble and went out, as did also the customer, Mr. Keckler, both of whom testified as to what they saw.

Norman Springer and John Speer, two farmers hauling in stave bolts testified to being in the saloon and seeing part of the trouble, and told about the men shoving each other over, about as others told it. After first shot I went out, and when I saw Green swinging his revolver, I went in again. Soon heard another shot. (Springer was a member of the grand jury that indicted Green.)

Dr. Nusbaum called. Was going home that evening, and near Jones store, was hailed by some men and asked to come to a sled and see a man who had been shot. He found Rowe, took him to office and gave restoratives as he was suffering from the shock and was weak. Could not examine much on that account. Next morning I examined fully. Found ball had gone straight through in the part of abdomen between stomach and bowels. It probably cut none of the bowels, as he recovered so easily. I found the bullet about two inches from the spine. He produced the ball, which counsel and jury examined.

Beaty, the clerk in Potters's store testified to seeing Green with revolver in hand. He told Green to go away but Green said he had only blank cartridges. Saw him shoot Rowe. I went and got my gun. Went into saloon. Hamilton wanted my gun to go after Green. As Rowe went into the saloon, he put his hand to his bowels, as if in pain.

Sheriff Hathaway told of finding the prisoner under the south porch, where he had got to by crawling out a small window they had failed to find the night before. He said "George come out," and he gave up his revolver and came out. It was a short thirty-two.

Here the state rested.

Afternoon, the testimony of Mrs. Annie Cline, who is one of the tenants of the house north of the saloon, was called. She saw the shooting but was evidently too frightened at the time to remember much. Her story was much like the others.

George Green, the defendant, was put on the stand. He is a rather bright and quick-witted negro, but evidently a tough one. He is 33, was born in Mason county, Ky. Worked five months for Wash Askew, driving bus a few years ago, but had been a cook on Ohio river boats, and at Cincinnati. Had cooked at the Wayne and Randall since coming to Fort Wayne. Got into a row with one of the cooks at the latter last June. The man hit him on the head with a cleaver, when Green got a razor and slashed the man. The "chef" told Green he better leave town. He came to Auburn and began cooking for Harry Draggoo, July 1.

The evening of the trouble, he had been to Potter's grocery for some things, but did not find what he wanted. So started home. At saloon was stopped and asked to go in and drink, I refused, said I had swore off. But finally drank with them. I took peach brandy. Then they said, "Ain't you going to set 'em up?" I said I had no money, but would do it if Maxwell would make it for a quarter. He said he would take me for that. So we drank. All got in sleigh, came to Ryan's saloon, and one of the party asked if that sleigh was not worth the beer. So Ryan set 'em up. Witness said this joke was got off at Sommers', Zirwes', Fox's and Berg's, each time that "sleigh" being a winner. Sometimes one of the party added another beer all around. Then they got a box at Lackeys as they wanted to have a good time that night. I said I had had enough and did not want to go. We went back down to the south end. Hamilton fell out near south end, and caught my feet and pulled me out. At the saloon I sat down and went to sleep. Do not know that anything was thrown at me. Was knocked over on chair. Got up, Hamilton knocked me to Barricks, and Barricks knocked me to Rowe. Rowe knocked me to Hamilton. Then was caught and hustled out back and kicked out. I came around through the grocery store to the front door of saloon. Someone came out and ordered me away. I pulled out the revolver and it went off. I did not know till next morning that I had hit Rowe. I went home, went down cellar, for I was afraid of a mob. I crawled through the window out under the porch and lay there. Later, I got back into the cellar and slept on some blankets near the furnace, and at daylight got back under the porch where the sheriff found me.

Witness added that the revolver was Draggoo's and given him to use in case of burglars, and that another revolver and quite a number of rifles and shotguns were in the house. This ended the testimony.

The attorneys made their arguments, Rhoads and Pomeroy were for the state and Moody & Rickel for the defense. In the evening Judge Bratton charged the jury and they were sent out about 8:30. At 9:30 they had a sealed verdict ready, and this morning at 8:30 it was read. The verdict was from two to fourteen years in the penetentiary as charged in the indictment for assault and battery with intent to kill.

—Great special sale at Hebel Bros. on groceries and provisions.

All package coffee per lb	11c
Gran. sugar	5½c
Coffee A. sugar	5c
Nice Cal. prunes	5c
Cal. dried peaches	10c
Oil per gallon	10c
50 lb. sack of flour	85c
25 lb. sack of flour	43c

We also give extra special bargains on Saturday.

Public Sale

$2,000 STOCK

of Hardware and Household Articles

March 31, 1900

Saturday at 10 O'clock

J. Beuret,

THE HARDWARE MAN,

will sell at public auction at his store room, Auburn, Ind., his entire stock of Gasoline, Wood Stoves, Ranges, Tinware, Garden Tools, House Paints and Brushes, Farming Utensils and Other Staple Articles too numerous to mention. This is the chance of a lifetime to get these articles

..AT YOUR OWN PRICE..

The sale begins at 10 a.m. and will continue all day. Come early and avoid the rush.

TERMS OF SALE:

Sums of $5 and under cash; Over $5, a credit of six months, note with approved security. JOSEPH LINK, Auctioneer.

BUTLER.

Amasa Blachand is slowly recovering from a severe injury received about three weeks ago, from falling from a tender at the coal chute.

A. D. Morse will again try his fortunes in trade on the street. His years of success ought to assure him success.

John Chilcoate left last Monday for his new home in Tennessee.

Mr. Ginder, our former laundryman, has come back to try to be satisfied with the meager fare of Butler, Ind. We welcome him, and hope the allurements of the land of cotton will not entice him again to try the unknown for the known.

Enoch Grindle our former night-watch, got tired of Hampton Soldiers' Home fare and is visiting his old friends about Butler preparatory to seeking a place in a Northern Home more congenial to his vigorous and plethoric condition.

The funeral of A. B. Stone, of Garrett, held at the residence of his son-in-law, Sam Stone, last Friday, was a very quiet one. The discourse was made by the M. E. minister at Garrett, assisted by Rev. Frech of this place. The Odd Fellows to the number of about thirty assisted upon the occasion.

Charles Richey of Idaho has sold his West North street residence to Frank Stump.

Isaac Veley of Wells county, Ind., formerly well known in Butler, was visiting old friends and acquaintances about town last week.

Mrs. Clark Brown is dangerously ill at this writing.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dast, daughter of Henry Shoup, formerly of Stafford township, died at Milbern, near Toledo, O., March 15, 1900.

Thomas Leason, an old and well-known citizen of Troy township, died March 19, 1900. He was born in Derbyshire, England, December 25, 1818. He came to the states in 1844, settling in Erie county, Ohio. He was married in 1850 no Mae A. Gillett, who died in 1855. In 1863 he came to DeKalb county, settling in Troy township. In 1857 he was married to Mary A. Abbot, nee Haswell, who survives him; also two daughters by his first wife—Mrs. Andrew Hanes and Mrs. Albert Fisher. Mr. Leason was a man above the average in intelligence, a worthy member of the U. B. church, honored and respected by all who knew him.

CEDAR.

Frank Batdorf moved his family into George Probst's house on Wednesday of last week.

Wm. Chisholm moved to Auburn last week.

Both sawmills here were running on full time again this week.

J. W. Kenton moved to Albion on Wednesday of this week where he expects to work on the B. & O. grade.

Phil. Holman returned from school at Valparaiso on Friday last and will remain here for some time.

The young fellow who tried to work the flim-flam game at O. C. Hine's place last week, did not make a success of it.

L. C. Lung and wife visited friends at Spencerville last Sunday.

Perry T. Ober sports a new watch.

Cal. Holman expects to commence work for F. H. Hixson next week.

Seven car loads of grain were shipped from this place last week. Who says this place is not on the boom?

It is reported that the milling company at this place will put in a new scale this spring.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNE, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. MARCH. 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
				1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	31

N. M. 1-30. F. Q. 8th. F. M. 16th. L. Q. 24th.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS OF THE WORLD.

News of Crimes and Criminals, Accidents, Fires, Etc., from North, South, East and West, Sandwiched with Minor Affairs.

THE FIGHT IS OFF.

Carnegie and Frick Have Reached Agreement.

Under an agreement just signed the contest between Andrew Carnegie and H. C. Frick has been closed, the law suits are ordered stopped and an amicable arrangement has been made between the two great steel and iron manufacturers by which not only are the warring elements set at rest, but a great steel and iron corporation has been formed that will be far-reaching in its influence and have a capital of over $200,000,000.

This result has been reached as the outcome of a personal conference between Mr. Frick and Mr. Carnegie which continued for two days, and which finally culminated in the signing of an agreement, both for themselves and their friends and those allied in business with them. The agreement covers not only all the points at issue between the two leaders, but also the taking into the combination of all the allied companies in which they were directly interested.

The Macrum Incident.

A dispatch from Washington says: In view of the announced decision of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs to make an investigation into the truth of Consul Macrum's statements, proposed in a resolution introduced by Representative Wheeler of Kentucky, the officials of the State Department do not care to make any public statement respecting the utterances attributed to Mr. Macrum. Informally, however, it is learned that the department is fully prepared, in the opinion of the officials, to meet any of the allegations. The statement that Consul General Stowe, before the war broke out, appealed to the State Department to interfere between the disputants with a proposition for arbitration, it is said, is not in accordance with the facts.

Bought 1,000,000 Tickets to Paris Exhibition.

J. F. Allen of New Orleans, who recently bought 1,000,000 admission tickets from the authorities of the Paris Exposition, has arrived in Chicago on his way to Paris. He secured the tickets at half price and says he will have no trouble whatever in disposing of them at the regular rates. A million tickets at regular rates would cost about $300,000, but Allen secured them for $150,000 and is confident he can clean up nearly $100,000 in the venture. He will scatter men in uniform about the exposition city.

The Statement Denied.

War Department officials deny the recent published statements that Gen. Otis' campaign is costing upward of 1,000 men every month. According to official records, since the American occupation of the Philippines, June 1, 1898, up to February 17, 1900, the date of the last official compilation, the actual mortality in the army in the Philippines was 65 officers and 1,460 men, a total of 1,525, or at the rate of 74 deaths a month.

Work of a Fiend.

At Darner, six miles from Raleigh, N. C., a negro murdered Ella Jones, colored, and her five children, and then set fire to and burned the house at midnight. Three bodies were recovered next morning. The others are still in the ruins. Two of the children escaped, and they have accused Tom Jones of the crime. He was arrested and there are threats of lynching.

Adopts Sheldon's Plan.

Moundsville (W. Va.) special: Mayor Parkinson has announced his intention of adopting the Charles M. Sheldon plan and will run the municipal government here "as Jesus would." His decision is the result of a big religious revival which is being held here. The minority of the voters are objecting vigorously.

Thirty Passengers Injured.

Thirty passengers were dropped three stories in an elevator in the Blakeley Printing Company building, Chicago, and all were seriously injured but one. Broken legs and arms were numerous. The breaking of the engine caused the accident.

Price of Sugars Advanced.

The President of the American Sugar Refining Company announces that the price of refined sugars have been advanced 5 cents per 100 pounds by that company. There was also an advance in the pound price of raw sugars.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

April 2—Robert Mantell, in "The Dagger and the Cross."

April 4—Rentz Santley Variety Burlesque Company.

Two Tragic Events.

At Elkhart, Ind., Lydia Jordan, 18 years old, committed suicide by swallowing poison. Mrs. Stella Harrington attempted suicide at the same hour. A note, which was stolen from her person before death, but afterward returned to the police, shows that the Jordan woman killed herself because her lover was already a married man, the husband of Mrs. Harrington.

Sails to Guard Our Interests.

The Detroit has sailed from Havana to Greytown, Nicaragua, to look after American interests there.

Indian Famine Increasing.

The distress caused by the famine in India is increasing in extent and severity. Prices have risen to the level of those of 1897, the great famine year, and are still rising. There are now employed on the relief works in the famine-stricken districts 4,810,000 persons.

Proclaims a Dictatorship.

Passengers arrived from Costa Rica announced that President Iglesias, taking advantage of the threatened war with Nicaragua and the attempt of the Nicaraguans to precipitate a revolution in Costa Rica, has proclaimed himself dictator and has declared martial law.

CEREALS TOUCH HIGHEST MARK.

Farmers' Supply Being Smaller than Expected Causes an Advance.

Bradstreet's says: "Trade advices are as a whole cheerful, and the strength of values is apparently unabated, though some soft spots still present themselves. A prominent feature this week has been the increase in strength of values of farm products, nearly all the cereals, pork products and cotton advancing, while materials for manufacture and the products thereof have generally remained steady or unchanged. The Government report on the quantity of corn in farmers' hands showed a smaller than expected supply and quite an outbreak of speculative interest occurred, sympathized in by wheat, and both cereals reached the highest point touched on the crop of 1899. Though quiet, the iron and steel situation has developed a rather more confident tone. Except immediately in Chicago, where the idleness of many thousands of men has made for dullness in the machinery and kindred trades, the Western iron situation seems a strong one. Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 2,727,450 bushels, against 4,208,758 bushels last week. Corn exports for the week aggregate 3,729,291 bushels, against 2,187,824 bushels last week."

PRODUCING $36,000 EACH DAY.

Klondike Mine Which Will Turn Out $10,800,000 a Year.

Norman MacAuley returned from the Klondike to Victoria, B. C., and was exhibiting to his friends a large golden nugget valued at $64.45, which was taken from the rich property he owns on Gay gulch. Mr. MacAuley tells of the riches of claim 46, on the Sulphur, which is known to be the richest mining claim in the world. The owner, whose name Mr. MacAuley could not recall, is a German, and he will before long be the richest of all the rich Klondike mining kings. The claim is now producing at the rate of $36,000 each day, or, if the mine was worked 300 days a year, $10,800,000 in gold every year. The claim is a wonderfully rich one; it has a pay streak fifteen feet thick, which extends the full width of the creek, or over 100 feet. The average per bucket runs as high as $6 a day and the average output of the mine is 6,000 buckets every day. The output for this year is figured by many, says Mr. MacAuley, at $30,000,000.

TRAGEDY AT BANNOCK, MONT.

Fred Brown Fatally Wounds Myrtle Lytle and is Himself Killed.

A tragedy at Bannock, Mont., reports of which have just been received, resulted in the death of Fred Brown and Myrtle Lytle, the daughter of William Lytle. There had been trouble between the families. Brown approached Lytle's house. Myrtle Lytle went to meet him and was seen to talk with him. He said he intended to "kill the whole outfit." She turned to go into the house, when Brown shot her in the back, delivering a second shot after she fell. Lytle heard the shots, ran to the door with a gun, and, seeing his daughter lying on the ground, fired at Brown with deadly effect, killing him instantly. Lytle surrendered. Myrtle Lytle died. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK FAST MAIL.

Rail Placed Across the Lake Shore Track at Olmstead Falls.

An attempt was made to wreck the Lake Shore fast mail, west-bound, the other night. At Olmsted Falls, Ohio, a rail had been laid across the track. The engineer saw the obstruction in time to apply the air brakes. The front wheels of the locomotive struck the rail, but the engine remained on the track. The engineer says he saw three men run away from the spot where the obstruction had been placed.

Queer Cause of Insanity.

Bleached hair of the young and pretty wife of Andrew Maxwell, a farmer, living near Newkirk, O. T., has driven her husband insane. Mrs. Maxwell's hair was black as a raven's wing, but she recently had it turned yellow by a hairdresser. When the young husband came home and found his wife with hair of a different color he fretted over it until he lost his mind.

Many Messages on One Wire.

M. Mercadier, a French inventor, claims to have solved the problem of sending a number of dispatches simultaneously on a single wire. His system was recently tried successfully between Paris and Pau. Twelve independent currents were sent on the circuit at once and in each direction, making a total of twenty-four telegrams.

Costly Fire Routs Merrymakers.

Damage to the extent of $123,500 was caused by a fire that started with a mysterious explosion in the salesroom of the Stern Clothing Company, 256 to 264 North avenue, Chicago. The fire drove out 400 panic-stricken dancers at a ball across the street and furnished a beautiful spectacle.

Ohio Town Hall Is to Be Sold.

By order of Sheriff Porter four Steubenville, Ohio, builders went to Mingo Junction and, under instructions from the common pleas court, appraised the town hall preparatory to a sale of the property to satisfy a judgment of $140. The town hall is quite an imposing building, nearly new, and was appraised at $8,000.

Overpowers Her Husband.

At Wiarton, Ont., George McAllister assaulted his wife. She retaliated, threw him on to a sleigh, bound him with ropes and drove him to the magistrate's house, where she asked that he be tried for assault. The magistrate was away, and she drove to the police station and turned him over to the police.

Long-Lost Will Is Found.

A lawyer from Chatham, N. Y., is making an attempt to prove a will found recently in a secret drawer of an antique desk, which has long been the property of Mrs. Jane Ann Wollison of Pittsfield, Mass. The will is that of Mrs. Lucinda Young, who died in New Lebanon, N. Y., in 1882, at the age of 100 years.

Fire in a Quebec Theater.

At the conclusion of a concert in the Academy of Music in Quebec fire was discovered in the stage scenery. Those who had not left the theater barely escaped, and Charles Auburn, the stage manager, saved his wife and children with some difficulty. The loss on the theater will be about $40,000.

Anti-Trust Law Sustained.

The Supreme Court of the United States rendered an opinion in the case of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company against the State of Texas, affirming the constitutionality of the anti-trust law of Texas.

Five New Fort Structures.

The War Department is preparing advertisements for bids for five additional buildings, to be erected at once at Egmont Key, commanding Tampa Bay, Fla.

Fire Loss is $70,000.

The ring and socket department of the Oil Well Supply Company's plant at Pittsburg was destroyed by fire. Loss $70,000, fully insured.

Wrecked by a Falling Chute.

Nine persons were injured in an accident on the Ninth avenue elevated railroad near Rector street, New York. In an unexplained fashion the coal chute at the coaling station dropped down almost at the moment the train reached the station. The chute wrecked the roofs of the two passenger cars and the dozen passengers in the cars were thrown in every direction.

BANK ROBBED IN DAYLIGHT.

Two Thieves Secure $1,000 Without Even Displaying Firearms.

At 2 o'clock on a recent afternoon two men entered the First National Bank in Seattle and, walking behind the receiving teller's desk, one of them engaged the teller in conversation while the other grabbed a package of currency supposed to contain $1,000. Both escaped through the front door of the bank. They were pursued by the president of the bank and the bookkeeper, who ran bareheaded and yelling through the crowded streets. The robbers, having a little start, escaped to the Yesler dock, where their pursuers lost sight of them. No firearms were displayed by the robbers and no effort was made to conceal their features. One carried an overcoat carelessly thrown over his arm. The police who are investigating the robbery think it was done by Eastern crooks.

JUDGMENT AGAINST A CHURCH.

Cincinnati Polish Congregation Must Pay Its Pastor's Note.

The Superior Court at Cincinnati, in general term, held that the estate of Valentine Burcheit is entitled to a $400 judgment against St. Stanislaus Polish Catholic Church, on a note executed by its pastor, the Rev. Father Litski, which purports to hold the church property liable. The court will appoint a referee to determine the liability of the members of the congregation, who will be held personally for a sum minus an amount which represents the good that Burcheit, as a church member, derived from his own loan.

THEIR BODIES HIDDEN IN A CAVE.

Indians Kill a White Man and His Wife Near Skaguay.

The steamer Cutch, from Skaguay, brought news of the arrest there of nine Indians, the perpetrators of a fiendish crime last October. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worthing, who were shot down over their outdoor fire at night. An Indian, it was alleged, had been killed by white men some time before, and it was by way of revenge that Worthington and his wife were shot. The bodies were hidden in a cave.

Fatal Shooting at White Heath, Ill.

An accidental shooting occurred at White Heath, Ill. Homer and Andy Mitchell, sons of a wealthy farmer, started out hunting for ducks. While wading through a swamp the gun carried by the younger man was accidentally discharged, Homer receiving the full load of heavy duck shot in the right side. The victim died within a few minutes. He was 32 years old and single.

Author of Fourteenth Amendment Dead.

John Arende Bingham, former minister to Japan, former distinguished Ohio Congressman, one of the prosecutors of the assassins of President Lincoln, one of the leaders of the impeachment proceedings against President Johnson, and author of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, breathed his last at Cadiz, Ohio. His age was 85.

Big Mills Are Destroyed.

Fire broke out in Orr's linseed oil mill at Piqua, Ohio. The flames spread rapidly until Gray's woolen mills were soon enwrapped. The blaze spread across the street and became so threatening that the departments from Lima, Sidney, Dayton, Urbana and Springfield were called. The loss will reach several hundred thousand dollars.

Editor Is Shot from Ambush.

Frank W. Elliott, editor of the Troy, Kan., Times, was shot by an unknown man as he alighted from a train. His assailant fired from ambush. Elliott will recover. The bullets struck him in the arm and side.

Settlers Going Northwest.

Five colonist trains from eastern Canada arrived at Winnipeg with 400 settlers on board with their effects. They are leaving for different parts of Manitoba, the greatest number going to the southwestern part of the province.

Charles F. Brush Honored.

The Rumford medal of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences has been awarded to Charles F. Brush of Cleveland. Mr. Brush won the medal by the discovery and development of the electric arc lamp.

White Lead Works Burned.

The Jewett white lead works at Port Richmond, S. I., suffered to the extent of $100,000 by fire. The company's plant consisted of six buildings, three of which were destroyed, together with a large quantity of white lead.

Maine Monument Dedicated.

The monument erected by the citizens of Key West to the victims of the battleship Maine was unveiled at Key West, Fla.

Opera House and Stores Burn.

Fire at Eustis, Neb., consumed the opera house and several big stores. Loss $25,000, insurance $10,000.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 65c to 67c; corn, No. 2, 37c to 38c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 56c; butter, choice creamery, 23c to 25c; eggs, fresh, 14c to 15c; potatoes, choice, 30c to 45c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 white, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2, 26c to 28c; rye, No. 2, 55c to 56c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $2.50 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2, 73c to 74c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 39c to 40c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 25c to 27c; rye, No. 2, 61c to 63c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 38c to 40c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, 58c to 60c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 72c to 73c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 37c to 38c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 57c to 59c; clover seed, old, $4.95 to $5.05.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 65c to 67c; corn, No. 3, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 1, 57c to 58c; barley, No. 2, 42c to 44c; pork, mess, $11.25 to $11.75.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.50; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.50; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $7.75.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 79c to 81c; corn, No. 2, 44c to 45c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c; butter, creamery, 20c to 26c; eggs, western, 19c to 21c.

WILL CONQUER OR DIE

THIS DECLARATION IS MADE BY PRESIDENT KRUGER.

Boers, He Says, Expect No Aid from Other Nations, but Are Determined to Fight to the Last—Burghers Are in Desperate Straits.

Notwithstanding recent reverses and the general collapse, apparently, of the Free State as a factor in the war, with the rumored disheartening of the Boers in consequence, eminent war critics say there is reason to believe that President Kruger is correctly reported as saying his people "will conquer or die." From the first there have been rumors of dissatisfaction from the Free State, but from the Transvaal there has not been the slightest indication that its burghers have ever thought of faltering or of peace unless the latter should be upon lines for which the determined citizens of the South African republic took up arms. President Kruger is reported, by way of Paris, as saying:

"Having been forced into the war, the Boers will conquer or die. I expect no aid from other nations, but we are glad of sympathy and friendship. The Transvaal is willing to make peace at any time, but we want no more cons. Only absolute independence is possible. We don't want more territory, but are content with our present frontier, if we are permitted to live peacefully. This is all we ask."

These statements read strangely enough in connection with the fact that the Free State is overrun, an army is on its way to the relief of Mafeking, and Buller, Methuen and Lord Roberts are each at the head of an army ready for the final advance upon the Transvaal.

As to intervention, Dr. Leyds is said to be still looking hopefully toward America—not realizing, perhaps, that in offering its friendly offices to England the American Government has done all it can do short of intervention by force, which would mean war. Possibly Russia's forthcoming answer to President Kruger's appeal for intervention may be more effective as regards aid to the Boers, but unless the continental powers are prepared for forcible intervention there is no aid in sight for "Oom" Paul and his people outside their own strength and valor. That the sturdy president of the Transvaal contemplates this possibility is probable. From present indications the world is likely to witness a heroic but pathetic and useless struggle before the South African republic, like the Orange Free State, has a new capital and a new ruler.

The British inhabitants of the Transvaal, whose rights as non-combatants have hitherto been respected, are now experiencing the hardships of war. President Kruger has commandeered all able-bodied men in the State, no matter of what nationality. The British citizens who remained in Pretoria or elsewhere in the Transvaal, perhaps with the idea of being on the winning side, no matter what might happen, are beginning to discover the difficulty of endeavoring to serve two masters. Under penalty of death, they have been ordered to proceed to Kroonstad and help to repel the invaders. This is interpreted in London to mean that the Boers are in desperate straits. The British say that even the unyielding president of the most uncompromising party among the Boers of South Africa is beginning to recognize the hopelessness of the struggle.

DEATH OF OSMAN PASHA.

Famous Turkish General and Hero of Plevna Passes Away.

A dispatch from Constantinople announces the death of Osman Pasha, the hero of Plevna and the greatest Turkish soldier of recent times. He was 68 years old. His defense of Plevna against an overwhelming force in 1876 gave him enormous prestige. By the intrenchments he caused to be thrown up he arrested for four months the advance of the Russians.

In three pitched battles he overcame the finest troops of the Czar's armies.

OSMAN PASHA.

On July 1, 1876, he inflicted a loss of 3,000 killed and wounded on his assailants. The next battle cost the Russians 170 officers and 7,136 men, and the three days' stubborn assault of Skobeloff later on, when the Russian grenadiers got within 500 yards of the trenches, but failed to pass the fatal fire zone, ended in a Russian loss of from 18,000 to 20,000 men.

It was resolved to starve out the army of Osman, which originally numbered about 50,000 men, and an army of 120,000 Russians completed the investment. At length, forty-five days after the close siege had been established, and 144 days after his arrival at Plevna, Osman determined on a desperate attempt to cut his way through. The struggle was of the fiercest sort, but many hours of bayonet fighting ended in the Turks being driven back, and the "Defender of Plevna" surrendered with the honors of war.

News of Minor Note.

The State immigration agent of Washington estimates that 30,000 persons have moved into that State during the past year.

Because of the rise in price of European coal, inquiries are pouring in from Europe, the West Indies and Mexico for Alabama coal.

Henry E. White, a letter carrier in the Cleveland, Ohio, postoffice, is a son of Gen. Sir George White, who commanded at Ladysmith. He came to America nineteen years ago.

Two grandsons of Li Hung Chang, the "grand old man of China," are students in the University of Nashville. They are T. Sung and Y. Sung.

A powerful fog trumpet is being placed on the lighthouse at West Haven, Conn. It is expected that it will be distinctly heard twelve miles away.

In addition to the coffee and tobacco plantations, there are nearly 32,000 small farms in Porto Rico devoted to small fruits and miscellaneous cultivation.

Kansas has 807 newspapers. Of these 51 are dailies, 619 weeklies, 3 semi-weeklies, 103 monthlies, 12 semi-monthlies, 1 bi-monthly, 10 quarterlies and 8 "occasionals."

The Senate devoted most of the day Thursday to discussion of the $2,000,000 Porto Rican appropriation bill. Heard Mr. Wellington in opposition to the seating of Mr. Quay. When Mr. Penrose asked to have time set for a vote on the Quay case Mr. Gallinger said he desired to speak on the subject. Mr. Penrose said the New Hampshire man had told him he did not wish to speak thereon, and Mr. Gallinger replied by passing the lie direct. The proposition to fix a time for a vote was postponed one day. The House passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill carrying $6,008,378, and also a bill granting the abandoned Fort Hays military reservation to the State of Kansas for experimental station and normal school purposes.

On Friday the Senate passed the $2,000,000 Porto Rican appropriation bill without division. Agreed to take up the Quay case Tuesday, April 3, and to discuss it until disposed of, the discussion not to interfere with the unfinished business, the Spooner bill authorizing the President to govern the Philippines until otherwise directed, the appropriation bills or conference reports. Voted to adjourn to Monday, March 19. In the House it was first private bill day under the new rule. About two hours was spent in the discussion of a bill to pay Representative Swanson $1,769 for extra expenses incurred by him in his contest in the last Congress, but the bill was ultimately abandoned. Six bills of minor importance were passed.

The Senate was not in session Saturday. In the House members pronounced eulogies upon the late Monroe L. Hayward, Senator-elect from Nebraska, who died before taking the oath of office. No other business of importance was transacted.

On Monday the Senate passed the legislative, executive nad judicial appropriation bill, carrying more than $25,000,000, and the measure providing for the appointment of a commission to adjudicate and settle claims of the people of the United States growing out of the war with Spain. For a brief time the Porto Rican government and tariff measure was under consideration. Mr. Foraker, in charge of the bill, submitted some committee amendments. A few of them were agreed to, but the important ones were left pending. A free trade amendment to the bill was offered by Senator Beveridge. The House refused to concur in the Senate amendments to the Porto Rican tariff bill and conferees were appointed. Rest of the day devoted to District of Columbia business.

The Senate on Tuesday received majority report from the committee on privileges and elections declaring Senator Scott of West Virginia entitled to his seat. Listened to extended speech by Mr. Morgan on the Porto Rico bill. In the House Mr. Sulzer of New York attacked the administration in a speech upon his resolution calling upon the War Department for information as to what fortifications Great Britain was erecting on the Canadian border. The committee on military affairs submitted a reply of Adjutant General Corbin, saying such information was secret, but that Great Britain was erecting no works which threatened American rights. The committee recommended that the resolution lie upon the table, and this was done by a vote of 110 to 97. Consideration of the Loud bill to restrict the character of publications entitled to pound rates as second-class mail matter was then taken up. Mr. Loud defended it in a long speech. The other speakers were H. C. Smith (Mich.), in favor of the bill, and Messrs. Little (Ark.), Bell (Colo.), Henry (Miss.), Stokes (S. C.) and Brown (Ohio) in opposition to it.

In the Senate on Wednesday Mr. Turner (Wash.) stated he was informed by the Governor of Alaska that exclusive concessions for gold mining in the bed of the sea near Cape Nome, Alaska, had been granted by the Secretary of War, and upon that statement he based a resolution of inquiry. Senator Turner said if such a grant had been made it was "a shame, a reproach and a scandal." The resolution was agreed to. The additional urgent deficiency bill was passed. During the debate in the House upon the Loud bill relating to second-class mail matter Mr. McPherson (Rep., Iowa) charged that Mr. Lentz (Dem., Ohio) was the attorney of the lobby which is fighting the bill. Otherwise the debate was without incident. Mr. Loud agreed to accept amendments to increase the number of sample copies which newspapers can send out at second-class rates from 500 to 2,000 and to limit the provision requiring newspapers to separate their mail to those having in excess of 5,000 circulation. The speakers were Messrs. Bromwell (Ohio), Griggs (Ga.), McPherson (Iowa), Burke (Texas), Bingham (Pa.), Heatwole (Minn.) and Latimer (S. C.) in favor of the bill and Messrs. Moon (Tenn.), Lentz (Ohio), Vandiver (Mo.), Snodgrass (Tenn.), Cochran (Mo.) and Neville (Neb.) against it.

This and That.

Two years ago the zinc mining companies of Missouri numbered about a dozen; now they exceed 200.

The director of the census expects to have the main reports of the twelfth census published not later than July 1, 1902.

Caught in a snowslide near Eureka, Colo., Chris Ihmsen, one of the owners of the Lucky Friend mine, was swept to his death.

Mrs. Henrietta Snell, widow of Amos J. Snell, the Chicago capitalist, whose murder has not been solved, died from heart disease.

J. M. Doble of Ramires, Live Oak County, Texas, owns a steer whose horns from point to point measure 9 feet 7 inches. It will be sent to the Paris exposition.

Col. Schwartzkoppen, military attache of the German embassy in Paris, who figured extensively in the Dreyfus affair, has been promoted to the rank of major general.

Recent investigations have shown that there are in the State of Maryland at least 28,000 voters who could not meet an educational test, should one be required, as has been proposed.

Burlington, N. Y., will not collect any taxes this year, the saving on appropriations having gone on so long that the township has sufficient funds to run all departments.

The anti-foreign attitude of the Government of China grows more pronounced, and is extremely menacing to foreign enterprise. Never in the last forty years has the central Government been so intensely anti-foreign.

A man who lives in a thriving town not far from Kansas City, a blacksmith by trade, makes quantities of tomahawks and sells them to Indians at Western agencies, and they in turn sell them to Eastern tourists as curiosities.

NEW WAR IN SIGHT.

Collision Seems Imminent Between France and England.

The military situation in South Africa now occupies a secondary place in the attention of the British Government, and a London correspondent asserts that the entire resources of the empire are being utilized in preparations to meet a graver danger nearer home.

No other interpretation is possible of the extraordinary measures for defense undertaken by the Government, which increased instead of diminishing after the tide of war had turned in the British favor. Preparations for naval mobilization, the Queen's personal call for volunteers, the Government's appeal to the colonies to prepare to put every available man in the field, the Queen's abandonment of her proposed continental trip, her sudden decision to visit Ireland, the premature issue of the budget, and the floating of the popular war loan came in quick succession. Apprehensions became more definite when it was learned that France had tried unsuccessfully to induce the Sultan to reopen the Egyptian question.

While the fact that there is at present no subject of diplomatic controversy between France, or Russia, and Great Britain apparently tends to minimize the chances of a clash, there seems to be no reason to doubt that these countries have been constrained to recognize the dangers latent in the present attitude of the French public. Not even when the Fashoda incident was under discussion have the French people manifested such hostility toward England as they show at the present time. The action of the French Government in strengthening its defenses at various colonial stations seems to indicate that, while it officially maintains its pacific relations, it recognizes that the stress of public sentiment might become too strong to admit of further continued restraint in case some slight point of difference should arise.

It is impossible just now to discover any pretext which should give occasion for hostile maneuvers on either side, but Great Britain now, as at the time of the Fashoda affair, is evidently holding itself in readiness for any emergency. The mobilization of the fleets and the call upon the colonies for more troops "in case of dangers threatening from other quarters" are significant; and it must not be left out of account that Russia at a critical time still keeps a force hovering along the border of Afghanistan. Perhaps the most reassuring feature of the situation is the fact apparently that Russia is not yet ready to act. Great Britain seems to be well on the way to victory in South Africa, and with every British success the inducements for foreign intervention are lessened. It is not to be believed that the French Government would willingly act on the aggressive without an assurance of the support of its nominal ally.

Russia, apparently, is the key to the situation, which, if not menacing, is at least sufficiently grave to have caused anxiety among even the more sober minded and more thoughtful Frenchmen. Without Russia, France would be playing a dangerous game to aggravate any further the present strained situation. Whether or not, in case France did overstep the bounds and Great Britain's attention were to be divided between two wars, Russia could refrain from making use of its opportunities is a question.

FOR SENDING POISONED CANDY.

Trial of Miss Viola Horlocker Begins at Hastings, Neb.

The case of Miss Viola Horlocker, charged with attempting to kill Mrs. Charles F. Morey by poison, was called for trial in the District Court at Hastings, Neb., Monday. The attorneys for the defense asked time in which to file an affidavit for continuance, setting up the facts that Mrs. Horlocker, mother of the accused, is very sick in New York City, and that it is absolutely necessary that she be here at the trial. The attorneys for the prosecution resisted the application and it was refused.

MISS HORLOCKER.

April 10, 1899, a box of poisoned bonbons was left at the studio door of Mrs. Charles F. Morey, and several persons ate of the candy and were made very ill. Miss Viola Horlocker, a stenographer in the employ of Mr. Morey, was charged with the crime and arrested. It is claimed that the girl was infatuated with her employer.

Miss Horlocker is highly connected and was a society leader as well as leader of All Saints' Church choir. So far as is known the familiarity of the girl extended no further than frequent bicycle rides, in which Mrs. Morey occasionally joined.

EXPORTS BREAK THE RECORD.

February Foreign Trade Averaged $5,000,000 a Day.

A Washington dispatch says that the month of February, 1900, has made the most remarkable record of any February in the history of our foreign commerce. The exports during that month have averaged $5,000,000 for every business day in the month, and the total exports were $119,765,762, or more than 25 per cent greater than that of any preceding February. Not only are the exports larger than those of any preceding February, but the excess of exports over imports is also much larger than in any preceding February, surpassing those of 1898 by nearly 25 per cent and being more than 50 per cent in excess of that of any earlier year. February is a month of heavy importations, and it frequently happens that the imports exceed the exports, so that an excess of $50,001,612 in exports over imports in February makes the record of the month a remarkable one, despite the fact that the importations which amounted to $68,774,150 were slightly larger than those of any preceding year except 1893.

Telegraphic Brevities.

A new export to Hawaii is rice, which is raised in Louisiana.

Boice City can talk over the telephone with San Francisco, 1,000 miles away.

Capital invested in farming in this country is estimated at $16,000,000,000.

The peanut crop of 1899 is nearly 1,000,000 bushels heavier than the crop of 1898.

The 3c piece is not entirely out of circulation, according to a Pennsylvania banker. He took in 900 of them last year.

Seven counties in western New York received nearly $5,000,000 for their apple crop last year.

A provision of a new charter drafted for St. Paul limits school expenditures to $25 per pupil per year.

Charles Henry Gibbs, the keeper of a lighthouse on Nantucket Island, enjoys a salary of $1 a year.

Three hundred thousand bushel of potatoes will be ground in Wisconsin starch factories this year.

Meat is very dear in Havana to the retail buyer. The price for beef is about 35c a pound, and is very poor beef at that.

INDIANA INCIDENTS.

RECORD OF EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK.

Smallpox Quarantine Enforced with a Whip—Novel Punishment of a Young Incendiary—Unhappy Marriage Results Fatally—New Church Burns.

Two women living at Lyons caught smallpox and were promptly placed in quarantine. They imagined they had the chickenpox and were angry because they were not allowed to go and come as they pleased. One of them said she would get even with the town authorities by spreading the disease all over the place. They started out in male attire. The health authorities had a man on guard and he attempted to stop them. They attacked him and he was forced to beat a hasty retreat. The next night he armed himself with a blacksnake whip and when they attempted to leave the house he gave them each a whipping and drove them back.

Gets a Spanking in Court.

Willie Goldver, aged 9 years, who confessed that he had set several buildings on fire just to see the department make a run and the firemen fight the flames, was given a whipping in police court at Evansville upon order of Judge J. G. Winfrey. Thomas Goldver, the father, was present and told the court he was willing to whip the lad. The boy was led into the detention room and given a dozen or more lashes. The whipping was done with an old bicycle tire which had been cut into long strips and which has the same effect as a cat-o'-nine tails.

Biggest Indiana Woman Dead.

Mrs. Lida Greycraft, the largest woman in Indiana, died suddenly at her home in Russiaville, aged 32 years. She was sitting at a table with her husband, Joseph Greycraft, playing dominoes, when she fell from her chair dead. Her weight was about 550 pounds. A coffin had to be constructed especially for her, the largest casket obtainable being too small for the body. She was a daughter of George Unger of Middle Fork, a family noted for large physical proportions.

Kills His Wife and Himself.

Alfred Gregory, aged 36, a farmer living near Winslow, fatally shot his wife and ended his life by shooting himself through the heart. The husband and wife have not lived happily for the last year. Gregory left a note in which he said his life was one of torment and he wanted to die. Six children survive the parents. Gregory owned one of the largest farms in Pike County and belonged to several secret societies.

Church at Lafayette Burned.

The newly erected St. Paul's Church at Lafayette was completely gutted by fire. The fire started from an explosion in the furnace room, due to escaping gas. The janitor had just left the building when the explosion occurred. The building was mortgaged for $16,000. The loss will be about $35,000, with $20,000 insurance. Nothing was saved.

Farmers Heirs to $4,000,000.

Zachariah and Frederick Sheneman, farmers of Liberty township, have been informed by their attorney that they are heirs to a $4,000,000 estate at Berlin, Germany.

Within Our Borders.

Muncie labor union members are preparing to erect a temple of labor, to cost about $50,000.

Marvin H. Cook, aged 31 years, died at New Albany of lockjaw, caused by a slight bruise on a finger.

The Hon. C. E. Shively of Richmond will deliver the commencement day address at Hanover College, of which he is a graduate.

Lee Miller and Charles Hill of Sullivan went hunting and Miller was accidentally shot by his companion, who carried a Flobert rifle.

Robert Mansfield, formerly of the Marion Morning News and now consul at Zanzibar, has secured a leave of absence and is on his way home.

John Hare and Alvah Warner, Wabash County farmers, were badly hurt by the bursting of a circular saw which they were operating on Hare's farm.

The new Methodist Church at Chester has been completed ready for dedication, which will take place soon. The building is modern and cost about $3,000.

What will be known as the Eighteenth Separate Company, I. N. G., was organized at Greencastle with fifty-nine members. Maj. Muller of Indianapolis was mustering officer.

The Howard County Agricultural and Driving Association, after lying dormant for two seasons, has been reorganized and will hold a fair the coming summer. There will be a race meeting July 23, 24 and 25.

The Sheedy Oil Company has been organized at Montpelier, with $10,000 capital. J. F. Brotherton is president; R. H. Alexander, vice-president; Frank Sheedy, secretary, and A. H. Bonham, treasurer.

The fourth section of a Panhandle freight train bumped into the third section at Marion water tank. John Suberty, fireman of the third section, was thrown from the tender by the shock and painfully injured. Several cars were wrecked.

Miss Myrtle Daugherty of Chicago brought suit in the Kosciusko County Circuit Court against Neal Pinkerton, a farmer, charging breach of promise, and demanding $10,000 damages. A judgment was given against Pinkerton for $1,475. Pinkerton now seeks to escape paying the judgment by filing proceedings in bankruptcy. The judgment for breach of promise is the only debt set forth, and Pinkerton declares his assets to be only $20, which is exempt.

At Jeffersonville Sarah Edwards was found dead in bed. She had committed suicide.

The Wolcottville roller mills, owned by S. L. Myers, were totally destroyed by fire. A large amount of stored wheat was destroyed. Loss $12,000, insurance $2,500.

An old hermit named Reitter was found dead in his cabin three miles below Evansville. Coroner Walker made a search of the premises and found $500 in gold hidden under the carpet. Reitter went there forty years ago and had lived in the one hut ever since.

The block coal miners of the eighth district held an all-day session at Brazil to discuss the mining situation. It is stated that by a majority vote the miners decided to demand the weekly pay.

The extensive department store known as the Star store, at Indianapolis, ow

NATURE.

As a fond mother, when the day is o'er,
Leads by the hand her little child to bed,
Half willing, half reluctant to be led,
And leave his broken playthings on the floor,
Still gazing at them through the open door,
Nor wholly reassured and comforted
By promises of others in their stead,
Which, though more splendid, may not please him more—
So Nature deals with us and takes away
Our playthings, one by one, and by the hand
Leads us to rest so gently that we go
Scarce knowing if we wished to go or stay,
Being too full of sleep to understand
How far the unknown transcends the what we know.
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Aunt Phebe's Story.

I AM willing to confess that I would have married Gus Waters at a word. He was the sort of young man a girl instinctively likes and trusts. Perhaps this is not the kind of feeling the story books call love, but I fancy it is just as good.

Gus was good-looking, with strongly marked features, rather tall, and well built, and when he chose to be well dressed made a good appearance, and never looked ill, however old his clothes might be, when about his ordinary work. He did not depend upon his clothes to command respect.

He had a calm, confident air, and could express himself concisely when he needed to assert authority. That is what a woman likes—to have a man able to deal with men and not be turned aside from his purpose or make a mistake. He was a good talker, with a fine, coy humor, not putting himself forward to be amusing, but easily holding his own. Like most strong men, Gus was hard to provoke to a quarrel, though in his school days he had his allowance of fisticuff encounters.

Yes, I will admit I would have married Gus had he asked me, though I did not think he was in love with me nor I with him. I did not believe he would fall deeply in love with anyone.

Perhaps I was too reserved, or feared to show a decided preference unless it was shown first, though other girls said I threw myself at his head, and was greatly chagrined when he devoted himself to Hattie Trude. I had other admirers, and if I was not as handsome as Hattie, mere beauty is not everything. There is no denying that Hattie was the prettiest girl of our set, and she was pretty without having to care for her complexion or wear becoming clothes. We girls all knew she was intolerably selfish, and wondered that the young men did not find her out. But beauty hides a great many defects of character, and if a girl only pretends to be kind and sympathetic she is supposed to possess all the angelic qualities.

One day Robert Carpenter asked me to marry him. He proposed in a blundering, roundabout way, so clumsily that I did not know at first what he meant. He made me almost as confused as himself, and whether I said yes or no I do not now recollect, but he went away smiling, so I conclude he thought himself an accepted lover, and I had a ring which I put away in a box, undecided whether to wear it or give it back.

I don't think I expected that Gus would hear of this and come forward as Robert's rival. He did not, at any rate. When I met him he simply said:

"Well, little girl, so you are engaged to Carpenter. He is a good fellow, but you are young. You should have waited a little longer."

"An engagement does not mean marriage," I replied, somewhat sharply.

"No, but I think it ought. It keeps many young men straight to be engaged, but they ought to feel confident that the girl's heart is fixed upon them."

"Perhaps the girl's heart has little to do with the matter nowadays. She has to consider other things."

"Yes, I suppose so. But the heart is not to be ignored."

This was about all that was said—nothing to suggest that Gus was jealous or likely to enter the list for my hand. Nor did I expect it, though gossips reported the contrary.

Robert was impatient to be married, but I was not. He accused me of being cold, and of not reciprocating his passion. Possibly all men in love are apt to act childishly. I found Robert's attentions wearisome. It might be said that he would be cured of them by marriage, but this is a painful experience to look forward to.

One evening we had a quarrel. He accused me of a secret admiration for Mr. Hayes—that I held him off hoping Gus would come forward as a suitor, and added, as a final rebuke, that he and Hattie Trude had been married the day before. He showed me a paper with the marriage notice printed in it.

I was so angry at the accusation that at first I told him the engagement between us was broken. Then he began to plead for himself, expressing such sorrow at his hasty words that gradually I relented. After all, had I treated him rightly? At last I agreed to marry him at once. It was becoming the fashion to plan a half elopement and save the expenses and publicity of a regular wedding at home. I consented to marry him the next day.

After Robert departed I looked for the newspaper containing the notice, but could not find it. He had had several in his hand, but the special copy he had taken with him. I do not know what prompted me to write a note of congratulation to Gus and dispatch it by my brother Ned, a lad of 12. I mentioned having seen the notice in the paper, and said I was sorry he had not confided in me.

It was after 10 o'clock, and I retired to my room. Half an hour later I heard Ned coming upstairs. He stopped at my door.

"Did you see Gus?" I asked from within.

"Yes. He's downstairs. He came back with me."

"What does he want?"

"He wants to see you, I guess."

"What for?"

"He didn't say. Probably wants to borrow your overshoes. Better go down and ask him."

I went down. He didn't want to borrow anything. On the contrary, he wanted me to give him something to keep—my hand, my heart. He said the notice of his being married was a confounded fraud—that Robert must have had it inserted in a few copies of the paper by special agreement—it could be done if one was willing to pay for it. He was in quite an excited frame of mind, and I hardly knew my usual placid Gus.

"Of course, when you were engaged to Robert, it was not for me to make any attempt to win you. I thought you knew your own mind, and had decided that I was not the sort of fellow you cared to marry. But this trick gives me a right to speak. Am I too late?"

Naturally, I told him he was. That if he had cared for me in that way he ought to have come forward long before. Now that my word was plighted to Robert, and I could not think of breaking it, though he had acted in a most despicable manner, in a manner to make me ashamed to think he was my plighted lover—and so on.

To which Gus replied:

"All right, little girl. If you think so, I had better go and give him the worst licking he ever had in his life, even though they do send me to jail for it. But you won't care."

"I shall care."

"Then we'd better get married at once, early to-morrow morning. How early can you be ready?"

I ought to have resisted longer, but I didn't. I consented to be ready at any hour that he should name—and I was—and we were married.

And that is all there is to the story.

HAVE SAME SUPERSTITION.

Islanders Fifteen Thousand Miles Apart Believe in Evil Spirits.

Philosophic people who belong to the folk lore society are fond of tracing legends and myths and customs all over the world. Cinderella, the dear girl, is found in one knows not how many peoples, speaking innumerable tongues and believing an equal number of religions. How did Cinderella become ubiquitous? The transactions of the Folk Lore Society will perhaps offer a theory.

Now, there has been unraveled a curious superstition common to Shetlanders and Singhalese. How islanders so wide apart—some 15,000 miles—managed to adopt each other's views one does not know. But here is the fact. The rice cultivators of Ceylon and the fishermen of Shetland resemble each other in one or two rather remarkable points. They refrain from speaking of the implements of their calling by their names; they call them something else, by names known only to themselves. The reason is that if the evil spirit were to think that they were speaking of spades and rakes or of nets and hooks he would be tempted to damage them, or even to appropriate them.

The train of thought is the same with both races. "There is an evil spirit always on the lookout for opportunities of doing mischief. He even hears what we say. If we let him understand that we are talking about our implements and tools we shall direct his attention to them and shall suggest to him a way of doing an injury. Therefore, we will agree to call a boat or a spade by some fancy name known only to ourselves."

Another custom of the Shetlander, not possible to the rice grower, is that if in fishing his net catches something at the bottom and a stone is brought up it is not to be thrown back again for fear of offending the evil spirit, who most certainly put it into the net. It is to be kept in the boat until the net again catches. Then it is to be dropped in the water with the words: "Take your own and give me mine," whereupon the net is at once released. Now, if the Singhalese were to turn fisher, would he, following the same line of thought, adopt a similar custom?—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Snake Bite in India.

Fully twenty thousand of the population of India are annually killed by snake bites. The most deadly of all Indian reptiles appears to be the cobra di capello, which is greatly dreaded by the bare-legged Hindoos. With a view to reducing the mortality, the government tried the effect of offering a reward for snakes' heads; but, instead of diminishing the number of these reptiles, it only increased it, as it was discovered that the natives were breeding the snakes in order to secure the reward.

Origin of Hurrah.

W. J. Spratley thinks there can be no doubt that the Egyptian soldiers in ancient times went into the battle to the inspiring cheer of the "Hoo Ra! Hoo Ra! Hoo Ro!" And if the average questioning man asks why, he replies with this: "Because Hoo Ra (in the tongue of the Thotmes and the Rameses) means 'the King! the King! the King!'"

When a man despises the community in which he lives, the community is not at fault, but there is something wrong with the man.

CLAYTON-BULWER TREATY.

History of the Compact Between United States and Great Britain.

The "Clayton-Bulwer treaty" derives its name from the diplomatists who negotiated it—on the part of the United States, Hon. John M. Clayton, Secretary of State in President Taylor's administration; and on the part of England, Sir Henry Bulwer, British minister at Washington. The "treaty"—to use proper diplomatic language it was a "convention," and not a treaty—was concluded in 1850. Its purpose was to promote the building of an isthmian canal, to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. In 1849 the United States had made a convention with Nicaragua for constructing such a canal, starting at Greytown, on the Atlantic. But Greytown was occupied by British settlers, and Great Britain claimed a protectorate over the Mosquito Indians, who held the eastern coast of Nicaragua. The United States desired Great Britain to waive its claims, but as the request was denied the next best thing seemed to be the establishment of a joint protectorate over the proposed canal. This was done by the "Clayton-Bulwer treaty," one condition of which was that neither power should secure exclusive privileges in the canal, and another that neither power should occupy or exercise dominion over any part of Central America.

Since the convention was made, and especially during the last few years, the building of an isthmian canal has become increasingly important to the United States; but it is important also that the canal should be under the sole control of the United States. This could not be while the convention was in force. It has been sometimes suggested, but never formally insisted upon in diplomatic correspondence, that Great Britain has violated the convention by continuing to exercise dominion over British Honduras. So long as Great Britain did not take this view of the matter, awkward questions might arise after the canal should be constructed.

The recent Hay-Pauncefote pact, abrogating the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, provides for a neutral channel. This instrument leaves the United States free to build and control a canal, which is not to be fortified, but to be kept always open and neutral, under the rules which govern the management of the Suez Canal. Opponents of the measure claim that it admits all the dangerous features of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty without compensating advantages, and that, as usual, England concedes what she does not hold to obtain what she wants, but cannot get.

TERRITORY INVOLVED IN CLAYTON-BULWER TREATY.

High Priced.

The most expensive material worked into a garment was the gold brocade purchased in 1670 for a robe for King Louis XIV., at a cost of about $85 a yard. Not long ago, however, the German Empress had a coverlet woven in white silk upon a flat background, on which flowers, leaves and birds projected in relief. The design was not embroidered, but woven in a unique way. The Empress was so pleased with it that she employed it as a tapestry for her boudoir. The cost of this material was $112 a yard, of which the weaver got one-sixth.

Blind People.

So far as the most recent statistics go, the known proportion of blind people is about one in fifteen hundred, which would give a total of one million blind in the world. The largest proportion is found in Russia, which has in Europe 200,000 blind in a population of 96,000,000, or one in 480. Most of these are found in the northern provinces of Finland, and the principal cause is ophthalmia, due to bad ventilation of the huts of the peasantry and the inadequate facilities for treatment. There is a great deal of blindness in Egypt, due to glowing sand.

School for Scandal Closed.

Springfield, Mo., women have organized a "don't speak evil" society, each member signing this agreement: "I do hereby solemnly pledge my word to speak no evil of any woman, whether such report be true or not. Any violation of this pledge, however, does not release me from its subsequent obligations, which are to continue for all time to come." This is interpreted to mean: "If at first you don't succeed try, try again."

Largest Geyser in the World.

The largest geyser in the world is the Excelsior geyser in Yellowstone Park. Its basin is 200 feet across and 330 feet deep. The basin is full of boiling water, from which clouds of steam are constantly ascending. At long intervals water is spouted into the air to a height of from fifty to 300 feet.

Britain in America.

British landlords are said to own 20,000 acres of land in the United States, an area larger than that of Ireland.

Making other folks miserable is the one enjoyment of the chronic dyspeptic.

WOMAN'S REALM

IN DEFENSE OF STEPMOTHERS.

MOST of us have been brought up on the good old orthodox "fairy tales," is the position taken by M. E. J. Kelley when making "A Plea for the Stepmother," in the Woman's Home Companion. "We have imbibed with our earliest draughts of literature the notion that stepmothers are all wicked and cruel fiends. The novelist of later date, taking their cue from the fairy stories, have elaborated on this assumption until the very name of 'stepmother' carries with it a suggestion of cruelty and oppression. We find it quite credible that when the sweetest girl of our acquaintance becomes a stepmother she will feed her own babies on angel-cake and make the dead wife's children get on with plain brown bread. We are shocked, of course, but we expect all manner of atrocious things from stepmothers.

"The stepmother's side of the case is never heard. It seems to be the first wife's friends who rush into print always. As a rule, too, they are the ones who stir up trouble in the first place between the children and their stepmother. Once in a while, no doubt, there is a wicked, cruel stepmother of the story-book type, because there are still some wicked, cruel women in the world, in spite of all the evidences of women's advancement. When talking about stepmothers, however, we rarely recall the fine types of stepmothers who stand out bravely in the pages of more than one biography. There was that remarkable family to which Maria Edgeworth belonged, with its more than twenty children and two stepmothers. Their father had been married three times, and each stepmother was mourned as heartily by her stepchildren as by her own. And there was Mrs. Johnson, Lincoln's stepmother, whom he always loved and provided for, and she must certainly have loved him in quite motherly fashion. Otherwise she could hardly have paid him that charming tribute, 'He was the best boy she every knew or expected to know.' She never knew him once to refuse to do anything she wanted him to do or to seem not to want to do it."

Men Don't Like Untidy Women.

"We all know how some women, after a year or two of married life, get careless about their dress," says a novelist. "They seem to think that their fortune is made, and it isn't necessary to arrange the hair becomingly, and put on a prety gown, just for their husbands. This is all wrong, and it is an error that arises from laziness.

"Men like to see thir wives look pretty, just as they did when they were but sweethearts. Take a woman's advice, and if you can have but one attractive gown, let that be the one to wear indoors. Endeavor to have daintily arranged hair and a neat and simple costume for breakfast.

"Go in largely for laces. A man is very fond of frills; bits of white about the neck and wrists always appeal strongly to him. Have well-fitting boots or slippers, as the case may be; and, in fact, study to make yourself just as winsome after the fish is landed as when you were not so sure of him."

Teaches the Indians.

Miss Estelle Reel is the first woman to hold the office of national superintendent of Indian schools. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs appointed Miss Reel last summer. At that time she was superintendent of schools in Wyoming. In discharging the duties of that office and in her travels in the West she had become familiar with the Indians and their educational needs. Under her direction an institute for the teachers of Indian schools was held at Colorado Springs early last fall. Miss Reel believes the Indians capable of great development. The Government is doing great things for them in the 500 schools set apart for their use. Of the 500,000 Indians in the United States 50,000 are of school age. What is needed most is manual training, and it is needed in every grade of the schools. Miss Reel is now introducing this feature of work.

MISS ESTELLE REEL.

A Poor Mental Diet.

Do not suffer your mind to dwell on unpleasant reflections—that sort of thing has been the destruction of my health. Nothing is so bad as want of health—it makes one envy scavengers and cinder-shifters. There are enough real distresses and evils in wait for everyone to try the most vigorous health. Not that I would say yours are not real—but they are such as to tempt you to employ your imagination on them rather than endeavor to dismiss them entirely. Do not diet your mind with grief—it destroys the constitution.

A Model Hostess.

A woman may possess wealth untold, she may have the kindest of hearts and the brightest of minds, but unless she has absolute control of her feelings there will be some time in her career as hostess that she will display annoyance or flurry, and the contagion spreading to her guests will cause an otherwise successful entertainment to die out in undisguised failure. A model hostess must to all appearances be made all of good humor so far as disagreeable happenings are concerned. Even though a guest or careless waiter inadvertently breaks a bit of china which can never be replaced, she must smile as though the loss of the entire set would but emphasize the pleasure of the evening. Her well-bred calm inspires her guests with a feeling of confidence, and though in her heart she may be very dubious about certain important details of her dinner or dance, if she does not show her anxiety everything will pass off to a happy conclusion. A flurried hostess or nervous host, whose countenances but sadly conceal the worry they feel, can do more toward making the guest uncomfortable than if the soup were stone cold and the salad dressing were ruined by a too bountiful quantity of vinegar. An imperturbable calm and a ready tact are the two important factors in the making of a model hostess. Secure these and you need never fear for the success of any of your entertainments.
—Philadelphia Times.

The summer dresses promise to be more trimmed and belaced and beribboned than ever, yet one can have a long range of choice and be as simple and as dignified as may be desired, and look all the more attractive for it. The illustration shows you one of the newest designs in skirts, one sure of popularity. The patterns for sale in many different places are so well cut and so carefully described that the very beginner in sewing can hardly fail in making her own garments. This skirt has a front gore, a gore on each side, and two back gores which give the width necessary to lay in a double box plait. The hips fit very smooth, all the fullness being taken up in the hip dart. The placket is in the left front seam. These seams are finished with stitching, but several rows of narrow braid may be used instead, or it is pretty without either. This is a desirable pattern for wool, muslin or silk, and permits of any style of trimming.

THE NEWEST DESIGN FOR SKIRTS.

A delightful feature of this new box plait or Watteau fold, as it is also called, in the middle back of the skirts, is that old skirts may be made over by opening the back seam and introducing this plait. It is cut with a fold in the center and bias edge. The extra fullness of the original skirt is tucked in small tucks over the hip, extending sometimes nearly the length of the skirt, and pressed as flat and smooth as if cut from plain goods. The Watteau plait may be of another material, and the sleeves to match it. This will afford opportunity to renovate dresses with but small outlay.

Nobody Knows but Mother.

Nobody knows of the work it makes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the steps it takes,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody listens to childish woes,
Which kisses only smother;
Nobody's pained by naughty blows,
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the sleepless care
Bestowed on baby brother;
Nobody knows of the tender pray'r,
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the lessons taught
Of loving one another;
Nobody knows of the patience sought,
Nobody—only mother.

Nobody knows of the anxious fears
Lest darlings may not weather
The storms of life in after years,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody kneels in the throne above
To thank the Heavenly Father
For that sweetest gift—a mother's love;
Nobody can—but mother.

Rightly Economic.

To be judiciously economical requires a master mind. Less great minds never make a success of it, but become mean or miserly. But when one has to count the pennies, this kind of economy is invaluable. If you are careful you will not only save, but get more out of what you have already got. When you get a letter tear the half sheet off; it will save letter paper for making shop lists, etc., on. When you drop a pin or a hairpin, pick it up, instead of letting it be swept up in the dustpan. When you see a hole, mend it, when you tear anything, stick it together. Always keep your clothes well brushed and neat; never let a loose hook or a tiny ravel go unlooked after.

Eating Before Retiring.

"There is a general prejudice against eating before going to bed, which in many instances is unfounded," says a prominent physician. "In the case of persons who are feeble or sleep poorly a cup of hot milk taken just before retiring will often produce quiet sleep and provide needed nourishment. No one should go to bed hungry; but plain food, such as a bowl of bread and milk, a slice of bread and butter or a saucer of oatmeal and milk, is desirable. Many an hour of sleeplessness may be avoided by such a repast."

The female mosquito has given a bad name to the whole race; she alone doing all the biting and singing for the family.

BULLETS THAT TEAR.

EFFECTS OF BOER AND BRITISH PROJECTILES.

Take Queer Shapes When They Come in Contact with Substances that Cause Them to Deflect and Change Their Line of Rotation.

The worst thing a soldier has to dread is to be hit by a bullet from a small-bore rifle. In the war in South Africa, if he is a Boer, he has reason to shudder at the thought of being struck by the Mark IV. bullet; if he is a British soldier he has almost equal cause to dread the frightful wounds made by the Mauser bullets. All are doubtless aware of the unenviable notoriety which the dum-dum bullet has already gained, experts having, probably without a single exception, characterized it as "unnecessarily cruel, detestable, and inhuman." The destructive power of any bullet is represented by the amount of force it can dispose of on its passage through the body, and the greater the expansibility the greater the force spent in the tissues, and the greater the destruction produced. The ideal destructive bullet is one which expends all its force in the tissues on impact, and the modified British service bullet comes very near perfection.

Perhaps a third factor in the destructive power of bullets is the corkscrew-like spin of the bullet round its axis of projection. The spin is slight in the Mauser bullet and the Mark IV. bullet, but it is very considerable when the mantle is open in front. Undoubtedly this spin is the immediate cause of much of the debris that occurs in wounds. The service bullet has a destructive effect more than half as much again as the Mauser—the bullet of the Boers; but it must not be forgotten that either may be made easily into a dum-dum, and then the destructive effect is increased by threefold, but the increase in destructive effect is much greater in the Mauser.

HOW BULLETS SPLIT.

The above sketch was made from bullets actually taken from wounded soldiers. The two depicted at the top are dum-dum bullets, the others those used by the British.

In comparing the destructive effects of bullets on the human body three types of wounds have to be distinguished: Pure flesh wounds, wounds in which bone is involved and crushing effects are produced, and wounds in which the bullet has passed through a cavity with fluid contents, such as the capsule of the liver containing blood and hepatic substance, the medullary cavity of a long bone containing marrow, or the skull containing brain and blood. Further, it is important to recognize clearly that neither the wound of entrance nor the wound of exit is any index to the amount of destruction wrought. The entrance and exit wounds of fully mantled bullets are almost invariably equal to the diameter of the bullet. Arteries, tendons, or nerves situated in the axis of the projection are cut through, but if outside that axis and yet in the destructive track of the bullet they are left practically uninjured. But the results are quite different when a bullet meets with a bone. It crashes into it like a steamer into a wide and thin ice floe, carrying ever a wider and greater accumulation in front of it, until it bursts through and strews fragments in all directions as it makes its exit in the softer and less resistant tissues beyond. Bone is the dust bin in which the bullet's energy is spent.

All the small-bore bullets, at high velocities, can rid themselves on bone of sufficient energy to work damage absolutely fatal to the future of a limb. The dum-dum bullet only differs from the others in that the destruction wrought is infinitely greater and, therefore, the fatality doubly sure.

A bullet entering the brain at a low velocity drives the contents against the walls of the carnial cavity, but it has not momentum enough to drive them with a rupturing force. A flat-nosed bullet, like the dum-dum, is able to transfer its momentum more rapidly and more effectually than a fully mantled bullet—hence its greater explosive effect. The grotesquely shaped bullets depicted, tell a story of the fearfully destructive power of modern rifle bullets. Some of them have been taken from the maimed living subjects, both men and animals, whose flesh and bones caused the bullets to double up and take the forms portrayed.

Gives Them a Traveled Air.

An ingenious Philadelphian is making an income out of a very novel source. He is the agent for a number of foreign steamship lines and in a position to get hold of any number of different kinds of labels, such as are attached to trunks and other baggage of passengers going abroad or coming from foreign tours. These he sells to individuals who wish to create the impression when they carry their dress-suit case in public that they have been abroad. Numbers of young men who have never been out of the country are said to be posing in this way as foreign travelers of considerable experience.

Dollars in Common.

"What's mine is yours!" the heiress said
To the count, her husband, and ever hence
They happily lived, for in many a case
Common dollars may take the place,
In a measure, of common sense.
—Detroit Free Press.

Many of the things that come to the man who waits find him asleep and go on again.

WHEN WOMEN VOTED.

Privilege Extended to Unmarried Owners of Property.

Kentucky, which in 1845 made voters of widows and spinsters who were holders of real estate, only followed the footsteps of Maryland, which had done the same thing thirty years before. I have not the authorities at hand which would enable me to give exact dates, but about the year 1820 unmarried women who were holders of real estate to a given amount were entitled to vote, and did very generally exercise the right of franchise.

In colonial days the States of the South generally made the ownership of property a requisite to the exercise of the right of franchise, while the New England colonies generally made church membership a necessary qualification of the voter. Following the idea that only property holders should vote, it was a natural step to conclude that all property holders should vote. Maryland, therefore, decided that where the ownership of property was vested in a woman who had not a husband to represent her she should be a voter.

I have many times heard my grandmother tell of voting during the days of her widowhood and describe the manner of exercising the franchise in those days. There was but one voting place in the county, and all electors were required to go to the county town to cast their votes. She lived in the county of Talbot, and the voting place for the entire county was Easton, the county seat. There was no casting of a ballot, nor was the system like the viva voce vote which prevailed in Kentucky until a few years ago. But the candidates for office sat in the election room, and each voter was expected to look them over and select one for whom he or she desired to vote, and the clerks made a record of the decision. Candidates for State offices were expected to have representatives in each county. These were leading people of the party to which the candidate belonged, and each one was expected to be well qualified to discuss the merits of the candidate he represented. In those days the elections lasted four days in order to give ample time for every one to get to the voting place. Some time late in the '40s the spirit of progress required a sweeping away of the barriers which the property qualification had set up, and a constitutional convention decided in favor of giving the ballot to every white male voter who had reached the age of 21 years. As the right of a woman to vote was based on the idea of property qualification, when that was swept away she lost the ballot.

I merely recall this fact to show that Maryland, which was the first colony to guarantee religious liberty to all her people, and which took the first steps toward securing the present Constitution of the United States, was also the first to give the ballot to woman.—Boston Transcript.

Uses of Weather Forecasts.

The weather forecasts are of value in a great many ways not thought of by most people. For example, they are most useful in the business of carrying fresh meats by rail, the temperature of the cars being regulated in accordance with the predictions. The same method is employed in carrying fruit, and, in case of a freeze advertised in advance, car loads of such perishable merchandise are apt to be detained in a southern latitude, even after they have started, rather than forward them northward under unfavorable conditions. Even the heating of large office buildings is managed nowadays with reference to the weather bureau's forecast. Fuel companies and ice companies find it to their interest to watch the predictions carefully, and growers of cranberries solicit and receive special warnings of cold waves.

Some very funny cranks write to the weather bureau from time to time. On one occasion Chief Moore received a letter from a rich but very ignorant old woman who had a notion that he could make it rain or not as he desired. She wanted to give a lawn party on a certain date, and wrote to ask if the weather could not be clear on that afternoon, so that her guests would enjoy themselves. To make her communication more impressive, she inclosed a list of the names of several prominent people whom she intended to invite.

"I entered into the humor of the thing," says Prof. Moore, "and sent her an answer to the effect that the afternoon she designated had already been bespoken by a poor washerwoman who wanted to obtain some rainwater with which to wash clothes, and that on this account I could not possibly make it clear on that date."

Substitutes for Perfume.

The various devices adopted to serve as a substitute for liquid perfume has never been entirely satisfactory when it comes to the necessity of imparting an enduring scent to a gown. The little silver hearts, perforated and containing the solid pellets of perfume, were rather ornamental than useful, even when there were no substitutes for them. They are still in use and dropped into the deepest recesses of the corsage, exude a faint and not very enduring perfume. Most of the Paris dressmakers put into convenient places in a gown the small bags of sachet powder of the scent affected by the wearer. Nearly every woman, who makes an effort to keep up with these novelties in daintiness, has her set of little sachet bags to be worn in the corsage, even if she does not have them sewed in every dress.

A Test of Amiability.

"Ordinarily," said Col. Stillwell, "I object to the conundrum. I regard it as a primitive form of humor. I also resent these constant gibes at the State of Kentucky. They represent both deficiency of taste and poverty of resource. But just to show," he continued deliberately, "that I am a broad-minded man who can accept a joke amiably I will ask you a question: What is the difference between the State of Massachusetts and Kentucky?"

"Give it up, Colonel."

"Massachusetts produces boots and shoes and Kentucky produces shoots and boose. And I want to say I'm glad I thought of it first, for if anybody else had sprung a remark like that on me unexpectedly I wouldn't care to answer for the consequences."—Washington Star.

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Real Estate!

Partial List of Real Estate For Sale by Moody & Rickel, Auburn, Ind.

NO. 38. 40-acre farm, good buildings, 2-story house, fair barn, cellar, well and cistern. 30 acres clear, but timber soil black loam. Only 40 miles from Cleveland, O., 3 miles from Garrettville, ¾ mile to Nelson Ry., 2 churches, high school 2 miles from Mahoning. Will sell part cash, balance time or trade for farm in DeKalb county.

NO. 52. A large brick house, 2 lots, cistern, well, fruit and shade trees; will sell for ½ its value, $200 cash; balance on long time, ten years if necessary; low interest. This is a snap for someone who wants a good home.

NO. 54. 64 acres of land, good buildings, 2½ miles from Auburn on gravel road; orchard, well, cistern, black and clay loam, all tiled; barn 45x55, L 24x36. This farm can be had at a bargain, part cash, balance on long time.

NO. 55. A 6-room residence, wood house, cistern, well, cellar under the whole house, good chicken house, good fruit and shade trees, on Ensley's Ave. This will make a nice home—easy terms.

NO. 56. A fine 5-room residence on South Cedar street; water works in house, good shade and fruit trees, sidewalk, well and cistern.

NO. 57. 80-acre farm 5½ miles from Auburn, ¼ mile from Ry. station P. O., good 7-room house; barn 32x54 with L 14x44, wind-pump, hog pen, chicken house, out-cellar, good orchard. 45 acres cleared, cleared, ditched and tiled; balance good timber; was offered $1,000 for all timber over 18 inches 4 years ago when timber was low in price. Will sell this farm cheap on easy terms if taken soon.

No. 58—40 acre farm, 10 acres fine timber worth $400, good house, cost $1500; fine barn 36x60, good orchard, good cellar, good fences, soil the best, cleared land all tiled, 1-4 mile from school, 3 miles from good town.

No. 59—80 acre farm ½ mile from railroad station, school, church, store, postoffice, etc., 8 acres good timber, bal cleared, ditched and tiled; splendid soil no waste land, good house, barns, hog pen, wagon shed and cribs. Will sell at a bargain, 1-3 cash, balance long-time, must be sold quick.

No. 60—Residence, 10 rooms, in good town, well, cistern, fruit and shade trees, 4 lots; also 3 extra lots will trade for farm and pay difference. This is a good chance for some farmer who wants to quit farming and move to town.

No. 60—30-acre farm 2½ miles from two good towns, good roads, near good lakes, log house and barn, good orchard, well, cistern, good fences, soilblack sandy loam. This farm is for sale cheap; or will trade for town property. 7 acres adjoining can be purchased.

No. 65. 8½ acres land 3 miles south of Butler, 3 acres timber, balance clear. Good land. Will sell at Bargain. Small payment down, balance on time.

No. 63. Brick residence; 8 rooms, two lots on 7th street, Auburn. Will sell on easy terms at a bargain.

No. 64. For rent, 240 acre of good, improved land, want first-class renter, to which will make desirable terms.

This is a partial list of property we have for sale, any of which can be had at a bargain. If you have property you wish to sell or trade, call and see us. We also have money on long or short time, collect rents, buy and sell notes. Call and see us if you need anything in our line. Office Cor. Main & 7th street, Auburn, Ind.

MOODY & RICKEL.

Sale of Personal Property.

Notice is hereby given that I, John S. Potts, administrator of the estate of John Henney, deceased, will offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on

FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 1900,

at the late residence of John Henney, deceased in Fairfield township, the following described personal property, belonging to the estate of said decedent, to-wit:

One cow, one pair of bobsleds, one mower, two shovel plows, harrow, wagon, corn, oats, plow, grindstone, farming implements, household and kitchen furniture.

TERMS OF SALE:—For all amounts not exceeding five dollars, cash in hand; for amounts of five dollars and upwards a credit of six months will be given. Note bearing six per cent interest after maturity, with approved security, and waiving valuation and appraisement laws, will be required.

JOHN S. POTTS, Administrator.

Never out of Season.

There is no time in the year when Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a benefit to mankind. It cures constipation and indigestion and cures diarrhœa caused by bad condition of the digestive organs. Trial size bottles 10 cents, also in 50c and $1 size, at H. B. McCord's.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of Catherine Weaver deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 12th day of April 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there appear and make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 21st day of March, 1900.

HIRAM H. WEAVER, Executor.
Rose & Rose Attys.

REWARD.

We, the undersigned druggists, offer a reward of 50 cents to any person who purchases of us, two 25 cent boxes of Baxter's Mandrake Bitters Tablets, if it fails to cure constipation, biliousness, sick-headache, jaundice, loss of appetite, sour stomach, dyspepsia, liver complaint, or any of the diseases for which it is recommended. Price 25 cents for either tablets or liquid. We will also refund the money if it fails to give satisfaction.—E. M. Fischler, F. E. Davenport and H. B. McCord.

That Throbbing Headache

Would quickly leave you, if you use Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and strong nerves and build up your health. Easy to take. Try them. Only 25 cents. Money back if not cured. Sold by H. B. McCord the druggist.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the judge of the DeKalb circuit court, of the state of Indiana, administrator of the estate of John Henney, deceased, ate of said county.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

JOHN S POTTS, Administrator.
March 12, 1900.

It Leads.

Wherever it has been introduced Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin leads all other remedies in curing constipation, indigestion and sick headache. It only costs ten cents for trial size. 10 doses 10 cents. Large size 50c and $1. H. B. McCord.

A Little Known Fact.

That the majority of serious diseases originate in disorder of the kidneys. Foley's Kidney Cure is guaranteed. Try it today if you are not feeling well. H. B. McCord.

Thursday's Daily.

—La grippe has no show against Krause's Cold Cure. Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Dr. Baxter reports a fine girl baby born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. James George, near Concord.

—The Rochester sprayer is as good as an insurance policy, and cheaper. Isn't this worth considering? 15

—Go to Sheffer & Chaney for Michigan Lake Salt, a car load just received. Guaranteed not to get hard in the barrel. oct.26w-tf

—Those who attend the state G. A. R. encampment at Terre Haute in May can travel over the railroads for 1 cent a mile.

—WANTED:—Black Walnut logs for timber. Highest cash prices paid for same. Address, The Sanders & Egbert Co., Goshen, Ind. 8

—FOR SALE:—The Wash Askew property, across north from Lutheran church, is for sale at a bargain. Call on Phil Plum, Waterloo.

—The case of Jones, Witter & Co. vs. Lettie R. Austin, decided in favor of the plaintiff at the last term, has been appealed to the appellate court.

—Mrs. James McDowell and daughters returned yesterday from their trip to Lansing and Eaton Rapids, Mich. The eldest daughter, Gladys, is much improved in health.

—J. C. Boyer, the Waterloo merchant, was here a short time today on business and made this office a brief call. He is an old-time neighbor and we are always glad to meet him.

—A number of Michigan newspapers which through competition cut their subscription price to $1.00 per year have gone back to the old rate of $1.50. The paper trust is hitting newspaper publishers pretty hard.

—John Houston of south Jackson township was here today. He has negotiated for the trade of his farm to John Carnahan. The parties will meet here Saturday to draw up the papers. Mr. Houston will realize $40 per acre out of his farm, which is a good price.

—Charles Dalman, Pleasant township, Allen county, brought a freak into Fort Wayne the other day, to be mounted by a taxidermist. It was a lamb born with one head, three ears, two eyes, eight legs and feet and two complete bodies, joined together at the neck. The lamb was dead when found.

—J. Wm. Wagner made this office a call today while over here on business. We are always pleased to meet him. He has been having another attack of rheumatism and probably bilious troubles with it, and is hardly fit to be out doors yet. His son and one daughter have also been sick, and since holidays says his home has been like a hospital. We trust the warm weather may bring him better health.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Friday's Daily.

—The Rochester sprayer "Operates the Agitator, others Agitate the Operator." 15

—C. C. Neidig of Fairfield went on our 1901 list while in town today. He says the roads are very bad now.

—Russ' Bleaching Blue makes brown muslin white in a day. All grocers sell the genuine Russ. Refuse imitation.

—A letter from J. D. Lahnum at Chicago says they have been having some very bad weather. We believe he is employed by the Singer manufactory.

—FOR SALE:—Three or four fresh cows; pure-blood Jerseys. Call on me at the old Rakestraw farm, two miles west of Auburn.—G. W. RAKESTRAW.

—The contract has been closed for the location of a pickle saltery at Ashley. Farmers in that vicinity are expected to devote 200 acres to the cultivation of cucumbers.

—E. A. Dausman has been nominated for senator by the republicans of Elkhart county. Dausman was a democrat until 1896, when he refused to support Bryan on the silver platform.

—Louis E. Clark, aged eighty-four, and Mrs. Margaret Bacon, aged seventy six, of Elwood, have eloped. They left Elwood Tuesday for Covington, Ky., to be married, the opposition of the children of the prospective bride to the proposed marriage being given as the cause of the elopement.

—Republican aspirants for the governorship of Indiana are: Enoch G. Hogate of Danville, John L. Griffiths of Indianapolis, Frank B. Posey of Evansville, Wm S. Hazzard of Lafayette, who is now lieutenant governor, Wm. T. Durbin of Anderson and Jas. S. Dodge of Elkhart, who was for a year or two editor of the Butler Record.

—Governor Mount has been asked for information that will lead to the discovery of the heirs of John St. John, who was a member of some Indiana regiment and died in Libby prison. He left two daughters. The sum of $300 now awaits them. The daughters or their heirs cannot be found. The inquiry comes from Scott H. Rorabeck, an attorney, at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Lingering LaGrippe Cough.

G. Vacher, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of lagrippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50c bottle cured her entirely." Price 25c and 50c. H. B. McCord.

Saturday's Daily.

—Mrs. Will Ashelman is at Fort Wayne visiting her sister, Mrs. Malcom Green.

—If you wish to have beautiful clear white clothes ask for Russ' Bleaching Blue. Refuse Imitations.

—FOR SALE:—Residence in desirable location on South Main street. Inquire at the home of J. E. Rose. w1d6

—Phil. Myers offers for sale his property on Joseph street. It is a nice home with a good lot of small fruits. See him for price and terms. 16

—Homes wanted in good families for an eight-year-old boy and five-year-old girl. Right and bright children. Call on Supt. Bartels at County Home. 13

—Free bus and free baggage to all points in competition to Baltimorian and Ohio points when tickets are bought at city office.—SPROTT & KNAPP. tf

—A letter from S. B. Mottinger shows that he has changed his residence from Hub, North Carolina, to Boardman, the same state. He reports himself and family all well.

—E. C. Foltz and Geo. Shoemaker put a new coat of paint on Neher's gallery roof today. They go next week to paint the big building that Sol Shearer built for the B. & O. at Garrett.

—The Lake Shore station at Stryker O., was burned Thursday afternoon. An old coach is now used as a station and the telegraph operator has temporary quarters in a switchman's shanty.

—FOR SALE:—Good nine-room house, with out-buildings, well and cistern, fruit trees and small fruits, about four blocks from public square. Will be sold on easy terms at reasonable price. Inquire at this office. d6w2

—D.E. Smith left for Auburn Monday noon. He has a good position offered him in that place and he went there for the purpose of making an investigation. He will remain two weeks and if the work does not suit him he will return.—Pierceton Record.

—Walter Eberly has filed a suit in the circuit court against Royal J. Fisk, for $5,000 damages, as a result of the case against Eberly for forgery, in which Fisk and his wife were the prosecuting witnesses, and Mr. Eberly was acquitted.

—At the November election the voters of each township will elect a township trustee, township assessor, three members of the advisory board and a road supervisor in each road district. The newly elected trustees and assessors will hold their offices for the term of four years and the road supervisors for two years.

—S. L. Myers, owner of the Wolcottville flouring mill which was burned recently, was arrested at Kendallville yesterday, charged withholding money due farmers for wheat stored in the mill at the time of the fire. Myers claims that the grain was stored at the risk of the owners and that he is not responsible for the loss.

—Harry Gill was nicely caught Thursday evening by a party of ladies and gentlemen who came in to celebrate his birthday. It was organized into a progressive pedro party and John Grescop and wife secured the two high prizes. George Dierstein and Marion Willis got the booby prizes, and they say the former is proud of his fine, new cornet.

—Beware of a firm who constantly warns you about worthless imitations, etc. Their goods haven't the merit they should have and they wish to prejudice you against goods of real merit. Putman Fadeless Dyes are the brightest, fastest and best dyes in the world, and the only dyes that are sold on a positive guarantee. Sold by F. E. Davenport.

—Neher's photograph gallery changed hands yesterday. The party buying is Mr. E. M. Pickering, an accomplished artist of Marietta, O. This gallery has been prosperous and will no doubt continue to be so under the new management. Mr. Neher wishes us to say that he trusts that the same goodwill and liberal patronage extended in the past, will be enjoyed by Mr. Pickering in the future.

—Our readers will be interested in the experience of Mr. Will H. Slep, publisher of the Altoona, Pa., Mirror, who says: "I have been a sufferer from headache for many years and can cheerfully recommend Dr. Krause's Headache Capsules as being the only preparation that has given almost instant relief. Have been using them for about six months and have never yet been disappointed in them." Sold by H. B. McCord.

—Rev. E. H. Peters of the M. E. church at Spencerville, was a caller yesterday, and we were pleased to form his acquaintance. He has been in charge at that place now two years, and is well pleased at the success attending his ministry. During these two years he has been gratified by 126 accessions to the church, and at the close, March 1, of a protracted effort, there had been 73 conversions from the date the meeting began. This is a good report for any church in a larger town.

WHY COUGH

Why cough and risk consumption, when the celebrated Dr. John W. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure you at once? It never fails to cure throat and lung troubles. For bronchitis, sore throat and hoarseness it is invaluable.

Dr. Bull's COUGH SYRUP

Will cure a Hacking Cough.

Doses are small and pleasant to take. Doctors recommend it. Price 25 cts. At all druggists.

When You Fish

For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..

HARNESS

Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on

Eberle & Freygang

Auburn, Ind.

N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

Red Cross Tansy Pills

FOR Suppressed Menstruation

PAINFUL Menstruation

And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES.

Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless

Purely Vegetable Never Fail

The Ladies' Relief.

PRICE $1.00

Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we say. Vin de Cinchona Co.

Des Moines, Iowa.

For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist

NERVITA PILLS

Restore VITALITY LOST VIGOR AND MANHOOD

Cure Impotency, Night Emissions and wasting diseases, all effects of self-abuse, or excess and indiscretion. A nerve tonic and blood builder. Brings the pink glow to pale cheeks and restores the fire of youth. By mail 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50; with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Send for circular. Address,

NERVITA MEDICAL CO.
Clinton & Jackson Sts., CHICAGO, ILL.
Davenport, The Druggist.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Billiousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles at O. P Barber's, Corunna.

The Best Salve in the World,

Is Banner Salve. It is made from a prescription by a world wide known skin specialist and is positively the most healing salve for piles, burns, scalds, ulcers, running sores and all skin diseases. H. B. McCord.

We Have It.

A self-operating spray pump, the Rochester, the only compressed air pump made. You have all got to have sprayers if you save your orchards. The recent laws are very strict. Here is a sprayer that does a combination of work. We can prove to you more than we claim for it. What is better than all, it is sold at one-half its value. For sale only by A. G. Lodewick. 15

Executor's Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given that I, William E. Rose executor of the last will of Mary J. Berry, deceased, will on

The 28th Day of April, 1900,

by virtue of the powers contained in said will, offer for sale to the highest and best bidder at public sale, the following described real estate situate in Jackson township, DeKalb county, state of Indiana, to-wit:

A part of the northeast quarter of section five (5), township thirty-three (33) north, range thirteen (13) east, bounded by a line commencing at the northwest corner of said quarter section and running thence south on the center line of said section, twelve chains and twenty-six links to a stone on the north line of lands formerly owned by John S. Feagler; thence east on the north line of said Feagler lands four chains and eight links to the center of the highway; thence north eight degrees east on the center of said highway twelve chains and fifty-three and one-half links to the north line of said section; thence west on the north line of said section six chains and forty-seven links to the place of beginning; containing six and fifty-four one-hundredths (6.54) acres of land.

Said land will be sold on the following terms, to-wit: One-third of the purchase money cash in hand, one-third in nine and one-third in eighteen months, the deferred payments to be evidenced by the purchaser's notes, waiving relief and bearing six per cent. interest, and secured by a mortgage on the real estate.

Said sale will be had on said real estate, and will begin at 2 o'clock p. m.

WILLIAM E. ROSE, Executor.

Dated March 22, 1900.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Ho, Stop, Read!

After an absence from your city of

Twenty Two Years

I am back again to do all the good I can.

Have taken the agency for the Square, Quaker, Turkish Folding Bath Cabinets. Am now prepared to make the.....

Old Young, and the Young Happy

For $5.00.

No Ailment of the Human Family, but what our Vapor Baths will Relieve. Call and see Cabinets at our home, No. 83 N. Main St., Auburn, Ind.

A. M. A. MILLER,
General Agent.

EVERYBODY KNOWS,

or SHOULD know,

how essential phosphates are to the human body

as Brain, Bone and Nerve Builders.

This Baking Powder is made of Phosphates

AND IS . . . ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Consult your Physician, then ask your Grocer for it.

ALL GROCERS SELL IT!!

We also manufacture a more expensive Baking Powder, "JUNO Cream of Tartar," which is the Purest and Best Cream of Tartar Powder ever put on the market.

Anti-Trust Baking Powder Company,

CHICAGO AND INDIANAPOLIS.

MONEY TO LOAN

At 5 %

We are prepared to place loans on farm property in DeKalb county in sums of $700 and upwards for 5 years at 5 per cent with the privilege of paying the same in payments of $100 or any multiple thereof at any interest pay day.

RICHARDS & BIRDSALL,
Hicksville, Ohio.

A Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recomending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well known baker of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or other harmful drug.' Sold by H. B. McCord. 13

—The Elkhart ministerial association has passed a resolution deprecating the holding of funerals on Sunday and requesting people to arrange the funerals of their relatives on other days of the week "so that Sunday be disturbed as little as possible by special demand upon our time of service in the churches."

An Ounce of Preventive.

Is worth a pound of cure. Try a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and, if properly taken, it will positively prevent rheumatism or any other kindred trouble arising from a torpid condition of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Trial sizes 10 cents, other sizes 50c and $1 of H. B. McCord.

Going Down Hill.

People suffering from kidney diseases feel a gradual but steady loss of vitality. They should lose no time in trying Foley's Kidney Cure. It is guaranteed. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

Cordova Wax Candles

Nothing else adds so much to the charm of the drawing room or boudoir as the softly radiant light from CORDOVA Candles. Nothing will contribute more to the artistic success of the luncheon, tea or dinner. The best decorative candles for the simplest or the most elaborate function—for cottage or mansion. Made in all colors and the most delicate tints by STANDARD OIL CO. and sold everywhere.

You Have Seen.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin advertised for months, but have you ever tried it? If not, you do not know what an ideal stomach remedy it is. A 10c bottle, 10 doses, 10 cents, will show you its great merits as a cure for constipation, indigestion and sick headache. Regular size, 50 cents and $1 at H. B. McCord's.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested in the estate of James Ryan, deceased, to appear in the DeKalb circuit court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 12th day of April, 1900, and show cause, if any, why my final settlement account with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs and all others interested, are notified to then and there make proof of heirship or claim and receive their distributive shares.

Witness my name this 19th day of March, 1900.

GEORGE W. WOODCOCK Admr.
Rose & Rose Attys.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

Volume XXX | Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, Thursday, April 5, 1900. | Number 14.

BANK Farmers,
Auburn, Ind.
(Incorporated and Under State Control)
Capital Stock and Surplus
$50,000
Transacts a General Banking Business and Pays Interest on Time Deposits.
Albert Robbins, Pres. J. C. Henry, V-res.
A. C. ROBBINS, Cashier.

DENTIST F. W. HOFFMAN,
Auburn, Ind.
Office in Gandy Building. Northeast Corner of Court Square.
WESTERN 'PHONE 103.
Crown and Bridge Work a Sprcialty.

Physicians and SURGEONS
D. J. Swarts, M. D. Vesta W. Swarts, M. D.
Office at Auburn Sanitary Baths, corner Main and Sixth Streets.
Professional Calls Promptly Answered.
'PHONES: Western..... No. 19 Central Union..... No. 19

The McClellan Bank,
AUBURN, IND
Successor To
The First National Bank,
Individual Responsibility....
$100,00
Certificates of deposits issued, drawing interest if left six months. County and Town Orders bought and sold. Money Loaned on Farms, Personal Security, or Live Stock. Notes bought.
C. A. O. McCLELLAN, ESTATE
CHARLES McCLELLAN
D. A. GARWOOD,
ISAAC HAGUE.
C. A. BENEDICT, Cashier

Sprott & Knapp,
Abstracters of Titles to Land and Lots,
AUBURN, IND.
Office in Gandy Block, North of Court House.

J.E. Graham, D.D.S.
DENTIST
Over Davenport's Drugstore, Auburn, Ind.
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
All Work Guaranteed — Gas Administered.
CENTRAL 'PHONE 513.
Will be at Waterloo each Thursday in Dr. Darby's Office.

Dr. Z. H. Stamets,
Physician & Surgeon
Office on Main St., opposite Swineford Hotel.
Western 'Phone 104
Special attention given to techinal examinations and treatment of chronic and obscure cases, also special attention given to surgery and diseases of women. Calls answered at all hours. Office apart from residence.

Junk Wanted
Please save your money. Don't forget to bring all your junk to H. Greenberg, three blocks north of M. E. church in Auburn, who pays
Best Cash Prices
for rags, rubber, copper, brass, zinc, lead, scrap iron and all kinds of hide and furs. Also buys and sells second-hand material, stoves and furnaces, etc. Persons having second-hand material to buy or sell, it will be to their interest to see H. Greenberg.

5% Money.
We can make a few first-class farm or town property loans at 5 per cent. for five or ten years with privilege of partial payments.—MOODY & RICKEL.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Prevents Dandruff and hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

The Hamilton Trial.

"Shorty" Hamilton, one of the men indicted on the shooting case, was put on trial yesterday charged with assault and battery. He was one of the men in the sleigh load of drunken men who tore around town and wound up by getting into a racket at the south end saloon, which resulted in the negro, Green, putting a bullet through David Rowe. Green had just got two to fourteen years, and felt sore. So when he came on the stand he was balky and refused to testify. The state wanted him to tell what Hamilton had done. But he would not, and there was no help for it. He started in with an assertion as to what Prosecutor Pomeroy had promised him. But Mr. Pomeroy denied this, and at 11:30 the jury was sent to dinner and Green back to jail. After noon, however, he was all right and told almost the same story he did when he himself was on trial. He said Hamilton, Rowe, Barricks and perhaps others had banged him about and knocked him down, etc. He told the same story about that sled that won them the drinks from every saloon keeper they called on. He also insisted again that the revolver went off, he don't know how, as he had not intended to shoot. Several of the same witnesses were on the stand, as were in Green's trial. So there is nothing new to report. By evening the case was done, and this morning went to the jury who are still out.

Pomeroy was for the state, and C. E. Baxter for Hamilton. Both made good pleas.

This morning after the jury went out in the Hamilton case, another jury was impanneled to try the next man on the list of that south end trouble, Isaac Barricks, and the case is still going on, the testimony being the same as in the other cases.

The jury as made up in this case are: John Brady, Benj. L. Close, Eli Shull, John Apple, John S. Miller, Geo. Scattergood, H. W. Embrey, D. W. Weitz, I. B. Madden, John T. Handricks, John W. Buss and James H. Farver.

The attorneys are: Rhodes and Pomeroy for the state, and C. E. Baxter for Barricks. The jury is still out in the Hamilton case, as we go to press.

OBITUARY.

Adda C. Lightcap Hilkey, wife of E. M. Hilkey, died Sabbath morning, March 25, at 7 o'clock. For many months she has been greatly afflicted, and death to her was a sweet release. She was born at Williams Center, Ohio, September 26, 1866. From childhood she lived with her grandmother, Mrs. King, until her marriage to Morton Hilkey, June 5, 1889.

Her wedded life was pleasant and delightful; her home was her chief concern. A most dutiful helpmeet, a careful and loving mother—in prosperity she was glad, in bereavement confident and hopeful, sharing the lot of life equally with her husband. Two of the five children have passed with her to the fields Elysian. Her Sunday school teacher says, "Adda was always a good girl." She was converted and joined the Methodist church in her girlhood, and has lived a careful and exemplary christian life, and died in the confident hope of everlasting life. She was always interested in the work of the church, and attended as long as her bodily afflictions would admit; sometimes she came when she was compelled to lean upon the strength of her husband to enable her to join in services in the house of the Lord with her brothers and sisters.

To Make Things Solid

A Lewis & Co. have just received a car-load of the celebrated Lagdorffer German Portland cement. They have handled this brand for the past four years and some of the best walks and crossings in Auburn have been made from it; the town has used nearly 100 barrels in that time.

The Wayland cement is an American make, introduced here last season. Two car loads were sold during the season, and Picker Bros. and other customers who used it for walks found it as good as the imported cement. Lewis & Co. will handle these two grades this season, aside from a cheaper grade. Their yards are near the Lake Shore freight depot where they have a full line of building material. Peerless white lime has no equal. They sell lots of it.

Gen. Joubert Dead.

Gen. Pietrus Jacobus Joubert, better known as Gen. Piet Joubert, died Tuesday evening at Pretoria, where he had been a few days. His trouble was the result of a cold that affected the bowels. He was commander-in-chief of the Boer forces and one of their ablest men. He was about 68 years of age. His successor will likely be Gen. Louis Botha.

'Tis Not True.

We cannot cure everything. We only cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Sick Headache and Stomach troubles. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does the work and you can get it in 10c, 50c or $1.00 sizes of H. B. McCord.

The Barrick Case.

After the jury had gone out in the Hamilton case, an entirely new jury was made up to try a similar case against Isaac Barricks, another who had figured prominently in that disgraceful affair. They were:

Thos. Baird, J. M. Smith, Wm. Eckert, O. S. Moody, O. M. Gramling, H. A. Winslow, H. P. Penland, John Fleming, Jas. L. Ferguson, John Kadus, Jas. A. Provines and Hazelett.

Rhodes and Pomeroy were for the state and C. E. Baxter for the defense. The trial used up the day, and was made up of the evidence of the negro, Green, Barricks and John Dawkins, who cuts logs for him, and was one of that "sled party" that held up all the saloon keepers for drinks. Nothing new was brought out that had not been shown in the other trials. It was concluded before the jury in the Hamilton case had made their verdict known, which was at about 6 p. m.

The verdict of the jury in the Barrick case was read at the opening of court this morning and was for acquittal. The case against Frank Frederick for assault on Green will probably not be reached this term.

Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

Quick relief from pain. All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies, but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by H. B. McCord.

The Holland Tulip Craze.

The ancestral bulbs of the tulips, which give our flower gardens of today such graceful form and superb color, once came near overturning the little kingdom of Holland. The national fad for tulips reached the stage of madness, and nearly all other business was neglected in consequence. Everybody was frenzied with fever to speculate in tulips, and as much as three thousand dollars was paid for a single bulb—the equivalent of many times that sum today. "The Flower that Set a Nation Mad," recalling the tulip craze in Holland, will be one of the features in the May Ladies' Home Journal.

Like Velvet.

Our readers will be interested in knowing there is one medicine sold by the druggist, H. B. McCord, that possesses unusual merit. Krause's Little Liver Pills. They are a small, purely vegetable, gelatine coated pill, acting directly on the liver and bile without the irritation and griping common to most pills. They are gentle and natural in their action, as soft as velvet to all tender surfaces and a positive unfailing cure for Billiousness and Constipation. H. B. McCord.

Not a Cast Iron Stomach.

Of course you haven't. No one need have. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a remedy prepared on purpose for stomach troubles, weak stomach, sour stomach, big stomach or little stomach, or any irregularities caused from indigestion or constipation. They can be permanently and thoroughly cured by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is made in three sizes, 10c, 50c and $1 00 and is sold by H. B. McCord.

Attention Farmers.

The Auburn Handle Factory will pay the highest cash price for ash handle block delivered at their factory on the Lake Shore tracks, cut 58 inches long. Also want ash logs cut 9½, 14½ and 19½ feet long. All timber to be smooth and sound. Will also take basswood cut 4 feet long and 8 inches n diameter and up, left round with bark on. Will pay $3 percord.—J. M. CHERRY & Co.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Dahforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered intensely for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg, but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in ten days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Burns, Boils, Pain or Piles it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Sold by McCORD the DRUGGIST.

Pains in the Back.

A. B. Farrington, Constantia, N. Y., says: "I was troubled several years with kidney disease and suffered severe pains in the back. I used Foley's Kidney Cure and one bottle cured me. I recommend it to my friends. It has given perfect satisfaction. H. B. McCord, Druggist.

CLUB NOTES.

The Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. John Robbins on Saturday. Mrs. James H. Rouse was chosen president pro tem because of the absence of the regular presiding officer. After the usual opening, business claimed the attention of the club, and several matters left over from the previous meeting were decided. Delegates were elected to the coming State Union of Clubs at Lafayette. This was a rather spirited contest and resulted as follows: Alternate for the president, Mrs. Lodewick; alternate for delegate, Mrs. Mollie Rose; delegate, Mrs. John Robbins. The program was next in order, and Mrs. Lewis having sent her paper, "The Seamy Side of Labor," was read and discussed. Mrs. Schaab substituted for the other regular work by giving her deferred work on "American Problems." There were many brilliant epigrams in this address, and the economics that followed were numerous. Current events and critics report followed and at the adjournment the hostess surprised the ladies by inviting them to partake of refreshments which were delicious and served in the daintiest of ways, the hostess pouring tea from the quaintest of tea pots, while the guests helped themselves to maple taffy, nuts, cake, apple sherbet, etc. All regretted that the hour of departure had arrived, but arrive it did and as they bade their gracious hostess good night, declared the afternoon to have been one of the brightest and happiest in the history of the club.

LIST OF PATENTS.

E. G. Sigger, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C., reports the following patents granted to inventors in the state of Indiana, March 13, 1900. He will mail copy of specification and drawings of any patent for 10 cents in stamps:

J. Ahrends, Dearborn county, newspaper file; F. Burger and H. W. Williams, Fort Wayne, sound finder; J. E. Evans, Bedford, gas generator; J. R. Goodier, Galveston, spark arrester; E. J. W. Hull, Indianapolis, harvesting machine, W. C. Vajen, Indianapolis, firemen's helmet (2 patents); W. Bader, Indianapolis, firemen's mask.

The Best Blood Purifier.

The blood is constantly being purified by the lungs, liver and kidneys. Keep these organs in a healthy condition and the bowels regular and you will have no need of a blood purifier. For this purpose there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, one dose of them will do you more good than a dollar bottle of the best blood purifier. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Howard B. McCord's drug store.

"The Railroad In Education"

An interesting, instructive booklet by Prof. Alex. Hogg—special edition—handsomely bound in cloth—title in gilt letters—contains illustrated chapter on the magnificent St. Louis Union Station—sent free upon application, accompanied by 6 cents postage.—C. S. CRANE, G. P. and T. A., Wabash R. R., St. Louis. 14 has demonstrated that the old fashioned way of curing colds, la grippe, sneezing, etc., is a thing of the past. For ten years Krause's Cold Cure has been recognized as a specific for these troubles. Sold by H. B. McCord.

Modern Science.

After LaGrippe—What?

Usually a racking cough and a general feeling of weakness. Foley's Honey and Tar is guaranteed to cure the "grippe cough" and make you strong and well. H. B. McCord's.

SCOTT'S EMULSION
OF COD-LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES should always be kept in the house for the following reasons:
FIRST—Because, if any member of the family has a hard cold, it will cure it.
SECOND—Because, if the children are delicate and sickly, it will make them strong and well.
THIRD—Because, if the father or mother is losing flesh and becoming thin and emaciated, it will build them up and give them flesh and strength.
FOURTH—Because it is the standard remedy in all throat and lung affections.
No household should be without it. It can be taken in summer as well as in winter.
50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Latest News of the Day.

The death of Gen. Joubert has cast a shadow over the Boer prospects, but they are going right on, massing men at several points, and Kruger claims they will retake Bloemfontein. But the British are probably too strong there to be in much danger, though there may be a hard battle. Strong detachments have been sent forward by Lord Roberts to harass the Boer forces wherever they appear to be gathering. Several skirmishes have taken place with about equal success on each side.

There is a possibility that Korea will be a cause of war between Russia and Japan. Both want it. Russia is not only seeking seacoast territory in that direction but is is getting control of Persia or at least of Persian interests with a view to reach the sea in that direction. Her original seacoast in Europe is too small to suit her ambition. She has just loaned Persia six millions for the privilege of building a railway from the Caspian sea to the gulf of Oman.

Now Turkey bars out American pork the same as Germany.

Congress is still working on the Porto Rican bill. A motion in the senate to strike out the tariff clause, who was defeated 15 to 33. This indicates that it will pass that house.

Mineral discoveries in the old world do not often occur, but the other day, a valuable mine of coking coal was discovered in one of the Rhine districts, not far from Cologne. It will give a new impetus to manufacturing there.

Culture Club Notes.

Guest day with the Culture Club, held at the home of Miss Laura Ober, was a very enjoyable affair. It was woman's day also as appears by the program. The company was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ernest Sheets. Roll call was responded to by quotations from women writers. A short sketch of "Noted Women of America," given by Mrs. Clifton was very much enjoyed. "Women in Literature" was the title of an excellent paper written by Mrs. Winnie Hebel and and read by Mrs. Sheets. This was followed by a song with guitar, accompanied by Mrs. Wyman; "Jesus, Savior Pilot Me," which was very sweet and pleasing. A conversation then was the order of the program, led by Mrs. J. Y. W. McClellan; subject, "What Women are Doing." This was genial in its character and all were invited to participate. Many lines in which women were working were taken up and considered. Women in medicine, arts, literature, law, domestic service and in club work were discussed and the decision was very much enjoyed. The sweet strains of a guitar solo by Mrs. Sheets closed the program for the day. A social time was followed by light refreshments consisting of delicious ice cream in national colors, and cake. The guests all united in hoping that future guest days will be as agreeable as this one.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Will Remain in Auburn.

The auditorium of the Lutheran church was filled by a large audience yesterday. After an able sermon on "Five Rules for Christian Life," the pastor read a call from the church at Three Rivers, Mich., but he submitted the matter to congregation as to whether he would be asked to stay in Auburn after next September, when Mr. Brosy completes a nine years' stay here. The pastor retired from the church and an expression was taken which resulted in his being asked to remain here, the vote being unimous and enthusiastic. Mr. Brosy will remain and the action of the congregation will be endorsed by the entire community.

Prevented A Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. Geo. Long of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung trouble. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at McCORD'S Drug Store.

Next Tuesday

At 12:45 p. m., standard time, you begin and take after each meal a half teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin you will be permanently relieved of any stomach or bowel irregularities and we will gain your friendship by this timely advice which we give in all sincerity. H. B. McCord.

Our Saturday Evenings.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The first deed taken to the recorder after Auburn voted to be a city, was one brought in by Fremont Smith. He had bought property in town.

Speaking of Auburn as a city reminds us of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fischler. Previous to the special election, she had heard people talking in the drugstore a good deal about Auburn being a city. Of course there were discussions for and against the proposition, and she learned also, that on Monday, the people would decide it in some way. That day she seemed greatly interested and was finally told that the decision would not be known till the next morning. So she went to sleep with the understanding that on awakening she would learn how it was. On rising Tuesday morning she at once asked if Auburn was to be a city. She was told, "Yes it is now a city." And the little one hurried to the window and looked out. "Oh, mamma, where are the street cars?" she cried in disappointment. All the cities she had seen had street cars, and she had fully expected to see them running. And where were the candy and peanut stands? She could not understand it.

The writer was in Chicago a few years after it became a city. It was then considered a big thing to climb up the stairs in the court house, and look over the city. It was not over a fourth the height of some of the skyscrapers there now, but as we had to go up "afoot," it was quite a tiresome affair. But once at the top, the sight was a fine one, for one could see the entire city—not a sea of flat roofs as at present, but excepting a small area near by, it was a succession of wooden buildings with shingle roofs, the houses growing smaller and smaller, as the distance from the center increased, due not alone to distance, but in fact the smaller buildings were near to the outer edge which faced the open prairie. Our circle of vision took in all there was of the town and some of the bare land beyond. Now you can go out onto the skyscrapers and yet only see a little of the city. It extends north and south along the lake about thirty miles. Going in on the B. & O. we strike the first signs of the city at Whiting. A short distance farther on we come to South Chicago. This is a part of Chicago proper, being incorporated with the rest. From the station there, the train takes an hour to run to the Grand Central Union station. This gives one an idea of the size of the city, for the Grand Central is near the center of the town, and to reach the north limit of the city one would need nearly as much more time. Of course the city is not as wide as long, but it would be a hard trip to walk across it.

But the Chicago as we first saw it, has long since disappeared, and in its place is a new city in every way grander than the first.

The great fire that began October 9, 1871, was one of the most destructive in the world's history. The center of the town was utterly wiped out. We saw it soon after, and walked north on Clark street from near where the great railroad stations now are, to the river. Then we crossed under the LaSalle street tunnel, for there were no bridges left standing. And all the woodwork in the approaches to the tunnel had been burned to the ground. Once on the north side of the river, we found a line of horse cars running, and took one and went north several miles, till we could see the first row of houses where the fire stopped. All along this five miles there was but one building spared. That was a frame house, the Ogden homestead on Clark street north of the river, and near where is now the little park and the big library building. We suppose this house escaped the flames by being some distance back from the street, in the center of a block and surrounded by trees. The water tower back of it, toward the lake had caught fire, and every thing combustible in it was destroyed. But the tower itself being of stone and iron, was left standing and we believe is still in use.

But the view all along that route was most desolate the mind can conceive. Long lines of maple trees, as now in Auburn, were on the north side streets before the fire, and there they stood with limbs burned off nearly to the stem, in long rows like, so many black ghosts. Near the court house, which was of stone, and one would think could not be burned, we saw iron lamp posts bent over and their tops lying on the sidewalk, the intense heat even from buildings of brick and stone, having so nearly melted them that they fell over like a soft candle of tallow. Several chapters could be filled with the strange things we saw.

A Testimonial from England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. Wm. Savory of Warrington, England. "I has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well. Sold by H. B. McCord.

W. C. T. U.

Nappanee, on the B. & O. R. R., one hundred miles east of Chicago, is a town of over 2,000 inhabitants—a happy, prosperous town. Commercial and moral interests are on the up grade; the drones and unprincipled are being pushed out.

Saloons are waning, and next fall will witness the departure of our last one. We had three—not many for size of town, but too many. We now have two. One by one they are going, sure as time. The first remonstrance was a success, the second was defeated because of withdrawals. The next was regarded a test case, a fight to a finish against the man of the trade, an invincible. This man or his substitute was defeated once, twice, three times; each time with an increased number of names on remonstrance. The last, through power of attorney, contained 319 of total poll of 380. Did the commissioners recognize as legal and honor the power of attorney? They did; and now, as far as Nappanee is concerned, all we have to do is to "press the button."

Credit is due our business and professional men who, with almost one accord, by their purses, influence and names, aided in bringing about this condition. The superintendent of one factory here, employing from 65 to 75 men, forbids swearing, smoking or chewing tobacco during working hours, and if any employe is seen coming out or going in a saloon at any time he looks for another job.—Nappanee Advance.

Boston, March 10:—Marshfield, Mass., has the highest saloon license in the United States. At the town meeting Monday it was ordered that the price of each liquor license should be one million dollars. There are no bidders.

Are You Going to Build?

The Auburn Lumber Company near the Wabash depot has recently made extensive improvements and are just at this time unloading a car every day from their private track. You can now get anything needed to complete your building as they have added a complete outfit of building hardware, including nails and everything needed in building a house or barn. The large building erected to the south of the track is for Portland cement and hollow foundation blocks. You can at any time find all grades of shingles consisting of our very best red cedar, white cedar, white pine and Pennsylvania fir; and you can also buy medium priced shingles suitable for cheap buildings. Their recent enlargements is sufficient evidence that their customers appreciate an up-to-date lumber yard where they can get just what they want and at prices that are assured to be right on account of the extensiveness of their business and their assortment. Call at their extensive establishment and look it over. It will pay you.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1,658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which relieved her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by H. B. McCord.

WOMEN IN TROUBLE.
The Approach of Motherhood is the Occasion of Much Anxiety to All.

Every woman dreads the ordeal through which she must pass in becoming a mother. The pain and suffering which is in store for her is a source of constant anxiety, fear and dread, to say nothing of the danger which the coming incident entails. The joyous anticipations with which she looks forward to baby's coming gives way to an indescribable dread of the ordeal when she fully realizes the critical and trying event which will soon approach and have to be endured.

Women should hail with delight a remedy which insures to them immunity from the pain, suffering and danger incidental to child-bearing. Such a remedy is now offered, and women need not fear longer the hour of childbirth. "Mother's Friend"—is a scientific liniment—and if used before confinement, gently and surely prepares the body for the great requirements and changes it is undergoing, insures safety to both mother and child, and takes her through the event with comparative ease and comfort. This wonderful remedy is praised by every woman who has used it.

What woman is not interested in "Mother's Friend?" This wonderful remedy has been tested and its priceless value proven by the experience of thousands of happy mothers who have used it during the most critical period of woman's life—the approach and culmination of motherhood.

It has won their everlasting praise, for it gave them help and hope in their most trying hour and when most needed. Every woman may some day need "Mother's Friend." The little book, "Before Baby is Born," telling all about it, and when it should be used, will prove of great interest and benefit to all expectant mothers, and will be sent free to any address upon application to the Bradfield Regulator Company, Atlanta, Ga.

PORTO RICAN MUDDLE

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN RECEIVE MANY PROTESTS.

Cautions Members Who Have Gone Home to Sound Their Constituents Are Very Much Depressed—Investigation of the Idaho Trouble.

Washington correspondence:

The Senate Republicans waste days of valuable time trying to agree on some sort of Porto Rican legislation which they can pass in the Senate and have it run the gauntlet of the House in safety. The administration forces seem not to realize that it is the constitutional principle involved which keeps up the popular protest on the Porto Rican matter. The protests still come in, and the cautious members of Congress who have gone home to sound the feeling in their districts return very much depressed.

The Senate cannot even make up its mind what kind of a Porto Rican bill it will take a vote on. Senator Beveridge has been ready to orate any day for a week, and has had to disappoint his admirers because his Republican colleagues won't let the young man make a free-trade speech in the present condition of affairs. Senator Jones, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, says that the Republican dissension is interesting the country so thoroughly that it would be a pity for the Democrats to distract attention by proposing opposition measures. The Democrats are letting the Republicans do the worrying and are satisfied that the people of the country are getting more and more dissatisfied with the bungling and stupid manner in which the Republicans are managing affairs.

There is just one point on which the Republicans harmonize. They agree that they don't desire the protection of the Constitution for the new possessions. It is to be imperialism, and if not that now military control until after election, the hope being that imperialism can be managed with four years in which to deal with it. The Democrats are very well satisfied to let the question of imperialism go before the people as a campaign issue. It is hard to say when the Porto Rican muddle will be settled. The Senate seems utterly unable to get together enough Republican votes to pass the 15 per cent. House bill, and any modification which might pass the Senate would surely fail in the House. It looks like military government for Porto Rico and a confession that this Republican Congress either could not or would not legislate for the island.

The ship subsidy bill has one queer provision which is not generally known. It provides that a ship drawing the subsidy need have only one-third of its crew American seamen. This provision includes officers, so that the crews would be entirely foreign if the owners desired. They would see to this because American seamen will not work under the harsh conditions imposed on American vessels. The argument used about the availability of subsidized vessels in time of war rather falls to the ground when it is remembered that they would be manned by foreign-born seamen not citizens of this country. They could hardly be expected to fight for this country. They are not going to be subsidized. The promoters of the bill are not at all confident of its passage. They are willing to put it in any shape, so the subsidy clause is not disturbed.

Representative Dick, aided by the Republican majority of the House Committee on Military Affairs, is giving a fine exposition of the Republican fondness for militarism. The investigation of Coeur d'Alene mining troubles and the application of martial law is still going on. Dick is most unfair in his management of the whole thing. When it is a question of some evasion or concealment of evidence that will help the administration the strictest rules of evidence are applied by the Republican majority of the committee. When it is a witness, like Governor Steunenberg for instance, he is given the widest possible latitude in order to shield himself and the administration from responsibility.

It is not generally understood that martial law is still in force in Idaho, and for the express purpose of imposing the "permit" system on the workmen. The "permit" to look for work is given after a citizen swears that he considers labor unions criminal and declares he never will join one. After getting the "permit" he is forced to join a union managed by the Mine Owners' Association if he expects to work in the mines. This "permit" system is in direct violation of the statute law of Idaho. Governor Steunenberg put the responsibility for it upon Gen. Merriam, and that means the administration. It is said here in Washington that the wage-workers all over the country will vote against McKinley in the coming election as a protest against the "permit" idea.

The platform of the Nebraska Democrats is very favorably regarded by the party leaders in Washington. The declaration against imperialism is regarded as especially pointed and timely. The whole platform foreshadows the national platform, except, perhaps, in the one particular of the referendum and initiative plank. This is regarded as more applicable to State than national matters.

The casualty list from the Philippines continues to be something appalling. General Otis purposely sends it so that it is not easy to count the death list from day to day, but it is reaching into the hundreds every week. The Republicans steer very shy of the whole Philippine question nowadays. They prefer to let it lie. The insurrection is not by any means over. The Filipinos go right into Manila and hatch plots under General Otis' nose and he cannot locate them. The army of 65,000 men is to be kept in the Philippines right along, and orders have been received to recruit it up to its full strength.

The administration forces are watching and waiting for the proper opportunity to pass the bill continuing McKinley as the military dictator; but they fear to open the question because it will involve a worse fight among themselves than the Porto Rican measure.

Cabinet of Political Horrors.

After a prolonged examination of the books of the State Trust Company of New York City, the State superintendent of banking accuses Elihu Root, Secretary of War, and a director and member of the executive committee of the company of having arranged a loan of $2,000,000 to Daniel E. Shea, an office boy. The superintendent of banking goes on to say:

"Beyond all question this loan was illegal, because excessive and because, in part, it was made indirectly to directors of the trust company."

Will any member of the McKinley cabinet escape from the befouling touch of corrupt wealth? Here is the record to date:

Alger—Beef Trust. The former Secretary of War was forced to resign after the embalmed beef scandals and the truckling to the meat trust became public.

Gage—Money Trust. The Secretary of the Treasury, by his marked favoritism to the Rockefeller banks in New York, gave them the opportunity of creating a panic.

Hay—Anglomania. The Secretary of State's un-American policy and abandonment of the Monroe doctrine were rebuked by the Senate committee which amended the canal treaty.

Long—Ship Trust. The Secretary of the Navy now opposes the people's will by declaring against building our warships in the Government navy yards.

Root—State Trust. The Secretary of War violated his obligations as director of a financial institution by lending $2,000,000 to a "dummy," for the use of other directors.

Next?

Republican Party Upholds Trusts.

At the Nebraska Democratic State convention, held at Lincoln on March 19, it was declared that the Republican party is not fighting trusts, although it pretends to denounce them. Said Mr. Bryan:

"The trust is so bad a thing that the President felt it necessary to denounce trusts in his message last December, but he did not recommend a remedy.

"The trust portion of his message might be condensed as follows: 'The trusts are bad; for the life of me I don't know what to do about them. I hope somebody knows more than I do and will suggest something.'

"A Republican Congress listened to the reading of the message and then proceeded to establish a paper money trust, which gives to the people a larger chance of injury and to the banks a larger opportunity for profit than any other trust in existence."

He said that the Republican party was powerless to interfere with the trusts, because the leading Republicans were connected with the trusts and the party had to rely upon trust contributions to carry on the coming campaign.

Fate of the Filipinos.

W. J. Bryan, at the Nebraska Democratic State convention, held at Lincoln on March 19, presented the three living, burning issues of money, trusts and imperialism, in no uncertain language. Upon the question of imperialism, alluding to the Philippines, Mr. Bryan said:

"The Republicans have studiously avoided a discussion of the Philippine question. They have opposed the consideration of that question by the cry that nothing could be done until the insurrection was put down.

"The Porto Rico tariff bill, however, gives us some idea of the treatment which the Filipinos may expect, and Prof. Schurmann, one of the President's commissioners, says that this bill will arouse suspicion in the mind of the Filipino as to his future condition. He stated his fears in the following language: 'In the very moment when we need to inspire confidence in the minds of the conquered Filipinos shall we commit an act which will confirm their suspicions and breed new and perhaps ineradicable antipathies. God forbid.'"

Porto Rico in the Senate.

The Republicans of the Senate have told the Porto Ricans in effect that the flag of the republic does not wave over the land of the free in so far as they are concerned. They cannot have that liberty to trade with this country of which they expected to become a part when they joyfully bade good-by to Spanish rule and welcomed that of the United States. They must submit to taxation without representation as if they were no better than some conquered Russian province or British crown colony.

The injustice of this treatment of the Porto Ricans is self-evident, but its danger to American freedom is more hidden, although of greater importance. With colonies to be ruled without the consent of the inhabitants comes the necessity for a large permanent army—a larger one than we have now—and a curtailment of liberty at home, all of which will undermine—slowly, perhaps, but surely—the foundations of the republic.—New York News.

Be American.

Every American citizen worthy of the name is prepared to make sacrifices to preserve and defend the institutions inherited from the fathers in order that he may transmit unimpaired to his children liberty, opportunity and equality before the law, which is their birthright. Nature's law forbids any who occupy the sacred relation of parent to be indifferent in a crisis that will determine whether their offspring must be consigned in the future to be mere playthings and chattels of an oligarchy, or inherit the rights, privileges and responsibilities of American freemen.—National Watchman.

Tramp Ship Subsidy.

The Hanna-Payne ship subsidy bill for the benefit of the Standard Oil trust and the Southern Pacific and Northwestern Railway ocean tramp lines, is in danger of passing. It is asserted that the intending beneficiaries are willing to give up one year's bounty, or nine million dollars, in payment for the legislation. The bill has been so amended as to let in every old tank and tramp steamer owned by the Standard Oil Company. It is as barefaced a scheme to loot the treasury for the benefit of trusts and monopolies, as was ever attempted in this country.—Washington Times.

WAR, THEN AND NOW.

LOSSES GROW LESS.

SOME LESSONS TAUGHT BY THE ANGLO-BOER WAR.

As Effectiveness of Weapons Increases, Fatalities in Battle Apparently Decrease—Comparison of Casualties in Some of the World's Greatest Conflicts.

The South African war has demonstrated some things about up-to-date fighting machines. One important fact brought out is that, for creating extensive cemeteries and making bloody history, the old-fashioned fighters, with their old-fashioned short-range weapons, still hold the championship. Dynamite bombs and lyddite shells, bullet-sifting machines and long-range smokeless powder guns have not feazed the world's record for carnage an iota. The civilized nations stand aghast at the fall of a few score of officers in a single fight as though it were an unheard of thing and that science had rendered warfare too frightfully gory for it to be tolerated among human beings. Probably the almost bloodless victories of our navy at Manila Bay and Santiago have led people to look for enormous gains on a minimum of investment. These were marvelous exceptions. War means fighting, and fighting in a war worthy of the name means killing on both sides.

The effectiveness of the long range weapons used in the South African war and the mortality which is looked upon by the laymen as something excessive attract the notice of military men who have had actual experience in war. Under the regime of magazine rifles the battle usually begins at 1,500 or 1,600 yards, and may close down to 1,100 or 1,000 yards. At the latter range the fire is supposed to be very effective. Artillery is, of course, effective to break up solid lines of infantry, but it is impossible to make artillery fire effective against troops who are covered behind a height, for instance, or by the lay of the land or by rock and trees.

Gen. Sickles said recently that he never had much faith in the effectiveness of long-range weapons, for once you teach troops that they can send a bullet a mile, it takes away their intrepidity. Napoleon III. demoralized his army by causing the soldiers to think that the long-range breechloading chassepot and the mitrailleuse would defeat the enemy. It took all the elan out of them and made them mere machines. The Germans, who, by the way, also had their breechloading, long-range rifle, the needle gun, rushed to close quarters, and the result was disastrous to the French.

Civil War Fatalities.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles said, apropos of the subject of modern improved weapons and projectiles in relation to battlefield casualties, "Losses diminish in proportion as man-killing devices progress." This is a fact, as shown by figures, and is well known to close students of warfare. Take, for instance, the Federal attack upon the Confederate stone wall at Fredericksburg in 1862. The experience of the Seventh New York (Steuben) regiment in that charge is typical. The Seventh went in after other brigades had been repulsed in front of the stone wall so that it did not receive the fierce outburst of Confederate fire, but in twenty minutes, or at the outside thirty minutes, out of twenty-five officers in the regiment ten were killed and eight wounded, and out of 450 men 240 were killed and wounded. All of these casualties came from bullets fired from the stone wall. This loss in officers killed was never exceeded out once in the whole civil war, and that was in the case of the Seventh New Hampshire at the storming of Fort Wagner. In that affair eleven officers of this regiment were killed outright.

In the attack upon the stone wall the Seventh Regiment fought with Hancock's division. This division was brought in as a supporting column to the initial attack. It consisted of eighteen regiments, and there were nineteen regimental commanders shot down and disabled in one hour. Others were hit, but kept the field. In the brigade of Col. Caldwell, to which the Seventh Regiment belonged, there were 116 officers present, sixty-two of whom were killed or wounded. Gen. Hancock's division lost 2,029 killed and wounded out of 4,834 paper strength; that equals 42 per cent. Caldwell's brigade numbered 1,087 on paper, and lost 952 killed and wounded—that is to say, 50 per cent.

In a forlorn hope attack upon log breastworks at Petersburg in 1864 the First Maine heavy artillery carried 832 men in line and lost 632 killed and wounded in a rush that kept them under fire not to exceed seven minutes. At Gettysburg, during a crisis, the First Minnesota was called upon to charge a moving line of Confederates and capture its colors, in order to stagger the assailants, who were marching upon Federal batteries. The Confederates held their fire until the daring Yankees were close up, and 215 of the Minnesotans out of 262 were struck down upon a few square yards of earth, just at the point of contact. In the second battle of Bull Run, 1862, Duryee's zouaves stood up in front of a battery which was being mobbed by Confederate troops and left 119 dead companions stretched in regular rows around wheel ruts and trail prints on the spot where the guns had stood. The regiment numbered 470 at the beginning of the fight.

The heaviest losers at the battle of Gettysburg were two opposing regiments—the Twenty-fourth Michigan and the Twenty-sixth North Carolina. They fought in the first day's battle almost man for man in the dueling contest which took place in McPherson's woods. At the end of the day nothing remained of either regiment except their flags and two pitiful squads of battle-grimed soldiers. The Michigans lost 397 out of 496, and the North Carolinas 688 out of 820.

The casualties sustained by these troops were almost entirely from musketry fire. Instances might be cited to show that, under certain circumstances, artillery fire was still more deadly during the civil war. It must be taken for granted that such was the case whenever solid bodies of troops marched up to the cannon's mouth. In Pickett's charge, when the assaulting column closed in on the Federal works, the Federal batteries stationed there in some instances used double charges of canister at ten paces; that means that the assailants who had the courage to march up to the muzzles were swept from the ground by iron hail. At the battle of Franklin, Tenn., the slaughter of the Confederate columns upon the ground where the heaviest fighting took place was frightful in the extreme. Much of the execution at that fight was due to cannon fire. The Confederate army was about 40,000 strong and began the attack on the Federal fortified position at the close of a November day, probably as late as 4:30 p. m., so that there was not two hours of daylight for fighting. Only one corps of the Confederates actually closed in on the Federal works, and its strength was probably not over 15,000 men. In the battle there were 6,000 Confederates killed and wounded, among them thirteen general officers. The officers who fell were found close to the Federal breastworks, in some cases in the ditch, where they had been shot from their horses while attempting to ride over the works at the heads of their columns. The scenes witnessed at the battle of Franklin have seldom been equaled during the century.

Since the Franco-Prussian war there has not been a conflict between armies equally equipped until the present. In the battles between Russia and Turkey the Turks had inferior weapons. Being fanatical fighters, like the dervishes in the Sudan, they were slaughtered by the breechloaders and dynamite shells of the foe.

To go back still farther for examples of the execution of weapons in warfare, it is interesting to look at the records of battles in the seventeenth century. In seven great battles of that era, when the masses carried muskets and pikes, the average of casualties was 26 per cent., so that each man stood but about three chances in four of escape. The casualties in the bloodiest battles run as high as 35 per cent. In this class belongs the battle of Lutzen, which proved a victory for the Swedes, but their leader, Gustavus Adolphus, was killed, and one of his regiments lay upon the ground in the order in which the men had stood while fighting. In the middle of the eighteenth century the bayonet attached to the musket superseded the pike. There were twenty-three great battles fought with smoothbore muskets and bayonets from Fontenoy in 1745 to Waterloo in 1815. The average of casualties for this period of smoothbore musket and bayonet fighting was about 20 per cent.

Losses Decrease.

The following fifteen battles of the muzzle-loading, bayonet period represent the martial nations of the world:

1. Eilau, 1807. Loss, 26 per cent.
2. Bunker Hill, 1775. Loss, 24 per cent.
3. Stone River (Murfreesboro), 1862. Loss, 23½ per cent.
4. Marengo, 1800. Loss, 23 per cent.
5. Chickamauga, 1863. Loss, 21 per cent.
6. Antietam, 1862. Loss, 21 per cent.
7. Leipsic, 1813. Loss, 21 per cent.
8. Gettysburg, 1863. Loss, 20 per cent.
9. Shiloh, 1862. Loss, 20 per cent.
10. Lundy's Lane, 1814. Loss, 19 per cent.
11. Mars-la-Tour, 1870. Loss, 16 per cent.
12. Waterloo, 1815. Loss, 14 per cent.
13. Woerth, 1870. Loss, 14 per cent.
14. Solferino, 1859. Loss, 12 per cent.
15. Sadowa, 1866. Loss, 12 per cent.

The loss in killed and wounded at the battle of Eilau is placed at 40,000 by conservative estimates. In the figures of Gettysburg given in the table, which are official, the total is little short of 30,000. The first battle belongs to the smoothbore and the second to the rifle barrel era, and the figures show that as weapons improve casualties grow less in percentages. The average was 26 per cent. in the days of the musket and pike, 20 per cent. with the smoothbore and bayonet, about a similar loss with the rifle barrel and bayonet, and in the Franco-Prussian war, fought with the breechloading rifle, the casualties fell below 16 per cent.

German Emperor at Work.

The correspondence addressed to the emperor is enormous, but the bulk of it, chiefly petitions, is opened and dealt with in the civil cabinet, only the letters of princely personages and others of which the handwriting is recognized being opened by him personally, says Good Words. These have to be replied to either by himself or by secretaries, according to marginal notes made by him, and then the cuttings from various newspapers, pasted in folios, are laid before him.

Each of the chief ministers of state and heads of departments of the army and navy has one or two fixed days of the week on which he is received by the emperor and at these interviews all business connected with the department is transacted and his orders taken on all matters requiring such. Various interviews are also accorded in the forenoon to officers and others who have reports to make and thus the day is filled up till luncheon, a meal the emperor always takes with the empress and his elder children, the younger ones joining the circle afterward. Usually there are one or two guests and quite a small suite in attendance at the midday meal, which is light and very simple.

The afternoon is taken up with more work and then the emperor, frequently accompanied by the empress, rides, drives or plays tennis for a couple of hours, returning in time for more work before dinner, which is at 7 in summer and 8 in winter. Work again follows dinner and precedes an early retirement to bed. Such is the normal program of the emperor's day; but, as may be imagined, it is frequently broken in upon by military duties and inspections, by representations, especially in winter, when numerous receptions, balls, festivals, concerts and state dinners take place, and by political business.

A Very Trifling Incident.

A clergyman was called upon to perform a marriage ceremony for a couple in middle life.

"Have you ever been married before?" asked the clergyman of the bridegroom.

"No, sir."

"Have you?"—to the bride.

"Well, yes, I have," replied the bride laconically; "but it was twenty years ago, and he was killed in an accident when we'd been married only a week, so it really ain't worth mentioning."—San Francisco Wave.

As soon as a man gets so old he has no more trouble with heart affairs, his liver begins to make him grief.

FLOGGING A CONSUL.

COST A CENTRAL AMERICAN DICTATOR $50,000.

Probably the Most Dramatic Episode Ever Enacted in Guatemala—Overt Act Directed Against John Magee, a British Official.

The recent report from San Francisco of the death of John Magee recalls one of the most dramatic episodes ever enacted on the Central American coast.

Twenty-five years ago Mr. Magee occupied the position of British Vice Consul at San Jose, on the Pacific side of Guatemala. In the course of the fulfillment of his duty, having incurred the cordial dislike of Rufina Barrios, the dictator of that time, the subordinates of the Government were not slow to imitate their superior by meting out to Mr. Magee every petty annoyance possible. Still, a British consul was a person with whom none cared to interfere to any serious extent, until it occurred to the commmandante of San Jose to prove his excessive loyalty to Barrios by an overt act directed against the object of the dictator's ill-favor. Purposely seizing upon the inconvenient moment when Mr. Magee was just sitting down to lunch, the commandante sent him a peremptory message to appear at the Government office forthwith, offering by way of explanation some trivial matter in dispute. Mr. Magee, it is said, not only peremptorily declined to obey the summons, but forcibly—very forcibly—ejected the intruding messenger from his presence. Then he went on with his lunch as if nothing particular had happened. This was apparently all the excuse that the commandante wanted to publicly humiliate the consul, and so, fortifying his courage with an extra quantity of mescal, he dispatched a company of ragged soldiers to seize the consul and, protest or no protest, bring him before the representative of the supreme power in San Jose. Mr. Magee was still at lunch when the rabble unceremoniously entered his presence, and before he could defend himself was seized and dragged off to the commandante's office.

FLOGGING CONSUL MAGEE.

"So you won't come when I send for you!" shouted the official, by this time further inflamed by repeated libations. "What have you got to say for yourself?"

"Only this," replied Mr. Magee, calmly, "that you have committed an offense for which you will be called to a bitter account."

"Shall I?" roared the commandante; "shall I? In the meantime, however, you shall receive fifty lashes for your impertinence."

Mr. Magee folded his arms, and without further remark listened to the orders given for his chastisement.

By this time the other consuls at San Jose had heard of their confrere's arrest, and, led by the American representative, hurried to the commandante's office to enter an energetic protest.

It was all, however, of no avail, and in the space of half an hour Mr. Magee was triced up in the plaza and received without wincing his lashes. He was carried off to the consulate in a fainting condition.

Then it was that the commandante reflected that, after all, he had been perhaps a little indiscreet, and that unpleasant consequences might follow. So he ordered the wire to Guatemala City to be cut, hoping by that means to gain time before the news reached the ears of the British minister. A native boy attached to the consulate at San Jose made his way up the line to Escuintla, half way to Guatemala City, and from there wired the astonishing news to the minister that his consul had received fifty lashes. The British minister immediately sought out Barrios and demanded explanations and redress. Barrios, secretly pleased with the action of his subordinate, but also alarmed for the consequences, endeavored by fair promises to temporize; but in a few days the arrival of British men-of-war at San Jose and the occupation of that place hurried a decision as to the minister's demands. These were, that for the national insult the British flag should be saluted in Guatemala City, the commandante handed over to the admiral for punishment, and Mr. Magee given $50,000 in gold for the personal injuries sustained.

Seeing that the demands were about to be enforced by action, Barrios acquiesced, the flag was saluted, the money paid, and the commandante, captured in flight, handed over to the admiral. Considering that the commandante would receive full punishment from Barrios, in the latter's chagrin at the loss of his $50,000, the admiral returned the over zealous official to that Central American potentate. A gentleman who was present at the scene when the commandante was brought before Barrios thus described to the writer the meeting:

Handcuffed and in disgrace, the commandante was led into the presence of Barrios, the later holding in his hand a stout riding whip. "Fool," hurled forth Barrios. "Do you know what you have done? You have actually beaten a consul; but, my God! of all mad things to do, you have beaten a British consul." Then, seizing the trembling ex-official, he thrashed him unmercifully about the head, and ordered him to that close confinement which in Central America usually means a speedy release in death.

Lobsters may not have spirits, but many a man has felt their presence after death.

Spring

Annually Says Take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

In the spring those Pimples, Boils, Eruptions and General Bad Feelings indicate that there are cobwebs in the system. It needs a thorough brushing, and the best brush is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which sweeps all humors before it. This great medicine eradicates Scrofula, subdues Salt Rheum, neutralizes the acidity which causes Rheumatism—in short, purifies the blood and thoroughly renovates the whole physical system.

"We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has given the best of satisfaction, especially as a spring medicine. It builds up the general system and gives new life." Dwight C. Park, Whiteland, Indiana.

Preparations for a Bath.

Billy Drach, the traveling man, tells of a hotel experience in the interior of Arkansas that is looked upon by his friends with suspicion. He had arrived at a small settlement, and at once repaired to the Eagle House, which was situated on the outskirts of the town on the bank of a small stream.

After a dinner of side meat and corn bread Billy lighted a cigar, and the proprietor said:

"Stranger, is thar anything we 'uns kin do foh you all?"

Thinking to confound his host, Drach answered:

"Well, yes; come to think of it, I'd like to have a bath."

The proprietor let his feet drop from the railing upon which he had hoisted them, disappeared in the house, and returned in a moment with a huge tin cup full of soft soap, a rough towel and a pick and shovel, which he offered Drach.

"What's the pick and shovel for?" asked Drach.

"Wal, stranger," answered the landlord, "th' watuh's low, and yo' all 'll hev to dam up th' creek."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Noted Wagers.

Men have made queer wagers in the past and present. One man afflicted with the gambling spirit was Mark Sykes. He offered to pay any one a guinea a day for each day Napoleon lived, provided the taker would pay 100 guineas down. A clergyman accepted the offer and made a fine profit, as Napoleon lived three years.

A nobleman of England made a wager of $7,500 100 years ago that a man could live twelve hours under water. A man who was reckless of life offered to go down and was sunk in an old ship. Neither the man nor the ship was recovered.

Sir John Slade, a very small man, bet $5,000 that he could carry a friend who weighed about five times as much as himself a distance of 200 yards. The day came and a large assembly of men and women gathered to witness the remarkable deed. Sir John told his friend to remove his clothes—that he had agreed to carry the man and not the garments. Of course the friend refused and lost the money.

Happy Women

who have been relieved of painful menstruation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, are constantly writing grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

cured them. It always relieves painful periods and no woman who suffers should be without this knowledge.

Nearly all the ills of women result from some derangement of the female organism. Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine makes women healthy; of this there is overwhelming proof.

Don't experiment. If you suffer get this medicine and get Mrs. Pinkham's free advice. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 & $3.50 SHOES UNION MADE.

Worth $4 to $6 compared with other makes.

Endorsed by over 1,000,000 wearers.

The genuine have W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute claimed to be as good. Your dealer should keep them—if not, we will send a pair on receipt of price and 25c. extra for carriage. State kind of leather, size, and width, plain or cap toe. Catl. free. W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO., Brockton, Mass.

Valuable Premiums Free!

The Round Trade-Mark

On every two pound package of FRIENDS' OATS entitles you to valuable premiums. Illustrated list mailed upon application to mfrs.

FRIENDS' OATS, MUSCATINE, IOWA.

SERMONS OF THE WEEK

Christianity.—Christianity is the sunlight of truth to man.—Rev. J. H. W. Blake, Episcopalian, Akron, Ohio.

Labor.—While labor is a blessing, those who, by brain or brawn, earn their living, have their foes.—Rev. J. L. Updegraph, Pittsburg, Pa.

Religion.—Religion does not consist in getting up an amount of steam and then subsiding. It means endurance.—Rev. P. C. Yorke, R. C., San Francisco, Cal.

God.—God in the minds of the religionists, as conceived by Pagan and Christian, represents power, wisdom and love.—Rev. F. W. Sprague, Universalist, Boston, Mass.

The Stage.—My opinion of the stage is that it has reached a stage where it needs a cleansing such as was given the Augean stables.—Rev. A. C. Dixon, Baptist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Abiding in Christ.—Abiding in Christ is no trivial thing. It is a union close and inseparable. How sweet and soothing to care-worn hearts.—Rev. O. C. Peyton, Maryville, Tenn.

Troubles.—The troubles under which we struggle are oftentimes only a refining process through which we are made more valuable to God.—Rev. Dr. Landrum, Baptist, Atlanta, Ga.

Purity and Goodness.—Purity and goodness alone can master the ills of the flesh, for "to be spiritually minded is life and peace."—Rev. F. E. Mason, Spiritualist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Beauty of Holiness.—The beauty of holiness is the end of the beauty of all the world. The church is for the kingdom, not for itself.—Rev. Dr. Babcock, Presbyterian, New York City.

The Act of Faith.—The act of faith following that of obedience to the will of God is an important step in the process of salvation.—Rev. F. M. Bristol, Methodist, Washington, D. C.

Jealousy or Envy.—If we have a feeling of jealousy or envy in our hearts, the surest way to kill it is to be kind to those we are jealous of.—Rev. N. Woodside, Presbyterian, Pittsburg, Pa.

Practical Christian Religion.—Practical Christian religion means pity to the poor, sympathy for the sufferer. It means a splendid philanthropy.—Rev. Dr. Northrop, Baptist, Kansas City, Mo.

Immoral Plays.—Plays of the "Sapho" type are indicative of a pagan spirit. The ultimate effect of such plays would be to destroy virtue and innocence.—Rev. George Vaney, R. C., Cleveland, Ohio.

God and Humanity.—We are not here as men to dispose of our affairs as to have a good time, but to develop the highest worthiness, and thus glorify God and humanity.—Rev. Ira Billman, Evansville, Ind.

Progress of Good.—I believe in the progress of good in the sublime and beautiful now, in its breadth of intellect, its conscience, its reach after God.—William G. Ewing, Christian Scientist, Chicago, Ill.

The Spoken Gospel.—He is a dull scholar who cannot see and hear God in nature, but the lessons thus learned are limited and can never take the place of the spoken Gospel.—Rev. H. E. Foss, Methodist, Bangor, Me.

Patriotism.—What is patriotism? It is only a narrow care for one's own land and city, such as the Romans had when they trampled out the lives of other nations.—Bishop Edward G. Andrews, Methodist, New York City.

Service of a Layman.—It is good to contemplate what an earnest, zealous, enthusiastic, self-sacrificing, conscientious layman, knowing what he wants, can accomplish in the service of his faith.—Dr. Joseph Stoltz, Hebrew, Chicago, Ill.

The Spiritual in Man.—The esthetic and the ideal, however alluring, cannot satisfy the spiritual in man; he is a worshiping being, and creates a God if he does not find one to his liking.—Rev. W. H. Tubb, Congregationalist, San Francisco, Cal.

Three Combinations.—The Bible mentions three great combinations. These have all the benefits of union with none of their evils, for they are formed by the best persons, for the best ends, by the best means.—Rev. C. F. Wishart, Presbyterian, Allegheny, Pa.

Crucifixion and Resurrection.—The crucifixion and resurrection of Christ are clothed with new significance and power. They are no longer simply historical events, but daily occurrences in those in whom Christ lives.—Rev. Dr. Raymond, Congregationalist, Schenectady, N. Y.

Love of Money.—There are to-day too many men who will be rich, no matter at what cost. The love of money has become so fierce that all society and civilization are imperiled. The old ideals of the age are passing through a transformation. In the old Greek days the idea was health.—Rev. Dr. Newell Hillis, Congregationalist, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Churches' Creed.—Christ must be the beginning and the end of the churches' creed. When a church forgets the source of its truth and attempts to incorporate with its creed doctrines that have nothing to do with Christ; when it builds too much on its traditions and too little on God's work; when it lays upon its members the burden of human ordinances, however ancient, and makes them a part of its confession—then it is losing its hold on the beginning from whom it sprung and is moving away from the end for whom it is intended.—Rev. Charles M. Jacobs, Lutheran, Philadelphia, Pa.

Bobbie (entertaining Mr. Vincent while his sister Ethel dressed)—I say, Mr. Vincent, how did you feel when you were in the oven? Mr. Vincent—In the oven? What do you mean, Bobbie? I never was in any oven. Bobbie—You weren't? Why, only just this minute, when Norah took your card upstairs, mamma said "that Mr. Vincent is only just about half baked."—Judge.

It sometimes happens that a man's opportunity is his misfortune.

Economy.

There were only four neighbors in Tucker's general store at the crossing of the plank ridge and the State road when Silas Slosson entered.

"How be ye, boys?" he said collectively.

"How be ye, Si?" was the reply. "Hou's th' ol' lady?"

"'Baout th' same; don't see much change."

Silas crossed the store to the counter, behind which stood Tucker, his face wreathed in mercantile smiles, his fat hands pressed against the varnishless table.

"Whattel it be, Mistur Slosson?" he asked.

"Haow much ye gittin' fer C sugar?" replied the prospective customer.

"Six cents."

"Phew—w—w," whistled Silas, "gone up, ain't it? Didn't hev t' pay no sich figger fer t' las' I bo't."

"Thet so?" inquired Tucker with surprise. "Haow much 'd ye hev t' giv'?"

"Five cents an' a half."

"Thet so? Haow much ye want?"

"Paound."—Detroit Free Press.

You have heard of Swanson's 5 DROPS Rheumatic Cure, still you are suffering from Rheumatism and other diseases that this remedy so surely cures. Many of your friends have advised you to use it, and yet you hesitate before giving it a trial. Why delay any longer, and why waste any more money and time? You will certainly find what you have sought in vain for, as we are confident it will do for you what it has done for others similarly afflicted. If all knew what thousands know of the efficacy of 5 DROPS as a curative as well as preventive of any ache or pain known to the human body, there would not be a family in all America without a bottle of Swanson's 5 DROPS Rheumatic Cure. You can try it for the small amount of 25c. On receipt of same will send you a sample bottle; or, send us a dollar and we will send you a large bottle prepaid by express, containing 300 doses. 5 DROPS is the name and dose. Free from opiates in any form. Absolutely harmless; a child can use it as well as an adult. For further particulars write Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 160 Lake street, Chicago.

Paton, the Painter.

Sir Joseph Noel Paton, her Majesty's limner for Scotland since 1865, completed his seventy-eighth year recently. In 1843 Sir Noel was admitted a student at the Royal Academy, and in 1850 he became an academician of the Royal Scotch Academy. Sir Noel Paton is a poet as well as a painter. Almost forty years ago he issued a volume of verse, entitled "Poems of a Painter," and in 1867—the year he was knighted—his second volume of poems was issued, under the title "Spindrift." In his house in George square, Edinburgh, not far from the building in which Sir Walter Scott first opened his eyes, Sir Noel Paton, who enjoys good health, has one of the finest collections of arms and armor of any private owner in the country.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha and Java, but it is made of pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c and 25c per package. Sold by all grocers.

Bermuda Lobsters.

In the neighborhood of the Bermudas the sea is extremely transparent, so that the fishermen can readily see the horns of the lobsters protruding from their hiding places in the rocks at considerable depth. To entice the crustaceans from these crannies they tie a lot of snails in a ball and dangle them in front of the curious lobster. When he grabs the ball they haul him up.

What Shall We Have for Dessert?

This question arises in the family every day. Let us answer it to-day. Try Jell-O, a delicious and healthful dessert. Prepared in two minutes. No boiling! no baking! simply add a little hot water and set to cool. Flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

Forearmed.

"Have you bought your automobile yet?"

"No. I'm taking lessons now from a professional acrobat, so that I may dismount gracefully when I begin to operate my auto."—Philadelphia Press.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.

Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once. Go to your druggist to-day and get a sample bottle free. Sold in 25 and 50 cent bottles. Go at once; delays are dangerous.

In letters I am, perhaps, equal to other men, but the character of the superior man—carrying out in his conduct what he professes—is what I have not yet attained to.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is not a liquid or a snuff. It quickly relieves Cold in the Head, Headache, etc., and really cures Catarrh. 50c.

The golden moments in the stream of life rush past us, and we see nothing but sand; the angels come to visit us, and we only know them when they are gone.—George Eliot.

Dropsy treated free by Dr. H. H. Green's Sons of Atlanta, Ga. The greatest dropsy specialists in the world. Read their ad. in another column of this paper.

A great many men fail to make their careers an ostensible success because they never steal anywhere near enough at one time.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

All men want their employers to be strictly honest—with them.

A Dwarf Queen.

Probably the smallest monarch in the world reigns over the Hindu vassal state of Bhopaul, and governs a people of more than a million souls. This dwarf is a woman, Djihan-Begum by name, but although she is about fifty years old she does not appear larger than a child of ten. Her diminutive size does not prevent her, however, from holding the reins of government with a firm hand, and in her realm quiet and order are supreme.

The Ideal Man.

There is much rivalry between colleges as to which will produce the ideal man. By this they mean a strong and intellectual man. Health will demand first consideration, for upon that depends all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will keep the bowels regular and the stomach healthy by curing stomach disorders. It also prevents malaria, fever and ague.

Beecher's Advice as to His Successor

One evening three months before his death Mr. Beecher turned to a leading member of his congregation and began talking about his successor. "When I'm gone—and, of course, I soon shall go," he said—"I want you to be careful as to the choice of my successor. Don't get a man like me, physically or mentally, or one who expresses himself as I do. Don't have any man who could be compared with me. If you do, some will say he is better than Beecher; others, that he is not so good. In short, get my antipodes."—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Place for a Poor Man.

Alameda, N. W. T., Canada, Dec. 22, 1899.

Mr. B. Davies, Canadian Government Agent, St. Paul, Minn.:

Dear Sir—As I promised you about two years ago that at some future time I would let you know what I thought of Western Canada and the chances of a poor man making a start and supporting a family at same time, so will write a few facts concerning my own experience the past twenty-one months, and what I have done any able-bodied man can do, provided he will work.

I left Traverse country March 20, 1898, landed in Alameda at noon the 21st, with $3.55 in my pocket, a stranger and among strangers, and when my family came in October, 1898, my wife had nearly $10, or barely enough to pay freight on her stove, sewing machine and clothes and beds. I commenced work March 28; also made entry for homestead same day (the man I started work for loaning me $15 to pay entrance fee), and I have earned, or at least received, $478.10 in wages since then and have been idle at least two months of the twenty-one since I came. The homestead I took had 12 acres broke by a former occupant. I paid $20 to have it replowed in July, '98, and the seed wheat for it cost me $8.25. I let it to a neighbor for half in elevator clear of all expense except the seed, and this fall I received $70.10 for my part of the crops off of the 12 acres, so my total receipts the past twenty-one months have been $548.10 and my expenses, besides living for self and family, have been as follows:

Entrance fee ($5 being paid for cancellation)	$15 00
Summer fallowing 12 acres	20 00
Seed for same	8 25
Cost of house, besides my own labor on same	75 85
Twenty acres of breaking and double discing same	60 00
	$179 10
My half of wheat	$70 10
Net expense on homestead	$109 00

We moved on our homestead July 10, 1899. Have 32 acres in good shape for crops in 1900. My wife joins me in sending best wishes to you and yours.

You can truly say to any poor man who pays a big rent to get a farm (somebody else's land), or works for wages to support a family, that I have personally tried both in Minnesota and tried hard to make a success of it, but found to my sorrow that after working hard a poor living was all I could get out of it, and after nearly two years of Western Canadian life I will say that I am very thankful to you for helping me to decide to try it in Canada. Yours respectfully,

W. H. KINKADE.

Sunflower in Commerce.

The sunflower is cultivated in many European countries. In Russia the seeds are parched and eaten like peanuts in the United States. The oil is used for illuminating and often for culinary purposes.

You Can Get Allen's Foot-Ease FREE.

Write to-day to Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y., for a FREE sample of Allen's Foot-Ease, a powder to shake into your shoes. It cures tired, sweating, damp, swollen, aching feet. It makes new or tight shoes easy. A certain cure for Corns and Bunions. All druggists and shoe stores sell it. 25 cents.

Sure.

Country Host—Now, don't forget to look us up next year, professor.

Professor—No, indeed. I have already tied a knot in my handkerchief.

Lane's Family Medicine

Moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary. Acts gently on the liver and kidneys. Cures sick headache. Price 25 and 50c.

To be able to bear provocation is an argument of great reason, and to forgive it, of a great mind.—Tillotson.

Jell-O. The New Dessert,

pleases all the family. Four flavors:—Lemon, Orange, Raspberry and Strawberry. At your grocers. 10 cts.

Don't get the notion that you are dear to those who fawn on you.

The Nickel Plate Road

Offers to the traveling public a great convenience by the sale of the Central Passenger Association Mileage Ticket, which, besides the Nickel Plate is honored for passage on thirty-six other roads. Apply to any Agent.

BUFFALO FOR MARKET.

Texas Cattle Company Has Entered Into the Business Extensively.

"Most people are of the belief," remarked Sheriff Taylor of Sherman, Texas, as he leaned against the desk at the Clarendon this morning and shaded his eye against the clerk's diamond stud, "that the American bison is an extinct animal, but that is a great mistake. It is true that in comparison with the numbers of the beasts that used to thunder over the western plains the numbers now to be found are insignificant, but yet there are some in existence, and there are measures now under contemplation for the propagation of the species, so that in time they may become reasonably common again.

"I know of only one herd of buffalo in Texas—that belonging to Mrs. Mary Goodnight of the Goodnight Cattle Company, in the panhandle. Her herd comes down from the original stock of the staked plains. Several years ago the herdsmen of the Goodnight pastures captured three calves, and after domesticating them as much as their natures would permit proceeded to breed them. This was done as a pastime, and without any special purpose in view until the race began to go out of existence, and then it was decided to go into the inbreeding as an industry. So the herd has grown until now it numbers about seventy, sixty or more being full grown and healthy specimens of the species.

"I have often seen these animals on the Goodnight range, and they certainly bring to mind the old time on the plains. The Goodnight people have the means to go into the cultivation of the buffalo on a liberal scale, and in Texas it is understood to be the purpose of the managers for Mrs. Goodnight to dispose of none of the stock for a period of years, say twenty-five, when the herd will number something like 5,000.

"I am told that there are other herds in the United States. 'Buffalo' Jones of Kansas has a large herd. He has always taken great interest in the propagation of the animals and of late has been working on a scheme to have the United States Government set aside a large pasture for the exclusive range of buffaloes, the breeding stock to be contributed by Mrs. Goodnight, Jones and any others who may have any of the animals which they would be willing to part with."—Memphis Scimetar.

Where He Failed.

"That absent-minded looking man is a wonder. He can tell you the exact distance to all the planets, their relative positions in space, and all about them."

"But," answered the scoffer, "if you want to stump him, ask him how far it is to the nearest grocer's or the post-office."

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

SEAL. A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75 cents.

More than He Could Stand.

"Our wedding is off."

"What's the trouble?"

"She wanted to have her name engraved 'Babe' on the wedding cards."—Chicago Record.

IN 3 OR 4 YEARS AN INDEPENDENCE IS ASSURED

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

If you take up your homes in Western Canada, the land of plenty. Illustrated pamphlets, giving experiences of farmers who have become wealthy in growing wheat, reports of delegates, etc., and full information as to reduced railway rates can be had on application to the Superintendent of Immigration, Department of Interior, Ottawa, Canada.

Write to F. Pedley, Supt. Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or the undersigned, who will mail you atlases, pamphlets, etc., free of cost: E. T. Holmes, Indianapolis, Ind.; D. L. Caven, Columbus, Ohio; M. V. McInnes, No. 2 Merrill Block, Detroit, Mich., Agents for the Gov't of Canada.

PERUNA PROTECTS OUR HOMES.

The Roberts Family, of Falls City, Neb., Are Healthy and Happy—A Rare Sight in These Days. They Say, "We Think Peruna Is the Greatest Medicine on Earth."

No man is better known in the State of Nebraska than Mr. Carl T. Roberts, contractor and mason. A typical American—active, shrewd and full of business sagacity. He is not only a provider for his family, but a protector. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he writes, among other things, as follows:

"Our boy, James, had the membranous croup and repeated attacks of lung fever. Our boy, Charlie, was also subject to attacks of pneumonia and pleurisy. Our third boy, John, was subject to fever and ague (malarial) and liver trouble. Your remedy, Peruna, cured my boys entirely, and now I have three of the healthiest boys in the State of Nebraska, which I attribute to your medicine. My wife had a stomach trouble which Peruna also cured. Altogether for my whole family we have used nineteen bottles of Peruna, and have thus saved $500 in doctors' bills. I am a contractor and mason by trade, and am known all over Nebraska. I have had a stomach trouble which has been greatly relieved by your remedy, Peruna, for which I am still taking it. We think it is the greatest medicine on earth."—C. T. Roberts, Falls City, Neb.

Hon. William Youngblood.

Hon. William Youngblood, Auditor for the Interior, writes from Washington, D. C., to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, as follows: "I've often heard of your great medicine and have persuaded my wife, who has been much of a sufferer from catarrh, to try Peruna, and after using one bottle she has wonderfully improved. It has proved all you have claimed for it, and I take pleasure in recommending it to anyone who is afflicted with catarrh."

Peruna has become, in a multitude of households, absolutely indispensable.

Mr. T. G. Walker, Carneiro, Kansas, writes: "It is with pleasure that I report that I am better than I have been for many years. I believe Peruna is without a doubt the best medicine that ever was used in a family. It has cured my nervousness, with which I had been afflicted for a great number of years."

It is a fact of ever-increasing astonishment that so many otherwise sensible and provident people will, for the neglect of so simple a precaution as to have a bottle of Peruna at hand, bring upon themselves the needless suffering and foolish expense that a practitioner of medicine is forced to witness every day.

As soon as the value of Peruna is fully appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure of these affections, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of disease prevented. Peruna is the household safeguard.

A complete work on chronic catarrh sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

The Usual Way.

"Gentlemen of the jury," asked the Clerk of the court, "have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," replied the foreman. "The verdict of the jury is that the lawyers have mixed this case up so that we don't know anything at all about it."

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing, and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee, but costs about ¼ as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

At the theaters of war the actors do not content themselves with killing the heavy villain.

The author of "Bandanna Ballads," in the April Ladies' Home Journal, is one of the newer singers of negro folklore. She is Miss Howard Weeden, and her ballads have elicited the highest praise of Joel Chandler Harris. She illustrates her own writings with pictures that are as felicitious, faithful and convincing as her verse.

Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

A swarm of African locusts, brought across Europe by a southern gale, settled in the neighborhood of London in 1748, and devoured every green thing.

"At the present time the extent of ocean cables is nearly 200,000 miles. The total distance of all land wires it is impossible to state with exactness, but it is rather more than ten times the total for the cable systems. In the United States alone there are above 800,000 of wire in use."—Ainslee's Magazine.

The Nickel Plate Road

Will sell excursion tickets to students account the Easter vacation at one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets are available the day before school closes, the closing day and the day after, the return limit to cover period of vacation. Inquire of Agents.

LOCAL and CLIMATIC CATARRH

Nothing but a local remedy or change of climate will cure

CATARRH.

The specific is

Ely's Cream Balm

It is quickly Absorbed. Gives Relief at once. Opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages. Allays Inflammation. Heals and Protects the Membrane. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. No Mercury. No Injurious drug. Regular Size, 50 cents; Family Size, $1.00 at Druggists or by mail.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES COLD IN HEAD

COLD IN HEAD

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup Is the best remedy for bronchitis. It relieves the troublesome cough at once, effects an easy expectoration and cures in a few days. Price 25c. at all druggists.

BE YOUR OWN DEALER Buy Direct from Us at FACTORY WHOLESALE PRICES

OUR ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE IS FREE. SEND FOR IT. All Goods Guaranteed.

WE BELONG TO NO TRUST OR COMBINE. WE SELL OUR GOODS DIRECT TO THE CONSUMER. That is the reason we sell road carts as low as $6.85, road wagons $23.60, top buggies $31.85, harness $4.15, sewing machines $13.60, baby carriages $5.00, go-carts $3.60, stoves $5.75, phaetons, surreys, spring, farm and delivery wagons, saddles, buggy wheels and tops, bicycles, etc., at prices lower than you can buy elsewhere. We can please you in style, price, quality and prompt delivery. Don't fail to write us before making your purchase.

CONSUMERS CARRIAGE & MFG. CO., 269 and 271 So. Desplaines Street, CHICAGO, ILL.

LAXATIVE BROMO-QUININE TABLETS

Stops the Cough and Works Off The Cold.

CURES LA GRIPPE

NO CURE NO PAY. PRICE 25c.

A KLONDIKE SCENE.

NOTE—Every Druggist from Klondike to Cuba sells Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets for Colds and Grip. In fact it is the only Cold and Grip prescription sold throughout this vast territory which is striking evidence of its virtue and popularity. This signature E. W. Grove appears on every box of the genuine article. No Cure, No Pay. Price 25c.

ALABASTINE

WHAT ALABASTINE IS.

Alabastine is the original and only durable wall coating on the market. It is entirely different from all kalsomine preparations. Alabastine is made ready for use in white or fourteen beautiful tints by the addition of cold water. It is put up in dry powdered form, in packages properly labeled, with full directions on every package. It takes the place of scaling kalsomines, wall paper and paint for walls. Alabastine can be used on plaster, brick, wood or canvas, and a child can brush it on.

WHAT "KALSOMINES" ARE.

Kalsomines are cheap and temporary preparations, manufactured from whiting, chalks, clays, etc. They are stuck on the walls with decaying animal glue. Alabastine is not a kalsomine. It is a brock base cement, which sets, and it hardens with age. It can be re-coated and re-decorated without having to wash and scrape off its old coats. Alabastine is utilized to a great extent in hospitals, as it prevents the accumulation of dirt and the congregating of disease germs, being disinfectant in its nature.

CHURCHES AND SCHOOLHOUSES.

The interior walls of churches, schoolhouses and all public halls should never be coated with anything but the durable and pure Alabastine. So evident has this fact become that hundreds of tons are used annually for this work. The genuine Alabastine does not rub or scale off. It is cleanly during the long period of its usefulness. Every owner of a building should use it. Ask your paint dealer or druggist for card of tints, and write for free copy of our interesting booklet to Alabastine Co., Grand Rapids, Mich.

REJECT THE "JUST AS GOOD."

The dealer who tells you that he can sell you the "same thing" as Alabastine or "something just as good," either is not posted or is trying to deceive you. In offering something he has bought cheap and is trying to sell on Alabastine's demands, he may not realize the danger to himself as well as to you. Beware of all new substitutes. Dealers risk a suit for damages by selling and consumers by using an infringement. Alabastine Co. own the right to make and sell wall coatings adapted to mix with cold water.

POTATOES $1.20 a Bbl. Largest Seed POTATO Growers in America. Prices $1.20 & up. Enormous stocks of Grass, Clover and Farm Seeds. Send this notice and 10c for catalog and 12 RARE FARM SEED SAMPLES. JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LA CROSSE, WIS. c. n.

CLOVER

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in civil war. 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

King a Plowman.

The King of the Hellenes delights in taking recreation in the fields. He can plow, cut and bind corn, milk cows, and in short, if necessary, keep a farm going single-handed.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS.

Secure relief by using Dr. Harvey's Rheumatic Pills, used successfully by him in his practice for many years. Send for pamphlet. Address Harvey Medicine Co., 181 Tremont St., Boston, Mass. (Room 35.)

DROPSY NEW DISCOVERY; gives quick relief & cures worst cases. Book of testimonials and 10 DAYS' treatment FREE. Dr. H. H. Green's Sons, Box B, Atlanta, Ga.

F. W. N. U. - - No. 14—1900.

When Writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Advertisement in this paper.

AUBURN WEEKLY COURIER.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DeKALB COUNTY

JAMES A. BARNS, Editor.

Registered at the Auburn, Indiana, postoffice as second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....APRIL 5, 1900.

For Congress

I hereby announce my name as a candidate for congress of the Twelfth congressional district, subject to decision of the democratcic congressional convention.

SAMUEL M. HENCH.
Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 12, 1900

DEMOCRATIC CALL

For Caucuses to Select Delegates to the Various Conventions.

The Democratic voters of DeKalb county and all others who desire to affiliate with them are hereby called to meet in their respective townships at theis usual meeting places on

SATURDAY, APRIL 14TH, 1900,

at one o'clock p. m. (hour subject to change at option of local committeemen) and there select delegates and alternates to the State, Congressional, Senatorial, Judicial and County conventions, to be held as follows:

State convention at Indianapolis, June 6, 1900.

Twelfth district Congressional convention at Fort Wayne April 24th,

Senatorial and Judicial conventions, date and place yet to be fixed.

The different precincts will be entitled to the following representation at the above conventions:

Butler tp	1
Concord	1½
Fairfield	1½
Franklin	1
Grant	1½
Jackson	1
Keyser	3
Newville	½
Richland	1
Stafford	½
Smithfield	1
Troy	½
Union	2½
Wilmington	2

The county convention for the nomination of Representative, Sheriff, Treasurer, Surveyor, County Assessor, Coroner, Commissioner North district, Commissioner Southwest district, and one county councilman from each of the four districts and three councilmen at large, will be held in Henry's opera house, Auburn, on

TUESDAY, MAY 8TH, 1900,

The different precincts will be entitled to the following representation: Butler, 10; Concord, South 7, north 9, east 7; Fairfield, west 11; east 10; Franklin west 7, east 5; Grant west 7, northeast 6, south east 7, at large 1; Jackson, south 7, north 9; Keyser No. 1, 7; 2, 7; 3, 6; 4, 11, 5, 12; 6, 10; Newville 7; Richland north 9, south 7; Stafford 5; Smithfield north 7. south 9; Troy 4; Union No. 1, 9; 2, 9; 3, 11; 4, 9; 5, 9; at large 1; Wilmington No. 1, 4; 2, 6; 3, 4; 4, 7; 5, 6; 6, 6.

All townships which have not selected precinct committeemen will do so at the coming caucus April 14, and report the names to headquarters immediately thereafter. CYRUS C. WALTER, Chairman.

JOHN C. LOCHNER, Secretary.

No Danger from the Breath.

It is said that there are no bacteria, specific or other in the expired breath in the ordinary respiration of persons affected with diphtheria or consumption; therefore the warning against inhaling the breath of such persons is unnecessary. The real source of danger is in the discharge from the throat, nose and lungs. It is more important than ordinary persons realize that all these discharges should be disinfected. Under no circumstances should well people use towels or handkerchiefs or indeed, any article of clothing worn by patients suffering from these diseases.

The Grenade Throwers.

The Grenadiers, the senior of British regiments which compose the brigade of guards, got its name from the fact that toward the end of the last century the men were armed with hand grenades to throw among the enemy. They had to be in the front of the fighting line, hence they gained a reputation for bravery and the name of the Grenadiers. The badge of the regiment is still a hand grenade spouting flame, though that deadly engine of war has long since been superseded.—Scottish American.

The Longest Suspension Bridge.

The suspension bridge that is to connect New York with Hoboken will be the longest of its kind, having a span of 2,730 feet. It is estimated that the bridge with its approaches will cost $60,000,000. Probable the bridge will be double decked and provided with a carriage road, a footpath, a bicycle path and four trolley car tracks on the upper deck, beside the six tracks for regular steam railroad, freight and passenger trains on the main deck.

Bismark's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25 cents at F. B. McCord's Drugstore.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Court Proceedings.

Work in the circuit court is moving on slowly. The case of McConnell vs. Burch, to set aside deed and quiet title, is on trial and is likely to consume a good part of the week. The following cases have been disposed of:

State of Indiana vs. George Green, ing to Garrett, when just in front of Motion for new trial overruled and exceptions taken. Sixty days given to file bill ofexceptions.

William H. Baker vs. Herman Riecius. Submitted to court and judgment rendered for defendant on his cross-complaint.

Jennie C. Drew vs. George H. Drew, divorce. Evidence heard by court and decree granted to plaintiff with alimony in the sum of $800.

Emma B. Sharitt vs. Isaac and Ezra Lautzenheiser, on note. Judgment by default for $838.73.

Ida Neal vs. John W. and Jas. W. Platter, on note. Judgment by default for $165.

Tillie Curran vs. Tim Curran, divorce. Decree to plaintiff with alimony of $175 and attorney fees.

Sorry to Lose Them.

In the removal of W. B. Brown, Auburn loses one of her best citizens. For a number of years he has been identified with the business interests of the city, being a member of the firm of Brown, Culbertson & Boland, hardware merchants. For the last two years he has superintended the handling of the McCormick mowers and binders in several counties. His business ability has been demonstrated in the success which has always attended his interests and we feel sure his new venture in Iowa will not be disappointing to himself nor his friends. Mr. Brown has been prominent in many ways, having begun life as a teacher in which he showed the same marked ability that has made his business life a success. His wife is one of the elect ladies, and she will be missed in club, social and church life. The many regrets expressed of their going away is a testimony of the high regard in which they were held among our citizens. We most heartily commend them to the citizens of Waterloo, Iowa, and hope they shall find their new relations congenial in every way, and should they find it to their advantage to return to our fair city, we shall extend to them a most hearty welcome.

April Weather.

Weather Prophet Hicks says that after todsy there will perhaps come cooler weather, although persistent southern currents, influenced by the moon's declination north, will tend to keep up the temperature. It will be safe to count on freezing and frost in many sections. On and touching the 5th and 6th look for reaction to warmer, attended by April showers. A marked storm period falls between the 9th and 14th, the last four days being especially severe. Hot air and restless clouds foretell dangerous storms at this period. Following this, look for cool and frosty nights, lasting until the 16th. More storms will come about the 17th and 18th. Look for change to quite cool nights with probably frost in many sections about the 10th and 20th.

An unseasonable warm spell will occur from the 21st to 26th, culminating in vicious rain, thunder and hail storm. During the last three days of April will come renewed storms and showers.

OBITUARY.

Gertrude Aileen Mohr, infant daughter of Fred and Bessie Mohr, was born July 18. 1899, and died April 2, 1900. Little Gertrude was a sweet and promising child and had not death cut her down would doubtless developed into bright womanhood. Like our fondest hopes, often perishing before any realizations. The compensation is that the memory of her will linger like a sweet perfume in this home. Funeral by the pastor, Rev. T. M. Guild.

This lonely child, thus early torn
From our fond breasts away;
With silent grief is gently borne
To its lone bed of clay.

I take these little lambs, said he,
And lay them on my breast;
Protection they shall find in me,
In me be ever blest.

How Rat Portage Got Its Name.

R. J. Sharpe admits that Rat Portage, the name of his home city in Ontario, is not euphonious. "But it is unique," he adds. "The town was named for just what the words convey, a portage for rats. It is on the Winnipeg river, just below the outlet of the Lake of the Woods. Long ago, before the country was settled as it is now, there was a portage at the point where the town is built for the thousands of muskrats that passed from the river to the lake in winter and back again to the river in the spring. At the outlet to the lake there is a waterfall eighteen or twenty feet high, that the rats could not pass over, so they went around, making the portage.—Denver Republican.

Sheep for Sale.

Owing to a scarcity of feed I have concluded to dispose of my entire flock of sheep at private sale, consisting of twenty-nine head of ewes, one ram, and thirty-two head of lambs by their sides, ranging in age from two to eight weeks. Also several head of young cattle. Residence two and one-half miles south west of Jackson Center.—P. P. LOCHNER.

Noted Healer in Town.

The greatest healer of modern times is Banner Salve, for cuts, wounds, sores, piles and all skin diseases. Guaranteed. H. B. McCord.

From the Fruit Belt.

BERRIEN SPRINGS, MICH., April 2, 1900.

FRIEND BARNS:—Thinking perhaps it might be interesting to Auburn people to know something as to the condition and prospect of crops in the fruit belt. I arrived at Berrien Springs March 3 and found the snow two feet deep on the level, on north and south roads three to five feet deep Can still see remnants of snow drifts. Saturday and today I have taken some time to enquire as to the future crop. Am told the wheat is almost entirely destroyed by the fly. The prospect for small fruit was never better our peach growers say about half of the buds are killed, leaving plenty to make a fine crop. One of our best peach growers told me that killing half of the buds was a great advantage as it saved thinning, which is a big task in large orchards. Farmers gave the sugar beet a trial last year but owing to the severe drouth failed, and are loth to try it again. Our people have secured a canning factory and the company are throwing out inducements to farmers to grow vegetables and fruits for canned goods.

I am sorry to say there has been much sickness and many deaths among old people. Our healthy little village of 800 population surpasses the death rate in Auburn this winter.—Truly yours, T. C. ELSON.

—Spring is coming—some day.

"South Before the War."

Patrons of Henry's opera house have a treat in store for themselves in the shape of Martell's mammoth production "South Before the War," which will appear at that house on Tuesday, April 10.

This will take our older inhabitants over the road of the buried past to the times when the darkeys' doings on the plantation were proverbial. The piece is made up of four parts; a plantation as it appeared in the midst of a cotton picking scene; a landing on the Mississippi river at which the famous old river craft, Robert E. Lee, arrives, loaded with the staple on its way to the crescent city, The next scene depicts a camp meeting held on Frog Island, while another scene shows an old time cake walk. In all these scenes, singing, dancing, and in fact everything that a fun loving darkey can do, is done to amuse the audience.

The performance with a special production of "The Passion Play," by the animated picture machine, representing a perfect performance of biblical narrative, as enacted by the devout peasantry of Horwitz, Austria.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Millionaires in Prussia.

According to a European print of the eleven richest persons in Prussia, with a fortune of over 30,000,000 marks, four live in Silesia, two each in Hesse-Nassau and Rhine-Prussia, one in Westphalia and two in Berlin. Within the district of Potsdam, which comprises the suburbs of Berlin, there are now residing 136 millionaires, against 109 in 1898, showing an increase of twenty-three per cent. Among the millionaires twenty-three (as against thirty-two in 1897) have an actual annual income of not exceeding 3,000 marks; they are principally owners of building lots in the outskirts of the city, three of whom live in Berlin and five in the districts of Potsdam. As regards the income, there are in Prussia 148 persons having an annual revenue of 500,000 marks, against 128 in 1897, and only 103 in 1896. Of this number forty-nine (against forty-three in 1897 and twenty-seven in 1896), have an income of upward of 1,000,000 marks, and of these millionaires fourteen live in Berlin, thirteen in Hesse-Nassau, ten in Rhine-Prussia and two in Saxony.

Talking Machine in a Clock.

Quite the newest thing in timepieces is the clock which announces the hour in a somewhat metallic, but clear and distinct voice. It is, of course, an ingenious combination of the clock, and the talking machine, the latter acting by means of a simple connection with the works above. Inquiries of those in the trade show that already a number of orders have been received for clocks of that kind, which so far have been designed for advertising purposes.

A Card

We do much the largest part of the fine carpet trade of the citizens of Fort Wayne, but we do not do so much of the nice carpet trade of Auburn as we ought. The carpet business with us is a specialty; with a dry goods house it is only a side line. They should be bought to harmonize with one another. The same is equally true of curtains and draperies. We lead in all these lines. It is not generally known in Auburn that we devote more than double the floor space to carpets than any other Fort Wayne house does, but it is a fact. Our carpet and curtain department is 21 feet wide and 220 feet long. It is an absolute fact, that there is not another such a carpet room in the state. There is scarcely a pretty carpet out today, in Ingrains, Brussels, Velvets, Moquettes, Axminsters, or Wiltons, that you will not find in our immense stock. Our Fort Wayne people think, when they want a specially handsome carpet, they must come to us for it. When so agreed we send our carpet layer to Auburn to lay carpets bought of us.—Foster Furniture & Carpet Co., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Heroic Cure for Stuttering.

A volunteer in a Colorado regiment at Manila has been cured of stuttering by being shot through the throat by a Mauser bullet.

His Bluff Was Seen.

He reviled the town in which he lived and did business, and now Edward Webb, a young boot and shoe dealer of Hopkins, Mo., has become a wanderer upon the face of the earth for a year. It came about by Webb ridiculing Hopkins as a place of business, saying he would leave the town and stay away for $5. The sum was quickly raised, and rather than show the white feather Webb accepted the money, signed a contract and bid farewell to his relatives, his business and the town. He cannot return within a year without forfeiting a large sum of money, death or sickness in his family being no excuse for the breaking of the contract.

The Pogonip.

The following explanation is given of the remarkable condition expressed by the word pogonip: "This is said to be a name given by the mountaineers of Nevada to a sort of frozen fog that appears sometimes in winter, even on the clearest and brightest days. In an instant the air is filled with floating needles of ice. To breathe the pogonip is death to the lungs. When it comes, Indians as well as whites rush for shelter. It appears to be caused by the sudden freezing in the air of the moisture which collects about the summits of the high peaks."

Honey and Money.

The bee industry employs 300,000 persons, and the revenue from it is about $20,000,000 a year.

The Care of Your Eyes.

Keep a shade on your lamp or gasburner. Avoid all sudden changes between light and darkness. Never read by twilight, moonlight, or on cloudy days. Never read or sew directly in front of the light of window or door. It is best to let the light fall from above obliquely over the left shoulder. Do not use the eyesight by light so scant that it requires an effort to discriminate. Never sleep so that on first awakening the eyes shall open on the light of a window. Never begin to read, write or sew for several minutes after coming from darkness to light. The moment you are instinctively prompted to rub your eyes, that moment stop using them. If the eyelids are glued together on waking up, do not forcibly open them, but apply saliva with the finger—it is the speediest dilutant in the world—then wash your eyes and face in warm water.

A World's Fair in 1569.

Perhaps the first industrial exposition on record was held in 1569 in the rathhaus of Nuremberg. A catalogue published at the time thus states the purpose of the exposition: "It shall bring before the public all innovations in the trade of the whole world in modern times, together with domestic art productions."

Reversing the Usual Style.

A 15-year-old English girl tried to drown herself in a Wimbledon pond because her mother insisted on her wearing corsets.

An Old-Time Letter.

The following letter, written during the war while the writer was confined in a Confederate hospital at Richmond, Va., and is still very legible

DEAR FATHER AND MOTHER:—I was captured at Gettysburg, July 2, and arrived here on the 24th after a hard journey of 280 miles. Was confined to Belle Island till November 2, when I was sent first to General Hospital No. 22, then to No. 21, and finally again to No. 22, and I have remained here all winter. I have the sciatica in the hips, also the chronic diarrhoea caused by cold and exposure. Have had no opportunity of writing to you hitherto must be my excuse for my seeming neglect. I am very weak and feeble, and my constitution has received a shock from which I may not soon recover. My time will expire if I mistake not, August 14, 1864. I intend to go home and work on my farm and keep bachelor's hall, and I want you to raise me a half an acre of potatoes, 80 heads of cabbage, onions, beets, 60 pumpkins, 50 bushel of apples, sorghum enough to make me 31 gallons of molasses and other garden vegetables, a barrel of cider and a barrel of vinegar, also a barrel of pickles. I want you to let me have 7½ acres of ground to sow to wheat in case that Greenfield will not leave next December. I hope you will assist me in starting to keep house again, in furnishing it etc. I want pork, a cow, a yoke of oxen etc. Raise plenty of stuff this year. Sell none of the crops on my farm this year as I shall stand in need of them next fall myself. Pay my taxes, also Taylor & Little of the last year's crops. I will not soldier no more. Write soon. Direct, Samuel W. Houlton, Prisoner, General Hospital No. 22, Ward 3, Richmond, Va No more at present but remain as ever your son, S. W. Houlton; John and Nancy Houlton.

P. S. My friend, John Hogan, send his compliments to you. Send me a sheet of paper and an envelope.

License Notice.

Notice is hereby given to the citizens of the Second Ward of the city of Auburn, and of Union township, DeKalb county, Indiana, that the undersigned will make application to the Board of Commissioners of said county at their next regular session, to be held at the court house in said county, commencing on the 1st day of May, 1900, for a license to sell spirituous, vinous and malt liquors in less quantities than a quart at a time with the privilege of having the same drank on the premises where sold. The premises on which I desire to sell are located as follows:

A one-story brick building containing but one room and occupying the south fifty (50) feet of the following described lot:

Commencing at the southeast corner of lot number twenty-seven (27) in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb county, Ind., and running thence west twenty-two and two-thirds (22⅔) feet, thence north to Sixth street, thence east twenty-two and two-thirds (22⅔) feet, thence south along the line of said lot number 27 to the place of beginning.

THOMAS SOMMERS.

April 3, 1900.

Children and Ghost Stories.

The attempt to keep your children in ignorance of stories about ghosts, fairies, giants and gypsies would certainly prove futile. If they are of a nervous and imaginative temperament they will invent new terrors for themselves instead of the old traditional ones. A little girl of six, who had been jealously guarded against any acquaintance with nursery bogies and superstitions, suffered from night terrors of a severe kind, in which she always screamed out that she was being chased by robbers. But while it may be impracticable to protect children from a knowledge of the supernatural and mysterious, it is inexcusable to frighten them with hideous stories or to leave them a prey to the terrors of the solitude and darkness.

NOTICE.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50 bottle of Downs' Elixir if it does not cure any cough, cold, croup, whooping cough or throat trouble. We also guarantee Downs' Elixir to cure consumption, when used according to directions, or money back. A full dose on going to bed and small doses during the day will cure the most severe cold and stop the most distressing cough. E. M. FISCHLER, F. E. DAVENPORT, HOWARD MCCORD.

Red Cross Tansy Pills
FOR Suppressed Menstruation
PAINFUL Menstruation
And a PREVENTIVE for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES.
Are Safe and Reliable. Perfectly Harmless
Purely Vegetable Never Fail
The Ladies' Relief.
PRICE $1.00
Sent postpaid on receipt of price. Money refunded if not as we say. Vin de Cinchona Co. Des Moines, Iowa.
For sale by H. B. McCord, druggist

NERVITA PILLS Restore VITALITY LOST VIGOR AND MANHOOD
Cure Impotency, Night Emissions and wasting diseases, all effects of self-abuse, or excess and indiscretion. A nerve tonic and blood builder. Brings the pink glow to pale cheeks and restores the fire of youth. By mail 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50; with a written guarantee to cure or refund the money. Send for circular. Address,
NERVITA MEDICAL CO.
Clinton & Jackson Sts., CHICAGO, ILL.
Davenport, The Druggist.

An Easter Hint

How would a nice Broach, an elegant Hat Pin or a Beautiful Largu Chain look with that new hat and gown?

See D. A. Hodge's Line of swell things and 'turn out right" on Easter day.

THE HERRICK SHOE
Women who Save
the most money are the largest buyers of the Herrick Shoe. They get the result of the thirty eight years practical experience that the makers of it have had and, too, they get true value in quality, comfort, style.
A perfect shoe—faultless as years of careful study can make it. There is no fancy profit to the manufacturers in it—the low prices prove it. "Women who Save" are the largest buyers of
The Herrick Shoe
$2.50—$3.00—$3.50
Oxfords 50 cents per pair less than above prices.
Special Notice.—Name and Price plainly stamped on sole of every shoe.
SHULLS

When You Fish
For Low Prices, Good Qualities in..
HARNESS
Collars, Pads, Robes, Blankets Whips, Combs, Brushes, Dressings, Oils, Oil Cake Meal, Flax Seed Meal, Oyster Shell, Stock Food, Poultry Food, Sunflower Seed, call on
Eberle & Freygang
Auburn, Ind.
N. B. We will have a full line of all kinds bulk Garden and Field Seeds for the spring planting.

Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.
Rotary Motion and Ball Bearings.
Porter Depew, Agent.

—Let your wants be known through the COURIER.

? A ?
Question

We would like to ask if you see any other clothes that look like ours or that have the same style or nobby appearance.

If you will just think about it a moment, you'll say "No."

We do not know of any clothes to compare with these Hart, Schaffner & Marx tailor made garments either for looks or wear, and yet we sell them for very little money.

H.S.&M.

They're the kind advertised in the leading magazines and worn by good dressers everywhere.

Our New Spring Suits,

are here and they are simply fine. Patterns exquisite, styles perfect. All made with the new French back. Made to fit perfectly; you won't be satisfied with any other after you have seen these. Our prices are no higher than they were last year.

New Spring Suits,

Now is a splendid time to select your New Spring Suit, Jacket or Separate Skirt. We are showing a fine line and judging from the number of them we are selling they must be what the people want in quality, style and price. We have a room 22x60 specially fitted for this line. This is a convenience not often found in cities of this size.

Carpets and Curtains,

Never before in the history of our business career have we sold so many Carpets and Curtains as we are now selling. Our carpet room (the largest in this section of the state) is jammed full of choice new patterns of all kinds of Carpets and Curtains, in fact so many, and such pretty ones, you scarce know which to choose. We want you to see us before buying anything in our line. We have what you want and at less money than you pay elsewhere. See us often.

SCHAAB & BRO,

Auburn, Indiana.

Clever Bird in Mexico.

Mexico has a clever bird called the melanarpes, which has discovered a new use for the telegraph pole. At the foot of the post this bird makes a large hole, in which it rears its family. Somewhat higher up the post it makes an observatory, from which bored holes permit it to observe the horizon in every direction. Still higher this sagacious bird makes its storehouse, and thus the pole serves as its house, fortress and warehouse.

WABASH

GOING EAST.

No. 2	6:25 am	Daily
No. 8	8:34 am	Daily
No. 4	4:59 pm	Daily
No. 70 (local freight)	2:05 pm	ex Su
No. 96	11:35 am	ex Su
No. 98	8:30 pm	ex Su

GOING WEST.

No. 1	10:21 am	Daily
No. 9	5:38 am	Daily
No. 3	7:48 pm	Daily
No. 71 (local freight)	9:15 am	ex Su
No. 95	5:48 pm	ex Su
No. 97	7:52 am	ex Su

Nos. 8 and 9 do not stop at Auburn, but No. 9 stops at the Junction.

All these trains stop for passengers.

For rates, tickets, time tables, etc. apply to I. M. ZENT, Agent, Auburn, Ind

Chas. M. Hays, V. Pres. and Gen'l Manager.
C. S. Crane, Gen'l Pass'r and Ticket Agent

L. S. & M. S. R. R.

TIME TABLE—in Effect Nov. 19 1899.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

Stations	Mail	Exp'ss	Fre'gt
Fort Wayne	11 45 am	4 40 pm	5 55 am
New Era	12 12 pm	5 08	6 40
Auburn Junction	12 26	5 21	7 10
Auburn	12 29	5 25	7 35
Waterloo	12 41	5 36	8 15
Summit	12 51	5 46	8 35
Steubenville	12 54	5 49
Pleasant Lake	1 08	5 56	8 56
Angola	1 13	6 06	9 05
Jackson	3 25	8 25	2 40

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

Stations	Fre'gt	Exp'ss	Mail
Jackson dp	5 55 am	11 45 am	7 05 am
Angola	11 00	2 10 pm	9 16
Pleasant Lake	11 35	2 29	9 26
Steubenville		2 36	9 31
Summit	11 50	2 50	9 33
Waterloo	12 41 pm	3 55	9 48
Auburn	1 20	3 05	9 58
Auburn Junction	1 35	3 08	10 02
New Era	1 54	3 18	10 13
Fort Wayne	3 50	5 50	10 50

For rates on tickets or freight to all points call on or address E. T. DeLAPP, Agent Auburn.

B. & O. R. R.

Schedule In Effect Nov. 22 '98

Leaves Auburn Junction.

WEST BOUND.

No. 8 Express, to Garrett only	8:52 p m
No. 5 Daily	4:30 a m
No. 7 Daily	4:17 p m
No. 17 Daily Except Sunday	12:25 p m
No. 47	1:05 a m

EAST BOUND.

No. 4 Express	4:20 a m
No. 6 Daily	8:05 p m
No. 8 Daily	2:35 p m
No 14 Daily	11:17 p m
No 16, Daily, except Sunday	11:00 a m

Trains Nos. 16 and 17 are the only ones that stop at Waynesboro.

F. D. UNDERWOOD, General Manager

D. B. MARTIN, General Passenger Traffic Manager.

G. H. YOUNG, Auburn Junction, Ind

THOS. H. SPROTT CHAS. H. KNAPP

BUTLER.

The Butler Home Industry insurance company has folded its tent and quietly stolen away while its mourners go about many streets.

Jacob Showalter, an old well-known resident of Butler, is in very poor health.

Lafayette Olds moved to Butler occupying the Orrin Hubbel property on east north Main street, while Oscar McDonald, his son-in-law, has moved on his farm in Troy township.

Peter Teutsch has rented his farm to Ott Warner and will become a citizen of Butler.

Twenty-four of Florence E. Campbell's young lady and young gentlemen friends called to surprise her last Friday night and to remind her that it was her thirteenth birthday. The evening was spent in pleasurable amusements, and were enjoyed very much by all present. She received a number of very nice and valuable presents. After light refreshments they returned to their homes at about ten o'clock—all highly pleased.

Uncle Andrew Casebeer, who is in his ninety fith year, still walks the streets as active and spry as many men of forty-five.

The old Dr. Stough mansion, just east of the Peter Jennings farm in Troy township, was destroyed by fire last Sunday. It was owned and occupied by Mr. James Wiley and was almost a total loss. The loss will reach nearly $1,500 and was insured in the Mutual.

W. A. Crann has bought the Sol. Conner house on the south side and in due time will become a resident of our city.

The canning factory company is again on its feet and will be pushed for all there is in it this year by men that will look after it with more care than Curtis seems to have done.

HUMPHREYS'

WITCH HAZEL

OIL

CURES

Piles or Hemorrhoids
Fissures & Fistulas.
Burns & Scalds.
Wounds & Bruises.
Cuts & Sores.
Boils & Tumors.
Eczema & Eruptions.
Salt Rheum & Tetters.
Chapped Hands.
Fever Blisters.
Sore Lips & Nostrils.
Corns & Bunions.
Stings & Bites of Insects.

Three Sizes, 25c, 50c. and $1.00.

Sold by druggists, or sent post-paid on receipt of price

HUMPHREYS' MED. CO., 111 & 113 William St., New York.

Monday's Daily.

—E. D. Beedle, Auburn, has a 45 foot windmill for sale cheap. 13tf

—Norman Shaffer has thanks for the usual prompt payment on the Old Reliable.

—We are pleased to have our old time friend M. J. Waterman on our list again.

—John Picker has eggs for sale from pure-bred Buff Cochin stock, at 50 cents per setting. a5

—Don't forget the auction sale of hardware at Beuret's next Saturday. Big bargains.

—Sale bills printed on good tough, heavy, weather proof stock, cheap and on short notice.

—Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Kagey spent Sunday in Auburn, guests of E. M. Bishop and other relatives.

—FOR SALE—A small farm, 20 acres, with house well and with out buildings. Call on or address H. W. Long.

—If you intend making a shirt waist, see our line of ginghams, and be convinced that we have up-to date goods. Bazar Store.

—Russ' Bleaching Blue makes clothes whiter than snow, delights the laundress. All grocers sell it in 5 and 10 cent packages.

—Willis Brown and family left over the B. & O. this afternoon for their new home at Waterloo, Iowa. Their address there will be 907 Lafayette street.

—Free bus and free baggage to all points in competition to Baltimorian and Ohio points when tickets are bought at city office.—SPROTT & KNAPP. tf

—W. J. Shellhouse was taken to Jeffersonville today to serve his term for forgery. George Green will probably be taken to Michigan City on Wednesday or Thursday.

—WANTED:—A laboring man with small family wants to rent a home in some good country neighborhood, where he can get work. Good reference given. Inquire here. 14

—J. J. VanAuken is busy making the copies for the maps to be used in the new county atlas which will be issued by himself and brother Cal. this year. It will be a fine book and up to date.

—Easter gloves in all the late spring shades, brown, tan, gray and blue. See our line and get the correct style. We fit every pair before leaving the store—guarantee every pair for $1.00. Bazar Store.

—The officers of the DeKalb county Battalion, G. A. R. will meet in the G. A. R. hall in this city next Saturday April 7, to arrange for the next meeting, and the members of the DeLong Post are invited to meet with them.

—Married, at the Lutheran parsonage, Sunday, April 1, at 10 a. m., by Rev. J. D Brosy, Howard Hoodlemire and E. Laura McClellan. This young couple will commence housekeeping on a farm east of Auburn. We wish them a happy and successful life.

—Human hair switches, bangs and waves made to order from your own hair. I also furnish hair to parties desiring at the lowest price. Mail orders, receive prompt and careful attention. Mrs. Valeria Zimmer, three blocks north of Farmers bank Auburn. Ind. 4tf

—Samuel Miller got even with the Old Reliable today. He says his son Marion and wife have just returned to Dundee, Minn., where he has work as a carpenter. He went there about three years ago, and came back last fall with his wife and have been here over winter.

—At the morning service at the M. E. church yesterday, and just preceding the sermon, Rev. Guild requested Albert Robbins to come forward who with his pen marked "Paid in full" across a $3,000 mortgage which had been hanging over their beautiful temple since its construction nine years ago.

—The night policeman at Montpelier, O., thought he would play an "April fool" joke on the fire department yesterday morning. He built a bonfire on the Main street and called the firemen out, but when he was given the alternative of paying the expenses of the fire department or losing his job he concluded that the joke was rather costly. It cost him about $23.

—Chas. Elson and Miss Bertha Blaney, two of Auburn's well known and respected young people, were united in marriage by Rev. Guild, Saturday evening, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Moy, on McIntyre street. They will take up their residence in Garrett where Mr. Elson has a position as fireman with the B. & O. road. We offer congratulations and good wishes.

—Last Saturday evening the ladies of the missionary society of the Lutheran church came quietly to the parsonage about 8 o'clock and kindly remembered the president of the society, Mrs. Brosy, with a handsome china set. Though Mrs. Brosy was completely surprised the gift was none the less appreciated; she also highly appreciated the spirit of the givers. After a short visit with Mrs. Brosy all returned to their homes feeling that their surprise was a complete success.

Hotels for German Students.

German students and high school pupils traveling in the various mountain regions of their country now have at their disposal 130 taverns, 41 of which give them a free bed, while 76 add breakfast and 11 supper, too. Similar taverns have lately been opened in the Swiss Alps.—New York Post.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Tuesday's Daily.

—Rev. Frank C. Colvin was here today looking after business matters and calling on friends.

—Have you seen the up-to-date shirt waists at the Bazar Store, and so reasonable in price.

—Have you seen the new pully belt at the Bazar Store, the latest belt for ladies, 25 and 50 cents.

—Dr. Baxter reports the birth of a girl last night to Mr. and Mrs. William Blodget, east of town.

—Men's shirts, collar and cuffs attached and detached, the correct style for spring at the Bazar Store, for 50c and 75c.

—Bazar Store has the line of ribbons for you to select from. All the new shades for spring, and price to suit you—the new lace effects.

—If you want to sell or buy, or have lost or found anything, let your wants be known through the columns of the COURIER for quick results.

—A wedding is on the string in the Gonser neighborhood, Fairfield township, in which two well-known young people are deeply interested.

—Rev. C. W. Helt, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, will give two illustrated stereopticon lectures in Auburn, April 10 and 11.

—See the COURIER for supervisors's notices to teamsters in regard to hauling over gravel roads. They are 9x12 and printed in bold type on heavy card board.

—The funeral of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mohr was held this afternoon conducted by Rev. Guild. Interment was in Woodlawn under the directions of G. S. McCord.

—Trustee Joseph Huet of Fairfield township was in town yesterday on township business. He called on the COURIER and paid the subscription of Morton Lehman, who was unable to come himself.

—Rev. W. C. Helt will give his lecture illustrated by improved stereopticon, Tuesday April 10, at the Baptist church in Auburn, April 11 at the M. E. church and April 12, at Norris Chapel east of town.

—Capt. J. F. Lahnum has resigned his place at the Zimmerman factory and is now a salesman at the Pioneer hardware store. The captain is a genial fellow, well liked and with all the requisites of a good clerk.

—Mrs. Hattie Altenberg is visiting her people, Dr. and Mrs. Casebeer. Her home is at Tullahoma, Tenn., where her husband and his brother, Quin. Altenberg are officers in a company that manufacture medicines.

—Miss Lydia Teeters, of Auburn, spent Sunday afternoon in the city with Mr. and Mrs. Will Rossman. The lady was enroute to Plymouth, where she is employed as teacher in the high school of that city.—Columbia City Post.

—Unclaimed letters remaining in the postoffice, week ending April 2, 1900. Miss Alma Gospon, F. Hoover, J. C. Harris and Ed. Brown. Claimants will please call for letters in advertised list.—G. H. FORKNER, Postmaster.

—We have just added to the equipment of our job department a fine stapling machine, large size and of the best make. This gives us better facilities for turning out catalogue work, which we are always ready to do on short notice.

—NOTICE:—We have the most beautiful line of commencement program samples we have had heretofore, and at prices as reasonable as ever. Make your selections early. We take pleasure in showing samples. We recently purchased type especially for this class of work. w-Aug. 1.

—Whiteman Brothers at South Bend received 3,600 cigars from some eastern house that were stamped with counterfeit revenue stamps. As the firm were innocent purchasers they were allowed to put on genuine stamps. Dealers will do well to have an eye on such transactions.

—Owing to previous arrangements, the Auburn opera house was not available on the date selected by the democratic committeemen at their meeting last week for the holding of the county convention. It has therefore been decided to hold the convention on Tuesday May 8, three days later. Please note the change and read the official call published elsewhere in this issue.

—There is nothing equal to the stereopticon lecture of Rev. Helt in impressing facts upon the mind, especially facts growing out of temperance. The slides used are taken from life, and represent the fruit of the saloon in its true light. There were two other attractive features in the town last night, the Wabash Glee Club and a popular concert, and we had the Methodist church jammed full with chairs in the aisles and people standing.—Exchange.

—A petition was presented yesterday to the township trustees at their meeting by Attorney C. E. Baxter, asking that the wages of the county school teachers be increased to $2 per day. The petition was signed by over one hundred teachers, and the matter will be given consideration by the trustees untill their June meeting. The teachers' salaries are generally considered too low and it would seem that they should have some consideration.

—The last session of the official board of the Methodist church met last night and completed the business for the year. All the financial claims met in full, and an enthusiastic spirit provided for the future. No minister of the conference will make a more creditable showing for the year than Rev. Guild; he is not ashamed of his reports nor of his charge. The board unanimously voted Mr. Guild in case of his return, three months leave of absence to go to Europe and Holy Land.

Wednesday's Daily.

—Beuret's sale of hardware continues next Saturday at 1. p. m.

—The democrats of Whitley county will hold their convention April 21.

—Mrs. Ellen Rainier of this city is in Garrett this week visiting her step children.

—The next attraction at the opera house will be "South Before the War," next Tuesday, April 10.

—The bluest blue makes the whitest white, that's Russ' Bleaching Blue. Refuse fraudulent imitations.

—We have our line of spring shirt waists on. Beautiful waists to be had from 50c, 75c and 98c. Ask to see them Bazar store.

—Last week's shipments of flour, grain and provisions east from Chicago was almost a record breaker, aggregating 204,000 tons.

The Methodist conference at Elkhart was formally opened this morning, with Bishop Foss presiding. There is a large attendance.

—Commissioner Shultz received a telegram today announcing the death of his eldest brother Franklin R. Shultz at Goshen, yesterday.

—Madden Bros. have had a hard two days' job hauling a car load of stone from the Lake Shore freight office, over the present bad roads.

—FOR SALE:—A ladies bicycle (a Record,) in first-class condition, 28-inch wheel. For particulars call at Kline & Son's grocery, Auburn.

—All the ladies can do well by having their Easter pictures made by Pickering, the Picture Man, successor to Neher's studio. Don't stop for cloudy days.

—Chas. Koonce, wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. S. T. Galloway, all of near Lagrange, were guests yesterday of B. S. Kali and family. They were on their way to John Wyatt's to help celebrate his 89th birthday.

—Miss Carrie Salvage, who escaped from a hospital in Indianapolis several days ago, and who has not yet been found, is believed to be in northern Indiana. A reward has been offered for information as to her whereabouts.

—Alexander Davis, whose illness was noted yesterday, died at his home in Jackson township about 5 o'clock this morning, aged 51 years and 7 days. The funeral will be held at Hopewell church Friday at 10 a. m., conducted by Rev. Snyder. Interment in Woodlawn cemetery.

—The board of commissioners are still wrestling with the question of a settlement with Russell & Myers, contractors for the power house, and there also seems to be a bone of contention between the board and Architect Wing. The tangle may be straightened out within a day or two.

—The Boers have had quite a piece of good fortune. They led a column of British troops into an ambush and captured them together with seven pieces of field of artillery. Since the days of Braddock, a well planned ambush seems to have a charm for a British army, which it cannot resist.

—One of the two tramps who have been lodging in the marshal's office each night for several weeks, and doing odd jobs about town, got drunk Monday afternoon and Mr. Hilkey was compelled to lock him up in the cell for the night. He was released yesterday morning, and with his partner, ordered to leave town. They left in short order.

—The commissioners today overruled the power of attorney in the remonstrance of a liquor license to Garrett Link at Auburn Junction and set the hearing of a charge against him touching his fitness to conduct a saloon. for next Monday. The case of William F. Shaver of Waterloo, who was the subject of a large remonstrance, was heard following the Link case.

Breaking Mainsprings.

The statement is made by many jewelers that it is their experience that they have many more mainsprings of watches to repair after a warm, humid day than at any other time. Others believe the breaking to be due to electric disturbances, stating that after an electrical storm they find that many of their customers bring their watches to them for repair. The sudden cooling and consequent contraction of the tightly wound watch spring, or main spring, caused by the removal of the watch from the body on a cool night following a warm day, is believed by some to account, in a measure, for the accidents in question. So far, however, no entirely satisfactory explanation of the difficulty has been suggested even by the most expert workmen in this line.

Preparing Gold Powder.

Finely powdered gold may be prepared by a most simple process. Fill a small, unglazed, earthenware bowl with common kitchen salt, cover it and expose it for some hours to heat. The stove oven is a good place for it. When the water has all been dried out, put equal quantity of this salt powder and honey on a glass grinding plate and mix in with it the necessary quantity of gold leaf. Grind this up very gently, being careful not to press hard on the mass. The salt acts as a disintegrator, and the honey is used because it will not dissolve the salt. When the gold is reduced to the finest possible powder it must be thoroughly and carefully washed with an abundance of pure water to remove the salt and honey.

Dwarfish Andaman Islands.

The natives of the Andaman Islands, the smallest people in the world, average 3 feet. 11 inches in height, and less than 70 lbs. in weight.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

We Can Save You Money By Giving You Just What You Want!

If You Intend to Build

Call on us. We have a full stock of Building Material!

See us before you buy your house or barn bill or before you buy lumber or building material of any kind, as we have a stock that will fill all requirements.

We Make a Specialty of Door and Window Frames

We always have a full stock of Siding, Flooring, Ceiling, Moulding, Columns, Casings, Base Blocks, Newals, Brackets, Fence Posts, Foundation Tile, Shingles, Lath, Bulk Lime, Cement, Plaster Paris, Plastering Hair, Doors, Windows, Glass, Frames, Tracery, Fancy Pickets, Wall Plaster, Piece Stock, Grape Arbor Posts, Wainscoating, etc., etc.

Remember the Name and Place,

The Auburn Lumber Co.,

Near Wabash Depot, Auburn, Indiana.

W. H. KECKLER, Manager.

WEICHT & CUTLER,

Successors to C. C. Shaffer.

Undertakers & Embalmers

In office day and night. All calls promptly attended to in city or country.

Western 'Phone 106

Auburn, Ind.

South of Jail

The Old Buggy...

made new for a few cents and a little labor. With

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS BUGGY PAINT

you can paint and varnish at the same operation. You will be surprised how easy it is to renew vehicles.

Let us show you color cards.

SOLD BY

Culbertson & Boland.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

It has always been claimed for The Chicago Tribune that it would, in all probability, pass with the highest average in any competitive examination among the newspapers of the United States for excellence in all departments of journalism.

"Under date of May 2, 1899, the Omaha World-Herald, editorially answering a letter from 'Inquirer' asking the names of the five best newspapers in this country, points out that a newspaper may excel in one way and be inferior in another. The World-Herald gives lists under five general headings of leading American newspapers distinguished especially for excellence, mentioning in all some twenty.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE HEADINGS:

"(1) Most and best news, foreign and domestic, presented attractively.
"(2) Best possible presentation of news briefly.
"(3) Typographical appearance.
"(4) Classification of news by departments.
"(5) Editorials.

"The Chicago Tribune is the only newspaper in the United States which the World-Herald considers worthy of mention under four different heads."—From the October Plain Talk.

Practically all high-class intelligent newspaper readers, comprising the best and middle classes in Chicago and vicinity, read The Chicago Tribune. A great majority of them read no other morning newspaper.

The Chicago Tribune prints more advertising year in and year out than any newspaper in the West.

A Great Advertising Medium.

BETTER THAN EVER

NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSION.

Arrange your Summer Outing so as to join the

OLD RELIABLE

Lake Erie & Western R.R.

Niagara Falls Excursion.

Early in August, 1900. Exact date later

C. F. DALY, General Passenger Agent, Indianapolis, Ind.

Philippine Fibers.

The Philippines supply the most important of our fibers, Manila hemp, which in the present year will amount to about $6,000,000 in value.

SOMETIMES when you have lame back and feel poorly, you stop working for the day. But all you do is take the rest and go right to work again when the symptoms quiet down. That is no way to head off a terrible disease that is fastening its grip upon you. Stop the first leak or you lose the ship.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

quickly cures those first irregularities and thus repels Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Jaundice and Female Troubles. Druggists have it, $1.00 a bottle.

THE DR. J. H. MCLEAN MEDICINE CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

For sale by F. E. Davenport.

New Tinner!

Charles Rodeman, an experienced tinner, has bought Frank Rush's establishment and will continue the business. All kinds of work in Tin and Sheet Metal done with skill and dispatch. Give him your work. Call at....

Rush's Old Stand.

West 7th St.

5% Money.

We can make a few first-class farm or town property loans at 5 per cent. for five or ten years with privilege of partial payments.—MOODY & RICKEL.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN, INDIANA.

JAMES A. BARNS, - - PUBLISHER.

1900. APRIL, 1900.

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	•	•	•	•	•
•	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. Q. 6th. F. M 14th. L. Q 22d. N. M. 29th.

NEWS IN BRIEF GUSTS

BLOWN IN FROM ALL PARTS OF THE EARTH.

An Important Record of the Week As Told by the Telegraph—Latest from Foreign Shores—Crimes, Casualties, Fires, Etc.

Funeral of Rabbi Wise.

Cincinnati special: The funeral, Thursday, of Rabbi Isaac M. Wise brought to this city a large gathering of rabbis and prominent Hebrews. The family funeral occurred at an early hour at the residence. Then the body lay in state at the Plum Street Temple from 8:30 a. m. until 10 a. m.

The temple was wholly inadequate to accommodate the throng that pressed for admittance. A psalm was sung; Rabbi Philipson offered prayer; Rabbi Louis Grossman delivered the funeral oration and the services closed with the singing of another psalm. A long line of carriages then followed the body to the cemetery in Walnut Hills.

May Prolong the War.

London special: The probable effect of Gen. Joubert's death occupies the most attention to-day. It is feared that President Kruger will succeed him, which will mean, it is said, the prolongation of the war, Kruger being determined to resist to the death.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of the London Morning Post, says:

"President Kruger boasts his intention to retake Bloemfontein within a week, and it appears probable that the Boers are advancing in force southward."

Battle with Rebels in China.

Pekin special: An engagement has been fought between the imperial troops and the rebellious Boxers. The result was not decisive. The casualties on both sides were heavy. The Boxers, a Chinese anti-foreign secret society, some time ago announced their intention of going to Pekin to further their campaign against the "foreign devils." The engagement took place at Yen Chui, in the province of Pechili. About 1,500 men were engaged on each side.

President Recognizes Taylor.

Washington special: The President has informed Kentucky Republicans that while he cannot interfere in Kentucky affairs to the extend of disarming the militia of either faction, he is willing so far as he can legitimately do so, to recognize the Republican officials of that State as the de facto officials. He told them in the same connection that he would give directions that mail addressed to an official by title only should be delivered to the Republicans holding these offices.

Hammond Jail Delivery.

While Turnkey Thiem was taking dinner to the prisoners in jail at Hammond, Ind., he was attacked, overpowered and severely injured by Rogers and Carlson, who were soon to be taken to the Michigan City prison on a fourteen-year sentence. After a desperate struggle Rogers was captured, but Carlson, the more desperate of the two, is at large, with Sheriff Lawrence and a posse in pursuit.

American Pork Barred.

Constantinople special: The Porte has informed the United States Legation that in the future the importation of American pork will be prohibited, giving as a reason for the prohibition that the meat is injurious to the public health. Mr. Loyd C. Griscom, United States Charge d'Affaires, protested energetically, demanding the annullation of the measure.

Pressmen Get Setback.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, has made public the decision of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, on the application of the International Brotherhood of Printing Pressmen to place the Chicago Record and Chicago News upon the unfair list. The Executive Council refused to endorse the application.

Atlanta Journal Is Sold.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Evening Journal, one of the most valuable pieces of newspaper property in the South, it is understood, has passed from the control of Hoke Smith, Secretary of the Interior under the Cleveland administration, into that of a syndicate at the head of which is T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., of Boston, Mass.

Wreck on the B. & O.

The Columbus and Wheeling express train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, crashed into a Chicago Junction freight train at Whiting, Ind., thirty miles from Chicago. The engine of the passenger train was thrown into a ditch beside the track, and Engineer Richard Reniman of Garrett, Ind., was killed.

To Keep Their Graves Green.

London special: The Duke of York has accepted from a resident of Cork a thousand packets of shamrock seed, which will be sown upon the graves of Irish soldiers in South Africa.

Masonic Temple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

April 9, the week—Imperial Stock Company.

Brother Placed Her There.

Nellie O'Brien of Marion, Ind., was located in the convent of the Good Shepard in Columbus, Ohio. Miss O'Brien is entitled to a considerable amount of money from the estate of a deceased relative and recently disappeared mysteriously. She states that her brother placed her in the convent.

Heavy Loss by Fire.

Likes, Berwanger & Co., clothiers, were burned out at Baltimore, Md. Their loss is $250,000. At the same time Diggs, Curran & Co., boot dealers, were burned out. Their loss is $75,000.

Three Killed in an Explosion.

The James Nickum sawmill, six miles southwest of Muncie, Ind., was destroyed by an explosion. Three men are dead, one more will die and three others are injured. The explosion resulted from the water pump breaking when the boiler had on a full head of steam.

Troops Battle with Indians.

An engagement between the Yaqui Indians and Mexican troops took place in the Bacatete mountains. The Indians made a sortie. They drove in the Mexican outposts and threatened to attack in force, but after brisk firing that lasted for two hours the Indians withdrew.

SHORTER ROUTE TO CHICAGO.

Proposed New Line Shortens Distance from Coal Fields to the West.

Immense corporations are backing the promoters of the Uniontown, Waynesburg and West Virginia Railroad Company. They see in it a short route to Chicago and the West, which to them means cheaper freight rates. The Federal and National Steel companies and the National Tube Works Company have promised to give the new carrier enough business to keep it busy. The distance by the new road from Uniontown to Wheeling is seventy-one miles, while on the Pennsylvania it is 113 miles, and on the Baltimore and Ohio 142 miles. Chicago is brought thirty-eight miles nearer to the coke regions of Connellsville, and the distance between the Fayette fields and Cincinnati is reduced seventy-one miles. The new road will make connections with the Wheeling and Lake Erie and the Wheeling, Cleveland and Lorain Railways. Chicago will be reached over the Nickel Plate. The contract for the road will be let within a month, and work will begin in June.

LIVED SECURE IN WOMAN'S GARB.

Negro Murderer Evades Law Sixteen Years Disguised as a Female.

A negro who has been living in Kansas City for many years dressed in woman's clothes and known as Mollie Johnson, died recently. Investigation by the coroner revealed that the supposed woman was William Johnson, a noted murderer, for whom the Federal authorities of Indian territory have been hunting for sixteen years. According to the story of Mattie Robinson, at whose house Johnson died, Johnson killed four persons at South Alister, Indian territory, in 1884. A few years ago she met him on the street and recognized him in spite of his disguise. He begged her not to betray him and she consented. The people among whom Johnson lived always supposed that he was a woman. He had masqueraded in female costume for sixteen years and his wool had grown long enough to braid. He always kept his face smooth shaven. His features were not unlike those of a woman and his voice was thin.

MURDERED WITH AX AND TORCH.

"Preacher Jones" Makes Way with Five Members of His Family.

Tom Jones, a negro, commonly known in the country as "Preacher Jones," murdered Ella Jones and her oldest daughter, Ida, and then set fire to the beds in which lay the bodies of his victims and four sleeping children, ranging in years from a babe 1 month old to the largest boy, who was not more than 5. The crime was committed at Garner's, a little town five miles east of Raleigh, N. C., and the work was done with an ax. The murderer, according to the story of little 7-year-old Laura Jones, deliberately struck the mother four times and then made two cuts into the body of the oldest child.

COLLEGE MAN IS MISSING.

Excitement in Nebraska University Over Disappearance of a Student.

Excitement reigns in Nebraska University circles at Lincoln over the strange disappearance of Reuben Sampson, a senior in the university. He was in his room the other night, but when his roommate came in later there were evidences of a fierce struggle, the floor being smeared with blood and the furniture scattered about the room. Sampson was gone and has not been heard from since. It is known that he had $200 on his person shortly before he went to his room.

Split in Cleveland Church.

There is a serious split in the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church of Cleveland. The Rev. Dr. H. C. Applegarth has resigned because of the influence of John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil king. Dr. Applegarth illustrated a recent sermon by saying in effect that, while some people charged John D. Rockefeller with stealing the money that he gives to the church, even if he did steal it he had laid it on the altar and thus sanctified it.

Two Hanged to the Same Tree.

A mob which for thirty-six hours had surged around the little jail at Emporia, Va., dragged two prisoners forth and hanged them to the same limb, filling the body of one with bullets as he hung writhing and gasping in the air. The two men were Walter Cotton, a negro, who shot two officers who were attempting to arrest him for burglary, and a white man who aided Cotton in the robbery.

Fight in an Elevator.

Clifford Jones, elevator man, and Harry Schoen, doorman, fought in a runaway elevator in the Olive Studio building, St. Louis, where both were employed. Upon reaching the sixth floor the elevator was checked automatically, but the men continued to fight. Finally Jones caught up a monkey wrench and beat the doorman into insensibility.

Columbia Students Are Vaccinated.

Nearly four hundred students at Columbia University, New York, were corralled the other day and vaccinated for smallpox, because one member of the second year's class is ill with that disease, and has been sent to North Brother island for treatment.

Could Not Tell a Falsehood.

William Miller is a martyr to truth telling. He spent over 100 days in jail at Omaha, Neb., because he could not conscientiously promise to appear as prosecuting witness for one Hulxman, charged with highway robbery, Miller being the victim.

Mrs. Stetter Her Own Banker.

The finding of a bag of gold at the residence of the late Mrs. Frank H. Stetter, of West Scranton, Pa., is the talk of the town. The amount is said to be over $100,000, and it was placed in the bag by Mrs. Stetter, who had no confidence in banks.

Big Kansas Flouring Mill Burns.

At Lawrence, Kan., fire destroyed the plant of the Pierson Flour Milling Company, valued at $150,000. In addition to the mill, several thousand bushels of wheat and several hundred barrels of flour were burned. Insurance, $80,000.

Chicago Invests in Mexico.

Chicago parties have returned from a trip to the State of Chiapas, where they have purchased a large tract of land with an extensive river frontage. It is proposed to raise coffee and rubber principally.

Barber's Slayer Confesses.

Lawrence Walsh walked into a Chicago police station and coolly announced that he was the man who shot down Robert Gilchrist in the latter's barber shop in that city. He is reticent concerning the motive.

Suicide of a Business Man.

Emil Corson, member of the largest business firm in Gayville, S. D., shot and killed himself on the graves of his wife and child.

Killed by Tunnel Caving In.

One man was killed and five men injured by a cave-in at White Hall tunnel on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, ten miles south of Pittsburg.

Mail Driver Repels Bandits.

W. P. Hunt, stage driver on the road from Valentine, Neb., to Rosebud, was attacked by two highwaymen while carrying the mail. The robbers were on horseback. Hunt started his team into a run and began firing at the bandits. His watch prevented one of the robbers' bullets penetrating his body. The chase ended when, as Hunt fired his last shot, one of the horsemen dropped from his saddle.

FINDS CHILD AFTER SIXTEEN YEARS.

Father Drives Over Six Thousand Miles in Search of His Daughter.

After having searched constantly for eight years, Andrew Webber found in Maryville, Mo., the other day his daughter, from whom he had been separated sixteen years. Andrew Webber and his wife were a Hungarian couple who came to the United States in 1873 and located in St. Louis. Eighteen years ago the wife died, leaving the father and a 4-year-old daughter. Father and daughter separated, and two years ago she was married at Jackson to Will Knoth of Maryville. In February, 1899, the father learned of his child's whereabouts. Without making any reply, he started out on a two-wheeled wagon for Maryville. In his search Webber drove over 6,000 miles and wrote hundreds of letters. He said that when his wife died she left some property in Hungary, which was to go to her daughter when the latter became 20 years old. He is not certain what it is worth, but thinks not less than $10,000.

DREAM PREVENTS A MARRIAGE.

Rebecca Greenwood Sues Charles Bartlett for Breach of Promise.

Because of a dream of his mother, whom he has not seen since he was a child, and his old English home, it is charged that Charles Bartlett of Chicago said he could not marry Rebecca Greenwood, his housekeeper, but that he would continue to employ her and would raise her wages $1 a week. The housekeeper has brought suit for breach of promise, in which she demands $25,000. Bartlett is quoted in the petition as saying that in his dream his old mother wanted him to visit her and that he would be compelled to do so, which would make a marriage out of the question. Bartlett is 49 years old. He is a coal dealer and lives with a daughter, 12 years old, and a young son. Since the death of his wife seven years ago Miss Greenwood has been his housekeeper.

Lawlessness in Rochester.

Vincent G. Johnson was held up on one of the fashionable thoroughfares of Rochester, N. Y., and compelled to hand out his gold watch and what money he had. This took place within sight of numerous passers-by. Half an hour later Sydney Gugginheimer was similarly treated within a block of where the first robbery occurred. The police seem powerless to prevent the lawlessness now existing.

Head Covered with Vitriol.

Attorney Charles Sparks, who has offices in the Lincoln Inn court, Cincinnati, Ohio, was the victim the other night of what appears to have been an attempt on his life. Vitriol was thrown upon him in such a quantity as to completely cover his head, face and the left side of his coat. He was terribly burned.

Cramps Buy Idle Ship Plant.

After lying idle for more than two years, the entire plant of the Charles Hillman Ship and Engine Building Company, at Philadelphia, has been purchased by the William Cramp & Sons' ship and engine building firm. The purchase price, it is understood, was $275,000 in cash.

Apology in the Macrum Case.

A special from Washington says: "Lord Salisbury has apologized to the United States for the opening by the British censor at Durban of mail addressed to ex-Consul Charles E. Macrum at Pretoria."

Nevada Artist Heir to $500,000.

J. B. Schweitzer, a young artist of Reno, Neb., has fallen heir to a fortune of about $500,000, bequeathed to him by his uncle, John Bryan Griffith, who recently died in India.

Culton Makes a Confession.

W. H. Culton, after being held to the grand jury along with Caleb Powers and John Davis for alleged complicity in Goebel's murder, made a confession to the State's Attorney at Frankfort, Ky.

Masked Men Whip a Doctor.

Dr. Oscar Richards, aged 63, was whipped by a masked mob at Mounds, Okla. The doctor was charged with making false prescriptions. Sixteen well-to-do men are under arrest.

Explosion in a Sawmill.

The explosion of a boiler in a sawmill near Lancaster, Ohio, instantly killed Louis Neubauer, owner, and terribly scalded his four sons and his son-in-law, William Young.

Switzerland Will Not Mediate.

The Federal Council of Switzerland has refused to mediate between the Boers and England, as requested by the former.

Ten Sailors Die in a Wreck.

The Norwegian three-masted schooner Triton has been wrecked at Dunkirk, France, and ten of her crew drowned.

Four Children Burned to Death.

By the burning of the family dwelling four children of John Borden were burned to death in Houston County, Texas.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, shipping grades, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.25; wheat, No. 2 red, 64c to 66c; corn, No. 2, 38c to 39c; oats, No. 2, 24c to 25c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 55c; butter, choice creamery, 23c to 24c; eggs, fresh, 10c to 11c; potatoes, choice, 30c to 40c per bushel.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, choice light, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, common to prime, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 white, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.25; sheep, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, 70c to 72c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 36c to 38c; oats, No. 2, 25c to 26c; rye, No. 2, 54c to 55c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $2.50 to $6.50; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 40c to 42c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 26c to 28c; rye, No. 2, 59c to 61c.

Detroit—Cattle, $2.50 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, 71c to 73c; corn, No. 2 yellow, 38c to 40c; oats, No. 2 white, 27c to 29c; rye, 59c to 61c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, 71c to 72c; corn, No. 2 mixed, 38c to 40c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 24c to 26c; rye, No. 2, 57c to 58c; clover seed, old, $4.85 to $4.95.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, 64c to 66c; corn, No. 3, 37c to 39c; oats, No. 2 white, 26c to 27c; rye, No. 1, 56c to 58c; barley, No. 2, 44c to 46c; pork, mess, $11.75 to $12.25.

Buffalo—Cattle, good shipping steers, $3.00 to $6.00; hogs, common to choice, $3.25 to $5.50; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.75; lambs, common to extra, $4.50 to $8.00.

New York—Cattle, $3.25 to $6.00; hogs, $3.00 to $5.75; sheep, $3.00 to $6.50; wheat, No. 2 red, 78c to 80c; corn, No. 2, 44c to 46c; oats, No. 2 white, 31c to 33c; butter, creamery, 21c to 26c; eggs, western, 15c to 16c.

PIET JOUBERT DEAD.

TRANSVAAL'S FAMOUS GENERAL PASSES AWAY.

His Death a Great Loss to the Boers—He Was the Organizer of Their Army and Rival of President Kruger—Beat British at Majuba Hill.

The death of Gen. Joubert was announced Wednesday by way of Lorenzo Marques. Two days previous Pretoria dispatches told of the serious illness of the famous Boer chieftain.

Gen. Pietrus Jacobus Joubert, commander general of the Transvaal forces, better known as Piet Joubert, or "Slien Piet" (Slim Peter), was born about sixty-eight years ago. He was descended from an old French Huguenot family which settled in South Africa many years ago. He was born in Cape Colony, but was taken by his parents, when 7 years old, to the Orange Free State, where he was taught from early childhood to shoot straight and hate the British. He is described as having been utterly fearless. Of schooling he had but little, and he never saw a newspaper until he was 19 years old.

In consequence of the acquisition of Natal by the British his family moved from Natal and settled in the Transvaal. Soon afterward he became a burgher of the South African republic and a daring fighter. It was during the wars with the natives that Joubert became acquainted with Paul Kruger, and the two men became bosom friends. He was elected vice-president of the Transvaal in 1896, defeated Sir George Colley at Majuba Hill in 1881, and acted as president of the republic in 1883-1884, during Kruger's absence in Europe.

Gen. Joubert was always in favor of the use of force instead of diplomacy, and President Kruger on several occasions had great difficulty in repressing his hot-headed colleague, notably in 1879, when Joubert, with Kruger and Pretorius, was planning the rebellion to overthrow British rule in the Transvaal. The result was Majuba Hill and the practical independence of the Transvaal.

GEN. PIET JOUBERT.

It was Joubert who organized the army of the South African republic, later on, dividing the country into seventeen military departments, and each of these departments into smaller divisions, with commandants, field cornets and lieutenants of various ranks in charge. According to the general's plans, every man became a trained soldier without leaving his farm, and had his equipment ready at hand. To such a point of perfection was the system carried that within forty-eight hours after the present war was declared the Boer nation was under arms. It was also due to Gen. Joubert that the South African republics succeeded in amassing the immense stores of war munitions and provisions which have stood them in such good stead during the conflict now in progress.

When the Jameson raiders were locked up in Pretoria jail Joubert was strongly in favor of their immediate execution. It was not until Joubert and Kruger had been closeted together for a whole night that the more merciful counsels of Kruger prevailed.

In November last it was reported that Gen. Joubert had been killed in action, and later reports said he was dangerously wounded and had to use a cart in order to follow the operations in the field

BRITAIN HAS APOLOGIZED.

Salisbury Made Amends for the Opening of Macrum's Mail.

A special from Washington says that Lord Salisbury has apologized to the United States for the opening by the British censor at Durban of mail addressed to Consul Charles E. Macrum at Pretoria. The apology will be sent to the House committee on foreign affairs by Secretary of State Hay when Mr. Macrum's case against the State Department is heard.

Authority for the statement that an apology has been received comes from Secretary Hay, who admitted it to Representative Berry of Kentucky, one of the members of the House foreign affairs committee. Representative Berry called at the State Department to talk over the charges made by Mr. Macrum and it was during this interview that Secretary Hay made the confession.

"I saw Secretary Hay," said Representative Berry, in talking of the proposed hearing, "and he said that the whole groundwork of Mr. Macrum's charges rested upon the fact that three letters had been opened by English officials in South Africa. Secretary Hay said that England's attention had been called to this violation of international law, and that Lord Salisbury had made an investigation and then had sent an apology to this country. The apology was delivered at the State Department by Lord Pauncefote."

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

Maj. Gen. Prettyman has been appointed military governor of Bloemfontein.

Mr. Wessels, president of the Raad, has gone to England to solicit public sympathy.

Gen. Kitchener is credited with the bulk of the work, but Gen. Roberts gets the bouquets.

Twelve thousand shells were thrown into Ladysmith, killing thirty-five of the garrison and wounding 188.

It is estimated that Gen. Buller and Gen. White lost 6,182 men during the operations around Ladysmith.

By the time Lord Roberts reaches the Vaal river he will command some 80,000 men, while Gen. Buller will have 40,000.

The Dutch rebellion in Northeast Cape Colony seems to be collapsing. Kitchener has been pouring British troops into the district.

On Thursday the Senate passed a resolution by Mr. Butler asking the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the bank charters granted since the passage of the currency bill, and for other information concerning the operations of the new law. Devoted the rest of the day to debate on the Porto Rico problem. The House by a vote of 148 to 96 recommitted to the committee on post office the Loud bill relating to second-class mail matter. It is not thought the bill will reappear in the present session.

The Senate on Friday agreed to send the diplomatic and consular bill to conference. Passed the Porto Rico $2,000,000 appropriation bill as amended in conference by a vote of 35 to 15. The House passed the bill, introduced at the request of northwestern lumbermen, authorizing the Secretary of War to make regulations permitting the running of loose logs, rafts and lumber on streams in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Passed 142 private pension bills. Agreed to vote on the conference report of the Porto Rican appropriation bill at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 24.

On Saturday the Senate recommitted the bill providing for a civil government for Porto Rico. Accepted a statue of Oliver P. Morton from the State of Indiana to be placed in Statuary Hall. Passed bills to equalize the duties of district federal judges in Alabama; to pay James Drake, marshal of Washington, $1,529 expended by him, and appropriating $75,000 to pay the expenses of a commission to study commercial conditions in the Orient. The House agreed to the conference report on the Porto Rico relief bill by a vote of 135 to 87. Passed the bill appropriating $10,000 for plans for a Grant memorial to be erected in Washington.

Mr. Foraker, in charge of the Porto Rican bill in the Senate, on Monday announced that, beginning with that session, he would press the measure to a vote as soon as possible. The Alaska civil code bill was under consideration during the greater part of the session. An amendment was agreed to fixing a license upon almost every kind of trade and commerce in the district of Alaska, the licenses ranging from $10 to $500 per annum. The measure had not been disposed of at the conclusion of the session. The House entered upon the consideration of the army appropriation bill. Mr. Jett (Ill.) criticised the policy of rushing officers through the high grades of the army just prior to retirement. Mr. Cox (Tenn.) and Mr. Ridgely (Kan.) opposed generally a permanent increase of the army as prejudicial to the best interests of the country, and Mr. Meyer (La.) discussed the Philippine policy, opposing the retention of the islands.

On Tuesday the Senate agreed to the conference report on the pension appropriation bill. Devoted the rest of the day to debate on the Alaskan civil code bill and the Porto Rico problem. In the House there was lively debate during the consideration of the army appropriation bill. The charge that the Porto Rican tariff bill was the result of a deal for raising a Republican campaign fund was again referred to by Mr. Pierce (Tenn.), but Mr. Hull declared the anonymous author of the charge would never dare to avow himself and be branded as a falsifier. Mr. Sulzer (N. Y.) made an appeal for the extension of official sympathy to the Boers in their struggle for independence, and Mr. Lentz of Ohio delivered a scathing denunciation of militarism and the war in the Philippines. This attack aroused the indignation of Mr. Marsh (Ill.), who declared Mr. Lentz's speech was a disgrace to Congress.

The Senate on Wednesday agreed to vote on the Porto Rico bill Tuesday afternoon, April 3. Listened to a speech by Mr. Davis in support of free trade. Amended the Alaskan civil code bill by declaring void all permits heretofore given to mine for gold in tide waters under the jurisdiction of the United States and allowing all citizens of the United States to do such mining under regulations imposed by organized mining districts. Defeated the Morgan free coinage amendment to the Porto Rican bill by a vote of 15 yeas to 33 nays. In executive session the Democrats broke a quorum and prevented confirmation of the appointment of William D. Bynum as a member of the board of general appraisers at New York. The House devoted the day to consideration of the army appropriation bill. Several minor amendments were adopted, and about half the bill was considered. Mr. Driggs (N. Y.) created a diversion by charging reckless extravagance in the fitting up of the transport Sumner and precipitated a lively tilt upon the subject. He gave notice that later he should ask the House to investigate the subject. The conference reports on the urgent deficiency and the pension appropriation bills were agreed to.

Odds and Ends.

Lebaron Gevers, the new minister of the Netherlands to Washington, is a grandson of Senator Wright of New Jersey.

Monthly summaries of the commerce of the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico will hereafter be made, in pamphlet form, by the War Department.

Secretary Long has made an interesting collection of the naval flags and signals of all nations. Many of these flags are the gift of famous sailors of this and other countries.

The "bloodiest battle of the century" was that of Borodino, a Russian village, where Napoleon fought the Russians on Sept. 7, 1812. Nearly 80,000 men were placed hors du combat.

Dr. John P. Wood of Coffeyville, Kan., insists that he is the oldest practicing physician in the world. He is 99 years old, and still makes daily visits to his patients.

Miss Estelle Reel, superintendent of Indian schools, is preparing a bill to present to Congress which will have for its object the compulsory education of Indian children.

Gov. N. O. Murphy of Arizona has been in Washington to urge action for the admission of Arizona as a State. "I think the prospects for Arizona becoming a State next year good," he says.

Reports from Dawson City say that little will be left of the Klondike metropolis after the homeward rush in May and June. Merchants are closing up their places of business, and, instead of every building being crowded, "to let" signs are frequently seen. Business is dying, and most of the dealers are going to Nome.

There is hardly a ranch in the Panhandle or the western part of Texas that does not have its own private telephone system, and the barbed wires of the pasture fences are used exclusively for the purpose. A number of these private lines are fifty miles long, and messages are sent and received daily that distance without a break.

WANTS A FREE HAND.

BEVERIDGE ON AMERICA'S COLONIAL PROBLEM.

Indiana Senator Says No Precedent Will Serve for Government of New Possessions—He Advocates Reciprocity and Free Trade for Porto Rico.

Senator Beveridge of Indiana Thursday delivered in the Senate his long-expected speech on the United States' new possessions and the policy that should be adopted in governing them. He began his speech as soon as the Senate convened. The keynotes of his utterance were free trade and reciprocity for Porto Rico. He favored separating the civil government and tariff features of the Porto Rican bill so that the former might become a law at once, whether free trade is carried or not. Mr. Beveridge said in part:

"To treat Porto Rico as we treat Hawaii and to deal with the latter as we deal with the Philippines, and to apply to all without delay the same fixed formula of laws which custom and intention of statehood has prescribed for our territories from which our States are formed, is a proposition as mad as it is novel.

"More than any people of history events are placing us where we may command and compel the peace of the world. Porto Rico, Cuba, the canal, Hawaii, the Philippines, make us literally the sovereign power among the nations. I say make us the master people of the world, for I never will believe that we will surrender our possessions to others because we cannot invent sane and appropriate methods for their government and control. I will never believe that our constitution manacles our hands and narrows our vision and numbs our brain. I will never admit that our constitution is such a charter of death.

Issue Involves Keeping Islands.

"The first issue under debate involves the keeping of our new possessions. For one I rejoice that we have them. For one I believe that we have them by the decrees of a Providence, which, in all our history, has outrun the weak and halting wisdom of presidents and congresses. For one I accept the privileges, duties and the burdens of our situation, in the spirit expressed to me by our great admiral, as we stood on the Olympia's heroic decks and looked across the beautiful city to the blue mountains of Luzon, when he said to me: 'A higher power than mine was in this business; a higher will and a wisdom than ours unfurled that flag over this ocean empire, ours now and ours forever.' If we surrender them to more discerning and powerful peoples, succeeding generations will curse the folly and the crime that not only yielded our high advantage, but placed the republic at the mercy of its possible future foes."

After dealing with the constitutional question involved at considerable length Mr. Beveridge came to the question of reciprocity and free trade. He said in part:

"Reciprocity with Porto Rico will help that island; it cannot hurt us. No, it will help us more than it will help Porto Rico. It affords us a safe experiment with our possessions at the very beginning of our experience as an administering power. For a nation of 70,000,000 people with an imperial continent for its home, and practiced in all the arts of industry, cannot suffer in competition with a little island smaller than a single county of Texas, 1,200 miles from our shores, and peopled by less than one-seventieth of our number of inhabitants, poverty stricken and prostrate, ignorant of the meaning of self-government, and beholding modern civilization as through a glass darkly. If the American republic, just embarked upon the grandest world career of all time, fears competition with the least of its possessions, let us strike our colors as a sovereign power, tack from our course marked out by the high inspiration of great events, put back to the port of decay, go out of commission, and let the mighty voyage on which we started be sailed by bolder hearts, loftier faiths and eyes of clearer vision.

Measure of Economic Wisdom.

"Reciprocity with Porto Rico is not only a matter of duty; it is a measure of economic wisdom. It is the reciprocity for which the great statesmen of the republic have planned and toiled. And it is reciprocity not with a foreign country, but with our own possession. It is reciprocity of nature; Porto Rican products supply what we need and cannot so well produce. When our markets are open to Porto Rican products industry will, and must of necessity, be stimulated as by the wine of life itself all through our island, the people will prosper, money will pour into their withered hands and Porto Rico, now desolate, will be placed in the position of prosperity justified by its resources, its location and its possibilities. And with her prosperity she will in turn endow us. Her markets will exclusively be ours; for our tariff against Europe and the world will be her tariff against Europe and the world, and so our clothing and flour and corn and implements and all the products of our farms and mills and looms will have exclusive markets there.

"But to close our markets to our own possession or to make those markets dear and difficult is to take from our masses the necessities produced on our own territory, and to make the markets of our own dependency dear and difficult to our producers is to deny to ourselves the opportunity to sell our own products to our own possession. It is a situation which even the necessity for instant financial relief could not render endurable to the Government of the United States, and so the President of the republic, true to his fatherly solicitude for Porto Rico, true to his constructive statesmanship, has, through the legal and constitutional method of an executive message to the Senate and the House, recommended the relief to the island by the appropriation of more than $2,000,000, which, in turn, relieves the Congress of the United States from committing an offense against statesmanship to which it was driven by the absolute necessity for funds for the island. And that recommendation we have adopted."

But to continue a tariff between the republic and "territory belonging to the United States," is to leave unsolved all the problems before us, and unanswered all the speculation in which it is our duty to indulge in thinking out the best way, as statesmen should.

"For these reasons I favor immediate reciprocity, and I shall go on record as voting for amendments giving immediate and unrestricted freedom of trade to our island of Porto Rico. But if we in the Senate who believe that Porto Rico shall have reciprocity at once, are not able to so amend the bill here I shall, after voting for reciprocity amendments, vote for the civil government bill as modified by the committee, because we must not deny civil government to the people of Porto Rico a moment longer, and because the bill as modified insures free trade with Porto Rico as soon as the civil government of that island provides a system of taxation of its own.

"So that the sooner Porto Rico gets civil government the quicker it will get free trade under the modifications which the committee have made to the bill.

MACRUM STORY TOLD.

House Committee Hears How Consul's Letters Were Opened.

Charles E. Macrum, former United States consul at Pretoria, was before the foreign affairs committee of the House Wednesday and told his story in regard to the alleged interference with his letters by the British censor. Afterward, in executive session, the committee, after considering the case, practically determined to let the matter drop without further action.

Macrum, in giving his testimony, began at the point where he first asked for leave to come home, saying that he desired to come on private business, and also to place before the Government certain facts, which he thought ought to be known here. Asked when he first became satisfied that his mail was being tampered with he said that he did not receive any mail between Oct. 12, when war was declared, and the second week in November. Ordinarily he had a box of mail a week. The first actual evidence he had was when he received two letters, which had been opened by the British censor, neither of them of any importance. In reply to a question by Representative W. A. Smith, he admitted that he had returned to the United States largely on account of private business. He had made no report to the State Department in regard to the letters, nor had he attempted to make such a report to the department. He declined to say why he had not made a report, but said he had gone to Assistant Secretary Hill and said: "I understand I have been dismissed." Mr. Hill said his understanding was correct, and Mr. Macrum said he therefore had no report to make.

Pressed further by Mr. Smith as to his reasons for believing that the British authorities had possession of the State Department cipher, Mr. Macrum said he could not affirm from actual knowledge, but he explained that on Nov. 6 he had applied in cipher to the State Department asking for leave. That cable had gone through Durban. The next day, Nov. 7, he had been informed a paper in Durban published the fact that he had applied for leave. Mr. Macrum said he had used the State Department cipher of the Slater code, a common code, purchasable anywhere. When asked if other consuls had complained, Mr. Macrum said the German and Belgian consuls had both told him that no cipher telegrams were allowed to go through.

A letter was sent to the committee by the Secretary of State, with a communication from Consul General Stowe, in which the consul general said that when he heard of the opening of the letters to Mr. Macrum he had informed the British authorities at Port Durban. The explanation of those officers was satisfactory. The letters had been opened unintentionally. Mr. Macrum admitted there had been no further interference with the mail.

SAWYER IS NO MORE.

Former United States Senator from Wisconsin Expires.

Former Senator Philetus Sawyer died Thursday morning at Oshkosh, Wis. He had been suffering from a complication of troubles. The Senator was 84 years old.

Philetus Sawyer was born in 1816 in Rutland County, Vermont, and he spent his boyhood on his father's farm in Crown Point, N. Y. His schooling consisted of a few terms in a district school, and at 17 he went to work in the pineries of the Adirondacks as a woodsman and sawmill hand.

In 1841 he married Malvina M. Hadley, and in 1847, with $2,200 in his pocket, he went to Fond du Lac, Wis. Not fancying his surroundings he moved two years later to Algoma, which stood on the present site of Oshkosh. He rented a sawmill that had not been paying expenses, operated it at a profit, and afterward purchased the mill. Thenceforward he became a factor in the growth of upper Wisconsin.

Originally a free-soil Democrat, Mr. Sawyer joined the Republican party upon its organization. His first political office was alderman of the city of Oshkosh. In 1856 and 1860 he went to the Assembly. In 1863 and 1864 he was Mayor of Oshkosh, and in the latter year was elected to Congress, serving for ten consecutive years. In 1881 he was elected to the United States Senate and re-elected six years later.

BATANES UNDER RULE.

Governor Is Appointed for Islands North of Luzon.

The Government has received information of the appointment and installation of Senor Teofilo Costillejo as the first American governor of the Batanes group and Calayan island, the northernmost division of the Philippine archipelago. Senor Costillejo is a Filipino, who resided in Aparri. He was taken to the Batanes and Calayan in the gunboat Princeton, Commander Knox. Commander Knox raised the Stars and Stripes at Calayan and took formal possession of the island in the name of the United States. The inhabitants appeared to be very much pleased over the coming of the Americans, and showed a loyal spirit.

After remaining a day at Calayan, the Princeton, with Senor Costillejo on board, proceeded to Santo Domingo, the port and capital of the island of Batane, and of the Batanes group. After the ceremonies of raising the American flag over the former Spanish Government building and proclaiming the group under the jurisdiction of the United States, Senor Costillejo was installed as governor.

Within the ten weeks ending on Feb. 21 there were 1,576 deaths in London caused by influenza.

Java has taken to the bicycle, and keeps a factory that has been established at Samarang busy.

The Paris exposition authorities will furnish 12,554 electric lights for the grounds and buildings.

The Corporation of Scarborough, England, has decided to name a new thoroughfare "Ladysmith avenue."

In Great Britain it is illegal for a pawnbroker to accept a Victoria Cross as a pledge under any circumstances.

Inoculation for the plague is coming more into favor in Bombay, as 7,179 persons were treated recently in one week.

A bill to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister was read recently for the first time in the House of Keys, Isle of Man.

Hamburg, Germany, is to establish a university. The nucleus will be the observatory, the scientific laboratories and the historic collections already in the city.

A bill to provide for the taking of a census of the British islands in 1901 has been introduced into the House of

THE MIRACLE DAYS.

Good folks, the days o' miracles ain't past an' gone away;
The weather man predicted snow, an' here's the snow to-day!
They know the path the sun an' moon air travelin—so they do—
They've tracked the stars of heaven an' caught the comets, too!

They know jest how the ol' world rolls—they've got it down by heart;
They know the cyclone's comin' 'fore it ever makes a start!
They know the awful distance from here up to the sun;
They've counted all the worlds above, an' named 'em—every one!

Ain't nuthin' hidden from 'em—they know the all-in-all!
When obstacles air risin' they batter down the wall
An' stand in all the glory an' beauty o' the light,
A-givin' out this verdict—that there shall be no night!

An' I r'a'ly wouldn't wonder at the pace we're bein' led,
Ef they shook the world like thunder by the raisin' o' the dead;
Fer, step by step they're goin' upon the upward way,
Till a feller's glad he's livin' in a world like this to-day!
—Atlanta Constitution.

When Grandpa Winds the Clock.

On Saturday nights at half past nine
When the clock's about run down
My grandpa rheumatically leaves his chair
And a smile chases off his frown.
He doffs his coat and throws it aside
Glances round at the family flock
And slowly says as he scratches his head
"Guess its time to be winding the clock."
I tell you now its a sight to see
For every one else as well as for me
When grandpa winds the clock.

He says that none but grandpapas
Can wind up an eight day clock
And if any one else should attempt the trick
The thing would be given a shock.
So he slowly yawns and mounts a stool
And stares at the old clock's face
Then blows out the dust from the hole in the key
With no little show of grace.
I only just wish that you could see
The dust flying out from the hole in the key
When grandpa winds the clock.

Then grandpa grins and the winding begins
And the folks all try to smile
As with teeth grating clicks he winds up the weights
For at least a nautical mile.
The cat hamps its back, the baby cries out.
The dog howls at every creak;
But in time it is over—there's a sigh of relief—
It can't happen again for a week.
The clicks and creaks are over at last
Though it seems at first they'll never get past
When grandpa winds the clock.

CLARENCE A. HOUGH.

—Chicago Chronicle.

SIX YEARS LOST.

"WHAT would we live on, Max?" laughed Sydney Vernon, glancing down at her elegant morning dress, with the pretty slipper just peeping from beneath its hem. "It's all very well to eschew the practicalities of life, but they are somewhat necessary for all that, and I have never seen any great evidences of economy on your part; and I am quite sure you have not on mine."

Max Bayard tugged impatiently at his mustache as the girl, whom a moment before he had asked to be his wife, thus answered him.

"I have never had an incentive to economy," Max said in answer. "I have enough to live on and feed my horses, though my tailor's bill does trouble me now and then, I confess; but, Sydney, I will change all that, dear. I can't, perhaps, give you all the luxuries to which you are accustomed, but you shan't lack for comforts, that I promise you."

"We should be miserable—Max—miserable, both you and I!" the girl answered, bitterly. "We have not either of us been reared in a school of poverty. I would cry for cake while you could only give me bread, and you for ale while I could give you only kisses. Come, be sensible, and let us be good friends."

"FRIENDS? NEVER!" HE EXCLAIMED.

"Friends? Never!" he exclaimed. "I am starving, and you throw me a stone. Look into my eyes, Sydney, straight and true, and say you do not love me, and I will go away, and trouble you no more."

The long lashes drooped low on her cheek.

"I cannot quite say that," she answered, "but I will say more. I promised last night to become Mr. Clayton's wife within six months."

Max Bayard's handsome face grew white to the very lips—a look of deadly anger, mingled with something like loathing, crept into it. Sydney shrank from it, as from a blow.

"Don't, Max—don't!" she cried. "I could not help it—I am very sorry."

"You could not help it—you are very sorry!" he repeated very slowly. "Could not help what? Toying with me for your amusement—playing fast and loose with your victim, or selling yourself to the highest bidder? Which? You are very sorry—for whom? For the man you led step by step to the brink of the flower-strewn precipice, only to smile as he plunged to the chasm below, or for him who wins the prize in the lottery—the prize for which he has paid the price of all his fortune? Pardon me, Miss Vernon, but he, I think, is more deserving of your sorrow than the man whom you hurl to the lowest depths of the abyss."

With these words, he turned and left her.

Six years had passed—six years, fraught indeed with change.

"If she had been but true to herself and me!" Max Bayard had thought, when, but a few months after the event which had driven him from his native land to find forgetfulness in travel, a letter had been put into his hand, which had followed him from port to port, announcing that he had fallen heir to a fortune which might have challenged Mr. Clayton's in its magnitude.

A year afterward he married. His wife was very young and very lovely; but there were depths in his nature that her hand never stirred, and even as she lay with her head pillowed on his breast another haunted face would come between, and, 'mid the caressing murmur of her words, would sound the echo of the "might have been."

But he loved her very dearly, and mourned her very truly, when, one short year after their marriage, he laid her away in her grave and took up the burden of life again, with the added responsibility of the tiny infant daughter she had left him. * * *

"Wanted—A lady to superintend the education of a little girl. Apply between the hours of 4 and 6 at——"

It was in answer to this advertisement that, six years after that memorable afternoon upon the beach, a lady stood waiting in the elegant drawing room of the house to which she had been directed.

Her veil was down and the room was half in shadow from the heavy curtains which draped the window, but for all that she started perceptively when a step crossed the hall and a gentleman, his hair slightly tinged with gray, entered.

She had sunk back on the sofa, and her frame quivered with emotion.

"You have come, madam, in answer to my advertisement?" he asked, cautiously.

"No, no!" she answered. "There are reasons why it will now be impossible for me to accept the situation offered."

That voice! Had it not too long haunted him to be thus easily forgotten? Would he not know it even though it sounded above his very grave?

"Sydney! you here?" he exclaimed. "Ah, Mrs. Clayton—pardon me, for the moment I forgot."

Then she threw back her veil. Six years had made little change. It was the same beautiful face, but grown very pale, and the lovely mouth quivered as she spoke.

"Believe me, I would not have intruded myself upon you had I dreamed it was you who had inserted the advertisement. I had not even heard of your marriage."

"My wife is dead," he answered. "But stay," as she rose to go. "Tell me how it happens that you are in necessity. Is Mr. Clayton dead?"

She shuddered.

"You mistake," she said. "I did not marry Mr. Clayton. I am Sydney Vernon still."

"You did not marry him?"

"No. It is a woman's privilege, you know, to change her mind. But my aunt was very angry, and at her death she left me nothing. Your advertisement attracted me. I thought I might learn to love a little girl."

"Sydney, why did you not marry Mr. Clayton?"

Had he really spoken, or was it her own thought which formed the question? No, he was awake now, his eyes resting upon her.

"You have no right to ask me," she said, imperiously. "Let the dead past bury its dead."

"No right, perhaps—that I admit, but answer me, all the same. For the sake of all these starving years, let me know the truth."

"Because I did not love him," she answered, then—"because I found myself weaker than I knew."

"Oh, Sydney! if we had known—if we had known! My darling, was there another reason? Was it because you loved me?"

"Because I shall love you while life lasts."

A month later there was a quiet wedding.

TO BREAK A QUEER WILL.

Decedent Swore He Would Make $200,000, but Died Too Soon.

"The richest workingman in New Jersey" was what all his acquaintances called George Beesley, who died a few days ago at his home in Paterson, N. J., but hardly any one imagined that he was worth $175,000. Such was the case, however, and now there is every prospect that lawyers, his pet abomination, will get a share of the estate. Should such an untoward result ensue it will be all due to Beesley's extraordinary will, which the heirs have decided on trying to break. A number of years ago, when Beesley was a blacksmith in the Rogers Locomotive Works, he swore that before he died he should be worth $200,000. About a year ago his health began to fail and as yet his fortune was not more than $175,000. Ere long he realized that he was not destined to carry out the provisions of his oath, but he did what he regarded as the next best thing. He tied his money up by will, restricting his children to the merest pittance until the estate should be worth $200,000, as he had originally planned. Much of his investment had been in gilt-edged but low-interest stocks, and the heirs have come to the conclusion that the law will give them speedy access to comfort which without its help would be long postponed. Hence the attempt to break the remarkable will. An unusual feature of the contest is that the two girl heirs object to their father's discrimination against their brother and insist that he shall have a share of the estate equal to theirs.

Beesley, who was at once a miser and a money lender in his late years, seemed to think of nothing but adding dollar to dollar and determined that, as he had lived without luxuries, his children should follow in his steps. In Beesley's home the food was of the simplest. Oil for the lamps was measured out each week and groceries were weighed according to a schedule. If the measured supply did not last so much the worse for those who had been too prodigal. Matches the old man regarded as an extravagance. He whittled splints with his jackknife when he had time and these were lighted from a lamp or the kitchen stove. He shaved notes for men who worked with him and this laid the foundation of his fortune. Wise investments in real estate and a sudden rise in railroad stocks, a large block of which he had acquired as collateral forfeited, made him independent. Then he invested most of his wealth in safe securities and waited for the realization which his death prevented.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

Dr. Pearsons, of Chicago, Who Is Giving Away the Fortune He Made.

D. K. Pearsons, of Chicago, seems determined to follow the Carnegie idea and not die rich. He has already given away two or three millions to educational institutions, and still has a million or two more, which he purposes to send in the way of the others gone before. Dr. Pearsons went to Chicago to reside in April, 1860. In his satchel Dr. Pearsons carried $5,000, which he had saved up in ten years' medical practice in Chicopee, Mass. He and his wife had some distant relatives in Chicago, but they had made up their minds not to go to them, although they knew, practically, no one else there. Their relatives had discouraged the doctor from going West. They did not think he was fitted to get along in the hustle and scramble of a growing city, and advised him to stick to his country practice. But the doctor succeeded, and made money rapidly in many ways, and did good with every dollar of it.

In 1890 the doctor came to the conclusion that the time had arrived for him to begin giving away his fortune. He followed the plan that he and his wife had formed after they had reached

DR. D. K. PEARSONS.

Chicago in 1860. He has never been a member of any religious denomination, but all his gifts have been to those institutions having religious affiliations. From 1890 to 1900 the doctor has given away $2,500,000 of his fortune and has perhaps $1,500,000 left.

Four years ago Dr. Pearsons had his tombstone erected in Hinsdale Cemetery, as he desired to have all his affairs arranged before he died. The granite for this monument was brought from Barre, Vt., where the doctor taught school in 1836. The remaining $1,500,000 will be disposed of in donations which have not as yet been announced. On this account it is his intention to require an annuity of 2 per cent., or $30,000 a year, payable up to the time of the death of himself and wife. This will allow them to live as they please and watch the good results from their munificent gifts. It has never cost them more than $1,500 a year to live, so on the income they have provided for themselves they will no doubt continue their giving, which has really now become a habit. The doctor says, however, that he considers he is entitled to an amount that will allow him and his wife to live as they please, even at the Waldorf-Astoria if they wish. They never had any children, and when their earthly lives are closed their entire fortune will be in use for the benefit of humanity.

Taking Advantage of a Proverb.

Father—It's never too late to mend, my boy!

Son—But is that really so, dad?

Father—It is, indeed, my boy.

Son—Oh, well then, I needn't begin just yet.

A woman likes to be told she looks fresh, but a man doesn't.

OUR BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SAYINGS AND DOINGS HERE AND THERE.

Jokes and Jokelets that Are Supposed to Have Been Recently Born—Sayings and Doings that Are Old, Curious and Laughable—The Week's Humor.

Blobbs—Henpeckke has bought his wife a folding bed.

Slobbs—Yes; he told me he thought that was the only way he could shut her up.—Philadelphia Record.

In Mourning.

"What! back again!" exclaimed the young housekeeper, "you can't expect me to give you cake every day."

"No, lady," replied the poor beggar. "I thought maybe you had an old suit of black clothes you might give me. Me poor ole mother eat the cake you gev me yestid'y."—Philadelphia Press.

Good Enough Reason.

Mother — I'm surprised at you! Couldn't you tell he was going to kiss you?

Daughter—Yes, ma, but there was no one for me to tell except him, and he knew it already.—Philadelphia Press.

One Not Enough.

She—A man and his wife should be one; I wonder why they so seldom are?

He—Because it takes two to make a quarrel.

Where "G" Stands for Love.

"Can you love a man who's old?"

"Yes, if he has also one more letter to add to that."

"Another letter?"

"G, dear, to make old gold."—Pick-Me-Up.

Or Lose an Umbrella.

Mrs. Stubb—John, this paper says there is a place in Africa where it never rains.

Mr. Stubb—By jinks, it would do a man good to live there a lifetime.

Mrs. Stubb—Why, John?

Mr. Stubb—Because he'd never see a rainy-day skirt, Maria.

Appropriate Souvenirs.

Ida—What kind of souvenirs did that tear-producing drama distribute?

May—Pocket handkerchiefs.

A Reckless Suggestion.

Mrs. Qui Vive—Dear Mr. Surplice, I can't make up my mind what Lenten sacrifice will be the most acceptable.

Mr. Surplice — Ah!—oh!—well—dear madame—suppose you give up trying to run the church.—Life.

The Acme of Cynicism.

Reuben Railfence—Hiram don't believe in nothin' sacred nor profane no more. He's a infidel, a blasphemous infidel.

Josh Emmalong—That's right. He don't even believe what the home paper says no more!—Puck.

Hitless Hunters.

City sportsman—Any game around here?

Farmer—Yes; the woods are full of it.

City sportsman—I supposed it had been pretty well killed off by now.

Farmer—Oh, no. No one ever hunts around here but you city fellows.

There Are Exceptions.

"But, my dear husband, it really is very unjust of you to abuse mothers-in-law so; there are good ones."

"Well—well, never mind; I haven't said anything against yours—it's only mine I'm grumbling about."—The Cigarette.

Covers a Multitude of Faults.

"What made you suppose that old Crossgrain has dyspepsia?"

"Why, I like to take a charitable view of everybody, and dyspepsia is the best excuse I could think of for his disposition."—Puck.

Ups and Downs.

Doctor—Do you know the effects of getting too much mercury in your system?

Denny—Yis, doctor, Oi'd be a thermometer.

Slip of the Tongue.

"What do you sell that ribbon for?" asked a young lady in a High street dry goods store.

"Eight dollars a week—oh, beg pardon, 25 cents a yard, madam."—Columbus (Ohio) State Journal.

No Escape from That.

"A penny for your thoughts, Marjorie."

"Why, Harold, I can't, you know," answered the diplomatic miss, "because this is not leap year."—Kansas City Star.

Similar but Different.

Mr. Nipp—Is there any truth in the rumor that your affections are engaged?

Miss Flypp—None whatever. I am, though.

A Gump of a Poet.

Mrs. De Fashion—What a gump that Mr. Finemind, the great poet, is!

Friend—Is he?

Mrs. De Fashion—Huh! At the grand reception I gave him I had the most beautiful flowers I could buy brought in and strewn in his path for him to walk on, and, would you believe it, the clown actually walked around them, just as if we hadn't money enough to buy more.—New York Weekly.

As She Understood It.

He—This liquid air is great!

She—Yes; won't it be lovely when we can dip up hot or cold air with a bucket and pour it out of the window?—Indianapolis Journal.

Willing to Be a Slave.

Paul—This is what I've written, dear: "The season draws rapidly to a close, and the poor slaves of fashion, released from the weary treadmill of society, with its hollow formalisms, its empty shibboleths, may breathe a freer atmosphere."

Virginia—Yes, Paul, that's splendid; and, O, how I wish you were writing from our own experience.—The King.

Give It a Wide Berth.

Sandy Pikes—Strike Denver off our visitin' list, pard.

Pellucid Pete—What fur?

Sandy Pikes—Why, dis paper says datt enuf soap has arrived in dat city to supply 150,000 people fur a year.

Willing to Oblige.

Jaggs—I'll bet you the drinks that I am right.

Waggs—Well, I'd take you up on that, but I don't drink.

Jaggs—Oh, that will be all right. Win or lose, I'll drink for you.

And Now They Are Strangers.

Clara—That handsome young stranger seems to have taken quite a fancy to you.

Maude—Yes, but I can't imagine why.

Clara—Nor can I.

Maude—You mean thing, how dare you!

And She Used Smokeless Powder.

He—That's a peculiar ring that you are wearing. Has it a history?

She—Yes, it's a war relic.

He—Indeed! Tell me about it, pray.

She—Oh, there isn't much to tell. I won it in my first engagement.

The Motor Villa.

"John?"

"Yesmum."

"We have retired now, John. Wake us at Bournemouth to-morrow morning at 7, John."

"Yesmum."

"And remember the hot rolls and new milk for the children."—Cycling.

Give and Take.

Tess—Jack stole a kiss from me last night.

Jess—The idea! What did you do about it?

Tess—Nothing. He made restitution the very next minute.—Philadelphia Press.

Too Full of Wrath.

Photographer — Look just a little pleasanter, please.

Stranger (sitting for his photograph) —I don't want to look any pleasanter. I'm a delegate to the anti-trust conference.—Chicago Tribune.

Queer Ways of Authors.

"Mr. Flambeaux, have you any special methods in writing your novels?"

"Yes, I generally try to begin at the beginning and wind up at the end."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Base Deception.

Criminal lawyer—I was deceived in regard to that man whom I defended on a charge of embezzling half a million.

Friend—You found he was guilty?

Lawyer—No, confound it! He was innocent and didn't have a cent to pay me.—New York Journal.

Spellbound.

Ned—I wonder if it amazes a girl when a fellow catches her under the mistletoe?

Ted—It must; she always seems to be rooted to the spot.—Town Topics.

Molasses as Pig Feed.

Pigs fed one-half barley and one-half molasses feed made moderate gains, but not as great as when fed grain alone. Molasses feed consists of one-half beet molasses, three-eighths wheat bran and one-half palm nut meal. The pork produced by the molasses feed was not as solid and of as high quality as that made on grain alone. When corn and molasses feed, however, were compared, the results were reversed. On the whole, experimenters conclude that the addition of molasses to corn tends to improve the quality of the pork, and that the gain is made more cheaply when grain is used by itself. In the Southern States and in regions where beet sugar is produced, molasses food can probably be utilized to advantage.—Orange Judd Farmer.

A Truthful Lover.

The Daughter—But, papa, he says he cannot live without me.

Papa (dryly)—I guess he's right.—Life.

The old sea-dogs we read so much about are probably mast-stiffs.

CAR LINCOLN RODE IN.

Discovered in Railroad Scrap Pile at Omaha, Nebraska.

In an old scrap pile of the Union Pacific Railroad yards in Omaha is the iron-clad car which Abraham Lincoln designed and used as his traveling car during the civil war. In this coach, amid sable decorations and trappings of grief, the body of the martyred President was brought to Springfield, Ill., for burial. It is one of the most notable historic relics, and yet for years has lain battered and disused in a mass of rubbish.

Not long ago, when Booker T. Washington was in Omaha, he heard of the old car and went down to the yards to look it over. His visit resulted in a movement to resurrect the old Lincoln car and preserve it as a relic of the closing chapter in the career of the great emancipator.

When President Lincoln designed the car and it was built, nearly forty years ago, it was the marvel of the railroad world. The coach was built in the military shops of Alexandria, Va., and was known as the President's car. To prevent the bullets of Confederates or assassins passing through the mahogany sides of the President's car it was iron-clad, armor plate being set beneath the upholstered sides of the coach to make it entirely bullet-proof. The largest of the compartments was used as the President's study, and the sofa on which he rested and slept was fifteen feet long, being a reminder of the great height of the President. It was in this car that Lincoln always went to the front, and there are many bullet holes, indicating that the President was in the habit of getting close to the firing line.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S CAR AS IT NOW APPEARS.

The Union Pacific bought the car in 1866, and Sidney Dillon used it as the President of the road, but its great weight because of its armored sides made it objectionable, and for many years it has ben isolated in the yards. The car is forty-two feet long and eight and one-half feet wide. There is but one entrance, and this opens into a narrow passageway the whole length of the car. There were three compartments, and all were elegantly upholstered and furnished with reclining chairs. The President's compartment was decorated with panels showing the coat of arms of the various States, and the other rooms were padded with crimson corded silk. The car was mounted on four-wheel trucks. From April 21 to May 3, 1865, this car was in use as a funeral coach for the murdered President's remains.

Wit and Wisdom of Josh Billings.

Health is a loan at call.

A mule is a bad pun on a horse.

Wheat is a serial. I am glad of it.

A fib is a lie painted in water colors.

Ignorance is the wet nurse of prejudice.

Did you ever hear a very rich man sing?

We have made justice a luxury of civilization.

Wit without sense is a razor without a handle.

Old age increases us in wisdom—and in rheumatism.

Time is money, and many people pay their debts with it.

It is easier to be a harmless dove than a decent serpent.

Benevolence is the cream on the milk of human kindness.

Face all things; even Adversity is polite to a man's face.

Beware of the man with half-shut eyes. He's not dreaming.

People of good sense are those whose opinions agree with ours.

It is little trouble to a graven image to be patient, even in fly time.

Half the discomfort of life is the result of getting tired ourselves.

Humor must fall out of a man's mouth like music out of a bobolink.

Necessity is the mother of invention, but Patent Right is the father.

Most men are like eggs, too full of themselves to hold anything else.

Pleasure After Necessities.

A lady living in the Eighteenth ward answered a knock at her door the other morning to find a poorly dressed woman, greatly in need of help. Her tale excited sympathy in the kind lady's heart. When the poor woman left she carried a big bundle of clothes and a sack containing many of the necessaries of life.

The next morning there appeared at the same door a 7-year-old urchin of ruddy countenance, who somewhat shocked the lady of the house with this: "Say, that lady you guv the things to yesterday wants to know if you've got a pair of skates that me brother can wear."—Salt Lake Herald.

Quinine in the United States.

The official figures show that there were imported last year into this country 1,539,056,750 grains of quinine, or about twenty grains for each inhabitant. More than 125,000,000 grains were consumed by United States soldiers during the last year, and it is stated that the people of this country consume one-third of the quinine of the world.

Young Crocodiles.

The moment that a young crocodile breaks its shell it is to all intents and purposes as active as at any time during its life. It will make straight for the water, even if it be out of sight and a good distance off, and it will pursue its prey with eagerness and agility during the first hour of its free existence.

Largest Wooden Structure.

The Parliament building in Wellington, New Zealand, is the largest wooden structure in the world.

A friend is a man you like better every time you see him; an enemy is a man you hate worse every time you see him.

When a poor woman has a baby, she hires a nurse, but a rich woman gets her mother or sister to do the hard work.

Old as the Hills

are the pains and aches of

RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA
SCIATICA

Sure as taxes is the cure of them by

St. Jacobs Oil

False Teeth of Antiquity.

The manufacture and use of false teeth is undoubtedly a practice of great antiquity. The ancient Egyptians were no mean dentists. Jawbones of mummies have been found with false teeth in them and also with teeth filled with gold. The ancient Greeks also knew how to fill teeth with gold, also how to make false teeth.

There is plentiful evidence of skilled dentistry among the Romans, for many of the old Latin authors have references to false teeth. In the "Roman Laws of the Twelve Tables" there is distinct references to artificial teeth. The first part of No. 10 forbids useless expense at funerals in general, but an exception is permitted by No. 11, which allows that the gold fillings of false teeth or the gold with which they were bound should be buried or burned with the deceased.

Within the last year an ancient grave was discovered near Rome and opened. In it was found the skeleton of a woman with a complete set of false teeth, displaying admirable workmanship and wrought out of solid gold.—New York Herald.

Horse Lore.

From ancient times the horse has been an object of special veneration by almost all peoples. It was so among the Greeks and Tacitus says that the Romans in early times kept white horses in the sacred groves at the expense of the state. It was thought that the neighing of the horse was a sign of victory in battle, and the warrior whose steed neighed on the eve of a conflict felt assured of success. On the other hand, if the horse failed to neigh it was looked on as an evil omen. In some parts of Germany part of a horse's head hung above the doors of stables and stalls was supposed to bring good fortune, and even among ourselves at the present time, there is a very prevalent feeling that the horseshoe brings good luck. In fact, the horseshoe, more than any other object, is the emblem of a happy turn in affairs. In some parts of Europe it is believed that a horse's hoof under a child's pillow prevents convulsions and a horse's teeth are supposed to keep away the toothache. If a horse shies at a house, that household is thought to be threatened with misfortune.

LIVELY LIVERS

Perfect Purification the Only Life Prolonger.

Keep the Sewerage System Open If You Want to Enjoy Many Years of Health and Happiness—The Advice of Reason.

The liver is the biggest organ in the human body, and has lots of work to do.

It passes judgment on the food we eat, separating the useful from the useless. All food must pass the liver. All food must go this one way, and if the liver is lazy and doesn't attend to its duties all the other organs suffer.

It is just like stopping the engine in a factory. All the rest of the machines are thrown out of work until it starts up again.

Another duty of the liver is to take the bile out of the blood and send it into the bowels where it acts as a sort of lubricant and helps the undigested matter out of the body.

If the liver does not act properly, the bile goes wrong, remains in the blood, makes yellow-greenish complexion, "liver spots," and causes all kinds of aches, pains and sickness.

The liver must be kept lively and attending to its duties, and the safest, surest, simplest way is to use Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the ideal laxative, agreeable to the taste, convenient in form, antiseptic, and a fine stomach tonic. They purify the blood, never grip nor gripe, and do their work mildly but positively.

Buy and try Cascarets to-day. You'll find that it's what they do, not what we say they'll do, that proves their merit. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c, or by mail for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can., or New York.

CCC This is the CASCARET tablet. Every tablet of the only genuine Cascarets bears the magic letters "CCC." Look at the tablet before you buy, and beware of frauds, imitations and substitutes.

Prince Bismarck's Checkerboard.

The late Prince Bismarck was an ardent lover of a game of checkers, and is said to have possessed the most valuable checkerboard in existence, the squares of which were made of gold and silver, to represent the light and dark squares respectively. The men were made of the same metals, the silver men having the addition of a diamond in the center, the gold men having a ruby laid in the center of each.

Rape and Spelts and Bromus.

Greatest, cheapest, richest food on earth these three make. Wonderful testimonials on same. See Salzer's Big Catalog, sent you for 5c postage and this notice. John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. C N U

A Remarkable Spire.

